SAVING THE COTTON MILLS MUST DEAL WITH CONSUMERS

ONLY SOLUTION FOR PROSPERITY OF TEXTILE INDUSTRY OF SOUTH.

STATEMENT IS MADE BY PRESIDENT ASSOCIATION

Economic Crisis to Produce and Send North For Manufacture and Return.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—President L. D. Tyson of Knoxville, Tenn., told the American Cotton Manufacturers' convention here today that the textile industry of the south could never attain prosperity or independence until the majority of the mills decided to diversify and finish their products so that they could go direct to the consumer with them.

"It is an economic crisis," President Tyson said, "for the south to continue to produce goods and send them hundreds and even thousands of miles elsewhere to be completed and distributed and then returned to us at an increased cost, due to double transportation charges, double and even triple overhead expenses, double selling expense and double distributing costs and more."

"What we need in the south," he continued, "is more finished fabrics ready for the trade, more bleaches, more dyeing establishments and more converters, more printing plants and mercerizing plants, more knit goods establishments, hosiery mills and the like."

The southern textile industry, Mr. Tyson declared, had developed from 4,000,000 spindles in 1914 to 14,000,000 spindles in 1922, an advance of 100 per cent, as compared with a 50 per cent advance over the same period in New England.

"One selling method must be revised," he said, "either by selling direct or by closer co-operation with our selling agents, who should maintain a list of western branches and western points of distribution."

President Tyson urged as a necessary return to normal business conditions, the restoration of the buying power of the farmers and the railroad, the need for labor to accept responsibility for wages in keeping with reductions in the lines; enactment of a suitable tariff; maintenance of our merchant marine and the institution of economic in governmental affairs.

MILLIONAIRE CONFESSES SLAYING

Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Ward and their home in New Rochelle.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., May 25.—Supreme Court Justice Young this afternoon disclosed the "written" confession of Walter S. Ward, a young millionaire banker, and his wife, Mrs. Ward, in the slaying of Charles Peters, ex-navy man.

By NEA Service.
NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., May 25.—A wife's loyalty and staunch support is backing up Walter S. Ward, young millionaire banker, confessed slayer of a man he says was one of the gang who shot and killed Peters, on a lonely road near this New York suburb.

New torture began then, when in his beach home Mrs. Ward, who confessed the details of the blackmail plot to his pretty young wife.

What was the secret he told her? What was the hidden thing that led him into paying as much as $50,000 in installments to prevent exposure? Mrs. Ward, Curtis Ward, known, but she only smiles cheerfully and says confidently: "Everything will come out all right."

Officials are helping the young couple keep their secret. They say Ward frankly recited to his wife after the tragedy all the details that led up to the revolt that ended in Peters' death.

She encouraged him. It is said to place trust in the authorities as he had done in her. Courageously, she backed him up in his claim that he killed Peters in self-defense.

Mrs. Ward is small and slender, 25 maturing June 15; also Victory 28 both coupon and registered will be accepted in payment of new "coupon" books for now open and subscriptions can be placed with local banking institutions or with federal reserve bank direct.

PEACE OFFICERS TO QUIT AIDING ROADS THAT REFUSE PASSES

DALLAS, May 25.—Texas peace officers in convention here today went on record against aiding railroads which refuse to issue free transportation to officers while traveling in discharge of duty. A resolution, unanimously adopted, provides that all aid rendered railroads be stopped except where necessary in the discharge of public duties by officers. All special commissions issued to employees of railroads also are to be canceled after July 1, under the resolution, unless passes are issued to officers.

RENEW CONTROVERSY DESCRIBED AS CLOSED BY SECRETARY MELLON

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The Blair-Dover controversy in the treasury described yesterday as closed by Secretary Mellon, again was indicated today by presentation of a petition signed by more than a dozen members of the Ohio delegation in congress asking the reinstatement of C. C. Childs of Ohio, former supervisor of collections of the internal revenue bureau.

Almost coincident with the presentation it became known that Frederick Gellinger of West Virginia, a special assistant in the comptroller's unit of the bureau, had been suspended pending investigation of charges against him. Mr. Gellinger was appointed by A. D. Sumner, deputy commissioner, who was in charge before President Harding's appointment of Secretary Mellon.

Suspension of another official in the bureau, James G. Fitchell, chief payroll examiner of the accounts unit, became known a few minutes after it was learned that Mr. Fitchell had been suspended.

EIGHT MEN KILLED THREE INJURED IN POWDER EXPLOSION

BIRMINGHAM, PA., May 25.—Eight men were instantly killed and three others slightly hurt in a series of explosions which today blew into pieces three leading houses and another building of the Grassell Chemical plant here. The cause of the explosion will probably never be determined, as all the men in the building where the powder first let go were killed.

VENUS IS POSSIBLY INHABITED BY HUMAN BEINGS SAYS ABBOTT

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Venus is possibly inhabited by human beings and communication with planetary neighbors by wireless, "may be possible, although the cost would be immense," in the opinion of G. G. Abbott, assistant secretary of the Smithsonian institute, who discussed various scientific phases of the habitability of other worlds in the annual report of the institution just made public.

THREE CHILDREN DROWN IN WELL AT THEIR HOME

STANFORD, GA., May 25.—Three children, aged 4, 4 and 4 of Foster Allen, near here, were drowned in a well at their home yesterday. The father and mother were some distance from the house when they heard screams. Rushing home they found their eight year old son clinging to the rope in the well into which he had descended in a futile attempt to save the other three children.

White of Egg Protects the Housewife

One of the important reasons for the great success of Calumet lies in the fact that it contains a small amount of white of egg which makes it possible to keep fresh goods on the dealer's shelves at all times.

Baking Powder that does not contain white of egg cannot easily be tested for leavening strength outside of the chemical laboratory. Calumet which contains a small amount of white of egg can be tested right on the grocer's counter or in the housewife's kitchen. That's one reason why Calumet is the biggest selling brand on earth today.

It contains only such ingredients as have been officially approved by the United States Pure Food Authorities.

Use Calumet—the baking powder that contains a small amount of white of egg—it means protection against the possibility of using a baking powder that does not have the necessary leavening strength. You save when you buy it—you save when you use it.

GARY URGES THAT TARIFF BE TAKEN OUT OF BUSINESS

ALSO URGES NO FAVORITES IN TENDENCY TO REGULATE THINGS.

SUGGESTS SALES TAX IN PLACE OF INCOME TAX

Wants Government to Forget Bonus Until Nation is Less Severely Burdened.

NEW YORK, May 26.—Elbert H. Gary, as president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, at the Hotel Commodore today advocated that congress take a tariff out of business; that it play no favorites in tendency to regulate things; that it substitute a sales tax for the income tax and that it forget the bonus until the nation is less severely burdened financially.

As for the business future of America, Mr. Gary declared himself as still an optimist. In the iron and steel industry, he said, "the profits are not satisfactory, but few if any ought to be doing business at a loss."

"Pity the blind, deaf and foolish pessimist of the United States," he advised members of the institute. "In a remark in which he inserted some of the most pertinent and steel magnate asserted 'congressmen are like the ordinary run of individuals—most of them honest and well intentioned but a few are possessed of less merit.'"

The tariff question, he declared, should be delegated for investigation to a commission of well balanced, intelligent, competent, non-partisan appointees, authorized to ascertain and communicate the facts and figures of the nation as they should be frequent so that if deemed necessary a change in amendment to the tariff laws could be made at any time congress is in session.

As between parties the main difficulties, "as I see it is that the republican party has stood for a protective tariff for a revenue. The settlement of this controversy should include both."

There has been a disposition in recent years, he declared, "to pass laws which measurably exempt labor organizations and 'farmer' associations from governmental supervision and control against work."

"This is not an equal opportunity and equal obligation," he charged. "The bonus question," he declared, "is not yet ripe for determination. Even though there might be some justice in the question as to whether or not a soldier who has escaped disability, physical and mental, should be paid or ask payment of a bonus, it would not be useful for us to consider or form opinions on that question at once."

"Former soldiers, like all others, need opportunities to furnish this chance, courage and capital should be given to industry. The load of taxation ought to be lightened, not increased, and enterprises, he stated, under this burden. It would not be difficult to break its back," he said.

"These are not idle words. They are a solemn warning not only to soldiers, but to every one who is at present seeking what is neither reasonable nor patriotic."

"The fairest method is found in the sales tax, so called. It is the most easily, cheaply and certainly collected."

The present income tax is too extensively collected, Judge Gary asserted, "and many who are able to pay escape. For the good of all the people, sales tax is desirable."

ELBERT H. GARY DISCUSSES WHITE HOUSE CONFERENCE

NEW YORK, May 26.—President Harding denied any intention of meddlesome in the state business last week when he asked 40 representative leaders in that industry to investigate the practicability of eliminating the 12 hour day. Judge Elbert H. Gary said today in prefacing his annual address as president of the American Iron and Steel Institute.

He discussed the White House conference at length, saying that the president was relying on the steel men themselves to make the adjustment in working hours which public sentiment now seems to demand.

Mr. Gary said he thought a committee of nine appointed by the institute to investigate the industry with a view to readjusting working hours would be necessary in order to clearly represent every phase of the industry instead of the committee of five suggested at the White House dinner.

Mr. Gary emphasized the earnestness and sincerity which the president approached the problem of the long work day in the mills.

FIRE EARLY FRIDAY RAZES BUILDINGS

of the flames. Before 2:00 o'clock, however, the fire had gained a foothold in the store rooms of the paint shop and from then on it was not a question of saving one or two buildings. Acting Chief Grover Habers ordered every piece of fire fighting equipment in the city on the job and leads of high pressure hose hooked on to powerful motor fire pumps were strung around the threatened area.

Inflammables Ignited. Gallons of turpentine, kerosene, alcohol and varnish, to say nothing of a large stock of highly inflammable paints, roared and sputtered, throwing liquid fire in all directions as the casks and buckets opened. The rear of the store was cut up into an intricate series of small rooms and passage ways and the tons of water poured in from the outside, even could they have done any good, failed to reach the center of the trouble until the walls and partitions had burned away. The shot shop situated next the paint store and separated only by a thin partition was of course consumed.

From these two places the flames spread rapidly to the Lafayette cafe, driving firemen from the roof where they had climbed hurriedly away. The shot shop situated next the paint store and separated only by a thin partition was of course consumed.

With care fated for destruction Chief Habers concentrated his forces around the light company of fire and prepared to make a determined stand against the flames. This might have been saved, but an alarming situation developed on the other side of the paint shop and shoe store.

The Marion hotel building fronting on Eighth street and adjoining the burning buildings at the rear hooped up ominously. Guests in the building had long since departed although at first it seemed that a fire would prove more than enough to beat back the fire. Chief Habers took no chances, however, on leaving the blaze get a foothold there and when the roof began to smoke it was given prompt attention. The move was successful insofar as saving the building was concerned but it proved fatal for the light office and this was shortly a mass of flames. The hotel building housing the Halton & Friday jewelry store, the Photograph shop, the Fashion store, the Burgess jewelry store and other business establishments, would have represented a far greater loss than was sustained had it been allowed to go.

Damage to Clothing Store. At the Baum & Gardner store, the stock of which was recently purchased by the W. A. Ballard company of Dallas, heat and leaping flames gained a start in the rear but was beaten back by a hose deluge which rushed through the store room and fought from the inside. The fire loss to the clothing store was not great but damage by smoke and water will prove costly. H. B. Hicks representing the Ballard company, was unable to give an exact account of his loss Friday.

The stock was acquired from

BAUM & GARDNER ONLY RECENTLY AND ORIGINAL INVENTORY HAD NOT BEEN FINISHED. MR. HICKS SAID. FOR THE PRESENT HE WAS CONTENT TO LET HIS FIRST ESTIMATE OF BETWEEN $5,000 AND $8,000 STAND. THE TON OF THE BUILDING IN WHICH THE OFFICE WAS LOCATED WAS BURNED AWAY AND PART OF THE ROOF SAVED.

Employees of the two jewelry stores, the photograph shop and the Fashion store were on hand ready to move out their stock at a moment's notice but this was not needed.

Search for Records. With the ruins cooled Friday morning the various owners and managers started a search for records and other valuable papers. A small safe containing the light company's readings and records was taken intact from the smouldering mass of debris and carried to the temporary headquarters in the American National bank rooms. P. A. Rogers, manager of the company, stated that if these papers were found to be readable he had lost nothing that could not be replaced.

The Watson store papers and records were found, charred and water soaked but still legible. The shoe shop records were gone, apparently, and no one appeared during the morning to look after the cafe books so it is not known in what condition they may be.

Streams of water were played on the fire throughout the morning Friday. Firemen also bustled themselves with pulling down shaky walls left after their supports had been removed. The shell of the Klondike building, two stories in height, was left partly standing and this was raised early in the day. The wall on the south side, saving the ward before daylight and crashed through the plank roof of the one-story Wikke building standing just beneath it. No fire damage was caused at this place.

The city fire department drew more than one word of praise for its work throughout the strenuous two-hour period in which the blaze was at its height. The fight was directed by Assistant Chief Grover Habers and Assistant Chief Smiley Turner. Chief McClure has been in Dallas since Wednesday night and did not know of the fire until Friday morning.

Firemen took their lives in their hands on more than one occasion and in the face of blistering heat sought to quench a blaze that would have taxed the skill of much larger force. Several narrow escapes were recorded during the night and more than once it seemed that a man would be caught under a falling wall. But roll call at 6:00 o'clock showed that only minor cuts and bruises had been suffered.

CHICAGO, May 26.—Toll of yesterday's rain and electric storm in Chicago and southern suburbs reached three deaths and six injured today.

Edward Friedlous and Leo B. Lumski were electrocuted in the flooded basement of a furniture store at Hammond when they stepped into water charged with electricity.

Joseph Benier, 31, was found dead at the wheel of his automobile at Blue Island. Death is believed to have resulted from the shock of a crash of lightning.

TULSA WOMAN IS HELD FOR MURDER OF HER HUSBAND

TULSA, OKLA., May 26.—Mrs. M. A. Jergensen, 35 years old, the mother of two children, was held in the county jail here today for the slaying of her husband, Dr. M. A. Jergensen, prominent local physician.

Dr. Jergensen was shot to death in his home last night. Mrs. Jergensen made a confession, according to Police Chief Moran.

"I don't know why I did it," she told neighbors after the shooting. "Well, I just came to get my clothes, I told him," she said in her alleged statement to the police. "He said he'd give me just five minutes to get them and get out. We quarreled some more and then he raised his hand and started to strike me and I shot him."

A 15 year old son, who said he was in the room at the time of the shooting, told the police: "Papa started to strike mama and as he lifted his hand she shot him."

VERNON OFFICIALS ISSUE WEED CUTTING ORDER

VERNON, TEXAS, May 26.—City commissioners have issued an ultimatum against weeds in Vernon and have announced their intention of enforcing the law which requires property owners to keep their lots free from high growth as well as to care for parking space. The city is willing to supply property owners without mowers with implements.

COURT ACTION STARTS MORE SPECULATION AS TO PROPOSED WEDDING

CHICAGO, May 26.—Speculation over the result of Miss Mathilde McCormick's engagement to Max Oser, Swiss riding master, was renewed today following the appointment of her father, Harold McCormick, millionaire head of the International Harvester company, as her guardian. Mr. McCormick was made his daughter's legal guardian upon her own petition.

Immediately the question arose as to whether Miss McCormick made the move to provide an easy way out of the engagement to the Swiss horseman or whether the court action was taken to hasten the marriage.

Neither Miss McCormick nor her father were present to tell.

Swiss laws require a girl of Miss McCormick's age to obtain the consent of her parents or guardian to marry. It was pointed out that if

Miss McCormick wishes to cancel her engagement to Oser she needs only her father's refusal of his consent. On the other hand, if Miss Mathilde wishes an early marriage she must have a guardian who will approve it.

When Mr. and Mrs. McCormick were divorced each of the three children, Harold F. Jr., Muriel and Mathilde, was given the charge of residing with father or mother. Each chose the father.

CONTRACT FOR CEMENT FOR CONCRETE HIGHWAY

ELECTRA, May 26.—S. S. Walker and Sons of Electra have contracted to sell 15,000 barrels of Lone Star cement to be used in construction of the concrete highway north from Electra. This is the equivalent of 150 car loads, or six trains of 25 cars each.

H. K. McCollum Construction company was the purchaser. Work is to begin within ninety days.

ALL OF THE 32 INJURED EXPECTED TO RECOVER

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., May 26.—All of the 32 persons injured yesterday when a street car of the Birmingham Railway, Light and Power company was struck by a freight train on the Alabama Great Southern railroad at Woodlawn, a suburb, will recover, according to reports from local hospitals today. Seventy-two persons were aboard the car at the time of the accident which was said to have resulted from confusion of flag crossing signals of flagmen.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS MAGIC POWDER KEEPS TWINS WARM ON BLEAK MOON

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Mr. Peabody chuckled until his long beard shook and the top of his head grew quite red. "Peabody, the Man-in-the-Moon, shook some of his magic powder over the Twins out of his wonderful ruby shaker and said some words like this: "Money, money, shiver and sneeze. Up here on the moon you'll surely freeze; New, shiny, bewitching, work your charm. Keep Nancy and Nick both nice and warm." Instantly the cold left their bones and a nice, warm glow seemed to spread all through them. "That feel better?" asked the Man-in-the-Moon. "Oh, much better, thank you," nodded Nancy, who was beginning to like the queer, ragged old fellow and his queer ways of getting things turned around. "And now," said Mr. Peabody, putting his shaker away and sitting down himself, "won't you tell me about yourselves, and how it happened that the Fairy Queen sent you to help me? Or would you rather hear about me and the moon-people first?" "Oh, yes, sir! If you please, sir!" begged Nick, who was dying of curiosity. "Things here seem to be so—so different from what they are on the earth. And Nancy and I are all mixed up. Perhaps you'd better tell us all about it so we won't make mistakes while we are here. "Well, well, well! Aren't they wise, though?" cried their host. "When you go back to the Fairy Queen's palace, Mr. Mushroom please tell her that she couldn't have sent better people to help me. An ounce of sense is better than ten pounds of wisdom and these children seem to have enough for a regiment. Besides I have enough wisdom for everybody, being half a million years old. Now I'll tell you my story." (To Be Continued)

CHAPTER XLVII—A KISS FOR MY HUSBAND

By a Bride
Bonny took us home in her car on her way to a big dance given for returning college men. After she left us she would pick up two young men at a hotel. Her chauffeur and her father's car were the sole surer of the indubitable respectability of this proceeding. "Jack, kiss me goodnight!" Bonny suggested as we drew up at our door. "Peggy first! There! Peg, you look blue! What's wrong? Don't you like Jack's new mustache?" "I detect it!" I answered, only half honestly, because I ought to have added that I detected the flapper freedom which permitted Bonny to kiss any other girl's husband. From Jack's quick way of getting me out of the car and into our suite I knew that the subject of conversation and Bonny's kiss annoyed him excessively. His only remark about the rehearsal had nothing to do with my dress. "I suppose a wife could make a husband pay that way—better than any other." His casual speaking of the child in the play and the mother's crime. And I had hoped that Jack's primitive version of love would make Jack wretchedly jealous. And Bart had expected it to. And Jack ignored it entirely. Instead of insinuating that I and Bart had oversteered my husband was caught up with the idea that a wife would take vengeance by robbing a father of his child! While I was thinking only of my husband's love for me, Jack was considering the larger aspects of married life. Never before had it occurred to me that Jack had any particular interest in babies. I had the unmarried girl's view of children. I bridled myself that it was an up-to-date view to consider the child as particularly the woman's affair. The children are living in a room when we had a real house with a yard instead of a suite in an apartment. I would think it time to raise my babies. I wonder Jack astonished me by thinking about babies when he should have been thinking about my success on the stage. (To Be Continued)

Says Up to Date Men Have Their Face Powder, Etc.

AVALONA, SANTA CATALINA Islands, Cal., May 24.—Every man who claims to be any class at all has his pet shade of face powder, his particular perfume in toilet water, his favorite flavor in his shaving soap and his distinctive preference in nail polish. P. M. Head of Los Angeles is speaking here in an address before the 14th annual convention of the California Pharmaceutical association.

"The up to date man seeks to make himself just as attractive to women as they are supposed to strive to make themselves to men," said Mr. Head.

Mr. Peabody chuckled until his long beard shook and the top of his head grew quite red. "Peabody, the Man-in-the-Moon, shook some of his magic powder over the Twins out of his wonderful ruby shaker and said some words like this: "Money, money, shiver and sneeze. Up here on the moon you'll surely freeze; New, shiny, bewitching, work your charm. Keep Nancy and Nick both nice and warm." "Oh, much better, thank you," nodded Nancy, who was beginning to like the queer, ragged old fellow and his queer ways of getting things turned around. "And now," said Mr. Peabody, putting his shaker away and sitting down himself, "won't you tell me about yourselves, and how it happened that the Fairy Queen sent you to help me? Or would you rather hear about me and the moon-people first?" "Oh, yes, sir! If you please, sir!" begged Nick, who was dying of curiosity. "Things here seem to be so—so different from what they are on the earth. And Nancy and I are all mixed up. Perhaps you'd better tell us all about it so we won't make mistakes while we are here. "Well, well, well! Aren't they wise, though?" cried their host. "When you go back to the Fairy Queen's palace, Mr. Mushroom please tell her that she couldn't have sent better people to help me. An ounce of sense is better than ten pounds of wisdom and these children seem to have enough for a regiment. Besides I have enough wisdom for everybody, being half a million years old. Now I'll tell you my story." (To Be Continued)

Mr. Peabody chuckled until his long beard shook and the top of his head grew quite red. "Peabody, the Man-in-the-Moon, shook some of his magic powder over the Twins out of his wonderful ruby shaker and said some words like this: "Money, money, shiver and sneeze. Up here on the moon you'll surely freeze; New, shiny, bewitching, work your charm. Keep Nancy and Nick both nice and warm." Instantly the cold left their bones and a nice, warm glow seemed to spread all through them. "That feel better?" asked the Man-in-the-Moon. "Oh, much better, thank you," nodded Nancy, who was beginning to like the queer, ragged old fellow

Serum Is Success In Early Stages of Sleeping Sickness

ST. LOUIS, May 24.—A serum which, when injected into human beings in the early stages of sleeping sickness has produced a cure, has been discovered by Dr. M. C. Rosemeyer of Bethesda, Minn., he announced today. Dr. Rosemeyer is attending the annual convention of the American Medical association in session here. Dr. Rosemeyer exhibited motion pictures of experiments he has made tending to show he has isolated the heretofore unknown germ which causes this disease. Pictures exhibited showed the germ injected into rabbits and monkeys and producing the same conditions existing in man and women suffering from the disease. The disease, it was explained, is a disease of the brain which produces an unusual sleepiness, or, conversely, an unusual wakefulness, or agria muscular spasm such as severe jerking of the head. The death rate is about 20 per cent. Dr. Rosemeyer stated. "The serum, he amplified, has been injected upon patients in early stages of the disease and in several instances has caused the symptoms to disappear. In some more advanced cases it served to check the affliction, but did not effect a cure."

Linda Lee Inc.

by LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

She feigned the scene, but Bel failed not only to call at the hour appointed or to send word of explanation.

Lucinda had sacrificed the evening to some of duty; a true sacrifice, for Lynn was leaving early next morning to spend a fortnight with his company in an Oregon logging camp.

Lucinda called the telephone, and was informed that Mr. Druce had "checked out" early in the morning, saying nothing of an intention to return.

No note came from Bellamy the next morning, and nothing transpired in the course of the next several weeks to afford any clue to the riddle, with the upshot that Lucinda thought about her husband a great deal more than she wanted to or had at any time since leaving Chicago. It was strange, it wasn't like Bel to treat any woman so rudely.

XXIV

Jacques kept the Summerland company away so long that its return found the first Linda Lee production in full swing, with Barry Nolan in command, Lucinda playing the simple puppet of his whim. Fanny demurely walking through the feminine part of second importance, and Lorraine fighting at the peak of the ridge as an executive genius.

Why it should be so hard on him nobody seemed to know and Lorraine was too busy to explain.

To all his symptoms of haste and bounce, his wife played silent but attentive audience; though oftentimes her pretty eyes would light up with an unspoken comment too pungent to be wasted and, discreetly questing a sympathetic confidant, would find it without fail in Barry Nolan.

Irish both by descent and profession, Nolan had at least that sense conspicuously developed. What others he possessed was a question which came to occupy many of Lucinda's spare moments. She couldn't account for Nolan's high place in cinema, unless a sprightly disposition, a fetching grin, infectious nerve, impudence without end, and a distinctly indicated vein of genius at snap-shooting, summed up the essential qualifications of a director who pretended to average a wage of $25,000 per production.

But Lucinda first mistrusted his ability because of his appalling ignorance concerning rudimentary principles of social usage.

Since the story they were concerned with had to do with people of fashionable New York, Lucinda thought it important that their manners should conform to approved convention; but Nolan was so little learned in such matters and his impatience with them was wholehearted: "Ah, what's it matter? Ninety per cent of your audience are sold here from the neck up, and the rest wouldn't think they'd got their money's worth unless they found something to beef about in a picture. Why worry about little things like that? Life's too short, and we're wasting time."

But that distrust of Barry Nolan's competency which troubled Lucinda's mind almost from the very outset of their association had yet to crystallize in the Saturday when Summerland was expected to begin.

To get rid of Lucinda's presence, which instinct was already beginning to warn him was silently skeptical of his claims—Nolan actually suggested that she might like to review the rushes of yesterday's camera work.

Assuming that she would find the projection-room empty, Lucinda made her way to it without bothering to remove her make-up, but on opening the door saw a fan-like mass of lurid red hair waving in the air, and would have withdrawn, had not Zinn's thick and genial accents halted her from the rear of the long, black-painted, tunnel-like chamber.

"Come right on in, Miss Lee. We'll be through in a minute. Just running some of the film come through from Joe Jackson's honor of Miss Lee's affair that boy Summerland's putting over this time."

Then with a fluttering heart Lucinda identified her husband in Zinn's companion.

Shake hands with Mr. Druce, Miss Lee: new tenant of mine, going to work here same as you, just signed a lease for space to make his first production."

"What?"

"All that monosyllabic of dismayed protest, Lucinda saw Zinn's little eyes of a pig grow wide with surprise.

"But I am fortunate, Mr. Zinn, in already having the honor of Miss Lee's acquaintance," Bellamy took possession of her hand.

"Is that so? You two knew each other? Why? Tell me?"

Lucinda found her voice all at once, but hardly her self-possession. "It isn't—it can't be true! Bel! It isn't you?"

"Afraid it is, Linda. Be's smile was lightly mocking. "The picture business has got me in its toils at last. Only needed that trip out here to decide me. Now I'm up to my ears. Something to do, you know."

When Zinn departed, however, Bel's manner changed.

"The very Linda—I really don't mean to be a pest—" sure. But after all, it doesn't explain now, does it?"

"It explains why I followed you out here the first night, why I had to see you in another man's arms, kissing him, and then hear all the small-town gossip about you two before I'd believe there's something there?"

"What do you think? According to all reports, you've been going. It rather, you and this chap Summerland—stepping out together, as they say in Hollywood."

Lucinda affected a shrug of indifference. Bel wasn't guess she cared what people said.

"And what has that to do—?"

"Just this. I don't like it. As I say, if you want to run around with a movie actor, that's your affair; but as long as you remain my wife, it's my affair, too. Don't forget it's my name you're trailing through the mud of this stock-hole of scandal!"

She flamed at him—"Bel!"—but he wouldn't heed.

"You don't suppose you're going to get away with the Linda Lee thing much longer, do you? If all these people don't know it's an assumed name now, they jolly soon will. If you're going through, if you're bent on leading the life you have been leading ever since you fell in with these people, be good enough to keep my wife's name out of it! Get your divorce and get it soon. That's all I have to ask of you."

Lucinda replied with a slow inclination of her head.

"What you want is my dearest wish," she said. "Depend on it, Bel, I shan't waste a day. I'll take the first train I can catch for Reno, after finishing this picture."

"That's simply splendid of you!" Bellamy declared heartily. "Anything I can do to help along, of course, just let me know."

"I'll be glad if you'll go now," Lucinda told him. "I think I've had about all I can stand for one day of 'The goodby, my dear—' (thousand thanks!)"

XXV

"It is funny," Lucinda confessed to Fanny that night. "I don't pretend to understand. I don't pretend to understand. No more did she. But the seeds of suspicion that convention planted took root readily and flourished into a dark jungle of strange fancies in which fears ran wild until Lynn Summerland came home to charm them all away. Lucinda only needed to see him, indeed, to forget her troubles altogether and become once more the voluntary thrall of a species of intoxication as potent to her senses as a drug."

The Lorraine had arranged a supper party at Santa Monica in Lynn Summerland's honor for that night. Lynn Summerland, called, finding his way unannounced to Lucinda's sitting room. She went to his arms with a cry of joy, buried her face on his shoulder, clung to him as if she would never let him go.

"I've missed you so, Lynn. I've missed you so!"

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Fear none of those things which they shall suffer. Be ye faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life.—Revelation 2:10.

THE INTEREST OF THE SOUTHERN FARMER.

The producer of West Texas, as well as of the entire South, says a resolution adopted at the annual meeting of the West Texas chamber of commerce, "is buying goods manufactured under a high tariff and selling those upon which no tariff has been assessed. This has created a disproportionate buying and selling market and is working a real hardship upon our producers."

JUST FOLKS

IF IT'S WORTH WHILE. If it's worth while, then it's worth a few blows. Worth a few setbacks and worth a few bruises. If it's worth while—and it is, I suppose—It's worth keeping on, though the first struggle loses.

SMILE A WHILE

Distance lends enchantment to a debt. A fool and his straw hat are soon sat upon. If music is the language of love a saxophone player hates everybody.

BIG LAUGHS COMING.

In cleaning house this spring, maybe you ran across the old family album. If so, you had a laugh at the peculiar clothing styles and solemn expressions on the faces of former generations. Did it ever occur to you that our photographs are also going to get "the merry ha-ha" when future generations discover them in some obscure nook of the attic-houses that will be in use 75 or 100 years from now?

Wichita Daily Times, Friday, May 26, 1934. The paper is published every day except on Sundays and public holidays. It is published at Wichita Falls, Texas.

WAR HAVOC EXPANDS DOMAIN OF STINNES, "NEW GERMAN KAISER"

By MILTON BRONNER.
European Manager for NEA Service
BRITAIN, May 24.—When the German empire was formed the Hohenzollerns could put into the common pot the kingdom of Prussia over which they ruled. To this were added the kingdoms of Bavaria and Saxony, the Duchy of Baden and dozens of little principalities all ruled over by kings, dukes and princes. Then the Hohenzollern king became German emperor.

Hugo Stinnes, Germany's undisputed business emperor, started before the war with two kingdoms—the kingdom of coal and the kingdom of iron. And to this he has since added various duchies and principalities in commodities over which no other has himself a ruler.

He grasped early in his business career what the nations only fully learned after the great war started—all modern life, all its necessities, all its conveniences, all its comforts are a pyramid of which the base is coal. Place iron on top of the coal and you at once have almost all the modern world.

Stinnes began with coal. He secured control of many of the best coal mines in the Ruhr. Like his grandfather he continued the building of large and barges to carry his own coal up and down the rivers to his own coal yards.

He became the ruling power in the Rhineish Westphalia Coal Syndicate which in its great brief palace at Essen regulates the production price and market of practically all the coal dug in the Rhineish and Westphalia. And it is done openly. The coal barons don't have to dodge the law to accomplish their purpose.

Ready for the war.
Having fortified himself in the coal business, Stinnes long before the war was in a position for his first strategic move which was a big invasion of the iron and steel trade. He loaded his heavy guns with money and with coal.

There is this to be said for Stinnes—he goes forward not by crushing of wrecking opponents. He is a constructor. He takes sick businesses and cures them of what ails them. He takes well-business and makes them bigger. He likes to make two mills produce where only one did before. That gives more work to Germans and enriches both Germany and Stinnes.

Back in the nineties a weak blast furnace corporation in Luxembourg and another in Bochum, Germany, were united in one organization which was just as weak. It lost money for its stockholders.

Then in 1901 Stinnes came into the field. He formed the German Luxembourg Mining and Smelting corporation with a capital of only one million marks. He took over the weak combination just mentioned. In less than a year the new concern increased its capital to 25 million and in 1910 to 40 million marks.

Under Stinnes' leadership it bought some stock in big coal mining companies in the Saar and Moselle valleys and thus assured a cheap coal supply. Then it gobbled up a Dortmund company and rocketed its capital to 100 million marks.

Stinnes was showing himself the German Napoleon of industrial finance. But it was sound finance. It was based upon actual possessions, not wishes. In American trusts, vast mills in Bochum, Dortmund, Mulheim and Emden, coal mines, iron mines, coke ovens, 46,000 heavy workers, all told a very real story of big business.

The concern controlled five million tons of coal and 1,500,000 tons of coke per annum, to say nothing of ammonia, benzol and coal tar products. It made not only pig iron cast iron and steel but finished products like freight cars. In other mills it made machinery.

It seemed Stinnes was at the zenith of his career. But he had not yet been really tested. The war came and with it the bitter aftermath of crushing defeat for Germany. Albert Ballin, creator of the Hamburg-American Steamship lines, seeing his great business destroyed, didn't have the heart to go on. It was said he killed himself. But Stinnes was of tougher metal. Seeing his greatest work cut into pieces by the allied victory, he went to the United States to seek greater achievement out of disaster. He was spared. He.

No German business was harder hit than his German Luxembourg. When Lorraine went back to France and Luxembourg was freed from German influence, Stinnes' company lost 60 per cent of its raw material—iron ore and coal. For an ordinary business man that would have been a crushing blow.

But Stinnes isn't an ordinary man. He at once began buying up small companies which could give the company some of the material it needed. But he was after bigger game. Another Ruhr valley family, the Kirdorta, had founded an organization known as the Gelsenkirchener Mining corporation. It was one of the biggest in Germany. It had over 55,000 workers. The war also hit this corporation hard.

Stinnes brought about a combination of his German Luxembourg, the Gelsenkirchener, and the Bochumer Verein. He made himself its master. He christened it the Rheinische union and it started out with a combined capital of 600 million marks, or just 160 times more than the amount with which he began his independent business career.

German Luxembourg brought into the combine 19 coal mines, 1800 coke ovens, 7 iron mines, 5 steel and iron works and 4 other big factories. Gelsenkirchener had 16 coal mines, 3 iron and steel works and a number of other factories. The Bochumer Verein had 4 coal mines and 2 iron and steel works. No man in Germany was in a position like Stinnes. The coal he and his family own and the coal he controls amounts to exactly one-fifth of the vast Ruhr production.

But he wasn't through with coal. With August Thyssen, another famous Rhineish captain of industry, and the Deutsche Bank, he bought a controlling interest in the Ruhr Mining corporation which operates anywhere he saw consumers of coal. Their money might as well flow in his pockets, so says. He controls the United Coal Dealers corporation of Berlin. He has similar companies in Nuremberg, Königsberg, Posen, Hamburg, Bremen, Hanover and numerous other important towns where Stinnes coal mines sold to big and little consumers. Foreign funds tempted him, too. Some of the finest iron ore in the world is found in Sweden. Therefore Stinnes bought some Swedish ore tracts.

One of the greatest foreign coups came to him by simply sitting still. In the old days of the Austro-Hungarian empire one of the greatest companies in the country was the Austrian Alpine Mining corporation which practically owned in 1915 the vast supply of high grade iron ore in the Styrian Alps—a whole mountain of ore in fact. After the peace treaty the great Alpine company found itself in a poverty-stricken little Austria. Its former bases of coal supply were now situated in new and hostile states.

In its need of financial support, a great block of its stock went into the hands of an Italian syndicate of automobile and steel manufacturers. They saw in the plant an excellent chance to get for Italy the steel it so badly needed. But production failed. The Italians could give the company money and labor, but no coal and coke.

In their trouble they looked to Germany and naturally to Stinnes. The great Hugo was ready to oblige. He could shoot coal and coke right straight across Germany into the Styrian Alps and the great concern could work full speed ahead.

Only there is almost always an important only with Stinnes. He told them he would like to sell them coal, but must be interested financially in the Alpine company. The Italians saw the point.

Results—Stinnes owns outright two-fifths of the company for which he paid the huge sum of 250 millions of marks.

This caused more political trouble both inside and outside Germany than anything Stinnes has ever done. At a time when the allies were demanding that Germany pay huge reparations, it was pointed out there must be lots of money in Germany when Stinnes could spend that much in one transaction.

In his next story Bronner tells of the ramifications of Stinnes' gigantic electrical combine.

WHAT MILLION MEN MEAN

Hugo Stinnes, industrial wizard and the uncrowned "new Kaiser of Germany," employs a million men.

Walking single file, four feet apart, at an average gait it would take these men 21 days and nights to march past their employer.

The magnitude of Stinnes' enterprises, compared with American "big business," is shown by the fact that:

Total employees in the American coal industry number 740,000.

The Bell telephone system employs 225,000 men.

The U. S. Steel corporation employs 275,000 men.

Henry Ford employs 75,000 men.

The Standard Oil of New Jersey employs 65,000 men.

Four big coal mines, has other seams as yet untapped, and a number of factories. Then the far-seeing Stinnes became interested in the possibilities of lignite. This fuel has become especially precious for German industry since the loss of the Saar and Upper Silesian coal mines. Stinnes secured a huge block of stock in the Ribbeckshen corporation of Halle which owns 24 lignite mines, 15 factories for the manufacture of coal briquettes, 2 stations and 5 factories for the extraction of mineral oil and paraffin. Lignite is especially valuable in this regard.

Invades Retail Business.
Then Stinnes thought of another scheme. His own coal mines supplied fuel to his own steel mills, but he looked around Germany and everywhere he saw consumers of coal. Their money might as well flow in his pockets, so says. He controls the United Coal Dealers corporation of Berlin. He has similar companies in Nuremberg, Königsberg, Posen, Hamburg, Bremen, Hanover and numerous other important towns where Stinnes coal mines sold to big and little consumers. Foreign funds tempted him, too. Some of the finest iron ore in the world is found in Sweden. Therefore Stinnes bought some Swedish ore tracts.

McDonald Injured as Spudders Beat Bears In Thirteenth Round

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS, May 26.—The Spudders and Bears indulged in a good, old-fashioned slugfest here Friday which got under way in the first period and did not end until the last of the 13th. Though the invaders apparently had the contest sewed up several times, the home crew kept hammering away and could not be stopped until the twelfth round when the Spudders scored the tally which put them on the desirable end of a 10 to 9 count.

The extra sessions, however, proved costly in the extreme for the Spudders despite the fact that they won a ball game. Tex McDonald, third sacker, was so badly spiked in the 10th chapter by Bears' Spuders that he was unable to get from second to third on a sacrifice, that he will be out of the game for a week or 10 days at least. Tex was carried from the field by his mates and had five stitches taken in his leg, just above the ankle. It was a hard blow for the Spudders who haven't found the going any too easy since they started their southern invasion.

Timely hitting by Jake Miller was the decisive factor in the Spudders' victory. It was Jake's single in the sixth which sent two runners over the pan putting his mates in the lead by a one-run margin and it was his slashing triple in the 11th which started their southern invasion.

Abbe Bowman started on the hill for the visitors as did Volpert for the Bears, but neither lasted long. Volpert was chased in the second round by a fusillade of hits and was relieved by Mutt Williams. The latter was unable to stem the tide and finally gave way to a pinch hitter in the eighth, Kelly finishing. Bowman also received the can in the same period. The Spudders had scored five runs in their portion of the session and before Bowman was yanked the Bears had tallied four times and knotted the count. Ruth took up the burden when Bowman left off but the Bears scored another before he was retired and went into the lead. The second again in the third and fourth on clean hitting and piled up a three-run lead.

Paul Downs lead Singles by Blachoff, Ruth and Adams, a hit batsman and an infield out gave the Spudders two in the fifth while the Bears scored Miller's single put them out in front in the eighth.

Two men had been retired in the ninth when Spudders knotted the count and sent the contest into extra sessions. Booe sent a long fly to Reacher which the latter reached but could not hold and a double by Griffith's base hit drove over the score.

Deatty opened the 10th with a double, but was thrown out at third on Henry hit to Ruth. The Spudders led 10 to 4 at the end of the 10th but could not score.

Tanner walked for a starter in the 11th and knocked when Miller slashed a triple to right. Miller was later thrown out at the plate on an attempted squeeze play when he and White got their signals mixed. Meyers tried to keep his mates in the game in the 12th by a double, but he was thrown out at second trying to stretch it. It was a lucky break for the Spudders as Gross followed with a single. He later went over the top on a single by Kirkham and fouled out to Blachoff.

Blachoff led the Spudders attack with four hits. Adams had a double, while "Red" Adams had a great day in the field. The box score:

FIRPO, WORLD'S CHAMPION (2)

Nobody who hasn't studied Argentine fight fans in their own habit can possibly understand what the name, Louis Angel Firpo, means to them.

You have to bear in mind that Argentina, though a big country, is concentrated as to population, Buenos Aires practically is the whole thing. Its inhabitants, of any importance, know each other personally. In that respect it's like a village.

Now, suppose you lived in Podunk and were immediately proved of it. Suppose Podunk, insanely ambitious to be the world's fight center, but utterly, jealously, morosely aware that big cities like New York for instance, hardly know there was any such place.

And suppose a Podunk pug went up to New York and you got the impression, rightly or wrongly, that he was claiming to be the champion of the fighting line there, that he had 'em all scared, that he was by all odds the best man among 'em, that he'd put Podunk on the map at least.

New Argentinean Feel. Well, that's the way the Argentineans feel about Firpo, only much, much more so.

The average well informed Argentine honestly believes Louis Angel is best in line after Dempsey for the world's heavyweight championship, and that it's an absolute certainty he can lick any man who gets in the ring with him; and the rank and file of his countrymen are confident Louis is world's champion already.

It isn't necessary to assure anybody who knows the Argentine that there's no hot air about the Buenos Aires offer of $50,000 for a Firpo-Dempsey fight. "B. A." has the money—and to say it's got the confidence is putting it miles too mildly.

He's a Big Guy. Firpo's a whale of a guy, 6 feet 3 1/2 inches tall, as compared with Dempsey's 5 feet 7, and weighing 210 pounds to Jack's 180. He has a powerful right hand, and his left hand is good.

Firpo himself probably knows perfectly well how little chance he stands of beating Dempsey. But if the latter's willing there's every likelihood poor Louis will be dragged in to the affair against his better judgment, by his crazy countrymen. And that's the fact that makes the offer of $50,000, thinks seriously of taking the Argentine on in the fall.

In the meantime, it's said semi-officially that Jack's to meet Harry Willis in Montreal, and it's also suggested that, instead of Willis, he'll be an "international incident."

RACERS WILL GET SIGNALS BY RADIO

INDIANAPOLIS, May 25.—Radio is going to help automobile racers at the annual 500-mile classic on May 30, keep in close touch with their pits. It will transmit the conventional blackboard for signals. Two Ford racers and a Monroe team have already fixed up their machines to carry radio receiving sets. On the Monroe, the set is attached to the right side, so that the mechanic can operate it easily. All parts of this set are suspended on springs so as not to be damaged by vibration.

ST. LOUIS, May 25.—Pittsburgh's Pirates took the Cardinals into camp, 7 to 1, today before Commissioner Landis, who threw the first ball. Glasner prevented the Cardinals from finding their batting eye, and caused the locals' fifth straight defeat. Hornsby registered his tenth circuit walk of the season.

NEW YORK, May 25.—Baseball's home run clouters are on the war path. Yesterday's games were featured by circuit aunts and the unwanted antics of circuit swatters. Babe Ruth didn't get a homer in an umpire's face, went a-gunning for a fan who booed him and was banished for the rest of the afternoon.

PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—Brooklyn took both ends of the first double header of the season from Philadelphia today, 8 to 7 and 9 to 6. The defeat marked the locals' ninth straight setback. Will Hubbell, local pitcher, received a fractured skull in the first inning of the opening game when he was hit in the head by T. Griffith's drive. Hubbell was taken to a hospital where his condition is considered serious.

CINCINNATI, May 25.—Cincinnati and Chicago played a tie game today, rain stopping the contest at the end of the eighth inning and prevented the second game of the scheduled double header. Both Donohue and Alexander were hit freely, but were effective with men on bases. Double headers will be played Friday and Saturday.

CHATTANOOGA, May 25.—Chattanooga and New Orleans divided two erratic games today, the home team winning the first, 1 to 0, and the visitors the second, 7 to 1.

PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—Will Hubbell, pitcher of the Phillies, was hit on the head by a batted ball in the opening game of a double header with Brooklyn yesterday, passed a fairly comfortable night and was reported, early today, as "resting easily."

JAPAN DEFAULTS IN DAVIS CUP MATCHES. Inability of Kumagata, Net Star, to Take Part Responsible for Decision.

LANDIS WILL KEEP HANDS OFF RUTH THIS TIME. CHICAGO, May 26.—Ban Johnson, president of the American league, was so eager to complete last season's deal matches that the world's premier tennis trophy, it was announced today, as Kumagata, a member of Japan's team which played in the finals last year, will be unable to participate. The final of this year's tournament will be held at Forest Hills, N. Y., early in September.

ST. LOUIS, May 25.—Kenneth S. Burns, retired capitalist and son of former State Senator D. B. Burns of Joplin, Mo., died at his home here yesterday after an operation. Burns was secretary of the Grange Milling and Smelting company for many years. He was 63 years old.

Illegal For Ruth to Play Until Complete Investigation is Made

CHICAGO, May 25.—Babe Ruth of the New York Yankees today was declared by President Ban Johnson of the American league to be illegal to play until a complete investigation has been made of the argument with Umpire Hildebrand, which resulted in the home run being pitched out of the game and then climbing into the stands when he became offended at the boosing of fans.

WALTER JOHNSON VERY FAR FROM BEING THROUGH. Walter Johnson is far from being through as a pitcher. He has just seven straight games and was in a bad slump. The burden of breaking the losing streak was put up to Johnson.

SPORTS SHOTS

A Hard Blow.
Twas a costly victory.

Tex Will Be Missed.
McDonald's club will be sorely missed by the Senators as will his playing for a week or ten days. Who will cover the hot corner during his absence is a problem. Tanner relieved him Thursday, but unless Buddy's arm has improved since spring he does not appear to be the logical man for the berth. White or Adams could be used to better advantage at the hot corner, it would seem.

Tex's Ambition.
Tex had ambitions this year to lead the league in hitting and in stolen bases. His injury should keep him from realizing the first, but it will be next to impossible for him to show the way in stealing. Tex's base hits are not of the infid variety. He doesn't have to depend on his own batting averages. When he collects a base hit, it's a real blow. It's a smash with plenty of power behind it. He is ordinarily in going down the line. But his extended absence will hurt his base stealing while the chances are that he will break into the lineup before his leg will be in condition to permit him to spurn a sock. Before he was spiked, he was well up among the leaders of the league.

Internal Disensions.
Hack Hibel's sale to Galveston was the result of a battle with Mottish of the Senators in which the latter is said to have lost a batch of teeth. Hack had difficulty in getting along with Mottish's manager, and Billy Smith considered it was best for all that he be shipped to other territory.

A Gentle Pastime.
It was a tough day for ball players Thursday. Tex McDonald was spiked. Homer Hensworth of the Senators was hit on the jaw by a batted ball and will be out indefinitely and Hubbell of the Phillies was knocked unconscious by a drive through the box. It is a wonder that more pitchers haven't suffered a similar fate with the "rabbit" ball.

Ruth is Wrong.
Babe Ruth is also out indefinitely. The hambo isn't the hero in Gotham that he was in 1921. The largest crowd of the season turned out at the Polo Grounds to greet him, but the demonstration wasn't what was anticipated. Babe is receiving as many jabs this season unless he starts pulling 'em out of the lot when he gets back into the game again, his name will be mud. Babe has received a little more publicity for his own good. He evidently is still laboring under the delusion that he is bigger than the game itself. From reports received on Thursday's game between the Yanks and Senators there was absolutely no excuse for his behavior in the umpire's face. He is not only injuring himself by such tactics, but he is throwing down his boss. The management suffers more than Ruth.

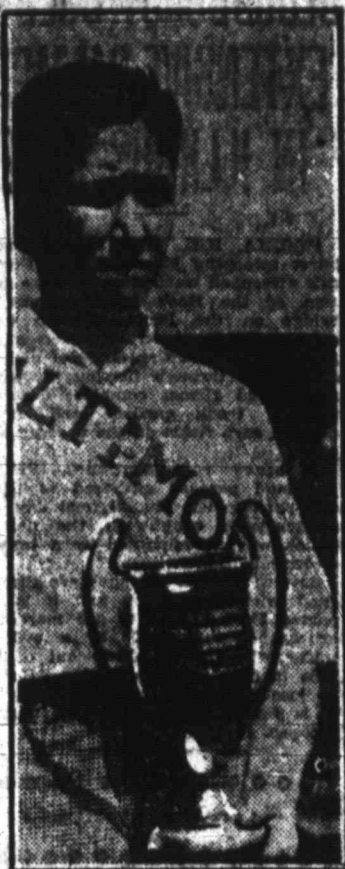

Would Become Manager.
It is understood that Hal Perdue is angling for the job as pilot of the Senators club. It was rumored some time ago that Smith was on the point of resigning and that Hub put in a bid for the berth.

Ens Stays In.
Jewel Ens, former half pilot, had a hard row to hoe to land his job with the Pirates. Ens has been the goat for the Pittsburgh fans ever since he was shoved in at third base, but he refused to let the "raining" bother him. A public bawling-out by Manager Gibson started the fans after him, but he's still in love playing grand ball. "Raining" is nothing to Ens. He received plenty of it his last year in Houston.

Cochran's Disillusionment
Tommy Cochran's defeat by Bryan Heard is probably the biggest upset that will occur in the Texas state championship tourney. Heard is one of the oldest golfers entered in the tournament, but he still swings a mean club. The chances are that Cochran could go out and beat him six days out of the week, yet one off day in the championship tournament is usually disastrous. The ultimate winner of the event is a matter of guess work only now, since Josie Jacoby was also put out of the running. Cochran lost out on the 18th hole when he hooked into the rough on his drive from the tee. He hooked in second shot while his third shot rolled across the green into the trap. His pitch out was 23 feet short. He held out in his white shirt only four.

HIGH SCHOOL NINE TO BANQUET AT KEMP HOTEL

The Wichita Falls high school baseball season will be officially brought to a close Friday night at a banquet in the Kemp hotel. MADE IN MONEY NOW.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Habe Ruth, home run king, said he was sorry and added that "it seems that a ball player is always wrong when informed today that Ben Johnson, president of the American league, had declared him ineligible to play until an investigation had been made of the dust throwing affair in yesterday's game at New York."

COMPANY TO DRILL TESTS IN HASKELL AND WISE COUNTIES

The Commonwealth Oil and Development company will start two wells within the next few weeks, one in Haskell county and the other in the southeastern portion of Wise county. The company has holdings of 20,000 acres.

The Haskell county well will be located in the vicinity of the S. S. Kouri well, that was drilled a short time ago but developed water trouble and had to be abandoned after reaching over 3,000 feet. The officers of the company are T. A. Edwards of Fort Worth, president and a trustee, and other trustees are J. G. Clark of Fort Worth, and S. S. Kouri of Wichita Falls.

NEW FILTRATION PLANT IS STARTED THURSDAY, READY BY MIDSUMMER

The city water department began work Thursday on the new filtration system which is to be installed at the water plant. No contract was awarded for the job, which will be done for the most part by the department's employees.

N. Lawton, superintendent of the department, hopes to have the plant completed by July 15. It will double the present filtering capacity of the plant.

FLETCHER FREE ON $10,000 BOND AFTER HEARING TESTIMONY

JUDGE WILSON RULES CASE IS BAILABLE—NEW EVIDENCE HEARD.

ALLEGED BLOOD STAINS MAY FIGURE IN CASE

Conversations About Saylor Estate Are Featured in State's Testimony.

ARCHER CITY, TEXAS, May 24.—Sains found on a fragment of clothing that had been worn by Ema Saylor may prove to be an important factor in the case of Robert Fletcher, charged with murder in connection with the death of the young woman, his sister-in-law, and her father, Will Saylor.

Fletcher was granted bond in the sum of $10,000 late Thursday evening after an all day habeas corpus hearing before District Judge Wilson. He perfected bond late Thursday night, with Stanford Wilson, John Sorgham, Henry Harrison and W. E. Forgy, as bondsmen.

Conversations which Fletcher is alleged to have had with his brother-in-law, E. H. Smith, about a year ago, were related by state witnesses, in connection with the prosecution's efforts to show a motive.

Fletcher was said to have discussed with Smith the advisability of selling the Saylor estate. The elder Saylor, and later was declared to have asked Smith if Ema Saylor would get the house in the event the elder Saylor died without leaving a will.

No analysis has been made of the stains on the piece of clothing found in the water near the scene. When the state offered testimony that drops of blood had been discovered at the scene, the defense sought to show that these were not Fletcher's.

Fletcher did not take the stand in the hearing. Judge Wilson ruled that in view of the fact that the evidence was circumstantial and that, before a jury, he would have to charge on reasonable doubt, he considered the case bailable.

VERNON WILL BE A CANDIDATE FOR 1934 MEETING OF CHAMBER

VERNON, May 25.—Vernon boosters returned Thursday morning from Plalaviv with the firm conviction that the 1934 convention of the Texas chamber of commerce will be brought to this city. Although outvoted on the final ballot, the local delegation ran second throughout the election but rendered gracefully after the last count and made the selection of San Angelo unanimous.

Vernon received a wealth of recognition and good will as a result of its attempt to induce the 1932 convention of the chamber to meet in this city. Rivalry at Plalaviv, local delegates state, was entirely good natured, and although there were a few hot exchanges of words, the meeting ended with the best of spirit prevailing.

Vernon's representation made the trip to Plalaviv in a specially chartered car and with a band at its head and a rifle and drum corp bringing up the rear, won immediate attention when it paraded to the main square of the city. W. N. Stokes made the nominating speech for this city, when the time came to choose the next meeting place of the convention, and was seconded by J. D. Parnell of Wichita Falls, former resident of this city.

ELECTRIC COMPANY OPENS UP FRIDAY DESPITE FIRE; WIRELESS OUTFIT LOST

In spite of the fact that practically all of its office equipment was destroyed and its quarters gutted, the Wichita Falls Electric company opened up for business at 2:30 a. m. Friday, just as if there had been no fire.

At 2:00 a. m. P. A. Rogers, manager, arranged for a temporary lease on the quarters formerly occupied by the American National bank. By 2:00 a. m. the company's employees were installed there, telephone service had been provided, and large signs on both the former and present quarters announced the removal.

Mr. Rogers lost radio equipment to the value of about $200, having some wireless equipment stored in his office. A deer's head, prized by him as a hunting trophy, was also destroyed.

All office records, being stored in the vault, were saved. Two company employees were sleeping in the building. One saved most of his effects, but the other, evidently confused, failed to attempt to do so until it was too late, losing practically all of his clothing.

MERCURY CLIMBS TO 95 DEGREES HERE THURSDAY

Thursday afternoon the thermometer climbed to the 95 degree mark and throughout the district touched by local roads hot weather prevailed.

At Texline and Amarillo the agents reported a maximum temperature Thursday of 82 degrees while during the night it fell to 62. Locally the minimum temperature was 72 degrees.

Clear skies were reported Friday morning from all towns and very little wind movement was noted. Picture frames at Decorators. 7-11c

Defense Attorney Is Downright Frank With His Client

A certain attorney and a member of the local bar association was defending a man charged with theft. He was putting forth all his effort and fight in an attempt to prove his client innocent.

The case was purely a circumstantial one, the defendant having not been identified. A witness for the state, however, was giving a description of the clothing of the man whom he saw at the place and at the time when the goods were stolen.

The state was attempting to show that the description of the clothing of the man seen there that night was the same as that worn by the defendant when arrested.

The defense attorney turning half way in his chair to his client who sat at his rear was heard to say: "How were you dressed when you stole that stuff?"

The jury returned a verdict of guilty. The remark of counsel however was not heard by the jury.

LET CONTRACT FOR NEW COUNTRY CLUB HOUSE FOR $57,000

Work on the new home of the golf club will start as soon as material can be assembled, following the awarding of the contract late Thursday to the Whitehill Construction company.

The company's bid of $57,000 was $4,000 lower than that of any other bidder. The site for the house was being definitely fixed Friday. It will be on the knoll just south of Holiday creek. The cost of construction represents only a part of the club's improvement program, which includes laying out of the additional 40 acres recently acquired, the construction of roads and bridges, and other betterments which will make the local course one of the finest in the southwest.

BENEFIT MINSTREL IN IOWA PARK IS A HUGE SUCCESS

Home Talent Production Scores Big Hit in Presence of Capacity House.

IOWA PARK, TEXAS, May 24.—The most successful home talent production ever staged in Iowa Park was held Thursday night in the Christian church tabernacle for the benefit of the local post of the American legion. The entertainment was in the form of a miniature minstrel and vaudeville, under the direction of George Hodgins of Wichita Falls.

Three vaudeville acts preceded the minstrel. George Hodgins and Joe Marlow of Wichita Falls and W. R. Arnold of Iowa Park opened the bill with a "riot of laughs."

They were followed by Mrs. Paul W. Larkin of Wichita Falls who rendered songs which were well received. Miss Jodie Piek and Sellers Rogers of Wichita Falls wound up the vaudeville in "songs and dances." They responded to several encores and their act was one of the hits of the night.

The following solos were sung in the minstrel: "Just Like a Rainbow," B. D. Martin, Wichita Falls; "Georgia Rose," W. R. Arnold, Iowa Park; "Tucky Home," Charles Anglin, Wichita Falls; "Who's the Baby," George H. Hodgins, Wichita Falls; "Ma," Jack Sherman, Iowa Park; "Mother, I Don't Understand," George Taylor, Wichita Falls; "Ten Little Fingers," Joe Marlow, Wichita Falls; "Rose of No Man's Land," Miss Fern Williams, Iowa Park, assisted by Miss Alda Duke and Mercedes De Gordon Clark, W. R. Arnold, Dale and Bert Smith.

The male chorus included Scott Ralston, J. C. Ralston, Coral Duke, Dewey Hobson, O. J. Kidwell, Warren Clark, J. M. Brown, Walter Bick, Gale Parks, Howard Renfro of Iowa Park. Dr. J. Frank Clark acted as interlocutor.

Music was furnished by Paul W. Larkin of Wichita Falls, Mrs. Howard Renfro and Mr. McCarthy.

NAPIER TO LEAVE FOR SOUTH TEXAS TO PUSH CAMPAIGN

Judge E. W. Napier, candidate for the gubernatorial nomination who returned Thursday from a trip to south Texas, planned to leave Friday evening for San Antonio in the interest of his candidacy.

Judge Napier declared that he had received strong pledges of support from many of the leading men in south Texas including many from Beaumont, Galveston and Houston.

"Leading merchants, lawyers, bankers, newspaper men, craftsmen, farmers and others in all of the cities have assured me that they will support me actively," said Judge Napier Thursday, "and I have been much gratified to learn the cordiality with which the announcement of my candidacy has been received. By the time I am ready to announce my platform which will be in the very near future my campaign will be organized in every important center in the state with representative men in all walks of life behind it. Dissatisfaction with the present conditions in Texas is widespread. I have a definite program to remedy this situation and I believe it will meet with strong approval."

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND LOOSENS TEETH

The Very Best One of This Teeth-Loosening Drug May Start Trouble.

You know what calomel is. It's mercury quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It cracks into soluble like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headache, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than any calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money's worth.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loosens your teeth; it makes you feel like a dog's work. Dodson's Liver Tonic straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salt-water-sed.
