Three Hour Battle Near Capital With Band Bootleggers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—One man was in a hospital here with a bullet wound in his head and his two companions, alleged bootleggers, were still at large and unidentified today following their three hour gun fight with prohibition enforcement agents in Prince George county near Walnut, Md., yesterday. The wounded man refused to give his name before lapsing into unconsciousness.

In the seizure of three stills, one of which had a capacity and a great quantity of corn whiskey, after the defenders had taken to the woods when their ammunition gave out, the authorities say they have shut off one of the chief sources of Washington's bootleg liquor supply. The raids were conducted by Washington officers under the direction of Lieut. O. T. Davis.

Several thousand gallons of finished corn whiskey were said to have been seized at the larger plant and also large amounts at the smaller stills, half a mile away. Both plants were described as elaborately equipped.

When the enforcement agents armed with riot guns and 45 caliber revolvers arrived and separated into groups to make the raid, lookouts were said to have given the alarm at which more than a score of men left the stills and opened fire.

They then backed off, it was said, to meet on a line of defense which they held for more than an hour. Breaking from there the fighting then waged over a mile of open fields and wooded ravines for two hours more, during which the bootlegger force was almost doubled by reinforcements before its members escaped into the woods.

CENTRAL AMERICA TREATY OF PEACE AND AMITY SIGNED

INCLUDES ELEVEN CONVENTIONS AND THREE PROTOCOLS

NATIONS CONGRATULATED BY SECRETARY HUGHES

Visiting Delegates Voted Gratitudes to the American Government

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—A treaty of peace and amity, eleven conventions and three protocols were signed today at the final plenary session of the Central American conference in the Hall of the Americas at the Pan-American Union.

The heads of the five delegations—Senator Don Francisco Sanchez La Torre of Guatemala, Senator Doctor Don Francisco Martinez Sauras of El Salvador, Senator Don Alberto Velazquez of Honduras, Senator General Don Emiliano Chamorro of Nicaragua and Senator Leocadio Don Alfredo Gonzalez Flores of Costa Rica, expressed confidence that the agreements reached would bring the desired result and voted grateful to the American government for its efforts and hospitality.

After the formal signing of the treaty, conventions and protocols, Secretary Hughes announced the decision of Guatemala and Honduras to submit their boundary disputes to President Harding for arbitration. This decision was described by Senator La Torre as the "first practical result of the conference."

Dr. Velazquez stated as a proper ending of the conference, there was not sufficient time in its sessions or during the period of the meeting, to enter into a detailed treaty of amity involving international boundaries, which Honduras has respectively with Guatemala and Nicaragua, and its willingness to designate 15 American citizens for service on the tribunal to be created in accordance with the treaty.

The other conventions signed by the five delegations dealt with the recognition of the American government of the liberal professions, the practice of the liberal professions, the preparation of electoral legislation, establishment of nations for agricultural experiments and animal industries, reciprocal exchange of Central American students, extradition, establishment of permanent Central American commissions and limitation of armaments. The protocols, not participated in by the United States, fixed the boundary text of the agreements as the only authoritative text and declared that standing in the international Central American treaty as signed by the signatories.

The treaty also obligates each of the five governments not to take arms in favor of or against the government of another republic in case of civil war, nor in the internal affairs of any other republic, and each agrees not to permit within its territory the organization of revolutionary movements against the recognized government of any of the other signatories. Secret treaties also are prohibited and the provisions of the similar treaty registered here and additional provisions designed to promote friendly relations. It sets forth that the first duty of the Central American republics is the maintenance of peace, declares violent or illegal alterations of the constitutional organization, in any form, is a menace to the peace of all, and obligates each signatory not to recognize in another a government resulting from a coup d'etat, person disqualified for office by the constitution.

far as possible, the free exercise of popular suffrage. The five republics, in the convention affecting workmen and laborers, agree to pass legislation, containing prohibition of enforcement by judicial order of the performance of labor contracts through physical compulsion, prohibition of employment in any kind of labor during school hours of children under 16 years of age who have not completed their common school education, the of children under 16 years of age at any time in factories or industrial establishments. One day of rest each week, also is to be secured to workmen and laborers and compulsory workmen's insurance and government employment agencies are to be established. The convention for establishment of international commissions of inquiry, which the United States delegates joined in signing, is in general to effect a unification of conventions which this agreement concludes with the five other powers in 1911 and 1914. Its purpose is to make possible whenever two or more of the signatories desire, a joint investigation for them to submit their problems to a commission of inquiry with a view of facilitating settlement of the dispute. The reports of commissions of inquiry, however, are not given the force of judicial decisions or arbitral awards, but they will fix the status in which the parties to the controversy must remain pending issuance of their reports.

MILLIONAIRE'S SONS SOLVE JOB PROBLEM BY BUCKING OWN FATHER IN BUSINESS

HAVE YOU REACHED THE THUMBS-IN-VEST STAGE?
Says Frank Whelan, son of the millionaire head of the nation's biggest chain store system, and who works behind his own cigar store counter:
"Everybody must do his share of work. Of course, after one has done his share and has reached the top he has a right to sit back with his thumbs in his vest and take things easy."
"My brother and I haven't reached the thumbs-in-the-vest stage yet."

By N.E.A. Service.
CHICAGO, N. J., Feb. 7.—Can a millionaire's son make good working for a living?
"Surest thing, if he takes the job seriously," says young Frank Whelan.
"And if he's not enough nerve," adds his brother Albert.
"Nerve? That's the chief stock in trade of the Whelan brothers. They had enough nerve to buck their millionaire father in business competition."

They've got a chain of five cigar stores and they're planning more. Each store is in a battle for business against units in the chain of seven stores run by their father, Charles A. Whelan, chairman of the board of the United Cigar Stores company.
"What does father think? You'll have to ask Dad—I guess he knows," said the elder brother, Frank.
"Dad," at his New York office, had nothing to say; the inference is that the Junior Whelans are peddling their own canoe.
Still in his twenties, Frank got tired of the law, business after qualifying as a lawyer at Fordham university. So he got a job as clerk in a cigar and drug store started by his brother-in-law, John Tobin Cassidy, in East Orange, N. J.
Then brother Albert came in and they formed the Whelan Cassidy company and established four more stores in East Orange, Bloomfield, Rutherford and Rahway.
"Albert and I worked darned hard when we launched the business," said Frank. "We got up at 4:30 in the morning, and still do. We get behind the counters ourselves. And many Saturday nights we're on the job until 11 o'clock."

RAILROAD COMMISSIONS WILL INVESTIGATE HOG WEIGHTS FIXED BY ROADS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—State railroad commissions of Missouri, Illinois, Minnesota, Nebraska, Wisconsin, South Dakota, Kansas, Iowa, Oklahoma and Texas have agreed to determine whether minimum carload weights now fixed by railroads on interstate shipments of hogs throughout their territory are reasonable.
It was announced today that preliminary hearings would be held at Kansas City, Mo., beginning March 26, with representatives of the state commissions and the I. C. C. in attendance.
The minimum weight regulations have an important effect in fixing freight charges actually made, the commission said, and by proceeding in cooperation with the state commissions the cooperative action of both state and federal authorities may result.

Fierce Contest Rages at High School In Annual Selection of "Beauty"

Class spirit at the high school is running high since the announcement of a beauty contest to be held in two weeks. Class meetings are in daily sessions to elect beauties and discuss possible means of a strategy in defeating rival classes.
The contest, which is conducted each year for the benefit of the Coyote annual senior publication, usually causes much disturbance among the students. Each vote in the race costs five cents. At the end of the three days allowed, the class beauty having the greatest amount of money in the box wins.
The seniors and sophomores have already taken action in the matter, nominating Miss Frankie Addicks and Miss Evelyn Francis Lyle, respectively. Although the junior class has not as yet made known its prospective beauty entry it is thought that members of that class have something up their sleeve, and are being watched every minute by the suspicious seniors.

KNIGHTS COLUMBUS AND BATTERY TEAMS WIN TUESDAY NIGHT

Two of the closest, hardest fought games that have been played on the legion court this season were seen at the Legion hall Tuesday night when the Knights of Columbus closed the Collier and Landon five out by a score of 16 to 13 and Harper's guardsmen of Battery D won over the Methodist by 23 to 20.

For the first few minutes of the Collier and Landon-Knights of Columbus contest it seemed as if the first stage of the play would end in a scoreless tie. After eight minutes of the game Hudspeth for the losers roped a spectacular basket from the mid-court. He continued his sensational plays throughout the game and was rivaled by Coffey, Dee and Patchney for the Knights. At the end of the first period the score stood 8-11.

Through the second half the Knights maintained a slight lead which Collier and Landon were unable to overcome. Only the close guarding of Tate and Connally saved them from an overwhelming defeat.

Wadsworth Urged As Next Republican Senate Leader

By NEA Service. WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—"Bill Jim" Wadsworth, more sedately known as the Hon. James W. Wadsworth Jr., junior senator from New York, is being groomed to succeed Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts as majority leader of the senate in the next congress.

Wadsworth is 45, full of pep and pugnacity and a bred-in-the-bone republican partisan. Wherefore he is looked upon as offering the party the fighting sort of leadership that will be needed and which may not, because of his years and temperamental limitations, be expected from Lodge. Lack of firm and stimulating leadership, which it is believed Wadsworth might give, is blamed for failure of the senate to handle successfully the party program of the past two sessions.

Wadsworth's biography in the congressional directory gives his business as "livestock and farming." He is not, however, a member of the farm bloc. Western farm members look upon him rather as a "handled proprietor," who, when not in Washington, lives on his 1,100-acre estate near Geneseo, N. Y. Farm-blocbers consider him rather as a "stink stocker" senator, his experience as manager of a big ranch at Paludero, Texas, merely the quest of a wealthy youth for thrills, and his present farming activities as a hobby.

JAMES W. WADSWORTH JR.

To the horsehide sphere he sacrificed the symmetry of his good right hand. When he addresses the senate it is noticeable in his gestures, that the fore-finger of his speaking hand is buckled awkwardly at the first joint. It was busted by one hot off the bat when he was first acker at the nine of St. Mark's prep school at Southboro, Mass.

Incidentally, his father also played first base with the St. Mark's team and now his 17 year old son, Jerry, holds the same position on the nine there.

Three generations of first basemen.

That, say Wadsworth's friends, ought to be sufficient to make his selection as majority leader a popular one.

Lois of Experience. They do recognize, however, that as a legislator he has both experience and tradition in his favor. His father, James W. Wadsworth Sr., preceded him as senator from New York. Young Jim himself broke into the New York assembly at 23, was speaker at 29 and a United States senator at 35.

Having seen service in the Porto Rican campaign in the war with Spain, Wadsworth was assigned to the committee on military affairs when he came to the senate in 1915. He is now chairman of that committee and as such has many prerogatives and much power. If he becomes senate majority leader, we may expect a program of adequate military preparedness.

The temple degree will be conferred upon the five who received the Malta degree last week, and a large attendance is urged.

Wichitan Is Suffering From Rattlesnake Bite Received 15 Years Ago

G. C. Shay, assistant cashier of the Fort Worth and Denver City railroad, local freight office in this city, is a patient at the company hospital at Fort Worth suffering from the effects of a rattlesnake's bite which he received over 15 years ago.

When just a boy while tramping through the Everglades region in Florida, he was attacked by a rattlesnake and was bitten on the leg; for nearly 20 months he lay in bed suffering from the effects.

Finally, however, the leg returned to normalcy and the wound which had been lanced a large number of times healed up. Nothing further was thought of the bite until six months ago when the leg began to trouble Mr. Shay.

A month ago sores appeared on the leg and finally Mr. Shay found it painful to use the leg. He went to the hospital last week and underwent a surgical operation.

According to reports from his bedside it was discovered on the operating table that the bone of the leg had begun to decay. The cause is attributed to the bite of the snake 15 years ago.

Word was received Wednesday morning by his friends that the condition of the leg was much more serious than appeared on the surface. All efforts are being made to heal up the bone and flesh in order to avoid amputation.

Battery Team Wins. With a pickup team, filling in the best way possible to avoid a forfeit, Clarence Neal's Methodist all but tied the Battery team in by far the fastest and most interesting game that has been played on the Legion court this season; the final score stood 28 to 26 for the Battery. Early in the play it looked as if Beck for the guardsmen would walk away with the score at the end of the first half, the score stood 14 to 9 for the Battery. Beck's shot rattled and a tie game continued until in the last minute of play the Methodist gained a two point lead. Summers at guard for the Methodist was ruled out of the game and the Battery allowed three free throws on the personal. Beck at forward for the guardsmen made good use of the three free throws and the score stood 26-11.

With only a few seconds for time, it looked as if a play off was inevitable; almost simultaneous with the whistle for time Beck tossed the final basket that clinched the game for the Battery.

WITH RELATIONS STRAINED A DIPLOMAT PROPOSED TEA

PARIS, Feb. 6.—So engrossed were the delegates in the discussion of various phases of the separation question presented at the Paris conference, that on the third and last day of the meeting they nearly forgot their five o'clock tea.

Verbal exchanges between Premier Bonar-Law and Mr. Theunis, the Belgian premier, had become somewhat bitter, marking the only strained moments of the conference. The air was charged with suppressed emotion, delegates were nervous and for a time it seemed as if the conference, instead of ending in a "friendly disagreement," might break up in a row.

Just then the Marquis de Torretta proposed in a casual way: "Perhaps we might have our tea." All concurred. The good old English custom, proposed by an Italian, had saved the day.

PARTY SELECTION OF SENATE LEADER IS BIG PROBLEM

DEMOCRATS UNDECIDED BETWEEN ROBINSON AND SIMMONS

YOUNGER REPUBLICANS DEMAND RECOGNITION

Not Satisfied With Naming of Wadsworth and Lenroot as Assistants

By MARK SULLIVAN Political Correspondent of the New York Tribune and Wichita Daily Times.

(Copyright, 1923, N. Y. Tribune, Inc.)

It is an apparent probability, though not yet a certainty that the democratic leader of the senate will be Robinson of Arkansas.

When the democratic leader of the senate was named Robinson of Arkansas, it was announced that the republican leadership would be split into two groups, one putting forward Robinson and the other backing Simmons of North Carolina.

Robinson is 50 years old and looks 40. He is six feet tall and weighs upward of 200 pounds.

Every republican admits that Lodge as the republican leader of the league of nations fight, performed a unique service to his party.

Under the peculiar conditions of the fight, almost any other leader than Lodge readily split his party into at least three factions.

It is just because Lodge was willing to submerge his individual point of view, and practice every sort of tactful concession to shifting factions, that he was able to save the party whole and win the fight.

For that, all the partisan republicans think Lodge should have a monument, but under the changed conditions of the present and anticipated future, three groups arise, who want to modify Lodge's responsibility and authority.

One group is the farm bloc and the insurgents who want representation in citadels of power in order to further their own projects.

Another group which is composed of what we sometimes call the "Young Turks." They are the more youthful regular party members in the senate and cities who want to make the senators in the twenties give up a little of their privileges.

A third group was composed of some of Lodge's own friends who feel it is desirable to make some small concessions in order to avoid a row.

It was from this group and in this spirit that the announcement was made that Wadsworth of New York and Lenroot of Wisconsin, are to act as "assistants" to Lodge.

They demand further that who ever the individual leaders may be, they shall have the personal power and that the power shall be vested in a real party "steering committee." There is a "steering committee" now, but it has little vitality and has not held a meeting since January 1.

The younger men renew the demand already made some months ago by Senator McCormick of Illinois, with some associates that the seniority rule which gives the important committee chairmanships to the older men shall be abolished.

One of the discontent of these differing groups with the common purpose of more power, there is certain to be further fighting over the republican senate leadership.

ONLY 480 ACRES IS WITHDRAWN FROM SECOND DISTRICT

LAND EXCLUDED SO FAR MUCH LESS THAN WAS EXPECTED

TO FILE APPLICATIONS UP TO THURSDAY NIGHT

Amount of Land to Be Taken Out to Be Known Definitely by Then

Only 480 acres had been withdrawn from Water Improvement district No. 2 up to noon Wednesday.

It has been expected by some that several thousand acres would be taken out of the district, and the fact that the first two days of the time for withdrawal resulted in only 480 acres is taken by officials as indicating that the value and benefits of irrigation have been brought home to land owners and some of them to view the purpose in a more favorable light.

The district has requested that all applications for withdrawal be filed by Thursday night, by which time the amount of land to be excluded should be known.

ANOTHER PLEA OF GUILTY ACCEPTED IN ELECTRA CASE

A second plea of guilty to unlawful assembly at Electra on August 27, last year, was received by Judge Guy Rogers of the county court at law, Wednesday morning.

Monday morning another one of the many defendants named charged a plea of guilty to the same charge and he also drew a fine of $5 and costs.

Last month Matt Holcomb, was tried on the same charge and the jury found him guilty and assessed his fine at $100 and costs. The case is now on appeal.

A number of other cases were also set down for trial for Wednesday and Thursday morning in which the same charges were brought.

PAUL V. HADLEY MUST HANG FOR ARIZONA MURDER

PHOENIX, ARIZ., Feb. 7.—Paul V. Hadley must hang Friday, April 13, for the murder of Mrs. Anna C. Johnson, the Arizona supreme court ruled yesterday.

The supreme court handed down an opinion affirming the judgment of the Pima county superior court, which found Hadley guilty of first degree murder, and a supplementary announcement fixing the date of his execution.

Mrs. Johnson was shot to death and her husband, Peter Johnson, seriously wounded as they were driving their automobile over the desert west of Tucson, Ariz., on November 18, 1911.

Hadley, who had sought a ride from the couple, was in the rear seat of the machine and the state contended that he fired the shots which killed Mrs. Johnson and wounded her husband. Robbery was alleged as the motive.

WIND SHIFTS TO SOUTH; MERCURY READING HIGHER

The wind shifted to the south during the night Tuesday and as a result the thermometer readings were higher than for the preceding 24 hours.

The minimum point reached by the thermometer during the night was 29 degrees while during the afternoon Tuesday the high point was 40 degrees.

A heavy deposit of white frost was evident throughout the district touched by local railroads Wednesday morning. Locally the frost was thick enough to make the ground appear as though a light snow had fallen during the night.

The temperature promised to rise to higher points during the day as the south wind had absolutely cleared the sky of all hindrances from the sun and it was evident at an early hour that the sun would chase the mercury up probably to the 50 degree point during the day.

The defendant in the case of Carl Westgren against John W. Gaines and others on trial Tuesday in the 78th district court, was granted judgment against the plaintiff for $5.

The plaintiff had brought action for $5,000 and three-sixths of the gas runs off a lease in the Texas shallow pool on certain contracts which had been let. The defendant in a cross action also asked for judgment and among other things asked for damages for an alleged wrongful issue of a writ of enforcement.

Judge E. W. Napier found against the plaintiff in his cause of action and against the defendant for his cross action except as to the damages on a writ of enforcement. The court awarded damages in the sum of $5.

ALLEGED SLAYERS OF OKLAHOMA MAN PASS THROUGH HERE

ARE IN CUSTODY OF GRADY COUNTY SHERIFF

Traced to Cline After Traveling Men's Bodies Were Found in Ravine

Sheriff Matt Sankey of Grady county and Deputy Sheriff Morgan of McClain county, Oklahoma, passed through this city Tuesday afternoon with the four men who are believed to have been responsible for the murder of William H. Brewitt, traveling salesman of Oklahoma City, who was found dead in a ravine near Blanchard, Grady county, last week.

The four men were apprehended in Cline, Texas, where they were being harbored by three women of notorious character. The arrest followed advice from Oklahoma officials to all Texas points, that the suspects were on their way to McClain in a battered Ford car. The four men and three women had been held in Cline on an immoral conduct charge since their arrest Sunday.

Although Sheriff Sankey was positive in his statement that no confessions had been obtained, he was convinced that the parties under arrest were responsible for the murder. The automobile in which the four men are supposed to have driven from the scene of the murder was located Tuesday in Breckenridge and later identified by Sheriff Sankey as the car used by Brewitt on the night of the tragedy. This, with statement made by the persons closely associated with the accused men in Oklahoma, strengthened the sheriff's belief that the men under arrest were guilty of the murder.

The accused men and the three women were brought here shortly after 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and lodged in the city jail until 6:15 when they took train for Oklahoma City. With an utter disregard for the seriousness of the offense with which they were charged the alleged murderers laughed, talked,

Coue Declares Benefits Come From Patients

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Emil Coue planned his final lectures here today before starting back for France from New York Saturday.

At his first lectures yesterday the Frenchman made several demonstrations, in each case he declared that he had performed a cure or that there was any miracle, but said that whatever benefits there were came from the patients themselves.

The cases were: F. H. Gardner, Chicago, left arm crippled. Gardner was able to raise this arm to his ear after Coue told him to believe he could do it. Otto Kropp, Milwaukee, paralyzed legs. He walked without aid of a cane after being apparently unable to step without assistance. Maurice Mangnus, paralysis. He dropped his canes and shuffled across the platform unaided when Coue told him to believe he could. Sarah Goldstein, paralyzed since she also gave a demonstration of walking unaided when told to.

Beware of Your Soles and Palms, Says Science

And the Flapper with Her Galoshes Shows Her Good Sense Because She Isn't Prey to the Germs That Enter Through the Pores of the Feet.

"Practically All Disease Germs Lurk in Water. Microscopic Pictures, Greatly Enlarged (see below), Reveal Them in the Most Horrible Form."

"The Soles of the Feet and the Palms of the Hands Have More Sweat Glands Than Any Other Part of the Body. And Through These Glands Pass the Germs That Cause Colds and Even Deadly Disease."

By Dr. W. H. Ballou

MISS ELIZABETH SILVESTRI, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who recently won national fame by having "the world's smallest foot," says it's all bosh about going barefoot injuring the health. But science, following a series of barefoot tests, declares she's dead wrong.

"I go around without shoes whenever I get the chance," asserts Miss Silvestri, who is 18 and wears a child's size 12 shoe. "I love to go barefoot. It keeps my feet from being tender and sensitive and gives them a chance to become shapely instead of big."

"How foolish!" says science. "Grown-ups take long chances when they go barefoot, or when they fail to wear shoes that protect their soles from the weather. The soles of the feet and the palms of the hands have more sweat glands than any other part of the body. And through these glands pass the germs that cause colds and even deadly diseases."

To prove their case against Miss Silvestri—and against all the other advocates of bare feet, no rubbers and gloveless hands—science not only brings evidence of the sensitiveness of soles and palms to germs, but cites recent discoveries to show these germs lurk in unsuspected quantities in water and in ice formed naturally by water.

According to these findings, the girl who wears Russian "galoshes" and the man who insists on donning rubbers on days when the ground is only slightly wet under foot, by no means deserve the ridicule that frequently is aimed at them. Where others are taking foolish risks, they are using the best possible protection against gripe, influenza, pneumonia and other germs.

"Don't get your feet wet or you'll catch cold," is an old warning. But not until recently was it clearly explained to the world just why that warning should be obeyed.

Now comes one noted authority who says: "Water is one of the great curses of life as well as one of its greatest blessings, since practically all disease germs lurk in water. Microscopic pictures, greatly enlarged, reveal them in the most horrible forms. If, on the street, you should see one of these germs, raised to the size of an elephant or a lion, you would behold it bristling with powerful spines opening and shutting a huge mouth, revealing a jaw fitted with many rows of knife-like teeth, waving terrible claws and huge pincers, staring with eyes like saucers. It would be a spectacle to make a man run for his life. Yet this same beast, so small in real life that it is invisible to the naked eye, is quite as deadly to man as though it were quadruped size. In fact, it is far more deadly. Its very minuteness gives it the power to multiply millions with startling rapidity. So, when a pneumonia germ lights in your throat, it may be only a few hours before its progeny are so numerous as to strangle you to death."

A rain or snow storm, according to this authority, may carry with it the exact conditions which enable water germs to breed in the human system. When one drinks infected water, the germs get busy under the same barometric conditions. The two safety valves are dry feet and hygienic drinking water.

Because of the many disease germs in natural water, science is issuing dire warnings against the careless use of ice. So serious is the menace of natural ice, in fact, that the State of Maine has forbidden the use of ice for drinking purposes, declaring that when the waters in Maine freeze, the ice becomes infiltrated with the deadliest of germs.

The action of Maine leads to the question, "Must ice made from natural waters be banned everywhere?" Certainly, is Maine's answer, the public will prefer to rely on artificial ice, made from hygienic water inspected by health authorities and guaranteed free from contamination.

Unfortunately, the natural ice crop is generally made soon after the fall rains and floods, when the first freeze sets in. The heavy rains carry into ponds, lakes and rivers tons of dead leaves and decayed vegetation, all infiltrated with thousands of specimens of vegetable and animal germs, some poison producing and some disease producing.

Thus all natural waters get a mixture of good and bad germs. These rise to the surface as heavier material sinks to the bottom. Then comes a freeze and the ice forms, which is later sent to market.

Elizabeth Silvestri, of Brooklyn, N. Y., Who Exploded the Popular Theory That Walking Barefooted Spreads the Feet. She Says That Going Without Shoes Has Strengthened Her Feet and Hardened the Soles So They Are Impervious to Disease Germs, and That She Can Still Wear No. 12's.

Nearly all natural ice the consumer gets, looks perfectly clear and transparent. When the ice is put under the microscope, however, many germs can be detected. Sometimes these germs find their way into the human system through drinking water chilled by ice chips. Sometimes the germs contaminate the very foods in the refrigerator.

In the former case, the germs in the stomach swim or bore their way to the lungs, throat and nasal passages. If the water drinker is in good health, the germs may fall to an affected spot on which to rest. They will perish. But if he is in poor health and cannot resist them, he may fall a victim to colds, gripe, catarrhal inflammations, bronchitis, pneumonia, influenza and even "galloping consumption."

When ice is placed in a refrigerator, it may carry vegetable germs so small they can easily penetrate to foods not directly touching the ice. This is especially true of meats, which are more susceptible than other dishes to the working of microscopic parasites.

There is another danger science cites from natural water and from natural ice. That is the danger from domestic animals in contact with humans and from game that is eaten and fresh water fish, all of which are great carriers of disease germs. Science says in this connection: "Be careful what you touch!"

During the year 1917, Prof. David John Davis, pathologist of the University of Chicago, compiled a catalogue of diseases human beings acquire from lower animals. He showed that fish living in infected water get infiltrated with germs. He also showed that wild animals and domestic animals drink the infected water and also become germ-infiltrated. Some of these animals live on fish and get infected.

Human beings absorb the germs in the same way or by contact. It is true that many of them are killed by high heat in cooking. But it is always possible that some section of the meat and fish was not highly heated and that many germs were left alive.

Prof. Davis found that the dog is the carrier of eleven germs that may cause disease among human beings. Other animals, with the diseases they carry, follow: Cow, 12; horse, 7; swine, 6; sheep, 3; venison, 2; antelope, 2; sickle, 2; sickness, 2; cat, 5; rat, 2; ground squirrels, the bubonic plague germ; parrot, 1; mosquito, 4; flea, 2; ticks and mites, 4; lice, 3; bed bugs, several; crustaceans, 2; and snails, all known animal germs.

"Infection in man may occur through simple contact with diseased animals. It may come from excretions from the lesions of their skin, noses, lungs and intestines. Examples include anthrax, glanders and cowpox. Wounds on the human body afford transmission. The virus may enter through the respiratory or gastro-intestinal tracts. The virus may be carried long distances in very indirect and circuitous routes from animal to man. The anthrax-infected shaving brush is a most noted example."

That is one reason science says, "Watch the palms of your hands!"

"The germ," continues Prof. Davis, "may be carried mechanically from person to person or from animal to person, through food or otherwise by a second animal; as in the transmission of typhoid, dysentery, cholera, and the like by flies. Such are the penalties man pays for being nurse, doctor and master of the brute creation."

Bill Evans says. Is it possible to overplay oneself? Have you ever been to a boxing bout and seen one of the fighters hopelessly outclassed, take a terrific beating, rather than have the stigma of quitting attached to his name? Sport lovers like the courageous performers in any branch of athletics—the fellows who do not wilt under fire. Yet there is no doubt in my mind but that many an athlete keeps going after discomfiture tells him that he is through and should quit. The word "quitter" is a nightmare to every athlete. He can take all kinds of abuse without a murmur, but he will instantly rebel at the word "quitter." A desire to keep their name clear of being placed in the "quitter" class has kept many an athlete going when it was apparent to all the world he hadn't have even an outside chance. The public very often unwittingly calls an athlete a "quitter" when such a title is in no way deserved. Some of the critics called Wilford a "big quitter" when he failed to respond to the ball in his best with Dempsey. I never thought Wilford deserved it. No one lacking courage could have assimilated the punishment Dempsey handed Wilford. If he wanted to quit, it would have been an easy matter for him to have respectfully notified the referee and listened to the referee about the fatal ten. Overplaying someone often proves costly. In making such a statement will make for stability in exchange and promotion of commerce between the two countries. The payment of principal has been established on a basis of positive installments of increasing volume, firmly establishing the principal of repayment of the entire capital sum. The payment of interest has been established on a basis of approximately normal rates payable by strong governments over long terms of years.

"It has not been the thought of the commission that it would be just to demand over a long period the high rate of interest naturally maintained during the war and reconstruction and that such an attempt would defeat our efforts at settlement. Beyond this the commission has felt that the present difficulties of unemployment and high taxation in the United Kingdom should be met with suitable consideration during the early years and, therefore, the commission has agreed to accept and desirable that payments during the next few years should be made on such basis as will not be a burden on the country, economic recuperation, not only in the countries immediately concerned, but throughout the world.

"This settlement between the British government and the United States has the aim of providing a basis for a permanent settlement, fully preserving the integrity of the obligations and it represents the first great step in the realization of the growing out of the war.

"Respectfully submitted: A. W. Mellon, chairman; C. H. J. W. Hughes, Herbert Hoover, R. Wood, Theodore C. Burton.

In its completion of the arrangements negotiated the commission itself has made essentially everything necessary to consummate the agreement to your sanction.

Notes that the commission urges that the settlement is on a basis which "will make a most important contribution to international stability." More important still is the clearing of the debt, which is a business settlement fully preserving the integrity of the obligations and it represents the first great step in the realization of the inter-governmental obligations growing out of the war.

"In these observations I most heartily approve. The call of the world today is for integrity of agreements, the dignity of covenants, the validity of treaties. There is the first clearing of the debt clouded skies in a debt-burdened world, and the commission has great reason to be proud of its financial pledges and discharge its obligations in the highest sense of financial honor.

TO POOR EQUIPMENT, BIG GAS BILLS DUE CHIEF TELLS LIONS

Mr. McLaughlin offered some interesting statistics on the equipment and expenditure of the company caused at length the various ways that had been used without success to reduce gas bills and advised that the economical gas bill was the result of poor heating equipment rather than of high rates.

In conclusion Mr. McLaughlin pointed out some interesting facts that have been made by the local office on various types of heaters and urged that the public should make of their attention to efficient heaters that will aid in reducing the gas bill.

Dr. J. D. Farrell, with A. E. D. J. Farrell, who entertained the club with a vocal solo, responded to the applause of the club with "Will We Meet Again."
