BEAUTIFUL LUNCHEON FOR BRIDE-ELECT TODAY AT 1

Miss Louise Friese, whose marriage to W. Middleton Graves takes place Thursday evening, was accompanied with a lovely butterfly luncheon at the Wichita club Monday at 1 o'clock by Mesdames O. E. Maer and Alfred Miller.

The decorations, in keeping with the spirit of the luncheon, were of fern and beautifully poised butterflies, and a center basket graciously decorated and ornamented with both held a score of month fast recipes for the bride-to-be. An original and delightfully entertaining feature of the luncheon was the question hour, at which Mrs. Maer, while none of the questions were allowed to slip past the sacred portals of the luncheon party, it was agreed that the bride's informal answers from young matrons, brides and brides-to-be would have an interesting chronicle.

Entertainment was carried in four courses, the following members of the wedding party making up the guest list: Mesdames Newton Maer, James George of Dallas, Chester Morgan, W. E. Friese, Charles Francis, Louella Thompson, Maer and Miller; Misses Louise Friese, Sibyl Kell, Annette Walsh and Cecilia Adickes.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS SPRINKLE - BLOW TELLS TALE OF COMET - LEGS' MISDEED BY OLIVE ROBERTS-BARTON

"Well, hop on behind me," said Mr. Sprinkle-Blow.

The Twins were on their way up to the moon when they met the Weatherman, Mr. Sprinkle-Blow, riding to meet them on his magic umbrella.

"Hello!" called Mr. Sprinkle-Blow, "did you find the Moon-Man?"

"No," answered Nancy. "I was in the engine-house where Mr. Peabody keeps all the noddles for running the Moon when I heard someone laughing fit to kill myself. I looked out and there was Comet-Legs, the rascally fellow, who has caused all this mischief, shaking something out of a salt-shaker all over the Moon."

"Oh, that was the shaker with the magic powder," exclaimed Nick. "He stole it!"

Mr. Sprinkle-Blow nodded.

"And what do you suppose was happening?" Every tree and stone and flower turned square the minute the powder touched it. I never saw such a sight in my life!"

"No," answered Nancy. "I chased him. But wait till I tell you everything. When I caught him the shaker fell out of his hand and the ground, the top came off, and the powder spilled. The next thing I knew the Moon itself had turned square."

"Then the little woodchuck baby was right," Nick said to Nancy, "and it wasn't a dream after all. What happened then, Mr. Sprinkle-Blow?"

"I whistled for my four winds," said the Weatherman, "and they came hurrying as fast as they could from Buxton-Gum Land."

OUR FIRST YEAR—ALL OUR WOR IS TURNED TO JOY.

CHAPTER LXXXVIII.

"We won't have to scrape along an hour," Jack exclaimed. "Peculiar! I've got a job! Better—much better—than any I've had, dear."

"I forgot to mention it—you threw those letters and Ben's and Bartlett's money at me as soon as I came in—didn't give me a chance to tell."

"You see, I'm going to open a new branch. Bart and I shall run it. I'm going to go to work tomorrow to learn the tricks!"

"Of course, we spent the next hour talking over a wonderful opportunity—we looked ahead years and years—not until after dinner did we get back to the present."

"I like this chance more because you like it, Peggy. A man wants his wife to like what he's doing."

"You see, dear, I love you and you've thought all along I wasn't jealous of Bart. Dearest, I've been furious!"

"I loved you so, little girl! So I couldn't let you see. I was willing to compromise, darling!"

"I suppose when a man loves a girl in the best way he can get about himself," I murmured. "And I suppose when a girl forgets herself for a man they've found the greatest love there is!"

"Bart's tantrum at Rochester, and from a few days' visit with friends in Sherman."

Whom Shall Molly Marry?

Molly Accepts Wheeler's Business Offer; Billy Barton Plays Hand in Love Game.

By ZOE BECKLEY

CHAPTER X.

"Yes," went on Ben's steady voice. "It shall be just business, Molly. I won't bother you. I'll treat you like any other employe with a clear road to qualify as partner—yes, get interested and want to stick. What do you say, girl?"

"Once more Molly felt solid ground beneath her feet. Ben's offer of work was at least the support she was groping for."

"Yes," she cried eagerly.

"It turned out to be a life saver. The men and women under her at the Wheeler Cigars Works needed her constant supervision interested her hugely and helped her forget her own grief and perplexity."

From her temporary office—plans for the new administration building were being made by Billy Barton—she could hear her steady change of machines turning but knives, razors, shears for all parts of the world. How different it all was from the garish and flimsy contribution Don Manning was making. Add yet Ditt—

She forced herself not to think along those lines. She resolutely looked at Ben Wheeler, the driving young power not only of his own big plant but of the whole industry and of Midvale itself.

He kept to his promise of "strictly-ly business during business hours" and with him business filled nearly all his waking hours.

"One day when Barton, the architect, came to discuss the distribution of office space, Wheeler looked him in the eye.

"Trash it out you two," he said at the doorway. "I can't bother with house finishing and furnishing."

When he had gone, Molly met Billy Barton, smiling at each other's eyes. They had not met since the night of the Don affair, when Benning's look told Molly to the station, his car. But soon they were engaged in Billy's blueprints and all embarrasments forgotten.

Molly could have swung with despairous happiness as she bent her head with Billy's blond one over the big table plotting where her room should be, but whether she had any private life should have been left out of her hand at that appointment.

"For once there was no clash anywhere. Her mind and Billy's struck sparks and inspiration from each other. One would suggest a problem, the other would solve it, and it lasted it back again."

"It was delicious and stimulating. She was creating, working with strength to uphold, and Wheeler, helping Billy, learning a lot."

"By Jove!" exclaimed Barton, gazing at his watch. "Five o'clock! I swear I never worked so well or enjoyed it so much before."

"I gather, Billy, your face is pink with excitement."

"And your eyes shine like—like what? Those stones they wear in rings? I say, work's a regular jag when you work, Wheeler."

"An inspiration!"

"Well, let's call it the work plus you plus me."

"All right, let's!" And the two clasped hands beamingly.

"Let's what? It was Ben Wheeler who spoke, suddenly, from the doorway, his keen glance taking in everything at a sweep."

Fox to Present Entire New Bill At the Majestic

An entire new program will be presented for the first half of this week at the Majestic theatre by the Fox Stock company, commencing Tuesday night, at which time the good religious story will be presented entitled, "The Church and Its People."

"The Church and Its People" is written around the life of a young school teacher who is a stranger in a small city, but she is engaged by the school board to teach the children of the city to close their doors against her. The good minister and some more of the good people, both in and out of the church, give her the proper protection.

This is a very good story, teaches a good lesson, within plenty of good comedy. Miss Fox is seen in the part of the school teacher and Leon (Jim) Bostwick in the part of the young minister who is always ready to give a bit of sermon, fair chance to right, Margaret Espy and Toby McIntosh are seen in two laughable country kid parts and furnish almost a laugh a minute during the story.

You will see in this story the real true Christianity that is seen in the life of Jesus, Jesus, Christ.

HAD GIVEN UP HOPE FOR HER BABY
Ward's Baby Powder Relieved Bowel Trouble Over Night. Baby Soon Fat and Healthy.

Mrs. John Webb, 7115 Avenue E., Mesquite Park, Houston, Tex., writes as follows: "My baby was sick two weeks ago with stomach and bowel trouble. I gave her everything I could hear of and everything the doctor said her, but nothing would do her any good. I had almost given up all hope when one of my neighbors told me about Ward's Baby Powder. So I sent for the powder and gave the first dose about 11:00 that night, and the next morning her bowels were regulated. Now my baby eats like a little pig and is fat and healthy."

Ward's Baby Powder is harmless and babies and children love to take it. Given in liquid form mixed with sugar and water. Prescription of famous old doctor in use over 40 years. At drug stores, 50c and $1.00. Prepared by The Ward Chemical Co., Dallas, Texas. Adv.

Sleeping Sickness Fly of Africa

New Method of Fighting This Pest Inspired Manufacture of Sweet Dreams Mosquito Remedy.

A traveler in relating his various experiences in Africa, casually mentioned to his host that he had detected himself against the ravages of the Tsetse fly. As is generally known, the bite of this fly results in "sleeping sickness," a malady from which no unfortunate ever recovers.

It was reasoned that a remedy capable of keeping off these flies would also keep mosquitoes off. So in America this remedy was reproduced as nearly as possible. Having been found exceptionally satisfactory as a mosquito remedy, this mixture has since been offered in commerce under the trade name of Sweet Dreams. The efficiency of the preparation has caused its immediate acceptance everywhere. And the traveler doesn't yet know that his entertaining story resulted in the birth of an industry.

When mosquitoes are troublesome try Sweet Dreams. Sold everywhere 10c or 3 bottles for $1.00—adv.

TIMES DAILY MARKETS

COTTON MARKET.

New York Cotton. The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 4 to 8 points in response to a little southerly selling but the small offerings were absorbed by scattered buying and the market held fairly steady right after the opening with October around 21 1/2 and December 21 1/2 or about 3 points above last week's closing quotations. Business was very quiet and speculators evidently inclined to wait for the government report due early this afternoon. Prices calmed reported very quiet market in Liverpool with futures steady but trade southerly. Private reports of rain in the southwest had a sustaining influence on the early market but otherwise weather conditions were considered favorable. October contracts soared to 20.50, a new high record for the season, and 184 points above last week's close. Further rains in the south and numerous hail reports which gave added strength to the market. The department of agriculture's committee figures, 71.00 percent rainfall on June 25, was 2 points lower than the average guess of cotton exporters in the early part of the month. Rumors that ocean freight rates for shipment out of the New York region had risen 5 cents per ton from Genoa had been looked upon as probably the cause of the advance in the middle of the morning. After selling at 21.50 for October and 21.10 for December, the market became very quiet on realization of liquidation. There were few reports as to the effect of the rain in the southwest but the "precipitation at some points has exceeded 1 1/2 inches and has been entirely favorable. The government report was followed by an excited advance in the early afternoon market. October contracts quickly sold up to 20.00, making a new high record for the season and an advance of 162 points from the closing price of last year.

Cotton closed steady.

LIVESTOCK.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Early dealings on the stock exchange today were that of a bearish reaction, reflecting the small attendance of members. Bulls continued to ignore market dips, limited to fractional declines with few exceptions. Central as the main advance. Mexican Petroleum made an initial gain of 25 points, the greatest gain in a single day since the start of the market. The more acute situation in central Europe precipitated further selling between 20 and 22. Certain stocks were in scant supply when a demand resulting in an advance of 25 points in Consolidated Gas. In Kayser and I point in Phillips Petroleum. Producers and Refiners, preferred and United Retail Stores. Total sales approximated 23,000 shares. Sales were the smallest for a full session since June 20.

BUSINESS, THEME ADDRESS KIANWAS CLUB LUNCHEON

P. A. Rogers, vice president and general manager of the Ponzo Electric company, addressed the Kianwas club at its regular luncheon at the Kemp hotel Monday noon.

"Justice" was the general theme of Mr. Rogers' speech, and he pleaded for true business ethics, and spoke very highly of what the broad minded citizens of Wichita Falls have accomplished in making the city what it is today.

"Justice" means, as beginning to realize more and more that they are selling not only a commodity, but a service as well," Mr. Rogers stated. "It means that the electric business was one of the first to learn that not only were they selling electric current, but were supplying a service as well."

Mr. Rogers explained in detail how the electric company must be prepared - in the give service at all hours. "It is believed that the electric business was one of the first to learn that not only were they selling electric current, but were supplying a service as well."

Mr. Rogers stated "No business can prosper without the help and service of other businesses and above all, a business man must have the help of his fellow men," concluded the general manager of the local electric company.

The luncheon was presided over by the Ponzo electric company, which was enjoyed by the club very much.

SPECIAL CONTESTS AT GOLF CLUB ON FOURTH OF JULY

In addition to the numerous contests which have been announced for members of the Wichita Falls Golf club for the Fourth of July, there will be special driving, pitching and putting contests for the ladies with a prize for the winner of each event.

Swimming contests for children under 12 years of age have also been arranged. There will be separate events for boys and girls and prizes have been offered for each. These events will start at 6 o'clock.

This will extend production in the desert, and about a mile northwest of the Grisham well. It is about two miles south of the Harvey-Cullum.

HEYDRICK ET AL'S SECT. 28 WAGGONER EXTEND PRODUCTION

Heydrick et al. No. 1, section 28 Waggoner, south of Wichita, is reported to have good looking sandstone in the Grisham well. It is about two miles south of the Harvey-Cullum.

KU KLUX KLAN WILL PARADE AT MEMPHIS

MEMPHIS, TENN., July 2.—A Ku Klux Klan parade will be held in Memphis on the night of July 8. The fair grounds have been engaged for the assembly and looking at the parade. The Memphis Klan is No. 14. It is believed here that a delegation of Wichita Falls Klansmen will take part in the parade.
