IOWA NOMINATION FOR SENATOR SLAP AT THE OLD GUARD

VOTE FOR BROOKHART IS RECOGNIZED AS PROGRESSIVE VICTORY

SILENCE MAINTAINED BY PARTY ORGANIZATION

Cummins Defeated Brookhart Two Years Ago in Race for Senate

By Associated Press. Des Moines, June 7.—Non-committal acceptance at Washington by Senators Cummins and Dawson of Iowa of the news of Smith W. Brookhart's tentative nomination as senator by the Iowa republican caucus today as to how Brookhart will fit into the republican party machinery.

Brookhart, 45, 53; Francis, 38, 54; Sweet, 43, 54; Hanson, 38, 54. The fact that Cummins defeated Brookhart for senator two years ago after a campaign in which the latter attacked Cummins' railroad legislation record, will not tend to bring harmony into the Iowa senatorial delegation, politicians pointed out.

Despite refusal by many old guard republicans to accept Brookhart's decisive victory over such stand-pat wheel horses as Pickett as an old guard revelation, silence reigned today concerning the plans of the state republican organization for the ensuing campaign against Clyde L. Herring, the democratic nominee, Senator Rawson, who was considered a compromise possibility in the event the nomination had gone to the state convention, is still head of the state republican organization.

Clifford Pinchot, chief of the forestry service, took up the fight for Glavia, attacking Ballinger.

President Taft sided with Ballinger and removed Pinchot from office but Secretary Ballinger resigned his post in 1911 on the plea of ill health.

MA BURDICK TO HAVE A VACATION OF TWO MONTHS

HEALTH IMPAIRED BY ENERGETIC WORK DURING AND SINCE WAR

PA BURDICK IS ALSO TO HAVE A VACATION

Lieutenant Thelma Hicks to Be in Charge During Their Absence

"Where is Ma Burdick?" has been going the rounds down town the past few days. Ma Burdick's smiling face and energetic tread on her countenance are things of mercy have been missed, and they will be even more sorely missed before she is back in harness again. For just as soon as she is able to leave the sickbed she has been occupying in considerable pain since last Friday, she is to be whisked away to the bay on a two months' leave of absence. Lieutenant Colonel Wood, Dallas, division officer of the Army, imposed the furlough Tuesday when he came up to look the matter over. "Ma" over, and made it include Pa Burdick as well in the role of specially commissioned nurse. It will be the first vacation from work or service that Mr. Burdick has had since before the war. A complete breakdown, resulting in natural complications from high blood pressure, has followed months of overwork, according to local physicians. Lieutenant Thelma Hicks will be in charge of the Citadel and the local Army activities during Adjutant and Mrs. Burdick's absence.

MORE USED CLOTHING NEEDED TO FILL NEAR EAST CAR HERE

"Why don't you send them by parcel post?" a prominent local minister asked the Near East bundle day workers at the chamber of commerce Wednesday morning, when he looked over the volume of offerings to be packed on the Wichita Falls freight car this week. "It is not as bad as that, but there is a more old clothes and shoes soldiering on the job in Wichita Falls than shows up in the charity contribution of Monday and Tuesday. In order to give these a chance to pack bundles who have not yet done so and wish to, the final packing will not be done until Friday evening, and old clothing will be received at the chamber of commerce all day Thursday and Friday. The clothing received has been of good quality—strong, durable, practical stuff.

COMPLAIN THAT BOYS ARE TOO HANDY WITH THE 'NIGGER SHOOTER'

Complaints have been filed in the city hall against several young boys on Eighteenth street for shooting persons with "nigger shooters" as they pass by, according to the police. Not only have they been shooting people, but they are known to have killed chickens and cats with these dangerous weapons. The police stated that they intend to wage a war against this crime and would arrest any young boys caught with the "nigger shooter" and turn them over to the juvenile officer.

Civic League Is Adjourned to Fall

The Civic League is adjourned to fall, following the Tuesday afternoon meeting of that body, and the first meeting will be held the first Tuesday afternoon in September. The Community market formed the principal topic of interest at the meeting, over which Mrs. J. E. Sharpe, president, Mrs. H. E. Crawford stated that at present twenty-two truck farmers were bringing produce to the market on Eleventh and Scott, and that plenty of fresh fruit and vegetables, eggs, butter, and chickens were for sale every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday morning from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Weeds on vacant lots in the residences and downtown section formed another topic of much discussion, with several special complaints. It was suggested that the city ordinance against the maintenance of weeds covered the cases, and that city officials would no doubt attend to the various cases.

The reception to new members was postponed to next fall by general agreement.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of His might.—Ephesians, 6:10.
And what is so rare as a day in June?
Then, if ever, come perfect days;
Then Heaven tries the earth if it be in tune,
And over it softly her warm ear lays.
—James Russell Lowell.

SOME STATISTICS ON CRIME

Crimes abound where law enforcement is lax and the flogging post is the most effective method of preventing crime used in the United States.
These are the conclusions reached by Judge William M. Gemmill in a report to the committee on law enforcement of the American Bar association, according to an article in the New York Times.

St. Louis led the cities of the country last year in the number of murders and homicides. Mr. Gemmill's statistics show, with a total of 426. Los Angeles leads all other cities in the number of burglaries and housebreakings.

"New York," says Judge Gemmill, "which people think is a very wicked city, is high up on the honor roll, so far as murder is concerned. St. Paul alone having fewer arrests for murders, while Chicago ranks third, Cincinnati fourth, Buffalo fifth and New Orleans sixth.

"By comparison, Los Angeles has three times as many murders in proportion to the population as New York and two and a half times as many as Chicago. Washington has three times as many as New York and twice as many as Chicago. Detroit, which likes to be called a model city, has over twice as many as New York and nearly double the number in Chicago; while St. Louis reports 329 arrests for murder and 36 for manslaughter in 1921.

"What is true as to murder is partly true as to other major crimes. If the balance of the year 1922 equals January and February of this year, Los Angeles will lead all other cities in the number of burglaries and housebreakings. She is not even closely followed by any other large city. Chicago comes next on the roll of dishonor, followed closely by Washington, Baltimore, Buffalo, St. Louis, San Francisco, Boston, St. Paul, Cleveland, New York, New Orleans, Denver, Cincinnati and Louisville in the order named.

"In arrests for intoxication Boston far outstrips all cities. But Chicago, with either a sense of pride or humiliation, refuses to list her cases.

ARE YOU STINGY WITH PRAISE?

Stinginess is a quality which could probably be awarded the palm for its ability to masquerade as a virtue.

Watch it work. "I certainly appreciate that compliment," a young business man said recently; "Mr. Blank seldom says nice things about anybody, so I feel that he must mean it."

"Seldom says nice things about anybody" so he must mean them when he does.

Well, son, the probabilities are that a man who has lived to middle age in this world and hasn't broadened and sweetened and modified his judgment sufficiently to find hundreds of things about people every day to "say nice things about," isn't the sort of man who is overburdened with sincerity.

Flattery is seldom acceptable to anybody, and fulsome praise is an embarrassment to most folks. But the genuine encouragement of decent approval, when the occasion arises, is as necessary to the development of human beings as sunshine is to a primrose.

None of us are so confident that the results of our efforts in any direction are successful that we don't occasionally need outside assurance. None of us—the average, every-day workmen—are such thorough egotists as to have full and sufficient faith in our own accomplishments. We are sensible enough to realize that what seems acceptable to ourselves may be even grotesque to others, and that what, because of our own absorption and predilection may seem a fair result may find little favor from general scrutiny.

We all need to be helped—as much with careful approval as with careful fault-finding. Our own approval of a task well done would have to spring from an immense well of self-satisfaction to be a sufficient urge onward for further effort. If that were not so God himself would probably not have taken occasion to say, "This is My Son—in whom I am well pleased."

So if you know a Mr. Blank or a Mrs. Blank who "seldom says nice things about anybody," don't immediately ascribe to them the reasonableness of good judgment or special critical competency. One time in a hundred it might be that.

But ninety-nine times in a hundred it isn't a thing in the world but common, every day, garden variety of stinginess.

When a man says "I run things at my house" he often means the lawn mower and washing machine.

Locusts are eating on green things in Russia. We don't know what is eating on the Reds.

Florida, Georgia and South Carolina had 102,100 acres in watermelons before school let out.

There are very few things Lloyd George doesn't know, but what is coming next is one of them.

Ohio man was fined $100 for hitting a dentist; but it may have been worth more than that.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

OCCUPATION.

The boy in short trousers coasting down hill on his roller skates, the man with his shovel digging into the earth, the girl at her piano, the worker at his desk, the thinker with his book, the bird ripping its heart into song on the tree branch, the busy brook, the soft wind traveling, the floating clouds, the rising and falling sun—occupation!

Miseries, inaction alone mean death in life. What a mint of gladness there is in the world if it is only realized. Our broods bring on our moods. Through useful and pleasurable occupation are we led to the eternal springs of our finest being.

The spirit of adventure is stirred, the imagination is awakened, and we are continually led to new gates of romance and beautified opportunities.

But unless we are stirred by the rest of life, unless we are daily lifted out of the natural settlement of our natures, we lag while the world and its stepping band passes on.

An unknown reader of these Talks has given me a new happiness—opened up new joy gravel for my mind by suggesting to me a writer—George Gleason. I have been feeding my mind (supervisor of my body) by reading "The Private Papers of Henry Ryecroft." This reader of mine, who prefers to be known merely as a giver of happiness, has planted many flowering shrubs in my literary garden and I am picking the flowers and handing them to you—also my readers. It has been long since I have turned more stimulating pages than those in this Gleason book.

What more delightful occupation than to give others occupation?

Have you ever looked at the picture on your wall and wondered about the evolution of it? First there had to be the artist whose soul could draw out beauty from nature as the sun does the moisture from the rivers and lakes and seas. This artist put into the picture the particular beauties that impressed him. A series of occupations, you see.

All about me, as I write, the birds are singing in the trees. The sun is bathing the thick leaves in lights and shadows. Life is more lovely than anything else.

JUST FOLKS

By Edgar A. Guest

HUNGRY AND THIRSTY.
I'm hungry not for steak and bread,
But for the blue skies overhead;
I'm hungry not for meat and pie,
But for the white clouds drifting by
And for the banks beside a stream
Where I may rest awhile and dream.

I'm thirsty, not for wine to drink
In lighted halls where glasses clink,
But for the day's refreshing breeze
Filtered through fragrant orchard trees,
And for the joys of field and hill
Where weary eyes may drink their fill.

I need refreshments—not the sort
Of table food or bottled quart,
But strength renewed by wandering far
Where all the summer's splendors are,
A day or two where waters roll
And I can be refreshed of soul.

YOU AND I

By ALBERT APPLIN

BARRON, financial expert, says:
"You could formerly get wheat to seaboard at one-third of a cent per bushel. It now costs you double. You have in effect doubled the distance when you have doubled the rate."

"The prosperity of people in the interior of America depends largely on the railroads. High freight rates have had the same effect on middle west wheat growers as if they had been moved 1,000 miles farther inland from seaboard.

That is why there is so much discussion about freight rates. Economics may be a dry study, but it is as vital as sleep.

Pasteurization

By DR. R. H. BISHOP.

If the milk you get is not pasteurized, do it yourself—in your own home.

In a tin pail about eight inches in diameter and six or seven inches high place a saucer. On the saucer put a cloth and a handful of alum. Add sufficient water to bring it a little above the level of the milk in the bottle. Place the tin pail in a larger one and pour water into the stove, watching the water constantly until it begins to boil. Allow the pail to remain on the stove five minutes, after the bubbles begin to come up. Then take off the stove and allow the milk to stand in the water from 20 to 25 minutes. Cool the milk rapidly and place in the ice box. The milk is now pasteurized. Always keep it in a cool, clean place.

Although home pasteurization necessitates additional trouble, the security it gives repays one many times. When daily pasteurization is established there will be no desire to return to the use of raw, scalded or cooked milk, particularly if intended for use in infant or child feeding.

Many adults who find raw milk distasteful can drink properly pasteurized milk with pleasure. The absence of acids, flavors, and odors, presents a clean, sweet and somewhat nutty flavor which can scarcely be objectionable to any one.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY.

Today's word is—Plebscite.

It pronounced—pleb-i-site, with accent on the first syllable.

It means a vote or expression of opinion on some measure submitted to them by some person or body having the initiative.

It comes from Latin "plebs," common people, and "scitum," decree.

It is used like this—"Chile refused to agree to a plebscite to settle her territorial disagreement with Peru."

On Wings of Wireless

By ARTHUR B. REEVE

FROM THE SERVICE.

THE MYSTERY CHAPTER III

Dick rejoined Garrick late in the afternoon. Country club. Garrick had been developing the roll of films.

"What do you see there?" he asked Dick, holding up the strip.

Dick hesitated, looked at the light and looked carefully at the boat. Looks like one of those scout cruisers built for the government during the war."

"It's a photograph, you see. The name 'The Bacchante' is written upon 'Oh yes. But by whom? Whose writing is that?'"

"That's the name. What is that shore line. Do you recognize it? Takes my glass."

Dick studied it intently and minutely. The face looked up with one of his charming smiles. Ruth was talking vivaciously to the girls when she suddenly caught Dick's smile and answered it.

"Ruth," he said as he drew her aside with eager deference, "may I have all the walnuts this evening?"

"She hesitated, looked at him a bit shyly, shrugged one beautiful shoulder as if debating whether to say yes, then smiled. "Dick—you're a fastidious fellow. I believe you're a fastidious fellow. They're playing a wait this minute—wait—still I put my wrap up. I'll be with you in a second."

Dick watched her go, glowing all over. He was going to hold her close to him, he was going to breathe the softness of her hair and hear her going to wait, a dreamy and enticing wait, with the girl over whom he was frantic.

"He heard someone call Ruth. It was Jack Cruise. 'Ruth'—'this is mine'—'When I want a dance with a girl I just put my arm around her'—'like this'—'and we're off!'"

Ruth laughed merrily, flashed back a look at Dick. "And when I don't want to dance with a fellow I do this—'and we're not off!'"

Jack had tangled himself with his own legs or else it was an added pressure as in Greek wrestling. He was on the floor while the other fellows were laughing and Ruth, smiling, hauled him up.

"Did I keep you waiting long, Dick? I love this dance. Dick tingled with joy as he waited off to the dreamy strains.

It was half over when Dick felt himself pushed back and heard Jack's voice, ingratiating. "May I cut in on this? We all do that now." Dick swallowed. "I'll leave it to Ruth."

Ruth's only answer was a gentle pressure of his arm, a negative nod in Jack's direction—and she was dreaming again. There was something so comfortable being held closely by Dick.

There was one wait when he could not find Ruth. He hunted all over the place, but he could not find her. Nor did he see Jack Cruise, Rae, Vera or Glenn.

"Fire!" The orchestra hesitated at the sharp alarm of the club steward, then decided it was not like a theater, that there was no panic danger, and dropped their fiddles and saxophones and snare drums and ran. A moment later the shrill siren whistle on the village power house split the ether. Dick joined in the jostling mob evening clothes.

"Guess we'll make a de luxe bucket brigade!" panted Tony Blecker. "It's the East Wing."

FROM THE SERVICE.

The film itself and the hat were in the Club safe half an hour after you left this afternoon.

Early in the morning came a call from Greenport. The "Bacchante" had dropped anchor during the night. With an early breakfast Garrick and Dick were speeding seaward. Garrick deeply affected by the impulsive devotion of his friend the night before, Dick still living over the dance.

"I'll ride on an even keel—for a boat with such a name!" exclaimed Garrick as they stood on a dock in his friend's shipyard observing the "Bacchante" under way.

"Splendid! Lines!" enthused Dick. "What I am most interested in is what I believe must be a very efficient wireless on her," muttered Garrick.

A small boat had put out from her and was rowing toward the shipyard. The shipbuilder himself joined them.

"Take that former submarine patrol boat," winked Garrick to him. "That's a fast craft, capable of going fairly fast. What might best like that cost, if you could pick one up?"

The builder caught the cue. They were deep in designs and prices when Dick suddenly interrupted at the approach of two men from the street to the town. "Professor Vario and his wife, Jack!"

"He's the best radio trouble finder in the world," put in Curtis. "There's a friend of mine down east owns the thing. I believe every contrivance a scientist but his unburdened skin showed intimate acquaintance with the gadget."

"He had known him quite well, soon discovered that he was on a little vacation, his family having taken a cottage over on Shelter Island."

"He's the best radio trouble finder in the world," put in Curtis. "There's a friend of mine down east owns the thing. I believe every contrivance a scientist but his unburdened skin showed intimate acquaintance with the gadget."

"Then, he heard someone call Ruth. It was Jack Cruise. 'Ruth'—'this is mine'—'When I want a dance with a girl I just put my arm around her'—'like this'—'and we're off!'"

Ruth laughed merrily, flashed back a look at Dick. "And when I don't want to dance with a fellow I do this—'and we're not off!'"

"E-ya!" growled a thickly Norwegian voice as the navigator peered by instinct, put his finger on the spot. It was a slip of paper tucked in what passed for a log book. He passed it to Dick:

NEGROES ATTEMPT A JAIL DELIVERY TUESDAY EVENING

NIGHT JAILER SIMMONS DISCOVERS PLAN AND TEN LOCKED IN BATH ROOM

BREAK OUT OF CELLS AND REMOVE BRICKS

Bear Cage is Literally Torn to Pieces and Several Bars Are Cut

The negro prisoners housed in the bear cage on the third floor of the county jail attempted to break jail Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock and at the time of discovery had succeeded in breaking through the cell and removing all but the outer layer of bricks of wall.

Night Jailer Simmons discovered the attempt of break when he tried to close the cell doors outside of the cage. The ladders that were used to reach the individual cells had been removed and used as bars to break through the cross section part of the wall.

An investigation revealed the large hole that had been effected by the use of steel lever bars. The brick wall across the prison recently intended to get out of the building had been broken out. The prisoners gained nothing by their attempt as they were forced to spend the night in a four by eight bath room, the only place that they could be safely kept.

An inspection of the jail Wednesday morning revealed a large number of breaks and steps were taken to repair them. After the negroes were locked in the bath room an attempt was made to batter their way out of this place of confinement which would have given them access to the runway and to the hole in the wall. Night Jailer Simmons spent the remainder of the night watching the hole in the jail wall with a sawed off shotgun. Along towards midnight the negroes, however, went to sleep and nothing more occurred.

REVIVAL SERVICES NORTH SIDE METHODIST CHURCH

Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's, was the suggestive text chosen by Judge J. W. Aikin in addressing the persons present at the revival services being conducted at the North Side Methodist church on Bridge street Tuesday night.

In enumerating the duties a Christian owes his country, Judge Aikin mentioned the obligation of both men and women to vote for suitable officers in city, county, state and national government. He insisted that the vote of the citizen in which to show true patriotism. As an organization the church has no proper place in politics, but each individual member of the church is charged his or her duty in securing safe and sane standard bearers in all positions of honor and trust, was clearly the speaker's opinion.

The judge made a sensible and earnest plea for the flag and Bible having their proper and rightful place in the public domain. The menace and injustice of our present immigration laws was emphasized by the speaker. The unemployed ex-soldier is wronged by the law as operated today.

The claims of religion were distinctly though briefly presented and their importance urged. At the close of the services the congregation heartily sang "America."

In the report of Monday's service an important passage should have read: "Abiding in Him" implies a state of mind, conduct, conversation and disposition consistent with Christ's exalted character. This evening the message will be by W. T. Harris. BETTE Pastor. 502 Bridge street.

THREATENING SKY REPORTED BY ALL RAILROAD AGENTS

All railroad agents Wednesday morning reported that the weather was threatening. Clouded skies and the humidity of the air were indicative of probable showers. The temperature at all points remained comparatively high throughout the night.

Wednesday morning the agent at Hammon Junction north of Elk City on the Northwestern reported a drizzling rain and agents on the Wellington branch where heavy showers fell Tuesday, reported that rain was imminent. The air locally was overcast and the minimum temperature for the night was 70 degrees. The highest point reached Tuesday was 48 degrees.

CITY COURT ASSESSES FINES UPON DEFENDANTS WHO ARE NOT PRESENT

Four prominent persons of the city were arrested by the city police yesterday on charges of gaming and taken to the city hall, where they gave fictitious names and put up a bond of $12,000.

When court was held Wednesday morning they did not appear. It was discovered by the police, Melvin Johnson and Mona Davis, who made the arrests, that the men had not given their proper names. City Judge instructed the chief of police to bring the men to court at its next meeting Thursday morning, and he also fined each $25 for not giving their proper names.

RECRUIT FARM LABOR TO AID THE HARVEST

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Recruiting of farm labor throughout the west and southwest to meet emergency arising out of harvest conditions, was begun today by the United States employment service.

Emergency employment offices have been opened for the purpose of distributing the men who are recruited. Director Jones, announced, explaining that the cutting of wheat has started in Texas and that in the near future abundant work would be available for large numbers of men in other sections. Mr. Jones said he was positive no farmers in the wheat belt would suffer for lack of help.

Director Jones said large numbers of college students from various educational institutions throughout the United States were applying for employment. They will receive from three to four dollars a day with board, he added. Two new offices have been opened at Kansas City, Mo., and Sioux City, Iowa.

BEGIN TABULATION OF THE VOTE OF PRINTERS; TWO CONTESTS ARE CLOSE

By Associated Press. INDIANAPOLIS, June 7.—Official tabulation of the vote cast in more than 700 cities for the election of officers of the International Typographical union was begun here today.

Only two changes in the results were possible, as shown by unofficial tabulations. No announcement was made of the complete unofficial vote, but with only a few unions missing, the unofficial tabulation showed William R. Trotter of Vancouver, had a lead of less than 200 over James J. Hoban of Cleveland, candidate for reelection as second vice-president, while William O'Leary of Boston needed to gain few more than 100 votes to be third choice as one of the three trustees of the union printers' home. Malcolm Knook of Boston had the slight lead over O'Leary.

The reelection of John McParland of New York as president by approximately 4,500 votes over Walter W. Barrett was assured by the unofficial vote, as also was the election of Charles Howard of Detroit as first vice-president over D. J. Campbell of Norfolk, Va. J. W. Hays of Minneapolis, also was shown as winning reelection as secretary-treasurer, defeating William E. Towne of Detroit.

Unofficial compilation of the vote assured the choice of Thomas McAffery of Colorado Springs and Seth B. Brown as trustees of the printers' home, the election of Joe M. Johnson of Washington, D. C., as agent of the printers home and the reelection of David W. Baird of New York as a member of the board of auditors.

PROSPERITY SPECIAL TO END TRANS-CONTINENTAL JOURNEY AT CORSICANA

EAST ST. LOUIS, ILL., June 7.—Accompanied by the best wishes of railroad officials, employees and hundreds of cheering spectators, the "Prosperity Special," a train of 20 oil-burning locomotives, this morning started on its second lap of a transcontinental journey, which began at the Baldwin locomotive works near Philadelphia May 26 and is scheduled to end at Corsicana, Texas, next Monday afternoon, where the engines will be turned over to the Southern Pacific railway.

The "Prosperity Special" arrived here Monday evening and was viewed by thousands of persons. These locomotives, said to be the largest oil-burning engines in the world, are part of the 50 of this type which the Southern Pacific expects to put into service. Each weighs, with its tender, 271,000 pounds and is over 160 feet long.

Running on the Cotton Belt tracks along the Mississippi, on the Illinois bank, the locomotives, drawn by a single one of their train, will cross the river at Thebes, Ill., continue through the southeastern section of Missouri and Arkansas, bending their way through Texas to Corsicana.

The trip is not a test of speed but, as expressed by the railroad officials, a "triumphant exhibition and indication that a new era of activity and prosperity is at hand."

New Italian warship will have an electrically operated kitchen capable of providing meals for 100 passengers. That fingerprints can be forged, thus throwing suspicion on the wrong persons, is a new theory in criminal investigations.

Transporting Gas Hundreds of Miles

You burn natural gas that travels hundreds of miles to reach you. There are 875 miles of pipe line in the LONE STAR GAS COMPANY system, as shown in this map. Ever think what it is delivers this gas to your doors?

When wells are new, frequently the rock pressure is sufficient to force the gas to you, but when this pressure decreases, as it does, artificial aid must be brought to help in transporting this gas.

This is accomplished through the use of compressors. Twenty-nine gigantic machines, costing $475,189.05 for the machines and $748,656.06 installed, are in use now, and thirty more have been ordered for delivery this summer.

Increasing Pressure

These machines pick up the gas from the supply mains at low pressure, compress it until it has a pressure of 200 to 300 lbs. to the inch, then discharge it into the mains. This pressure carries it forward to your homes. The use of these machines is the only practical way to transport gas, and as the supply diminishes from the nearer wells, the necessity of going further and further calls for more compressors.

For Better Service

Of course, the operation of these great engines costs real money. For one thing, the gas is heated by the process, and must all be cooled before entering the mains. This requires an extensive cooling plant.

The sole purpose and the only use of these compressors is to transport the gas. They cannot make gas, nor can they increase its quantity or bulk.

Installation of thirty more compressors will enable this company to maintain even pressure, and thereby afford better service.

IRISH DELEGATION REACHES LONDON TO DISCUSS SITUATION

CONFERENCE WITH WINSTON CHURCHILL REGARDING NEW CONSTITUTION

FULL CONFERENCE TO BE HELD ON FRIDAY

Nominations for Irish Elections Are Attracting Much Attention

By Associated Press.

LONDON, June 7.—Arthur Griffith, president of the dail eireann, accompanied by Kevin O'Higgins and Hugh Kennedy, arrived from Dublin this morning to resume negotiations with the British cabinet and Prime Minister Lloyd George.

Mr. Griffith and his colleagues met Winston Churchill, secretary for the colonies, during the morning and conferred for two hours with him. Mr. Griffith declined to make any statement regarding his conference, but said another meeting would be held later in the day and probably a further conference tomorrow, although no appointment for the latter has been made.

Meanwhile yesterday's nomination for the Irish elections on June 16 is attracting attention. The fact that nominations indicate contests in 24 of the 27 group constituencies is regarded here as reviving the hope for an unfeigned expression of opinion at the polls which had been almost abandoned.

With seven constituencies electing about 30 members of the dail unopposed, the returns are declared as having been secured. It is too early, however, to say that these contests actually will occur. Many candidates may be persuaded to stand aside before the polls.

The appeal of Michael Collins, head of the provisional Irish free state government, for an investigation of the occupation of Pettigo by British troops is understood to be under consideration by Mr. Churchill. After further consideration by the other British signatories to the Anglo-Irish treaty the appeal will be submitted to the full cabinet.

ATTACK IS MADE ON NEW CONSTABULARY

BELFAST, June 7.—A member of a patrol of Ulster special constables was shot dead at midnight near the Monaghan barracks. The attack was made early today on a new constabulary post at Clady. A sentry observed a detachment of republicans creeping over a field in north-west territory and gave the alarm. The reports state, heavy firing began and the assailants were driven off. Bombs were used during the skirmish.

ONLY REPUBLICAN ARMY PATROLS MOVING AROUND

BELFAST, June 7.—Nearly all non-combatants have left the Belfast district in northwestern Fermanagh and the cattle are wandering aimlessly over the countryside. Only Irish republican army patrols are seen moving about. Entrance to the village of Pettigo, 16 miles to the northeast, has been prohibited except by permit. Residents who fled during the fighting are allowed to return when identified but must remain. While Protestant refugees are returning, the Catholics with few exceptions have departed. There is a growing belief that political influences are asserting themselves in the situation in view of the London conference and protest over the Pettigo incident by Michael Collins, head of the southern government.

SAYS ADVERTISING MOST EFFECTIVE OF BUSINESS WEAPONS

ABERDEEN, S. D., June 7.—Competition in business is coming back into the world with a vengeance, and the merchant, manufacturer, or banker who expects to get ahead from this time on must realize that he must fight his way upward, declared George Woodruff of Chicago, vice president of the National Bank of the Republic, in an address before the South Dakota Bankers association here today.

Advertising a bank, was the subject of Mr. Woodruff's address. Advertising, he asserted, is the most effective of all weapons in the fight for business, and among the various kinds of advertising newspaper advertising is unquestionably the "big berth" of the list.

Bankers who do not believe that advertising pays are steadily retreating to the background, Mr. Woodruff continued. "This is surely not to the disadvantage of our country, for bank publicity is daily turning spendthrifts into savers and creating that spirit of universal thrift upon which the economic stability of America must necessarily be based."

"Is Matrimony a Failure?"

TRADE EXCURSION A GREAT SUCCESS

Jackson county there are several trade excursions, commencing this week. In one of these, the appearance are the equal of schools in many good sized towns.

Judge W. J. Townsend responded, saying that Altus was the sort of neighbor, Wichita Falls, was proud to have and that the welcome extended was heartily appreciated. It wasn't Wichita Falls folks, but outsiders, he said, who sold oil stocks so freely.

R. H. Lawrence, president of the Kiwanis club, presided at the banquet extended the visitors by the chamber of commerce, and after a mighty satisfying dinner, George Reynolds, Elmer Herring and R. E. Shepherd led a song service. The program consisted of a welcome address by President George Wright of the chamber of commerce, a response by C. C. McDonald of Wichita Falls, brief talks by a number of Altus and Wichita Falls folks, and some moving pictures of Wichita Falls, displayed by Duffy Mages. It was a rousing, hearty "homey" sort of gathering from start to finish.

News that the Spedders had triumphed over Bestumson was given the trippers by The Times and was joyfully received. Copies of the noon edition of The Times were received at Altus by the trippers.

The Altus banquet proved such an enjoyable affair that the time of departure was postponed an hour and it was not until after 8 p. m. that the Wichitans entrained for Quashah.

Altus staged the banquet in her municipal auditorium, a handsome and commodious structure that cost $60,000. It is the sort of institution that Wichita Falls must provide herself with, on a larger scale.

Wichitans who had never visited southwestern Oklahoma before were impressed with the magnitude of the wheat crop, the abundance of substantial school buildings and the plentifulness of children that are characteristic of this section.

From Devolet north to Altus the train passed field after field either already under the binder or soon to be so, and from the cars the crop looked to be in splendid condition, so that the tales of 25 bushels to the acre that were heard in the towns were readily credited. Threshing still begins in a few days, and the wheat grower's only worry just now is that the rain, which has been beautiful and timely during the growing season, won't stop and let him get his crop to the elevator.

There is every prospect for a big cotton crop also, business men told the Wichitans, so that, the agricultural prosperity this year will more than offset last year's losses.

WIRE PAULEY JAIL CONSTRUCTION CO. TO REPAIR BREAKS

County officials Wednesday morning wired the Pauley Jail Construction company of St. Louis to send a man to this city to repair the breaks in the jail made Tuesday evening by the negro prisoners.

The damage in the jail was found to be of such a nature that it required an expert on the matter to repair it. This Pauley company installed a portion of the cells in the local jail which have held inmates today with greater influence than Senator Culbertson.

With plain, yet feeling eloquence, Mr. Miller pointed to the example of the people of Kentucky who had kept Henry Clay in the house after he had grown old and feeble; to the example of the people of Alabama in retaining Alexander Stephens and Senator Pettus, to the example of the people of North Carolina who had kept Senator Tillman in the harness until his death. He said that Senator Culbertson had broken his health when he was recalled by President Wilson to take the leadership of the administration in the senate to redeem the pledges of the democratic party.

He said that a simple request from Senator Culbertson could accomplish more for his constituents than the hardest effort on the part of other senators, because all the members of the senate respected and loved him. Judge Miller left Tuesday night for Vernon, where he was scheduled to speak Wednesday.

WITH FEELING ELOQUENCE URGES CULBERSON'S CAUSE

A fair sized crowd heard Hon. Harry Miller of Dallas advocate the renominations of Senator Charles A. Culbertson at the Victoria theatre Tuesday night.

Judge Miller declared that for sentimental reasons, if no other, the people of Texas ought to return Senator Culbertson. He said that even the opponents of Senator Culbertson could point to no blameworthy record of Senator Culbertson and that all they could say was that he was not as strong physically as he once was.

The times demand men like Senator Culbertson with calm, clear vision and judgment and unflinching courage, said Mr. Miller, and he said there was no member of the senate today with greater influence than Senator Culbertson.

He quoted from numerous articles in the press showing that Senator Culbertson was more regular in attendance at the sessions of the senate than any other member of that body. He quoted an interview with Senator Sheppard, brother-in-law of an opponent of Senator Culbertson, saying that the latter was performing splendid service and that the condition of his health did not interfere with his regular attendance at his duties.

With plain, yet feeling eloquence, Mr. Miller pointed to the example of the people of Kentucky who had kept Henry Clay in the house after he had grown old and feeble; to the example of the people of Alabama in retaining Alexander Stephens and Senator Pettus, to the example of the people of North Carolina who had kept Senator Tillman in the harness until his death. He said that Senator Culbertson had broken his health when he was recalled by President Wilson to take the leadership of the administration in the senate to redeem the pledges of the democratic party.

He said that a simple request from Senator Culbertson could accomplish more for his constituents than the hardest effort on the part of other senators, because all the members of the senate respected and loved him. Judge Miller left Tuesday night for Vernon, where he was scheduled to speak Wednesday.

EXPORTERS TOPPLED FROM LEAD AS SPUDDERS TAKE SEVENTH STRAIGHT WIN

Skinner Joe Mathes of the Beaumont Exporters looked with favor on Stuart Jacobus, his saliva ball artist, to open the festivities at the left of Athletic park Tuesday afternoon. He had good reason to be so, for the artist had already beaten the Salmites twice this season. The victory, however, proved to be a fluke as the Spudders took on Stuart with just as much favor as his boss. The 1922 Salmites, unused to such treatment from any one hurler, turned up him in the opening game of the "cross-hatched" series and smote him hip and thigh. In the course of this vengeful accomplishment the local hero cracked down upon Beaumont during his six inning regime for 10 lusty wallop and five centers, which added to the one made off "Bugs" Morris later on, gave them a 6 to 3 victory and pulled the invaders down to within one game of them. It was the seventh straight victory for Salm's pupils. Incidentally, the Exporters were knocked off the top rung.

While the home boys were pummeling Jacobus' offerings, Bill Fincher was doing the serving for the Wichitaans and he turned in his fourth win of the season over the Exporters. Bill wasn't exactly unhittable, as he was touched for 10 safeties, but he was invincible in the platoon until the ninth and was scored extremely fast support by his companions in the outer garden.

The one regrettable incident of the matter occurred in the fourth chapter when Fred Beck stopped one of Jacobus' fast balls with the back of his head. "Caruso" took the outfit for about five minutes and was unable to continue. He was revived at the plate, but became dizzy on the bench before the inning was over and was taken to the club house where he was expected to get into Wednesday's fray, however.

Ruth On First.

Babe Ruth was in to do the Mal Chaso stunt and though he was about as much at home around the bag as a fish out of water, he managed to take care of every one who came his way. A beautiful play by Al White and Bill Fincher saved his life on one occasion. Two men had been retired in the sixth inning. Brennan stole in Babe's direction. The sphere took a mean hop over his shoulder, but White was on the job backing him up as was Fincher, who ran out the bag. Babe was at a loss when the ball got away from him, but Fincher was on the base in plenty of time to get White home. The play was characteristic of the brand of ball being displayed by the Spudders. They are not venturing to enter the arena on their own second.

Fincher got himself into holes in the first two innings, but straightened himself in the third. Babe started off with a bang by doubling to left. Don, by the way, had a big day with the wagon tongue, gathering in three hits. In addition, he doubled mentioned. After Stansbury had been taken care of by Adams, Anderson singled to right, and Ed Hasty, by Summa, had Edington at second for the third out.

The invaders also collected a complete set in the second chapter, but Fincher tightened up in due time.

The Spudders jumped into the lead the first time they faced Jacobus and added to it from time to time. The first three men up got on, Adams walked, Tanner singled and Beaumont's catcher, Jacobus, tossed his sacrifice to Stansbury to take to the plate. Summa belted a long sacrifice fly to Wetzel which scored Adams and Tanner romped across when Miller punched a safety to left.

Beckoff sends one in.

The third count marked a 2-1 in the fourth. Summa started the trouble with a line drive to right for two sacks, and went to third on Miller's perfect sacrifice. Beckoff crashed a timely double to left which scored Summa. Fincher followed with a walk, filling the bases, but Adams' sacrifice was a host to Edington.

Two more runs trickled across the platter in the sixth. Once again White was sent back to the bench on a questionable third strike, but Beckoff grove a single to left. Fincher fanned after Beckoff had purchased second and the latter tallied when Adams lined a single to the same territory. Adams scooted to second on the peg to the plate and went to third on a wild pitch. Tanner's single sent him over.

The last run was made off Morris in the seventh on Miller's single, which base and Ruth's safety. Miller was enabled to count when Morris played Mathes' relay of Ruth's drive poorly.

Just as the fans were figuring on a shutout for Fincher, Mathes potted a single in the form of a Texas leaguer to left in the ninth and Beckoff walked. Stansbury reached for one of Fincher's wide shots and scored it in right for three bases, dropping the runners ahead of him, while he advanced when Anderson grounded out to Ruth, unassisted.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—He brought $100,000 plus two players, an approximate figure of $125,000, and the largest sum to be paid since Babe Ruth was sold four years ago. And yet it was but four years ago that Billy Kamm left the Golden Gate Recreation park "and lots" to go into the minor leagues.

The phenomenal rise of this 22-year-old "third-base wonder," whose purchase by the White Sox from the San Francisco Seals has just been completed, is without a parallel in baseball history.

In 1918, leaping youngster signed, with frightened restraint, a contract to play with the Sacramento Coast League team. He had been reported as having "recruit" possibilities and was being closely watched. Three weeks later he had been released only to join, in 1919, the Seals team. In three short years he has developed into a "$125,000 beauty."

He's still bashful and blishes at the drop of a hat, but he is declared by experts to be the coming third baseman of the majors.

Danny Long, former manager of the Seals, who put through the deal, declares he cannot remember having watched a player with so many qualifications. He'll make the biggest record of any man that ever hailed from the west side of the Rockies, Long predicts.

His first season with the Seals

YANKES GET AWAY TO A GOOD START ON WESTERN INVASION

NEW YORK, June 7.—Wallo Hoyt's clever hurling, Bob Meusel's fourth home run of the season, and a trio of sensational catches in center field by Whitey Witt, combined to give the Yankees a 3-1 victory over the White Sox and a flying start in their first invasion of the west. Urban Faber allowed only six hits in Hoyt's nine, but was out-luck.

Urban Shocker hung up his twelfth victory and St. Louis took the first game from Boston, 5-3. The Browns made an unusual shift in their batting order by moving George Sisler, their all-around star, from third to lead-off position.

The Tigers went on a batting spree at the expense of Hasty and Harrison, easily defeating the Athletics in the trials against next February. The new stakes which are induced to Bowls the latter part of the week to get the Aves.

Among the conditions included in the contract, which is for a period of three years, is the posting of 10,000 acres for the sole benefit of the association. All quality privileges are to be for the association and nobody is to be allowed to hunt on the posted territory. Last February, the raising of the National League pennant by the Giants were scheduled to take place today with the opening of a series with the Cubs.

OIL BELT FIELD TRIALS IN 1922 EXPECTED TO BE BIGGEST IN THE COUNTRY

By PAUL W. LARKIN.

It will be the biggest field trial ever held in the United States. The foregoing statement, which takes in a lot of territory and is rather broad one, came emphatically from the lips of "Doc" Landon, field secretary of the Oil Belt Field Trial association, upon his return Tuesday from a conference between the trials against next February. Landon is a member of the board of governors and the Bowie chamber of commerce in Bowie. He was referring to the 1922 trials to be held in Bowie's nine, but was out-luck.

One thing is certain—considering the size of the stake it will absolutely be the largest event of its kind in the history of the industry. Hence, the meeting with the chamber of commerce last Saturday. At this confab the board of governors held the chamber of commerce what they wanted and though the contract has not been signed yet, the conditions have been tentatively agreed to. The new stakes which are induced to Bowls the latter part of the week to get the Aves.

Among the conditions included in the contract, which is for a period of three years, is the posting of 10,000 acres for the sole benefit of the association. A Fan's Views.

Tuesday's ball brought the following:

Sports Editor.

"Dear Sir:

"I can't help but notice your extreme silence about Gen. Bischoff and his wonderful stick work.

"You have always taken exceptions to anything said about Kitch's playing and even went so far as to say that if the fans didn't quit riding him they would likely cause Bischoff to be sent away. Now can't you be a good sport and admit that Kitch has slipped?

"I believe in fair play and am not one of those fans who 'rode' Kitch, but playing and even went so far as to see you and Spike Cooper give him a little reprimand. If he plays regularly I'm sure he will be the best catcher in the loop.

"Yours truly,

(Signed) 'O. W. Wilson.'

If Circumstances Were Reversed.

Really can't see where Kitchena has slipped. FRANK has been a slug man the greater part of the season, but playing and even went so far as to see you and Spike Cooper give him a little reprimand. If he plays regularly I'm sure he will be the best catcher in the loop.

Some Haeel

The race for first place in the Texas loop could not be much tighter. Anyone of three teams is apt to be in first place tonight.

Can't Keep 'Em Away.

A few inconveniences do not seem to bother the fans in the least. Over 1000 fans had to be turned away from the park Tuesday and hurriedly enjoyed the setto.

A Real Sport.

Skipper Mathes of the Exporters made a great hit with the fans when he offered to allow Beck to return to the game. He didn't had run for him. It was an example of clean sportsmanship. Joe had a big edge on Walter with Fred out and considering the closeness of the race one could hardly have blamed him had he taken advantage of the technicality. Managers such as Mathes are a rare commodity. He should be asked for permission to allow Beck to return. He volunteered it.

Soft for Brennan.

Second Baseman Brennan of the Exporters had only one chance in the first game, but it was a hum-dinger. He robbed Al White of a blow.

No Breaks for White.

White had to fight for all he got Tuesday. He was called out on strikes twice and on both occasions it appeared as though the third out was a little man in a white shirt in the bed him while his other drives were picked off the board. He had an important hand in the fielding gem of the day, however.

Gets 'Em Some Way.

Bill Fincher shows a thing or two about fielding his position. He can't reach a drive with his hands, he knocks 'em down with his head extremities. He got one man that Tuesday and he should be getting seven or eight a season that way.

Beaten Before Start.

What Trieb's intention is to the Yankees, Bill Fincher is to the Exporters. Each hurler has the Indian sign on them.

Fifty the Panthers.

The Panthers won't have anything but twin bills scheduled for the rest of the season, if J. F. "Joan" can't leave off soon.

Deacon Not Misled.

"Cuckoo" DeMaggio is laid up with a sore foot, but he couldn't have performed any better Tuesday than his boss.

WOODWARD HIGH IN THE DOUBLES EVENT AT SOUTHERN SHOOT

MEMPHIS, TENN., June 7.—T. J. Aycock, Jacksonville, Fla., state champion, tied with J. H. White of Spantansburg, S. C., in the 100 target event from the 16-yard line in the second day of the southern zone trapshooters handicap, both scoring 147. Aycock, who is a world champion, declared the 16-yard champion, defeating the present holder, C. B. Boyce of Memphis by a score of 147 to 146.

A. W. Evans of Jackson, Tenn. was runner up in the 18-yard event. Mrs. J. L. Doggett of Clarksville, Miss., had her wonderful shooting, carrying off all events in which women were entered. In the double B. F. Woodward of Houston, Texas, won the 18-yard event, while Mrs. A. M. H. led the professional women, winning the 18 and 18-yard events, shooting the only perfect score of the day.

HOW TO PLAY BALL

By STEVE O'NEILL

Star Catcher—Cleveland Indians

A good glove plays a most important part in the work of a catcher.

With a great many catchers, who some day aspire to make the big league grade, there is an idea the bigger the glove the better. Modern day catchers in the two major leagues take an entirely different view. I much prefer a small glove.

I have used any number of models, and find by experience that a small glove is much better suited to the glove the player is supposed to play.

A big glove is really a hindrance in handling a slow hit ground ball in front of the plate. A small pocket, that is well broken in, retains pitched balls much better than the larger pocket of the big glove.

In touching a runner the smaller, more compact glove enables the catcher to get a firmer grip on the ball, thereby greatly minimizing the chance of dropping the ball, after having touched the runner.

Tender's Stock Rises as Result of Win Over Barrett

PHILADELPHIA, June 7.—Law Tender of Philadelphia today was more firmly established as a formidable contender for the crown of Benny Leonard, world's lightweight boxing champion, as a result of the knockout he scored last night over Bobby Barrett of Clifton, N.J.

The final blow came at the end of the sixth round, the referee having counted only nine when the bell ended the round. Barrett's second a sought to revive him but fully five minutes elapsed before the groggy boxer was able to be assisted from the ring.

Maintaining that the blow had been low, Barrett's father and member of the spectators, jumped into the ring and prevented trouble. A physician who examined Barrett in the ring declared no foul blow had been struck.

James F. Dougherty, manager for Barrett, took Barrett to a hotel for treatment by another physician, who Dougherty said expressed belief that Barrett had been hit in the groin.

Dougherty declared the blow that Barrett out was a foul and that as a result his right leg was paralyzed. He added that it would be some time before Barrett would be able to use his leg.

Tender said he would start training in a few days for his 12-round bout with Leonard at Kansas City.

COTTON EXCHANGE TRIAL

NEW YORK, June 7.—The trial of the American cotton exchange, charged with bucketing orders, will go to a supreme court jury this afternoon. It was indicated today when Justice Marcus denied a motion by defense counsel to dismiss the complaint on the ground only suspicion of the crime alleged had been shown by the prosecution. Defense counsel contended that a verdict of guilty would mean reparation for small planters of the south, since the exchange with the ten bale trading units gives them the protection of hedging contracts.
