FORMER GOVERNOR OF OKLAHOMA IS FREE OF CHARGES

SAYS THREATS INSPIRED BY HEAD OF "RADICAL DEPARTMENT"

LETTER IS WRITTEN TO NEW YORK POSTMASTER

Charges Burns Purchased Secrets Papers From Files of William J. Flynn

By Associated Press. ADA, OKLA., Feb. 14.—Former Governor Robert Burns of Oklahoma, stood freed today of charges that he accepted a bribe while in office to permit an Oklahoma bank to operate after it had become insolvent.

A demurrer to the indictment against the former executive, which was returned by a district court grand jury in Oklahoma, March 22, of last year, was sustained in district court here last night by Special Judge Hal Johnson of Shawnee.

Judge Johnson held that the official acts of the governor and hence could not be the subject of bribery.

The supervision of state banks and the depositing of state funds is solely in the hands of the state bank commissioner under the statute, Judge Johnson ruled.

Mr. Robertson was charged with accepting part of $25,000 bribe allegedly to have been paid Fred Dennis, former state bank commissioner, to allow the Guaranty State Bank of Oklahoma to continue business when it was known to be in a failing condition. It was also charged that $100,000 in state funds had been deposited in the bank in an effort to pull it through.

Upon sustaining the demurrer, Judge Johnson discharged Mr. Robertson and concentrated his bondsman.

The court held the facts stated in the indictment could not form the basis of a new indictment.

Grant Gillespie, newly elected Oklahoma county attorney, gave notice of appeal to the state criminal court of appeals.

Judge Johnson allowed the state 60 days in which to prepare the appeal and 10 days was granted the defense to suggest amendment. The case may then be signed and settled upon five days notice in writing by either party.

BORAH MAY DELAY CONFIRMATION OF DEBT SETTLEMENT

WOULD RESULT FROM EFFORT TO CALL WORLD CONFERENCE

LITTLE CONTROVERSY TO PROLONG DEBT DEBATE

Fate of Ship Subsidy Bill Depends on Time Consumed on Debt Question

By MARK SULLIVAN, Political Correspondent of the New York Tribune and Wichita Daily Times. (Copyright 1923, N. Y. Tribune, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—How much time this debt discussion will consume depends to a great extent on just how deep Senator Borah insists his suggestions be carried into effect.

Most of the debate will be on the question of the debt settlement as an unimportant detail. On the other hand, the question of a world conference as such, there is no real difference of opinion.

At the heart of the subject such as would give rise to long debate and as to whether the more or less irrelevant matters that have been or will be brought up, they are not taken with enough seriousness to cause many speeches.

Senator Reed's idea of our taking over some of Great Britain's islands in the West Indies is largely in the nature of an individual whim on the part of the Missouri senator.

But if Senator Borah should reopen the line of argument he began Tuesday, and should make a formal and serious suggestion for an international economic conference, it will be interesting to see what follows.

Ordinarily, one would say that whenever Senator Borah "starts something" about an economic conference, the debate on the ship subsidy would keep on going until the Idaho senator himself does something to stop it.

Just now, on this matter of an economic conference, there are several curious cross currents. When Borah last introduced this idea, after Christmas time, it instantly took the center of the stage, crowded everything aside, and kept the inclusive attention of the senate, and in a large degree of the country, and the world until the author withdrew it.

Of course, that was just the time when France was in process of taking a step wholly of its nature gave immense emphasis to anything and everything that held out any promise of economic reparations.

It may be that the same suggestion renewed now, would attract an equal amount of public attention and lead to an equal country and intensity of senatorial debate. It is a fact that the western farmer is more more interested in the stabilization of Europe than he was at Christmas time.

He is being told steadily that that is the only thing that will assure him good markets. The farm bureau federation has more or less formally adopted the idea of America doing something to stabilize Europe as part of its official program, and additional pressure from this quarter is expected in the near future.

That is one side of the question. At the same time it is certain that dependable observers have reported to Washington that the voters generally are disposed to accept the administration's policy of hands off.

Now that France has actually entered Germany, the feeling is that the situation has entered a definitely new stage, and that any offer of our policy to affect it would involve risks of something unknown and therefore to be avoided.

As the administration itself, nothing could be more clear than that its policy is to call no conference nor anything else that involves us in a tense situation. Incidentally when Senator Borah Tuesday said in effect that our government ought to have used the "debit" due us as a leverage to exact disarmament and

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

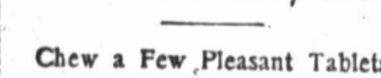

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

"Rheumatism? No? No, indeed, it's all gone, every bit of it! It's sunshine and joy for me now for the first time in years. I feel wonderful glory again in the free motion I used to have when my days were younger. I look at my hands and think of the twists and swellings they used to have. I bend way over to the floor. I haven't been able to do that in many years. I can thank S. S. S. for it all! It is so good, it is so simple, it is so safe and healthy. Brothers and sisters in misery, do not close your eyes and think that health, free motion and strength are gone from you forever! It is not so. It is here and now for all of you. S. S. S. is waiting to help you." There is a reason why S. S. S. will help you. When you increase the number of your red blood cells, the entire system undergoes a tremendous change. COLLECTIONS OF JANUARY TO RUN OVER $800,000

County Tax Collector Guy C. Raley announced Wednesday that the total collections during the month of January would reach the $800,000 mark.

Mr. Raley made a large deposit Wednesday morning which brought the total to this amount and it is believed that there is fully $20,000 yet to be received for the month.

The number of poll taxes will also be more than 12,000 it was stated Wednesday as was evidenced by the number of receipts issued and those yet to be issued.

One of the features of tax collections this year was that a large number of taxpayers are paying up delinquent taxes. Mr. Raley stated that he had one instance in mind where a man paid up back taxes dating as far back as 1907.

TWO CONVICTIONS ADDED IN MOVING PICTURE CASES

Two more convictions were added Tuesday afternoon to the list of those found guilty of operating picture shows on Sunday.

A jury in the justice of peace court at Burk Burnett found two picture show operators guilty of the charge and assessed a fine of $50 and costs in each case. These two men, it is alleged, operate picture shows on the first day and since the shows have been running six convictions have been secured in the justice of peace court which have been appealed through convictions in the county court at law.

One of the cases on appeal is set for trial in the county court at law for Thursday.

MAN IN ARKANSAS WANTS DESCRIPTION OF H. J. TOUSSAINT

A resident of the city of Hattiesville, Arkansas, hasn't heard yet of Henry J. Toussaint, who has been recaptured since his escape from the county jail last January.

Justice of the Peace Gibbs received a letter from the man Wednesday morning in which the writer asks for a complete "deskribshun" of the man Toussaint whom he believed was wanted here for the murder of his father.

It is evident that the man was an officer as he asked many questions as to his habits, occupation and characteristics of the man. He closed his letter by requesting an early reply and stating that he believed he could do some good.

NORTHWEST FIELD QUIET PLACE SAY OFFICERS ON RAID

The northwest oil fields are a very quiet place according to officers who participated in a raid there Tuesday night. Not one arrest was made and no whiskey was found.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Jack Miller stated Wednesday that a big dance was in progress there Tuesday night. He said it was one of the largest he had ever seen but was conducted in a most orderly and quiet manner.

There was some slight evidence that a few of the dancers had had whiskey but there was no visible signs of it in evidence, the officers stated.

Mabel Normand Denies Marriage But Wears Ring

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Mabel Normand, movie star, denied today that she was married but declined to explain her diamond studded wedding ring.

She arrived last night on the steamship Baltic after several months abroad. There was gossip among the passengers that she had been married last December in London but when newspapermen asked her about it, she said:

"No, boys, I'm not married. Don't be silly."

But in an unguarded moment she drew a glove from her left hand and disclosed the ring. She smiled when she was asked about it and repeated her denial.

Quick Quaker Oats

Cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes

Oats Are Ready Before the man is dressed

There is now a Quick Quaker Oats, perfected by our experts. It cooks in from 3 to 5 minutes—far quicker than any other oats you can buy. And it cooks to perfection.

If that means anything to you, it's another reason for always getting Quaker Oats.

The same exquisite flavor

Quaker Oats are world-famed for their flavor. Millions of oat lovers send over seas to get them. In every country this is the favorite brand.

They are baked from queen grains only—just the rich, plump, starchy ones. All flavorless grains are discarded. A bushel of choice oats yields but ten pounds of these delicious flakes.

Quick Quaker employs those same queen grains. But the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and are partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

Now you have your choice at equal price. Regular Quaker with its matchless flavor. Quick Quaker with that same flavor, plus five-minute cooking.

But you get neither of those qualities unless you insist on the Quaker brand.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS MR. STAMPS TELEPHONES

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"Yes, this is Nick," said the little boy.

One day the telephone rang in the little hickory tree postoffice where Nancy and Nick were working. "Tingaling—a-ling!" it went and Mr. Stamps answered it.

"Hello!" he said sharply, for he was busy and he didn't like to be bothered. Besides he was pretty sure that it was for Stridlong Longstride who was always getting called up.

"Hello! Hello! Hello!" he shouted again more sharply than ever and rattling the receiver up and down as though he would like to smash the whole business. "Yes, Your Highness, I'll talk to her, Nick."

"Yes, operator!" he yelled. "Someone called us. The bell rang and rang as though we were deaf and dumb. Long distance! Oh, there isn't much for Nancy and me to do now. I beg your pardon, what place did you say? Mix-Up Land? You want us to go and help! All right, we'll come to your place for orders right away. Goodbye."

"It's all right, Mr. Stamps," he said. "Don't you worry! But, say, Nancy and I will have to be leaving you soon."

THE WASTE OF MULTIPLIED STYLES AND SIZES

President John Slater of the National Shoe Retailers' Association told Texas shoe merchants in their annual Tuesday that the multiplication of styles and sizes in shoes was adding to the difficulties and hazards of the shoe trade and were adding greatly to the cost of providing shoes for the people. He said that before the cost of shoes could come down it would be necessary for the manufacturers to cut down variations in the styles and direct their production toward standardization.

Americans are the best shoe makers in the world. American shoes sell in every country where shoes are worn and are highly popular. But there is an inordinate variation in styles which manufacturers appear to think they have to meet. The human foot is contorted into all sorts of shapes by the varying styles. This is especially true in the case of women. Chinese footbinders have nothing on some of the shoe women wear for reforming the feet. The bones of the feet are folded and twisted. The toes are curved and stunted. The arches are misplaced and the whole structure of the foot thrown out of gear, affecting the carriage of the body and the spine.

These varied styles make it necessary for the merchants to carry much larger stocks than ought to be necessary. The changing styles and the failure of some of them to become popular leave the merchants with stocks on hand that he must sacrifice at a small percentage of their cost making it necessary for him to add generally to shoe prices.

Mr. Slater is doing well to emphasize the waste and cost of multiplied styles to the shoe dealers. They can, if they will, wield a strong influence with manufacturers in making their product more standardized.

But shoes is not the only product in which multiplication of styles and sizes has brought waste and greatly added costs.

The same situation exists in many lines. Take for instance the printing industry. The many different widths of rolls of paper required for different presses and sizes of newspaper pages makes waste in production and makes it necessary for manufacturers and dealers to tie up more capital in larger stocks.

Our national emblem is even a sign of our waste. There were so many sizes and styles of flags that the government in 1913 for its own use established sixty odd sizes and styles. This has since been cut down to 12.

There is waste and added cost to the consumer in the number of sizes of automobile tires, in the different sizes of beds and in innumerable other things in every day use.

Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, says that a better standardization in many American products would save not only millions, but billions, of dollars.

TODAY'S TALK
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

SPECULATORS IN LIFE.
There are two kinds of people, at least, in this world playing at the game of life—the workers, and the speculators.
Go where you will and you will find these two represented.

In business, in society, in sport—one who puts his heart into his work, believing that work alone brings its full reward; and the other merely looking on, watch for some short cut or some clever play of chance to edge out worth and toil.

And there are speculators in friendship as well. The man or woman who sees nothing in the warmth of friendship, reaching toward it solely for its opportunity of selfish gain.

Life seems at times like a great many different things, but one thing it is not—it is not a mere speculation. I like most to think of life as a real man's or woman's job—something big to be looked into, studied, and solved as far as in us lies the ability.

So then, naturally, the speculator in life gets nothing from me but my most profound contempt. It is true that we are all born into a very unequal world. But this isn't the fault of the world. Beauty and opportunity present themselves on equal terms to all. The inability to appreciate on the part of unequal minds is where the trouble starts.

And so we get those who see bigness and greatness in the mere daisy or pansy, and those who would walk over them for a thousand years and not know that they were planted by the hand of God.

Speculators in life—graspers for that which they have not earned, and have not a spark of desire in their make-up to rightfully earn—sappers of the life that belongs to others! No wonder that Christ drove this cult from the Temple.

You will never know life in all its wonder and beauty and significance until you earn it.

ANTI-PAROCHIAL SCHOOL BILL DEFEATED
By a vote of 72 to 83 the Texas house of representatives killed the so-called Baker anti-parochial school bill.

The bill would have required the use of the general curriculum of the public schools in private and parochial schools and would have given county superintendents authority to enter private homes and private and parochial schools and conduct examinations to see that the teaching in such schools followed the law.

Representative Baker, the proponent of the bill, declared that this is a protestant Christian nation with the inference that the teaching in our schools ought to be protestant Christianity.

Representative Blount characterized the bill as "unfair, unconstitutional, bad business, bad education and bad religion."
It was the latter view which evidently prevailed. One of the principles most strongly believed in by the American people is the separation of church and state. It was the feeling that the bill violated this principle doubtless that led to its defeat.

FELLOWSHIP OF PRAYER
Daily Lenten Bible reading and meditation prepared for commission on evangelism of federal council of churches.
"He saw the Spirit as a dove descending upon him." Mark 1:10.
Read Mark 11:1-12.
"The Gospels steadily held the humanity of Jesus in the foreground. It is through His humanity we must make our way to His divinity."
Meditation: What a momentous hour for the world, the hour when the Man of Galilee accepted his commission. In that hour his ministry began which has made and is making the world new.
Hymn:
Immortal Love, forever full,
Forever flowing free,
Forever abiding forever whole,
A never-ending sea!
Prayer: Almighty God, we thank thee for the life of Jesus Christ; that He lived His divine life among men, ministering to their needs and showing us the way to eternal life. Enlighten our understanding that we may know Him, and strengthen our faith in Him. Enable us, Thy faithful people in fellowship through prayer, may we be refreshed in the inner life, be purified by His cleansing blood, and dwell eternally in Thy dwelling of Thy Holy Spirit; through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

THE TRAINING OF JIMMY M'BRIDE.
Jimmy McBride was a common sense lad. The son of a common sense mother and dad. Who had born him and bred him to labor. He'd been taught, what a common sense lad under-stands.

"Your feet are for walking," his father once said: "To see with God gave you two eyes in your head. And your mouth is for eating and drinking. And that you'll remember, I'm making it plain. You've also been given what men call a brain. And the brain is put in there for thinking.

"Now you've all the equipment the greatest posses. And some men have risen to glory with less. So don't be afraid, but go to it; If it's honest, and useful, and ought to be done. Don't think it beneath you, but jump in, my son. Go straight to your duty and do it."

When Jimmy came home with the dirt on his face. They never once said: "It's a shame and disgrace! Poor boy, you are worn out and weary!"
No pity for Jimmy his labors inspired. His old father said: "It is sweet to be tired. It makes the home coming so cheery."

His old mother said, with the pride in her eye: "There's nothing like work to put flavor in pie. Come in and sit down to your dinner."

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTE BOOK
By LEE FAYE

This afternoon Mrs. Howe was coming to drink tea and talk to me and she sent me around to the baker store to get a quarter of a pound of fancy little cakes, saying, "Get the kind with the icing on and for goodnights makes bring them back in good condition because they cost 3 dollars a pound and they're something very special."
Which I went and got them, being 7 different color cakes in a little box and on the way home which I did meet Mary Watkins coming back from some place else, saying, "Hello Benny, what is that?"
"Little cakes, they cost 3 dollars a pound, I said, and she said, 'O really, they must be something' she said, 'I never ate any little cakes that cost that much.' 'No, I still haven't saying anything, and she said, 'I never tasted any, but I'd love to.'"

"Well you can have one of these if you want one, I said. 'Which she took a chookit one and she ate it and she then she said she wondered if she didn't get a little more, so I gave her a pink one, and then there was only 2 left on account of me eating one each time she did, and she said, 'I'll take it, then. How many do you think you want to get in a quarter of a pound, ma?'
'Well, haven't you gone yet? Ma said, 'No, I haven't. How many do you think I'd like to get?'
'No, ma'am, I'm not. 'Non-sens, don't talk crazy, ma said, and I said, 'What do you want to get?'
"Which ma grabbed the box without looking and looked in, and I had to tell her what happened to the other 4, and she gave me a quarter of a pound for each cake without even listening to me advising her to just serve 2 and make it look as if they cost about 6 dollars a pound."

Which is the better lover—a fat man or a thin? A French newspaper puts the question to leading Parisian actresses. Madeline Charlier selects the thin man. Yesterday's Answer.
To subtract 40 from 55 with 6 as the result is 55 (6) plus IX (9) plus XL (40) equals 55. IX (9) plus X (10) plus I (30) equals 65. Subtracting: IX (9) plus X (10) plus I (30) equals 65. Which leaves 6 as the result.

ARGUMENTS UNDER WAY IN TRIAL

The defense then rested and the state followed suit, at 10:25. Enters Court Room.

Mrs. Fannie Culberson, with her three children, her sister, her gray-haired father and two friends, entered the court room at 11:30 o'clock and were provided chairs inside the rail.

Major Culberson, the defendant, was in the court room at the time, but there was no sign of recognition evidenced between the two. He was talking intently with a friend who sat at his side.

When Mrs. Culberson entered the room, the spectators quieted immediately and all attention was directed in her direction. The elderly occupants leaned over the railing in an effort to get a glimpse.

For fully five minutes after her arrival, there was a sound in the crowded auditorium.

One of the defense counsel voiced an objection to Judge Wilson, who was not on the stand. The objection with reference to the state bringing its witnesses inside the bar where they could be exhibited before the jury.

Mrs. S. E. Morris of Denison, another sister of Mrs. Culberson, entered the court room at 11:35. She greeted Mrs. Culberson with a kiss and in turn kissed each one of the children and her other sister and father.

Mrs. M. C. Lamar did not appear throughout the trial. District Attorney Walter Schenck received a doctor's certificate from Dallas Wednesday morning, stating that she was ill and was unable to answer the subpoena. The certificate was filed with the district clerk.

At 11:45 o'clock, when it was evident that the argument of counsel would not begin until after the noon hour, Mrs. Culberson departed with her three daughters and a sister.

Just at 12 o'clock, W. A. Porter, carrying the baby with his daughter, Mrs. Ernestine Porter Lamar, walked into the court room and took seats near the attorney's table.

The defendant secured a chair for the woman and held a conversation with her at length.

Eight Hours Argument. Four hours' time was allotted each side. E. A. Simpson of Claridon was scheduled to follow Judge Triplett, and to open for the defense.

Next in order, John Davenport for the state, Mr. Boone and Judge A. C. Ousley for the defense, and District Attorney Walter Schenck closing for the state.

The judge started reading his charge at 1:30, concluding at 1:45. The judge warned against the slightest evidence of any spectator, the slightest evidence of approval or disapproval of anything said or done.

Judge Triplett began by expressing the attorney's appreciation of the jury's attention and patience. He walked from his seat at the speaker's table in his coat pocket.

He discussed briefly the development of the jury system since the time when the community sat in judgment as a whole upon accused persons; from that system, she said, has developed the jury.

He next sketched the duty of the district attorney and other officials with a reminder that duty of the jury was most important of all.

"The state is relying absolutely on the jury to do its duty. Sometimes we have a weak-spined jury that wants justice done, but isn't willing to do it themselves."

"If this man is acquitted of this charge of murder, you can't go home and say the court's charge made you do it," he continued, taking up the court's charge. Going further into the charge, he said Culberson must have, to plead self-defense, a reasonable expectation of danger.

"That means reasonable," he said, "not the kind of reasonable that a man who didn't care what he did."

He called attention to the fact that nowhere in the record was there any testimony about insulting words by Lamar. Underlining, as he said, to "clear up some of the brushwood" about Lamar's behavior, Judge Triplett discussed the "suspicious noise."

"He knew of nothing improper," said the speaker. "When I hear of a scandal monger of that kind, I feel it would be better that his tongue had been torn from his throat."

"There will be much said about the defendant and his sterling character. Well, there's paid to do that, and to tell his war record and all that," he said, "but I have seen an act of courage in this trial that I never saw before."

He testified that the Culberson daughters and their testimony "to save their mother's good name against their father's worthless character." He scored Culberson for "getting on the stand to besmirch the character of his wife—an act of the roughest cowardice."

"Can they get away with their filthy defense—in the face of what those girls said?" he asked. Judge Triplett dwelt with emphasis on the fact that Culberson went to the store with his gun fully loaded. He discussed Fleming's testimony that Lamar did not move his hands, and said the jury could not believe that any hip pocket move was made. He referred also to D. M. Perkins' testimony to the same effect.

"They'll talk about this bullet wound on my finger," he said. "When the first bullet hit Lamar he threw his hand up and the second bullet grazed his finger. That would count not have caused any other way."

Says "Gag" In Defense. Declaring there was a "gag" in Culberson's plan to kill Lamar, he described it as Culberson's remark, "You've ruined my home."

"He didn't say, 'You tried to kill me,'" said the speaker. "He said, 'You've ruined my home.'"

He discussed the question asked in examining jurors, by defense attorneys, if verdicts were prejudiced against the wave of crime.

Defense attorneys at once went to Judge Wilson to take exception. "Will you be less courageous than those little girls?" he asked. The defense attorneys objected again when Judge Triplett called attention to the fact that Mrs. Culberson had not been used to testify for her husband. "You never regret you stood by your mother?" she said, turning to the Culberson girls. "It was as high courage as any ever displayed on the battlefield."

He said the fact that a man served in the war did not justify him in crime. Culberson was well educated and highly intelligent, he continued. "The sort of a man who ought not to be scared of an empty handed man."

"He didn't have any such fear. He shot him down in cold blood," said Judge Triplett.

He proceeded to discuss McCormick's supposed part in the affair, and said it was a feature of the case that he didn't understand.

The speaker referred sharply to the fact that McCormick said "This is mine" when he arrested Culberson. Judge Triplett was still speaking at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Tuesday Afternoon's Witnesses. Where the state began its rebuttal testimony Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Ollie L. Rahl, about whom the state had asked the defendant several questions was the first witness called.

She said she had resided in Wichita Falls for 12 years. "My husband is a cousin of Mrs. Culberson," she said, "and I have visited the Culberson home frequently."

"The told of a trip she had taken with Mrs. Culberson in April, 1922, to Goldwater.

"We had planned a trip. On the morning of April 24, at 7 o'clock I heard Major Culberson curse her as I stepped on the porch. I heard him say to her:—you, I hope you never come back."

She said they took two handbags with them. One of them was the major's.

"We found a letter in the handbag of the major's. The letter was destroyed. The letter started: 'My dear major: I came to your room at 6 p. m. but I heard the captain talking. The next time you come bring me something pretty. Do you still love me?'"

The witness said the letter was written from the Brownwood hotel and she did not remember who had signed it or what the initials were.

Daughter Takes Stand. "My name is Cathalee Culberson, and I am 17 years old," the defendant's daughter said as she took the stand. She said she lived at 804 Travis. They moved there from 1414 Fourteenth street two weeks ago, but at Christmas time they were living at 1808 Eighth street, she said.

"Mr. Lamar came to the house there regarding the phonograph. He did not come there more than three times," she said.

"She attended high school then and usually went straight to her home after school hours, arriving usually about 3:30, she said.

"We all were always in the presence of each other in the evenings. If we went to picture shows, one of us never went alone. Once or twice all four of us went to the show together," she said.

Her attention was called to an incident about two weeks before the divorce suit was filed.

"My mother told father she was going to sue him for divorce and of course he got mad. I don't remember any more about the time but he would curse her every time he got mad." She then related the words used by Major Culberson in cursing her mother. She related three of them.

The daughter testified that on the night when Lamar was arrested that she arrived about 8:30. She said she and her sisters were studying and that her mother and Lamar stepped into the kitchen to speak about payments on the machine. She said all lights were lit.

"I never saw any improper relations between my mother and Mr. Lamar," she said emphatically. She related the incident referred to during the morning session when she went driving with some young men.

Interrupted Auto Ride. "There was a party of six of us who went driving that time. It was the first time mother permitted me to do this but she told us to drive to the lake and come straight back, which we did."

She said that her youngest sister was in the crowd. "Father came up to the car and told them that he was Major Culberson and that he would not permit his children out riding at night with boys."

While they were living in the apartment on Eighth street, the witness said she was gone on a visit from Dec. 23 to Jan. 1922.

"Mother and Lamar were in the front room when they were arrested; they went to the kitchen to talk about the records, I guess, because they had spoken about the payments on the machine in our presence."

was found on the piano by her father. She said she remembered the piece but did not remember that her father had ever said anything about it.

"Father blessed me about several times when he would get mad. He usually would get mad when I would ask for money. He did not make a practice of giving me money and presents."

She told about the letter her father had written asking her to go to an aunt at Cisno.

"I don't have an aunt at Cisno however. I have one at Abilene. She did live in Cisno a little while. He left $20 with the sergeant."

Tears in Defendant's Eyes. She said she did not go to her aunt as her father had requested in the letter.

"The daughter said that when the question of divorce came up that Major Culberson begged both her and her mother to stay. She said she had not interviewed her father since the trouble.

While the daughter was testifying the defendant frequently brushed aside a tear that appeared in his eyes. Occasionally she turned to say a word to one of his counsel and then resumed a sort of blank stare at the witness chair. Presently another tear would appear.

Martha, the second daughter of the Culbersons next took the stand. She is 14 years of age she said.

She remembered a conversation between her father and mother about three days before the divorce was filed, and also occasions when her parents quarreled and heard him call her names several times.

She gave the same names that her older sister had related when asked with reference to them. She said her father had never whipped her or slapped her.

"He has been kind to me," she said. "I don't think it was in my place," she replied when asked whether she had talked to her father since he got into trouble.

"He was very much troubled about it the time you were riding at night, wasn't he?"

"He was very much out of temper," the girl replied.

Lamar came in a Ford car to the house, she told and acted a gentleman and was kind to her and her sisters.

"They were figuring about the records and went into the kitchen," she said in referring to Lamar's visit the night he was arrested.

"I was in the kitchen curling my hair all the time they were in there. They stayed in there about 15 minutes," she said when asked by defense counsel where she was at the time.

"There was something about the contract on the Edison and then too we had been overcharged for records. That's what Lamar came out for. Mother never told him to go to father about payments because she was to take the contract over."

She said Lamar was a blond and not very tall. She believed he parted his hair on the side and sometimes wore nose-glasses. She had never ridden in his car, she said.

The witness said that when they decided to move from Eighth street that Lamar said he would look for apartments while he was on the route.

She said there never was an occasion for either herself or her older sister to say that they didn't think it was right for Lamar to come to the house.

"He has been such to my mother that I couldn't love him," the little girl said when asked if she didn't love her father.

On redirect she testified she was in the ninth grade.

She told that the laundry man and grocery boy also come to her mother's house on business, but she never did report it to her father.

She said that Lamar was always proper in his actions to all of them. On recross she was asked: "Did the laundryman or the grocery boy ever come and stay 45 minutes or an hour?"

"No, their business didn't require it."

Mrs. Ollie Rahl was recalled. She said Mr. Culberson had called her on the telephone many times during December.

"One time we were discussing a mutual friend of our acquaintance. I didn't believe she asked me she told me that I had the wrong impression. She often times asked me to come over, saying she was lonesome."

She said she passed Mrs. Culberson's house six or eight times a day, but that she never saw Lamar's car or him there.

The next witness was H. A. Carter. He said he was a mortar mixer and was working on Indiana avenue on January 8, near the phonograph shop, about 95 feet south of it. "I saw Chief McCormick that morning. I also saw the defendant. I saw them together."

NO TITLES IN NEW MEXICO ARE FOUND IN TANGLE

TANGIBLE EVIDENCE OF ANY GREAT FRAUDS

Take Federal Legislation to Straighten Matters Out, It Report

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Although the house committee on Indian Affairs, which has been conducting an extended investigation of the so-called Bureau bill and related measures affecting the public lands of New Mexico, has thus far to discover tangible evidence of great frauds as charged, as developed that the land titles in that state are in a tangle and it is going to take federal legislation some time to help straighten them out.

SAY "BAYER" when you buy Aspirin

Unless you see the name "Bayer" in package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer product prescribed by physicians over 2 years ago proved safe by millions of cures, headaches, toothache, neuralgia, rheumatism, influenza, pneumonia, and for pain in general. Accept only "Bayer" packages which contain proper directions. Handy boxes of 12 tablets costs few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monocacetylsalicylic Acid.

PICKPOCKET GETS SMALL CHANGE AT CULBERSON TRIAL

Pickpockets worked in the crowd in the court room corridor Tuesday morning it was learned later. The women learned it first. The "dip" whether male or female, worked like a professional.

One woman reported that she had come to the court house with fifty cents loose in her coat pocket. At noon when she ran to get a bite to eat she discovered that her pocket was empty. Another woman discovered that her pocket had been opened and two one dollar bills were extracted.

The "dip" undoubtedly worked between 11 and 12 o'clock Tuesday morning when fully 75 women and a few men jammed into the second floor corridor awaiting court to re-choose so that they could file for a seat which had been relinquished by some person who could not overthrow the pangs of hunger.

ADVANCE OF COLD WAVE FELT HERE EARLY WEDNESDAY

The disturbing element noted on the far north terminal of local railroads Tuesday morning developed into a cold wave, the advance of which was felt here early Wednesday morning.

Reports from the north end of the road Wednesday at times was reaching a velocity of 25 miles an hour, and that the thermometer was steadily receding.

Locally, the wind changed to the north from the west during the night, and Wednesday morning the thermometer had fallen to the 28-degree mark. Tuesday afternoon the mercury hit the 75-degree point for the maximum.

Memphis News

MEMPHIS, Feb. 14.—The Citizens State Bank of Memphis, was named as county depository today by the Hall county commissioners' court, this bank having submitted the highest bid of the four bids for the next two years.

The bid submitted was as follows: First State Bank of Memphis, $10 per cent; First National Bank of Memphis, 3.7; Hall County National Bank of Memphis, 2.6; Citizens State Bank of Memphis, 2.6.

The Citizens State Bank has acted as county depository during the past two years, being the successful bidder two years ago with a bid of $124 per cent, the highest rate ever paid for the use of the funds of any panhandle county.

Work of excavating for the foundation of the new Hall county court house has been completed and the pouring of cement began today. The building is to be three stories and a basement, fireproof and modern in every respect and will cost approximately $150,000.

The winter term of county court, interrupted by the regular term of the commissioners' court being held this week will be resumed next Monday, Feb. 19, jurors for the week having been summoned. A number of the misdemeanors present indicted by the grand jury will be tried in this court, making an unusually large criminal docket.

The Charles R. Simmons Post of the American Legion of Memphis has bought lots in the business section and is putting on a campaign to raise funds for building a legion hall. It is proposed to make the building of adobe brick and have the architecture conform to the Mexican style of the early buildings in Texas.

"Blocks" will be sold by the post at $100 each and each purchaser twenty-five or more blocks will have his name engraved upon bronze tablets to be placed in the reception room of the hall.

None of the rains or snows which recently covered a large part of Texas have reached this section and some of our farmers are getting anxious. The dry, sunny weather which has prevailed throughout the winter has been fine on the cattle which have wintered remarkably well; but moisture will soon be needed for planting crops and for early pastures.

Does the Tax-Collector call at night?

The tax which nobody can afford to pay is the tax which is assessed against health.

When nerves are a-jangle and the night's rest is disturbed, health is paying a tax which cannot safely be continued.

People who drink coffee and tea often find there's a tax to pay for the nerve-stimulation they've had from the drug, caffeine, which coffee and tea contain. Night-time restlessness, daytime drowsiness, nervous irritation and headaches are common forms of the first payments.

There's an easy and delightful way to avoid the tax, through Postum instead of coffee or tea. Postum is fully satisfying to taste, with all the comfort and pleasing flavor which a hot, mealtime beverage can give—and without any possibility of harm to nerves or digestion. As many cups as you like with any meal.

It would be wise for you to stop tax-payments to the coffee and tea drug, and enjoy the kindness and comfort of Postum. Begin today, with an order to your grocer.
