Linda Lee Inc.

by LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

"If you're content," he mumbled. "I dare say, there's nothing more to be said."

She nodded gaily, repeating the word, "Nothing!" in a flute-like note of mirth. Hanging his head, he began wretchedly to stuff the plunder into his pockets, muttering half to himself: "What a pity! If only I could have had a bit of luck! If only we could have hit it off—"

"Well . . . He glanced uneasily at her, and again was conscious of the heat in his cheeks. "So it comes to this at last . . . eh? Goodby, goodby!"

"Goodby," she repeated, amiably casual.

"I dare say," he gave a dubious chuckle. "Dare say it's stupid of me, the usual thing, you know."

"Usual thing?" she parroted, with faintly knitted brows.

He developed a moment of desperately sincere emotion: "Fanny! You've been a perfect brick to me, a perfect brick. I feel like a dog, leaving you like this."

"Oh," she said, as one indulges a persistent child—if you really want to kiss me, Harry, go ahead."

Nevertheless she turned her mouth aside, his lips brushed only her powdered cheek. Then she stepped back to her mirror and with a puff made good the imperceptible damage done by the car. The glass showed Lontaine's shadow, slinking out. She heard him blunder through the living room, the slam of the screen door, and her hand fumbled the powder-puff dropped unheeded, mist drifting across her vision, she gasped a breathless "Damn!" Tears meant a wrecked make-up . . .

Though there was need enough for haste if he were to carry out the plan she had made for him, Lontaine dragged slowly down the walk, with a bang-dog at the heels, his fingers fingering the price of the last sorry shreds of his self-respect. In the darkness the flash of his face still burned with fire of shame.

With a chuckle Lucinda took possession of this last: Lynn would have Laurence Hope! . . . Evidently a gift copy. When she opened the book at its fly-leaf, a slip of printed paper fluttered out. Without pausing to read the inscription, Lucinda retrieved the clipping, a half-tone from one of the motion picture monthlies, with the house in the distance, and in the foreground Lynn and a young woman arm-in-arm laughing at the camera. . . .

The evening had grown quite dark when a crisp rattle of the telephone started Lucinda into renewed contact with her surroundings. The book was in her hand. Being her door opened, with Lucinda watching Summerlad, in a dressing gown hastily thrown on over dress-shirt and trousers, hobble over to the telephone and conduct one end of a short conversation of whatever. He hung up and peered blindly round the room.

"What's the big idea, sitting all alone in the dark?" At the same time he switched on wall-scenes and blinking, saw her. "Just our luck!" he grumbled, trying to sound disconsolate. "What do you think, sweetheart? Fanny says they can't come tonight. Harry's laid up, got a sick headache or something, and she doesn't think she ought to leave him. I wonder if you'd mind dining here with me alone, this once. I can't very well go out with this fog, eh? What do you think?"

Lucinda made no sound. His eyes narrowed as he perceived the abnormal absence of color in her face, the dark dilation of her unweaving eyes. Limping, he approached.

"What's the matter, Linda? Not cross with me, are you?"

An entreatingly hand silenced him. All in a breath Lucinda said: "Lynn, why didn't you ever tell me you were married?"

"Damnation!" Summerlad said, half under his breath and moved nearer, still another slatter of her hand stopped him. "That wise husband of yours," he expostulated then, indignantly. "I suppose he's been spilling all he knows!"

"Did he know? Yes; I presume he must have. But just how, my dear, he didn't tell me. It was this . . ."

Summerlad frowned, at a loss to identify the volume in her extended hand.

"I found it, Lynn, quite by accident, while I was waiting. Hope's Indian Love Lyrics. Don't you remember? . . . See, it's inscribed: . . ."

the sight of me! . . . Oh, how could you have been so unkind!"

"If you'd only give me a show to explain . . ."

"Her lip curled: 'Explain!' 'I've been doing my best,' Summerlad argued resentfully. 'When I saw how it was going to be with you and me, and found out Nelly'd come back to Hollywood, I went to her and had things out—gave her some money and promised her more, on the strength of her promise, to go back home and get a divorce on the dead quiet.'"

"And did you hope to keep that a secret from me?"

"My name isn't Summerlad, any more than hers is Marquis—or yours Lee. I thought I'd . . . I thought everything was going to be all right till she turned up again with your officious husband."

"You think Bel had something to do—"

"He wanted Nelly on the spot as a sort of club over my head. He hasn't given you up yet," Summerlad laughed shortly—not by a long sight.

"A club over your head? I don't understand."

"Not meaning to use it so long as we behaved ourselves."

"Behaved ourselves? Lynn!"

"Oh forgive me, I didn't mean to say that."

Summerlad's look mirrored a real and poignant contention as he saw her coloring with affronted sensibility, drawing back from him, momentarily slipping farther beyond his reach. "Linda," he implored, "don't look at me that way."

Suddenly, before she could stir to escape, he caught her to him and held her fast.

"Linda, sweetheart, don't be angry with me. I've tried so hard . . ."

to be good enough for you. And you—you've loved me, too! Don't let this rotten accident spoil everything for us. If you love me—and you know I love you—what does anything matter? What if we are both married? What difference does that make? Love can still be sweet . . ."

She made no show of opposition, only drew back her head to cheat his lips; but when she tried to leave his eyes, thinking to read therein his heart and mind, she winced from recognition of the hunger that informed them, hunger that she wittingly had whetted, hunger such as she herself had too often known of late, like warm wine running in one's veins.

Henrietta Contractor Gets School Job at Bellevue

Contract for the new school building at Bellevue has been awarded to L. J. Gentry, Henrietta contractor, whose bid of $38,821 was lower than that of two Sherman, and five Wichita Falls contractors who were after the job. The Hoffman company of this city got the plumbing contract for $13,000. Voelcker & Dixon of this city are architects for the building.

ROB NEGRO STORE OF $360, INCLUDING FUNDS OF CHURCH

Thieves, believed to have been expert crackmen, made a remunerative haul from the grocery store owned and operated by John Bell, negro, at 309 Humphrey street when they forced an entrance to the building, opened a small safe and escaped with $360 in cash Tuesday night. Between $20 and $40 of the money was in Buffalo nickels, Bell told police, while the rest was in bills and silver. A $15 check was also taken.

An investigation of the robbery Wednesday morning revealed that a window on the west side of the store had been forced open and entrance gained in that way. The combination to the strong box was either known to the robbers or was figured out after they had started operations. Police are inclined to the latter theory, which leads to their belief that the work was not that of amateurs.

Following the removal of the coin the safe door was closed and locked. The owner of the store is treasurer of a local negro church and considerable amount of the missing cash made up the church fund, he told officers. The rest represented the proceeds of his Tuesday sales at the store.

Bell has been a resident of Wichita Falls for many years and has been recognized as one of the most reputable negroes in the city. His past record of integrity and honor has earned confidence of officers with whom he was acquainted that he was really the victim of a carefully planned robbery Tuesday night and that there were no irregularities from the inside.

A thorough search for the thieves was being made Wednesday.

cathartics—

one of the chief causes of constipation?

DID it ever occur to you that the cathartic you take to relieve constipation, is the cause of your trouble?

Yet when a number of doctors were discussing this almost universal complaint one of them said: "Probably one of the most frequent causes of constipation is the indiscriminate use of cathartics." For years physicians have tried to persuade people to give up laxatives and to eat corrective foods instead.

It is now known that Fleischmann's Yeast is a food which makes the use of cathartics unnecessary. Because of its freshness it helps the intestines eliminate waste matter.

People who are adding Fleischmann's Yeast to their daily diet find that their body functions are kept normal and regular. Eat 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast before or between meals every day. Place a standing order with your grocer. He will deliver Fleischmann's Yeast fresh daily.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS THE MOON-MAN'S AIDS ARE MANY—AND HIS FOES, TOO

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"Then my dream-fairies, the T-walies, slide down a moon-beam."

"Midsummer Night's Dream" Fairies Wear Lovely Costumes of a New Art

The fairies in "Midsummer Night's Dream," which will be presented Thursday and Friday nights at the Wichita theater by the Community Players, will furnish one of the loveliest and most artistic spectacles of that production, according to those who have witnessed a dress-rehearsal of the fairy scenes. A cut of the tiny little folk who appear so naturally and joyfully about the fairy queen in the play was used in Sunday's Times, and its beauty attracted much attention and comment. The children, dressed according to the suggestion of Mrs. Luther Hoffman, in keeping with the modern and artistic interpretation of fairy-folk, are as natural and graceful as wind-blown leaves, and go through their beautiful little sketch with a freedom from consciousness which is altogether lacking in the freedom of the other stage sets.

"Every time I see a dream going toward the earth from my star I see some of my fairies to catch it, usually the Chimney-Sitters, for most dreams go down chimneys. Then my dream-fairies, the T-walies, slide down a moon-beam and hurry down the chimney and substitute a lovely dream for the bad one."

"Is Mr. Enna Meena the only enemy you've got?" asked Nick. "My, no!" sighed the Man-in-the-Moon. "That's why I sent for you, Twelve Toes, the Sorcerer, and Enna Meena, the Magician, and Tricky Tricko, the Wizard, and Hullo Hullo, the Conjurer, are all angels compared to my real enemy. "My real enemy is Comet-Legs, so called because his legs are as curled as comets. He rides through the sky on a shooting star. He's jealous of me and my friends because he wishes to rule the sky. I'll tell you about him."

OUR FIRST YEAR CHAPTER LI—TRIVIAL TROUBLES.

When a girl marries she expects life is going to become a succession of startling events. Pretty soon she discovers that life goes on after her wedding much as it did before. Jack asked me why I didn't go to the station, nor whom I had seen there. His lack of curiosity made me awfully cross. He ought also to have asked about the party he had to give for the bride. But I hadn't a particle of the right to be cross if Jack was living up to our contract far better than I. Some what vaguely said I to me: "For Madison, that letter from Mrs. Herrod was only a little rift between you and Jack, but it will be as deep and broad as the grand canyon if you keep on imagining things as you've been doing the last few days."

"Never again, Peggie!" Jack put his lathered face into my kitchen before breakfast. No man looks like a hero in that state. It was easy for me to say with decisions. "I'll be just what I say! I will kiss you until you shiver off that mustache! So—your better do it now!"

I suppose that demand made Jack unreasonable or convinced him that I was. Certainly he must have been convinced of something very disagreeable when I absolutely refused to kiss him good-by, and he had to go off to the office—for the first time—without it. So we went along for two weeks every morning I cried after my husband went to work. Embrace me he might, kiss me he might—but becoming a real-cave man, upon one occasion, he got soundly slapped for his pains. (To be continued.)

Miss Frances Rothwell, field secretary of the Y. W. C. A., is here for a few days visiting local Y headquarters.

The Floral Heights Sunday school membership gathered at the church early today for a picnic at Lake Wichita. The young people went out in cars, and a big day was planned.

The R. O. P. class of the First M. E. church, south, will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. A. L. Proctor at her home, 2205 Eighth street, with Mrs. Frank Dorsay joint hostess.

Revival Services North Side Methodist Church. The finished product of pure character as exhibited in the Christ life was the intensely interesting subject presented by Mrs. Clyde Foster in her beautiful talk in the revival services at the North Side Methodist church on Tuesday night.

Herbert, a mother charged with the training of young life, the gifted speaker brought out of the store house of her own experience much interesting material in the religious upbringing of children. Mother love, the greatest thing in the world, was duly emphasized as the consecrated instrument for promoting Christ-like character in the childhood of today. She insisted that thoughts really determine a person's character and therefore one's thinking on "what-ever things are true, honest, just, pure, lovely, and of good report," as the Bible teaches, can meet the requirements for forming desirable character. Because thoughts are so intimately connected with habit, it is likewise suggested that light duties only such as prompt, pure living; safeguarding the lips against improper speech; was urged as a distinct aid in developing a pure character.

The message tonight will be brought by Judge P. A. Brown, 505 bridge street. Read Saul's big ad in today's paper, see windows and we'll see you Friday. 15-11c

Local Forecaster Says Signs Point To Floods in June

A cool, wet May means floods in June. Such is the assertion of a certain Wichitan, who, having lived here about 30 years and having given ample proof that he isn't the other thing, either, declines to make any prediction. He just says that that kind of May weather means high water in June.

BUSINESS GIRLS PICNIC AT LAKE TUESDAY EVENING

Between sixty and seventy members of the Business Women's Club attended the annual picnic at Lake Wichita Tuesday evening as guests of the lake management. The young women went out in a chartered car and enjoyed a dip in the pool and the other concessions of the lake. Supper was spread about 7:30 in the pavilion, with fried chicken and other good things.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grand-mother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair soft, even color, which is quite essential, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and sulphur, and mixing at home. If drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wreth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wreth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft luster and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for face use. Sulphur is an oxidant of dyes—adv.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY
In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you.—John 14:2.
For immortality is not to range
Unlimited through vast Olympian days,
Or sit in dull dominion over time,
But this to drink Fate's utmost at a draught,
Nor feel the wine grow stale upon the lips;
To scale the summit of some soaring mountain,
Nor know the dullness of the long descent;
To snatch the crown of life and seal it up,
Secure forever in the vaults of death.
—Edith Wharton.

FEDERAL AID
The time was when the people of a community desired a public improvement or a special public service they voted bonds and then set about to spend their own money in their own way. Now all of this is changing. We still vote some bonds but depend in an increasing measure upon state and federal aid. We spend our money under laws laid down in Austin and Washington and Washington predominates. We pay high state and federal taxes and get a part of our money back in "aid" and patronage.
A subtle, yet profound, change is slowly but surely taking place in our government, especially as it relates to taxation and public improvement.
The Civic Federation of Chicago has issued a pamphlet in which many instances of this growing tendency is shown in concrete examples. Discussing this pamphlet the current issue of World's Work says:
"By 'federal aid' is meant the practice of granting funds from the national treasury to the several states, for expenditure by the state within its own boundaries, provided the state appropriates an equal sum for the same purpose. This is a direct interference in state affairs by the federal government, as it places the initiative of an important local policy in Washington instead of in the state capital. It tends to turn the eyes of the citizen, looking for leadership and direction, toward the distant federal government instead of his local government. And it tends to make him dependent upon 'easy money' to be got from the federal treasury rather than upon the local funds for which he realizes he pays taxes.
"These things may or may not be evil. But they are fundamentally different from the traditional American policy, and, if extended, they are certain to produce profound changes in our whole practice of government. They mean a decline in local self-government. They mean centralization of power. They mean the removal of taxation from bodies locally controlled to a congress distant from the man who is taxed and but vaguely conscious of his needs or wishes. They mean more and more power for bureau chiefs in Washington to make rules governing purely local actions, and less and less authority over local problems by locally elected officers. Perhaps these things are desirable; perhaps they are inevitable. But the public should not allow them to come to pass without understanding that they are happening, and what they mean.
"By this device of federal aid, the states have expended a hundred million dollars for roads, the location and quality of which are largely controlled by Washington. They have spent another thirteen millions on agricultural experiments and extension, vocational education, rehabilitation work, and the prevention of venereal disease, on the same terms. Under the Sheppard-Towner maternity act they will spend a million and a half more. Under the proposed Towner-Sterling measure, to establish a national department of education, they will be asked to spend a hundred million more.
"The amount of these sums is less important than the governmental changes which they involve. In a fiscal sense, their effect is to cause a state to tax its citizens locally to support a measure which the federal government initiates and for which the federal government also taxes the citizens of the state an equal amount. They stimulate expenditure, and they intertwine state finances and federal finances in a way never dreamed of until this device of federal aid was invented.
"In an administrative sense, these measures stimulate the growth of a vast system of bureaus in Washington to carry into effect the purposes aimed at in the bills. These bureaus determine the detailed methods; they set the actual standards; they rule upon debated questions; and they are the final authority in the actual operations. Remote from the local and individual problem, responsive to no local pressure, and in fact practically responsible to nobody except when an issue looms so large that a member of the cabinet or congress is forced to intervene, this Washington bureaucracy is about as democratic an instrument as human ingenuity could devise to attain the purposes of a democracy. This is no fault of the men who comprise it. It is the fruit of the plan itself. Such a machine is in its nature an instrument of a centralized government and not of a union of self-governing states."
The Civic Federation's pamphlet discusses these considerations at length, and adds the facts and considerations of similar experiments in Great Britain and France.

CONCERNING DECORATION DAY

Veterans of the war between the states, the Spanish-American war and the world war joined here Monday in the observance of Memorial Day. Outside of the veterans themselves and members of their families there were few who participated in the exercises. There was little cessation of business for the day and few flags were displayed. Next year this community ought to cease from labor for the day and join with these veterans of all wars in their tribute to their fallen comrades. On that day all of us ought to join in remembrance of their heroic sacrifices and in recalling the glorious principles for which they fought.

TODAY'S TALK
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

IF YOU ONLY HAD YOURSELF
It may be true that we are each to ourselves the most interesting personage in the world, but on the other hand, did we have no other person on earth to interest these selves of ours, we would soon go suddenly mad.
The well fed dog may stretch himself in the shade of a tree and forget all else in his contentment. But let him once get hungry again!
Jesus said: "Blessed is he who hungers, and thirsts after righteousness."
Thrice blessed is he who continually hungers after something higher and better than what he himself represents.
Add to yourself, my friend, interests, interests! For it is out of these interests of yours that spring the life-and-rich-rewards-of-existence. And it matters very little the direction in which your interests lead you, so long as they stimulate and spur you to unfold the best that is within you.
When we give most we get most. Service renders back larger dividends than any stock or bond. You may pride yourself on having much—but it is in such an attitude of thinking that you really possess the least.
You have most when you appreciate most. The penniless boy walking through a wood may be richer than the richest millionaire. He may see what no one else but he who is rich in love may see.
There are those who cross the seas a hundred times in search of happiness and who return as lacking as when they set out. If they but knew it, this happiness which they are willing to spend so much to gain, might be theirs simply for walking a few steps to the door of their neighbor—and there rendering no more than a pleasant talk or good service.
The greatest adventures of which we are all part of that we may find real thrills, begins the minute we leave ourselves for something or somebody.

JUST FOLKS
By Edgar A. Guest
THE OLD REFRAINS
Here are childhood's rancies true,
Once, so long ago, you knew
"Eenie, meenie, meilie, mo,
One, two, three and out you go!"
Here's the old belief again:
"Kill an ant and it will rain."
Yesterday I passed along
Where a merry-hearted throng
Counted out the selfsame way
Of our long forgotten play.
And I heard the "meenie-mo"
Of our distant long ago.
Wide the eyes that glistened there
In a world so wondrous fair,
Wise the heads that nodded low
At the things they'd come to know.
And I smiled at this refrain:
"Kill an ant and it will rain!"
Oh, thought I, 'tis very strange
Childhood's rancies never change.
That is what we used to say—
In our golden year-day:
"Eenie, meenie, meilie mo!
One, two, three and out you go."
Long forgotten, still it lives,
Joy to little hearts it gives,
And unto the end of time
Little lips will sing this rhyme;
Age will hear its babes explain:
"Kill an ant and it will rain!"
Needless books and printed things
For the songs that childhood sings,
Curly heads and laughing eyes
In such lore are always wise;
This belief will long remain:
"Kill an ant and it will rain."

"The world is a mass of jelly," says a British lecturer. Others think it is in a pickle.
France and Italy will join England in investigating Turkish atrocities. We saw a man smoking one yesterday.
A man with lots of time on his hands usually kills it all.
"Shoot to kill" is the order Cupid is working under.
This year is half gone. So is the 1921 gloom.
"Skirts" is a slang expression for "women," but it is time to change it to "stockings."
Knowing thyself isn't much use unless you can convince others.
According to the latest war-graft rumors, the ex-soldiers can't have a bonus because the ex-slackers already have it.
Beggars shouldn't be booters.
Men and razor blades are useless when they lose their temper.
Maryland has strawberries six inches around. It only takes two or three of them to make a dozen.
Pedestrians carry no spare parts.

ASTHMA
By DR. R. H. BISHOP.
Asthma is one of those general names which might mean any one of several very different ailments. It is applied by the layman to various conditions associated with extreme difficulty in breathing. Thus you hear of cardiac asthma, renal asthma and hay-fever asthma. All imply difficulty in breathing, but bronchial asthma is the commonest.
The fact that there are so many causes for asthma is one of the great reasons why there are so many sufferers.
The greatest fundamental in most asthma cases is a disorder of the respiratory system. The great nervous affecting breathing is disturbed, and the asthmatic suffers from a feeble chest and a weak respiratory system. In fact, it is the asthmatic's chest and respiratory system that is the cause of his trouble. The question whether or not asthma can be cured depends on whether or not the cause or causes can be found and removed.
Various climates may have to be tried. One which is fairly dry, moderate altitude and fairly free from dust is right in most cases. But not in all. Strangely enough, the air of cities suits many sufferers better than the purest rural air. For the edifying, asthmatic, outdoor life with walking golf or riding in moderation, is the thing which should be stopped as well within fatigue. The open air life should become habitual.
"Proper diet and hygiene will be explained in detail by the physician."

Twice as much postal business is done in New York City as in the entire domain of Canada.
More than 2,000,000 packages were handled by the U. S. parcel post service last year.

American toys produced this year will reach a value of $100,000,000.

Texas Viewpoints

Amelillo Tribune: The Texas Governor's veto of the activities of mobs and the frequent lynchings in Texas. We all do, and heartily hope that no more crimes will be committed. The governor is not really in law in his own hands to average such outrages as will always drive a community to desperation, but surely the governor is not really in favor of a law to arbitrarily force men accused of participation in a lynching to be pulled away to some other county for trial. Texas already has a law providing for change of venue in cases where a fair trial is impossible. It would be absurd to suggest that a member of a Texas mob should be taken to some other state for trial and if and the governor's idea is to get to a county where popular feeling will be less pronounced, in such cases he is not apt to find it in a Texas county. Our faith in Texas is strong enough to believe that the law is not being broken in any county in Texas to render a just and impartial verdict, even in the case of a lynching, if the evidence is of a convincing character. It is not to stop lynchings to stop the cause and this can't be done by the method suggested by Governor Jeff.

LEARN A WORD
EVERY DAY.
Today's word is "welder." It is pronounced "weel-er," with accent on the first syllable. It means—to tumble about, wallow or roll—the act or motion of wallowing; hence, confusion or turmoil.
It comes from—Anglo-Saxon "welian," to roll.
The "welder" in this—"From the weller of figures which tariff diplomats quote, it is difficult for the average man to form much opinion concerning the probable results of pending changes in the law."

YOU AND I
By ALBERT APPLE
MONKEYS
Carved Wells, explorer, while tramping in Malay jungles, found a monkey that had trained birds, small monkeys, to run up trees and pick coconuts for them.
That is interesting, because it has been said that a man who has had a monkey, in his country, the monkey's descendants have been trained to do a "heap sight" more than the monkey.
You have noticed, in a circus menagerie, that the monkeys are just as interested in us as we are in them. This is one of the reasons.

MEAT-EATING
Back in 1907, the average American ate 185 pounds of meat a year. This has dropped to 156 pounds a year.
Meat-eating has been declining since city men discovered that heavy noon-day lunch tends to make them "lonesome" for the rest of the day.
The "meat" which "especially" annoys women, light lunches, in China, to become "candy floss." In solving one problem, we usually create a new one in its place.

CHINESE
The Wei Paf, central government of China, has a policy of the conviction that it is cheaper to pay an enemy the indemnity he demands, and avoid a war, than lick his wounds in a war.
The Chinese believe that all men guard their lives as their greatest treasure. Hence, capital punishment in China is as common a sentence as "30 days in the workhouse" in America.
A thousand sermons could be preached on the subject. Most of them could be summed up into the simple statement: "If you are a Christian, be a good man, and if you are not, be a better man."

INTOXICATING
Repeatedly you read about a bootlegger's still exploding and wrecking a house. It makes you wonder what kind of high explosive they are putting into the stuff.
However, China claims it has left to a Filipino bartender. Over there, they name their drinks according to the power contained up in the beverage. "Ipa cabation" is two horses-in and "tres barricell" is three-locomotives-ferocious. Many an army regular will repeat:

OUT OUR WAY

STOLEN
Many large corporations have been built-up on "discoveries" or ideas stolen from poor inventors. The form of piracy has been so wide-spread in the past, it is a trade saying that an inventor rarely realizes as much profit from his discovery as the salesman who markets it.
The tide turns, the radio industry is in its swaddling clothes, constantly being improved. But General Electric company and the Wall Street Journal announcement are refusing to discuss unpatented ideas with inventors. They are alert for improvement, but tell inventors talk business.

TWO YOUNG WOMEN ABDUCTED IN OMAHA FORMER CONVICT

Held them in hole under his shack for thirty-six hours

Captured by a woman but makes his escape

More than a thousand enter into chase but hunted party eludes posse

LINCOLN, NEB., May 31.—Police today finished their search for Fred Brown, alias Gus Grimes, wanted in Omaha on a charge of abducting two young women and holding them in a hole under his shack for 36 hours...

Brown was first recognized here by Mrs. Violet Dingman, a former resident of the same apartment building in which he resided following his release from the state penitentiary...

More than a thousand persons entered in the chase but he eluded them by entering the room of John Ryan, forcing Ryan to cook food for him and then remaining there for an hour resting from the previous chase...

"I got in a little trouble in Omaha Sunday," Brown explained to his friends...

In addition to the abduction charge, Brown also is believed to have been implicated in an oil station robbery in Omaha in which two men were fatally wounded...

By NEA Service. CHICAGO, May 31.—Anybody's dipping ice cream into hot chocolate would melt the ice cream, Christian Kent Nelson discovered the way to do it, however, at just the right temperature. The result—Eskimo Pie.

Until he made his discovery Nelson was a poor but contented teacher at Onawa, Iowa. Today money's pouring in on him as fast that he's scared. "I want to stay human," he says.

He tried hard enough to market his idea before it was taken up by people he approached were skeptical. Finally—Russell—Stover of Omaha went in with him. From that moment the golden tide began to rise. For Nelson, at any rate, it rose too high.

PRESENT NEW BILL TO REGULATE GRAIN EXCHANGE TRADING

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, May 31.—A new bill for regulation of future trading on grain exchanges, designed to meet the recent decision of the supreme court holding the present trading act inoperative in part, was introduced in the senate today by Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, chairman of the unofficial senate agricultural bloc, and author of the original act.

In presenting his new measure Senator Capper said it had the support of the agricultural bloc and Secretary Wallace and others of the department of agriculture. It was referred to the agriculture committee.

The bill is similar to the act declared inoperative by the present court except that its fundamental principle is based upon the power of congress to regulate interstate commerce, instead of the taxing power, which was the basis of the present law...

SOFIA, BULGARIA, May 31.—Premier Stamboullsky advocates the arrest and punishment of girls who refuse to obey the new law requiring them to work for the government some four months out of each year. HE BUILDED BETTER THAN HE KNEW

In a little 16-foot building with a mere handful of merchandise Saul's Store was founded just eight years ago. It was a very small store, but behind it was a big policy—that of fair dealing, big volume and small profits and truthful advertising—a policy that has built SAUL'S STORE to the enviable position of Wichita Falls' Foremost Cash Department Store.

NAME SUGGESTIONS FOR LAKE CONTINUE TO URGE J. A. KEMP

Readers of The Times, suggesting names for the two irrigation project lakes, continue to urge that Mr. Kemp and members of his family be honored in the naming. Quite a few are urging that T. B. Noble be also honored in that way, while the suggestion for use of the word "Faith" has quite a few advocates.

Not all of the suggestions are sincere ones. One was received urging "Alkali Lake" for the storage dam and "More Alkali" for the diversion dam. This suggestion bore the name of R. L. More, agent for W. T. Waggoner, but the name was signed on the typewriter, and the envelope bore a Wichita Falls post-mark. It cannot be attributed to the well known Vernon resident.

Another suggestion that probably will not be taken too seriously is signed by one Isadore Yehelmeier, who urges that "Africa" and "Mexico" be the names for the upper and lower lakes, probably on account of the nationality of many of the men employed.

Suggestions received by The Times since the last report are:

- H. P. Ryan, city—Lake Faith and Lake Kellkamp.
- E. F. Riley, 216-3 Ohio—Lake Faith and Lake Noble.
- Mrs. S. Y. Ferguson, 2514 Tenth—Lake Kellkamp, Lake Wichita.
- Mrs. F. Smith, 511 Ninth—Lake Wichita Falls, Lake Wichita.
- S. M. Griswold, city—Lake Kemp-nobledwood, Lake K.N.W. Jr.
- A. H. Heasley, 1314 Fillmore—Kemp Falls Lake, Texas Lake.
- Mrs. Ralph Dick, 1206 Tyler—Lake Kemp, Lake Faith.
- Phillips, 1818 Ninth, The Texas, Dream Lake.
- L. Cotterell, 1318 Ninth—Dream Lake, Realization Lake.
- V. A. Brinkman, 111 South Mesquite, San Antonio—Judge Barwise Lake, Kellkamp Lake.
- Mrs. E. W. Nicholson—1615 Tenth—Lake—1922, Emma—Francis Lake (for Mr. Kemp's mother).
- D. M. Hardy, 1190 Travis—Kemp's Dream Lake—Lake Committee.
- W. R. Anderson, 1267 Kemp boulevard—Lake Texas, Lake Kemp.
- Inez Hardy, 1065 Seventh—Lake Victory, Lake Columbia.

JUDGE MARTIN TAKES STAND AGAINST PREACHING SERMON ON CASE PENDING IN COURT

Rev. H. D. Knickerbocker of the First Methodist church, south, came in for a few remarks from Judge P. A. Martin of the 33rd district court after one of the gentlemen in the Mike Tucker case had disquieted him because he had contributed to the fund raised by Dr. Knickerbocker shortly after the alleged affair occurred.

Judge Martin also expressed disapproval of ministers of the gospel preaching on cases that are pending in court. He supplemented his remarks by stating that when the opportunity presented itself he would do all in his power to stop it.

Fred Thompson, veteran, had been passed by state's attorney to counsel for the defense.

He was asked what church he was a member of and answered that he was a member of Dr. Knickerbocker's church and further answered that he had contributed to the fund raised at that time. He was challenged for cause and the court excused him.

Judge Martin's remarks were: "I want to express disapproval as a judicial officer of ministers of the gospel preaching about cases that are pending in the courts and taking up collections for either side.

"If they were taken up for either side in the case it is a kind of influence in the administration of justice and is something that this court under proper opportunity will certainly do something to stop if there is any way in the world to stop it."

During the examination of witnesses each was asked if they had heard Dr. Knickerbocker's sermon and whether he had contributed anything to the fund raised at that time.

MONEY, JEWELS NEVERTHING IS BURIED BY ROBBERS, BUT OFFICER FAILS TO FIND IT

A disgusted city detective who left an appetizing dinner on the table Tuesday noon, who labored long and seasonally throughout the remainder of the day and who climbed in bed Tuesday night with nothing but the knowledge of duty conscientiously discharged as his reward is authority for this yarn.

To the reader is left the task of drawing conclusions, but the events as chronicled below are touched for as facts by the police department.

Between 11 and 1 o'clock Tuesday the police phone rang and an excited feminine voice urged that an officer be sent with all speed to a certain address in the south part of town. Of such importance was the case, as given to the desk sergeant, that he showed a detective and advised him to get on the job at once.

Arrived at the number given, the officer was met by an excited woman who pointed him to the rear of a ramshackle barn, pointed to a small excavation in the earth and then related the following story:

"I went out to milk late this morning," she said, "and heard voices behind the barn. I peeped through a crack and saw four negro men digging and I saw a bundle of money and jewelry. Finally one of them drew from his pocket a rather small bundle, wrapped in manila packing and tied with twine. He dropped it into the hole that had been made.

"I covered it up and left," she continued, "and when I was sure they had gone I dug up the package and carried it to the house. My daughter and I removed the covering and there we found a roll of bills—fifties and hundreds entirely—that made a bundle as big around as a small dinner plate. Then there were four diamond rings, all large and costly, four strings of pearls and two gold watches, one with a heavy gold chain attached.

"I was scared and took it back and buried it where we found it. Then I called you."

By this time the biased and unexcitable detective was evincing lively interest and requested that he be conducted straightway to the scene of the buried treasure. This accomplished, he found the excavation and a broken automobile spring with which it had been made—but not a sign of money or jewels.

Right then and there the officer drew one of two conclusions—one that T. Bartram was correct or else that there was work for the prohibition squad somewhere in the vicinity.

A statement by the woman that she recognized one of the negroes was considered worth investigating, however, and for the rest of the day he searched high and low for the elusive black. Just before dark he arrived at a dairy several miles north of town where the negro was reported to be working, only to learn that the quarry had been deserted.

Hurrying back to the city the detective found the pair, marched the negro to the city hall, piled him with questions and then at the end of 15 minutes turned him loose and went home and went to bed.

"I'm glad we don't have 'em like they have 'em," the sergeant said Wednesday in relating the affair, "but I wish the story had been true. I'd like to see whether or not so much wealth is lying around loose."

TEST OF T. & P. CO. IN ARCHER COUNTY CLOSELY WATCHED

A great deal of interest is being shown in the outcome of the Texas and Pacific Coal and Oil company's test east of Olathe in Archer county. The test has a good sand, 1400 feet which shows considerable oil and some water. Arrangements were being made to bail the well Wednesday afternoon.

OUTSIDERS MUSTN'T PICK ALL GRAPES, IS IRRIGATION WARNING

"Don't let outsiders come in and pick the grapes," was the warning sounded at the Lions club meeting Wednesday noon when the irrigation project was under way was the principal topic of discussion. Fear that Wichita Falls would follow the precedent set by other communities in standing idly by while the golden opportunities for profit presented by such an undertaking were snatched up by newcomers was expressed in emphatic terms.

E. H. Gipson, local attorney who has had some experience with irrigation projects in the northwest, was the main speaker of the day, and in his forceful talk he laid special stress on the need of preparing now for the opportunities that the irrigation system, when completed, would present. The oil boom, which found Wichita Falls unprepared passed by with this city realizing only an infinitesimal portion of the wealth that might have accrued from it, he said. And then using this illustration effectively, he plead that "the citizens of this city and district awake to the fact that another great highway toward wealth, prosperity and civic advancement was being opened up. Facts and figures illustrating the unbelievable profits that had been taken from irrigable lands in the northwest were cited by the speaker as proof of his statements that Wichita Falls could not plunge too enthusiastically into the work of developing the irrigation territory. The necessity of advertising the project in such manner that capable investors would be attracted here was also brought out in the address.

Commenting further on this latter phase of the question he pointed out that the Wichita Falls irrigation project was in reality competing with a score of other projects of similar character. And he declared, if the local undertaking is developed to that point where it should be developed, those inter-

ARTHUR B. REEVE WRITES RADIO ROMANCE

Especially for Wichita Daily Times

THE FICTION SCOOP OF THE DECADE

The Wichita Daily Times recognized the many radio fans among its readers would like to read a good radio romance. It sought such a story, but couldn't find one—for none had been written. But, through NEA Service, it engaged Arthur B. Reeve to write such a serial for original publication in this paper.

No need telling who Reeve is—millions throughout the world are Reeve fans—Reeve's celebrated character, Craig Kennedy, scientific detective, is universally famous in fiction, on stage and on screen.

Reeve refused to undertake The Times' commission, "unless I can write a story that will add to my reputation." It was this spirit that has produced

Murphy Only Driver to Win Premier Automobile Races of Two Continents

INDIANAPOLIS, May 31.—Jimmy Murphy, the smiling, boyish, Los Angeles, Cal., youth, today holds the distinction of being the only driver in the world to win the premier automobile races of two continents—the French grand prix and the 500-mile race at Indianapolis yesterday. This is Murphy's second year as a graduate of the school from the grade of mechanic to two years ago. HOW TO PLAY BALL

By Billy Evans, American League Umpire and Sporting Editor of NEA Service. There is a saying in baseball that the great hitters are born, not made. True, it is impossible to lay down any set of rules that will make a batter emulate the deeds of the Babe. Nature endowed him with a good pair of eyes, a great physique, and a destructive swing. However, by careful study and persistent effort, it is possible to improve one's ability to bat. Don't make the error of using too heavy a bat. Because Babe Ruth swings a heavy stick, don't think that you can. Also don't get the impression that a heavy bat is essential to a good hitter. The use of too heavy a bat is a fault that handicaps a great many batters unknowingly. They can't handle it properly, which results in "swinging and missing" or "choking" the hitter instead of the batsman swinging "the bat." A short or medium bat of a light weight is better than a long, heavy bat for the average hitter. The next thing is the proper way to grip the bat. Usually it is advisable to handle a bat as it feels best to you. Most batters hold the hands as closely together as possible and grip the bat fairly close to the end. Most of the great hitters stand with the feet as closely together as is comfortable. One should always have an easy position while in the batter's box rather than a strained posture. The foot nearest the pitcher should always be closer to the plate than the rear foot. The successful batter studies the pitcher as carefully as does the successful pitcher study the batter. Have supreme confidence in your ability. Never for a minute forget that the pitcher fears you. Try to remember that he fears you more than you do him. That gives you the upper hand. Never lose sight of the ball. Follow it from the moment it leaves the pitcher's hand. Don't let the pitcher get on your nerves. If he tries to disconnect you by slow methods, step out of the box on him. Be as deliberate as a fish. Unless nature has given you Babe Ruth's ability to hit them 8 miles, forget that a full swing is the best way to hit. A majority of the good hitters use the short, snappy swing. Don't over-look bunting as a batting asset. Ability to mix up style makes a batsman doubly dangerous. Step into the ball, never pull away. Pulling away destroys the power of the punch. Don't get in the hole. Never forget the importance of the bat. Don't get too heavy a stick—As you walk to the plate swing two or three bats until you step into the box. That tends to make the regular bat feel much lighter after you discard the others. Don't let the pitcher always get you in the hole. Try to reverse the conditions. When you get a pitcher in the hole, pick on the cripple. The best hitters in the major leagues hit with two balls and no strikes, and three balls and a strike if the pitch is over. They realize the pitcher invariably lets up at such a time. That is the time to hit. Tomorrow Rogers Hornsby, premier batsman of the National league and one of the greatest hitters in the game, offers his theories on hitters.

Today hundreds of these motorists will be using Gargoyl Mobiloil for the first time. Convinced that the careless request "Give me a quart of oil" is responsible for at least 50% of all engine troubles, more and more automobile owners are turning to Gargoyl Mobiloil.

Today this greater degree of engine efficiency can come into your own driving. Why not? Why not give yourself the benefit of standard, specialized Gargoyl Mobiloil instead of picking up "quarts of oil" here and there. Nine out of ten "quarts of oil" are mere gasoline by-products.

SHOOTING OF HERR AND KING FEATURES

Visiting Nimrods Show Way at Second Local Registered Shoot

The remarkable shooting of Bill Herr of Guthrie, Okla., and R. A. King of Delta, Colo., were the outstanding features of the holiday shoot held Monday and Tuesday at the local traps under the auspices of the Wichita Falls Gun club. Both nimrods finished the tournament with 247 breaks out of a possible 350, leading their nearest competitors by several birds.

Tuesday's events were more closely contested than those of Monday as several shooters ran their 25 straight. In the first event Miller had things in the bag, but he was the only gunner to go straight, but the entrants found themselves in the next and improved as they went on. The money in the second was divided among Miller, Herr, King, Gallagher and J. P. Morrison. Grissom and Herr went straight in the third event while Grissom, Herr, Dillard, Pate, Deatherage, Frank and Elzy Morrison split the prize in the fourth. Money in the fifth went to Bill Herr alone as he was the only one to go straight. Herr went straight again in the sixth, but was forced to "divvy" up with Miller and King. In the seventh event, King and Daniels took first honors. Joe Pate went straight again in the eighth event and was the only man to get in the first money.

Washington Club's Failure Start Well Biggest Surprise

The showing of the Washington club during the first month of play in the American League has been one of the big upsets of the season. Picked to be a strong contender from the very outset, the club failed to hit its stride in the spring games and has been in the second division most of the time, with occasional stops in just place.

Washington's failure to make a good showing in the spring games can be charged to a lack of consistent pitching. In addition the club has not played up to form.

Always something wrong when the Nationals did get some good pitching the club failed to hit, or some player or players fell down.

At the opening of the season the pitching staff of the Washington club looked up as the weakest part of the team. This belief was borne out during the first month of play. When the ace of your staff fails it is a body blow. Walter Johnson thus far has been of little value to the Washington club. Illness, which overtook Johnson at the training camp, plus the serious illness of his wife and two children shortly after he recovered, practically eliminated him from spring training.

Recruits the Best

This was a severe jolt, as Johnson usually is very good in the spring. The other veteran pitchers also failed to win. As a matter of fact, the recruit hurlers have done the most effective work in the box for the Nationals.

Roger Peckinbaugh unquestionably is one of the greatest short-stops in the game. Yet this spring Peck has been off his stride and he has not been of the assistance he will be when he gets going.

The truth is, the entire Washington club has shown a decided reversal of form that is almost impossible of explanation.

Pate was high man among the local shooters for the day, swatting 191 out of his 200 targets. Other local nimrods chalked up the following scores: Adams 177, Nabbs 172, Deatherage 153, Dempsey 152, Daniels 132.

The shoot was one of the most successful ever staged here and drew a large crowd of spectators. Practically 50 shooters assembled and the majority were from out of town.

In addition to winning the double event and getting a tie for high in the singles, Herr, the Oklahoma champion, turned in the highest net score of the day, shattering 137 in succession before dropping a target. King was second in this respect with a run of 23, while Ed Deatherage led the high scorers before missing. Deatherage led the local shooters in this respect with a high run of 23. Pate went 23 straight on Tuesday.

Fairless led the professionals Tuesday with 182 out of 200 while Baker pressed him hard with 181.

Two Castoffs Are Team's Making, Says Connie Mack

Two castoffs have rounded out Connie Mack's ball club. They are "Pop" Young of Detroit and "Doc" Johnston of Cleveland.

When Cleveland secured "Stuffy" McInnis from Boston to play first base there was no place for Johnston.

The Cleveland club asked waivers. All the major league clubs except the Philadelphia Phillies.

During the winter Connie Mack had purchased from the Milwaukee club Huber, the star first baseman of the American association. He was figured on as a certainty for first base.

Mack was unable to agree on salary with the recruit. In order to protect himself he put in a claim for Johnston.

The Cleveland castoff has gone so well up to date that he has no chance of breaking in as a regular at this time.

All last year "Pop" Young of Detroit had trouble with his throwing arm. The arm seemed strong enough but lacked accuracy. This spring the old fault was still with him. Manager Cobb of the Detroit club asked for waivers. Mack was the only manager to put in a claim for Young.

Mack believed that Young's trouble was purely mental, and that a change of scenery also might work wonders for Johnston.

His opinion has been verified, for both have played great ball for him. In discussing their cases Mack simply says:

"The addition of Young and Johnston has made by club. I was positive neither was through as a big leaguer and that they would do better for me. Their fine work has exceeded my fondest expectations."

Billy Evans says

Years ago Fielder Jones, managing a very ordinary ball club, the Chicago White Sox, was one of the most feared leaders in the American league.

The club in 1906 was known as the "hitless wonders," yet Jones won the American league pennant and a world series with that aggregation.

To win the world series, Jones had to beat the Chicago Cubs, considered to have been one of the greatest clubs in the history of the sport. In 1906 the Cub team was at the top of its game.

Fielder Jones knew baseball. He had the ability to drive the players and get results. Yet the greatest asset he possessed during his managerial career at Chicago was Ed Walsh.

Ed Walsh, then one of the greatest pitchers in the history of the game, unquestionably made Fielder Jones a great manager.

Perhaps some sort of an explanation is necessary for such a statement. Here it is: Walsh, a glutton for work, could take part in from 40 to 50 games a season. He could be depended upon to win 25 or more. One season he won 29. Some asset for a manager to have such a pitcher.

It was as a relief pitcher that Walsh was at his best. Any time a pitcher began to falter late in the game, and the White Sox had a lead of a run or two, Walsh would be rushed into the breach to hold the margin.

No situation was too tough for Walsh to face. He fairly revelled in rushing to the relief of some pitcher at a critical moment.

Pitcher Ed Walsh was unquestionably the maker of Fielder Jones as a manager.

In the American league at the present time there exists a condition similar to that of the days of the "hitless wonders."

Reference is made to Lee Pohl of the St. Louis Browns and Urban Shocker, star pitcher.

Lee Pohl knows baseball. He is a mighty good manager. There is a chance that Shocker may make him a great one.

The St. Louis team is a strong club. Shocker is a great pitcher. Another Ed Walsh. St. Louis has an excellent chance to say who will win the American league pennant.

If St. Louis should win the pennant, much credit and deservedly so, will go to Manager Lee Pohl. Urban Shocker would naturally play a big part.

Shocker is the Ed Walsh type. He is a great pitcher, who is game and likes to work. He is the fellow ever anxious to answer the call of his manager to save a game.

Such a type of pitcher is almost necessary to every pennant-winning club. Such a type of pitcher helps to bring greatness to a manager.

SPORTS SHOTS by Paul W. Barkin

The one big difference between the Spudder clubs of 1921 and 1922 lies in the spirit. Last season if an opposing club were to get a lead of three or more the Salmites seemed to throw up the sponge and quit. They would go through the motions of ball players but apparently their hearts and minds were anywhere but in the ball game. They would fight hard in a Fort Worth series, maybe, but even then a slight seam-to-make-any-masterful difference to them whether the ball game was won or lost. The attitude of the players after a game was all wrong. "Well, we lost another game," they'd say and then let it go at that. Very seldom did they talk baseball and live the game as a contender should.

In 1922.

How different matters are this year. A lead of four or five runs by the opposing club makes the boys fight harder. Many games have been pulled out of the fire this season that were apparently lost in the early innings. They're in the game every second and no lead seems too great to overcome. They're in the old ball game until the last man is out in the ninth—fighting to the last ditch. They know their own capabilities and keep plugging, no matter what the odds. Practically half their victories have been won from the eighth inning on, and over half have been won after the seventh inning. Of their losses, the big majority have been by the margin of one run, showing that they are always up and fighting.

Bargain Day Sunday.

Despite their great showing on the road, however, the Salmites still have a feat to perform. It isn't a "feat" for anyone else, but it is for their own charges. They have yet to win a Sunday game. They'll never have a better opportunity than they will Sunday when they meet the Gassers in a twin bill. They ought to take one at least and get over the hump. The twin bill is not caused by a postponed game, but a regularly scheduled bargain of offering. The Gassers must be a show sport Tuesday in time to open with the Sand Crabs and they could not make it were they to play here Sunday. Spuddering is off-day for the Spudders.

Danny Clark Fighting.

Danny Clark had a close call the other day when he got on the umpire with his boss and Harry Heilmann, Tex. and Harry drew suspension but Danny escaped unscathed. Topper Riney was supposed to burn up the American league this season, but judging from the press notices, Clark is the find—not Riney. Many fans are now contending that Clark will be up there when Riney is back in the Texas league.

Pate on the Road.

"Pugs" Pate is practically unshakable in Panther park, but is just an ordinary pitcher in other ball yards. The reason? Joe can get away with a lot of stuff in his own back yard that he can't on the road.

Read Saul's big ad in today's paper, see windows and we'll see you Friday.

Beck's Return.

Every man has done his bit on

Whatever the outcome of the two remaining games with the Gassers, the first southern invasion of the Spudders has been a huge success. Should they drop their last two games they will have finished with a record of eight won and six lost—an enviable record when one stops to consider that they met two of the fastest traveling clubs in the circuit—Eau Claire and Houston. That fact the Spudders are the only club to take a series from the Eau Claire and on their own lot. And they haven't dropped the next two to Houston yet. The Salmites are due for a royal welcome when they return to Athletic park Friday to meet their four game series with the Gassers.

OLDFIELD WINS

in

"Battle of Tires" at Indianapolis

(Special Telegraphic Dispatch From the Indianapolis Speedway, May 30)

Jimmy Murphy wins International Sweepstakes, average speed 94.48 miles per hour, on Oldfield Tires. Harry Hartz, second, average speed 93.54 miles per hour on Oldfield Tires. Eight of the ten cars to finish in the money were Oldfield equipped. Murphy's time fastest ever made in this event—breaking track record by nearly five miles per hour.

Third Straight Victory for Oldfield Tires

Consider this latest Oldfield achievement—the official test conducted by Mayor Kemp of Wichita, Kan., on behalf of a group of automotive dealers, when—

Four Oldfield Cord Tires on a Studebaker car covered 34,525 miles over Kansas winter roads, without a single tire change. Mayor Kemp has made affidavit to this wonderful tire mileage record along with other features of the test, including oil and gasoline economy.

Another example of Oldfield's road endurance under severe conditions was—

The French Grand Prix, Europe's greatest race classic, where Oldfield Tires carried the winner safely and surely over 325 miles of rough, rocky country roads—the first time in history that American tires have won this event.

Races are won by skilled drivers at terrific speed. You will never put your tires to such a test. But the fact that virtually all racing drivers will trust no other tires but Oldfields is convincing evidence of that tire's inbuilt stamina and endurance.

You can enjoy this same safety and service by having your nearest dealer equip your car with Oldfield Cords at a cost no higher than you pay for other standard makes.

Sixty-one Branch Houses and dealers everywhere throughout the United States distribute Oldfield Tires.

1922 Records Made on Oldfield Tires

- Earl Cooper, San Francisco, April 17th, broke world's record for stock chassis—average 93.24 miles per hour.
- Jimmy Murphy, April 27th, Fresno, Cal., new mile track record for 150 miles at 92.8 miles per hour.
- Jimmy Murphy, May 7th, Santa Rosa, Cal., new 50 mile world record—average 116 miles per hour.

1922 Records Made on Oldfield Tires

- Tommy Milton, Los Angeles, March 5th, 1922, New track record of 110.8 miles per hour in 250 mile race.
- Tommy Milton, Los Angeles, April 2nd, broke world's record for fifty miles—average 115.2 miles per hour.

"MUST BE WORTHY OF OUR DEAD" SAYS MEMORIAL SPEAKER

JUDGE PHILLIPS OF DALLAS PAYS NOTABLE TRIBUTE TO WAR VICTIMS

SAYS LAWLESSNESS MOCKS THEIR PATRIOTISM

Soldiers' Graves Are Decorated After Service of Tuesday Afternoon

"Little can we say or do here in fitting tribute to those for whom life held out the fairest prospects and most promising ambitions and for whom life stretched out along the sunny, flowery highways that only the musing dreams of youth can see. All that we can do is to strive to be worthy of them."

In this manner Judge Nelson Phillips of Dallas paid a tribute to the memory of the boys who were laid on the altar, a pledge of America that civilization should not perish during the world war of just a few years ago. He spoke at the Memorial day exercises held Tuesday afternoon in the court house. The speaker said:

"The boys died for the republic. They were her children, but she loved them as they loved her. We must remember that they were just boys, filled with hopes, enthusiasm and ambition. They perceived their duty in keeping with the honor of the name of their forefathers. They performed it in a manner as expressed by that prototype of American history who said: 'My one great regret is that I have but one life to give.' That they were just boys is the tragic picture of it all."

Attorney Talcott Morrow introduced the speaker after Captain J. H. Healey had spoken briefly. Judge Phillips explained that when he first was invited to deliver the Memorial day address in this city that he had dictated a letter declining, stating that in all probability he would be unable to be present.

Later, however, he decided to accept. He said that one of the things that induced him to come was the fact that the legion post here bore the name of a gallant youth who went abroad and gave up his brave life in the defense of his flag.

"I knew him well," said the speaker. "He was a companion of my son and the son of one of my esteemed friends. This is a sorrowful and painful occasion. There is about it the sadness and quietness of death. Death cannot come untimely to him who is fit to die."

He asked that no one underestimate this occasion. "In this quiet hour we stand in the proudest memory of history. If we will unfold our memory we can see the minute man of Lexington and Concord bridge firing the shot that was heard around the world. We can see those soldiers battling with the Mexican hordes. We can see the noblest figures of all times, the private confederate soldiers. We can see the magnificent, eager, clear-eyed, clean young men who went to the battle fields of France and Germany and saved the world. We salute the undying valor of that soldier who now sleeps beneath the silent stars, with dew on his brow. It is those we salute today."

"Let us not mock their patriotism by turning this country for which they died to lawlessness. Let us put no stain on their ashes by permitting this to become the noisy arena of conflicting factions. Let us have no room here for classes and class spirit. Let there be no room here for that vague spirit that envies another man's success or covets another's property."

"Let us keep and swear to keep this day, this land that our fathers won for us. The land of the freeman. A land for the many of the type of the old south who bowed their head to nothing but God and one's neighbor. Let it stand as it has stood, a land of freedom, peace and a temperate and restless sea, securing its people their rights and their happiness."

From the court house the firing squad from Fort Sill and members of the legion post were conveyed to Riverside cemetery where the graves of the soldier dead were decorated. A detachment of men were sent to each one of the cemeteries. A respectful ceremony after flowers were strewn on the graves of each of those who had gone to rest and a few words were said, the melody, "Remember Me," of a bugle carried, abruptly on the silent wings of the scurrying sunshine as they hurried to the west sang out sadly "One to rest—gone to rest."

Local Players to Make Ardent Love In Community Play

Ardent love making as Mr. Shakespeare wrote it will be interpreted by Charles Angle and Miss Ella Marie Mathis and Jarrett Goss and Miss Sylvia Allman in "Midsummer Night's Dream" at the Wichita theatre Thursday and Friday nights.

The lovers parts in the Shakespeare play are considered perhaps the most difficult roles written by Shakespeare since they require not only exceptional dramatic talent but musical ability as well, and the Wichita Falls community players in casting the play, considered themselves fortunate in having in the organization the talent for these parts.

Mr. Angle is well known in Wichita Falls as a singer, as well as an actor of success, who fits admirably in his part, according to the community players. Jarrett Goss, who is well known as a violinist, is new to the dramatic stage, but will carry his role like a seasoned player. Director Fredrick, and Miss Mathis and Allman have done stellar work in the dramatic organization's public offerings during the closing season which was for them their assignment in the big play of the year, Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

The young ladies, playing opposite Messrs. Angle and Goss measure up to in every way, according to those in charge of the production, who are expecting for it a complete success.

Tickets are on sale at Tipton, Central and Kemp drug stores, and only a few more are being sold.

BAYLOR COUNTY BOYS AND GIRLS COMMUNITY CLUBS HOLD MEETING AT SEYMOUR

SEYMOUR, TEXAS, May 20.—The county meeting of the boys and girls community clubs was held in this city Saturday, May 21. The program for the day was arranged by County Executive W. H. Hays and Halley, home demonstrator. The crowd began gathering early and soon filled the large district courtroom.

From the court house the firing squad from Fort Sill and members of the legion post were conveyed to Riverside cemetery where the graves of the soldier dead were decorated. A detachment of men were sent to each one of the cemeteries. A respectful ceremony after flowers were strewn on the graves of each of those who had gone to rest and a few words were said, the melody, "Remember Me," of a bugle carried, abruptly on the silent wings of the scurrying sunshine as they hurried to the west sang out sadly "One to rest—gone to rest."

The following visitors were in attendance: Miss E. G. Giffis, county home economic agent; M. R. Oates, agricultural agent of the Fort Worth & Denver City railway; Miss Myrtle Murray, poultry specialist of the A. & M. college; Guy Jones of Wichita Falls, and Miss Bees Edwards, district home economic agent of the A. & M. college.

NORTH WINDS THAT BRING RAINS SEND TEMPERATURE DOWN

The north wind that brought in the shower Tuesday afternoon kept blowing throughout the night and day. Temperatures were reported 17 to 19 points in the district touched by local railroads.

At one o'clock Tuesday afternoon the mercury rested at the 41-degree point, but immediately after a storm struck within an hour it had fallen to 75. During the night it cooled to 43 degrees which was the minimum temperature today.

At Fort Worth and Woodward the agents reported minimum temperatures of 52 to 53 degrees. The operator at Texline said the temperature had fallen to 45 during the night while Amarillo and Childress reported 55 degrees.

Partly cloudy skies were reported from all points.

Soldiers' Graves Are Decorated After Service of Tuesday Afternoon

"Little can we say or do here in fitting tribute to those for whom life held out the fairest prospects and most promising ambitions and for whom life stretched out along the sunny, flowery highways that only the musing dreams of youth can see. All that we can do is to strive to be worthy of them."

In this manner Judge Nelson Phillips of Dallas paid a tribute to the memory of the boys who were laid on the altar, a pledge of America that civilization should not perish during the world war of just a few years ago. He spoke at the Memorial day exercises held Tuesday afternoon in the court house. The speaker said:

Local Players to Make Ardent Love In Community Play

Ardent love making as Mr. Shakespeare wrote it will be interpreted by Charley Angie and Miss Marie Mathis and Jarrell Goss and Miss Elvira Allman in "Midsummer Night's Dream" at the Wichita Shakespearian and Friday nights. The lovers' parts in the Shakespearean play are considered perhaps the most difficult roles written by Shakespeare since they require not only exceptional dramatic talent but musical ability as well, and the Wichita Falls community players, in casting the play, considered themselves fortunate in having in the organization the talent for these parts.

Mr. Angie is well known in Wichita Falls as a singer as well as an actor of success, who fits admirably in his part, according to the community theatre critics. Mr. Goss, who is well known as a violinist, new to the dramatic stage, but will carry his role like a seasoned player, the director predicts, and Miss Mathis and Jarrell Goss, who have done work in the dramatic organization's public offerings during the closing season which won for them their assignments in the big play of the great Shakespeare's roles of the feminine lovers demand very special emotional qualifications as well as certain physical requirements which the young ladies playing opposite Messrs. Angie and Goss measure up to in every way, according to those in charge of the production, who are "brooding" for it a complete success.
