JULY CLEARANCE SALE

Opens Thursday, July 20th Lasting 9 Days, to July 29th

The quality of the merchandise and the prices at which we are offering it in this clearance sale will impress you at once as phenomenal.

This has been made possible by reason of the fact that we made two late trips to the New York market, where we were able to buy Ready-to-Wear in many instances at half and less than half of the original wholesale price. We, in turn, marked these goods with a very narrow margin of profit. We are now getting ready to open up our Piece Goods Department, and wish to make early arrangements for our fall merchandising campaign. We are therefore willing to eliminate our profit and effect a quick clearance of our stocks.

MISSOULA, MONT., July 15.—Pleas that editors uphold the slogan "Law and Order" in their various communities were made before the opening session of the National Editorial Association's annual convention here today by J. C. Brimblecomb of Boston, Mass., president of the association.

PROTEST PLAN OF COUNCIL OF LEAGUE TO MEET IN SECRET

LONDON, July 15.—The announcement overnight that today's meeting of the council of the League of Nations set for 10:30 o'clock would be brought forth renewed expressions of disappointment, because it was understood that the subject for discussion would be the Palestine and Syrian mandates which the opponents of the League have been particularly susceptible to the evils of traditional diplomatic bargaining.

The chief opposition to these mandates has been voiced from Italy, which nation is accused in some quarters of seeking to obtain economic advantages while her objection to the French claim to the protectorate over Christians in the near east also is said to stand in the way of a smooth agreement.

BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS HAVE GREATEST INCREASE

PORTLAND, MAINE, July 15.—The greatest increase in the membership of building and loan associations ever recorded in a single year has been reported here today by H. P. Cellarius of Cincinnati, Ohio, secretary of the United States League of Local Building and Loan Associations at the annual meeting of the league here today.

"The housing shortage has not yet been relieved to any great extent, although building associations have been drawn upon to the limit for loans for the purpose. Unfortunately the unemployment resulting from industrial conditions this year caused a greater volume of withdrawals than ordinarily and this reduced the amount applicable for mortgage loans. During 1920, the building associations loaned $175,000,000 for home buying or home owning purposes, but last year only about $693,000,000 of their funds could be thus invested. The current year is showing a substantial improvement in this regard, but it is in part only taking care of the pronounced shortage in dwelling house construction now under way."

HOLD LETTER OF CREDIT UNBREAKABLE CONTRACT NEW ORLEANS, July 15.—A letter of credit is an unbreakable contract, according to a decision by the United States circuit court of appeals handed down here today in which the decision of the district court at El Paso, Texas, in the case of the American National bank of San Francisco against the Border National bank of Eagle Pass, Texas, is affirmed.

Under the decision handed down today the Texas bank is directed to pay $73,368.84 on demand to the San Francisco institution to satisfy claims growing out of a certain letter of credit issued by the Eagle Pass bank for one of its customers on the American National bank and which was later ordered canceled by the Texas bank.

The transaction in question involved a deal in sugar futures, a broker in Eagle Pass securing the letter of credit in connection with a trade with another broker in San Francisco. When the market turned the Texas attempted to cancel the credit, the California bank claimed that it had already honored the paper and in consequence of the attempted cancellations was forced to assume the sugar contract.

The amount awarded by the district court and now affirmed by the circuit court of appeals represents only what the California bank claims to have lost in the deal by reason of the break in the price of sugar.

The new reporting service, it was explained, is one provided by a recent act of congress. The details for the manner of gathering and disseminating information by the bureau are now being worked out.

The tentative plan of reports, month by month, as drawn at the close of the meetings, includes: January—Annual report of numbers of livestock on farms and ranches, by age and class, with average farm value for each class. (This is a continuation of the annual report heretofore made by the bureau but giving further details.) Estimate of number of cattle and sheep (including lambs) in feed lots. Revised estimate of wool production for preceding year. Estimate of livestock losses from all causes for preceding six months. Regular monthly reports as follows: Monthly movement reports, secured from railroads and stock yards. Pasture and feed condition reports.

Condition of livestock, expressed in percentage of normal. Available contract prices in territory where there are no central market reports. February—Estimate of prospective supply of cattle available for spring delivery in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona. Prospective movement of grass fat cattle from southern Texas. March—Estimates of the lamb crop of California, and nearly lamb crop of Arizona, Idaho and Colorado. Prospective movement of grass fat sheep from west Texas. April, May and June monthly reports same as January. Estimate of number of cattle, which have gone from the south-west states to Oklahoma, Kansas, and other northern pastures. Probable number of fat and feeder lambs available for shipment from Arizona and New Mexico during July and August. July—Estimate of number of grass fat cattle coming from Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Montana, Wyoming and Washington, western North and South Dakota to market. Estimate of spring calf crop of Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, etc., dropped to July 1. Reports of losses of cattle and sheep from all causes during preceding six months. Average weight per fleece and preliminary estimates of wool production. August—Supply of stockers and feeders (cattle and sheep) available for shipment in all sections. September—Calf crop of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona (baby beef). October, November and December—Regular monthly reports same as January.

The plan in general as developed by the conference includes a division of the range country into producing sections and the placing of a livestock expert in each division to assist in gathering information for the reports.

JUDGE GREENWOOD MAKES APPEAL FOR OUSLEY CANDIDACY

Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at the corner of Ninth and Indiana avenues, a well attended mass meeting was held for Clarence Ousley, candidate for United States senator.

The meeting was opened with music by a band. Judge J. T. Montgomery introduced the speakers. T. W. Davidson of Marshall, candidate for lieutenant governor, made the opening address. He spoke of the importance of the office of lieutenant governor, saying that it is important not only for the possibility of having to finish a term as governor, but also because of the influence of the lieutenant governor on various committees. He briefly outlined the issues of the campaign, saying that there was little a candidate for lieutenant governor could promise except fairness in the appointment of committees. He said that he stands for economy in government, respect for laws and their enforcement, for more specific revenue for the benefit of the schools, and for more road improvement and better maintenance. He is absolutely opposed to all paternalism, he said, and claims that by wiser taxation all paternalism can be abolished.

C. F. Greenwood, who was the next to speak, said that he became so enthused over Mr. Ousley that he wrote a promise to his wife in order to speak in Mr. Ousley's behalf. Mr. Greenwood told some interesting anecdotes about great politicians whom he has known, among them Roger Q. Mills and Sam Houston. He said that in the old days, more interest was shown in a man's qualifications for an office than in his factional partialities; that the great politicians of the old school discussed great problems before the people, rather than their own petty differences, or, as he called it, "peanut politics."

Mr. Greenwood said that when he was 18 years of age he read in a New York paper that the greatest delegation at Washington was from Texas, and added that this was no longer true. Mr. Greenwood said that for the last 15 years the question asked about a candidate was not so to his qualifications, but as to whether he was "pro" or "anti," "southern" or "not, favorable to organized labor or not, or whether he belongs to the Invisible Empire.

"We are now paying the penalty for this straying from the true purpose of voting in that instead of having great men in congress we now have no more than half a dozen. There is not a really great man in this branch of congress from Texas."

There was tenderness in Judge Greenwood's voice as he spoke of "these great old democrats who would have died in their seats rather than lose a jot of the states' rights." One interesting historical reference was to the time when the Lodge bill was before the senate after having passed the house. This bill would have placed federal officers around the ballot boxes to see that every negro voted. The democrats kept the senate in session every minute for 16 days and nights, and finally persuaded the senator from Nevada to speak on free silver until the senate adjourned by limitation, thus preventing the passage of the Lodge bill, Judge Greenwood said.

Mr. Greenwood said that due to the loss of interest in the right kind of politics, the states have lost every right they ever had, and that even groceries and drugs are under federal control; that not a mile of railroad may be built or destroyed or a rate changed without permission from a federal board. He said that the old statesmen foresaw this; that now this once sovereign republic of Texas is not more than a dissent province of the central government at Washington. Mr. Greenwood then called attention to the petty quarrels between the other candidates, and brought them to ridicule. He drew a good laugh with his picture of the Ku Klux candidates who had to get the permission of the "high mogul" at Atlanta to announce his candidacy as a K. K. K. Mr. Greenwood then sought to demonstrate the impossibility of any connection between the church and the state.

The speaker called attention to the fact that Mr. Ousley is the only man in the race whose name has not been once attacked. "Mr. Ousley was once a newspaper man on two of the great dailies of Texas. He was largely responsible for the construction of the seawall at Galveston. He was on the faculty at A. & M. and on the board of regents of the state university. During the war he was one of five men selected by Woodrow Wilson to go abroad and study financial conditions, and upon his advice largely was the federal reserve inaugurated. Mr. Ousley holds the old time democratic view on the tariff, wishing to put one duty on raw material for every duty on manufactured goods," said the speaker. Mr. Greenwood pointed to Jefferson, the author of the declaration of independence and the founder of the democratic party, as an example of the non-factionalist, the true democrat. He closed his address with an appeal for a return to Jeffersonian democracy, and a fight to win back states' rights to the American people.

Those on the platform were Judge J. T. Montgomery, T. W. Davidson, Judge Greenwood, C. I. Francis and Leslie Humphries.

Holds It Necessary To Show Chemical Analysis of Booze

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 10.—Judge J. M. Peeler, in rendering verdicts of acquittal in five liquor cases in criminal court here, ruled that it must be shown by chemical analysis that whiskey involved in the case contains more than one-half of one per cent alcohol as specified by the Volstead law. Judge Peeler said his ruling was in line with one recently made by the supreme court of this state. A crowded docket of liquor cases will probably be thrown out, according to County Solicitor L. E. Howell, who said he did not have the required analysis in any of the cases.

The New & Better "USCO" $10.90

USCO set the high value mark for 30 x 3 1/2 tires when it originated the $10.90 price last Fall.

USCO today betters that mark with a new and greater USCO—an USCO improved in many important ways.

For instance, a thicker tread—with a surer hold on the road—thicker side walls, adding strength and life to the tire.

And the price is $10.90—with the tax absorbed by the manufacturer.

Men have always looked to USCO for the biggest tire money's worth on the market.

They always get a bigger tire money's worth than they expect.

Giants Bombard Spudder Hurlers and Walk Away With First of the Series

DALLAS, TEXAS, July 18.—The Giants hammered three Spudder hurlers to all corners of the lot for three innings here yesterday and easily won the opening game of the series 16 to 4. Perdue, Ruth and Harris, a rookie, were unable to do a thing with the opposition and Manager Sam was forced finally to call First Baseman Beck in to stem the tide. Beck, who was a flinger of no mean ability in his younger days, was the most effective of the lot and were it not for loose fielding by his mates would have emerged without a run being scored off him.

"Lefty" Swarts received the first Dallas assignment, but like the first three Spudder hurlers was hit freely and was forced to give up after the sixth. Snipe Conley took up the burden and halted the imminent Spudder rally.

A brace of Pelepe figured prominently in the Spudder scoring. Summa crashed one in the third with two aboard and scored a moment later himself while Becher duplicated his feat in the sixth.

For three innings the Giants simply bombarded the Spudder flingers. Galloway got Pelepe out of the picture with a home run. Hub finished the inning, but gave way to Ruth when the Spudders filled the bases with only one out in the second. Ruth lashed less than an inning and though Harris wiggled through until part of the third, the Samites would have been better off if he was yanked after pitching to a couple of men. Beck went in during the third with plenty of men on the bags and after this round pitched fair ball.

Leonard's Right Will Be Useless Against Southpaw Tendler

(Left) Tendler illustrating how he lands his famous left punch to stomach; (center) how he looks facing an opponent; (right) a closeup of the challenger.

By BOB DORMAN.
DELANCO, N. J., July 18.—Leonard is hard at work here developing his left smacker, which he says will win him the lightweight title.
He is leaving nothing undone that will tend to put him in shape to remove Leonard's brow when they meet the night of July 27 in the arena at Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City.
Tendler is confident he will be returned the victor.
He says: "I hope to wear Leonard down with crashing lefts to the body and then drop him with the same punch. It's worked on lots of other fighters and I believe it will work on Benny."
"His right, which I do with my right hand and right foot forward I will have two hands to his one."
"His left mitt will be useless to him for offense. He can use it only on the back of my neck or shoulder or, if he wants to, he can slam me on the top of my head."
"His right, which is his dangerous hand, is the only one I will have to watch."
"Another advantage that my style of fighting gives me is the fact that when a man goes up against it it is awkward for him to solve. Every blow or defense is reversed."
"I'll admit Leonard is one of the greatest lightweight fighters that ever lived, but I have high hopes of winning from him."
Tendler's left-handed style of fighting has proved a difficult problem for all of the lightweight contenders.
Left jabs and swings landed on Tendler's neck or back (the only spots left open to a right-handed boxer) were futile, while Law has always been an elusive problem to reach with the right.
And Tendler's own patented left uppercut to the stomach landed with terrific force, has usually spelled finish to his opponent.

SPORTS STORIES

Suspected Something.
President Harvey wasn't exactly dealt a death blow when he learned that Alex Freeman had quit the organized ranks, but he was staggered somewhat. He, as well as numerous fans suspected, that Freeman was something amiss all the time, but didn't believe that Freeman intended to jump. It is known that Freeman demanded a salary that was all out of proportion to Class A ball, and neither the local press nor President Vecek could tell him that. The players who have jumped organized ball and have not regretted it sooner or later are few and far between. This is a tempting offer made by clubs out of the organized ranks not last.

How About "Holly"?
Nothing has been heard about Hollingsworth since J. O. received the wire last week from Dreyfus, stating that he should be in here last Sunday or Monday. For all that is known in local circles, "Holly" may have jumped, but that is hardly probable. Hollingsworth has more sense than to pull a stunt of that kind. But there's something wrong some place. Pittsburgh didn't need Jake Miller as much as the Spudders needed "Holly." It was stated in the local baseball office once upon a time that the Spudders were through with the Pirates and that they depended on them last year to their sorrow. It looks like a repetition this year. "Holly" won't do the Samites any good in September.

Do "Stars" Make a Club?
Last fall and winter there was more hectic trading and purchase of stars by major league ball clubs than ever before in the history of the game. Managers in the various big leagues felt sure that with the addition of these "stars" these clubs would be in the race from start to finish. A comparison of the records of these men during 1921 and 1922 show how far off the managers were. Several of these players are still considered "stars," but a glance at the showings made by different teams cannot help but prove that baseball "stars" do not make a ball club. Too many cases are involved for them to be a mere coincidence.

Breakers.
Take the case of the Yankees, for instance. When Miller Huggins added Joe Bush and Sam Jones to his hurling staff critics declared that there would be nothing to it but the Yankees. These hurlers had been panned earlier than the 72-73 team by a second division club. Yet with their help the Yankees are now floundering around in second place against the Browns. The Browns out at the beginning of the season it was thought that the Yankee attack would be seriously impaired. But the Huggins played better ball while those two were under suspension than they have since.

Tigers and Browns.
Hubert Eason was a leading Tiger pitcher last year and Detroit could see nothing ahead but misery this season when it was learned that Leonard was to hold the Tiger's place. Eason is higher up and playing better ball at the present writing than they have since Ty Cobb took over the managerial reins. The Browns depended on Urban Shocker to carry them over the top this season since he won 27 games in 1921. Shocker pitched in general handling service, finds Savage tires are giving better mileage under all conditions than any other make they have used. In this service Savage tires have been in continuous operation for the past twelve months, delivering 12,000 miles to date, and the tread is only half worn. According to the operators, other makes of tires are completely worn out if they last to deliver this mileage.

City Commercial Service.
A local concern, operating a fleet of cars and trucks in general hauling service, finds Savage tires are giving greater mileage under all conditions than any other make they have used. In this service Savage tires have been in continuous operation for the past twelve months, delivering 12,000 miles to date, and the tread is only half worn. According to the operators, other makes of tires are completely worn out if they last to deliver this mileage.

Unusual Service.
In patrol work on a heavily loaded truck, off the beaten track and hitting across lots, Savage Tires are standing up under real abuse—rendering far better service for their operator than any other tire previously used. Seventeen construction features used in the building of the Savage Cord account to a great extent for the remarkable performance of that tire in this and other territories.

Almost any tire will give satisfactory service under ideal conditions. Some makes will even render satisfactory service under certain adverse conditions. Certain makes of tires will perform best on long drives over pavements, other makes will show to better advantage on dirt highways—and so it goes.
Our object has been to build Savage Tires to perform equally well under every condition—on the short haul or the heavily laden commercial car, on the heated roads of the sandy desert, over mud and stones of the land of forests or broad dirt highways of the plains.
That we have accomplished our purpose is evident from the results users of Savage Tires are getting—everywhere.

Freeman Jumps Organized Baseball; Joins Joilet Club In the Mid-West League

CHICAGO, July 18.—Alexander Freeman, former National league pitcher, is the latest player to jump organized baseball, it became known today. Freeman, who was released outright by the Cubs July 7 to the Wichita Falls club in the Texas league, as part payment for Earl Adams, a shortstop, joined the Joilet club of the Mid-West league.

to whose services they were last year able to finish no better than seventh.
Gleason has really developed the present Chicago White Sox into a formidable machine and if his pitching staff holds up the Browns, Yankees and Tigers are going to seriously consider this once wrecked ball team as a deadly menace to their pennant hopes.

The Sox just escaped the rut of last place during the 1921 season and are practically the same team this year. The outfield, infield and catching department, which is Ray Schalk, finished seventh last year. At present the club is in the midst of the fight for the American league pennant and if the boxmen can hold up under the strain the Pelepe will have a decided say in where the A. L. flag goes this year.

When Dick Kerr flopped the Sox for a berth in independent ranks this spring the critics had it "doped" that the team was due to finish in eighth place for sure because it was Faber and Kerr who last year virtually kept them from that position. The loss of Kerr, however, evidently did not take the fight out of Gleason. He started in the spring.

TIMES DAILY MARKETS

COTTON MARKET. New York Cotton. NEW YORK July 19.—The attention of traders on the cotton exchange early today was centered on dry hot weather in the southwest and excessive rains in part of the eastern belt. It caused rather active buying for the south Atlantic waters and also by New Orleans and Liverpool houses which advanced first prices 18 to 17 points.

NEW YORK STOCKS. NEW YORK, July 19.—Further covering of short contracts imparted a strong tone to the stock market at the opening of today's trading, but yesterday's spectacular movements in steel and affiliated stocks were lacking. Gains averaging a point each were made in American Locomotive, General Electric, International Paper, and United States Steel.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE. CHICAGO, July 19.—Heavy selling based largely on better prospects for settlement of the railroad strike led to material declines in wheat today during early dealings. Grains were reported steadily in periods of high water, destruction of brush and loose rock diversion dams and consequent loss of crops.

LEGION MEMBERS BANQUET AT KEMP, ELECTION DELAYED

Plans for increased membership and means for securing larger attendance at meetings of the American Legion were the main topics discussed at the Pat Carrigan Post's banquet held at the Kemp hotel Tuesday night. About 25 ex-service men and their guests were present and speeches were heard from several members of the legion.

"We must stop this bickering, there is no room for it in the legion," Mr. DeFries stated. "If we stick together there is no stronger or powerful force in the United States than the American Legion." The speaker suggested that the legion officials here get together and see if it would not be possible to get the city behind the organization in order to get a more desirable location for the local post's headquarters.

Other speakers, including B. D. Martin, Dr. T. J. Strong, Dr. John Fletcher, John W. Taylor, Arch Dawson and Post Commander Wilson, discussed problems of the legion that must be solved. Various suggestions were presented by these members, in the hope of making the local post a more live force in the community.

CITY EQUALIZERS STILL IN SESSION HEARING PROTESTS

The city board of equalization was still in session Wednesday, with at least one full day of work still ahead of it.

Protests are handled on the barber shop system, property owners being given numbered slips, each supposed to answer when his number is called.

In spite of the large number of objections, changes have been comparatively few, the members of the board being able to show in most instances that the value fixed is not out of line for that particular locality.
