DRAGNET FOR MISSING SLAYER IS THROWN OUT THURSDAY AFTER SENSATIONAL ESCAPE

U. S. TO CONTINUE PARTICIPATION IN EAST CONFERENCE

PARIS, Jan. 11.—The American troops will be replaced by French forces when they retire from Coblenz. It was said today in official circles.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The order bringing the troops home from the Rhine will not be followed by a withdrawal of American participation in the reparations commission unless there is a change in the present policy of the American government as outlined today in authoritative quarters.

It is the belief of officials here that despite agitation in congress regarding the activities of Roland W. Toussaint, the American unofficial observer with the commission, his retention at his present post is of much value in protecting American interests and aiding toward a final settlement of the reparations problem.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Decision of the government to withdraw American troops from the Rhine was regarded here today not only as a move to emphasize the administration's disapproval of the French reparations program, but also as an indication of a definite determination that the program now must be carried to the final test of results before there can be any hope of an alternative course.

No amplification of the reasons which prompted the withdrawal decision was forthcoming from any official source today, however, because the explanation given at the white house yesterday that the president deemed the action expedient at this time, which will be followed by the date by which the entire Rhine contingent ordered returned is to be back in the United States.

MAYOR TESTIFIES HE WAS INSTRUCTED TO ORDER MEN TO LEAVE

BASTROP, LA., Jan. 11.—E. L. Dade, mayor of the village of Mer Rouge, and a former member of the Morehouse board, declared on the witness stand at the open hearing into hooded band depredations in Morehouse today that at one time he had been instructed by J. K. Skipwith, klan leader, to notify three Mer Rouge citizens they would have to "leave town."

Dade named the men ordered to leave town as A. O. Whipple, Town Marshal Campbell of Mer Rouge, and a man named Tom Miller.

BASTROP, LA., Jan. 11.—Fred Higginbotham, alleged messenger for the KKK hooded band at the time Thomas Richard was first kidnapped in August last, was the first witness to take the stand today.

During the months of July and August of last year Higginbotham said he was a café owner and taxicab operator.

"Do you remember an occasion on or about the 17th of August when it was said T. F. Richard was taken by a band of hooded men from a garage in Bastrop?"

"Yes, I was on my way to Mer Rouge."

"Did you go to Mer Rouge?"

"No, I was held by masked men right outside of town. They were armed with pistols and shot guns. I was frightened and paid no attention to the number of men."

"Where did they take you?"

"Out in the woods."

"Did you see any one there who was masked?"

"Yes, Harry Neilsen."

"Who else did you see?"

"I don't know, the rest of them were masked. Neilsen was away from them."

"What did they do with you?"

"They detained me for a little while and told me to go back to Bastrop."

"How were they dressed?"

"They had on black hoods."

"Did you see any one in particular?"

"I saw a member of the Ku Klux Klan."

"I'm a charter member of the Bastrop Klan?"

"Yes, I am."

"Do you know any in particular except Captain Skipwith?"

"Yes, I have attended klan meetings."

"Have you ever heard them discuss the conduct of the people of this parish?"

"No."

"Where do they hold their meetings?"

"I don't know."

"You have attended klan meetings?"

"Yes."

"Have you ever heard them discuss the conduct of the people of this parish?"

"No."

"Where do they hold their meetings?"

"I don't know."

AMERICAN SOLDIERS SECRETLY MARRIED

COBLENZ, Jan. 11.—The more or less secret marriages to German girls of about 300 American soldiers of the 12th remaining here are giving the army authorities concern in connection with the order for the troops to "leave home."

Such marriages have not been sanctioned by the army and the question has arisen whether some of these German wives will be barred under the American immigration laws. Officers of the staff have taken this up with Washington and hope to arrange for the return of all the soldiers' wives and families.

WANT UNIVERSITY TO TAKE EL PASO SCHOOL OF MINES

EL PASO, Jan. 11.—Although they took no formal action, members of the board of regents after a two-day session, announced here today that they hoped the Texas legislature would pass a bill authorizing the University of Texas to merge the School of Mines at El Paso and the El Paso Junior college a city institution. Action of the legislature on a measure authorizing the merger which the regents said would be introduced, was awaited. Each school has about 100 students and many of the courses are said to be duplicated.

Building plans for the school of medicine of the state university at Galveston were suspended because of prices asked for lots adjoining the campus, the regents said.

The board adopted the recommendations of the faculty of the School of Mines, providing optional courses of study in the senior year, making it possible for students to specialize in mining, metallurgy or geology if there are sufficient students to justify maintaining the courses.

Reorganization of John C. Towson as dean of the law school was approved and George C. Butts was appointed to succeed him, effective at the close of the present school year.

TROOPS ENTER CITY OF ESSEN HEART OF THE RUHR VALLEY AT AN EARLY HOUR THIS MORNING

French troops entered Essen, the heart of the Ruhr valley, today, carrying out the occupation movement determined upon by France, Belgium and Italy.

The French advance from Dueseldorf and Duisburg. A small Belgian contingent came down through Ruhrort and joined the French near Mülheim.

While the troops were entering the Ruhr the French mission which will control the mines and other essential industries was on the way from Dueseldorf under instructions from Paris.

With the carrying out of the military movement further into Germany, Dr. Wilhelm Mayer, German ambassador to France, left Paris for Berlin.

Simultaneously Chancellor Cuno in the reichstag declared Germany's reparations obligations would cease to be discharged in further direct payments of the treaty breaking powers. Germany would not offer active resistance, but would not bow voluntarily to the movement, he added.

The British cabinet held a meeting to consider the reparations issue. It was stated on authority that the meeting was not likely to alter the British policy and was likely to confirm Great Britain's desire to maintain the treaty cooperation with France.

Notification of the decision to withdraw the American troops from the Rhine was received by Major General Allen in Coblenz, who prepared to carry out the plans for the return of the troops to the United States.

In Washington it was understood the recall of the troops would not be followed by withdrawal of American participation on the reparations commission under the present policy of the administration.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—A Western dispatch from Essen, timed 4:20 o'clock this afternoon, says martial law is to be proclaimed in the city by the French occupational forces "almost immediately."

ESSEN, Jan. 11.—The French are in Essen. The first troops entered at 4 o'clock this morning.

The Belgian contingent, moving from Duisburg, proceeded to the city by way of Neelheim, simultaneously with the French. The Belgians were accompanied by a considerable body of French troops and an ammunition column. All the soldiers have the latest war equipment even gas masks.

The population appeared calm, but there were no attempts at disruption. The French and Belgians entered the Ruhr and the Belgians into the Ruhr had generally been without incident.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Jan. 11.—The entry of the French into the Ruhr, comprising the city of Essen, began when the advance guard of the "control mission" military unit crossed the boundary line from the occupied area this morning. The rest of the troops, according to the French official statement, is to follow with regularity and it was said here that the whole Essen zone would be under French supervision by afternoon with the exception of allied engineers which will supervise the coal-deliveries, installed early for the purpose.

The plans call for the occupation of the second zone, including Bochum and Gelsenkirchen, after a brief interval.

The Ruhr troops, it is estimated, comprise approximately one French division, including a strong detachment of Belgian forces, under the command of General Henrys. The military will operate under the orders of General Simon, who is at Dueseldorf.

General De Goutte, who is in succession of General Henrys, has drafted a proclamation to residents of the Ruhr explaining the character of the movement and making it clear that the French and Belgians are not there to occupy the Ruhr, but to bring about a new order.

The Ruhr troops had at last taken the action which a large majority of the public has been urging for some time, a lively satisfaction here, although it was marred to some extent by the announcement that the American forces on the Rhine were to be withdrawn.

"BUSINESS AS USUAL IS NOT YET IN GERMAN TOWN"

By Associated Press.

BOCHUM, Jan. 11.—Business as usual has not yet been resumed in this busy little coal-mining town of Pittsburgh, where lies the roots of the fortune of Hugo Stinnes, Germany's greatest capitalist.

Riding through the city during the night, the correspondent saw the ridges of the Ruhr valley lit up with flares that beamed from the many furnaces of the iron and steel works. Gaunt buildings stretched for miles and miles. In them worked 25,000 men whom Stinnes employs.

The plants turn out approximately 400,000 tons of iron and steel products yearly, keeping five blast furnaces busy.

There was no indication that the workers or their employees were thinking of the French troops so near at hand.

When the correspondent asked the workers "where's Stinnes?" they answered:

"Stinnes—that capitalist? Oh, he's in Berlin or somewhere; we do the work; he gets the money."

The workers hardly explain that the average day at the steel plants is equivalent to thirty cents a day or 3,000 marks. That is enough to buy a pound of meat and a half of butter, two pounds of coal, or three pounds of bread.

One pretty little German girl, a clerk, said that her salary was 3,000 marks a month or almost enough to buy a pair of shoes.

The picture presented by Bochum is characteristic of the whole valley. The coal mines are in operation all the way from Essen to this city; the roads are well kept and clean, the trees are evenly trimmed and the fields are still even to the very edge of the highway.

Each tall factory chimney is busy throwing out sparks and smoke. The air is filled with a noise of much comment by the French and Belgians, who refer to the contrast presented by the cold smoking stacks of northern France and Belgium.

GOVERNOR NEFF TO PRESENT MESSAGE FRIDAY AT ELEVEN

PLANS TO ADDRESS A JOINT SESSION OF HOUSE AND SENATE.

TEXT BOOK QUESTION IS RAISED IN SENATE

Introduce Joint Resolution For Amendment to Permit Printing By State.

AUSTIN, Jan. 11.—Governor Neff sent his first message to the senate this morning. It was brief and requested that he be permitted to address the senate and house in joint session at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. A similar message was sent to the house. No action was taken on the request this morning, but was deferred until this afternoon.

The governor's message in part follows:

"I have been advised by your respective committees that you have perfected your organization and are now ready for the dispatch of such business as may come before you."

"With the assembling of each legislature certain duties of me as contemplated legislation. With a view of complying with this constitutional provision, I shall be glad if it is entirely in accord with your views, to meet the house and senate in joint session at 11 o'clock Friday, January 15, or at any hour thereafter that may be more convenient to your honorable bodies."

After the introduction of a dozen bills the senate recessed until this afternoon.

The first mention of the action of the state text book commission, which resulted in considerable criticism, came in the senate this morning when Senator Davis of Dallas introduced a joint resolution calling for a special election on January 25 this year, to vote on a proposed amendment of the constitution giving the legislature authority to publish and print or have published all public school texts. The resolution was referred to committee without action.

Senator Davis also introduced a measure providing for the establishment of a state department of insurance, in separate from the department of banking. This measure was drawn up and approved by representatives of insurance companies of the state. The insurance commissioner would receive a salary of $10,000 a year under the bill.

A bill introduced by Senator Lewis directs the approval of the legislature for the purchase and operation of the Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma railroad.

BIRMINGHAM HAS SIXTH AXE MURDER IN TWELVE MONTHS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 11.—Birmingham police were today trying to solve another axe murder—the sixth within the last 12 months.

Joseph Klein, north side merchant, died early today from injuries inflicted by an axe wielded while he was at his store last night.

At which time his 12-year-old daughter, Ethel, was attacked in like manner. Klein suffered terrible injuries from the instrument.

The daughter received one blow on the head, which she has now recovered.

Two theories were before investigating officers—murder by robbery as a motive; murder by a crazed gang, whose motive has been clearly defined.

TWO ELECTIONS TO BE NECESSARY ON NEW CONSTITUTION

PEOPLE TO VOTE FIRST ON WHETHER CONVENTION SHALL BE HELD.

PROPOSERS FAVOR NAMING COMMISSION

See No Chance For New Constitution If It Must Be Voted On As a Whole.

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Jan. 11.—Representative Joe Moore of Hunt county and Representative, Homer Stricks of Ellis county, who have been giving much study to the matter of a constitutional convention, have proposed what they consider the most feasible plan for procedure. Their statement follows:

The success of a constitutional convention depends largely on how its work is submitted to the people. Our investigation reveals two methods—first, the straight convention plan, where the constitution is called, delegates are elected by the people, and the convention meets, frames a new document and submits it to the people on blue for their ratification or rejection; second, the modified convention plan, which was followed with success in Massachusetts; under this plan the convention meets, submits amendments to the old constitution, and upon a basis of amendments accepted by the people, frames a "revised" constitution which in turn is submitted to the people.

It will be noted that under this plan amendments to the old constitution are first submitted to the people by the convention. The experience of New York, Arkansas, Illinois and other states shows that it is futile to pursue the straight convention plan. The modified plan is the only feasible one, and it gives the people an opportunity to say definitely what provisions they wish to see written into the constitution of the state, a right which in all justities they are entitled.

THE FOLLOWING PROCEDURE IS ADVOCATED:

1.—Obtain a ruling from the attorney general on whether a convention general or whether a constitutional convention should submit amendments. Representative Hendricks on January 11 asked for a ruling on this question, and attorney general, Robert S. Ross, an opinion within the next few days.

2.—If the attorney general answers in the affirmative, submit to the electors the question of having a convention to revise, alter or amend the constitution of the state.

3.—Prior to the submission of this question to the people, have the legislature draw up the convention act in detail, giving the power to propose amendments, gathering information for use of the convention, which should not meet before January of next year. If the people vote not to call a constitutional convention, have the committee make an exhaustive study of the present constitution and report to the next regular session of the legislature on needed amendments.

It is pointed out that the legislature has no power to call a convention in this state without the sanction of the people. We may as well discuss from mind the matter of the legislature calling a convention, for the law is plain that it is for the people themselves, not the legislature, to say whether a convention shall be called.

Under the plan advocated, the people will be given an opportunity to express themselves definitely on whether they desire a convention. No member of the legislature should deprive the people of this opportunity to express themselves. Moreover, in any event, we are assured by some constructive action, and the people are given an opportunity to choose their method of working over the organic law. It is pointed out that the legislature may inhibit any change of the bill of rights or the homestead law, should this be deemed advisable. The proper bills and resolutions are being drawn and will be completed this week. If the attorney general rules that a convention cannot submit amendments, an alternative plan will be worked out.

Five Thousand Essen Citizens Storm Hotel After French Party

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. ESSEN, Jan. 11.—A sample of the political electricity discharging the atmosphere here is found in last night's disturbances, when about 5,000 Essen citizens stormed the doors of the Kaiserhof, the city's leading hotel, demanding the resignation of the French commission which the crowd believed was lodging there. The management's announcement that not a Frenchman was in the house was un satisfactory, especially in view of the fact that a flower girl reportedly fell from an upper window among the demonstrators. Scores of persons swarmed into the building but Dr. Hans Luther, former burgomaster of Essen and now minister of food in the Cuno cabinet, appeared on the scene in time to prevent more serious consequences.

Dr. Luther, who the disturbances began, had just begun to read an address to the section correspondents gathered at the Kaiserhof hotel, in which he made a plea for moral support for Germany on the issue raised by France. The occupation of the Ruhr would be a violation of the treaty of humanity as well as the treaty of Versailles, he said. He cited instances of acute distress among the people to refute the French charge that Germany is able but unwilling to pay. Dr. Luther was obliged to appeal to the gathering outside impatiently in order to induce it to disperse. He was very noticeably disappointed when informed of the American government's order withdrawing its troops from the Rhine. "That is the worst possible news we could receive," he said, "if in the world doesn't America support us in this!"

M. Parker of Louisiana on behalf of law enforcement.

Immediately upon introduction of the resolution a motion was made by Senator Wood to refer the matter to the committee on Judiciary and related political organizations when it referred to committee without action a resolution introduced by Senator Burnett Rogers and favored by Governor J. M. Parker of Louisiana on behalf of law enforcement.

ONE REPORT LEADS TO BELIEF PRISONER WAS WELL PREPARED

That Toussaint had been well prepared for his delivery from the county jail and that he had been preferred outside assistance is the firm belief of officers and officials who have investigated the affair.

In line with this argument, it is reported by several persons who were at the county jail shortly after midnight Wednesday that a man, bearing the general description of Toussaint suddenly made his appearance from the darkness of the alley and stepped into a waiting automobile. There were a number of men in this alley waiting him.

The man, who it is thought was Toussaint, jumped into the rear seat of the automobile and two other men jumped in the car with him.

As the car whisked away and another fellow nearby, who had seen the man, several persons heard the remark made by still another person standing on the sidewalk.

"Well he is a fast to fall into a trap like that."

All the men who were around the depot at this time of the night were either asleep or busy with their own affairs.

Whether any evidence can be given to the report is not known as no person who actually saw the happening and heard the words could be located.

One man was interviewed who heard an account of the alleged happening, within five minutes after it is reported it did happen.

PROPERTY OWNERS ON AVENUE G WILL OPPOSE CAR LINE

COUNCIL FAILS TO REACH AN AGREEMENT ON TRACTION ROUTE.

INJUNCTION RUMORED BY THOSE AFFECTED

School Board Stands Firm in its Opposition to Line On Avenue G.

For the fourth time the city council adjourned Thursday morning without reaching a decision in regard to the proposed extension of the car line to the new junior college now under construction. A joint meeting of the council and the board of education was held before the open session. The council reported at the session with the property owners that the school board was strong in its contention that the proposed line should come down Avenue G.

Walter Foster spoke in behalf of the property owners, and said that they were not opposed to the school, or the best interests of the traction company but that a line on the street suggested would be an imposition of the property owners.

G. D. Anderson, who at one time was a member of the board of aldermen, said that he believed that the extension as proposed was a necessity but that in case the franchise was granted on Avenue G, an effort would be made by residents of that street to halt the construction of the line. An injunction was not mentioned in the Thursday morning meeting but it is understood that the residents affected by the new line will file an injunction in case the franchise is granted.

The route down Giddings street was brought up again but L. Albritton of the traction company said his company would not consider that proposal.

Objections from several angles were brought against the new line. Each one of the protestants expressed themselves indignantly. The noise caused by the cars passing the property seemed to be the chief objection.

Other contentions that a street car line in front of their property would decrease it in value.

A special meeting of the council is called for Thursday night; it is hoped that at that time some definite decision can be reached. Members of the council said Thursday morning that the present indications are that the franchise would be granted the line on Avenue G.

At the Thursday night meeting, protests from residents of that street will be heard. It is not thought that the proposal will meet such vigorous protest from residents of Avenue G.

VARIED PROGRAM IS PRESENTED AT ROTARY LUNCHEON

With Amelia Bingham, Police Commissioner Pitts and Hubert Harrison taking part, the program at the Rotary club luncheon at the Kemp Thursday night was described as one of considerable variety.

Miss Bingham, who is of "The Circle" company, gave a ringing patriotic talk as her contribution. Police Commissioner Pitts spoke on some phases of the safety campaign which the club is conducting. Mr. Harrison was chairman for the day.

Commissioner Pitts spoke in his opinion that the existing speed limits should be raised to 14 miles in the business district and to 22 or 25 miles in the residential sections.

"Fewer laws and stricter enforcement" was the remedy suggested by Mr. Pitts. He urged members of the club to familiarize themselves with the new traffic signals, which he illustrated to those present.

Dr. A. D. Patillo of the medical society urged protection of the public from untrained practitioners. Mrs. Walter Robertson announced the coming attractions under auspices of local musical organizations.

Under the leadership of R. E. Shepherd, the Rotarians made a not altogether successful attempt to learn the new community song, which will be sung at the chamber of commerce banquet next Tuesday night.

PATIENTS TELL OF CURE BY COUÉ

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Staff Correspondent

ANCY, FRANCE, Jan. 11.—In the camaraderie that exists among all who attend the clinic of Emile Coué I heard many first-hand stories of what Coué had done for his patients.

To these people I was a fellow sufferer. They wanted to banish my skepticism. So they frankly discussed their own ailments with me.

Here is a pretty American woman married to a titled foreigner. For years she told me she suffered from neuritis in her right shoulder and arm. She had been here for three months. Her pains went away over two months ago and have never returned.

CASE NUMBER TWO: Another American woman. For years she has suffered from drooping eyelids. They would drop and completely close her eyes. Her husband, who is here with her, is a wealthy New York business man. He had called in celebrated specialists of our big cities. No results. She and her husband both told me Coué had cured her. One day when I was there, he turned to her and said: "Madame, when you leave here, always remember you are mistress of your eyelids."

CASE NUMBER THREE: A Canadian civil engineer. He had suffered some kind of lesion in the brain from overwork. He had difficulty in walking. And sometimes, when he started walking, he had difficulty in stopping. He told me he was well on the way to recovery. And I myself saw him run for a street car and board it without trouble.

CASE NUMBER FOUR: A ranch and mine owner from South Africa who came here for relief from the horrors of insomnia. He is now sleeping like a normal person should. But he told me something more wonderful than that. His spectacles had irritated the skin back of one of his ears. The sore grew bigger and bigger and ever more painful. Doctors in South Africa told him it was some strange fibrous growth and advised him to consult surgeons in England. He isn't going to, because he tells me that since he has been here he has been using auto-suggestion, the swelling has gone down to one-third its former size and is still decreasing. He believes it will go away entirely.

CASE NUMBER FIVE: An English woman. The marks of suffering are on her face. Pain has cut deep circles under her eyes. She told me she had been confined to her bed for eight years with various ailments. Now she lives like other people. She attends the Coué clinic. She goes for long walks. At night she visits the theatre and studies it.

CASE NUMBER SIX: An American woman from Connecticut. For years she suffered from asthma. Now she breathes in comfort. She had not been able to enjoy theatres because she couldn't be shut up that way with other people. The other night I saw her at the opera in Nancy.

I could go on and on, citing other instances. These "people are Coué fans." They have all the enthusiasm of religious converts. Some are insisting upon making gifts of money to Monsieur Coué. And when people voluntarily part with money it means something.

Tomorrow—Bronner answers "What Is Coué's Game?"

SEGUIN MAN ELECTED TO THE STATE SENATE

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 11.—The election of A. J. Witz of Seguin as senator from the 21st Texas district was virtually admitted at noon today, when his lead was 100 over W. M. Pily of Gonzales. About 4,000 votes were polled.

$10,000 LOSS FROM FIRE THURSDAY IN 3 TILDEN GARAGES

Fire of unknown origin Thursday morning at 8:10 completely destroyed the servant house and garages of H. Willis, 1406 Tilden, and the double garage of H. F. Johnson and Wade H. Walker at 1413 and 1415 Hayes street. The total loss on the three houses was approximately $10,000; the loss was covered by insurance.

The blaze originated in the servant house belonging to H. F. Johnson at 1413 Hayes. Mr. Johnson stated that the house had not been occupied for several weeks and that no fire had been in the building. The origin of the blaze can not be accounted for. The loss of the Johnson property was $2,500; it was partially covered by insurance.

The adjoining property, the servant house and garage in the rear of 1415 Hayes was also totally destroyed. The loss on the building was estimated at $2,500; the household goods were a total loss. The loss on the building was covered by insurance.

The two-story servant house across the alley, the property of H. Willis at 1406 Tilden, caught from the flames of the other two and was well under way when the department arrived. The building was a total loss; the loss on the building was estimated at $5,000; the place was insured.

The Willis and Johnson homes were badly scorched and only a prompt response and valiant fighting by the department saved the two residences. Persons living in the adjoining houses became alarmed and moved their household effects into the street.

City Is Fortunate In Securing Great Opera Robin Hood

Real opera here is something that the optimistic have despaired of, for the optimistic have despaired of, for since the Bostonians quit, several opera producers have attempted to launch forth mediocre productions which have come to a disastrous ending, the result being that everybody outside of the larger cities must depend solely upon the railroads and a generous expense account to visit the cities to see this class of entertainment. That an organization of operatic stars direct from the greatest music-conservatories in our own United States can be brought to the smaller cities is nothing less than good fortune and indicates something of the magnitude of the present activity in the musical and theatrical world; in the coming production of "Robin Hood," as presented by May Valentine's organization, a really adequate presentation of this noted work by America's greatest composer can be guaranteed. There has not been one detail left wanting.

For "Robin Hood" is subsidized either by the state or by municipal government, that know the cost and do not expect the individual manager to take the risk. Such subsidies are impossible in this country—at least at the present—and if opera is to become a regular entertainment of the people in the smaller cities, it must at least have the support and encouragement of the music loving people and musical societies. Any manager who is willing to risk capital in operatic ventures surely deserves encouragement by those who would make legitimate opera a standard entertainment in our own United States can be brought to the smaller cities is nothing less than good fortune and

BILL PROVIDING FOR WEST TEXAS A. & M. HAS BEEN PREPARED

WILL BE INTRODUCED IN THE HOUSE BY REPRESENTATIVE CHITWOOD.

BLED SOE WILL PRESENT MEASURE IN SENATE

More Important Provisions Are Outlined By Sweetwater Legislator.

SWEETWATER, Jan. 11.—Representative R. M. Chitwood has completed preparation of a bill calling for a west Texas A. & M. college for consideration for the coming legislature.

"The only state educational institutions now located in west Texas are the Canyon normal at Canyon in the panhandle section of the state; the Sul Ross normal at Alpine, 200 miles west of San Angelo and the school of Mines at El Paso. From Canyon normal to Sul Ross at Alpine there stretches an expanse of more than 600 miles. There is, then, a great strip of Texas, 650 miles long and more than 600 miles wide, with four great state institutions upon its extreme edges and nothing to serve the great central portion. Reasonably—a college draws the vast bulk of its students from a radius of 100 miles.

"More than 50 per cent of the native-born, white American citizens of Texas reside within the limits of the area outlined. The state institutions of higher learning are restricted to whites. The 1920 census gave Brazos county, where the Agricultural and Mechanical college is located, 1,817 white farmers and 1,923 negro farmers. There is Runnels county with 2,016 white farmers and thirteen negro farmers; Coleman county with 2,132 white farmers and seven negro farmers; Fisher county, unsurpassed as a farming county in the state, with 1,827 white farmers and fourteen negro farmers. The same ratio holds in Mitchell, Scurry, Nolan and other counties of west Texas. In other words, the great part of the Brazos county farmers are negroes; white only eighteen-thirtieths of one per cent of Fisher county farmers are negroes.

"Why should 600,000 white, native-born American citizens be longer denied the educational facilities for which such great need has been shown. If this is a representative government, then the demands of those 600,000 will not be denied."

Mr. Chitwood briefly outlined some of the major points that are included in the bill, which he wrote in collaboration with Senator Bledsoe of Lubbock for presentation at the coming session of the legislature. A strictly independent, standard, senior college, offering the same degrees as available at the University of Texas and combining in its scope the work of the College of Industrial Arts in doing for the girls at Denton with what the A. & M. college at Bryan is doing for the boys in a brief outline of the institution, he said, which the state legislature will be asked to appropriate $1,000,000 for.

"A 4,000-acre experiment station is to be included, where ranch economics will be taught along with standard agricultural courses for the highly developed farming areas in the south plains and central portions," he added.

"In addition to these, there will be the standard college degree with emphasis upon the modern tendencies of the time with Latin and Greek omitted in favor of the modern sciences, mechanics, and the like.

"The college is intended to serve as the center where it is to be located," Mr. Chitwood said. "Not all sons and daughters of farmers wish to study agriculture. The location of an agricultural college does not necessarily mean the development of that particular locality. A survey of the principal agricultural colleges of the nation as well as those in Texas does not show this. In Lubbock county agriculture is more highly developed than in some counties that are less than an hour's ride from the Texas Agricultural colleges."

"The location called for in the bill is west of the Ninetieth meridian and north of the twenty-eighth parallel in latitude. The ninetieth meridian crosses Texas at Cisco approximately, while the twenty-eighth parallel crosses the state a full mile north of Del Rio. The distance from Cisco to El Paso is about 400 miles and it is nearly as far as that from Canyon normal in the panhandle to Del Rio. Sul Ross normal is more than 200 miles west of Del Rio at Alpine, close to the Big Bend country.

VERNON ROTARIANS ENDORSE MOVE FOR SCHOOL BUILDING

VERNON, TEXAS, Jan. 11.—A very interesting meeting was held at the Rotary club Tuesday noon at the Bailey hotel.

Dr. L. J. Mimms, pastor of the First Baptist church, addressed the Rotarians on the subject of "Vernon." His address was very instructive and contained many good thoughts of what Rotarians should look forward to as the needs of Vernon. He stated that we had the resources sufficient to have the West Texas A. & M. College located in Wilbarger county; that we had plenty of water and wonderful soil. He further stated that Vernon needed a new high school building.

After Dr. Mimms' address a report was read by a committee appointed to investigate whether we needed a high school building at this time. The report was unanimous that we need one even at this time, and that one could scarcely be built before the opening of the coming session.

A petition is being prepared to ask the commissioners to call an election to vote $150,000 for the new school building.

Arthur Razor, who has been a Rotarian for several months will leave on Friday for Denton where he will be in charge of the building. Mr. Razor's classification in the local club was flour milliner. He will engage in the ice business at Denton.

Cy Long is chairman of the high school committee appointed by the Rotarians of the Rotary club and he made an extended talk on the needs of the new building.

Emory Rhodes was also a member of the committee and is a member of the Vernon school board. He made a talk in favor of the new building and said: "We should begin at once on the bond issue and get the building erected and ready for the September term of this year."

Andy Laird of Washington state is a Vernon visitor. Mr. Laird is just from Los Angeles.

F. W. Timmer and G. J. Price were Vernon visitors from Wichita Falls Tuesday.

Frank Edmondson, sheriff of Wilbarger county, was in the city Wednesday to get a prisoner. Ed Dohoney and some members of the school board will go to Wichita Falls this week to inspect some of their school buildings.

Dr. J. J. Mimms addressed the teachers training class at the Methodist church on Tuesday evening. His address was on the "Sunday School Teacher as a Soul Saver."

SEVERAL CHANGES IN BUSINESS AT CLARENDON

George Taylor of the Quality Grocery Co. has sold his stock to L. E. Skelton and Nat Perrine. J. H. Watts of the Shelton, Watts & Sanford Grocery Co. has sold out to Paul Shelton and Paul Sanford.

DONLEY COUNTY OFFICERS ENTER UPON OFFICE

CLARENDON, TEXAS, Jan. 11.—The new officers of Donley county began their duties the first of this year, there being only one who served last term, Mrs. Willis Goldston, treasurer.

The new officials are: J. L. Bain, county judge; H. C. Brumley, sheriff and tax collector; B. F. Naylor, tax assessor; Miss Lottie Lamb, county clerk; Mrs. Flora G. White, district clerk; Edwin Bailey, J. H. Hura, T. N. Messer and F. B. Thomas, commissioners.

The retiring officials were: W. T. Link, county judge; J. H. Rutherford, sheriff and tax collector; Harry Warren, tax assessor; W. E. Bray, county and district clerk.

LUXOR, EGYPT.—A handful of long human hair believed to be tresses of King Tutankhamun's queen, was removed from the outer chamber of the monarch's tomb yesterday. The excavators expressed the opinion that the king died before his wife's decease and that she had the locks shorn from her head and deposited in the tomb with her husband's body. The hair was contained in an alabaster box. Two chariot wheels, heavily studded with brilliant gems, were also taken out.

Tailor-Made Advertising

One great fact must be remembered by those who have made the decision to advertise. The advertising plan must fit the business to which it is applied. There are no ready-to-wear advertising plans; each one must be tailor-made.

The purpose of advertising is to increase business and not to relieve any one of his arduous duties. The manufacturer's salesman who regards advertising as a substitute for his own efforts has missed the point. His efforts are needed more than ever to support the advertising and put it across. His reward is larger sales.

Likewise, the merchant who chooses the advertised brands because they are "soft and easy" selling, has overlooked the essential idea. Certainly they sell easier; but this is not the big important truth. Rather, he should see that the manufacturer's advertising is an instrument put into his hands for increasing his volume and speeding up his turnover. Looking at the matter in this light, he will bend every effort to cooperate with the advertising and seek to make it pay him additional profits.

Advertising is not a form of perpetual motion that goes on forever without human assistance. The biggest problem any man has to settle after he has determined to advertise, and decided how to advertise, is this: How can I use my advertising so as to get the most out of it? Without close-linked cooperation it dissipates its force into air.

It must be hitched on to a business properly. Then it must be utilized with intelligence. When these conditions are fulfilled it does a type of work for which there is no efficient substitute.

Closed Cars That Endure

There are two distinct types of closed cars. Consider them carefully before you buy. One features a low price and furnishes but temporary shelter against inclement weather. Inferior materials are used to reduce costs. Workmanship and finish are cheap and coachwork is makeshift.

The other type of closed bodies is represented by Studebaker quality, for which there is no substitute.

Studebaker enclosed bodies give years of satisfactory service—sturdy one-piece ash pillars extend the full height of the body; wind and rain and sun and a decade of use will never warp the panels; doors shut positively and accurately; protection is afforded against rattles, squeaks and dust, and the wide doors make it easy to get in or out.

They are beautiful and in good taste, inside and out, as you want your car and your home to be. They are as comfortable as your favorite easy chair—painting craftsmanship makes that possible.

Naturally Studebaker closed cars are completely equipped—for the same reason that your living room is completely furnished.

When you buy a Studebaker closed car, you buy a body that is worthy of a Studebaker chassis.

There is not the slightest compromise in either—design, materials, workmanship or appearance. Depreciation is therefore low and satisfaction with Studebaker closed cars universal.

Prices are as low as is commensurate with highest quality. The Studebaker body plants and facilities exceed those of any other automobile manufacturer. Studebaker is unsurpassed in resources and ability to give maximum intrinsic value.

Studebaker has built quality vehicles for 71 years—and that high quality standard will never be sacrificed.

gies, well dressed and who fit the description given by the other officers.

Carroll Search Made.

This was the last trace of the escaped prisoner. The sheriff's department as well as city officers spent the entire night searching the city from one end to the other. Cities and towns within a hundred and fifty miles have been notified.

Sheriff Pat Murphy with three deputies, dividing into pairs walked the railroad tracks for over fifteen miles but no trace was found.

Sought Another Prisoner.

Wednesday morning, Toussaint was moved from the state side to the death chamber for solitary confinement. Sheriff Murphy stated that this was done when it had been called to his attention that Toussaint and another prisoner had had a fight over a finding of the kangaroo court of which Toussaint was the judge. The infraction of the rules made with reference to feeding new prisoners caused the sheriff and the jailer to sentence him to solitary confinement.

Sheriff Murphy made a thorough search of the jail Monday, he said, when he had been informed that Toussaint was planning a wholesale jail delivery. Not a single thing was found.

Guests Through Window.

Some time between 8 and 9 o'clock Wednesday night Mr. Murphy said he had an occasion to talk to a prisoner in the county jail and that he saw Toussaint in his private cell looking out of the window to the east without being disturbed in the least about anyone else being present. The sheriff said that Toussaint never turned his head but kept gazing out into the darkness.

The second prisoner who was sentenced to solitary confinement on account of the trouble in the state cell Wednesday morning occupied the hospital cell which is on the second floor, directly below the one occupied by Toussaint. The stairway leading from the third to the second floor opens with a locked door directly in front of the hospital cell.

The second prisoner told officers and newspaper men Thursday morning that ten minutes after the jailer had turned out the lights Wednesday evening that he was lying in his bed and heard someone unlock the door at the front of the stairway from the third floor. He said that he thought it was the jailer, but wondered why it was he had not heard the jailer go up the stairs.

He said he did not pay any particular attention, but that he heard the party unlock the door leading to the stairway on the way to the first floor. He told that he remembered distinctly that the door was unlocked.

The same key unlocks all the four doors from restraint to liberty in the case of Toussaint. Sheriff Murphy stated, however, that he had information Thursday morning that Toussaint also possessed a key, a flat one, which would unlock the doors to the state cell where more than a dozen men are housed.

The source of the key, as well as the money Toussaint apparently had and the clothes he wore are a mystery but no trace was found.

Sheriff Murphy said that immediately after he was informed of Toussaint's escape that he made a check-up of the three keys turned over to him when he assumed the duties of his office. The jailer had one of the keys and Sheriff Murphy was in possession of the other two. "I can't keep prisoners in the jail," Mr. Murphy said Thursday morning, "if there are other jail keys out and in existence."

Grand Jury Problem.

The grand jury of the 10th district court now in session began an investigation on the mysterious escape of the prisoner Tuesday morning. Sheriff Murphy informed the district attorney that he would do all in his power to bring all the evidence before him. He further stated that he wanted the grand jury to find out where the key that Toussaint used came from.

Sheriff Murphy stated Thursday morning that he would ask the commissioners to install new locks with new sets of keys.

Officers kept up the watch Thursday morning and more information and a description of Toussaint was broadcasted over the country.

Visit to Attorney's Home. Attorney Luther Hoffman, at whose home a man called Wednesday night about 10 o'clock and who it is believed was Toussaint, stated that when he arrived home he saw a man standing in the shadow of the pillar of the porch.

Although it was too dark to recognize the features, Mr. Hoffman states that he believes it was Toussaint. Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman had left the children at home and Mr. Hoffman's first thought was to look after the safety of his children.

He said that he and the motorcycle officer ran around to the back of the house.

Henry John Toussaint, whose license in the charge of murder is that he is hopelessly insane.

Got hold of a key that would unlock his cell, and secreted it in such a way that a careful search of his person did not disclose it.

Arranged his bed clothing so that a casual glance would make it appear the bed was still occupied.

Unlocked his door between himself and freedom. Walked to the rooming house at 201 Burnett where Mrs. Toussaint stays, and communicated with her by means of notes.

Offered a service car driver, at the Hebra hotel, money to take him to Fort Worth.

Hired another service car to visit the home of his attorney, at 1515 Fillmore.

Mistaken the officers who responded to a call from the neighborhood.

Eluded a service car driver and motorcycle officer by slipping out of a service car while it was moving.

And up to 3 p. m. Thursday was still at large.

appeared at the front door and asked to speak to him. The servant girl again informed the man that the attorney was not at home. The man then asked permission to use a telephone, which was granted. Later he asked to have paper that he might leave a note for Mr. Hoffman. It was shortly after this that the officer and Mr. Hoffman arrived.

Having received this information, Mr. Hoffman told the officer to go around to the front of the house and he went through the house. He said when he arrived at the front door the man was just entering the service car.

Mr. Hoffman stated that the servant girl, who has been employed in the household for several years, also stated that she recognized the man to be Toussaint. The latter had been employed in erecting a rear porch at the Hoffman house several years ago.

Autoists Race With Fire Truck And Cause Delay

"I rode on Number 3 truck to the alarm on Tilden street Thursday morning," Fire Chief J. L. McClure said when he returned from the scene. "We were traveling at a speed of 25 miles per hour and five cars passed us between the station and Tilden street."

Chief McClure says the condition is really serious and that some action must be taken soon if the department and the public do not suffer from serious accidents. There is an ordinance requiring persons driving on the streets at the time the alarm is given, to turn into the curb. Chief McClure said this morning that he did not observe any one turning the curb this morning and that several serious accidents were avoided only by careful watching and loss of time.

SEARCH FOR MINISTER OF BONHAM, SHIFTS TO HOME OF HIS MOTHER

BONHAM, TEXAS, Jan. 11.—The search for the Rev. O. C. Huston, who disappeared when hunting Monday, today was directed toward Kansas City, where his mother is said to live. A thorough inspection of the Red river country by several hundred persons late yesterday failed to disclose any trace of the minister. A railroad brakeman reported a man answering Mr. Huston's description had been in Parsons, Kan., early this week.

FORMER KING OF GREECE IS DEAD

The influence of his wife, Sophia, a Hohenzollern Princess and sister of Emperor William of Germany. Criticism of him was aroused by his repudiation of the treaty between Greece and Serbia pledging the support of either power if the other were attacked by Bulgaria. Constantine asserted that Greece was not bound to carry out her part of the pledge because Serbia was attacked not only by Bulgaria but by Austria and Germany and that if Greece had intervened, she would have suffered the fate of Belgium.

Dismisses Parliament.

The demand for his abdication was not based upon this failure to fulfill treaty provisions but upon his repeated dismissal of Greek parliaments and to charges that he or Greek ministers under his direction had aided the central powers by permitting the establishment of German submarine bases in Greek waters, surrendering Greek forts and men to Bulgaria and by declining to remove the menace of his army from the rear of the English forces on the Macedonian front.

When the allies occupied part of Athens to enforce a demand for a surrender of ten batteries of Greek artillery to compensate for the surrender of Greek guns to the central powers, fighting ensued and there were about 200 casualties. The king surrendered the batteries. Meanwhile, because of the conduct of Constantine, Venizelos had established a provisional government at Saloniki and organized an army declared war on some of the allies of the central powers and was constantly gaining accessions from the former adherents of Constantine, whose followers steadily were leaving him. The entente powers laid an embargo on imports to Greece as a result of which the Greeks suffered severe deprivations before the king was forced to abdicate.

Constantine's reign dated from March 15, 1915, when his father George I, was assassinated. He was born on August 2, 1858, was educated by German tutors and received military instruction at German army headquarters.

After having been once dismissed as commander of the Greek army in 1916, because of popular clamor against him, Constantine then Crown Prince, became a national hero in the Balkan war of 1912, by leading a Greek army to the capture of Saloniki from the Turks as a result of which he was accorded the popular title of "The Liberator."

Prince George, the eldest son of Constantine, also pro-German, who was excluded from succession by the allied terms which compelled his father's abdication in 1917, accompanied the royal party to Asia Minor in 1921 and was a member of the staff of the Greek commander, General Elizabeth of Rumania in the spring of 1921.

Ward Hittie left Thursday for the Oklahoma Military academy where he will attend school for the remaining months of the school year. T. T. Malone of Dallas was in the city on business Thursday.

Dr. E. J. Maguire of Warren, Ohio, Who Showed How Little Food a Man Needs When He Lived for a Week on 50 Cents a Day and Gained Weight.

Science's New Glass Stomach to Test Food!

Tobias Jason, Champion Eater of the World, Who Can Digest a Far Greater Quantity of Food Than Any Mechanical Contrivance Yet Devised, Monopolizing Two Waiters of the S. S. President Harding as He Starts Through the Menu the Third Time.

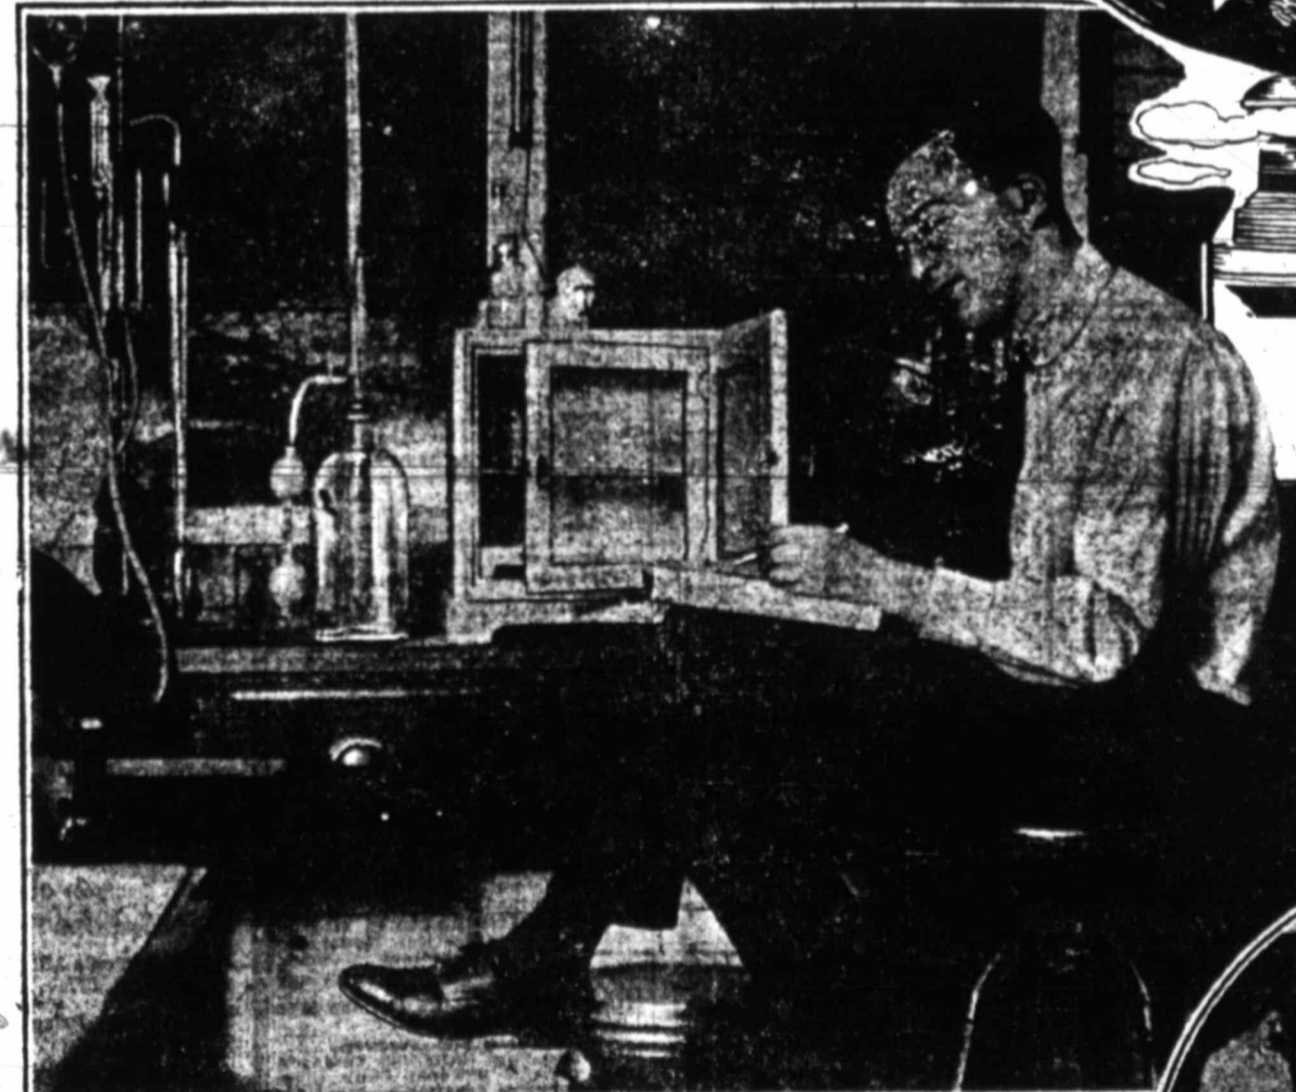

the steamship President Harding, he amused the other passengers—and wearied the cooks and waiters—by the demands of his appetite. His breakfast included sliced pineapples, oranges, bananas, fresh strawberries, cereals, eggs, chops, potatoes, coffee rolls and toast topped off by two extra portions of eggs. His dinner consisted of—well, he just went through the bill-of-fare three times from soup to nuts. But he always exercises and sleeps properly and that accounts for his good health.

The proper food is cheap enough, too, according to results of dietary experiments which are undertaken at regular intervals by college girls, scientists and even those dipping over the high cooking food. They have offered pretty good evidence that 50 cents a day can feed a healthy man—or girl.

How the Chemists at Washington Have Now Invented a Way to Watch What Goes On When a Dinner Is Digested.

FOUND! A Perfect Stomach!
It never aches; it has no hunger pangs; change of climate doesn't affect it. It's just a perfect stomach—but it's made of glass.
About it, every day, where it stands in the organic laboratory of the Bureau of Chemistry of the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., are grouped many experts. They feed it apple pie, potatoes, juicy steaks; even give it a drink at times. Then they watch the process of digestion through its glass walls.
When the food has been digested they do just what every dyspeptic would do with his own stomach if it were possible—they take it apart, clean it thoroughly and then they feed it some more.
According to Dr. Breeze Jones, head of the laboratory, and Dr. Henry Waterman, his assistant, the importance to human life and longevity of this latest triumph of science cannot be too greatly stressed. For through it science expects to discover new secrets of the mysterious process of building new tissue and new ways of prolonging life.
Under the long-employed experimental system on human subjects it was impossible to arrive at a perfect conclusion. Women, because they smoke less and drink less and have fewer of the so-called "pernicious" habits which contaminate the human system with foreign matter, invariably were the experimental subjects. But feminine imagination often offered a stumbling-block by eliciting reports of "symptoms" that never existed.
Now the glass stomach seems to be the end-all of science's experimental troubles. The food to be tested is dropped into the stomach into which a dilute solution of hydrochloric acid of the strength found in the average human stomach in the digestive process after it leaves the human stomach.

One of the things that the glass stomach is expected to determine is the relative nutritive values of certain foods cooked and uncooked. Take cabbage, for instance. Many stomach specialists assert that the only way to eat it is raw; that when cooked it causes indigestion. Yet the practical physician points to the healthy man who eats his "cornbeef and" and never minds the fact that it is cooked and cooked well.
But there is one man, at least, in the United States to whom the news of the perfection of the glass stomach gave great satisfaction. He isn't a scientist, unless of the domestic order. He isn't interested in the scientific results of the machine except in one particular. That particular is apple pie.
Newton H. Whittis of Continental, Ohio, is the man. He sees in the glass stomach a means of proving the value of his strange recipe for marital-happiness. He expects the latest scientific wonder has already been introduced. Pepsin, which is manufactured by nature for digestive purposes, is also included. Then an electric heater is started beneath the stomach "bag" and by the aid of thermostatic appliances a constant temperature of 37 degrees centigrade is maintained. Then the eye of the scientist watches and notes just what happens to the food inserted. The digestive effect is measured by the ratio of what is known as amino nitrogen to total nitrogen.

After the food has been acted upon by the hydrochloric acid it is then treated by trypsin and a dilute alkaline solution chemically similar to the digestive juices found in the intestinal tract. This informs the observer just what happens to food to corroborate what he says about apple pie. His observations on this old-fashioned and popular pastry is as follows:

"If the young housewife would cut her apple pie differently there would be less marital unhappiness. She should do it as her grandmother did it. She should cut it across twice, making four pieces to a pie, not six, as the young idea does now. When a man wants a piece he wants a piece, not a sample. And apple pie is the finest thing that a wife can place before her husband."
Mr. Whittis spoke from the fullness of the knowledge of sixty years. His married life has been very happy, he says. His wife is the old-fashioned sort of cook. His argument is so increasing us to demand chemical analysis. In "Diet and Health," written by Lulu Hunt Peters, woman dietician and physician of Los Angeles, apple pie is revealed as just what the practical Mr. Whittis says it is—the most important part of the meal. She shows that apple pie contains 350 calories of energy. Beef, pork, lamb or mutton, fish, eggs and milk contain 100 calories each. And the piece of apple pie cut into one-sixth contains that amount of calories! Following Mr. Whittis's recipe the pie would contain 520 calories. Only 3000 calories a day is needed by the average business man. Therefore, if he ate two pieces of the pie he would be getting more than one-third of the full day's needs in calories. It is worth observing that the healthy Mr. Herbert Hoover eats apple pie. Also, that the book containing this secret about apple pie is dedicated to Mr. Hoover.

"About the Glass Stomach Every Day Are Grouped Experts. They Feed It Apple Pie, Potatoes, Nice Juicy Steaks, Even Give It a Drink at Times."

In High Schools Everywhere Girl Students Are Taught Just What the Food They Eat is Worth in Terms of Calories.

If the glass stomach at Washington does nothing else than determine what is a perfectly balanced diet it may prolong life to the two hundredth year, according to the theory of Alfred W. Lawson. Mr. Lawson, who is known in the world of aeronautics as the man who built and navigated from Milwaukee to New York, a 26-passenger air machine, has turned his attention to the prolongation of life. He declares that long life can be obtained through a perfect balance between food, sleep and exercise. Each man should understand the operation of his own system just as an engineer his engine or a good horseman his horse. Enough exercise and enough sleep should be had to digest the amount of food the day's activities demand. If the glass stomach at Washington determines what a perfect balance is, it will be the scientific instrument through which Menéndez's record may yet be approached or passed.
This balanced living is practiced by the world's champion eater, Tobias Jason of Pecos, Tex. Mr. Jason lays claim to the heavyweight title and is willing to meet all comers. Recently, on board

College students should make dietary tests, according to Director Francis G. Benedict of the Nutrition Laboratory of the Carnegie Institution in Washington, D. C., who says that steers take better care of their stomachs than students. Steers which had been half-fed during winter months released to pasture in the spring suffered no ill-effects from gourmandizing, but college students starving themselves for a test got colic from overeating when they returned to regulation fare, says Director Benedict.

Six girls of the Pennsylvania State College lived for several weeks at an actual cost of 47.1 cents a day. They cooked their own food and purchased everything as cheaply as possible. But Dr. E. J. Maguire of Warren, O., went a week on 50 cents a day, living on meals purchased at a restaurant. He actually gained one ounce during the week and thereby won a wager he made with Drs. C. A. Stedman and A. A. Hallcock.

Here is the menu Dr. Maguire ate for a week at a total cost of only $3.50:

- Monday—Breakfast—Rolls and coffee, 10 cents. Lunch—Vegetable soup, brown bread and butter, 15 cents. Dinner—Two poached eggs, fried potatoes, brown bread and butter, 25 cents.

It certainly does. That is the penalty for pulling such a bone-headed play, which by the way comes up several times every year.

JACK DAW ON ICICLE ISLE

By ELTON

Snow seemed to be flying everywhere. Not just little snowflakes which Jack was used to, but great quantities of it, ever and anon. Jack felt some of it slipping down behind his coat collar. He began to think that he would never get all the way through the big...

Then Jack felt himself coming into the open air again. And his sled seemed to be slowing down a bit. He opened his eyes and was very much surprised at the beautiful sight about him. The sled was now traveling so fast for him to get a good look at all of the scenery.

Great icicles hung in every direction and they seemed to come from nowhere. Jack was afraid his sled would crash into one of these but he managed to steer it safely through the little paths between the hanging icicles. By this time his sled had almost stopped. (Continued)

MORE THAN 1200 FOWLS ENTERED IN POULTRY SHOW

SEVENTH ANNUAL EXHIBITION OPENS ON THURSDAY MORNING.

JUDGING TO START IN ALL CLASSES FRIDAY

Show Considered Most Successful Of Its Kind Yet Held In Northwest Texas.

With several hundred exhibitors and about 1200 birds, and with visitors and poultry fanciers from all over this section of the state and southern Oklahoma, the seventh annual show of the North Texas Poultry association opened Thursday morning.

At nine o'clock the officials in charge started bringing more scope into use to accommodate the large number of entries, and Arlington Brown, secretary of the association, the poultry on exhibit is far above any ever shown in this city.

By nine o'clock the officials in charge started bringing more scope into use to accommodate the large number of entries, and Arlington Brown, secretary of the association, the poultry on exhibit is far above any ever shown in this city.

While no regular sale has been announced, the price on all fowls that are for sale, is on the exhibitors' terms. Trading and sales were numerous Thursday morning when the show opened. The officials of the show believe that this is an indication that the object of the show to promote and encourage the improvement of all standard bred fowls, has in a measure been accomplished.

Saturday afternoon P. W. Laskette, of Bryan, formerly connected with the department of animal husbandry at Texas A. & M. college, will speak to the poultry men on "Poultry Breeding for Profit." The price of admission is announced later. The admission is free to both the lecture and the show. Several visitors to the show have insisted on paying an admission fee.

NEW PRESBYTERIAN PASTOR COMING TO CENTRAL CHURCH

Rev. F. C. Laskette, recently of Mexico, will arrive in Wichita Falls Friday to assume his duties as pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, which has been without a pastor for several months.

Dr. Laskette was formerly in Y. M. C. A. and is now pastor of the Central Presbyterian church in Mexico in 1921. His departure from that city was the occasion of much regret, and some unusual interest in a Russian girl, which has been without a pastor for several months.

LOCAL GIRL WHO'S PREMIER DANSEUSE IS VISITING HERE

Miss Delphina Wyatt, Wichita Falls girl who is known in stage circles as Baluwa, arrived Wednesday for an extended visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Wyatt.

Miss Wyatt, who for several seasons has been the only American member of the famous Russian ballet, is now considered one of the country's foremost exponents of that art, and the marked success which she has attained has been a source of much pride to her friends in Wichita Falls. She has attained the standing of a premier danseuse, and the recognition which has come to her work is a result of some ten years of patient study and training.

As a member of a Russian organization, Miss Wyatt has found it expedient to change her name to Baluwa, which is a Russian name, and is a slight Russian twist to it.

"I have much studying to do, and wanted to see Wichita Falls again while I was doing it," Miss Wyatt said.

Although Russian in both name and appearance while on the stage, Miss Wyatt is glad to be an American again when not dancing and on the occasions when she could forget she was a pseudo-Russian, she was proudly claimed Wichita Falls as her home.

THE FLAPPER'S DELIGHT

By PENELOPE CLARKE What Beatrice is to the world at large, Russ Westover is to the stenographers in captivity. No man in the world knows so much about the secrets of the Queens of the Keyboard, about their hopes, their aspirations, their love affairs and what they think when the pencils and erasers of "Tillie the Toller," the charming little vamp who gives orders in the office of the Boss and throws the bookkeeper out of business.

Russ Westover receives more letters of a confidential nature from the stenographers of America in one day than the habitual "Help Wanted" advertiser in a month. He knows these stenographers—themselves, why they persist in using the telephone for social conversations during business hours, why they keep their nose powder and their lip sticks where the pencils and erasers ought to be, why they leave the door open when the boss wants it closed or persist in losing it when he wants it open.

Of course the most interesting letters would naturally be about the love affairs of the stenographers, but Mr. Westover will not consent for them to be published. Indeed, he would not consent for them to be written, but he will not tell. He regards himself as the "Big Brother" of the stenographers and his guards are vigilant with a devotion that is delightful and a zeal that is commendable.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Protection of women in industry— from exploitation as to wages, hours and working conditions and removal of mothers from industry were the subjects of an address by Secretary Davis today, opening the three day session of the conference on women in industry called by the women's bureau of the department of labor.

"Today more than one fifth of the women of the United States are employed in gainful occupations," the secretary said, "and more than one-tenth of the married women of the nation are so employed. These figures demonstrate clearly the need for thorough consideration of the problems which confront these mothers and potential mothers of our citizens of the future. Upon the right solution of these problems depends our very existence as a nation.

"At any time here and now, and I shall stand unequivocally on this proposition: Take out of industry the mothers who have babies to care for. An economic structure which anywhere based on the labor in industry of the mothers of the nation is false and sooner or later it will come crashing down about our heads.

"Women in industry form a new and important factor in our life. It is significant that during the decade between 1910 and 1920 the number of women employed in our strictly industrial plants, in the manufacturing and mechanical industries, has increased by 100,000. AUSTIN, TEXAS, Jan. 11.—It is estimated by the oil division of the state railroad commission and a commission that there are 50,000,000 barrels of oil stored in Texas at the present time. Reports from pipe line companies, which are the only oil firms making storage reports, on October 1, showed a total of more than 52,000,000 barrels in storage. It is estimated by the commission that this is hardly one-half in storage. These reports include the principal pipe line companies in the state—about sixty.

The tendency at the present time, according to the Fire Marshal G. W. Tilley, is for oil companies to store oil in steel tanks, which are said to be the safest from a fire standpoint. However, the fire commission grants lower rates than when carrier in wooden or earthen tanks.

The latter are claimed to be the most dangerous. Inspectors of the state fire department inspect storage systems of companies belonging to the national oil association and advise regarding hazards. Fire officials fix the insurance rates according to protective methods employed by companies.

The principal method for extinguishing oil fires is said to be by the use of chemicals. Steam also is employed in some cases while the oil of burning tanks is run out of the tank as another means. The chemical process is accomplished by letting certain chemicals circulate in the oil tanks and also by letting the preparations float on top of the oil. The chemical method has been found to be probably the best extinguisher for these fires.

In recent years, various methods of constructing escapes for the gas in oil tanks have been originated and are claimed to have been found successful in many instances. Such systems are patented and the state department has standards types. The fire commission, however, recommends that every precaution be taken in constructing oil tanks.

MEAT COUPE BY 200 YEARS.

Even M. Coue himself will acknowledge that a large part of the attention that his auto-suggestive healing method has attracted is due to his fortuitous slogan: "Every day, in every way, I am growing better and better."

But Sir Walter Raleigh beat M. Coue to the idea by 100 years. W. L. G. to Sir Walter: "The unlearned man knoweth not the pleasure of the most pleasant life which consists in our daily feeling ourselves be- come better."

CARRIGAN SCHOOL OPENS WEDNESDAY;
PROGRAM IS HELD

Pat Carrigan school was formally opened to-day with a very interesting program. The pupils were assembled in the auditorium and a goodly number of the members of the board, and other visitors were present.

The exercises were opened by singing "Come Ye Holy Angels" after which Rev. Mr. Cook of the Evangelical church gave the Bible reading and Rev. Mr. Retelle of the South Side Baptist church offered prayer.

Judge Carrigan was unable to be present but Mrs. Carrigan brought wonderful messages to all, telling the pupils in never to be forgotten words of Pat Carrigan's school days, of his life and of his ever ready response to the call of "duty."

Following the program a short business session was held by the P. T. Association.

A committee was appointed to take charge of collecting and sale of old newspapers and magazines. It was decided to purchase a Victrola for the use of the building.

Mrs. Carrigan, very generously offered to make the first payment on the machine.

An entertainment is being planned for Valentine's day. This will perhaps be a moving picture show. Miss Cummings reported the donation of a basket ball to the sixth grade boys and another to the basket ball equipment. This they readily agreed to do. Several new members were reported.

Negro Is Refused
Room in Freshman
Hall at Harvard

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—A request of Roscoe Conkling Bruce, a negro graduate of Harvard university, that a room be reserved in the freshman halls at Harvard for his son has been refused by President A. Lawrence Lowell, a letter published in the New York World today, disclosed.

Replying to Bruce, President Lowell wrote: "I am sorry to have to tell you that in the freshman halls where residence is compulsory, we have felt from the beginning the necessity of not including colored men. To the other dormitories and dining rooms they are admitted freely, but in the freshman halls, I am sure you will understand why, from the beginning, we have not thought it possible to compel men of different races to reside together."
