Meet Our "Younger Set"; They're Making Hay While the Christmas Sun Is Shining

They're making hay while the sun shines—these young ladies home from college for the Christmas holidays.

The first night home most of them were at Lillian's; the next with the afternoon broken up with pop calls wherever one listed—they were at Janie's—unless we've got mixed on the dates.

Then they bunched up at Marguerite's, and then Lucille Wiley entertained for Myllia, who is a most attractive young person, and then they met at Lillian's again, and then the Coopers invited them over.

Not that they wait for invitations, however; they go where they will, and when. And they're downright glad to see each other, these girls who haven't been separated in school for years until 1922, that they're making every golden minute count.

Wait a minute while we find out where—Miss Lillian Randle, Miss Marguerite Fisher, Miss Gertrude Hiner, Miss Lucille Benson.

HATS ARE MADE FOR HEADS, AND NOT HEADS FOR HATS

Not all artists make pictures with crayon, brushes or paint. Some use velvet, silks or feathers.

Mary Gladys Ogilvie, most original milliner in New York, is one of the latter kind.

When a customer wants a hat, Miss Ogilvie studies her as for a portrait, then assembles her material and constructs the hat right on the subject's head.

It is her idea that hats should be made to suit heads, not that heads were made for hats.

Among her sitters are the smartest society folk—for her establishment is in the exclusive shopping district—and many of the stars of stage and screen.

Find Your Type. "Clothes should be self-expression, not fashion advertisements or a disguise," says the artist-milliner.

"A woman's hat not only should bring out the beauty of her features, it should hide also her character, her inner self."

"Besides smart American and elegant Parisian styles, there are the sleek and lovely Chinese caps, turbans from the Hindustan, ruffled hats from the gyppies, plumed hats from Hungary, and colorful effects from the Balkan states—all beautiful and full of personality."

"I pay most attention to line and color. The color must blend with the skin and hair, and the gown with which it is to be worn. It should not be so brilliant or extreme as to overpower the individual."

Keep to Nature. "A small woman never should try to build up the size of her head, but rather emphasize its smallness. She should keep to the natural lines of the head and depend upon a snappy bow, a graceful feather, or some colorful bit of trimming for her effect."

MARY GLADYS OGILVIE

"The tall woman should not feel called on to combat her inches by a flat-or-too-large hat. The Russian turban, the full-draped, oriental turban, or the cloche shape with the full crown that extends beyond the features, is the best choice for the tall woman."

Miss Ogilvie came to New York from San Francisco. It was in Chinatown that she got the inspiration for her Chinese hats of a few seasons ago that were so extremely copied. This year she is featuring the colorful Arabian and Indian turban.

According to the Institute, 1,000,000 hats were sold in the United States in December. Cecil Leitch Praises American Woman Golfer

LONDON, Dec. 27.—Miss Cecil Leitch, the former British woman golf champion, is at present in the hands of a specialist for treatment of her arm, and she has said recently that she could not see her prospects in the matter of playing in the next ladies' championship games.

Regarding her tour last summer in Canada and the United States, Miss Leitch declared it was purely of a private nature. She was particularly impressed with women's golf in the Dominion of the outstanding players in Canada. Miss Leitch was accompanied by Miss Leslie, Miss Alex Stirling was undoubtedly the greatest exponent of women's golf in the United States, in spite of the fact that she curtailed her play during 1922. She was the finest "shot maker" over there. She had more shots almost than any other player. Miss Leitch considers that the majority of women's golf courses in the United States and Canada are rather poor in England. There is no undulation there as in England, and virtually no wind. The pozzes, however, are very much better kept than in this country.

Seek Greater Development City Manager Government

LAWRENCE, KAN., Dec. 27.—Greater development of the city manager form of government, which its advocates point out, centralizes municipal responsibility and gives the citizen more service per tax-dollar will be the object of the National City Managers' association, which recently chose the University of Kansas as its national headquarters. A monthly magazine devoted to efficient city administration, amendments of laws, and methods used to further this idea in government, states John G. Stutz, secretary of the association.

In 1922, there were two cities with the manager form of government, Mr. Stutz says. "Since that time, 27 cities in 23 states representing a population of 5,500,000 have adopted the plan. Among the larger cities with this form of government are Cleveland, Akron and Dayton, Ohio; Houston, Texas; Nashville, Tenn.; Wichita, Kan.; Grand Rapids, and Kalamazoo, Mich.; Albuquerque, N. M.; and Sacramento, Pasadena and Long Beach, Cal."

Two Are Indicted In Connection With Bosch Transaction

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Martin E. Kerr, alleged purchaser of the Bosch Magneto company's assets at a sale by the alien property custodian, and Joseph F. Guffey, director of sales at the New York office of the alien property custodian, were indicted today by a federal grand jury which has for several weeks been investigating the transaction.

The indictment against Kerr charges perjury, alleging that he declared himself a citizen of the United States when applying for a passport. Guffey is charged with perjury and conspiracy. The indictments were returned at the instance of special government prosecutors Galloway and O'Leary, who came here from Washington to conduct the inquiry.

The indictment against Guffey contains 12 counts and the total embezzlement charged in them aggregate $408,001.

Inquiry into the circumstances of the sale in 1918 of the Bosch company began more than a year ago in the district of Columbia, was later transferred to Boston and then to New York.

The original inquiry followed charges by former officials of the Bosch company that former alien property custodian Palmer sold their property which they claimed was worth $12,000,000 to Kerr, whose home was in Allentown, Pa., and they alleged, was a close friend and business associate of Mr. Palmer.

The Bosch officials also declared that the property was valued by the purchaser at $10,000,000, which after it had been bought for $4,500,000. They claimed that the public auction at which the sale was made had been "fixed" for Kerr. In support of their contentions they pointed out that the company declared a 20 per cent stock dividend and increased the number of shares from 50,000 to 100,000.

Jail Best Remedy For Speeders, Ex-Judge Tells Rotarians in Safety Drive

Stiff fines help to stop speeding and reckless driving but jail sentences would be still more effective, Judge Hoffman told members of the Rotary club at the weekly luncheon at the Kemp Thursday.

Mr. Hoffman spoke in connection with the campaign for public safety which the Rotary club will stage in 1923, and his talk with the traffic situation from the viewpoint of the man who assesses the fines. A committee headed by G. W. Platt will be in charge of the Rotary campaign.

"The man who makes a practice of speeding or driving recklessly is a potential criminal," said Judge Hoffman. "A nominal fine does not have much effect; a man will pay $10 for the privilege of driving fast sometimes, but fine him $20 and he'll think it over a long time. I believe the time is coming when a jail sentence can be imposed, as is now done in many states."

The public must get solidly behind any effort to curb traffic violations, Mr. Hoffman said.

"It is very, very few cases it is necessary to drive above the limit," Mr. Hoffman continued, "the excesses offered by speeders in police court convinced me of that. Even those who were probably telling the truth

Harding Requests Defeat Amendment

"to another nation what it shall accept."

In discussions with foreign governments the previous administration and the present administration have insisted that the question of European debts to the United States is distinct and apart from the question of reparations but European states hold a contrary view, and it is wholly inconsistent to invite a conference for the consideration of questions in dealing with which the government has denied all authority by act of congress.

"So far as the limitation of land armaments is concerned, there seems to be at this time no more promising prospect of accomplishment than the proposed conference held in Washington a year ago. I venture to warn the senate against the suggestion to sign a treaty, or a gesture of promise to the world which cannot be fulfilled until the nations directly concerned express their readiness to cooperate to such an end.

"With respect to a limitation of auxiliary types of naval craft, which are not limited by the present treaty, it is to be said that such an agreement is much to be desired whenever practicable, but we may reasonably postpone our further endeavors along that line until the agreements made at the Washington conference secure the consent of all governments concerned.

"Very truly yours,
"Warren G. Harding."

Senator Lodge presented the president's letter immediately after the senate convened and the reading of it by clerk was interrupted tentatively by senators on both sides of the chamber.

Senator Borah noted on a pad of paper the high spots of the communication and smiled broadly at the president's declaration that the executive branch of the government was not fully alive to the present world situation and that congress could facilitate the work of the debt commission "by freeing the hands of that body."

Senator McNary, republican, Oregon, gained the floor after the letter had been read and began an address in behalf of the Borah proposal, which he championed as a measure likely to aid the American farmer by restoring Europe and increasing European purchases of American agricultural products.

"I shall never know," said Senator McNary, "whether it was the stubbornness of our disgruntled president, Woodrow Wilson, the perversity of the able senator from Massachusetts, Mr. Lodge, or the eloquence of the irreconcilables that prevented ratification of the Versailles treaty, yet I shall always think, as a mild reservationist, that much of the unrest and hatred existing among the nations at this time would not have occurred if this treaty had been ratified."

Senator Borah, discussing the president's letter briefly, asked for information regarding the administration negotiations.

"I am not in a position to say precisely what they include," Senator Lodge replied, "but I can say that they do not include cancellation of the foreign debt. I asked that question of the president. He said: 'Why? His administration has been steadily against cancellation of the debt and is now.'"

Senator Borah pressed his request for more light on the president's request that the debt commission's hands be freed and Senator Lodge reiterated that the president's allusion referred only to interest and amortization.

Opposes Amendment.

Opposing the Borah amendment, Senator McCormick of Illinois, one of the republicans irreconcilables, declared that "neither the Wilson league of nations, which lives and languishes, nor the economic conference of the senator from Idaho can break down the economic barriers that have been erected in Europe." He said the long succession of European conferences had accomplished little because "they seek the impossible."

He declared that Senator Borah and former President Wilson "are now proceeding along converging paths."

"Senator Borah could not find better company than Mr. Wilson," Senator Hefflin, democrat, Alabama, interjected, asserting that the former president was "the greatest peace advocate on earth." The Alabama senator charged that the policy of the republican party had utterly failed to restore peace in Europe or to bring about stability in the business world.

"Things are drifting as the international bankers want them to drift," he added, "so that they can get a strangle hold upon the business of the world."

McKeoin, 42, of New Orleans, La., is charged with conspiracy to kidnap and murder James H. Carroll, U. S. senator from Louisiana, and with conspiracy to kidnap and murder Governor McComb, U. S. senator from Louisiana.

McKeoin was arrested in New Orleans on August 24, 1922, and was held in the city jail. He was later removed to the federal penitentiary at New Orleans.

McKeoin's attorney, J. M. McKeoin, Jr., of New Orleans, is fighting for his client's release. He is charging that the government is holding McKeoin without cause and that he is being held in violation of the constitution.

The state department declined to add anything to the bare announcement by Senator Lodge, it was learned that President Harding was considering transmitting a letter to the senate giving information of his negotiations before another possible intervention from congress which might operate to hinder his efforts. The president held an hour's conference with Secretary Hughes late yesterday, although there was no intimation that it related to the senate discussion.

POLITICAL SPOTLIGHT ON WILSON AS HE REACHES 66TH BIRTHDAY; RESOLUTION ADOPTED IN SENATE

By HARRY HUNT
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—His sixtieth birthday anniversary—Dec. 28, 1922—finds Woodrow Wilson again in the eye of the political spotlight.

Whether that spotlight again will swing to put the former president in the center of its radiance is to many the most engaging question before America today.

Wilson has been writing letters on public questions—probably on the late elections. Also his Armistice Day speech to admirers gathered at his home revealed he does not yet concede defeat in the cause in which he sacrificed his health, and indicated his expectation that American participation in world affairs would become the dominating issue in 1924.

Wilson unquestionably is the leader of the Democratic party today. His hold on the minds and hearts of the rank and file of his party has been strengthened by his illness and by the difficulties in which the world has found itself the last two years.

It seems certain Wilson will lay down the lines on which the Democratic party will attempt its comeback in 1924 and that his influence on the choice of candidates will be most powerful.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Without debate and with a chorus of ayes from democratic senators and silence from most of the republican side, the senate today adopted a resolution offered by Senator Harris, democrat, Georgia, expressing "the pleasure and joy of the senate" upon the recovery toward health of former President Wilson.

A day nursery for negro children has been definitely decided upon and plans were discussed at the meeting Wednesday for the collection of funds for the establishment and maintenance of the institution.

It is understood that a local business man has offered a lot to be used for this purpose, but it is not known if the offer has been accepted. An effort will be made to erect the new building for the nursery in a central and convenient location.

ETHICAL CODE FOR FOOTBALL COACHES IS BEING FRAMED

FAIR PLAY, GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP AND CLEANER PRACTICES URGED

WOULD REDUCE RIVALRY BETWEEN INSTITUTIONS

Committee headed by Stagg of Chicago, Francis Compton of St. Louis, and other prominent officials are at work on the code.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Proposals designed to improve the "health" of intercollegiate and interscholastic football are contained in a code of fair play, good sportsmanship and coaching ethics adopted by the American football coaches' association at its annual meeting yesterday. The code was framed by a committee of which Dr. Stagg, of the University of Chicago, is chairman. Under "fair play" scrupulous observance was urged of such fundamentals as "using only students strictly eligible under amateur and institutional rules, selection of competent officials, starting of games at hours certain to permit completion in ample daylight, non-interference with the referee's authority upon the playing field and provision of the fairest playing field possible, including protection against freezing with hay, straw or other suitable covering."

Enumeration of ways in which "good sportsmanship" can be expressed included: "by providing comforts and conveniences to the visiting team and its friends; by cheering cheerfully while playing and being called; by applauding outstanding plays, demonstrations of sportsmanship on the part of opponents; by confining scouting to legitimate study of regularly played games, establishing a referee on an opponent's practice, scout his signals or secure by secret means information concerning the style of play of a team to be met later by endeavoring to settle questions of eligibility confidentially rather than by public discussion; by active encouragement of cordial relations between teams and student bodies of rival institutions; and by going out of the way to congratulate the coach and captain of the winning team."

As ethical practices, coaches were urged in the code to "refuse to teach side line coaching, clipping, intentional roughness and other methods of violating the letter or spirit of rules; to encourage respect toward officials and discourage abusive talk between opposing players during a game; to elevate the ideals above the desire to win at any price; to work in harmony with the academic department of institutions; and to discourage proselyting, recruiting, betting, professional football, the spirit of commercialism and other influences tending to substitute for such character building qualities in players as loyalty, self-sacrifice and devotion."

Nationals' New Infielder May Displace Peck

Where does Washington intend to use shortstop? Gagnon is the infielder recently secured from Detroit in a trade for pitcher Ray Francis. Washington has one of the veteran shortstops of the game in Roger Peckinbaugh. Roger is slipping a bit but he is a good fielder. It is hard to figure that Gagnon has a chance to displace Peckinbaugh at short. There is the possibility that the coming of Gagnon may mean that Peck is to figure in a trade.

It is also possible that Gagnon may be tried out at third base. Washington was weak at the far corner last year, using half a dozen men with ordinary success. Possibly Gagnon will fill the bill there. Harris is a fixture at second. So Gagnon must be in for a whirl at third unless Peck is to be traded. Gagnon is a former Holy Cross College star. He joined Detroit at the close of the college season last year. After being on the bench warmer for about a month, he was sent to Rochester of the International League for further seasoning. He had a good year there and is said to be ready for fast company.

'Barnyard Golfers' Enter Big Tourney

By NEA Service. ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 28.—With the arrival here of J. Todd Flowers of Akron, Ohio, vice president of the National Association of Horse Show Exhibitors, plans are being under way for the fifth annual mid-winter "barnyard golf" championship to be held in February. Flowers said today he hoped to have a cash prize list for winners amounting to $4,000, of which $1,000 has already been raised. The contests will be held in the Water Front baseball park here, where there are excellent accommodations for 10,000 spectators. Every ex-national champion has been entered in the tournament, including the present titleholder, Frank Louisa of New London, Iowa. The men are Fred M. Brust, Columbus, Ohio; George May, Akron, Ohio; Frank Johnson, Kalamazoo, Mich.; and C. C. Davis of Kansas City, Mo. John Miller, Rock Valley, Iowa, has been high in the tournament of two years ago, arrived during the week to carry on his training for the event. Miller is 35.

Spitball Pitchers Are Passing Out

By NEA Service. CLEVELAND, Ohio, Dec. 28.—The sale of Pitcher Allan Bothorn of the Cleveland club to the minors, marks the passing of another spitball pitcher. At the close of the American League season there were only six spitballers in the organization. The release of Bothorn cuts it to five. It is almost a certainty that before the opening of the season, Alton Russell of Boston will have drifted back. Stanley Coveleski of Cleveland, Red Faber of Chicago, Urban Shocker of St. Louis, and Jack Quinn are the four veterans certain to start the 1923 campaign. Quinn hasn't a great many more years left. Coveleski, who is a spitball pitcher almost exclusively, seemed to be slipping a bit last season. Faber of Chicago, and Shocker of St. Louis, would still be great pitchers.

By BILLY EVANS. In the passing of Jim Bagby from the Cleveland club, the American League loses one of the unique characters of the game. With Jim Bagby there was a reason for everything. He enjoyed nothing better than a friendly argument. During the playing season, Bagby lives baseball—talks it incessantly. Jim is always willing to take the second guess at some play if he feels it will start a discussion as to what should have been done. Most of the heated discussions on the Cleveland club, which were usually of a friendly nature, had Bagby at the bottom of them. Jim Bagby may prove a second Babe Adams for Pittsburgh, that club having refused to waive on the veteran. During the football season, I attended a game at Pittsburgh between Notre Dame and Carnegie Tech. Now that Pittsburgh has bought Bagby, I recall a remark a Pittsburgh sporting writer made to me on the day of the game. "What kind of stuff has Jim Bagby?" he asked. Evidently he had heard that Pittsburgh might take a chance on the veteran. "As much stuff as he ever had," I replied. It was a perfectly truthful remark. Jim Bagby, in 1921 and 1922,

BASKET BALL QUIZ Referee

UNSPORTSMAN. If the referee gives a decision that disgruntles a player who takes back to the official and conducts himself in an unbecomingly manner, what action can the referee take? The referee has it in his power to give the other team the right to make a free throw for goal for such conduct.

INJURIES. If a team starts the game with seven players, five regulars and two substitutes, and before the game three players are so badly injured they can no longer continue, is it possible for that team to complete the game with only four men in the field? A team must start play with five men in the field, but if it has no substitutes to replace players forced to leave the game, it may continue with less than five players.

SPECTATORS. Who is responsible for the conduct of the spectators? In basket ball, like all other sports, the conduct of the spectators is always up to the management of the home team.

TIME OUT. On what plays does the referee take time out? The referee shall order time out for a double foul, injuries to players or the making of substitutions.

Ty Cobb Thinks Well of Tigers' New Southpaw

Ty Cobb is strong for southpaw. Ty, a pretty good hitter himself, frankly admits that most left handers trouble him far more than right handers do. Such being the case, the natural conclusion that Cobb must draw, is that most left-handed batters are the most dangerous to him by southpaw pitching. No doubt that is the reason why Cobb always throws the ball for southpaw Ray Francis of the Washington club. Cobb figures every club that wants to have chance as a pennant contender needs a southpaw. Now that it is definitely settled that Oldham will not be a Tiger, Cobb's best bet as a southpaw passed on Bert Cole seems to be just a bit shy of major league caliber. All of which made it necessary that Cobb go out and land a southpaw. Francis proved to be the best possibility on the market. Here is how he looked to Cobb: "Francis showed me more stuff than 99 per cent of the American League southpaws last year. I didn't find him soft picking by any means. I am of the opinion that he will do well in the big league. Detroit has had in years."

PROGRESSING WITH PLANS FOR 1923. GALVESTON.—Galveston's mysterious organization of boy-producers, it is reported, the M. M. M. is proceeding with plans for the 1923 Mardi Gras celebration to be held February 12 and 13. The culminating factor to be the grand Mardi Gras masquerade ball. Held Business Session. WASHINGTON.—The Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity held the first business session of its seventy-eighth annual convention here this morning. Later the delegates were to be received by President Harding.

BAGBY MAY COME BACK IN NATIONAL CHANGE OF SCENERY MAY HELP FORMER PITCHING STAR TO REGAIN FORM

By BILLY EVANS. In the passing of Jim Bagby from the Cleveland club, the American League loses one of the unique characters of the game. With Jim Bagby there was a reason for everything. He enjoyed nothing better than a friendly argument. During the playing season, Bagby lives baseball—talks it incessantly. High Spots of Sport During 1922 as Billy Evans Sees Them

TENNIS. In the tennis world, Bill Tilden again proved his superiority over the field of 1922. Prior to the big matches, a great many of the tennis experts were of the opinion that Tilden's game was slipping. It was freely predicted that Bill Johnson would be rated as No. 1 in the tennis standing at the close of the season. While Johnson demonstrated his right to be rated as one of the greatest players in the history of the sport, still Tilden when called upon to defend his honor, had just enough in reserve to get the margin over his greatest rival. It is possible that 1922 will be the last year of the reign of Tilden. The court, an infection set in, which caused the loss of part of one finger on the right hand, is feared that this may seriously handicap his game. Tilden, however, treats the happening lightly and says that the injury will in no way affect his play. He feels confident he will be able to show the way to the rest of the world's greatest tennis experts. At home, Mrs. Molly Mallory continues to reign supreme. Her game has proved too much for the women tennis players of the United States. On foreign fields, however, Mrs. Mallory was not nearly so successful. Invading England, she met her greatest rival and arch enemy, Miss Suzanne Langlen, and went down to a glorious defeat. A year previous, Miss Langlen had defaulted to Mrs. Mallory after being apparently outclassed. Illness was given as the cause, although the accusation was freely made that the French girl quit, cold. In the meeting at England, Miss Langlen proved that it was physical condition rather than a lack of sporting blood that caused her to default in her American debut. To my way of thinking the outstanding figure in the tennis world last year is not Bill Tilden, Miss Langlen or any of the noted foreign players who visited this country, but a ship of girl, 16-year-old Helen Wills of California. In several tournaments Miss Wills was the runner-up to Mrs. Mallory and proved her hard. Inside of three years at the most she should be the leading woman tennis player of the United States. If not of the world.

Once Poor Punter Now Star Kicker

Harry Kipke, Michigan's brilliant back, is being picked on nearly all mythical elevens for one of the best punters in the country. Kipke is versatile. He can do everything a back should do. However, much of his reputation is founded on his punting ability, and that will be strange news to those who saw Kipke try to punt last year. Not alone was Kipke below the average, but he was a poor kicker. Stokates was Michigan's punter last year, but Stokates was to graduate and Tost was looking about for a punter. None seemed to lurk in the offing so he decided to make a punter out of Kipke, who had been averaging about 25 yards to his punts. Tost gave Kipke a football and told him to start practicing. Kipke started, and he continued. Every chance he got during winter, spring and summer, Kipke kicked. He kicked for distance and direction. He realized the advantage of kicking out of bounds and set about to train himself to kick that way.

CHICAGO CUBS TO INCLUDE THIS CITY IN PRACTICE TOUR

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—The Chicago Cubs baseball club has arranged 30 exhibition games for the training trip this spring, notes in the opening of the National League season, it was announced today. The pitchers and catchers will leave Chicago February 23 and arrive at Catalina Island off the coast of California, the permanent training ground of the club, February 25. The infielders and outfielders will leave Chicago March 1 and arrive at the training camp March 4. After training five days on the island, the club will line up with Vernon or Los Angeles in the first practice game March 10. The list of the pre-season games include April 3, El Paso at El Paso; April 4, San Antonio at San Antonio; April 7, Cuba first team at Fort Worth and second team at Wichita Falls; April 8, club's first team at Dallas and second team at Wichita Falls; April 10, Oklahoma City; April 11, at Tulsa.

winning 31 games in a major league campaign. Bagby pitches with his head more than his arm. His half speed ball is faster than the ordinary slow ball, and slower than the ordinary or average fast ball. It is well named—half speed ball. The fact that it is in between—a speed that is the exception rather than the rule—makes it hard to time. In addition, Jim boasts a nice fadeaway and good buster, plus fine control, plus stuff that is a bit different, tells why Bagby has been successful. The lack of confidence in his ability to win is what made a loser out of him. Change May Help. In 1921, when Bagby won 21 games, he was the "coolest" pitcher in the league. There was nothing cheery about Jim's attitude—rather it was one of supreme confidence. He figured he could beat most any team, and that is just what he did. The change of scenery, different handling and a new crop of batters to work on may do wonders for Bagby. Certainly he is worth the waiver price. Barney Dreyfus is taking a worthwhile gamble. Jim Bagby has as much stuff as he ever had. Failure to win the last two years was a mental hazard rather than physical.

BIG TASK FOR ROCKNE

Harvey Brown of Youngstown, Ohio, was recently elected captain of Notre Dame's football team for 1923. In Knute Rockne Notre Dame has one of football's greatest coaches. In all the history of Notre Dame football, no captain or coach has ever been called upon to face a harder task than that which confronts Brown. Notre Dame had a hard schedule during the season just closed. However, it hardly compares with that of next season. Notre Dame will meet the Army, Princeton and Georgia Tech on successive Saturdays. The Army will be met October 13, Princeton, October 20, and Georgia Tech, October 27. Both the Army and Georgia Tech were on the Notre Dame schedule of this year. The Army was held to a scoreless tie, while Georgia Tech was defeated 13 to 0. The injecting of the Princeton game in between these two important contests will come as a surprise. Princeton, given first ranking in the east in 1922, figures on an even stronger team next year. Coach Knute Rockne of Notre Dame has practically his entire team back for next year. Rockne is an advocate of a hard schedule. He feels that it brings out better football. Bill Roper of Princeton works along the same line of reasoning. All of which explains why Princeton and Notre Dame will get together. It should prove a great game. It will be a meeting between real fighters. Princeton and Notre Dame have the reputation of producing teams that never quit.

JACK DAW IN MIDGETVILLE

By ELTON

"It's a rather long trip to our Coney Island," said one of the midgets. "I guess we had better take a street car." "Go right ahead," replied Jack. "I'll follow you on foot." And as the little men piled into the trolley, Jack called Flip and started on the run for the tiny funland.

Of course Jack, with his long legs, got there far ahead of the Midgetville street car. He disliked to lose any time, so sent Flip back to help the car along. Flip roared a short distance and met the trolley. He put his paw to the back of it and soon had it moving along very fast.

A little chorus of "hurray's" greeted Jack as the trolley arrived at Coney Island. "Now we will make the rounds," shouted one of the midgets. "First of all, the little fellows piled on the scenic railway and it was very interesting to Jack to watch the cars roll up and down the tracks." (Continued.)
