ARREST MADE IN CONNECTION WITH CHILD ABDUCTION

PRISONER CONFESSES TO KIDNAPING ROSALIE SHANTY, AGE ELEVEN.

COUNTY JAIL PLACED UNDER HEAVY GUARD

Feeling Runs High When It Becomes Known Party is Captured.

MUSKOGON, MICH., Nov. 2.—Raymond E. Wilson of Grand Rapids, Mich., who pleaded guilty to the kidnaping of 11-year-old Rosalie Shanty, was sentenced by Judge John Vanderveer in circuit court this afternoon to from 25 to 30 years imprisonment in the state penitentiary at Marquette.

MUSKOGON, MICH., Nov. 2.—While 11-year-old Rosalie Shanty lay near death in a farm house at Dublin, Mich., early today, Raymond E. Wilson of Grand Rapids was being held at the county jail here under heavy guard, as the deputy sheriff and police reserves last Sunday, drove with her to the Jack Pine swamps of Manistee county and there abandoned her. Wilson confessed, the sheriff's office reported, that he abducted the child. A formal charge of kidnaping was lodged against him and officers announced he would be arraigned on that count unless developments in the girl's condition warranted a change.

Word from Dublin this morning was that Rosalie, widely known as the "swimming girl" through her expert exhibitions at a local beach last summer, had recovered. She still was in a semi-conscious state and suffering from high fever as a result of exposure in the forests, where she was found by a farmer. Her clothing torn to shreds and her body scratched and bruised by the underbrush.

In a statement to the authorities Wilson was quoted as saying he enticed the child into his automobile as she was leaving a church here Sunday, drove her about the city for a time, then started for Dublin. Near that town the report stated he took her to a farm where she was taken to a barn and left near a farm house and then returned to Grand Rapids. Wilson said he was intoxicated when he took the girl into his machine and was unable to explain his actions.

Feeling runs high in Muskogon when it became known that Wilson was being held here and numerous deputes and police reserves were called out to guard against disorders.

Wilson is 41 years old and has a record for several offenses. He had a police record here and had served a term in Jackson prison.

STATESBORO, GA., Nov. 2.—"I will not appeal. I am well satisfied with the sentence," declared Elliott Padrick, former minister, confessed slayer of his girl wife and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mamie Lou Dixon, made this statement after being found guilty of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment last night in superior court.

THOMAS CUTLER, PROMINENT RAIL EXECUTIVE DIES

FOUND DEAD IN PRIVATE CAR ON PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

PHYSICIAN PRONOUNCES DEATH DUE TO APOPLEXY

Prominently Before the Public in Connection With Recent Rail Strikes.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—Thomas Dewitt Cutler, a director of the Pennsylvania railroad company and chairman of the railroad executives association, was found dead today in the private car of President Hest of the Pennsylvania in Broad street station.

Mr. Cutler was in Rochester, N. Y., yesterday and was apparently in good health. The doctor pronounced Mr. Cutler dead "due to apoplexy. He had been dead a little more than an hour, according to the physician.

The private car arrived at Broad street station early today and was placed on a side track. According to instructions a porter called Mr. Cutler at 8 a. m. He received no response and becoming alarmed summoned an attendant and a physician. The doctor pronounced Mr. Cutler dead.

Mr. Cutler was a lawyer but most of his time was taken up with railroad and financial affairs. He came prominently before the country in the recent railroad shop strike by virtue of his position as chairman of the railway executives and took a firm stand against some of the demands of the strikers, especially that relating to seniority.

Mr. Cutler was born in Philadelphia and was 61 years old. He was the son of the late Theodore Cutler, at one time general counsel of the Pennsylvania railroad. He was a graduate of Pennsylvania in 1874, rose to the rank of judge advocate general of the state and was on the retired roll of officers with the rank of colonel.

MILLS DISAGREES WITH STATEMENTS OF RECTOR'S WIFE

TELLS OF CONVERSATION HAD ON MORNING AFTER THE TRAGEDY.

DECLARES HE BELIEVES WOMAN DID KILLING

Says Theories About Blackmail and Robbery Are All Rot.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 2.—Officials conducting the inquiry into the murder of President Hest of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and his choir leader, Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills, declined to comment on the interview given yesterday by Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall to 29 newspaper men. Stenographic transcripts of the interview were in the hands of Special Deputy Attorney General Mott and his chief investigator, Detective James F. Mason.

The detective said, however, that two witnesses stated that Mrs. Hall entered her home at 10 a. m. on the morning after the murders" instead of 2:30 a. m. as she told the newspaper men. He said also that the two witnesses said she was alone. Mrs. Hall said her brother, Willie Stevens, was with her. James Mills, husband of the dead woman, took issue with some of Mrs. Hall's statements.

Mills said he met Mrs. Hall at the church at 8:30 o'clock on the morning of September 15. Mrs. Hall said yesterday that she was at the church at 7 o'clock.

"I know it could not have been earlier than 8:30," said Mills, "because my children had already gone to school."

"Mrs. Hall asked me: 'Was anybody sick at your house last night?' I commented on the fact that my wife and her husband were missing, and I said: 'Maybe they have eloped.'"

CHARGE UNIVERSITY PARTY TO 'PARTISAN' PLAN FOR ELECTION

STUDENTS TO BE EMPLOYED AS SPECIAL DEPUTIES NEXT TUESDAY.

BAR YOUNG DANIELS, WHO IS A DEMOCRAT

Advised Not to Apply For Place Because He is Southerner, Student Reports.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Declaring it obtained his information from Philip Daniels, former secretary of the navy, and his son, Jonathan, a student at Columbia university, the New York World today printed a story charging Deputy Attorney General Gilbert had evolved a "partisan" plan to employ republican students at the university as special deputies and investigators at the polls next Tuesday.

The young men would be paid at the rate of $19 a day out of a $100,000 fund authorized by the legislature for ballot purging purposes.

Young Daniels, according to the World, heard some of his fellow students at Columbia law school were going to make some "easy money" at election time and inquired how he might do likewise.

He was referred to Miss Edith E. Fairchild, secretary to Dean Stone of the law school, who, the World says, admitted she was making up such a list.

"But you're a southerner, and they're all democrats," Miss Fairchild said to the young man, as quoted in the World.

PRESIDENT IS 57 BUT CELEBRATION WITHOUT FEATURE

MANY TELEGRAMS EXTENDING CONGRATULATIONS ARE RECEIVED.

NO DINNER ON ACCOUNT ILLNESS OF MRS. HARDING

Visitors Are Impressed With Evidence of His Improved Physical Condition.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—President Harding today celebrated the fifty-seventh anniversary of his birth almost as quietly and simply as the average citizen observes a birthday. There was no indication at the white house of anything more than just an ordinary day in the life of the chief executive of the land.

The president's plans called for his appearance at his office at the regular time, the regular forenoon round of conferences, the customary noon day period devoted to meeting visitors in the capital from the towns and hamlets of America who grasp the president's hand and hear his word of greeting the glom of their visit; luncheon, and then perhaps a few hours of golf over the course of a nearby country club. Because Mrs. Harding still is confined to her bed, although recovering from her recent illness, there will not even be a birthday dinner party, but the president will spend the evening with her. The fact that today was his birthday, however, was not forgotten by the close friends of the executive or by the nation and the world at large. All day long—beginning really yesterday—telegram wires at the white house ticked and messenger boys arrived carrying messages of birthday greeting, many of them from rulers and heads of other countries.

Close acquaintances of Mr. Harding remarked today on the recent improvement in his physical condition, compared to the strain of two years ago when he was just two years ago today that Mr. Harding was elected to the presidency and became noticeable. A summer of continuous work, without a vacation, the troubled industrial situation and finally the influenza illness, had increased the strain. Adjustment of congress, adjustment of the major industrial centers, and finally the steady progress toward recovery made by Mrs. Harding allowed the tension to lessen. Having the advice of his physicians, the president for a month has been taking things easier, has devoted more time to rest and has spent more time with his family.

The result, according to associates of the president, is that President Harding is in better physical condition today than he was on his birthday than he has been for months and is looking forward with zest to tackling the problems of the day.

Message received today from Secretary of State Staphes and Attorney General Keeling from county officials indicated that a number of counties are starting to withhold the printing of the election ballots until Saturday if necessary to await settlement of the litigation. Staphes and Keeling are awaiting settlement of the suit in the Dallas court of appeals if possible. Ballots for more than 15 counties in central Texas are to be printed in Austin and printing of these is being held up for a decision of the injunction suit, it was stated at local printing establishments this morning.

COURT OF APPEALS AT DALLAS DISPOSES OF LEGAL QUESTIONS AND TERMINATES JURISDICTION

DALLAS, Nov. 2.—Motion for a new hearing in the Mayfield injunction case filed originally at Corcoran was overruled by the fifth court of civil appeals this afternoon.

The court of appeals disposed of all questions pending before it which sought to prevent Mayfield's name going on the ballot as the democratic senatorial candidate.

In addition to overruling the motion for a rehearing, a motion requesting that the election boards of 16 counties be cited to show cause why they should not be held in contempt was dismissed for want of sufficient evidence.

The order previously made summoning S. L. Staples, secretary of state, and W. A. Keeling, attorney general, to appear and show cause why they should not be held in contempt of court was modified to provide they may appear either in person, by counsel or by brief.

"We regard this as terminating our jurisdiction in this case," declared Austin District Justice Dexter Hamilton from the bench after Chief Justice George Sargeant had announced the various rulings, shortly after 3 o'clock.

The court also instructed the clerk, George W. Blair, not to file any motion in the nature of a contempt proceeding which might be offered in the case.

AUSTIN, Nov. 2.—An opinion which will advise county election boards and Secretary of State Staples what course to follow in including Earle B. Mayfield's name on the official election ballot is being prepared by the attorney general's department. It became known today. The opinion is expected to be rendered late today.

Probably an opinion from the attorney general became known following a conference between Staples and Keeling. Mr. Staples then sent telegrams to a number of county officials advising that the printing of the ballots should be withheld awaiting further developments. Staples last night advised the officials to await the decision of the Dallas court of civil appeals on the Corcoran injunction.

LIBERALS SCORE VICTORY IN THE CUBAN ELECTION

HAVANA, Nov. 2.—The liberal party seemed to be on top in Cuban politics today as a result of their victories in the party's elections held throughout the island yesterday.

Incomplete and unofficial returns indicated that they had elected liberal candidates as governors of six Cuban provinces and had won the most important administrative post in the island.

Moreover, the liberals increased their members in the lower house of congress so largely that the administration may lose its majority. Returns so far received indicate the election of the following liberals as provincial governors: General Alberto Barroeta, Havana; Roberto Masdesuata, Sancti Spiritus; Juan Granillo, Matanzas; Rogelio Mayar, Camaguey; Juan de los Rios, Oriente; and Juan Inda, Pinar del Rio.

SECOND DEATH AS RESULT ACCIDENT ON ELECTRA ROAD

ELECTRA TEXAS, Nov. 2.—George Armour died today as a result of injuries received Sunday when an automobile in which he was riding turned over on the paved highway a short distance from this place. Funeral services were conducted in the local cemetery by Rev. E. M. Francis, pastor of the Baptist church. Mr. Armour had been paralyzed since Sunday.

Armour, George, aged 35, Grant and Bill Jones (colored) were in the automobile. Grant was driving and lost control of his car when he came face to face with another automobile after trying to pass a truck. His car turned over twice and was demolished. Grant suffered only minor injuries.

Roed died Sunday night following an operation to relieve fractured skull. Jones is in a local hospital with several ribs broken.

LARGE INCREASE IN PUBLIC DEBT DURING OCTOBER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—An increase of more than $25,000,000 in the public debt during October is shown in figures made public today by the treasury department.

On October 31 the gross public debt stood at $21,677,000,000, as compared with $21,425,000,000 on October 1, 1921.

Issuance of government securities in excess of redemptions during the month, particularly the half billion dollar bond issue, treasury officials explained, was responsible for the increase.

Not thought deficit can be wiped out. Treasury officials do not share the belief recently expressed in other high administrative circles that the federal government's $679,000,000 deficit for the present fiscal year can be entirely wiped out by economic stimulus.

Although it was indicated at the white house a few days ago that President Harding believed a deficit could be avoided, officials of the treasury said today in their opinion some borrowing would be necessary to make both ends meet.

THORN FROM KNEE OF ARTHUR BURCH FIGURES IN TRIAL

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—A thorn said to have been extracted from the knee of Arthur C. Burch was expected to occupy a prominent position today at his trial for the murder of J. Belton Kennedy.

When the defendant the day after Kennedy was slain started east and was taken from the train at Las Vegas, Nev., and returned to Los Angeles, a thorn was removed from his knee at the Los Angeles county jail. It was the only witness, similar to many growing on brambles about the Kennedy summer cottage in Beverly Glen where the young broker was shot to death the night of August 5, 1921.

Two men who were said to have been seen with Burch in the automobile, just before he left Brownsville, were arrested last night and are held in the county jail.

INQUIRY CONFIRMS CHARGES MADE BY STRIKING MINERS

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Nov. 2.—The New York city committee investigating conditions in the Berwind White coal mines today reported that the inquiry had confirmed charges laid before New York city officials by striking miners of the company.

It should not be purchased by coal operators who do not give the miners a fair living wage, said Chairman Fitzhugh of the committee. "The great Berwind White interests seem to have used some 1,000 men's bodies and souls to build up for themselves an industrial autocracy." The operators' side of the controversy has not been told. Several offers were made to have the Berwind White officials attend committee hearings but the company refused to participate in any meeting where representatives of the United Mine Workers were present.

MEAT PACKING IS LARGEST INDUSTRY IN UNITED STATES

ROCKFORD, ILL., Nov. 2.—Meat packing is the largest industrial enterprise in the United States, Charles E. Herrick of Chicago, president of the Institute of American Meat Packers, told Rockford Rotarians today.

Herrick said the value of the finished products in 1,200 establishments in 1919 exceeded $4,246,000,000, nearly a billion and a half dollars more than its nearest competitor, the iron and steel industry. "War and its aftermath hit the meat packing industry in its inventory, walloped it in the export and side swept its domestic trade," was Mr. Herrick's characterization of conditions existing in the packing industry during the last few years. "Soon after business had learned how to reach forward to double-quick in a world topsy-turvy with an international conflict, it suddenly was called upon to slow down to a snail's pace and then to retreat mainly in a world that was being shifted right side up again. Wholesale meat prices have made tremendous declines so that carcasses of beef at one time or another within the last four or five months has been selling at an average somewhere around the levels prevailing in 1914. Hides and other products of the packing industry have not only hit bottom but they have broken through the bottom. In fact there have been times when the meat packers would have welcomed pre-war prices for certain by-products instead of the prices that have been paid on occasions."

TIMES' MAGAZINE AND WOMAN'S PAGE

"Three Keys to Woman's Happiness, —Love, Work, and Home" Says Woman Writer, "And She Must Have Them All"

BLANCHE UFFRIGHT

By MARIAN HALL.

"Three keys open the door which leads to woman's happiness—love, domestic interest and personal achievement," says Blanche Uffright, the San Francisco novelist.

"Many modern women are trying to enter with just one piece, key—personal achievement, without taking into consideration the importance of the first two. So we hear much about their restlessness and discontent," she continued.

"I am convinced that women will never find happiness in careers or professions if they select them as a substitute for homes, children and the normal interests of women. Women are essentially homemakers.

"Those brave women who go out to work that they may maintain or help maintain a home for those dependent upon them are greatly to be admired, but those who go into business just to avoid the responsibilities of being a wife and mother are storing up unhappiness later.

"Follow Women Trail.

"In my study of women and types I find that so many women try to find their happiness everywhere except where it is most easily found—in home life.

"They make the loss of a maid or the desire for things which they cannot have material for tragedies. They are so blinded by trivialities they cannot see the suffering behind their own immediate vision, and the opportunity to help others."

Mrs. Uffright has given much thought to women's problems. Her first novel, which is being dramatized and pictured this year, "The Valley of Content," was based upon the search for happiness. The novel which she is now finishing has to do with women's independence.

Her literary career began at the age of 8, when she dictated fairy tales to her nurse. At 19 she produced a six-act play, and when she was nicely started in her teens, she became associated with a San Francisco paper.

London Advised Her.

She took her first piece of fiction to Jack London for criticism and he told her to go ahead and be famous.

The real ambition of her life is not literary success, but a large estate on the Hudson, to which she may take the little waifs she finds in the slums and give them a chance at a real home and some real mothering.

"Of course, for my fiction, I pick my types all over," she said, "but I have made it my business to look for the good in people and I have never yet been disappointed. I have never known a woman who did not have a beautiful side to her character, no matter what her occupation or circumstances might be; nor have I ever found a child who did not respond to kindness and understanding."

Though her home on the Hudson is still a dream, she has already worked up a great acquaintance with the children of New York's East Side tenements and they are frequently entertained in her suite at the Hotel Astor and sent home happy with new clothes and toys.

Mrs. Uffright herself is happily married and has a grown son.

DELPHIANS WELCOME NEW MEMBERS WEDNESDAY

The Beta Delphians held an enjoyable meeting with Mrs. S. L. Conn Wednesday afternoon, and continued their interesting study of dramatic history.

The theme for the day was the drama as a religious and moral force, and Mrs. T. J. McGee gave the preparatory reading, "The Religious Origin of the Drama." Mrs. O. W. Harvey gave a paper on the "Influence of the Modern Drama," after which Mrs. T. J. McGee took charge of the text reports, with assistance in discussion of several themes by Mrs. W. B. Chauncey and Mrs. J. T. Carter. Mrs. Chauncey discussed Tertullian's "De Spectaculo," "The Mystery Play in the Church," and "Secularization of the Mystery Play," and Mrs. Carter gave a description of the Corpus Christi pageant in Yale, England.

Mrs. Lee Wilson gave a dramatic reading, "The Three Mariner," and Mrs. B. T. Burgess discussed the question as to whether the possible immortality of a play depended on the subject or the spirit, and the sort of performances which divert the mind and those that divert only the eye.

Those who were present included Mesdames J. F. Riggs Jr., W. B. Chauncey, T. J. McGee, Lee Wilson, F. E. Murrell, H. G. Burgess, William Huff, W. B. Chauncey, O. W. Harvey, Jaul Barnett, J. J. Deberry, R. A. Lincoln, S. L. Conn and J. T. Carter.

MRS. SHAMBERGER HOSTESS ON HUSBAND'S BIRTHDAY

Mrs. C. D. Shamburger of 2561 Ninth street entertained at her home Wednesday evening in honor of her husband's birthday. A delightful three course birthday surprise dinner was served at 6 o'clock after which those present spent a most enjoyable evening at progressive.

The honoree of the occasion refused to divulge the number of the milestone he had just passed, but intimated that the hostess had selected a game which to name represented very closely his age. In view of the fact that each table had been provided with a punch it was impossible to ascertain who had scored the most points at forty-two as a checkup revealed that there were many who had won more games than had been played. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Morris, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Fruechte, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Stout, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Abbott and Mr. and Mrs. Shamburger.

MISS KATHLEEN HANDLE ENTERTAINS WEDNESDAY

Miss Kathleen Handle entertained a dozen of her little friends with a Halloween party Wednesday at her home, when the children were delightfully diverted with Halloween games, fortune telling by a first-class mystic (C. C. Randle Jr.) and other entertainment. The house was decorated for the occasion with pumpkins, witches, black cats and the other Halloween insignia.

The guests of little individual pumpkin pies and hot chocolate were served to Juanita Kinney, Louise Ranley, Wirta French, Lucille Morris, William Fowler, Ethel Campbell, Jack Mackay, M. A. Smith, R. M. Bolton and John Lytle, and Kathleen, Mr. and Mrs. William Gamble and Mrs. Frank Gomez assisted Mrs. Handle in entertaining the young people.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS TWINS MEET HUMPTY

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Humpty sat on a wall. Don't you think it's silly?"

"No," answered Nancy.

"Neither do I," said Nick.

"Well, it is, just the same," said the egg. "And I'll tell you why. In the first place I'm Humpty Dumpty. And in the second place, when I fell off the wall, I didn't get hurt."

"But the poem says—" began Nancy.

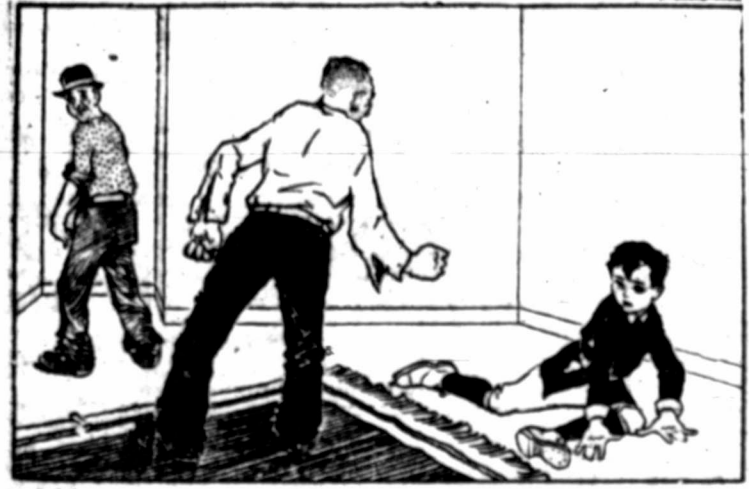

"Yes, I know what it says," interrupted Humpty. "I know all about it. That's why it's silly." It says that all the king's horses and all the king's men couldn't put me together again. Now doesn't it? Do you know why?"

"Because I didn't break," laughed Humpty.

"I fell into a leather bed," the Twins were so astonished that they forgot to ask about Mother Goose's broom.

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES

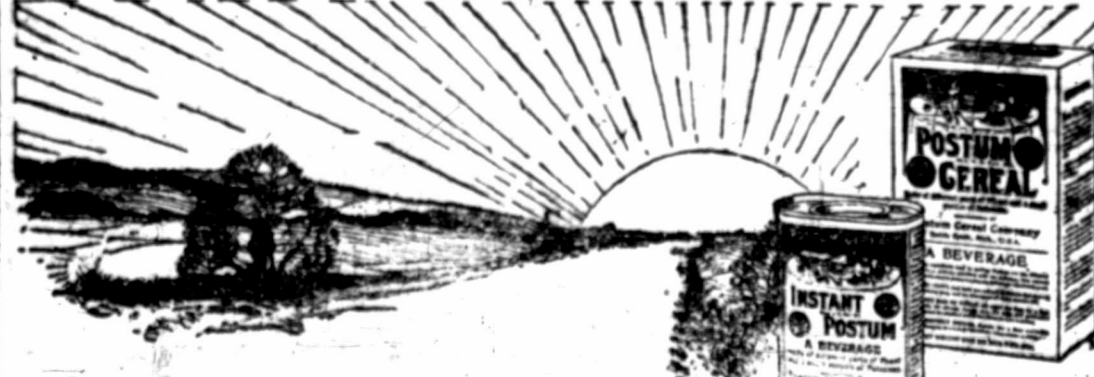

After Old Man Gre had commanded that Jack be taken up to the castle tower, his two captives became very tough. "Now we'll have to spend our time guarding you," one of them said. "There he pushed Jack over on the floor. What would Jack do against two big men?"

Shortly one of the men shouted, "Get up, you lazy scamp, and march along." "How could I march with my feet so sore?" asked the other. "He knew there was no use arguing, but all the time he was thinking of some plan to get even with the men."

Jack was taken to the top floor of the tower and locked in. A short time later a glass of water and a slice of bread were carried in to him. "You've waited for the day," somebody shouted. But Jack had no idea of staying in the tower all day. (Continued.)

SURPRISE SHOWER AND BRIDGE PARTY HONORS MRS. J. F. RIGGS JR.

A surprise shower was a pretty feature of the bridge party with which Mrs. J. F. Riggs and Miss Cecil McCurdy complimented Mrs. J. F. Riggs Jr. at the senior hostess' home Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Riggs Jr. was formerly Miss Maudie Cotton.

The shower was most attractively presented. The young married people have had the usual "house hunting" difficulties, and when Miss McCurdy presented an enormous pumpkin to the guest of honor and informed her that her housing troubles were over, and that she and her husband might now emulate the example of "Peter, Peter, pumpkin eater," and live in the pumpkin shell, the recipient thought the matter a very pretty joke. When she removed the top of the big pumpkin, however, she found it packed tight with beautiful gifts for her new home. While others were presented in addition.

After the shower the guests played bridge, and Miss Mary Smith, who won a silver olive dish as first prize, and Mrs. Walter Bryant, who was crowned for low with a kitchen salt and pepper set, both presented the guest of honor with a gift to augment her collection. Later the hostesses served a salad plate of fruit salad, sardines, flaked pumpkin pie and hot tea to the following: Mesdames J. F. Riggs Jr., Walter Bryant, W. F. Wilson, Roy Coffee, Royal Parker, Bill James, Stanley Grainger, Lloyd Weaver, Leo Wilmetth and W. P. McCurdy; Misses Letta Jo McCallister, Lucile Benson, Burch Murphy, Mary Smith, Georgia B. Leath and Janie McCullister.

The Riggs home was beautifully decorated in vases of yellow chrysanthemums, tied with gold and black tulle, for the party, which was an unusually pretty affair.

BETA DELPHIANS WITH MRS. CONN WEDNESDAY

The Delphians held an interesting lesson Wednesday afternoon at their regular meeting at Kemp library, when Mrs. Walter S. Robertson led a parliamentary law session, opening the meeting. Following this Miss Lillian Fain discussed "Woman and the Three D's—Dependent, Delinquent and Defective." A "Trot" business meeting completed the afternoon's meeting.

The club was very much delighted to have Mrs. William Wallace back again, and to have also the two new members, Mrs. T. A. Key and Mrs. J. O. McKnight, present for the first time. Mrs. W. F. Turner's resignation from the club was accepted with regret.

Members present included Mesdames W. W. Cook, B. L. Fain, O. E. Nichols, William Wallace, A. H. Britain, O. E. Maer, C. N. Alexander, Leonard Grayson, Colver, Boone, J. C. Humphrey, Burt Moore, W. S. Robertson, Harry Davis, J. O. McKnight, T. A. Key and Miss Lillian Fain.

BUSINESS GIRLS S. S.

CLASS SURPRISE TEACHER

Half a hundred of the members of Mrs. Hartsook's Business Girls' class of the First M. E. church, south, surprised her with a Halloween party Tuesday evening, when they gathered at the home of Mrs. Maye Bennett and went to the Hartsook home in costume.

The party carried their own refreshments—pumpkin pie and apple cider, and these were dispensed late in the evening. Miss Rhos Gardner was given a bottle of toilet water as prize for wearing the most effective costume—that of an old woman—and Misses Lila Copeland and Hetty Thompson helped entertain the group with songs and characterizations.

Hips, Back and Legs would Have That Tired Ache

Everett, Washington.—“For several years I have had trouble with the lowest part of my back and my hips and my legs would ache with that tired ache. I could hardly stand on my feet at times. I was always able to do my work although I did not feel good. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and having heard several praise it I decided to try it. I feel first-rate at the present time. It has done wonders for me and I keep it in the house right along. I always recommend it to others who are sick and ailing.”—Mrs. J. M. SIBBERT, 4032 High St., Everett, Washington.

To do any kind of work, or to play for that matter, is next to impossible if you are suffering from some form of female trouble. It may cause your back or your legs to ache, it may make you nervous and irritable. You may be able to keep up and around, but you do not feel good. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine for women. It is especially adapted to relieve the cause of the trouble and then these annoying pains, aches and “no good” feelings disappear.

Little Journeys to the Homes of Friends of CARDUI

MRS. JAMES CONATSER (From a Snapshot Photograph)

THE CONATSER HOME (Nestled in a picturesque spot amid the Cumberland Mountains.)

Mr. & Mrs. James Conatser

Did you ever go on a journey, expecting some interesting happening at the end of your trip, and find that the most interesting part of your journey was an unexpected adventure in the middle of it?

Well, that was what happened to me, on a trip I was making to visit the home of a friend in Fentress County, Tennessee, on a remote rural road. After traveling several miles from the railroad station, over a rocky road, night finally overtook me near Jamestown. Looking around, I espied a comfortable-looking farm house and, upon investigating, found it was the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Conatser, owners of one of the largest farms in that part of Tennessee.

At their hospitable invitation, I spent the night with them, and the acquaintance thus begun ripened into a closer relationship, leading me recently, while in Jamestown, to again visit these kind friends during the daytime, on which occasion they took me on a trip of inspection around the farm, pointing out things and places of interest and conversing freely about eventual items in their life and history.

The Conatser home nestles in a picturesque spot, amid the hills of Fentress County, a cool and pleasant resting place after the hot and dusty trip from Jamestown. A few steps from the house, the crystal waters from a cool spring trickle over a rock, furnishing a refreshing drink for wayfarers like myself.

Under the rock, forming a natural refrigerator, was kept the family milk, butter and cream. Some of the latter was requisitioned by our hosts and we went to the house, where we enjoyed a good dish of home-grown berries and real country cream.

On a well-kept farm like this, living expenses do not seem to be high, for, as Mrs. Conatser explained, there is an abundance of fresh butter, milk, cheese, honey, chickens, berries of all kinds, vegetables and fruit, to be had as wanted.

Mr. Conatser is a descendant of the American Conatsers, who fought in the War of Independence. In 1780, one of these Conatsers fought against the British troops in the battle of King's Mountain, North Carolina, carrying through the fight a powder horn which became an heirloom of the family and was finally presented to the late President McKinley, who wrote a letter of thanks, saying he regarded it as one of his most prized souvenirs.

This part of Tennessee formed, at one time, as is well known, one of the favorite hunting grounds of several of the aboriginal tribes, chiefly the Cherokee, one of the Five Nations of Iroquoian stock, made famous by Fenimore Cooper. All of these tribes were agricultural, and were noted for their large communal houses, palisaded towns, and ability to organize. The Cherokees were the only Indians who invented an alphabet of their own, of 84 characters, which is still in use, and in which they now have their own printed newspapers and books. The tribe, today, is settled, with others, in what is known as the Indian Reservation, in Oklahoma.

Knowing something, as I do, of the history of the American aborigines, it was extremely interesting to me to find on the Conatser farm an immense cave, hollowed out of solid rock, which had evidently been used as a tomb by a body of this tribe of Indians.

For many years the rock had been unnoticed, except as a landmark, surrounded by cultivated fields on the Conatser farm, but one day it occurred to Mr. Conatser to make some practical use of the cave, and he proceeded to open it up and investigate. Finding the floor covered deep with ashes, he began to clean the same away. Discovering that the ashes were valuable as fertilizer, he utilized hundreds of loads for fertilizing his farm land.

While digging and loosening the ashes, several skeletons and bones were found, which, upon examination, proved to be those of prehistoric Indians. One well-preserved skeleton was that of a man, who had been laid to rest with a piece of flint under his head. Another skeleton, much smaller, was thought to be that of a girl. With this was discovered a terrapin shell bowl, in which was a spoon carved from a mussel shell.

Many flint weapons, such as arrow and spear heads, were found in the ashes and in crevices of the rocks, also pestle-shaped rocks for pounding grain into meal, and sharp, blade-shaped flints, for dressing hides. Several of these relics were kindly given me by the Conatsers, to carry away as a souvenir of my visit.

MODERN USE OF AN INDIAN CAVE

This prehistoric cave, illustrated in next column, discovered on the Conatser farm, in Fentress County, Tennessee, has today been turned into practical use for the present generation as a shelter or barn for cattle, of which it easily holds 100 head. Pure spring water falls from a rock into a basin, in a shady grove below, providing for the thirsty cows. By a freak of rock formation, a natural hay pit is provided, into which a load of hay, driven onto the rock, may be easily dumped from above, requiring little labor for what is usually a considerable job, feeding a large herd of cattle.

Talking freely to me, a sympathetic woman listener, of some of the ailments from which she had suffered, Mrs. Conatser told me of her experience with Cardui, the Woman's Tonic, at a critical period of her life, and gave me permission to publish the true statement of her experience, which is printed with this article. This same great doctor found the way to avoid much of this suffering. Mother, your baby's nerves, its whole structure should be free from any influence caused by four months of useless misery and pain. You yourself can be free from much of it. Here is a little message to all expectant mothers:

Mrs. Ida Milton, 105 N. Tremont St., Kansas, Ill., says: "I was forced to say something in regard to your wonderful 'Mother's Friend.' Just one application gave me such relief I could hardly realize I was in pregnancy. Before I used it I was suffering with pains all over, and today, I am able to do my house-work with all ease and without pain."

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally, and enables the muscles, nerves and tissues to relax and readjust themselves with the growing changes during pregnancy, and at child-birth. It should be used for some time before baby comes—the sooner the better.

"Mother's Friend" contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is safe. For those pregnancies "Mother's Friend" has relieved expectant mothers of much useless suffering. "I heard so much of Cardui and that it was a good tonic for weak women until I decided to try it; and I can say it is the best tonic I have found. I am much pleased with results obtained.

"My daughter also used Cardui as a tonic. She was in a very run down condition. She is now much better."

HARD FIGHT MADE ON KELLOGG IN MINNESOTA

Democrats to Gain In Lower House Says Noted Political Writer.

By MARK SULLIVAN
National Political Correspondent of the New York Evening Post and Wichita Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 2.—With exactly one week remaining of the campaign, the situation in the larger ones of the various states, which at the beginning of the campaign were regarded as fighting ground, may be summarized as follows: Massachusetts is safely republican as to its state and senatorial ticket, although the republicans will lose at least one of their congressmen. The whole pretentious fight, which the democrats a few months ago expected to make to retire Lodge to private life has broken down in practically every detail. Due to local conditions, to factions within the democratic ranks and to other facts, it would not be surprising if Massachusetts should give Senator Lodge not only a safe victory but a remarkable demonstration.

In Connecticut the republicans have the edge as to their senatorial candidate although here as in Massachusetts, it is fairly certain that the republicans will lose some of their members of the lower house of congress. New York has a very close fight. Betting, which is commonly regarded as an index of the judgment of those who are willing to bet money on their belief and information, favors Miller. The decided judgment of the writer, however, is that New York is clearly a case of an even bet.

Regardless of what is given out for public consumption, it would be found that in their hearts neither the thoroughly well informed republican leaders nor the thoroughly well informed democratic leaders expect a victory of over forty or fifty thousand either way. The smallness of this variation between republican estimates and democratic estimates tells its own story in the state in which the total electorate will be over 1,100,000.

Big Week in New York. However, the last week of the campaign will be more important in New York than in most states, for the reason that the fight during these last six days will be centered on the immense and compact electorate of New York City. All the candidates of both parties for all the important offices will be in the city, and in addition to the speech-making there will be an intensiveness of organized effort not equalled anywhere else in the country. It is the fruit of the last week of work in New York City, and such accidents of one sort or another as may accompany it, will determine the New York state result. Your correspondent hopes to cover this New York fight in greater detail later.

As to New Jersey, the writer, in the beginning, had the belief that this state would be carried by the republicans and the "dry." For a time it seemed as if the democrats and the "wet" under the leadership of Governor Edwards, were doing better than Frelinghuysen and the "Drys." Just recently, however, a new issue has been interjected into the election in the shape of charges of waste, or worse, in the construction of state roads during the present democratic regime.

As a result of this new issue considerable sections of the state which were formerly doubtful, especially in the southern part are now considered to be republican. It continues to be the more dependable judgment that New Jersey will be won by Senator Frelinghuysen, together with his republican and "dry" following. Here as elsewhere, the republicans are quite sure to lose some members of the lower house of congress.

Ohio continues to point toward democratic victory even more strongly than at the time two weeks ago, when it seemed clear to the present writer that the voters of the state were determined to rebuke the present state regime. It would not be surprising if the republicans should lose as many as twelve of the twenty-three members of the lower house, they now hold in Ohio. They are quite certain to lose at least eight.

Indiana continues to be safe for Senator Beveridge and for the rest of the republican ticket, except that the republicans will surely lose four of five of the thirteen seats in the lower house of congress which they now hold. As to Missouri, recent developments seem to make it safe for the democrats who will comfortably carry the state. Here, however, as in New York, the determining fight will take place during the coming six days, when both candidates will be in St. Louis fighting for the large and compact vote of that city. Decidedly the greater probability, however, is that Reed and the democrats will win. It is also a probability that the democrats will win as many as seven of the present republican congressmen from this state.

Trend Towards Democrats. This completes the larger ones of the states which have been regarded as doubtful. Without attempting to go over the smaller states one by one, it can be said that during the last week of the campaign there is a slow but unmistakable trend towards the democrats. If the democrats had the same resources, the same organization and the same leadership as the republicans, they might readily be able to make the lower house democratic. As it is, the present republican majority of 169 will certainly be reduced below fifty, and may be reduced as low as thirty. What the democrats are able to do with an unmistakably sullen and disheartened electorate is illustrated by what has recently taken place in Minnesota. A month or six weeks ago there was not the faintest possibility of defeating Senator Kellogg. In point of fact, Senator Kellogg is still safe. But there can be no mistaking what has happened in this state as a result of the energy injected into the campaign there by the democrats during the past weeks. Rickaboo and Bryan came into the state and by the life which they injected into the campaign reduced Senator Kellogg's margin of safety in a way which all the republican leaders conceded.

It is expected that during the present week LaFollette will come into the state to talk for the farmer-labor candidate, Shipstead, and the further endanger Senator Kellogg, who nominally is LaFollette's fellow republican. As a result of the life recently injected into this Minnesota campaign, two republican congressmen from that state are in danger of being defeated. One of the men is Volstead, the author of the prohibition enforcement statute. The other is Larson, the present republican congressman from a mining district in the northern part of the state, where the labor candidate running against the republican sitting member is picked to win.

The plain facts bear out what has repeatedly been emphasized, namely, that the electorate of the United States as a whole is in a sullen and truculent mood. It is not particularly democratic and not particularly republican. So far as it has affirmative enthusiasm for any party, it shows itself most in the spots where farmer-labor candidates or other radical candidates provide an opportunity for the expression of this kind of a mood "against what is." That is to say against the republican party, which is in power in the nation.

If the democrats had been in a position, with resources, organization and leadership adequately mobilized to direct this somewhat aimless sullenness on the part of the electorate, the chances for a democratic victory of representatives would be very strong. As it is, if the democrats should carry, as they well may, the two big traditionally doubtful and traditionally indecisive states of Ohio and New York, the result on the day after the election will express itself in headlines and in discussion of such a sort as to make the results of the election as a whole have the atmosphere of a rebuke to the republicans.

ELIASVILLE CITIZENS CORRECT ERRONEOUS REPORT ON PETITION

ELIASVILLE, TEXAS, Oct. 28.—Editor The Times: We, the undersigned citizens of Eliasville, Texas, wish to deny and condemn as erroneous and misleading the dispatch in Friday's Times saying that "numerous petitions are in circulation here denouncing Mike McNamara." We consider this statement a reflection upon the intelligence and fairness of our citizenship and misconstrues the real sentiment of the great majority of the community.

We have seen no petition denouncing Mr. McNamara, and have found no one who admits signing any such petition. Furthermore, the Young county democratic petitions which are being circulated do not refer to, or are calculated to have reference to, the integrity of Mr. McNamara. We consider Eliasville the cleanest community of its size in the oil fields. It has no bootleggers, gambling houses or loose characters. On the other hand, it is a town enjoying a fair degree of prosperity and composed of an industrious and God-fearing population of oil field operators and workers, farmers, ranchers and business men, and having four churches and good schools. It has never been a political hotbed, and does not merit the implication in the Friday dispatch.

SENATORIAL RACE CHIEF TOPIC OF CONVERSATION

OLNEY, Nov. 2.—Predictions as to the outcome of the race for senator and expressions of opinion relative to the fitness of the two candidates is the chief topic of discussion here. Teddy supporters claim their candidate is gaining strength daily while the Mayfield faction predicts an overwhelming majority for Mayfield. Up to recently opinion was based chiefly on Klan or anti-Klan sentiment, but late developments have added new angles to the situation and the activities of both parties have increased. Many citizens have joined the Teddy and Mayfield clubs at Graham.

Cameron Aggies to Bring Strong Team For Saturday Game

From latest reports, the Coyotes will meet stubborn opposition Saturday when they tackle the Cameron Aggies from Lawton.

Walker's broken nose and Coffey's injured leg are repairing and it is likely that they will play the entire game with little to fear, but unless it is necessary, just a good workout will be allowed them and other members of the team who need the experience will get into the first.

Cleburne is still agitating the regular game. Last night, Coach Erney and Coach Jones talked at length over the prospect and are trying to agree on some kind of proposition.

Through advice and instruction of the league officials Jones and Erney are negotiating temporarily, but if the Cleburne protest is disallowed, then the Cleburne discussion is of no avail.

Michigan Looms As Contender for Title

Michigan is certain to be a troublemaker in western football this year.

Coach Yost has a team with great possibilities. It has plenty of power, drive and fight.

In the game with Ohio State Michigan proved that it is well coached in the art of modern football.

For several years many of the western experts have insisted that Michigan teams were not making the most of their possibilities.

Michigan has been lacking in variety of play and deceptive play of attack.

Michigan's weakness in the experts was playing a rather stereotyped game that could be easily diagnosed after a period or so.

State Used Many Passes. Knowing that State would attempt to play Michigan with Willie's charges opened up their game. Yost had his team prepared for such a happening.

Michigan soon showed that it was prepared to cope with the forward passes of State.

Michigan's game with Ohio State proved that the Ann Arbor eleven had great possibilities.

One of the outstanding features of Centre's play against Harvard was the work of End Lemon, when it is considered it was his first big game.

There is a difference in the attitude taken by Old Ed and Old Nae-man in regard to intersectional grid games which test the strength of their eleven.

Yale tested a better defeat from the intersectional game machine two weeks ago, but in all courtesy, not of the boasting kind or envying of revenge, but building has invited Chicago to meet them again in 1923.

Not so with Princeton. Victors over Stagg's Maroon eleven from Chicago in 1920, the Tiger received the far western aggregation at home last year and accepted a crushing defeat.

Walker New Welter Champ After Great Scrap With Britton

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—A grinning, towel-headed young fellow from Elizabeth, N. J., is welterweight boxing champion of the world today because he had absolutely no respect for old age, wisdom and cunning when he ran athwart them at Madison Square Garden last night.

Walker led from the first, and even though somewhat wild, penetrated the masterly defense of Britton at once, landing numerous damaging blows.

Mickey Walker is the new champion and Jack Britton, the sage of the ring, is again an ex-champion. It's not exactly a new role for Britton, but it appears likely to be a permanent one now.

MEANING OF WORD CHURCH EXPLAINED IN REVIVAL SERMON

A large audience heard Rev. E. W. Williams, Jr. at the Church of Christ Wednesday evening. His theme was "Descriptive Titles of the Church." By way of introduction, there was given a discussion of the term "church." It was shown that the word "ekklesia," from which we have the word "church," originally had no religious aspect, but only meant an assembly of people convened or called together for any purpose or reason. The speaker cited Acts 19:32 in which a mob at Ephesus is referred to as "the assembly." According to the evangelist, it was therefore folly to attempt to make the word church refer to the occurrence in every instance of its occurrence. The speaker then pointed out that the word "church" in its application to God's people must depend entirely upon the thing done in connection with the word where it appears; hence the speaker selected "Descriptive Titles of the Church" as his theme. He followed the use of the word "church" in the seven scripture references, carrying as many different descriptions.

1.—1 Cor. 1:2, Paul writes, "Unto the church of God which is at Corinth." "Unto the church, assembly of God." Not to just any assembly, but unto the church, assembly of God. Here is possession—God's assembly.

2.—Ephesians 2:14, Paul says, "For this cause I bow my knees unto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, of whom the whole family in heaven and earth is named." Here is the fatherly aspect of the people of God. God is the father, we are all brethren. Hence the "brotherhood of God and the brotherhood of men."

3.—Colossians 1:13, Paul writes, "Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and hath translated us into the kingdom of His dear son." Here is the government phase of the church or God's people. The church is a kingdom as to its government, and the King, Jesus Christ, has handed down His perfect law for the government of His people.

4.—1 Tim. 3:14, Paul writes to Timothy, telling him "how thou oughtest to manage the church of the living God, which is the church of the living God." Here God's people are referred to as a house over which Jesus as son is placed as head.

5.—1 Cor. 3:16, Paul writes, "Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the spirit of God dwelleth in you?" Here God is represented as having His habitation with His people. God dwells in His church, in His people.

6.—1 Cor. 9:17, Paul writes, "Who planteth a vineyard and eateth not of the fruit thereof? Thus God's people a vineyard. Here, said the evangelist, is suggested the working phase of the people of God. Each man to work in his vineyard, is the injunction of the father.

The interest in the meeting last evening was much better than at any time since the beginning, and there is a constant growing interest.

AUTO NUMBER DIES FOUND BY POLICE IN RAID ON STILL

A copper still with a 50 gallon capacity, two cases of the finished product, several barrels of mash and a complete set of dies suitable for changing automobile numbers were captured in a raid made Wednesday night by Officers Tom Shook, C. A. Gribble and R. L. Miller on 4 1/2 Five room place on Avenue E. A man, who is known to police and federal authorities, and three women were arrested in the raid and are being held in the city jail for further developments in the case.

The still was modern and well equipped in every respect except for an iron coil which police claim would poison liquor distilled through it. The still showed evidence of having been used recently, and about two gallons of corn whiskey was found in the house. Several barrels of mash dated and ready to be run at intervals was also found in the place.

It was stated at the city hall Thursday that the man had served some time in prison in connection with an automobile theft in San Antonio and was an escaped convict. On another occasion when arrested here he was acquitted and was instrumental in helping officers recover several stolen cars. Police authorities are hopeful of getting a clue that will lead to recovery of a number of stolen cars. It is believed that the dies found in the Wednesday night raid have been used in changing numbers on stolen cars.

Nearly all the local Shriners will hunt up their fezzes and join the band, patrol and chapters on this Burk Burnett trip. HEAVIER FINES IN TRAFFIC CASES IS NEW JUDGE'S PLAN

Judge Luther Hoffman started war on speeders and traffic violators in the city court Thursday morning. In cases where appearance bonds of $5 had been given and the defendant failed to appear, Judge Hoffman refused the bond as sufficient to cover the fine. Orders were given to place the offenders on a $50 appearance bond in order that the evidence in the cases might be heard.

"There will be no more $10 fines for speeding in cases where it is the second or third offense," Judge Hoffman said Thursday morning. "I intend to help eliminate some of the speeding and reckless driving and those cases will receive the most of my attention."

Fines amounting to $50 were assessed in speeding, vagrancy and drunkenness cases at the Wednesday morning session.

CANDIDATES GET TWENTY PER CENT REFUND THURSDAY

All candidates who paid the sum estimated by the county executive committee for expenses of the democratic primaries received a check Thursday morning from P. B. Cox, county chairman, for 20 per cent of the amount paid in.

Those candidates who had no opposition and who were taxed $125, received a check for $25, while those who had opposition were given a check of $20. Precinct officers also received 20 per cent of the amount they deposited.

The refund came as an utter surprise to all candidates, as it was learned several were expecting that a deficit would exist after all expenses had been paid.

MERCURY CRAWLS UP TO 81 DEGREES POINT WEDNESDAY

A warm sun Wednesday afternoon drove the mercury up to the 81 degree point and kept it there for several hours. During the night, however, it receded to the 66 degree point and Thursday morning, a heavy dew made it feel as though the temperature was as low as 50 degrees.

The sun arose again Thursday morning master of all that it surveyed. No clouds were visible in the skies from this city and agents throughout the district reported cloudless skies.

The wind switched to the south during the night but no indications were given from that direction that any material change in weather conditions could be expected within the next 24 hours.

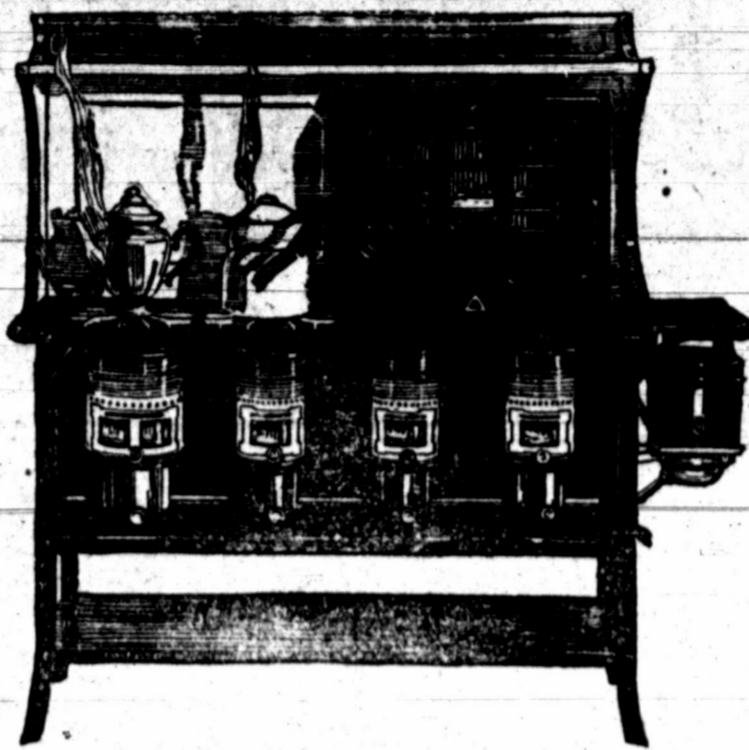

M'CLURKAN STORE BUILDING CONTRACT HAS BEEN AWARDED

Contract for the new McClurkan and company building to be erected at Ninth and Scott, was awarded Wednesday to J. C. Joplin and company. Work will start without delay, and it is expected the building will be ready for occupancy early in 1923.

The building will be two stories in height, 50x150 feet in dimensions, and will be one of the city's handsome business structures.

Contract for the 50x100 building to be erected by J. N. Prothro just south of the McClurkan building will probably be awarded soon. This building, which will be occupied by the Wichita Falls Electric company, will be of uniform construction with the McClurkan building.
