WICHITAN'S BROTHER VICTIM OF TURK ARMY

BEHEADED WHILE FAMILY LOOKS ON; WOMEN MISSING

SEEK TO REVOKE ORDER GRANTING CHANGE OF VENUE

EFFORT MADE TO BRING OKLAHOMA GOVERNOR TO TRIAL AT OKMULGEE.

EXECUTIVE IS CHARGED WITH ACCEPTING BRIBE

Interest Added to Case By Charge Convict is Released to Kill County Attorney.

OKMULGEE, OKLA., Nov. 20.—

District Judge Thomas A. Edwards this morning postponed until 1:30 p. m. the hearing on a motion to revoke Judge Lucien E. Wright's order Friday granting Governor J. B. A. Robertson a change of venue for trial on a charge of accepting a bribe.

County Attorney Hepburn, just before court reconvened this afternoon, declared his intention of taking the witness stand to testify concerning the bribery case, that the governor conspired to have him murdered by a paroled convict.

"I obtained my information regarding Burch (the convict) and the condition upon which he was released from the penitentiary from the man who claims he engineered the entire deal."

"If the opportunity is afforded me I shall take the witness stand and tell everything, including the names of the men who gave me the information," the county attorney said.

OKMULGEE, OKLA., Nov. 20.—Another chapter in the prosecution of Governor J. B. A. Robertson was being written in court here this morning when District Judge Thomas A. Edwards of Cordell is hearing County Attorney James Hepburn's motion to set aside the change of venue in the bribery case against the state's chief executive, granted Friday by District Judge Lucien E. Wright.

Partisan feeling has run high here since Friday with the belief current, it has been indicated, that today's hearing will be the final episode of the governor's case to be tried here. The case was opened last January in the midst of sensational charges, and each new development has been closely followed.

Judge Edwards was appointed by the state supreme court Friday to replace Judge Mark L. Bosworth, against whom the governor's action was upheld in September by the high court.

The appointment was made within a few hours after Judge Wright had taken matters into his own hands and granted the change of venue to Ada, Okla., and set the case for hearing Wednesday. Judge Wright and Bosworth are the 2nd judicial district and Judge Wright held he was qualified to hear the motion after Judge Bosworth had been ruled out.

Sensational Charges. The county attorney alleges he was not given notice the motion for change of venue was to be heard Friday and that he did not expect to be heard until the supreme court had designated a judge to act.

FIFTY ADDITIONAL VENTREMIEN REPORT FOR MARION TRIAL

By Associated Press. MARION, ILL., Nov. 20.—Fifty more ventremien were on hand when Williamson county circuit court reconvened today to resume selection of a jury to try five men charged with murder in connection with the Herrin mine disorders last June in which 23 persons met death.

Four jurors have been accepted by both defense and prosecution and the state has accepted tentatively three out of more than 300 ventremien examined last week. An additional batch of fifty ventremien has been ordered to report Wednesday.

Both sides today said they hoped to complete the jury this week, although it has been estimated that the selection is maintained it will require a fortnight as only four jurors were accepted finally last week. Sheriff Melvin Thaxton, who was criticized for alleged neglect in failure to call troops to quell the riots in the report of the special grand jury which investigated the killings will retire as sheriff within two weeks, having been elected county treasurer in the recent election. George Galligan is sheriff-elect.

PLAN ORGANIZATION OF WET FORCES FOR CAMPAIGN OF 1924

MEETING IS BEING HELD IN ST. LOUIS TO OUTLINE PROGRAM.

WANT PLANK INCLUDED IN POLITICAL PLATFORM

Declare People Clamoring For Chance to Express Themselves On Prohibition Question.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 20.—Steps to organize the "wet" forces in every state in the country to obtain modification of the Volstead act were to be discussed at a two-day meeting today of the National Association Opposed to Prohibition Amendment, which is being held here.

Predictions were made by delegates that the liquor question probably would be the principal issue of the 1924 presidential election as a result of claims being made that the "wets" won a sweeping victory in the recent general election.

George S. Vest, secretary of the Missouri branch of the organization, who is handling arrangements for the meeting, explained that the purpose of the conference mainly was to give the various state secretaries of the national body a chance to get acquainted, this being the first time that the association has ever been assembled.

He asserted, however, that undoubtedly the question of the part that the organization would play in the next presidential election would be discussed and tentatively agreed upon. He added that the question of bringing the work of the state bodies into closer co-relation would be another topic of discussion.

Secretary Vest continued that the chief aim of the association was to bring about the insertion of "wet" planks in the platforms of both democratic and republican parties, and in this way give the organization the balance of power, which he said, has been held heretofore by the Anti-Prohibition League of America.

William L. Fish, who assisted in the selection of Governor Edwards as a New Jersey to the United States senate on a light wine and beer platform, emphasized that the prohibition question would be the principal issue in the next general election.

"People all over the country are clamoring for a chance to express themselves on the prohibition question," he said. "When the national platforms are constructed the question will come up and neglect of it will be construed as an indication that the offending party is 'dry.'"

"The November elections proved that the law-abiding majority of our population wants a modification of the Volstead act, which will permit beverages of light alcoholic content."

"We have no desire to get into anything like a third party movement, but believe that the two great parties will see their way to settle the 'wet and dry' question."

CO-GETTERS

By Associated Press. PEKING, Nov. 19.—The American legation here is without further word from the three American missionaries kidnaped by Honan bandits at different times within the past two weeks. The three captives, Anton Lundeen, Einar Borgh-Brien and George Olaf Holm, all were connected with the Lutheran mission here. The three captives have been permitted to communicate with their families and when last heard from were unharmed.

The foreign office today asked the cabinet to send an expedition into Honan province to treat with the bandits for the release of the captives. V. K. Wellington, Koo's foreign minister, declared that he was confident the kidnaped foreigners would be freed within a week.

Newberry Tenders His Resignation As Michigan Senator

C. G. ADAMS ON TRIAL MONDAY ON ROBBERY CHARGE

J. J. COLONNA, CHIEF WITNESS FOR STATE, IS ON STAND MONDAY.

TELLS JURY OF BEING ROBBED, THEN GAGGED

Two Others Indicted in Connection With Same Case to Be Tried Later.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The resignation of Senator Truman H. Newberry of Michigan, the central figure of a long and bitter controversy, will become effective tomorrow. Vice President Coolidge was unable at today's brief session to present Senator Newberry's letter of resignation and the Michigan senator's name remained temporarily on the rolls.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Vice-President Coolidge was expected to refer to that body because of the resignation of the special session of congress the resignation of Truman H. Newberry as United States senator from Michigan. Forwarded to Congress yesterday, that state under date of Nov. 13, Mr. Newberry's letter of resignation, requesting it become effective immediately, was made public here last night after a copy had been transmitted to Vice-President Coolidge with the request that it be read into the senate record as soon as possible.

Although declaring in a review of the long and bitter controversy over his right to a seat in the senate since his election over Henry Ford, his democratic opponent, four years ago, that this right had been "fully confirmed," Mr. Newberry in his letter said he had been impelled to resign since in Michigan and in the defeat of his republican colleague, Senator Townsend, in the November 7 election. At the same time in discussing the controversy in its relation to the campaign just closed, during which it was an issue in many states, Mr. Newberry expressed the conviction that a "fair analysis of the vote in Michigan and other states where friends and political enemies alike have suffered defeat, will demonstrate that a general feeling of unrest was mainly responsible."

The present situation, he said, rendered "fruitless" his further service in the senate since it meant he would "continue to be hampered by partisan political persecution."

Should future opportunity present itself, Mr. Newberry added, he would "continue to offer himself to his state and country."

Before the case passed as an issue in the recent campaign the senate had upheld Mr. Newberry's title to the seat by a margin of five votes, but it appeared that the right was again to be resumed early in this session of congress.

GOVERNOR NOT READY TO NAME SUCCESSOR. DETROIT, MICH., Nov. 20.—With Governor Alex J. Groves refusing to intimate what action he may take, political circles here were speculating today over who will be named to succeed Senator Newberry.

Several names were being mentioned with apparently no substantial basis for belief that they are being considered by the governor. Among them are Charles R. Wagner, ambassador to Japan, and a Detroit lawyer; Major James Couzens of Detroit; William Alden Smith, whose senate seat Senator Newberry held; and W. W. Potter, state fuel administrator.

Governor Groves declared in a brief acknowledgment of the resignation last night that he had no person in mind for the senatorship and would be unable to take any action until he had studied the matter thoroughly.

Senator-elect Woodbridge N. Ferris, informed of Senator Newberry's resignation, said: "Senator Newberry by his resignation has saved both his friends and enemies from an embarrassing situation."

Senator Townsend, whose recent defeat is widely regarded as having precipitated Mr. Newberry's resignation, said: "Senator Newberry and his family (Continued on Page 2, Column 5.)"

NOTED ACTOR DIES

WHITLEY REELECTED AS SPEAKER OF THE LONDON PARLIAMENT

ADJOURN TO RECEIVE THE KING'S FORMAL APPROVAL OF CHOICE.

ULSTER ONLY PART OF IRELAND REPRESENTED

Labor Group Chief Contender For Recognition As the Opposition Party.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—A parliament in which Ireland, with the exception of part of Ulster, is not represented and in which the labor party appears as the chief contender for recognition as the opposition, opened this afternoon.

For a moment the clerk assumed charge of the proceedings but instead of speaking he merely pointed to a speaker. T. P. O'Connor, "father of the house," who proposed John Henry Whitley for reelection as speaker. When this choice had been confirmed the speaker resumed the chair.

The Times parliament correspondent asserts that the liberals will not concede the labor party's recognition as the opposition party. The writer expects that a compromise will be effected.

"If the speaker should not immediately concede the labor party's opposition by calling upon its leader to speak first in the initial debate, then the labor party should occupy the walk out of the house in a body."

The situation is complicated by a rumor of a union of the Anglican and Green Heralds into a single party.

The formalities of swearing in the new members are expected to conclude tomorrow and Wednesday. After the king's speech on Thursday, parliament will proceed to consideration of the Irish constitution.

Another matter which must be accomplished by December 6, if the Anglo-Irish treaty is not to lapse, is the rush of members to the house of commons to state their views on the bill.

The biggest since the war and long before 3:30 o'clock when the doors opened a small crowd gathered to "peg rallies" for the favored party. When the doors opened the members rushed in snatched cards from the attendants and raced up the steps for the day's work.

Among those obtaining the coveted corner seats from which governments have been enfolded in the past were Lady Astor and Lloyd George. The latter's card was placed on a seat by a deputy but Lady Astor personally asked the corner seat on the government side.

The place next to her was taken by Colonel Gretton, champion of the liquor interests.

MORE FREIGHT CARS ARE PROMISED FOR WEST TEXAS ROADS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Following a conference this morning between Representative Martin Jones and J. Hettie, chief of the car service division of the American Railway association, assurances were given that additional cars would be provided for west Texas.

"The situation in my section of the state is particularly acute," said Congressman Jones, "and I have pointed out the heavy losses which the shippers are sustaining. While there has been some improvement, conditions are far from normal. It is hopeful that they will be still further improved now that the conditions are realized in Washington."

ADJOURN OUT OF RESPECT FOR MEMBERS WHO RECENTLY DIED; PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TUESDAY

BAPTIST GENERAL CONVENTION ENDS; GALVESTON IN 1923

COMMITTEE IS NAMED TO PREPARE FOR DIAMOND JUBILEE NEXT YEAR.

DR. GRONER IS NAMED EXECUTIVE SECRETARY

Lively Discussion is Precipitated By Negro Preacher Who Speaks Monday.

WACO, TEXAS, Nov. 20.—The Baptist general convention of Texas as completed its labors this morning and adjourned sine die. The prayer of dismissal was delivered at 11:20 and the messengers hurried to their trains.

There were a few of the commuters that had not submitted reports and on motion these reports were ordered filed with the treasury for consideration of the board of trustees and such disposition as the board saw fit. The committee appointed to nominate a board of trustees for Buckner's orphan home, handed in its report Saturday evening too late for consideration, hence that report was taken up on the list of nominees read and adopted.

The usual vote of thanks was adopted covering all the agencies contributing to the pleasure and convenience of the convention, and making special mention of the reports of the convention in the press. In discussing the press reports, the president said they had been the best he had ever seen and this sentiment was repeated by several messengers present.

A motion to appoint a committee to prepare for celebration of the diamond jubilee of the Baptist general convention next year at Galveston at the regular session was adopted and the following committee was named: J. H. Stokes, chairman; J. M. Carroll, secretary; J. M. Carroll, secretary; J. M. Carroll, secretary.

Dr. J. H. Stokes, of the presiding board of the convention, was elected the executive secretary. He suggested that the executive board meet at a preliminary meeting on the 12th and asked the convention to call the meeting for that date. After some discussion the convention voted to have the preliminary meeting and the date referred to Secretary Groner.

A lively discussion was precipitated by J. H. Stokes, a negro Baptist preacher, who addressed the convention on the work of the negroes. He had been trying to eliminate as such a possible race prejudice, he said, and spoke of the assistance he had received from the white leaders making special mention of Dr. P. M. McDonald of the board of the south Texas district. He said that he had received from the white leaders making special mention of Dr. P. M. McDonald of the board of the south Texas district. He said that he had received from the white leaders making special mention of Dr. P. M. McDonald of the board of the south Texas district.

Although on hand for the extra session, Mr. George said he would not stay in Galveston for the night but would leave for Waco tomorrow in order first to give Mrs. Felton an opportunity to claim the right to take the oath of office.

On the house side, the presence of Mrs. Winifred Hark, elected as representative at-large from Illinois to succeed her father, the late Representative William H. Hark, was a feature. After the king's speech on Thursday, parliament will proceed to consideration of the Irish constitution.

Another matter which must be accomplished by December 6, if the Anglo-Irish treaty is not to lapse, is the rush of members to the house of commons to state their views on the bill.

CITIZENS' COMMITTEE DOESN'T REPRESENT C. OF C. ON BOND ISSUE

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN. With reference to statements that have been made in the press recently about the proposed bond issue for branch hospitals at Electric, Iowa Park and Burkburnett to be voted on Tuesday, November 21st, we wish to state that these committees have not emanated from the Chamber of Commerce of Wichita Falls or anybody authorized to speak for the Chamber of Commerce.

At a joint conference between citizens of Electric, Iowa Park, Burkburnett and Wichita Falls, held at the latter place on November 15th, a number of prominent Wichita Falls businessmen pledged their personal support to these bonds. These gentlemen, of course, intended to stand by that pledge absolutely. However, the Chamber of Commerce has organized an organization to take any action on the question and its members are free to vote each one as he sees fit.

The so-called "Citizens' Committee," signed to recent newspaper statements, is not in any way connected with the Chamber of Commerce nor was it a committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce. The persons contributing to these statements are acting in their personal capacity which they have a perfect right to do.

SWITZERLAND AGAIN HOST TO DELEGATES TO PROMOTE PEACE

CONFERENCE CONVENES AT LAUSANNE TO DISCUSS TURKISH PROBLEM.

UNITED STATES HAS MEN TO WATCH PROCEEDINGS

Will Speak Out When Interests of America Demand That They Do So.

LAUSANNE, Nov. 20.—The near east peace conference here was formally opened at 3:45 o'clock this afternoon. President Haab of Switzerland, the presiding officer at the opening session, entered the hall at that hour and read his welcome address, to which Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary, replied.

The proceedings were concluded at 4:45 p. m. the conference adjourning to reassemble at 11 o'clock tomorrow at 11 o'clock.

By Associated Press. SWITZERLAND, Nov. 20.—Switzerland, at whose capital and larger cities many international conferences have been staged, again is host for a gathering of diplomats who come to discuss one of the most important problems before the world at the present time—the problem of Turkey and the near east.

Since the armistice convention ending hostilities between the Greeks and Turks in August, 1921, Mustafa more than a month ago the near east peace conference, the plenary session of which is set for today, has been eagerly awaited as many complex questions, among them the negotiating of a final treaty of peace between Turkey and Greece, the freedom of the straits, the fixing of the future status of Turkey, are to be discussed over the conference table.

Much satisfaction was evinced on all sides when it became known that the United States had designated its ambassador to Italy, its minister to Switzerland and Rear Admiral Bristol to watch the proceedings; even greater became the interest in the conference when a few hours before the session was to open it was intimated that the United States representatives would raise their voices at the meeting when it was in the interest of the United States and Americans to do so.

Former Polaris will attend for France while Great Britain's leader the delegate will be Marquis Curzon, Professor Mussolini, Italy's new fascist premier, may also be present.

The French, British and Italian statesmen, after a lengthy discussion under unusual circumstances, were reported to be in agreement on their attitude toward the main problems to come before the conference. Upon their arrival, all Lausanne last night, Mr. Polaris and Marquis Curzon requested Professor Mussolini, who was at Termini, a few miles from the conference, to meet them, but he declined and they journeyed to the suburb to talk with the Italian representative on the near east.

Robert Haab, president of the conference, has been designated officially to open the conference.

Reaction of supreme court justices to the granting of change of venue motion, Friday were seen when Chief Justice John E. Harrison at once appointed Judge Edwards to review the proceedings, but would say little as to whether or not he thought Judge Wright acted within his jurisdiction.

The course the government's case has been marked with bitter and sensational charges and counter charges. The indictment which alleged acceptance of bribes to allow a defendant Okmulgee bank to continue operation, was returned here last March only after one judge had dismissed a grand jury which, it was alleged, was on the point of returning an indictment, and left town.

The indictment was returned immediately in another court. The governor appeared to make head, guarded by officers of the Oklahoma national guard.

Charges that the Ku Klux Klan had a part in bringing about the indictment were made by the governor when he filed a petition in the state supreme court for the mandatory removal of Judge Mark L. Bonahart from the bench. The instrument was returned, from further connection with the case. The mandamus was granted, since we have heard the mandamus action, that a change of venue would "lie in the case," said Chief Justice Harrison. "But we had expected to appoint the judge to hear it."

RATTLESAKE ON SHELF IN CELLAR

OLNEY, Nov. 20.—The daughter of B. B. Kemp of Ingleside community west of Olney, narrowly escaped being bitten by a rattlesnake when she attempted to place some fruit jars on the cellar shelf. She was in the act of placing the jars on an upper shelf when she was alarmed by the snake's warning rattle. Mr. Kemp shot the snake which measured four feet and ten inches and possessed eight rattles.

FRANK BACON DIES FOLLOWING NERVOUS COLLAPSE RECENTLY

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—America today mourned the death of the beloved and picturesque character of the modern stage—"Lightnin' Bill" Jones, otherwise known as Frank Bacon, who expired with almost miraculous rapidity as he neared the three score year mark from the role of "second rate" on Broadway to that of leading player in the drama which has established a record run in the land.

Hundreds of thousands of Americans, going public today in tribute to the heroic Frank Bacon and the lovable "Lightnin' Bill" Jones, who expired with almost miraculous rapidity as he neared the three score year mark from the role of "second rate" on Broadway to that of leading player in the drama which has established a record run in the land.

The famous actor died Sunday morning, a little over one week after retiring from the role in which he had appeared almost 2000 times—a record run for any one play.

Wednesday morning the body will lie in state at the Blackstone theater—where he appeared daily as "Lightnin' Bill" Jones for more than a year. A short eulogy will be delivered there by Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of the funeral service which will be observed in the Christian Science church of which Mr. Bacon was a member.

The body, his family announced, will rest in a vault in a Chicago cemetery until next summer when it will be removed to Mount View, Cal., Mr. Bacon's boyhood home.

THRILLS! Flying Sport Promises Them

Dr. George H. Madelung and photos of his glider in flight.

Gliders for sport—flying through the air, as fast as the wind and as silent as the birds in their flight, this latest invention in aeronautics opens up a new field of thrills and pleasure for the sport lover.

Dr. George H. Madelung, designer of the Hanover glider which broke all records for gliders recently by staying in the air three hours, tells what he thinks will be the chief use for these motorless airplanes.

But it is as a sport that most people will be interested in gliding. A new glider should not cost more than a second-hand Ford and the upkeep will be almost nothing.

New thrills will come. Only think of sailing at will, thousands of feet aloft, dependent upon nothing but yourself and the wind! You will find, if you try it, that sailplaning is one of the most thrilling sports yet devised.

How Glider Operates. Up on the hilltop we wait for a favorable wind. The plane, pulled by eager hands, glides rapidly to the take-off. The plane leaves the ground. At the pilot's cry, all hands release it. He is off!

The sailplane glides forward in what seems an uncanny silence to people accustomed to the airplane motor's roar. It meets the uprushing air as it descends into the valley, and then it begins to ascend. It soars gracefully to and fro along the slope of the hill, passing and clearing the trees, and then it is gone. Time elapses and thus our sailplane dips and glides off into the valley, landing maybe 10 miles away.

County Attorney Hepburn seeks to set aside an order issued last Friday granting the governor a change of venue in Oklahoma county in the case of the killing of Harlan Read. Mr. Grant branded as false the allegations of the county attorney that Burch was released for the purpose of killing Harlan Read.

Burch is a strong union man and John J. Adkins, county clerk, was secretary-treasurer, and Mike Broshers, board member of district No. 10, is another of the defendants.

Hepburn also charges that Judge Wright was not qualified to hear the case. The best I could do was to see that day.

NEWBERRY TENDERS HIS RESIGNATION

have suffered quite enough at the hands of those who are not worthy to be in his class either as statesmen, citizens or patriots. I feel he was unjustly and unfairly attacked. There was no fraud or corruption in Senator Newberry's election. It was foolish to spend so much money, but it was perfectly legal and he was entitled to his seat."

LETTER OF RESIGNATION TENDERED BY NEWBERRY WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Following is a copy of the letter of resignation tendered to the governor of Michigan by Senator Truman H. Newberry.

I tender herewith my resignation as United States senator from Michigan to take immediate effect. It is impelling to take this action because at the recent election, notwithstanding his long and faithful public service and his strict adherence to the basic principles of constructive republicanism which I held in common with him, Senator Townsend was defeated. While this failure to reflect his many years of public service in Michigan and other states where friends and political enemies alike have attested his worth, demonstrates that a general feeling of unrest was mainly responsible therefor.

This situation renders futile further service by me in the United States senate where I have consistently supported the progressive policies of President Harding's administration. My work there has been and would continue to be hampered by partisan political persecution and I therefore cheerfully return my commission to the people from whom I received it.

I desire to record an expression of my gratitude for the friendship, loyalty and devotion of those who have endured with me during the past four years experience in the legislative history of our country. By direction of the democratic administration there began immediately upon my resignation proceedings for a specially selected grand jury sitting in another state which by a vote of 18 to one completely exonerated those who had conducted my campaign. Then followed my election with every issue which since been resolved clearly before the electorate of the state. A recount was demanded and after a thorough, painstaking review of the ballots by the United States senate I found that the results of the election given by the court convictions of a conspiracy to spend more than $2,750,000, naturally followed and sent to the Michigan state prison where were imposed. All charges of bribery and corruption were, however, quashed by the specific order of the presiding judge.

On appeal the supreme court of the United States reversed the action of the court below because, as stated by Chief Justice White, "of the grave misapprehension and erroneous misstatement of the facts which was also declared unconstitutional investigation before the committee on privileges and elections of the senate resulted in a report sustaining the election and after a bitter partisan debate the senate declared that I was entitled to my seat."

In view of all these proceedings my right to my seat has been fully confirmed and I am thankful to my state and my country and to have the eternal satisfaction of having by my vote aided in keeping the United States out of the league of nations.

For those who have patriotically and unselfishly worked for my election and in defense of my honor and that of my family and friends, I have fought the fight and kept the faith. The time has now come, however, when I can conscientiously lay down the burden and this I most cheerfully do. If in the future there seems to be opportunity for public service I shall not hesitate to offer my services to the state which I love and the country I revere.

In his letter to the vice president under date of November 17, Mr. Newberry said: "I feel that I have entered herewith copy of my resignation which I have this day forwarded to the governor of the state of Michigan, and I respectfully request that this be read into the records of the senate as soon as possible."

"In terminating my service as a senator I beg to express once more to you my deep sense of thankfulness for your many courtesies and friendly considerations."

MUCH INTEREST IN RECENT REPORT OF PUMP INVENTION

The article in The Times of Sunday, reproducing the New York Times' description of a new invention, the automatic pump, aroused much interest among local irrigation officials, who expect to follow closely the development of the device.

"I can't imagine anything that would mean more to our project," said J. A. Kemp said Monday. "If it is as feasible as the description makes it appear, it means that we can raise water to levels that will enable us to terrace a greatly increased acreage."

R. A. Thompson, chief engineer for the project, expects to look closely into the possibilities of the invention.

The article in question appeared on page 8, section 2, of Sunday's Times.

LABOR FEDERATION BLOCKS MOVEMENT COMMUNIST PARTY

MOSCOW, Nov. 19.—The communist party in the United States has failed of success because the communists have not yet secured a hold upon the American Federation of Labor and other trade union members, asserted an American spokesman in London.

"It is not true that Burch is a murderer. Larceny was the charge against him. His term is to expire in December of this year. The original sentence being 15 years, if I remember correctly."

Burch was sent up from Pittsburg county, Oklahoma, for his part in the case. He was not yet secured a hold upon the American Federation of Labor and other trade union members, asserted an American spokesman in London.

Class differences may be expected among union members who are prepared to put up a fight and must also gain the confidence of the masses.

THE BEST TOOL for a BIG JOB

An axe in the hands of a crazy man is a serious menace, yet we do not condemn the axe for its wild or foolish application.

Advertising can be—has been—sometimes misused. Like all great forces, it must be intelligently planned and directed.

In the big job of reviving American business, advertising is the best tool that money can buy. Let's use it—boldly and well!

WHEN GAS FIRST WAS INTRODUCED

When the gas industry was in its infancy, and it was proposed to introduce it in London to light the streets, the conservative British mind saw in it a terrible possibility for evil. Editors of daily newspapers in all seriousness objected that to make the streets "brilliant" (as the old time street lamp might be called brilliant compared with candles) would encourage keeping late hours and lead to increased dissipation! Sounds funny, doesn't it? But it is historically true.

DENY CHARGE PRISONER RELEASED FOR PURPOSE

OKMULGEE, OKLA., Nov. 20.—Albert Burch, state penitentiary inmate, who County Attorney James Hepburn charged in a petition filed here Saturday with the state, Governor J. B. A. Robertson "in consideration that he would be a murderer, as intimated by Hepburn, if released from prison for larceny and was granted a leave of absence from the prison upon representation of officials of the United Mine Workers of America."

This statement was made here by G. H. Grant, Fort Smith attorney, who represents district 21 of the union. He is here as a witness in the hearing of a motion by which Hepburn seeks to set aside the order.

The course the government's case has been marked with bitter and sensational charges and counter charges. The indictment which alleged acceptance of bribes to allow a defendant Okmulgee bank to continue operation, was returned here last March only after one judge had dismissed a grand jury which, it was alleged, was on the point of returning an indictment, and left town.

The indictment was returned immediately in another court. The governor appeared to make head, guarded by officers of the Oklahoma national guard.

MEET TO DISCUSS VARIOUS PROBLEMS AFFECTING SOUTH

SOUTHERN COMMERCIAL CONGRESS CONVENES AT CHICAGO.

MANY PROMINENT MEN ARE ON THE PROGRAM

Former Secretary of War Welcomes Delegates to Convention.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—The fifteenth annual convention of the Southern Commercial Congress, opened here today with a scheduled three-day session devoted to discussion of southern agriculture, trade, export and immigration problems.

The activity of the Southern Commercial Congress in launching the movement which led to the passage of the federal farm loan credit law today identifies its existence.

Both Mr. Dickinson and Julius Rosenwald, president of Sears, Roebuck and company, paid tribute to David Lubin, founder of the American representative in the International Institute of Agriculture of Rome, who was instrumental in the agricultural activities of the congress.

The commercial leaders of Chicago recognize the debt they owe the Southern Commercial Congress for its efforts toward the economic reorganization of America, thereby adding to the productivity of every part of the country and to the purchasing power of the great territory which Chicago must trade.

Mr. Rosenwald said: "The congress has no sectional aim. Mr. Dickinson pointed out the slogan 'For a greater nation through a greater south' embracing development of the entire country through the increased productivity and wealth of the southern states. The only program that will lead to world peace is the development of an international federation against war under which an offender would be dealt with as a sinner, Major General John P. O'Bryan declared in his address.

The league of nations, he said, was a step in that direction, but wicked leadership in Europe was looking to America to furnish the needed disinterested leadership.

General O'Bryan proposed a federal corporation, created by congress, to make a thorough study of the problems of preventing war and about its report and recommendations to the government for action.

"When the combat divisions of the American army returned home," Mr. Dickinson said, "I think many of the officers who had seen the cruelty and waste of war were surprised at the apparent apathy of their own people in relation to the possibility of the recurrence of war.

Not that the people did not continue to express their aversion to war, but that there was lacking any hope that war would not recur, but it seemed that people were reconciled to let the future rest upon the secure foundation of hope.

"Some years have elapsed since I left this city, and now, as I travel throughout the country, I can assure you that the time is now opportune to consider thoroughly the problem of increasing productivity in the what part of the world should play in the solution of the problem of peace and that people should be committed to the duty of maintaining the peaceful and orderly world."

Two outstanding efforts have already been made by Americans to contribute something definite toward the creation of the league of nations under the authority of the treaty of Versailles. The second effort grew out of the conference for limitation of armaments among the leading powers of the world. The agreement arrived at in relation to the limitation of armament has not yet been ratified by all the governments concerned, but it is expected that in the course of time they will be. Other efforts that have been made in this country seem to consist largely of unofficial actions, of addresses, discussions, debates, hopes and prayers, all no doubt of underlying value in that they create understanding and tend to stimulate action, but all unavailing until made effective by organized practical accomplishment.

To indicate to you that this problem is not merely an academic one, having to do only with future generations, but that it is one that vitally concerns you and all the other families of America, let me remind you that this very day great groups of well educated and industrious officers are working out in all their details, how your boys and other boys like them, are to be employed in the next war. This work is going on day in and day out not only as part of the routine of the government abroad, but here in our own country.

The plans being perfected will determine how your boys shall be drafted, mobilized, clothed, armed and equipped, concentrated, trained and transported to the field of operations; how they shall be deployed, blooded by trial battle effort, and finally plunged into the fury of battle; whether the bodies of the dead shall be buried or cremated; how the shells, gas, and the wounded shall be rehabilitated and pushed back for further effort; and how more of your boys and their wives like them shall be gathered with the least delay and pushed into the shambles to replace those who have been expended.

Former German Naval Officer to Lecture in Cities of United States

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Captain Helmut von Muecke, former German naval officer, who commanded the cruiser Emden on its shipping raids in the south Pacific early in the war, arrived yesterday on the steamship Hannover. He said he would start a lecture tour in Chicago this week, speaking German, and would discuss only the Emden's exploits which occurred before the United States entered the war.

The Emden's raids when she ran ashore on Georgia Island and was destroyed by the Australian cruiser Sydney, Muecke and some of his crew escaped into the jungle, later capturing the old whaling vessel Ayeaeha, in which they reached Spry and got back to Germany overland.

POISON PLOT OR COINCIDENCE CHAIN?

By ROY J. GIBBONS, NEA Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Will Chicago yield as notorious a case of systematic murders as that of the recently guillotined "Bluebeard" Landru in Paris or of Mrs. Belle Gunness, whose Indiana "ravender" farm strangled the country 20 years ago?

Detestable today are weaving a web of evidence around two women whose trial, they declare, will equal in sensational revelations those which stirred up interest throughout the world.

The women, around whom this world-wide notoriety may hinge, are Mrs. Tillie Klimek and her neighbor, Mrs. Nellie Sturmer Koulik. Both are being held by the police on a formal charge of murder, while authorities are studying the exhumed bodies of 23 people—adults and infants—for traces of arsenic poisoning.

Out of these chemical researches, coupled with criminal investigations, may arise a story of one of the most audacious poison plots in the history of criminology. Or—and this is a possibility which the police admit exists—the whole investigation may reveal nothing more than a series of most unusual coincidences.

Bodies of former husbands of these women have disappeared and examined. And in each case, say the police in charge of the investigation, chemical tests have traced arsenic poisoning. These discoveries have led to inquiries into the deaths of Mrs. Klimek's first three husbands, a former suitor, three cousins of her children, besides two children, grandchildren and a former husband of Mrs. Koulik.

Tangle of Events.

The whole case produces a maze of entangling relations concerning the lives of these two women. Coroner Peter M. Hoffman and the detectives who are following the mystery trails night and day, declare the story they are unraveling rivals anything in Poe's most fanciful stories of death.

What first directed suspicion to the women was the illness of Mrs. Klimek's fourth husband. He is in a local hospital suffering from a former ailment, who died mysteriously after he had refused to marry her. They also say they have

ELECTION BOXES DISTRIBUTED BY SHERIFF MONDAY

Sheriff Fred K. Smith and his deputies found many a muddy road Monday while engaged in delivering the election boxes, ballots and supplies, preparatory for the $10,000 branch hospital bond election which will be held Tuesday.

A portion of the boxes within the corporate limits of Wichita Falls were delivered Sunday but the outlying and distant polling boxes were not delivered until Monday.

The paved road system of the county lessens this task to a great extent but there are several boxes which cannot be reached except over bumpy muddy routes. Following the rains of last week, some of the roads were nearly impassable, it was reported.

A determined effort on part of residents of Burkhardt, Electra and Iowa Park was made Monday to see that every voting place in the county was supplied with the ballots and supplies.

Profound interest is being manifested in the election and it is indicated that a large vote will be registered Tuesday.

TOURING BASEBALL TEAM DEFEATED BY JAPANESE

TOKIO, Nov. 20.—The touring American baseball team, consisting of stars from the major leagues, suffered its first defeat in Japan yesterday when the Mita club, made up of graduates of Keio university, won 3 to 2. The Japanese made eleven hits and three errors. The Americans were held to five hits and were guilty of four errors.

Japanese writers say the Americans allowed Mita to win.

MRS. NELLIE STURMER KOULIK

nic to kill a dozen men" according to Dr. William D. McNally, who made the examination.

Grandchildren Examined.

From this point the avenue of death leads investigators to the graves of Mrs. Koulik's grandchildren, offspring of her daughter, Mrs. Clement Spera. Three of the children lie in the same cemetery, and their father has asked police to examine their bodies.

As for Mrs. Klimek, police claim definite evidence against her. They cite the case of John Gusekewski, a former suitor, who died mysteriously after he had refused to marry her. They also say they have evidence of quarrels between Mrs. Klimek and relatives who, later, died under strange circumstances. The bodies of these relatives are being examined.

Yet all this collection of incriminating evidence fails to perturb the women in the case. Both Mrs. Klimek and her cell-mate, Mrs. Koulik, remain quiet about the whole affair.

Whether they are merely the victims of a series of mysterious events, or the center of a huge poison plot, no one connected with the affair will venture to deduce from the facts so far revealed.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

FIRSTS.

Before we can possibly understand life, we must first get into ourselves and become daily discoverers of our own hidden resources.

And before we can intelligently walk up to God and tell Him that we want to become a living part of His plan, we must first walk up to ourselves and pledge honest allegiance.

It is much more profitable to look first after one's soul than one's fortune.

For what shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose this soul of his—in the thought of the Bible.

And how character stands high and dry and grand against an estate of mere lands and moneyed possessions.

Before you can possibly succeed, you must first learn the simple principles on which success depends—work, honesty, enthusiasm, loyalty, love, unselfishness.

If you have no belief in life, how can immortality have any appeal for you?

And if you have no confidence in yourself, how can you hope for the confidence of others?

First become expert in the handling of little things—efficiently—and then the big things will loom before you and you will enter into them with confident enthusiasm and full of faith in their ultimate accomplishment.

First have love in your own heart for others—and the love of others for you will naturally follow.

Harbor clean thoughts and the entire world will look clean to you.

If you want to measure the life of a building, first look over its foundation.

Give first consideration to your health if you would live long and well, and do much.

YOU AND I

By ALBERT APFLE

UNCANNY.

A pilotless airplane, which runs itself automatically without a human being aboard, makes a flight from New York to Chicago, now as was our army developed this plane.

How long will it be until, when you look overhead, you will see long streams of these pilotless airplanes carrying mail, express and even freight? Life is becoming uncanny.

FOX HUNTING.

Does "wants" as much as $1,000 apiece were assisted by people on horseback, in the twenty-ninth annual chase of the National Association of Hunters, near Washington Court House, Ohio.

If you followed the news about this hunt, you noticed that it was against the rules to kill a fox. Each hunter's aim was to get a "good rear" card for his dog. A queer "sport" with human beings faces to the background and everything revolving around the dogs.

It reminds you of Abe Martin's comment on the "Light from the Cabin" show: "The dogs were good, but they had poor support."

FAMILIES.

Dr. Joseph L. Haer, discussing the control before the Chicago Women's club, commented: "Nowadays there is a general limit of two or three children to a family of fair means. In the past there were 10 or 12."

The cause for this is in our system of economics, for the mother instinct is as strong, now as was grandama's day. Under an almost prohibitive cost of living, raising a child requires more heroism than the "Chick" of the light house.

How would you like to buy shoes for a family of 14, not to mention bacon and eggs and other trifles?

DEBT.

A burden of about $5,000,000,000 of debt is now carried by American states and municipalities. Roughly, this is about just as the national debt. And it has been growing at a rate which, unless checked by indignant taxpayers, will leave the combined debt of $15,000,000,000 in 1919. A bigger problem than national debt, if people only realized.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTE BOOK

By LEE PAPE

Pop put a square oblong package on the hall rack when he went to the office this morning, saying to me.

By the way, this belongs to Mr. Lewis, there's cigars in it, so if he sends his office boy up today I would give it to him.

I don't like that man Lewis and never did and the more I see of him the less I see to see in him, ma sed.

Then of course you'll be glad to get anything that belongs to him out of the house, pop sed.

Well, that's true too, that's true, ma sed. And this afternoon after school I was in the room looking out the window wondering whether I'd rather be out in the street and some kid went up the front steps and handed the boy the package.

By all means, good riddance to bad rubbish, ma sed. And I went down and handed the boy the package, saying: Is this what you want?

And he sed: Sure. And he took it and shut the door again and when pop came home he sed, Wares that package I left on the hall rack. Lewis didn't send his boy after all, he's going to send him to my office tomorrow.

William, that's perfectly ridiculous, the boy was here and got the package and for all I know Mr. Lewis has smoked all the cigars by this time, he's foolish, ma sed. In sure, ma sed, and pop sed, You gods, you've given those cigars to the wrong boy, I sed, O, ma, maybe that was a huckster wagging out in the street at the same time and maybe the boy was attached to that, maybe he only wanted to know if he could buy any bananas or something.

And so you gave him Mr. Lewis's cigars, how sweet and appropriate, pop sed, and I sed, Well, I don't care, I don't like that man Lewis and never expect to, and pop sed, But they were his cigars, have you got any more?

Certainly I have, and that's just my glad, ma sed. And she went to the movies with my sister Gladis and pop called up Mr. Lewis on the telephone and told him to buy another box of cigars and charge them to him.

JUST FOLKS

By—Edgar A. Guest

THE ONLY GRIEF THAT MATTERS.

There were four of us in the smoking car airing our petty woes.

And the air was filled with the loud complaints which often a Pullman knows;

One fellow spoke of his money loss and he cursed from his easy seat

The friend who had sold him the worthless stock; and he called him "liar" and "cheat."

We vied as whippersnappers often do to lead with our tale of wrong.

We trotted our troubles up and down, each singing a doleful song;

One had sat in a dentist's chair and to listen to him complain

You'd have thought that the joy of earth was killed by that minute or two of pain.

I was as bad as the other three, I answered them mope for mope.

Trouble had captured and collared me and useless it seemed to hope;

The gloom was thick in that stuffy car, as thick as the clouds of smoke,

Till the last of us told our tale of woe—then a man in the corner spoke.

"Gentlemen, I have heard you all and your pitiful stories through,

And I tell you now that I'd sing for joy to be troubled the same as you.

I'd never frown and I'd never whine, or speak in the way you speak,

But I've been hit where it really hurts—I buried my wife last week!"

And now whenever I hear men growl at some trivial loss they've met

And tell their troubles and curse the world and grumble and whine and fret.

I tell them the tale of the silent man, with the pale and careworn cheek.

The man—and ever he's sitting near—who buried his wife last week.

CHAPTER III

Lord Valleys got up. It was to be expected, monsieur, that the English court under these circumstances would try me for the murder of Lord Winton. I had both the money and the opportunity to accomplish it, and the circumstances were, to say the least, indicative.

"To my surprise, this manuscript, Staley, came forward to establish the fact that the wine-cellar was little less than a straw-rick, and this Metropolitan police officer appeared to say that he had seen me leaving the house of Lord Winton shortly before the fire was discovered. These facts indicated the truth of my statement.

"A further fact brought out by my legal advisers established with mathematical accuracy the fact that I had been seated in the chair when the blow that ejected him out of life. The wound which had caused his death had been made with the small blade of a knife.

"The police found in my pocket a knife with a small blade, a blade of about the width of the wound. No evidence of blood was found on this knife, but the police professed to believe that it had been carefully washed. They thought traces of moisture remained on it. The man—and ever he's sitting near—who buried his wife last week.

MYSTERIOUS SIGNS MAY REVEAL SECRET OF LOST AZTEC RICHES

The mysterious markings above the Toho Hill mine, near Ozark, Ark., which may hold the secret to a $120,000,000 Aztec treasure. At right, Dr. Toho Hill.

By NEA Service.

OSARK, ARK., Nov. 20.—Is the long sought secret of the fabulous Aztec gold mines near a solution? Will interpretation of mysterious markings on the face of a cliff near here lead to a vault of gold and silver bullion worth $120,000,000?

The question has come to the fore again, as deep research is being made to determine the hieroglyphics, and as plans are going forward for the final search which is expected to end treasure quests over more than a century. A man who has searched for a quarter of a century and expended thousands of dollars, thinks that herein is the key, and that he will soon unlock the romantic mystery of the "Lost Louisiana" mines.

Tradition has it that the ancient Aztecs operated fabulously rich gold and silver mines in Mexico, using the metal for important making, etc. With the coming of the Spanish conquerors, the mines were sealed.

Twenty of the mines are said to have been located in the wild isolated parts of the Ozarks. The Spanish are said to have operated the mines until 1753. Then came rumors of war with France.

A Spanish Hide Treasure. Fearful lest their treasure-trove be seized, the Spanish are said to have stored all the gold and silver bullion in a secret vault and obliterated all trails leading to it, and to the mines. For their future guidance, they are said to have left secret markings on the face of a cliff.

When the territory passed into French possession in 1800, French adventurers started the search for the treasure. After America acquired it by the Louisiana purchase, the search continued.

Now, after years of fruitless search by his predecessors, one prospect remains confident in his belief that he has finally struck the spot where the Aztec treasure lies hidden. He is Dr. Toho Hill, a practicing physician of Mulberry, Ark.

Twenty-five years ago, a roving Spaniard divulged the secret of the lost mines to Dr. Hill and his father. He has succeeded only in reaching the territory which the physician's father owned and which, he says, holds the secret of vast wealth.

Searches 25 Years. After these 25 years of unremitting search and the expenditure of between $15,000 and $25,000, Dr. Hill has succeeded only in reaching what he believes is the vault wherein the Spaniards buried the gold and silver they had unearthed from the Aztec mines. But he is belted at the opening.

There, on a ledge above the entrance to the vault, is what Dr. Hill believes is the open-essence to the treasure. It consists of hieroglyphics or strange signs.

An accident led Dr. Hill to the discovery of the vault and its queer tablet. A ledge of rock near his father's home had long been the building post for a house. One day a neighbor noticed that in rubbing against the rocks the ledge had uncovered the golden face of a bow and arrow pointing downward.

He told Dr. Hill and digging was immediately begun. Down and down went the workmen, until they had uncovered an entire cliff, about 20 feet high and 100 feet long. Its smooth face was covered with the strange signs. Tablets were secured and studied with interest after their abandonment.

To the right of the cliff, the natural vault was found. It is the form of a T. The cliff contains the buried treasure. People about here now call it the "Toho Hill mine." It is flanked by the waters of Mulberry creek and no way can be found into it, unless its secret can be unfolded from the signs above its entrance.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Be content with such things as ye have.—Hebrews 13:5.

It is thought by some persons that if the common people rule the world there will be millennial conditions. But the trouble is the common people have been ruling the world. Now the world is in sore need of uncommon people.—Elmer Willis Serl.

GOOD OLD DAYS.

Do you get impatient when you have to wait in a railroad station for a train that is late?—And keep watching the bulletin board to see if the bad news, after all, may not prove to be a mistake? Nothing worse than waiting for a delayed train—unless it's waiting in a dentist's office.

An old-timer, reminiscing in the Wall Street Journal, tells of people who waited for trains 73 years ago in Chicago.

There was no telegraph there in those days. So John B. Turner, president of the old Galena & Chicago Union railroad, had an observatory built on top of Chicago's first depot in 1849.

Turner had his office in the tower. Using a marine telescope, he watched through the window for incoming trains. The telescope enabled him to "spot" an approaching train as far as Austin, six miles away.

Then Turner would shout the glad news downstairs and the impatient travelers would sigh with relief and marvel at the benefits conferred on humanity by that great scientific achievement, the telescope.

Today the location of approaching and departing passenger trains is known with precision, thanks to telegraph, telephone and radio.

You can look at the depot bulletin board and know whether a train, not due for hours, is on time or late.

Even better, you can telephone to the station, miles away. If the train is reported delayed, you wait in your comfortable home until time for the train, instead of in a dismal station.

Great strides? The everyday commonplace services which we take as a matter of course in modern times would have been magical luxuries back in 1849.

Somewhat, though, the telegraph and telephone and radio appeal to us less than the quaint picture of old BEN TURNER in his tower, searching the railroad tracks with a small telescope.

People were not in such a hurry, back yonder. They took life as it came. And maybe they were happier.

The telegraph and telephone and radio had not been invented then, for they were not needed. As soon as the actual need arose, inventors provided them. In their way, they are marvels. But their major function seems to be to enable people to rush about faster, in a mad stampede that seems to have neither goal nor meaning.

And sometimes we wonder if it wouldn't be a good thing for the world if it could undo a lot of its progress and slip back to the simpler "good old days." Maybe not. But old man Turner and his telescope certainly fire the imagination.

NEWBERRY BOWS TO PUBLIC OPINION.

Senator Truman H. Newberry has bowed to public opinion and has tendered his resignation to the governor of Michigan as United States senator from that state. Senator Newberry gives as his reason for resigning a fear that the democratic opposition would so embarrass him through partisan action that his service to his state and country would be useless. That he would be embarrassed and that there would be such opposition there can be no doubt, but ordinarily this would only arouse the fighting instinct in a man of Newberry's character.

But the fight has been taken out of Newberry by the defeat of Senator Townsend, his colleague, and by the defeat of a number of other republican senators who voted to seat Newberry. The successful democratic candidate attacked Senator Townsend's vote for Newberry. Townsend defended his action and the seating of Newberry became the real issue in the Michigan campaign. For the first time in seventy years a democrat was elected to the United States senate from Michigan. Newberry's conviction for alleged violation of the campaign expenditures laws was reversed and dismissed in the United States supreme court but that didn't dislodge the case with the voters of Michigan. They have given their verdict in the defeat of Senator Newberry's colleague. And although he still protests his innocence of wrong doing Senator Newberry, himself, is bowing to the mighty force of public opinion and is getting out of the way.

JACK DAW AT SEA

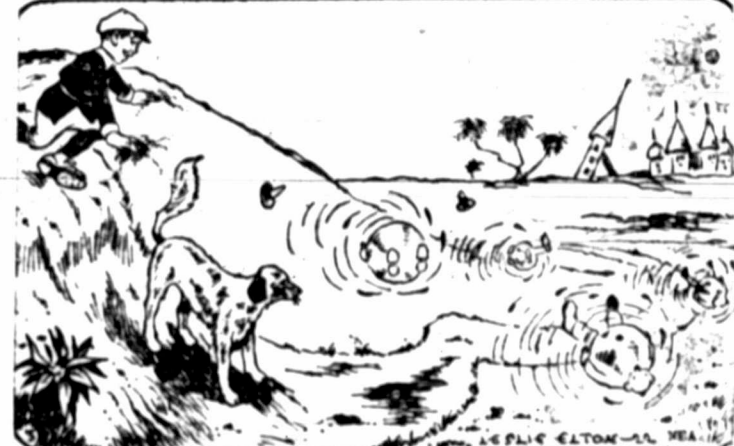

By ELTON

As the zebra galloped along Pip ran at his feet and barked. Soon the Mispup Cave was reached. Around the doorway stood the Jumping Jiminies. They were small fellows with short arms and legs. They looked rather queer. Jack began to wonder how he could get by them and into the cave.

One of the Jumping Jiminies walked up to Jack and saluted him. As Jack started to return the salute Pip ran between his legs and sent him sprawling. This set the Jumping Jiminies to laughing and shaking all over. One by one they fell over on the ground, holding their little round sides.

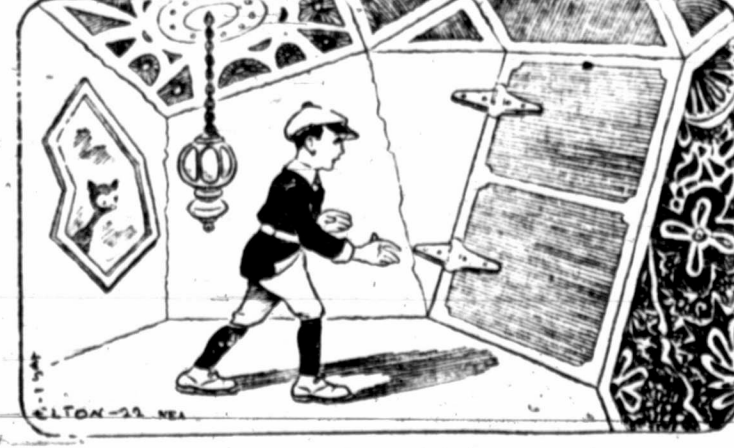

Then Jack was very surprised to see the Jumping Jiminies start to roll down the hill. They were such round fellows that as soon as they flopped over, their little bodies started away. Jack watched them disappear and then turned to Mispup Cave, now left unguarded.

Most caves are very dark, but on entering Mispup Cave, Jack found it brightly lighted. The first thing he saw was a big parrot. Jack said, "Hello, Polly," and the bird turned around. You can imagine how surprised Jack was when he found that the parrot had a cat's face.

And he was even more surprised when the parrot said, "Follow me, young man, and you will see some very queer things." Jack did as he was told and everything he saw was different than he had ever seen such things before. This is why they call this Mispup Cave, though! Jack.

A noise at a big door suddenly startled the parrot-cat and he turned and scampered away. The noise was a constant scratching. Jack thought maybe some poor animal wanted to get out. He liked animals, so he decided to open the door. Another surprise was in store for him. (Continued.)

OFFICERS TRAINING SCHOOL PLANNED FOR WICHITA FALLS

Major H. J. Weller, 121st field artillery, announces the organization of an officers school. Sessions will be held each Wednesday night at the American Legion hall at 7:30 o'clock. For the present the course to be followed will conform to the correspondence school course prescribed by the regular army. The first course to be taken up will be course "A" for field artillery. This course is divided into 17 lessons. One lesson will be taken up each week. The lessons prescribed for this course are of a general nature and officers of all branches of the service will find the course interesting. An invitation is extended to all former officers of this city and vicinity, who wish to keep in touch with the military service to attend. All those who at present hold commissions in the national guard, the reserve corps, the national guard reserve, are especially requested to attend. Reserve corps officers will find it to their interest to attend in view of the fact that successful completion of the prescribed course exempts the officer from examination for promotion to the next higher grade. All officers of the reserve corps are entitled to promotion on completion of three years service in one grade. Service during the world war counts as double time in computing the number of years necessary for promotion. The only requirement is that the officer must serve at least one year in the reserve corps. Those young men who attended reserve officers training camps and civilian military training camps the past year or who expect to make application to attend next year will be welcomed. Captain John R. Fletcher, commanding battery D, will assist Major Weller in conducting the school.

CITY AGAIN IS COVERED WITH A COAT OF SILVER

For the third time this fall, Wichita Falls awoke Monday morning to find itself enveloped in a coat of silver white. A bright, sunny sun, however, soon sent the little sparkling particles of moisture into nothing. Early Sunday morning the wind made a complete change from the south to the north but did not bring here to the usual custom of bringing with it a mass of clouds. For five consecutive Sundays prior to this a north wind has arisen bringing with it a sky filled with threatening clouds. During the night Sunday the lowest mark to which the mercury fell was 41 degrees. In the afternoon it went as high as the 70 degree point. North winds were reported from all points on local railroads Monday morning but very little movement was noted at any one point. Clear skies were also reported. The low mark for the night at Woodward was 31 degrees but the agents reported a thick white frost.

Chances Are 2 To 1 In Favor of Police, Report of 779 Cases Indicates

OFFICERS FIRE AT SPEEDING AUTOIST, HE'S IN JAIL NOW

A thirty-three-year-old man appeared on the docket Monday morning; fines were assessed or bonds forfeited in 25 cases. Over one-half of the arrests made Sunday and Monday were on charges of gaming. 'Two Fisted Love' Opens Tonight at Palace for Week

True to life characters such as one finds in a small town abound in "Two Fisted Love," the new De Witt Newing production which opens at the Palace theater tonight. Newing, who will be remembered for his prior successes, "Dawn of the Mountains" and "The Love of Su Shong," as one of the most successful writers of dramatic stock productions or originality, is said to have played his own part in the premier of this production was made. In a daring manner he has taken as his hero and central figure "Kid Maloney," a fighter and aspirant for the lightweight championship, matched in the fight the champion Mike Maloney, and which that as a starting point has evolved a mighty line and entertaining play. The small town atmosphere comes by reason of the fact that the "Kid" has been sent to the place "5 train for his fight and mostly because Mike Maloney, his manager, conducts a road house there. A most exciting series of incidents crop up when the fighters meet and fall in love with the daughter of the minister in town who has sworn to drive McGuire from the place. The author has handled the theme most adroitly and the play teems with comedy lines and situations with thrills aplenty. Beautiful braids, puffs, curls, transformations and national bob made to order from your own hair—combings—dresses—hairdressing work. Miss Doris, 2194—adv.

The chances are just a little better than two to one against you when the police get you, according to the department's report for the three months ending October 31. Of the 779 cases docketed during that period, fines were assessed in 526, or about 68 per cent. The report shows that 779 cases were handled by the police court in the three months; from the 779 cases fines were assessed and collected, $8,546.50; 54 cases appealed to county, $1,155; six cases transferred to county; 38 fines served in jail, $154; 20 fines remitted, $334; six fines not paid out, $222; 152 cases dismissed and found not guilty; eight cases undisposed of. Total fines, $10,611.50. The report will be submitted to the city council at the Monday afternoon session, for approval.

Two Fisted Love Opens Tonight at Palace for Week

True to life characters such as one finds in a small town abound in "Two Fisted Love," the new De Witt Newing production which opens at the Palace theater tonight. Newing, who will be remembered for his prior successes, "Dawn of the Mountains" and "The Love of Su Shong," as one of the most successful writers of dramatic stock productions or originality, is said to have played his ace when the premier of this production was made.

In a daring manner he has taken as his hero and central figure one "Kid Malone," a fighter and aspirant for the lightweight championship, matched to fight the champion "Kid Burns" and with that as a starting point has evolved a mighty fine and entertaining play. The small town atmosphere comes by reason of the fact that the "Kid" has been sent to the place to train for his fight and mostly because Mike McGuire, his manager, conducts a road house. A most exciting series of incidents crop up when the fighters meet and fall in love with the daughter of the minister in town who has sworn to drive McGuire from the place. The author has handled the theme most ably and the play teems with comedy lines and situations with thrills aplenty. Beautiful brava, puns, curia, transformations and national bob made to order from your own hair combs. Customary Machinery work. Miss Davis, 3194—adv.

CITY AGAIN IS COVERED WITH A COAT OF SILVER

For the third time this fall, Wichita Falls awoke Monday morning to find itself wrapped in a coat of silver white. A bright sun, however, soon sent the little sparkling mirror particles of moisture into nothing. Early Sunday morning the wind made a complete change from the south to the north but did not adhere to its usual custom of bringing with it a bright sun. For five consecutive Sundays prior to this a north wind has arisen bringing with it a sky filled with threatening clouds. During the night Sunday the lowest mark to which the mercury fell was 1 degree. In the afternoon it went as high as the 75 degree point. North winds were reported from all points on local railroads Monday morning but very little movement was noted at any one point. Clear skies were also reported. The low mark for the night at Woodward was 24 degrees but the weather agents reported a thick white frost.
