SAMUEL GOMPERS IS REELECTED BY A UNANIMOUS VOTE

DEMONSTRATION WAS STAGED BY DELEGATES FOLLOWING VOTE. DUNCAN IS REELECTED FIRST VICE PRESIDENT

First Contest Develops For Position of Seventh Vice-President of Federation.

CINCINNATI, June 23.—President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor was re-elected without opposition today at the federation's annual convention. It was his forty-first election to the office.

After the unanimous vote had been cast, Gompers, who had been in the audience, broke out among the delegates which continued a few minutes. Then Mr. Gompers thanked the delegates and said "I shall endeavor to give the best that is in me."

The convention also re-elected James L. Duncan of Quincy, Mass., representing the granite cutters' union, as first vice president; Joseph F. Valentine, Cincinnati, representing the photo-engravers' union, as second vice president; Frank Duffey, Indianapolis, representing the bricklayers' union, as third vice president; W. D. Mahon, Detroit, representing the men's union, as fourth vice president, and T. A. Rickett, Chicago, representing the garment workers' union, as fifth vice president.

The first contest developed when Thomas F. Flaherty of Washington, representing the postoffice clerks' union, was nominated to oppose the reelection of Frank Morrison of Indianapolis, president of the barbers' union, as seventh vice president of the federation.

Mr. Flaherty defeated Mr. Morrison by a vote of 17,725 to 13,279, and then Matthew Wolf of Chicago, representing the photo-engravers' union, was re-elected without a contest.

In the second contest Daniel J. Tobin of Indianapolis, president of the teamsters' union, was re-elected as treasurer over Joseph A. Franklin of Kansas City, Kan., president of the bootmakers' union. The vote was: Tobin, 13,848; Franklin, 12,848.

The election of officers was completed except election of fraternal delegates, by the reelection without opposition of Frank Morrison of Washington as secretary. He is a member of the printers union and has been secretary for 25 years.

The delegates from Toledo were re-elected at the convention. Portland, Ore., was chosen over Houston, Texas, as the seat of the next convention which will be held in October, 1923. Atlantic City dropped out of the contest.

Peter H. Schaughency of Chicago and A. J. Chlopok of Toledo were unanimously elected at the afternoon session as fraternal delegates to the British trade congress in 1923. Walter N. Redick of Washington was also selected as fraternal delegate to the 1923 Canadian trade congress.

LABOR INTEREST CENTERS IN ELECTION OF OFFICERS. By Associated Press. CINCINNATI, June 23.—Election of officers of the American Federation of Labor took the center of the stage today at its convention here, although only one contest was a certainty. President Samuel Gompers, who has held the office for a year except one since the federation was founded in 1881, and none other officers seemed assured of reelection without opposition from among delegates were on the tip of expectancy on account of possible last minute entries.

The opening contest was that of the railroad group which sought to win a position on the executive council, composed of the 11 officers of the federation. J. Frank Morrison of Indianapolis, president of the boiler-makers, was the railroad bloc candidate, opposing the reelection as treasurer of Daniel J. Tobin of Indianapolis, president of the teamsters' union.

CHILE AGREEABLE TO UNITED STATES COMPROMISE PLAN

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Chile has indicated to the American state department her willingness to accept in principle the compromise plan suggested by Secretary Hughes for arbitration of the Chilean-Peruvian dispute over Tacna-Arica.

Peru's reply still waits on final advice from Lima, but there was no indication today that she would accept in a day or two. The compromise formula as put forward informally by Mr. Hughes is understood to provide in broad terms that the United States shall arbitrate the difficulties arising from non-fulfillment of the Tacna-Arica clauses of the treaty of 1904, and that both Chile and Peru shall sign a protocol to carry the arbitration award into effect.

PRISON INMATE SAYS MRS. OBENCHAIN TRIED TO "FRAME UP" STORY

LOS ANGELES, June 23.—Paul Roman, an inmate of Folsom prison on a felony charge, testified for the prosecution today that while he was confined in the county jail here last year Mrs. Matlyne Obenchain "framed up" a story that he was guilty of the murder of a man named Kennedy.

FORMER PRESIDENT T. P. COAL AND OIL COMPANY IS SUED

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 23.—Bank accounts of Edgar Lewis Marston, director and former president of the Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company and director of Bankers Trust and Guaranty Trust companies, were ordered attached by Supreme Court Justice Morchauer, following sensational charges of misrepresentation made by Frank C. Armstrong, formerly a director of Blair and company of New York.

ARMSTRONG BROUGHT SUIT AGAINST MARSTON YESTERDAY FOR $45,707. He charges that he purchased 140 shares of Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company from Marston, who he alleges represented that the wells of the company were yielding 55,000 barrels of oil a day, although he was receiving at the time reports that the wells were falling.

ARMSTRONG ALSO ALLEGES THAT MARSTON SAID THAT HE HAD MADE SEVERAL OFFERS FOR LEASES OR FULL OWNERSHIP OF THE WELLS.

Mrs. Ferguson Asks Name Be Withdrawn From Senate Race

ASSASSINATION OF FIELD MARSHAL HAS STIRRED UP LONDON

APPREHENSION OF FURTHER OUTRAGES MINGLED WITH BOWROW. OTHERS IN PARLIAMENT HAVE BEEN THREATENED

MURDER CAUSES UNEASY FEELING AMONG LAW ABIDING PEOPLE IN IRELAND.

LONDON, June 23.—The assassination of Field Marshal Sir Henry Hughes Wilson has stirred England to a depth of mingled with feelings of sorrow and dismay are apprehension of further outrages as it is understood other members of parliament have been threatened.

Field Marshal Wilson it is learned, had received threatening letters for some time from anonymous and other sources, but paid no heed to them.

Efforts to trace the crime to the instigation of any special persons or parties in Ireland has not succeeded. Ulster it seems to be widely taken for granted that the Irish republican army was responsible, but no proof is offered and General Sir John Gavan's denial stands unchallenged.

LOCAL CREAMERY PLANS TAKE FORM COUNCIL IS TOLD

Steady progress is being made toward organization of a company to firmly establish the creamery business in Wichita Falls, D. J. Carithers, who is heading the movement, told members of the business council of the chamber of commerce at the weekly luncheon Friday.

Mr. Carithers said that he had been at work recently organizing a new company to take over a creamery which closed not long ago, and that he had hopes of completing the organization soon.

The council recommended to the directors that Hubert M. Harrison, general manager, be sent to the school for commercial executives to be held at Northwestern university in August.

Reports were made on the status of the fair organization and on the trade trip.

There is a possibility that the Texas Clothiers' convention, scheduled to be held here in August, may go elsewhere on account of local hotel rates, Mr. Harrison reported.

The convention committee has the matter in hand.

"I give Tanlac entire credit for the good health I now enjoy," said W. O. Hall, 104 Central National Bank Building, St. Louis, Mo., well-known attorney.

"I had influenza which left my entire system weakened. I had no appetite and seemed to get no strength from the little I did eat. I was very nervous, could get no restful sleep, and suffered from headaches and dizzy spells. I had such a pain in my side at times I couldn't draw a deep breath, and my back hurt so bad I had trouble getting out of my chair.

"However, my first bottle of Tanlac gave me relief and four bottles have completely restored my health. The good Tanlac has done me justifies me in saying it is a most remarkable medicine."

New Program at Majestic Pleases A Large Crowd

The R. E. Fox Stock company entertained another large and appreciative audience at the Majestic theater Thursday night, presenting a new bill, combining "What Women Will Do" with new vaudeville and music. The play is a pleasing story with a mixture of country and city life.

The opening scenes are taken in the New England states and the plot drifts to New York city. The plot of the story is woven around the life of a millionaire banker, and some dramatic as well as humorous situations are developed during the progress of the play.

The cast is exceptionally well headed and Mr. McIntosh again kept the crowd in a good humor with his clever comedy in the role of the country boy.

New vaudeville between acts added much to the entertainment of the evening and was greeted with hearty approval by those in attendance.

"What Women Will Do" will be repeated Friday and Saturday nights, with an entire change of program on Monday night.

BIBLE CLASSES IN JOINT SESSION AT OLYMPIC SUNDAY

A thousand or more men are expected to gather at the Olympic theater Sunday morning when most of the men's Bible classes of local Sunday schools will hold a joint session as guests of the class of Judge John C. Kay of the First M. E. church, South.

Classes from the First Presbyterian, First Baptist, First Christian and Floral Heights Methodist Sunday schools are expected to participate in the meeting.

Musical numbers will include an orchestra number, a quartette selection and a solo by Mrs. Louella B. Thompson. The principal talk will be by Judge Kay.

OVER $3000 OBTAINED FOR DICKSON ORPHANAGE; SINGERS RETURN FRIDAY

Rev. W. L. Dickson and his jubilee singers from the colored orphanage at Ollmer, Texas, will return home Friday night, a total of over $3,000 in cash and pledges being obtained during a ten days stay here.

The final concert will be given Friday night at Burk Burnett, where, at the request of J. G. Hardin, a joint meeting of the Baptist and Methodist congregations will be held in the Methodist church. The singers are planning a special program for the occasion.

They will return from Burk Burnett in time to catch a train for home.

AWARD CONTRACT FOR $45,000 HOME NEAR IOWA PARK

Contract for the new home of W. George, well known farmer of this county, has been awarded to Taylor Brothers of this city, who will start work shortly.

The house will be erected on Mr. George's place on the northern edge of Iowa Park, and will cost around $45,000. Voelcker and Ison of this city are architects.

Mr. George valiantly resisted inducements to make his home in Wichita Falls, preferring to remain near the soil where his fortune was acquired.

When it became known that he was planning a new home, local real estate agents sought to interest him in Wichita Falls property, but without success.

The house will be one of the most substantial in the county. Mr. George says that he will not be much further from the business district than some folks in the city limits, at that.

REVIVAL SERVICES NORTH SIDE METHODIST CHURCH

On Thursday evening, Rev. R. P. Hines brought his hearers a truly personal message at the revival services in the North Side Methodist church, using as his text Acts 1:3: "Ye shall be witnesses unto Me."

The call to service through testimony by the life and personal appeals in behalf of Christ's claims among the people was earnestly insisted upon by the preacher. Each one of his followers is needed in the soul-winning business of the church and reward is sure and satisfying even here on the earth.

The inestimable value of a faithful witness in the kingdom of heaven was pointed out, and correspondingly a true witness for the Master must prove of very great service to the kingdom of heaven on the earth.

Many and interesting instances of such testimony were cited by the preacher out of the Holy Scriptures and from his own personal knowledge.

Rev. W. W. Carleton of Bonita was present and offered prayer.—W. A. BETTS, pastor, 502 Bridge street.

GULF NINE WINS FROM PRESBYTERIANS 7 TO 4

The Gulf Production team took the Presbyterians into camp Thursday in a six inning contest by the score of 7 to 4. The Oilers had a big inning in the third when they got to Harris for four counters.

Connally was hit about as hard as Harris, but managed to keep his blows well scattered.

ELECTRA VISITED FRIDAY BY CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE

A local committee, headed by W. F. Weeks, journeyed to Electra Friday afternoon to present the fair association campaign to that community. A committee, headed by E. M. Friend, of Electra, will work with the Wichitans, who, well pleased with Iowa Park's showing in the campaign, are hoping that Electra will do proportionately well.

IOWA PARK BANK STARTS MOVE FOR BETTER LIVESTOCK

A movement to promote the raising of better livestock in the country around Iowa Park has been inaugurated by the First National bank of that place, which has employed Eugene Birk, son of C. Birk of north Iowa Park, as its special representative in the work.

The bank will help finance farmers who wish to purchase better grades of livestock or who wish to start dairy herds, and will assist in every possible way the development of the livestock industry.

Eugene Birk recently graduated from A. and M. college, and is well versed in livestock matters. He becomes a member of the bank's staff, and will devote his full time to the work.

J. Frank Boyd, president of the bank, started the movement in the belief that the indirect returns to the bank and to the community would make it well worth while.

CHAPTER LXX
JACK THREATENS TO BREAK WITH ME OVER PEARLS

By a Bride

"Fortunately for both of us, I can do as I like. You'll see, when I'm over, Jack says, I intend to get down tomorrow morning and pay our debts—and have enough left to live upon until you find what you want."

"Very well—so far as you are concerned, my dear. But when it comes to spending Barnick's gift, you'll have to count me out."

"You mean—I'll have to choose between Barnick's offer—and you?" I stammered. "If I take—the money—I lose—you?"

"Can't you see, Peggie? Just living side by side isn't marriage. You and I must see things alike or how can we be happy together?"

"We thought we could. We thought you could go your way and I mine. We prided ourselves on being pioneers in a new and better kind of marriage."

"And now we find married life isn't so easy to make over," said Jack. "I have now it seems to me like any other partnership. In any combination of two human beings, one has got to have the final word."

"An old theory," I put in. "Quite different from our little scheme of equal rights, equal duties and all that. You are to play chess—and he goes right up to an hour—and I am not to care?"

"And you were to play emotional theatre parts opposite a former suitor—and was not to care. You could take long walks in the moonlight with the handsome man we know and I was to keep still! Peggie, I have kept still!"

"But—but—" I stammered, not at all understanding. "You easily could be silent about that because—then—leave I taken a moonlight stroll with any man, handsome or not?"

"My dear girl! Have you forgotten your journey back to nature in the pines with Bart Elliott? The first night of our motor tour?"

"With Jack Madison! What are you talking about?"

"Did it mean so little to you that you've forgotten? Well, it means more to me. I can't forget it. You and the girls had gone to your rooms. I went into the woods to smoke, couldn't sleep."

"I missed—you parted from you—the first night. I saw you and Bart in the moonlight—that, twice—out of yours and the gay red hat. I couldn't comprehend, thought I saw a ghost, went to your room and knocked. Jehana said you were not there."

"The situation that night flashed before my mind's eye, and aroused in me that great bit of perverseness in my nature which makes me dumb when I am unjustly criticised. I could not explain. I would not defend myself. Said I to the girls: 'Those pearls! I guess they brought me as much bad luck as good.'"

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS SPRINKLE-BLOW MINDS MOON AS TWINS SEEK PEERABOUT

By OLIVE ROBERTS BAXTON

They found the other side so steep it seemed to drop down to nothing.

The Twins were hunting Mr. Peerabout, the Man-in-the-Moon. He was loved by the children of the town.

They looked into his house, but he wasn't there.

Then they went to Snoozeville Town and asked the Townsies (the little dream fairies), but they didn't know a thing.

Next they went to Smokeyfoot Village and asked the chimney fairies and the sweep. But no Moon-Man.

Then they went to all the cities, the City of Ice, the City of Copal, and the City of Pearl, but nobody had seen him.

Then suddenly one old fellow in the City of Pearl remembered something.

"Tother day I was taking a walk," said he, "and I saw Mr. Peerabout talking to Comet-Legs on a mountain top. After while I saw Comet-Legs coming back alone."

Just then a link returned from delivering a pipe dream to an earth baby.

"Mr. Peerabout's there," he said. "I saw him."

OPEN AIR MARKET IS GROWING EVERY WEEK; SATURDAY A BIG DAY

The Civic League Growers Open Air Market—"Down-Town-Market" for short, is a growing institution, and every householder who has the big-town appreciation of a market place where fresh things may be culled from the offerings of the producers themselves ought to be glad.

The market place where the local growers gather is on the vacant lot at Eleventh and Scott, and is open Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays from 8:30 to 3. It is pretty well crowded with buyers every open day right now, and autos are sometimes parked way down and up the street, with market baskets very much in evidence.

The producers have everything home grown now in season—beans, peas, okra, corn, carrots, potatoes, cabbages, plums, peaches, etc. The habit of doing their own marketing is growing on local housekeepers and the open air market gets more popular every week.

YOUNG DENTON COUPLE MARRIED HERE THURSDAY

Wallace Masters and Miss Pearl Holcomb, the latter a former Iowa Park girl, were united in marriage in a quiet wedding at the P. P. Warren home Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Rev. Nat F. Draffton of the First Presbyterian church officiating.

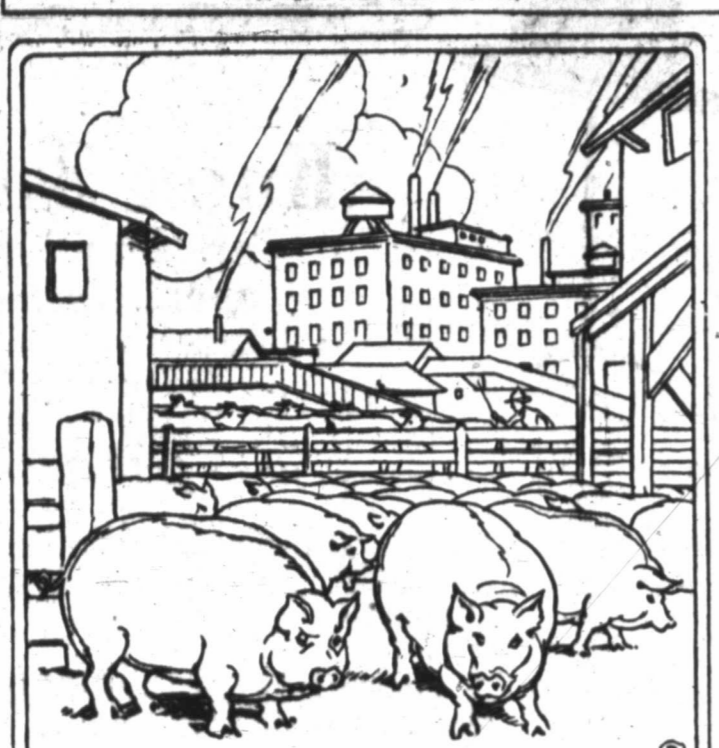

Mr. Masters is a brother of Miss Hilda Masters, well known member of the African school faculty here, and he was accompanied here from Des Moines for the wedding by his sister, Miss Mildred Masters, who acted as maid of honor to the bride. Miss Holcomb has been attending the Denton normal, but was recently called to Iowa Park on account of the death of her father, and has been visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gauntt at that place. The Warrens are old friends of the Masters. Mrs. Masters was attended by R. W. H. McCulloch, Miss Jean Adams played the wedding march, and Paul Pond, classmate in the graduating class of Texas University with Mr. Masters this year, played the violin during the ceremony. The living room was decorated with roses, and the bride wore a traveling suit with a white and a blue corsage of Kilmarnock roses and sweet peas.

Only a few friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony, these including Mrs. D. E. Holcomb, Claude Holcomb, Miss Eunice Gauntt, Mrs. O. B. Gauntt, Mrs. Will H. Gauntt, Miss Irdie Gauntt, Paul Pond, Mr. and Mrs. Warren, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thorne, Mrs. Bert Adrian, and Miss Inez Adrian, Misses Hilda and Mildred Masters, and Bob McCulloch.

Mr. and Mrs. Masters left for Denton in their car immediately after the ceremony, and will make their home there.

Whom Shall Molly Marry?

Matties Deal Makes Love—Hoods and Hoards Are Dizzy With May Madness as the Handmade Actor Asks for Molly's Hand

(Second installment)

By ZOE ZECKLEY

In the skiff Don opened his silk shirt at the throat and with the moonlight on his handsome features looked unbelievably like some figure in a romantic play.

"I just had to tell you that of all people, the glorious news!" he was saying. "I've accepted the lead in the Pittsburgh Empire Stock company. Think of it, Molly! Five years ago I was playing little bits. Two years ago I got leading parts here. And now—Pittsburgh! Twice the size of Midvale! I'm only 25, who knows but that two years from now it may be Broadway—my name in lights—then London, money, fame!"

"Don! Oh, how wonderful!" Molly breathed, imagination afloat. "You lucky, lucky boy!"

"I hear your Don slipped to his knees before her."

"Am I lucky? His voice was vibrant with feeling, thrilling Molly through and through, as he being. "Tell me, Don't you know that without you to share it, success won't mean a thing to me?"

"He caught her hands and kissed the palms."

"Why, Don?" She laughed rather breathlessly, trying to draw her hands away. "Honestly, Molly, must say it, stale and stupid as it sounds—not this—is so sudden."

"Not to me!" His fervor lighted his eyes. "I'm honestly, Molly, about you, Molly, for years. Molly, sweat, be my own girl, dear. I do love you so."

"Don, stop!" She tried with cajolery to hide deep emotion. "This isn't a time to say such things—under a full moon, in May, sidly with dancing. How'll you feel tomorrow to realize you've asked a girl to be your wife?"

"Molly put her hand over his lips and kissed it. But at the word 'wife' he made ever so slight a movement, less than a start, more a catching of the breath. But to Molly it was quite perceptible and it seemed as though her heart had stopped beating and would never go again. Then, with a rush, Don's emotion, stronger than he had counted on, swept him on past calculation.

"My wife!" he cried on a gasping breath. "Tonight—next year—all life long I'll sing it—Molly, my little wife!"

Crushed to his breast, his lips almost bruising hers, Molly was swept past her momentary shock, away into an irresistible silent ecstasy of assent.

Library Adds Radio Books to Its Equipment

The library is now equipped with all modern conveniences. Four of the latest and best reference books on radio have just been added, and by the time this list is printed, all four will probably be in the hands of four aspirants to aerial eavesdropping.

The four are: F. Zolleman's "Experimental Wireless Stations," Lescaubour's "Radio for Everybody" (which ought to be popular), Morgan's "Wireless Telegraphy and Telephony," and Steeper's "Radio Hook-Ups."

Beside these, the library has also subscribed to the monthly radio magazine, the "Radio Broadcast" and has numbers beginning with the first, issued May 1932, to date.

The club meets next week with Mrs. John Lindsey at 1814 Fourteenth.

Can Your Garden Stuff Today

PEAS.

Peas are more difficult to can than most other vegetables, and great care should be taken to have them very fresh and young. They are best gathered in the early morning, or when cool. Peas should not stand after being shelled; they may be started cooking while breakfast is being prepared, as many housewives prefer to do all their cooking that way. Hard, ripe peas should not be canned with the tender ones; they should be sorted.

Blanching is important. If done properly it prevents a cloudy liquor, makes the peas tender, and also removes some of the gassy substance which coats them and causes them to become flat in a few minutes, depending on the maturity of the peas. The blanching is done by putting the peas in a cheese cloth bag and plunging them in hot water for the time specified, removing them and plunging them at once into cold water, which has been salted with a tablespoon of salt to a quart of water. They should be removed from the cold water almost instantly.

Drain the peas and pack in the jars to within half an inch of the top of the jar. Don't make too full. Add a teaspoon of sugar and one-half teaspoon of salt to each pint, on top of the peas. Fill with boiling water, let the bubbles work out a minute, place the rubbers and caps on the jars, but do not screw the caps down. Cook in a container on the bottom of which a cloth has been folded or a false bottom put in, for three hours, if the peas are very small and tender. If medium sized, cook intermittently an hour a day for three days, or cut under the pounds pressure in the steam cooker.

Note: If there is any special recipe you wanted printed immediately, either for canning fruit or preserves, please the Women's Page Editor at The Times. Otherwise they will be used as selected in the office. All recipes are from Miss Lillian Peck's Bulletin issued after three years of demonstration and experience in Texas.

HELL REAL PLACE, NOT JUST PICTURE, SAYS EVANGELIST

Rev. J. H. Knight, Thursday evening at the Floral Heights Baptist church, in delivering his sermon on "Hell—and Why I Do Not Want to Go There," said in part: "This place is so awful. I can see it so real when I read the scriptures. I have not the least doubt as to the existence of such a place. In this day in which we are living, this is not a pleasant story. Nevertheless, this old world is running on a rapid gallop down to hell. "I will give you two or three reasons for such a place: There is a universal belief of the existence of such a place. I believe of the existence of hell because of the common reason of justice. If there were no hell, there would be no heaven. If there were no place for the punishment of the ungodly, they would make hell out of heaven. The most common argument is the teachings of the Bible. "The Bible describes the place with two terms. Some people say that the references in the Bible are only figurative. I learned in school that the figurative things are not as real as the things they are pictured. The thing figured is always more real than the picture. God has mercy on the man who says there is no hell and then goes there. One of the terms used in the Bible is 'darkness' the other is 'fire.' There are many references in the New Testament that I could take up, however, I am going to give you only three. Revelation XXII:15. "Death and Hades were cast into the lake of fire. And if any was not found written in the book of life, he was cast into the lake of fire." And Matthew XII:41-42. "The son of man shall send forth his angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdom all things that cause stumbling, and them that do iniquity, and shall cast them into the furnace of fire; there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth." Also Mark IX:47-49. "If thine eye cause thee to stumble, cast it out: it is good for thee to enter into the kingdom of heaven with one eye, rather than having two eyes to be cast into hell; where the worm dieth not and the fire is not quenched. For every one shall be salted with fire." If this is figurative, then what must the reality be? Then there are several reasons why I do not want to go to hell. First, I don't want to go because I would have to butt in to get there. I never did like to butt in and the Bible teaches that 'Hell is a place prepared for the devil and his angels.' (Matthew XXV). You will have to become an angel of the devil if you go to hell. Then there is the punishment of memory. (Luke 16). In Revelation 14 chapter, we are told that those who worship the beast and the image, he shall drink of the wrath of God. I do not want to go to hell because of the company I will have to keep. I am not above anybody in this world. No man can go so low but what I could stoop down and help him out. But I am not going to make such my daily companions. Revelation 21-8 gives up a few of those who will be there: adulterers, unbelievers, whoremongers and all liars and others. "But you don't have to spend eternity in this lake of fire. There is one who is the light of the world. He can keep you out of it. The God of heaven, the Son of God can keep you out of that lake of fire." Everybody who will come Friday night and hear the opposite to this awful reality—"Heaven—and Why I Want to Go There." Services will be held in the open and will begin promptly at 8:00 o'clock.

WHERE DELICACY COUNTS You are always safe in using Mrs. Tucker's Shortening, and that replies to a query I received the other day in regard to plum pudding. Mrs. Tucker's Shortening is truly the proper cooking fat here, for the elusive flavor of plum pudding cannot be captured if coarse animal fats are used. You are safe with MRS. TUCKER'S, the purely vegetable shortening, for it is just rich enough and imparts no flavor of its own.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SERVICE AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

On next Sunday evening at 8 o'clock the service at the First Baptist church will be in charge of the young people of the congregation. Rev. O. L. Powers announces that this service will be one of the unusual kind and that they will be many special features connected with it. He says: "This will be the first of the series of services which will be conducted by our young people throughout the year. Special music will be rendered, both vocal and instrumental. If you want to get real inspiration, hear these young folks Sunday night in their program which will last only 20 minutes. Following I will deliver a 15-minute special on 'Thou Shalt Be a Blessing.' "With our well-ventilated church and twenty revolving electric fans, nobody need hesitate because of the summer weather. If you men are extremely warm-hearted, join ranks with the coolest brigade and come. "Choir Director Ray has returned from the Shriner's convention, San Francisco, and announces special music for all services of the church."

Mrs. Emma Nevans of Lometa, Texas, is visiting in the homes of her daughter, Mrs. J. W. McCulley, and grand-daughter, Mrs. A. L. Proctor.

JUDGE WILSON IS DISQUALIFIED TO SIT IN TEN CASES

Judge H. R. Wilson of the 26th district court, former district attorney of the same jurisdiction, is disqualified to sit on the bench in ten criminal cases. The judge made a check up on his docket Thursday night and found that he was not qualified to try that number. The list of ten was submitted to Governor Pat Neff for disposition. Inasmuch as Judge Wilson was disqualified to sit in the cases he was not qualified to have the cases transferred. It is believed that the governor will instruct either Judge Martin or Judge A. Napier of exchange benches with Judge Wilson when these cases are tried.

CASINGS ARE STOLEN FROM FORD IN FRONT OF HOUSE

While the Ford car of R. Hyden, 2155 Avenue F, was parked in front of his home Thursday night, someone removed two nearly new Good-year casings from the wheels on the side opposite from the house, while the family was at home.

CRITICISM OF ALIEN PROPERTY CUSTODIAN BY REPRESENTATIVE

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Introduced by Representative Woodruff, republican, Michigan, with the declaration that charges of mal-administration, discrimination and payment of excessive attorneys' fees by the office of the alien property custodian have been so frequent they "cannot be ignored without grave injury to good name of our country," a resolution was pending in the house today proposing a congressional investigation. Charging on the floor yesterday that the aggregate value of the properties held by the custodian as shown by his latest report "was nearly a quarter of a billion dollars less than we might reasonably expect to find there," Mr. Woodruff asserted that only an impartial investigation would disclose the cause of this "shrinkage."

Mr. Woodruff's speech was followed by a prompt denial by Thomas Miller, the alien property custodian, of charges that disproportionate fees had been paid to attorneys, that trusts had been disposed of at unreasonable prices and that there had been discrimination in the release of enemy property while that to which title is held by American citizens remain sequestered. If any mistakes had been made under his incumbency, he said, he stood ready to rectify such as were brought to his attention.

Had Your Iron Today?

That Delicious Bread —of Energy and Iron

SERVE raisin bread twice weekly on your table for three reasons:

1. Flavor; 2. Energy; 3. Iron

You remember how good a generously filled, full-fruited raisin bread can be. Your grocer can supply a loaf like this. Insist—if he hasn't one he can get it for you. Full-fruited bread is full of luscious seeded Sun-Maid raisins—rich in energizing nutriment in practically digested form. Raisins also furnish fatigue-resisting iron for the blood. Serve plain raisin bread at dinner or as a tasty fruited breakfast toast with coffee. Make delicious bread pudding with left-over slices. No need to waste a crumb of raisin bread. Begin this week the habit of raisin bread twice weekly in your home, for raisin bread is both good and good for you.

SUN-MAID Seeded RAISINS

Make delicious bread, pies, puddings, cakes, etc. Ask your grocer for them. Send for free book of tested recipes.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Fret not thyself because of evil-doers, neither be thou envious against the workers of iniquity. For they shall soon be cut down, and wither as the green herb.—Psalm 37:1-2.

Wicked thoughts and worthless efforts gradually set their mark upon the face, especially the eyes.—Schopenhauer.

ON RELIGIOUS LIBERTY.

There are some folks who seriously propose to make every immigrant to America embrace the Christian religion as a condition of entrance.

There are some folks in Texas, who in order to strike at certain religious organizations, would have a law enacted to make attendance, not upon some school, but upon the public school, compulsory.

There are some folks who would prescribe those of a faith different from their own.

The spirit of intolerance and religious hatred is being fomented by a widespread propaganda.

It seems the time to turn back and review the lessons of history; it seems time to go back to the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States.

Men of faith founded this nation. Men of faith wrote the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. There were Christians—Protestant and Catholic—and Jews and men affiliated with no religious organizations among them.

The Constitution of the United States says: "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

The Constitution of the State of Texas says: "No religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust in this state; nor shall any one be excluded from holding office on account of his religious sentiments, provided he acknowledge the existence of a Supreme Being, and 'all men have a natural and inalienable right to worship God according to the dictates of their own conscience. No man shall be compelled to attend, erect or support any place of worship, or to maintain any ministry against his consent. No human authority ought, in any case, whatever, to control or interfere with the rights of conscience in matters of religion, and no preference shall ever be given by law to any society or mode of worship."

There are many who will observe the letter of these, but who would violate its spirit. If the letter is good is not the spirit of them also?

The editor of the Waco Times-Herald, who is deeply and patriotically learned in American history and in the Constitution, in discussing this subject of religious freedom, says:

"Thomas Jefferson wrote the American Declaration of Independence, assisted, as we believe, by Thomas Paine. Much has been said about the religious beliefs of these two men; it is enough to say that each had a profound and reverent belief in a Supreme Being, a Being who could bless and prosper the people.

"In the Declaration of Independence the assertion is made that all men are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, among which are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

"In all of Mr. Jefferson's writings we find that liberty in religion and liberty of person are specifically insisted upon.

"Thomas Jefferson was twice elected President of the United States, and in his first inaugural address 'freedom of religion' is mentioned as an 'essential principle'; in a letter to Elbridge Gerry is made the declaration, 'I am for freedom of religion, and against all maneuvers to bring about a legal ascendancy of one sect over another'; and all men that visit the patriot's tomb are reminded that he was the 'author of the Statute of Virginia for Religious Freedom.'

"Mr. Jefferson insisted upon liberty of person no less strongly. He demanded 'freedom of person under the protection of the habeas corpus,' specifying that government 'shall leave men free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement,' and in order that the several rights of life, of person, of property, of privilege, should not be unjustly abridged, he was careful to insist upon another specific right, to-wit: 'The right of trial by juries impartially selected.'

"The Waco Times-Herald through all the years of its existence has tried to plumb that line—the line that stresses the importance of the individual, the unit of society, in the scheme of things.

"The Waco Times-Herald can not conceive of permanence in a democracy that violates the Jeffersonian principles; there must be liberty in religion and liberty of person; neither sect nor society can properly invade this realm.

"Bear in mind, these are not new precepts with the Waco Times-Herald; in calm and in storm the paper has insisted on fidelity to the principle that all men are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, to secure which governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed.

there be, we fear, who want liberty in religion, but not liberty of person, while other some want liberty of person, but not liberty in religion, and this is to confuse one's thinking and to contradict one's practices.

"In the midst of every tumult, the Waco Times-Herald has kept its eye steadily fixed on the pole star, the Declaration of Independence.

"These principles," said Mr. Jefferson, "form the bright constellation which has gone before us, and guided our steps through an age of revolution and reformation, and should we wander from them in moments of error or alarm, let us hasten to retrace our steps and to regain the road which alone leads to peace, liberty, and safety."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

YOUR HIDDEN FRIENDS.
Your greatest possibilities for added happiness in this world lie in your opportunities for new friends.

Every time you walk down the street—in every person you pass—are these hidden friends present.

And you never know at what hour, under what circumstance, some hidden friend may be revealed to you.

Much is said about the old friend. But it must be remembered that every old friend was once a very new friend.

I like to feel that each one of us is all the time sending out silent messages through those personalities of ours, and that they are finding lodgment in many a stray heart, that we may never have communicated with before.

Wait Whitman in his daily journal tells of seeing Abraham Lincoln out for his walk in Washington, and of how the President often bowed and smiled to him as he passed. And though no words were spoken, Whitman seemed to catch many a divine message of cheer and inspiration from the face and eyes of that burdened man.

The very person whom you may have sneered at or criticized for some imagined reason as you passed him, may have been nurturing a garden of beauty in his soul for your own great growth—if you but knew.

We should keep the shades of our hearts well up so that every ray of love and sunshine can creep in, to keep us warm.

In this manner may we become the hidden friend for someone else.

Could a greater privilege come to you?
(Copyright, 1932, by George Matthew Adams.)

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE CARPET ON THE STAIRS.
Let others sing in modern ways, it's joy enough for me

To sing in good old-fashioned rhyme the days that used to be.

The page of boyhood's scribbled full with things we used to do,

The fun we had, the games we played, the little tasks we knew,

And back to mind there comes today the hardest of our cares,

That springtime job of putting down the carpet on the stairs.

Housecleaning time meant weary legs and hands and aching backs,

For no more tedious job there is than driving carpet tacks.

Then mother told us what to do, and on our hands and knees

We stretched and hauled and pulled and tugged and did our best to please;

But, oh! I well remember now one task which patience wears.

That awkward, muscle straining job of carpeting the stairs.

We'd start upon the topmost step and let the carpet roll,

But then began a feat of strength to try the bravest soul.

The corners must be folded so and stretched and firmly tacked,

YOU AND I

By ALBERT APPLIS

GLANDS
A "secret operation" is performed on Harold F. McCormick by Dr. Leepinasse, the dean of gland transplanters.

The operation excites public curiosity, for gland transplanting is an effort to prolong youth. That is, the gland is taken from the Lurking in the back of our brains is the hope that gland transplanting will prove successful so we can try it ourselves.

Following the work of men like Leepinasse, we marvel at the wonders of modern surgery.

But do not expect too much. Dr. James H. Breasted, of University of Chicago, discovers in old manuscripts the tetraethylammonium salts to stave off old age, was attempted 3,000 or more years ago by skilled Egyptian doctors. A lot of time has passed, but practically nothing has been accomplished.

DIMPNEY
Jack Dempsey dismisses his trainer, Teddy Hayes. This creates more talk among Americans than the fall of an European cabinet.

The incident is believed to hold political dynamic, in the sporting world. More rumors start, of a split between Dempsey and Kearns, his manager.

Our problems are mostly intellectual, but attention usually centers on the emotional, chiefly forms of play. If we succeeded among the monkeys, we haven't ascended far.

HOOKWORM
Can hookworm, the "laziness disease," be cured by carbon tetrachloride? It seems so, according to evidence from the Philippines and islands, where thousands of hookworm cases have been treated with success in nearly all cases.

Part of the honor goes to a man named Dr. Maurice C. Hall, of the department of agriculture.

Part of the honor goes to a condemned criminal in the Homburg prison at Kandy, Ceylon, who was the volunteer as a subject for experiments.

His execution showed that the hookworm cure in his case was complete.

Carbon tetrachloride is very cheap. If it proves to be a real cure, Hall's discovery will be of infinite value. Millions of people have hookworms. Others get like it.

CRAMPED
London finds its smallest house, opposite Kensington Gardens. Its street frontage is only six feet.

The owner uses the ground floor for a shop, the cellar for cooking and eating and the second floor for a bedroom and living room.

Is this the sort of domicile that civilized competition is heading the merit? Steadily mounting land values imprison us in smaller and smaller metropolitan cells. Yet it is only a few generations since nearly every one could afford a large yard.

Before the cells get motheringly small, the airplane may break up the cities.

WIVES
The price of wives has increased so much in Zululand, that wives are being bought on the installment plan.

This interesting economic report is brought to America by Olaf Linck, Danish explorer.

He says that a Zulu of high social standing in Zululand at least eight wives. The price of a wife is two oxen down and an ox a year—like buying books on the installment plan.

The Zulu system will shock the moral standards of many. Zululand, however, inflicts the death penalty for flirting with a married woman. On the average, maybe Zulu morals stack up close to the white man's.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY.
Today's word is filibuster. It's pronounced—fil-ib-ster, with accent on the first, and again, more strongly, on the second syllable.

Originally it was applied to the buccanniers who, in early days, infested the Spanish American coast. Later it was used to describe participants in hostile expeditions into countries with which their own country was at peace. It still has this meaning. In general, it signifies an irregular, irresponsible military adventurer, a member of a predatory band.

From this last meaning it has been twisted to apply to members of a legislative body, to keep in a minority, undertake to prevent or obstruct majority action, by dilatory tactics.

It comes from—Dutch, "vrij," free, and "rij," route, combined in the words "vrijrijter," to plunder, and "vrijrijter," freebooter.

It's used like this—"To checkmate the filibuster who are threatening to delay action on the tariff, soldiers' bonus and ship subsidy measures, the administration forces are discussing adoption of gag-rule in the United States senate."

And who, sir, is the man you charge with this?
"Maquis de La Tour d'Asy."
"Who?" he shouted, without waiting for an answer. "Why, here's impudence," he stormed on, "to come before me with such a charge against a gentleman of M. de La Tour d'Asy's eminence! How dare you speak of him as a coward!"

"I speak of him as a murderer," the young man corrected. "And I demand justice against him."

"You demand it, do you? My God, what next?"

"I have informed you, monsieur, that a duel—so-called—has been fought, and a man killed. It seems that I must remind you, the administrator of the King's justice, that duels are against the law, and that it is your duty to hold an inquiry."

The door behind Andre-Louis opened softly. M. de Leadiquiere, pale with anger, contained himself with difficulty.

CHAPTER VI
It was on a horse hired from the Breton Arms that Andre-Louis set out next morning, and an hour's ride brought him to the city of Rennes.

He rode into the upper and principal part of the chaotic city of some thirty thousand souls, and came at last to the Place Royale, where he found the crowd to be most dense.

From the midst of the equating status of Louis XV a white-faced young man was excitedly addressing the multitude. His youth and dream-broclaimed the student, and a group of his fellows acting as a guard of honor to him kept the immediate precincts of the statue.

Over the heads of the crowd Andre-Louis caught a few of the phrases flung forth by that eager voice.

"It was the promise of the King . . . It is the King's authority they flout . . . They arrogate to themselves the whole sovereignty in Brittany . . . These insolent nobles defying their sovereign and the people!"

Had he not known already of the events which had brought the Third Estate to the point of active revolt, Andre-Louis would fully have informed him. This popular display of temper was most opportune to his present thoughts. He put up his hand to the forehead of the man who had set out to the Palais de Justice.

"That the King's lieutenant—condemned to see him at all was probably due to the grave complexion of the hour. At last he was ushered into a fine, well-lighted room furnished with enough gilt and satin to have supplied the boudoir of a lady of fashion.

He looked round to find himself confronted by Le Chapelier, a lawyer of Rennes, a prominent member of the Literary Club of that city.

"Ah, it is you, Chapelier! Why don't you tell them what to do? Up with you, man!" And he pointed to the plinth.

Le Chapelier's dark restless eyes searched the other's impassive voice for some trace of irony he suspected.

"Your notions and mine on that score can hardly coincide," said he. "Andre-Louis looked at him without surprise. How should Le Chapelier suspect his present intentions?"

"If you won't tell them what is to be done, I will," said he.

STRIKE IS VOTED HEARING OVER SHOP CONTRACTS IS OFF

EMPLOYEES WILL NOT PROSECUTE THIRTY CASES ON MONDAY.

CHARGE THAT ROADS IGNORE BOARD RULING

"The Time for Action Has Come," Says Secretary of Federation Department.

CHICAGO, June 23.—Thirty charges against scores of railroad officials for alleged illegal contracting of railway labor to avoid wage orders of the United States railroad labor board, may go without prosecution next Monday when the cases are called if the results of the shopmen's strike vote is determined before that date.

The shop workers are now voting on a triple barred strike proposition, including the question of forming out car and locomotive shops to contractors. By this practice the employees claim they are deprived of their seniority rights since they cease to be in the employ of the railroad, lose the benefit of the rates of pay and working conditions established by road agreements and by the labor board.

If the vote shows a majority in favor of striking over this question the employees will have no further interest in the case and will not appear before the board, according to John F. Scott, secretary of the employees department of the American Federation of Labor.

One contract decision has already been rendered by the board—that of the Indiana Harbor Belt—in which contracting was held to be in violation of the transportation act and the board's orders. Despite this order which the board said would apply in principle to all other contracting roads, work has continued to be farmed out, according to the employees charge.

"The board has had its chance and the roads have gone ahead violating the contract law privileges," Mr. Scott. "The time for action has come."

BANKER URGES THE CANCELLATION OF THE FOREIGN DEBTS

By Associated Press. ST. LOUIS, June 23.—The United States should take the part in readjusting world affairs and to do this it is not necessary to cancel the $11,000,000,000 foreign debt, declared Thomas B. McAdams, Richmond, Va., president of the American Bankers association, in an address before the Illinois Bankers' association today in convention here.

"George Washington's statement against entangling alliances was unquestionably right at the time the policy was promulgated," Mr. McAdams said, "but this policy now undoubtedly is completely out of date." He asserted that during the past century the United States definitely has been brought into close contact with the world, established a mutual interest in the world's commercial welfare, which was so essential to progress and so tied together as to make our success and failures largely dependent on world conditions—world ideals.

"Our future commercially challenges us not to throw away our opportunity for suggestive leadership; our progress at home and abroad calls up to see that the principle of consideration of the rights of others be incorporated as an international policy."

MINISTER TCHITCHERIN OF SOVIET RUSSIA ILL

LONDON, June 23.—A Central News dispatch from Berlin reports that Foreign Minister Tchitcherine of Soviet Russia has been taken ill. His condition, the message says, is regarded as rather serious.

ON THE VERGE OF SICKNESS

Symptoms Indicated Need of Black Draught, Which South Carolina Lady Took "and Felt Much Better."

Townville, S. C.—Describing the benefits she has obtained from the use of Theodore's Black-Draught, Mrs. T. R. Royaker, who resides on Route 2, recently said:

"Last year I began to feel weak and worn out like I was going to get down in bed. I was constipated. My stomach was out of order.

"I had indigestion and was bilious. Would get dizzy.

"I didn't feel like doing my work. I ate very little, yet that didn't seem to set well.

"I began to look around for a remedy. My husband had taken Theodore's Black-Draught, and found it so satisfactory, I decided to take it, too.

"I took big doses at first, then smaller. It regulated my bowels and cleaned off my liver, and I felt much better.

Constipation is known to lead to such sickness among those who do not understand its dangers, and who neglect to treat it promptly. It is often a sign that your liver is out of order and needs help. When bothered with constipation, indigestion, biliousness, due to derangement of the liver, take Theodore's Black-Draught.

Black-Draught has proved a valuable remedy for liver troubles for over seventy years, and is used by thousands of people with satisfactory results.

REPORT MINE WAR IS UNDER CONTROL

at the bottom of a pond. No one seemed inclined to drag the pond. No searching parties have been organized to seek bodies in the woods.

Many Uphold Slaughter. All reports, whether from miners or from strikebreakers or mine operators, agree that the killings were a massacre—that the victims were shot down in cold blood after they had put up the flag and surrendered themselves and their arms to the attacking forces. Many persons in the county uphold the slaughter as a rightful act of judgment. Citizens gathering on the street corners last night and today laughed and joked over the affair and proudly boasted that "some of these days people will realize that it doesn't pay to try to break a strike in Williamson county."

In the morgues women and children as they passed through commented on the accuracy of the shooters who brought down the victims. Men who openly boast that they were in the attacking force related with apparent pride the stories of what in warlike would be called brutality. The story of the attack on C. K. McDowell, strike breaker's superintendent, was related by a man who was related by a man who was beaten to death with stones before being riddled with bullets, according to persons who say they were eye witnesses.

He refused to march with the other prisoners who were tied together and told to put down the rifles. He was shot in the back by a man who poured buckshot, rifle and pistol bullets into them as they fled, saying that he'd just as soon die where he was. He died where he was, he was said to have made this statement.

The mine was looted and one man, with some $1,500 in bills, stood with a semi-circle of men around him and dealt out the bills like cards, according to wounded men who were there.

See Wounded Kicked About. The correspondent saw men wounded almost to death, kicked around in the scorching sun in the road, between lines of attackers who shouted persons who opened fire, once catching him accidentally between two fires. Surrounded by armed men he saw a knife plunged into the throat of a wounded man who in his dying breath gave this plea: "In the name of my mother, in the name of your mother, in the name of our God, give me water."

only to receive laughs and jibes such as "Where you're going you won't see water" as a reply. Mothers carried babies into the morgues and up to piles of bodies in the roads with such remarks as "Take a look at what your papa did, kid."

The correspondent watched a man walk to the bedside of a dying man and curse him and jerk him as he breathed his last. Through it all, although the fight area was traversed a dozen times, there was not a word heard of sympathy for a victim. The sentiment seemed to be that strikebreakers deserved slaughter and that they had received it.

Yew of the dead could be positively identified. Most of them had been riddled in all effects. After lying piled in the morgues yesterday they were embalmed last night. Scores watched the process all through the night, making unprintable comments about bodies.

That today would bring official action of some kind was undoubted. That this action would bring little in the way of results was the prediction of most everyone in touch with the situation.

Sarcastic Comment. The order of Governor Small last night to hold 1,000 men of the militia in readiness in Chicago was greeted on the streets here with sarcastic comment. A member of the police force told the correspondent that if the troops were sent here he'd "take the night police force and clean them out." Inquiry developed that he was the night police force himself.

The request of the governor for an official report brought more sarcasm, the gist of which seemed to be that there was nothing to report officially.

Everyone talked of the fight and many freely related their own experiences, yet none even knew of it officially. The killer simply "dropped dead," it was explained, when official statements were asked. No one was murdered, it was said—officially. It was remarked that there had been 37 killings here since January 1.

Early this morning several newspaper men were privately informed that plans were afoot to burn a number of mines which in previous years had troubled. The correspondents were told to go to a certain mine at 1 o'clock this morning and they would see what was termed a "party." Many automobiles carrying men passed in the street, and a crowd of men gathered there was no fire and no trouble.

All that remains of the Lester mine is a heap of ashes, for it was set on fire shortly after the attackers captured it. Mr. Lester, the owner, was reported to have come here from Chicago, but no one had been able to find him this morning. Early this morning Sheriff Thaxton told newspaper men that the situation was well in hand and that there was no danger. That was the only official statement in the early hours of the day.

TWO MEN ARE KILLED WHEN MOB ATTACKS CAR

CLARKSBURG, W. VA., June 23.—Two men were killed, a deputy sheriff suffered a broken arm and a dozen other persons suffered minor injuries when a mob attacked an interurban traction car carrying non-union miners and officers of the Hudson Coal company, guarded by deputy sheriffs from this city to the Lewis mine near Reynoldsville this morning. The mob stopped the car, pulled off the trolley and swarmed aboard. Two of the attacking party were shot as they crawled through windows. The mine was opened on an open shop basis Monday.

SPIRITED OUT OF TOWN AND TOLD TO "BEAT IT" WEST FRANKFORT, ILL., June 23.—One of the strikebreakers who escaped the massacre at Herrin, was located here early today when he entered a pool room without hat or coat. A crowd gathered but the local police took charge of him, spirited him out of town for a few miles and told him to "beat it."

Quite a crowd had gathered but the prompt action of the officers prevented a tense situation from becoming dangerous.

The police said the man stated his name was Thompson and that he was from Peoria.

UNABLE TO ACCOUNT FOR OUTBREAK AT THE MINE

CHICAGO, June 23.—W. J. Lester, president of the Southern Illinois Coal company, owners of the Herrin mine where the massacre of non-union workers took place yesterday, declared here today he could not account for the outbreak at the mine and that his chief concern now was "to care for the families of the victims."

MINISTER INFLUENCES ARE BLAMED FOR DISTURBANCES

CINCINNATI, June 23.—John L. Lewis, in a statement here today declared "the United Mine Workers of America is not in any degree responsible for the unfortunate occurrence at Herrin, Ill." He said the organization of which he is president never encouraged or condoned lawlessness.

"Minister influences," Mr. Lewis declared, had been at work among the miners to incite and inflame the spirit of violence. Coal companies, he asserted, had employed "thousands of detectives" to work among striking miners.

FOUR MEXICANS FORCED TO LEAVE TOWN BY MOB

WEST FRANKFORT, ILL., June 23.—Four Mexicans believed to have been members of the band of strikebreakers operating the strip mines of the Southern Coal company's near Herrin, who were found loitering near the railroad station here this morning, were forced to leave town by a mob of several hundred men. One of the quartet apparently committed suicide.

After the presence of the four men became known a mob quickly formed and started the four out of town. Near the Chicago and Eastern river bridge, about 50 feet high, and leaped to the ground. His neck was broken and several other bones in his body were also shattered. The name of the men could not be learned.

HIGHEST WATER ON RECORD AT MISSION; CREST IS EXPECTED

BROWNSVILLE, TEXAS, June 23.—With the flood menace apparently removed from the Rio Grande City territory, where the Rio Grande was reported rapidly receding this morning, interest turned to Mission and the district from there which today was experiencing the highest water on record. Mission reported at 8:30 this morning that the river was 28.1 feet above normal and about six inches higher than the record set Sunday in the primary stage. The crest is expected to pass there today.

No further damage was expected at McAllen, San Juan and Donna, reports said. Dikes and levees at Mercedes and vicinity were reported holding well.

However, water which was turned north from the Mercedes-LaParia-Harlingen irrigation districts this morning, was reported to be within three miles of Raymondville, Wilbrey county, 55 miles north of Brownsville.

The situation at Brownsville remains normal with the river still north from the Matamoros, Mexico, probably was saved from partial inundation by dynamiting by military authorities of 300 feet of railroad track which was banking up waters on the levee which surrounds the town.

FORMER CHINESE MINISTER TO U. S. DIES AT CANTON

By Associated Press. SHANGHAI, June 23.—Wu Tingfang, former minister to Washington, more recently foreign minister for Sun Yat Sen in the disrupted southern republican government at Canton, died at Canton this morning, according to a Hester dispatch.

Wu, an outstanding leader in the politics and jurisprudence of China for many years, remained, at least reports, loyal to Sun Yat Sen, and was believed to have fled to Canton with the deposed south China president. The Hester dispatch gave no details.

DR. SUN YAT SEN ON ONE OF HIS WARSHIPS

AMOY, CHINA, June 23.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen, deposed president of the south China republic, is aboard one of his own warships at Canton. Negotiations are proceeding for his departure. His wife, reported a prisoner, has escaped into Hongkong. This information was telegraphed here from Canton.

Bombardment of Canton has ceased with the refusal of gunners of Sun Yat Sen's navy to continue. All shops are closed. American gunboats were requested but will not be sent. Officers of General Chen Chung Ming, conqueror of Canton, maintains Sun Yat Sen was responsible for the renewed fighting but Sun claims the bombardment resulted from his forced leave and the treachery of subordinates.

Chen Chung Ming's troops are advancing north along the railway and river to intercept Sun Yat Sen's troops.

Pipe Smoking by Young Women Is New London Fad

LONDON, June 23.—London's smart young women have introduced pipe smoking at restaurants and cafes. The pipes, usually small and of rich briar or meerschaum with slender stems and gold rings, Virginia tobacco flavored with tartar of roses or some Oriental perfume is favored.

The girls say they prefer pipe smoking to cigarettes because it is cooler and cleaner and doesn't stain the fingers as cigarettes do.

WATERS BREAK INTO STREETS OF MIDALGO

MERCEDER, TEXAS, June 23.—The waters of the Rio Grande broke into the streets of Hidalgo at 9 o'clock this morning, according to reports from there, but a depth of not more than two or three feet is expected and no great damage will be done.

The water is reported about a foot higher at McAllen than it has been before in the present overflow and is rising at the rate of two inches an hour there. The crest is believed to be between Mission and San Fordyce.

In Turkey the most popular colors of paints are blue, green, light green, gray and red.

A sample seen near a dwelling in Scotland is believed to portend death to one of its inmates.

COTTON MARKET.

NEW YORK, June 23.—There was some buying in the cotton market on higher Liverpool cables than expected and the opening was unchanged to five points higher, with October selling at 22.45 and December at 21.25. This was considered a poor response to the showing of the English market and there was scattered selling on reports of generally favorable weather in the south as a result of which prices were rather irregular after the call. The weekly selling movement was to the west off to 25 points below the end of the first hour, or about 30 points below the end of the second hour, and the 31 lower, and 41 points below the 31 record of last Tuesday. There was some trade buying at this decline of 15 or 16 points, and the high tone of the market was the result of the early after-noon rally in the market, renewed ball in the market showed renewed confidence in the early after-noon. The market was scattered in the afternoon, with the market score by crop by crop. There was also southern stranding on contracts off to 11.25, these were 16 points net lower.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 23.—Reports of improved crop prospects were considered responsible for heavy general liquidation in the cotton market today. The opening was steady but selling became extremely active as favorable weather and crop advances reached here from the south and prices broke to 21.57 for July and 21.50 for August, or about 70 points below yesterday's closing quotations and more than 80 below the high point of last Tuesday.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE

CHICAGO, June 23.—Heat indicating shrinkage in the crop, tending to lift prices today in the first part of the board of trade session. Butcher, Liverpool prices showed a greater turn than expected. Argentine shipments told of increased export business. Opening prices which ranged from 40 to 110, followed by 115 to 116, were followed by a slight setback.

Make Your Chocolate Malted Milk at Home

The favorite soda fountain delicacy, chocolate malted milk, is both delicious and nourishing. But also it's expensive—if you buy it "ready-made" at the corner drug store. However, you can make it yourself at home very inexpensively. Try this recipe:

Cool Drink

Some afternoon when you're called upon to serve a cool drink to unexpected visitors and have nothing prepared you can easily make a refreshing and unique beverage by combining ginger ale and grape juice.

For Ice Cream

While the unprepared hostess may hesitate to serve plain cream from the corner drug store she need have no compunctions about this same cream with a delicious home-made sauce poured over it.

1922 Egg-Nog

For this recipe you need:
 One egg.
 Two teaspoons sugar.
 One teaspoon lemon juice.
 One cup rich milk.
 Few grains nutmeg.
