

URGES ABROGATION OF PANAMA TREATY PROPOSE NEW ONE

RECOMMENDED BY PRESIDENT IN LETTER TO SPEAKER GILLETTE.

CHANGE IS DESIRED BY GOVERNMENT OF PANAMA

To Longer Provides Adequate Basis For Adjustment of Canal Problems.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Abrogation of the present treaty arrangement with Panama which has been intended to operate only during the construction of the Panama canal and the negotiation of a new treaty with that government, was recommended to congress today by President Harding.

With a communication to Speaker Gillette, setting forth his views, and declaring that the change was desired by the government of Panama, the president transmitted a letter from Acting Secretary Phillips of the state department setting forth that the agreement formulated by Secretary of War Taft in 1904, was to serve as a modus operandi during the period of canal construction. "After it was ratified in the Panama canal act, the agreement, Mr. Phillips said, no longer provides 'an adequate basis for adjustment of questions arising out of the relations between the canal zone authorities and the government of Panama, and it is the opinion of this department, and I am informed of the war department also, that the agreement should be replaced by a more permanent arrangement.' Writing the speaker, the president said: 'It is altogether advisable that the temporary agreement that has governed our relations with the

CONFIDENT THAT COAL AGREEMENT WILL BE REACHED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Confidence that the agreement reached in Philadelphia Saturday night will be ratified by the anthracite miners convention in Wilkesbarre was expressed today by Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, in a conference with President Harding. The production of hard coal will be well under way by the end of next week, Mr. Reed predicted.

MINERS' CONVENTION WILL OPEN WEDNESDAY

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 2.—Anthracite union leaders who have not already left Philadelphia were to go to Wilkesbarre today to prepare for the convention of delegates from the three districts of United Mine Workers in the hard coal regions. The convention which will open tomorrow afternoon will vote upon ratification of the compromise proposals of United States Senators Pepper and Reed of Pennsylvania for ending the labor struggle. The plan, which calls for operation of the mines at the wage scale in effect when the suspension began until August 31 of next year already has been approved by the scale committee of the union.

WISCONSIN VOTERS SELECT CANDIDATES IN STATE PRIMARY

HAS MADE A THOROUGH CANVASS OF THE STATE

His Opponent is Dr. Wm. A. Carroll, President of the Carroll College.

By Associated Press. MILWAUKEE, Sept. 2.—Wisconsin voters are today in a primary election determining the candidates, including those on United States consular, congressional and state legislative tickets, at the general election in November.

United States Senator Robert M. La Follette seeks to be returned. He campaigned the state quite thoroughly in defense of his record on war and other measures in the upper house of congress. He attacked President Harding's administration and its acts. He said the four power treaty as well as the Versailles treaty were objectionable to him and he pronounced the "greatest robber tariff ever attempted." The Esch-Cummings law was denounced and the proposed ship subsidy attacked. William A. Ganfield, president of Carroll college, and chosen by the citizens republican wing to oppose La Follette, put up an active campaign in which he attacked the senator's war record, his proposal to deprive the supreme court of the final decision as to the constitutionality of laws and what he termed his apparent affiliation with the socialists. Associated with Senator La Follette and Mr. Ganfield, heading two separate republican tickets, are

GREEK ARMY HAS SUFFERED REVERSE WANT ARMISTICE

LONDON, Sept. 2.—General opinion in well informed quarters in London today was that the disaster to the Greek army in Asia Minor was complete. There seemed to be little prospect that anything could now save it from a total debacle.

The Greek government has appealed to the powers to obtain an armistice with the Turkish nationalists, who have virtually driven the Greeks from the battle field and as a result of interchange among the chanceries at London, Paris and Rome instructions have been sent to the allied high commissioners of the three powers in Constantinople to discuss joint measures for bringing about a suspension of hostilities. It is believed here that a meeting between representatives of the belligerents can be arranged to be held within the next two or three days in a neutral zone of Asia Minor, southwest of Imdid and that this meeting will be productive of a speedy cessation of fighting.

INCREASED ENROLLMENT AT CLARENDON COLLEGE

CLARENDON, TEXAS, Sept. 2.—Arrangements have been made whereby one of the white house cottages on the Clarendon college campus will be opened up as a co-operative home for young men, who care to work for their room and board during this term of school.

In order that your glasses fulfill all requirements expected of them, the examination of your eyes must be accomplished by experienced optical specialists. Our increasing clientele is sufficient evidence of the ability with which examinations are made. Faith Optical Company, 515 Scott avenue.—Adv.

BISHOP FALLOWS FAMOUS PREACHER DIES AT CHICAGO

SUCCUMBS TO ILLNESS OF SLIGHTLY LESS THAN A MONTH.

WAS ALSO NOTED AS AUTHOR AND LECTURER

Funeral Services Will Be Held at 3 o'clock On Friday Afternoon.

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—Bishop Samuel Fallows, presiding bishop of the Reformed Episcopal church, famous as a preacher, soldier, author and lecturer, died at 4:30 o'clock this morning at the residence after an illness of slightly less than a month.

Bishop Fallows' death, a shock to the religious world, was unexpected in spite of his advanced age. He was approaching his eighty-seventh birthday.

The bishop fell ill of pneumonia last winter and to that was attributed the beginning of his fatal illness. Last spring he went to California for his health.

He did not return to Chicago until August 14, and during that time his old vigor and resuming his varied activities.

The trip declined his strength and the following day he was reported ill of exhaustion. On the next day he was said to be improving and his physician said he believed the bishop would recover.

When the bishop during his illness was his daughter, Alice, and his son, Edward Fallows, of New York.

The improvement noted upon the prelate's return to Chicago continued, and no untoward turn was expected. The son returned to New York yesterday.

Yesterday noon the bishop suffered a relapse. He sank gradually until the end came peacefully this morning. The daughter was the only relative at the bishop's side when death ended his career.

Besides the daughter, Alice Katherine Fallows, who resided with her father, the bishop is survived by two sons, Edward H. Fallows, an attorney of New York, and Major Charles S. Fallows of San Diego, Cal., and a second daughter, Mrs. William Mayer of San Francisco.

Bishop Fallows' wife, Lucia Huntington Fallows, died in 1914. Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon at St. Paul's church.

The body will be taken to Hadley, Mass., for burial beside the bishop's wife.

River Bed Too Dry For Dredge to Work Is Waiting on Rain

Tuesday was the day on which the dredge P. Noble was scheduled to start work at the storage dam, but the dredge remained idle, owing to the fact that the bed of the river was dry as a bone.

Until it rains the dredge cannot start operations. The local rain of Monday afternoon did not extend that far south. Everything is in readiness to commence work as soon as the river bed gets wet enough.

ABILENE COLLEGES PREPARE TO OPEN DURING THE MONTH

ABILENE, Sept. 5.—Preparations are being made by both the senior colleges located here, Simmons and Abilene Christian colleges, for what promises to be the greatest opening of the two schools have ever had. Reservations are flowing in to the two schools daily, and even now are far ahead of what they were on the opening day last year.

Simmons will open September 14 at which time registration will begin. J. D. Sandifer, president, stated that he was confident that the enrollment would reach around the 700 mark. Seven hundred is the capacity now, due to the destruction of Cowden hall, men's dormitory, by fire last May.

It was also said that the Fine Arts building, which has been under construction for more than a year, will be ready for occupancy by the fall opening, and that plenty of class room space will be made by this. However, accommodations will not permit much more than 700. It was added that a favorable report that the college was forced to find places in private boarding houses for the young men.

Registration at Abilene Christian college will begin September 19, according to President J. P. Sewell. The ordinary enrollment for the college is between four and five hundred, but officers of the college expressed themselves as confident that the registration for the fall term would be approximately 450, which will be a new record for the school.

Almost all rooms in the men's and women's dormitories are taken, and the college is now turning to the private boarding houses for accommodations for the prospective students.

Both colleges have added several new faculty members, and have increased their corps of instructors. Simmons will have 18 college teachers to take care of the classes during the coming year, while Abilene Christian college will have 21, an increase of four for the latter school over last year.

FORMER GERMAN KAISER IS TO MARRY PRINCESS

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The former German kaiser's intended bride is the Princess Hermine of Reuss, 24 year old widow, according to a report quoted by the Daily Mail's Berlin correspondent.

The engagement, he adds, will not be announced until after the anniversary of the late ex-kaiser's birthday, October 22.

Princess Hermine of Reuss is the widow of Prince Jean of Schaumburg-Carolath, who died in April, 1920. She was born December 17, 1887, and is the mother of five children, the eldest of whom is 14. She owns a large estate at Saargemünd, Alsace.

WICHITA FALLS PARTIES ARE PREPARING TO DRILL

Several Producing Wells in Carson and Hutchinson Counties Shut Down.

PANHANDLE, Sept. 5.—Geologists and surveyors have completed a survey of block X in the south part of Hutchinson county, in the Texas Panhandle oil field, which required the service of several surveyors 30 days. Several large operators have large tracts of land under lease in the block which will expire, almost before a well can be completed, which indicates that a favorable report from their favorite geologist, will cause several operators to start wells at once in order to hold acreage in this block which lays between two producing wells.

The attention of the oil fraternity during the last week has been confined to new locations on large blocks of acreage and at a distance from the proven field.

A large area has been blocked three miles east of the Holmes, McIlroy & McGee producer in Hutchinson. A report is current that a contract has been signed for a deep test on this acreage.

Wichita Falls parties have contracted to drill and have a pit dug and timber on the ground for a derrick, on section 161, block B-3, in the south part of Carson county. J. L. Harvey of Wichita Falls is moving tools to LeFlore, Gray county.

In Collingworth county, the Campbell, YOU No. 1, section 9, block 22, is drilling in eight inch hole at 162 feet after being shut down for several months.

Several producing wells in Hutchinson and Carson county are shut down for lack of storage and pipe line connection.

Texas Co., No. 1 Burnett, Carson county, is the only well near by. This well is carrying 3 inch pipe and fighting cave and ten million feet of gas at 2850 feet.

Two Potter wells are being closely watched around 2400 feet after passing gas lines.

PRIZES AWARDED CONTESTANTS AT HENRIETTA RODEO

HENRIETTA, TEXAS, Sept. 5.—The two days' rodeo which opened here yesterday was attended by a big crowd. A local band furnished good music and a barbecue supplying an ample meal was served on the court house square at 12 o'clock.

The long parade, which was composed of cowboys, pack horses, the old time chuck wagons, etc., was typical of plunger days.

The performance at the ball park was well attended and the following prizes were awarded:

Bronco riding: First place, $46, John Miller of Archer City; second place, $25, Jeff Tuck; third place, $20, P. L. Fowler of Petrolia.

Wild steer riding: First, $40, Joe Perce; second, $15, Jeff Tuck; third, $10, Pete Perce of Archer City.

Barrel racing: First, $40, Elmer Splawn of Burk Burnett; second, $25, W. R. Cooper of Petrolia; third, $20, Sam Bowden of Henrietta.

Judges were R. J. Brown, Carl Woraham and Will B. Walker.

Decisions have not been made in the goat roping and calf roping contests.

In the evening a band concert, followed by a pavement dance, consisting of the old time square as well as the modern dances, furnished amusement for the large crowd. A cool shower which fell at 7 o'clock added much to the pleasure of all.

REALIZES $1,678 FOR THIRTY-THREE BIG HOGS AT SALE

ELECTRA, TEXAS, Sept. 5.—J. C. Guyer realized $1,678 for 33 big type Poland China gilts sold at his semi-annual auction sale here.

The highest priced hogs were bought by F. E. Weddle, who lives north of Electra. Mr. Weddle paid $165 and $140, respectively, for two animals.

In view of unsettled market conditions and unpropitious farm outlook the prices are regarded as highly satisfactory.

Mr. Guyer lives about 13 miles northwest of Electra, and brought his hogs here by truck. This is his second sale. The one last spring brought him $274 for the top gilt, which was bought by E. M. Friend of Electra.

JUVENILE TELLS HOW HE ESCAPED FROM JAIL CELL

Travis Gerdes, the second of the trio of youths who made their escape from the juvenile jail Sunday evening, has been taken back into custody and Tuesday morning related to Juvenile Officer R. L. Yates how the escape was effected.

A teaspoon which was given them when meals were served was the only tool necessary, he stated. The handle of the spoon was inserted in the big door of the cell and after a few trials the big bolt turned and liberty stared them in the face.

The wooden door leading into the corridor in front of the cells contains a night lock which cannot be opened from the outside without a key but can be opened by a turn of the knob in the inside. He stated that they encountered no one on their way down the stair steps from the third floor. They used all precautions possible, he said.

The third member of the group is still at large. He was being held for federal authorities. Stamps for sale at the Times office.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS FAIRY QUEEN CALLS WAR COUNCIL

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Nancy stood looking sorrowfully at Nick and wiggling her poor little pink nose.

Flash-Doodle had changed, Nancy and Nick, the Twins, into two white rabbits.

He did it with the Fairy Queen's wand he had stolen.

Then he flew out of the mulberry tree straight up to the sky, where he liked to live. I don't know whether he went to the Tinkly-Winkly Star or the Beamy-Gleam Star, but wherever it was, you may be sure he intended to do something mean.

Nancy stood looking sorrowfully at Nick and wiggling her poor little pink nose and Nick looked forlornly at Nancy, his whiskers trembling indignantly.

"Oh!" went Nancy.

"My!" gasped Nick.

And that was all they could say. But something else was happening far, far away.

The Fairy Queen was so worried about the long absence of the Twins she had called a meeting of her councilors. There was Mr. Rubadub, and Mr. Tingaling, and Mr. Scribble-Scratch, and Mr. Sprinkle-Blow, and all the other good friends of Nancy's and Nick's.

"Fairies," said the Queen, "I am sure something has happened to the Twins. Dear only knows what mischief Flash-Doodle has done with that wand. We'll have to do something."

Scarcely had she spoken when something fell at the Fairy Queen's feet.

"Why, it's the magic Green Shoes the Twins wore!" she cried. "Now

He did it with the Fairy Queen's wand he had stolen.

Then he flew out of the mulberry tree straight up to the sky, where he liked to live. I don't know whether he went to the Tinkly-Winkly Star or the Beamy-Gleam Star, but wherever it was, you may be sure he intended to do something mean.

"Oh!" went Nancy.

"My!" gasped Nick.

And that was all they could say. But something else was happening far, far away.

The Fairy Queen was so worried about the long absence of the Twins she had called a meeting of her councilors. There was Mr. Rubadub, and Mr. Tingaling, and Mr. Scribble-Scratch, and Mr. Sprinkle-Blow, and all the other good friends of Nancy's and Nick's.

"Fairies," said the Queen, "I am sure something has happened to the Twins. Dear only knows what mischief Flash-Doodle has done with that wand. We'll have to do something."

Scarcely had she spoken when something fell at the Fairy Queen's feet.

Nervous and Dizzy, Everything Seemed to Worry Me. How I Got Well

Larwill, Indiana.—"My back was so bad I could not do my washing. I was always tired out and had no ambition. I was nervous and dizzy and everything seemed to worry me and I had awful pains in my right side. I felt badly about four years and could not do my work as I should have been done. I saw Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound advertised so much and it did so many people good that I began to take it myself. I am feeling fine now and every one who sees me says I am looking so well. I live on a farm, do all my work, and have three little girls to take care of. I am recommending this medicine to my friends and know it will help them if they use it like I do." — Mrs. Elizabeth Loug, R. R. 3, Box 7, Larwill, Indiana.

Many women keep about their work when it is a great effort. They are always tired out and have no ambition. When you are in this condition give it prompt attention.

Take Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound for it is especially adapted to correct such troubles.

BIG BALL PLANNED AS SOCIAL FEATURE OF T-O FAIR WEEK

DIRECTORS HEAR OF SUBSTANTIAL PROGRESS

Department Heads Report Various Details: Rapidly Rounding Into Final Shape.

The Texas-Oklahoma fair will have its social side, on an elaborate scale, the association directors decided Tuesday morning, in approving plans for a big ball to be held on the night of the fair week.

The Princess of Wichita Falls will be crowned on that evening, and Duchesses of each of the neighboring communities, with their attendants, will grace the occasion. The identities of the princess and of the duchesses will be kept secret until the night of the ball.

The affair will be one of the largest social events ever staged here, and is expected to prove a glittering attraction.

The directors Tuesday heard reports from various committee chairmen and department heads, all showing substantial progress.

In spite of dry weather in neighboring counties, some splendid exhibits are being prepared for the fair, reports indicated. Chairmen for the livestock, swine and poultry departments each reported prospects bright for exceptionally good exhibits.

The directors considered the transportation facilities for the fair, and discussed the providing of shuttles and the fair grounds. Mr. Kell told the directors that while the expense of such service would be heavy, it would be arranged for if found necessary. A committee was named to handle jitney transportation facilities between the city and the fair grounds.

H. Verachick, secretary, reported that in addition to previously booked attractions, the "butterfly wheel" would be in use at the fair for the first time in the southwest. This riding device is said to be both novel and thrilling, and is expected to be well patronized.

Thrifty tickets, affording purchasers a 20 per cent savings on entrance fees, will be put on sale within a short time, it was announced.

Practically all space in the retail merchants' exhibit hall has been taken, the committee reported, and the demand for space in the wholesale and manufacturers' building has been scarcely less heavy.

W. B. Fryon, chairman of the oil exhibit committee, reported that a comprehensive exhibit of the oil industry and its products was being arranged.

SUGGESTION FOR YEAR SUSPENSION OF COTTON CROP

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The proposal for a one year suspension of cotton planting in the United States as a means of eliminating the boll weevil was suggested in the senate today by Senator Smith, democrat.

South Carolina, who predicted wholesale abandonment of cotton farms through the south unless the government action were taken to aid in destruction of the parasite.

The South Carolina senator announced he had written to the chief entomologist of the department of agriculture asking that a study be made to determine whether a year's lay-off in cotton growing would eradicate the weevil. He said the entomologist had expressed the belief that such action would result in destroying the pest.

"In these preliminary remarks, my friends, you will have noticed that I am leaving ample room for your own reflections and you might find it profitable to give them their considerations. My purpose this evening is to bring home to you the fact that we owe the gospel to Jesus Christ and the blessing and comfort, the power and strength, the joy and hope it carries with it, to our country in preference to every other country. I need to it only say to go out in this respect as well as in many others, whole-souled, true hearted, earnestly, energetically. This is what I take from the text before you: 'Seek ye the peace of our country by bringing it the gospel of Jesus Christ.'

"I. Because that is the supreme need of the hour.

"I. Seek the peace of the city, thus the prophet admonishes the Jews. In their immediate and literal sense these words no doubt refer to earthly things. The Jews were to seek the peace, that is, the material, the temporal welfare of their land. They were to do all in their power to establish and uphold, to further the general well-being of their country. That, however, was not only the duty of the Jews towards their country in that day, that is the duty of every Christian towards his country to the present time. Christians above all things are to be loyal and devoted citizens. They are to render their country every conceivable service. They are to labor for its upbuilding, uphold and support its institutions, obey its laws, help to maintain discipline and order in short in every way and at all times, and under all circumstances strive to work to the best interest of their land. A true Christian indeed and truth a 100 per cent citizen.

"Seek the peace of the city," the prophet admonishes and then adds: "Whether I have caused you to be taken captives, the Jews were not living in Palestine then; they were not in their home country, but in a foreign land; they lived in Babylon, not because they wanted to, but because they had to: The Lord had caused them to be carried away, captives to that country. So those who were loved over them were such by force of arms. The Jews were a subjugated and enslaved people, yet the Lord admonishes them to seek the peace of

LUTHERAN CONGREGATIONS OBSERVE MISSION FESTIVAL AT CLARA CHURCH SUNDAY

One of the most important festivals of the Lutheran church is the annual mission festival. Great preparations usually are made for this festival. Renowned pastors of the church are engaged to deliver inspiring sermons to create and increase true mission zeal.

This festival was celebrated Sunday by Trinity Lutheran congregation of Yorkton, and the afternoon sermon by the esteemed president of the Texas district, the Rev. L. Heinemeier of Yorkton, and the afternoon sermon by the Rev. H. Stuedmann of Riesel. His forceful and inspiring sermon follows, in substance: "I have been thinking upon Jeremiah 29:7, 'Seek ye the peace of the city, whither I have caused you to be carried away captives.' 'Millions have not yet found a living and abiding home, but made a fortune and became prosperous. Even more precious than that are the liberties of our citizens. Liberty of person, of speech, and most glorious of all, liberty of conscience. To countless numbers this country has been a haven of refuge from religious persecution and oppression. Here also our dear Lutheran church has flourished, its members increasing in phenomenal growth. In view of these facts, have we not every reason in the world to seek the peace of our country? What lies in our power that we may continue to be unto future generations what it has been and still is here, as Columbia, the gem of the ocean?"

"It is our sacred duty and our blessed privilege to seek the peace of our country in whatever way we can. Yet there is another peace, a peace far grander, loftier, more precious and sublime than earthly peace; a peace that passeth all understanding; a peace which is termed in the Book of Books, the costly pearl. That is the peace which the gospel offers in every instance. It is the peace that Christ wrested from our eternal enemies, from sin, from death and from the devil, the peace that He brought to the world when He established with our Father in heaven.

"When therefore the prophet admonished the Jews to seek the peace of their city, he did not refer to that temporal blessing under which a country prospers so well. He certainly included the best that is within the grasp of man. He meant to say that the Jews should bring unto Babylon the salvation of Jehovah. They must not be content with the temporal blessing, but cheerfully share it with them. Thus it is with us too. We are to render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and dutifully, ungrudgingly, cheerfully to serve our country in whatever way such services are demanded. We are under the greatest obligation to our country. The greatest treasure within our gift is the gospel of Jesus Christ. We owe that to our land. We owe it to our country above all other countries of the world. And the more so because our country has never before stood in such a greater need of this blessing.

"Let us for a moment consider conditions as we find them in our country today. There is no denying the fact that the conditions are all but satisfactory. Discontent, a spirit of revolt, social clashes, uprising of all kind are outstanding features of our condition. The anxiety virus are rampant, respect for religion and authority in general are fast on the decline. A careless and even a negligent attitude toward the church is spreading and statesmen, educators and thinking men in general are viewing the situation with alarm. All this is due to the fact that woman suffrage has been granted, and what? Various cure-alls were resorted to, but they have failed. Prohibition was enacted, yet who are not the one great trouble of our country? No less a man than our own esteemed President Harding was this to say: 'It is the fundamental trouble with the people of the United States is that they have gotten too far away from God. They have lost their sense of right and wrong. They are no longer able to believe that in a tumultuous age like ours the most important and imperative duty is the redemption of humanity to Almighty God.'

"We may ask: Has the American pulpit done anything to remedy the trouble? Sad to say, but instead of preaching the gospel, the American pulpit to a great demand seems to have considered its business to delve into politics, to enter itself into the kind of social questions. In many respects church conditions of today resemble those of the days of a certain great preacher in England who lamented the fact that there are many preachers who could preach an entire sermon without even mentioning the name of Jesus so that the souls cried out in sadness like Mary weeping at the sepulchre: 'They have taken my Lord away, and I know not where they have laid Him.' Am I exaggerating? Listen to this: A group of socially-minded Christians requested Bernard Shaw to write some message to the church in America. He declined in the following words: 'I feel highly flattered that you should think the church will listen to Bernard Shaw when it refuses to listen to Jesus Christ.'

"My friends, these conditions are beyond expression. It must be apparent to each and all of us that what our country needs above all else is the old gospel of Jesus Christ. Ah! How readily and thoroughly we would see things change in every respect if our people could be brought under the influence of the gospel! The church are we of the Lutheran church going to do about the situation? There is but one thing to do: Seek ye the peace of the city. By bringing it the gospel of Jesus Christ. This is the supreme need of the hour. May we then become alive to our Christian duty, let us seek the peace of our country in whatever way we can. Yet there is another peace, a peace far grander, loftier, more precious and sublime than earthly peace; a peace that passeth all understanding; a peace which is termed in the Book of Books, the costly pearl. in some quarters it was even slandered. Suspicion was cast upon us. All this hurt; we felt sore at heart, but by these machinations the Lutheran church became known. It was advertised. Many, I dare say, never thought that there was a Lutheran church until they heard of it during those days. More than that, for the sake of defense we were forced into the limelight. We were investigated and were glad to be investigated, for we had nothing to fear and nothing to hide. Through all of this the teachings and principle of the Lutheran church became known as never before. More than this, the language that was used to some extent in our midst was offensive to many. Many congregations had to dispense with the German and take up English preaching. Some of us thought this to be calamity, yet, it was a blessing in disguise. English Lutheran sermons are now, more than ever before, preached and listened to throughout the land. It was God's master stroke of widening our field of activity, of opening up for us new and vast opportunities.

"To be sure, my friends, the gospel season is at hand. God is placing the opportunities of a lifetime before us. He is throwing gates ajar for the gospel to pass through. He is revealing to us a vast field ripe for the harvest. Dare we stand back? Dare we become guilty of neglect? Dare we tarry in the face of such opportunities?"

"In the peace thereof ye shall have peace." True, not all will accept the gospel message the gospel preaches. He is revealing to us a vast field ripe for the harvest. Dare we stand back? Dare we become guilty of neglect? Dare we tarry in the face of such opportunities?"

"Our country's voice is pleading. His providence is leading. The land before you lies: Day-blooms are over it brightening. And promise clothes the soil. Wide fields for harvest whitening. Invited to reapers' toil. Amen."

On the 17th of this month St. Paul's Lutheran congregation of this city will celebrate its annual mission festival together with the congregation of Clara at the church on Eleventh and Holliday streets. In the morning services, the Rev. Prof. J. Stoepelwerth of St. John's college, Winfield, Kan., will deliver the English sermon at 10:30. In the afternoon at 2:30 the Rev. P. J. Klenk of Olney will fill the pulpit. At 7:30 p. m. Prof. Stoepelwerth will deliver a special address to the young people. All others, however, are cordially invited to hear this address. The public is invited to the English sermon at 10:30. The church on that day.

GALOMEL SALIVATES AND LOOSENS TEETH
The Very Best Dose Of This Treacherous Drug May Hurt
Tremble.

You know what calomel is. It's mercury, quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into your system like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your drugist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start you liver and straighten you up better and quicker than any calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loosens your bowels, makes you feel like a tightrope walker, and straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can't salt-rate—adv.

BURKBURNETT HOST TO A LARGE CROWD PARADE A FEATURE

BURKBURNETT, TEXAS, Sept. 4.—Yesterday was a gala day in Burk Burnett and she did herself proud and thousands of visitors present for the occasion, enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent. Those present came from all parts of the county and there was a big representation from the Oklahoma side of Red river which now constitutes a large part of the Burk Burnett trade territory.

A big parade featured the opening of the celebration which was held during the day at Red river park, where the visitors were treated to a barbecue and watermelon feast. Old timers present commented upon the old time hospitality shown by the Burk Burnett people and recalled that 10 years ago a similar celebration was held at which time representation was had from all over the county. Burk Burnett at that time was only a village and has since grown to a small city, but times have not changed the spirit of the people as was manifested yesterday by the hospitality accorded the visitors.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men.—Galatians 6:10.
There is always someone to smile at, somebody to give your chair to, somebody to whom a book, a flower, or even an old paper will be a boon.—Josephine Pollard.

Texas-Oklahoma Fair, September 30 to October 4, Wichita Falls

WE ALL TALK TOO DARN MUCH.

We all talk too much. We have been told so in terms of varying vigor and convincingness for a good many hundreds of years. But we keep right on talking too much, and will be keeping on when the little old planet tumbles into the sun a few million years hence.

Yet in spite of the apparently universal tendency toward a looseness of the human tongue, the majesty of silence continues to exercise its undiminished power over the race. The man who can keep still is the man of every hour and every progress. His dignity of reserve sets him apart from other folks in a way no other characteristic could ever accomplish. His tongue has a batting average of 100 without ever going to bat. And he is listened to when he does talk.

The main reason we all talk too much is the same reason that the children who were taught, several years ago when the old order of teaching primer lessons changed, to read aloud, have been chasing their households into the barns and the back porches and the attic ever since—because they can't digest what they read silently. They can't hear with their minds; they have to hear with their ears. We can't think with our minds; we have to have the accompanying din of our vocal accomplishments.

We don't assert the results of our reasoning; we argue and exhort and deliriate. We talk and tell. We try to convince. We offer up every secret of our mind's wanderings; we shatter the dignity of our deepest soul reserves with the same willingness with which we comment on the latest movie. And the world turns to listen to the man who names his conclusions, shuts his lips and leaves it at that. Our gibbering tongues are continually busy about the whyfores and the whicheens. His tongue is fulfilling its fundamental destiny; not trying to provide incidental vaudeville for the delectation of the world.

We all talk too much, but we ought to quit it. There is something too precious and personal about thought to release it so loosely. And there is a dignity about reserve in speech which has no match for compelling and attracting the respect of mankind. It is the same lure that is offered by unbroken stretches of plain, of sea, of forest depths, of snow. It is the majestic quality of stillness. It "gets" us all. And yet we will just keep on talking too much until the last sheep is hoisted over on the other side of the fence, and the last goat hurried to Gehenna!

WICHITA FALLS TEACHER MAKES BIG CONTRIBUTION.

Miss Henrietta Fyle, supervisor of public school meals of the Wichita Falls schools, has won another honor for this city, and is doing, made a big contribution to the progress of music appreciation in the state.

The announcement is made in another part of today's paper of the inclusion of the music memory contests as a feature of the Intercollegiate League contests by the extension department of the University of Texas. The announcement comes from Director Bedachek of the department, who, last year requested Miss Fyle to try out the contests over the Wichita Falls district and who turned the planning of the entire project over to her, following her completion of a successful city contest the year before. Miss Fyle devoted a great part of her time, and much effort, stamps, stationery and personal attention to the district contests, went to the smaller near-by communities and sent her teachers, and the contest was a remarkable success. That it is to be a statewide institution next year, under the guidance of the University, with real honors and prizes for the city, county, district and state champions, is due almost entirely to her effort. It is a distinct feather in the cap of this city to have furnished the nucleus on which one of the most worthwhile departments of the Intercollegiate League work is to be built up. Music appreciation in the state makes a big stride forward.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OF AUTOMOBILES.

One of the pioneer automobile companies celebrated its 25th anniversary week before last. It started manufacturing automobiles before they were even "rich men's toys," which was all some folks a generation ago thought they ever would be. It was eight or ten years after the company in question began making cars before automobiles were out of the novelty class. In reality, the automobile belongs to a period that started not over 15 years ago.

A fond father told us the other day of the excitement manifested by his three-year-old son when the latter saw a horse and buggy jog past the house. The child would not have looked up from his toys to watch an automobile, but a horse-drawn buggy was a novelty no less worthy of attention to him than the sputtering, rattling "horseless carriage" was to his father, 15 or 20 years ago.

The writer doubts if a search of local stores and warehouses would reveal a single buggy for sale. Last year at the Dallas fair, a reporter commented on the fact that no buggies were on exhibit, and one exhibitor took him to task for his inaccuracy; there was one buggy, in an obscure, seldom-visited corner. And 25 years ago the first automobile manufacturing company was born; 15 years ago the editor of the Sillipery Elm Crossing Sentinel crowded over the editor of the Hackberry Corners Signal because Sillipery Elm Crossing had attained to its first automobile, while Hackberry Corners was yet without a citizen who owned one.

THE BIRTH OF AN INSTITUTION.

The young man or young woman who graduated from high school last May is no longer confronted with the alternative of leaving home to continue schooling, or stopping school altogether. The junior college, despite its modest beginning, obviates the necessity of making such a choice.

It is to be hoped that Wichitans whose sons and daughters are ready for collegiate work will avail themselves of the opportunity thus offered. The establishment of a junior college is an educational step that Wichita Falls should have taken years ago, and one which would not only have saved many thousands of dollars to Wichitans—viewing it from the material side—but which would have brought cultural advantages no less worthy of consideration.

The junior college will help to bridge the big gap that so many young men and women fall to encompass—the gap between high school and university. Two years of college work will give many a taste of Pierian waters that will prompt them to continue in school after they have exhausted the educational fountains of their home city. Wichita Falls does not yet fully realize the magnitude and the far-reaching consequences of the step which her school authorities, with the backing of the citizenship, have taken this year.

The important thing, just now, is to help see that full advantage is taken of it.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

LOOK AT LIFE IN A BIG WAY.
Some people merely live in an apartment, or a house—or a town. There are others, however, who live in a world, and they see and think in terms of this world.

Only as we measure all questions in terms of the whole are we able to come justly to the right conclusions. If you look at things in a big way, small conclusions will have no place in your mental make-up. And it is the small conclusions that people come to that keep them narrow and bigoted.

Life is a spread-out affair. It embodies an earth with a great history. The farther we get from our own viewpoints and learn to compound the viewpoints of others from all points of the earth, the better are we able to appreciate the spiritual and moral worth of those nearest to us.

"It is serious business to start a soul voyaging toward eternity," said a noted speaker to whom I listened when a boy, and I have never forgotten this line and how the speaker spoke it. It made a great impression on me at the time, and as I think of it now I am still more impressed with its vast meaning.

Responsibility is what makes any man or woman. The greater the responsibility, the greater the one who carries it.

You can easily recognize a great man by the way he handles responsibility. The point is that he actually handles it. Others load it with worry and thus break down all possibility of its handling.

Look at life in a big way and you tackle the big jobs with zest and enthusiasm—carrying them through to completeness.

And with greater vision comes a firmer grasp on all affairs, a keener insight into heretofore hidden meanings, and a calmer attitude toward all misfortunes and unforeseen calamities.

Look at life in a big way. If you consider yourself a mere worm, you'll be one all right. And people will have no thought otherwise than to step on you. But if you think and act big, they will follow you and be inspired by your example and power.

JUST FOLKS

By Edger A. Guest

LIFE'S JOYS.
These several joys must come to all:
The beauty of the morning sun,
The glory of a task well done,
The laughter of a friendly call.

It matters not who he may be,
Though rich or poor, or dull or wise,
Earth spreads her splendors for his eyes
And charges him no tithe or fee.

And there is glory in each task
Which by the humblest is possessed,
The pride of having done his best,
And God no more than this will ask.

No place, nor power, nor pomp nor skill,
Nor silver nor the yellow gold,
The beauty of the sun on hold,
The toiler's cottage it will fill.

Night brings a tap upon the door,
A friend has come with words of cheer,
The long day's worries disappear,
The rich man's friend can do no more.

Vainly we struggle while we live,
Seeking some fancied joys afar,
While at our hand earth's treasures are,
Which life to all of us would give.

YOU AND I

FORB
Much talk in Wall Street. Ford Motor company issues a financial statement showing that its profits totaled about $55,000,000 in the 12 months ended last April 30.

Even in this day of high finance, it is rather staggering to think of one company, owned by one family, making $55,000,000 a year. Doubtful, if John D. Rockefeller did as well.

CRIME
Pennsylvania state police, checking up law-breakers, find that crime tendencies run a five-year cycle after the age of 40. That is, an individual's danger years—the periods when he is most apt to become a criminal—are 35, 40, 45, 50, 55, etc.

Can you explain it? Inevitable emotional and mental waves regularly through people, with the regularity of a pendulum or of ocean tides. Is crime a force like electricity?

ROVERS-SEEN
English explorers, headed by Neal McNeill, will penetrate the dense jungles of British New Guinea, where no white man has ever been.

They will look for a fat-faced face of pygmy men with tails. In other words, the missing link between monkey and man.

As you know in advance, no such beings will be found. But looking for them is just as sensible as a good many other quests that are made in American politics and economics.

CHANGE
Prohibition is making great changes in the eating habits of hotel guests. This is forcing hotels to go back to the old-time "American plan"—a flat rate for room and meals.

So says C. H. Harrington, New York caterer. Other hotel men at the convention agree with him.

With the passing of the rum-hound and his midnight squads of lobster and other delicacies, the chef in the hotel kitchen finds the general cry is for a substantial meal. Watch this tendency. A change of diet changes the whole being—emotions and brain.

GLUTTON
Peter the Great, of Russia, and his gang of 12 stopped at Godalming village, England, in 1693. For breakfast they ordered half a sheep, a quarter of a lamb, 12 pullets, 12 chickens, three quarts of brandy, 12 quarts of wine and 84 eggs.

The tavern records show that the 13 gluttons devoured this repast to the last crumb and last drop.

Compare this with the dainty breakfasts we eat today. Man has started his way into civilization, a gorged stomach and a stuffy head go together.

SUPPER
Despite the enormous breakfast eaten by Peter the Great and his 12 followers in an English inn in 1693, they recovered their appetites by night.

For supper they ate 42 pounds of beef, 16 pounds of mutton, three quarters of a lamb, a loin and shoulder of veal, eight chickens, eight turkeys and 42 bottles of wine.

It is difficult for us moderns to understand how they got away with so much meat. The 42 bottles of wine are more easily comprehended.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTE BOOK

By LEE PAPE

Yesterday was Mom's day off and nobody was home but me and Ben. I was bored so I went out and saw Benny. I don't want you to leave the house till your sister Gladis comes home. I want somebody to be here in case any sidewalk comes.

Well G. M. ma, can't I sit on the front steps even? I said, and ma said, All right but if you move off the front steps I'll punish you by keeping you in after supper, now remember, a word to the wise is sufficient. Meaning not to forget who warned you, and she went out and I sat on the front steps and pretty soon Leroy Shooter, Sid Hunt and Fred Stinkins came up saying, Hey Benny, we're going around to the fire house to see the 2 new fire horses, come on around my front porch.

So go soon if you are serious. I said, I'll stay in tonight, I said.

Well why don't you leave your cap there till you come back, and then you'll see how I'll stay in tonight, and I said, No that ain't a good snuff of a ixous.

I wish it wasn't, and Sid said, Well I'll go with you, and then that went by moving off the front steps.

Sounding better but not snuffing Ben's cap, I said, Well, I'll tell you, suppose you just sit still and we'll carry you off of the steps, and then you won't be moving, and then you'll see how I'll stay in tonight, you can explain to her she told you not to move off of the steps and neither you did.

That was the best I ever yet, and I was just going to leave them do it when Gladis came home and I could go anyway, being a good thing for me on account of my probably wouldn't of thawt the explanation was good snuff.

GALL STONES

By DR. R. H. BISHOP

Gall stones are small, seemingly harmless things, yet they can be as deadly as the stone from David's sling that put an end to the life of the great Goliath.

So long as gall stones are stationary they cause no pain. It is when they move about that they cause such agony. A person may have gall stones and experience no pain.

Delayed operation for gall stones often causes painful after-effects. It is because, during a long siege of illness, there will be infection of the neighboring organs and muscles. In some neglected cases, adhesions form, and when the operation takes place, though the gall stones are removed yet the adhesions may be impossible to remedy.

The trouble that these small stones cause is somewhat complex, but their prevention is quite simple—right and simple living.

One should strive to keep the body in a normal condition, drinking plenty of water, eating moderately of proper food, and keeping the weight down by adequate exercise.

The sparing consumption of meat and a correspondingly liberal diet of fresh fruit and vegetables aid in the elimination of waste matter in which are bred bacteria which, in turn, cause gall stones.

When the first symptoms of gall stones are recognized see a physician at once and act under his advice. Delaying an operation only means more suffering in the long run.

RESURRECTION ROCK

By Edwin Balmor

"It is so nice of you to come here, Miss Ethel. Mrs. Cullen will be so pleased when she hears of it." Mrs. Wain always spoke as though Agnes was certain to return. "I was wondering yesterday if this might mean you were soon to arrive."

"That" was a letter, which the housekeeper was offering—a square, firm, well-filled envelope with British stamps and with the British strip. "Opened by the Census." The address was written in bold, vigorous handwriting which Ethel observed with a start.

The letter was from Barney's friend of the Canadian battalion who had written Barney of her father's attempt to speak to him, who had told Barney to hasten to Resurrection Rock and had foretold that he would find some one named Bagley and another person named Carey there.

The letter read: "My dear Ethel: I am addressing you without the usual prefix of Miss or Mrs. Because I do not know which to use. I am going to report the substance of a communication meant for you and which was received from a person who is dead."

"This afternoon, when sitting with Mrs. Brand, Philip Carey once more was present and wished to speak. Because it was earlier in the sitting and the medium was not tired, I received several perfectly clear and coherent messages. What I had in regard to Barney Loutrille was wrong. When I asked how wrong, I received the reply, 'Not so much wrong as incomplete.' I then asked what I should do to make it complete; and I got the reply: 'It is no use, really, at all. Earlier it seemed so, but now, it is no use without Quinlan.'"

When I asked for Quinlan's whole name and address and who "she" was, I got the reply, somewhat impatiently, "James, of course; James Quinlan, Chicago." And he said that "she" was Carey and that he had asked me to write her at once all about it. I will quote this verbatim since, though it was meaningless to me, it was so important.

"See Quinlan and tell him not only I but Albert, who is here beside me, says to do it. That is the only way, and I should be happy when it is over. It must be done. Tell him the cost there is nothing."

Very sincerely, "TUXTON A. ADELYE."

CHAPTER X
Bennet Cullen, oldest son of Lucas Cullen, Junior, was a hearty young man who considered that he had had something particularly difficult to do with anybody, it always made matters easier to give that person good dinner; and in his cousin "Ethel" he found he had an obstinate proposition.

"The big room in the Blackstone was reserved as groups departed for the opera; the nearest tables all were deserted. Bennet paid his check and, leaning easily upon the table.

"Do you know any one named Quinlan," she asked.

"Oh, I know that! Surely, father used to have him about the south side yards for old time's sake."

"Why?"

"He was with grandfather years ago."

"Oh, was there some one connected with him named Robert?" Ethel asked.

"Bob Quinlan? He was his grandson."

"What?" Ethel repeated. "He's dead?"

"Shot down in flames near Cambrai, he was," Bennet said. "He got into aviation as an observer and machine gunner. One time he went out of nutty not long afterward. It seemed that Bob was all he had left of the rest of the grand family in disaster, some one said then the war took Bob."

"How long ago was he associated with grandfather?" Ethel returned.

"Where was it?"

"Why, back in the old pine days," Bennet replied impatiently. "Old Jim was just over of one of grandfather's mills. Lost his fingers there; has only half his fingers on his right hand. Why?"

"I came back here because—" Ethel began, looking steadily at her cousin.

"Oh, Ben, I don't know; but I'm afraid so!"

"What—the devil—" Bennet roared. He glanced about and shifted his feet as though to rise.

"Give me all of this," he commanded. "Straight."

So she told him quietly and without passion as "straight" as she could.

"You say you accused grandfather?" he assailed her hotly, when she had finished, "of killing this Loutrille pickup yours?"

"That's true. I said I was mistaken. It wasn't Barney; it was—"

"You—you fool," he said to her in pitying disgust. "You little fool."

He sat back, quite white and quivering under the constraint of controlling herself against Bennet's anger.

Before writing to Barney that night, Ethel reread the letter from Houston Adeleye. Her immediate course of action had become quite plain to her yet she reconsidered thoughtfully before recording her purpose.

"My dear Mr. Loutrille," she addressed Barney. "Last night, I had a remarkable experience—" and she detailed how she had confirmed, through her cousin, the existence of James Quinlan and Robert and the history of James Quinlan's associations with her grandfather and his recent disappearance.

"Before I met you and you told me of your experience with the Philip Carey who wished to speak with you, and before this letter about my father came to me, I might have visited a medium without thinking so much about what I was doing."

"I want to be very sure that, when I try, it will be through some fitting person—that nothing about my approach to him will degrade him or lead me into danger of offending or losing or ever misunderstanding him. For that reason, I would be very glad if you could write me whatever you think will help me; you know how little I know about these matters; and I do not know whom to approach here. It would be far better for me if you could happen to be here. Oh, I am not asking that. But if you find we're nothing more to gain by remaining near the Rock, come down here and I'll wait for you."

"Four friends."

"Ethel Carey."

She was a little quiver as she undressed and made ready for bed. It was difficult, when living among the articles chosen and arranged by Agnes and so expressive of her directness, to believe that she could have been completely obliterated.

There was a large, flat package from London, tied with cord and stamped with English postage; the censor had opened it, sealed it again and sent it on. The paper bore the legend, "Photographs."

She found three photographs, all identical, of a group of young men in uniform who appeared to be officers of the Canadian and of the American armies. The faces were all very alike, until, with a start, she recognized Barney Loutrille. In each of the prints his identity was unmistakable.

Her Uncle Lucas called early the next morning to ask what she was doing about her business matters. When she said that she had failed to obtain help, he told her he had decided to "protect" her interests in the projects under way.

That afternoon she received a letter from Barney in which he reported that upon his return to the Rock lives, he had found affairs just as she had left them.

"I have seen no one from St. Florian," Barney continued. "But I think that Kinchelo has got out. I have found an Indian who saw a stranger about here three days ago who, I think, is the fellow that slept in that shack opposite Red Cabin, Miss Carey. From what she can make out from Oulbo, he was an old man who seemed a bit off his head from exposure, perhaps. Anyway, he seemed wholly purposeless and harmless, and I think we were wrong in connecting him up with our affair. I couldn't obtain any better description of him than he was tall and gray-haired and wore a short mitten on his right hand as the ends of his fingers were off."

This determined Ethel to telegraph Barney to come at once to Chicago. But before him, two others took the train from Guesenel for Chicago—Lucas Cullen, Senior, and his wife. And upon the day of their arrival, the first news confirming the assumption of Agnes' death reached the city.

It came to Lucas Cullen, Junior, in a communication not dissimilar to that letter which had awaited Ethel at Scott street; but Lucas's, however, was from an unknown person, was from an English peer of international reputation for his work in science. He wrote to report a message received directly from the other world which stated that "Agnes Cullen," having become cognate, in the next existence, that uncertainty as to her fate was causing confusion in this world, wished it known positively that she was dead.

CHAPTER XI
Lucas Cullen, Senior, received information of this only a bit of intelligence soon after his arrival at his son's home.

"What are you considering doing?"

Lucas laughed as he liked to laugh when planning a shrewd and clever coup. "Hale Sir Horace Clabourne is coming of course, to swear for us that Oliver's wife is dead! Then when we have our English ruling, we'll carry it into our courts, obtaining verity—a that a good word, Luke?"

"On the verity of the death of our dear Agnes, as already believed by the court—but not proven—we prove it without Agnes's testimony taken and sworn to by Sir Horace Clabourne, doctor of science, baronet and the rest; sworn to by the best brains of England—we'll get 'em. I know it's new news, but the old man never had to wait for some one else to show how to do a thing."

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY.

Today's word is—Sabotage.

It is pronounced—sah-bo-tah or tash, a sound, the word being French, without an exact English equivalent; and with the syllables equally accented.

It means—a one-man strike. That is, a force of men, or a force of intelligent workers deems it inexpedient to strike in a body, they may resort to "sabotage, by which each individual, while remaining as an active member of the union, will intentionally injure machinery in such a way as to give the impression of a general strike, but in fact only by lost motion on his own part. Italian railroad employes have practiced "sabotage" by intentionally unbolting wheels from the axles of the cars.

"Sabotage" is wholly incorrect. It was borrowed directly from the French, who probably evolved it from the word "sabo," the wooden shoes much worn by the French working classes.

It's used like this—"Sabotage frequently is practiced without any formal agreement, sometimes without any definite and general understanding on the workers' part and even almost unconsciously by individuals, making it very difficult for an employer to deal with."

BURKBURNETT COUPLE WEDS IN WICHITA FALLS

BURKBURNETT, TEXAS, Sept. 5. Charlie Belden and Miss Ruth Burrows, both of this city, were united in marriage by the Rev. Dr. Foyers in the Baptist parsonage in Wichita Falls Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

The ceremony was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Burrows, parents of the bride, and quite a number of young friends of the bride and groom. They left on a short honeymoon trip to Fort Worth, Dallas and Mooner, after which they will return to make their home here.

Mr. Belden is now employed in the postoffice department of this city and is one of Burkburnett's best young men. The bride has been employed at the Oil City news stand, where she has made many friends who join in wishing the young couple long, happy and prosperous lives.

WHERE THERE'S LOTS OF SCENERY

Barring not famed Brooklyn bridge, subway, Hood Gorge, Hartholdt statue, Pennsylvania Horse shoe Bend, nor ought else, one of the greatest exhibits of engineering and construction in this country is the railroad through Carlsbad Gorge, on the newly completed San Diego and Arizona railway. The road is built almost on the sky line. It enters into and emerges from Mexico twice, and is part of the only direct line from the Pacific coast to the Gulf of Mexico. At one point its track lies 3,600 feet above sea level, and at another 23 feet below. Cost of the 11 miles through Carlsbad Gorge was $2,925,000, the 21 tunnels alone costing $1,762,500. In the case of one tunnel, the train enters from the United States and emerges into Mexico. Riding in the sky, one looks down thousands of feet, on acres of mountainside and mesa, the latter in the spring painted with brilliant blossoms of many varieties. The pictures show views of the mountainous country and some of the obstacles overcome in the construction of the railway. In the lower right scene, note the tracks built across yawning chasms and along shelves cut into the solid rock.

Spudders Lose More Ground by Splitting Dallas Bargain Bill

By PAUL W. LARKIN
DALLAS, Sept. 4.—After massing the Giants in the opening game of the holiday twin bill here yesterday, the Spudders were unable to solve "Slim" Love effectively here in the pinches and dropped the sunset battle, thereby slipping another full game behind the league-leading Cats who were knocking the Gassers under twice. The scores of the imbroglies were 14 to 3 and 5 to 1.

Wheeler went along smoothly in the first setto while his mates were seeking Davenport and Swartz. "Slim" cohorts gave him a comfortable lead in the first chapter and the Wichitans were never in danger of being headed thereafter. In the eighth, however, when they needed the runs to pull Slim's second string corps over, said tallies were not forthcoming. Love was as with the usual, but was just wild enough to be good. He put numerous Spudders on the paths, but shot several ducks by them in the pinches. Hub Perdue was Slim's first selection for this contest, but Hub must have left all his stuff in Fort Worth. Everything he sent up was his usual, and wide. Edmondson was called in to stem the tide, but he lasted only a few moments after being picked for a single and double and leaving two passes. Mekan replaced him and was getting along fairly well when yanked for Tuesday's game. A new left-hander named Upmore, who joined the club just before game time, wound up the affair and though he looked like the usual suspect type he had scored a run to keep the home boys guessing.

Win in First Inning
Davenport was given an extreme warm reception by the fans in the opening inning. Two doubles, as many singles and a sacrifice gave the big chap the air. Swartz replaced him and also found the weather stormy for a few moments, though the support accorded him in this chapter was of the ragged variety. Fred Massey gave the Wichitans the rest of their runs, however. Singles by Wheeler and White struck and made a second. A single by McDonald, doubles by Miller and Adams, and a pass and fielder's choice sandwiched in between, set the score at three in the fifth. Successive singles by Miller, Beck and Biechoff gave them another in the fifth, while five runs slipped over the counting station in the eighth, the result of three singles, a pass, hit batsman and sacrifice fly.

One Big Inning For Giants
The Giants won the abbreviated pastime in the second inning when Swartz scored all three. A great pop from center field by Summa was all that prevented Perdue from being scored on in the first inning as he was nipped for a double and two singles. There was no stopping the home clan in the next period, however. Lovelace, who had sacrificed twice, cleared Swartz's head in deep center. Kitts then walked and both runners scored on Lige's double to right center. That was plenty for the old master and Edmondson was called from the bull pen. He started by walking Love and the former Rader to pop to Adams. Massey scratched a blow to White, filling the bases, and a pass to Demaggio forced in a run. Summa then cleared three and two on him, Galloway smote a cripple to right center for two bases which cleared the bases. Mekan was sent for in a hurry at this juncture and stopped the onslaught. He retired in favor of Upmore in the next round and the Giants were kept in their cages for the rest of the afternoon.

McDonald's inability to hit in the pinches in this game was extremely costly. He took a third strike in the first inning with two men on, did the same in the third and Adams' single, Tanner's double had given the visitors a run, and missed a third swing in the seventh with two hits on base. In the eighth, however, put the club in a position to score their second and last run as a wild throw by Love and a fielder's choice enabled him to count.

"Slim" cohorts gave him a comfortable lead in the first chapter and the Wichitans were never in danger of being headed thereafter. SALM PETER JACOBUS TO REPLACE FLAHERTY CLUB HAS GOOD CHANCE

By PAUL W. LARKIN. In history going to repeat itself? Are the Spudders going to be knocked out of the league again this year through injuries and sickness? That little black fellow, termed the jinx, appears to be getting in his deadly work again. He took Tom last season, though Skipper Walter Salm and his crew of hustling ball players will not admit for a second that they are the cause of the even break in Dallas Monday in the holiday twin-bill. The Spudders found themselves being knocked out by three and a half games, though they would repeat the lead were they to win three games between now and the end of the season, when the Patheons are dropping the number. For example, if the Spudders were to take their next three games and the Patheons were to lose three and a half games, the Patheons would have a one point lead, the percentage column showing .675 for them and .675 for the A's.

FLIGHTWEIGHT GAME GETS NEW BLOOD FROM FAR EAST

By BOB DORMAN. For quite a while "new blood" has been the cry in the boxing world. Well, it's come, at last, in the fly weight division, and it came with a vengeance. From the far off Philippines we have among us one of Uncle Sam's "little brown brothers" with a yearning to take back the championship title in his class to his island home. Pancho Villa has called. He is the original Pancho, he's a fighter, in his three performances in New York thus far he has proved himself a whirlwind in the ring. Johnny Heppner, Sammy Cohen and Frankie Genaro, all tough boys, he has beaten decisively. Genaro, it is true, got the referee's decision, but not a man in the crowd or among the sporting writers agreed with this arbiter. The promoters are showing that they didn't agree with him either, by arranging immediately for a fight on September 11 between the Little Filipino and the flyweight champion, Johnny Buff. And there are plenty of good fight judges who say Buff will have to make his appearance in better shape than he did at his meeting with Joe Lynch, or his title is more than likely to go to the visitor from the far east.

WICHITA COUNTY CELEBRATES ROAD OPENING MONDAY

12,000 PEOPLE GATHER IN CITY OF BURKURNETT TO OBSERVE ACHIEVEMENT.

E. C. VICKERS, DALLAS, ADDRESSES AUDIENCE

Tells Purpose of Association and Laments Existence of Gaps in State Highways.

Special to The Times. BURKURNETT, TEXAS, Sept. 4.—A parade of Wichita county motorists, strong, thronged this city Monday in observance of the completion of its system of concrete roads. The day had been a most fittingly observed.

The principal address of the day was delivered by E. C. Vickers of Dallas, assistant secretary of the Texas Highway Association, who came on a few hours' notice after it was learned that W. Y. Crawford of Austin, president of the association, was unable to be present. Mr. Vickers complimented Wichita county on its road building program brought into execution but lamented the fact that so many gaps existed in the various highways of the state, where counties either refused or did not have enough gumption to improve the highways.

The day at Burkurnett opened with a parade that would have done justice to a town of 24,000 population. A large number of floats were also entered in the procession by the streets men of the city. The parade wanted its way through the streets which were lined by human walls.

County Judge J. P. Jones, who has been head of the commissioners' court during the time that the roads were built, spoke to the assemblage a few minutes. His brief address was well received. Judge Guy Rogers of the county court at law presided at the Oklahoma side of Red river and the new paved road extends to the river bridge and the Oklahoma side is also benefited by the solid concrete road as a large number of them do their trading in this town.

Mr. Vickers, in opening his remarks, said that Wichita county was to be commended highly for her progressive steps in all ways and especially in her road building program. "From a county of dirt roads," Mr. Vickers said, "poorly kept for the most part, apparently laid out by the horse hoof, of the meandering curvey, to a county of concrete highways, constructed under the supervision of federal, state and county engineers in such a manner as to delight the eye of the most fastidious, it is usually a long journey for any community, realizing the benefits and desires of improved means of highway transportation."

He told how Wichita county had benefited by the experience of other counties who began the improved road system years ago but who had accomplished nothing more than this county because of the delay of experimenting.

He stated that Texas as a state had more improved road mileage than the state of California but that it fell far short from having a system of highways as that state.

"The reason for this condition in Texas," he said, "is caused because of the gaps running through counties which are either unable or unwilling to improve their part of the highways. If we permit this situation to continue we shall wake up some time and find a national system of highways with Texas the only state outside of it."

"The Texas Highway Association has been organized to meet this situation and to insure that a state system will be constructed. Every good citizen who desires to assist

NO JURY DEMANDED AND ALL JURYMEN EXCUSED FOR DAY

When it was apparent that no jury would be needed during the day, Judge P. A. Martin of the 29th district court excused all jurors until Wednesday morning at 9:00 o'clock immediately after the panel had been examined and sworn in.

It was the plan to use a jury in the county court at law but County Attorney E. L. Fulton was unexpectedly called to Oklahoma City Monday night on business and he was unable to be present Tuesday morning in the trial of criminal cases.

The case against T. A. Black, local chiropractor, was passed over until next Monday morning. The cases as announced set for Wednesday morning will be called for trial. Judge E. W. Raper called the retired docket in his court Tuesday morning and dismissed all civil suits in which there was no announcement. Some of the cases have been on the docket for nearly three years.
