to discuss a measure so relatively less pressing as the "truth in fabrics" bill, it will be apparent that they can keep this sort of process up during the remainder of the sension and actually prevent the ship subsidy from coming to a roll call.

It is pretty clearly known that the ship subsidy, would pass it it should come to a roil call, by a vote of about 50 to 48. The 50 votes in favor of it being composed of 48 republicans, together with two democrats senators from Louisiana, while the 48 votes in opposition are made up of 25 democrats plus 11 insurgent republicans. It is the insurgent republicans who compose the heart of the determination to filibuster. Under the rules of the senate, there are scores of legislative devices they can use to kill time, and at this moment there is no apparent evidence that the strength of their determination to fight off the ship subsidy bill has abated in any degree. The advocates of the bill, on the other hand, have shown a marked disposition to component the converging to the strength of the strength of the bill, on the other hand, have shown a marked disposition for componition to distance the strength of the bill, on the other hand, have shown a marked disposition to components. Enough Votes to Pass hand, have shown a marked dispo-sition to compremise by adopting changes designed to make the bill more acceptable. They will not, however, adopt the fundamental change which would probably insure the passage of the bill: Name ly, a provision to the effect that the subsidy shall be from year to year and shall be voted by congress each year. The advocates of the bill refuse to make his change, for they claim, with obvious reasonableness, that no business man would begin the extensive opera-tions which are essential, if he were compelled to anticipate that the subsidy might be withheld in the second or any subsequent year. On the whole, the best judgment is that the ship subsidy bill will be prevented from coming to a vote. Form Credits Bill It is the senate that is engaged Alkali In Soap Bad For the Hair Soap should be used very care-tully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it. The best thing for steady use in Mulsifled coconnut oil stampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is botter than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is sufficient to elecars the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich creamy lather, which rinsce out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft and the hair fine and silky, bright lustrous, iluffy and easy to manage. Jou can get Mulaifled coccanut oil shampoo at any pheumacy, it's very chesp, and a few others will supply every member of the family for months, Be very your drusgist gives you Mulaifled.—ad.

YOU AND I

The world will come to an end Dec. 12, 1954, predicts Father tignare Rivers, Maxican monk and astronomer. He figured out the exact date by years of very complicated study of the stars through his catescope. His prediction is making quite a sensation in Mexico.

The end of the world has been predicted more times than you have nairs on your head, but the world still goes along as usual.

One of these days man will be able to understand the fourth dimension. Then our material universe as we "see" it now, a three-dimensional existence—will undergo such a transformation, in our comprehension of it that transformation, in our comprehen-sion of it, that it in effect will "come to an end." Binstein is a voice in the wilderness. Unexplain-able psychic manifestations are fourth dimensional phenomena,

RATES WOOD GREATEST DOUBLE PLAYER IN TENNIS By VINCENT RICHARDS

Norman E. Brooks, rated as one of the most phenomenal ten-nis exponents of all time, has al-ways been considered the premier man at the net in doubles, but am firmly convinced that Pat O'-Mara Wood is even greated in this particular respect than Brooks. And so I say that Pat O'Mara's playing is the real reason why the colors of the U.S. team was lowered. The most particular item in the tennis game of the present era is the fact that Pat Wood, a great doubles player, is a comparatively easy man to win from in singles. Tilden, Johnston and myself can take Wood into camp regular in singles, as have other players who are rated far below us in the national standings, We often get a lot of fun out of kidding Pat relative to this fact.

The spitball was the first of the unnatural or so-called trick deliveries. Scores of stunts to make the ball take puzzling twists were soon invented by the brainy twirlers of the majors. Their views soon went down the line to the minors and ameteurs. and amsteurs.

DETROIT, Feb. 13.—Detroit has tons of another world's heavy-light champion pugilist. The chap referred to is Jack Mc-liffe, protege of Mark Shaughes, who in the two years he has fin in the game has come to the ont with such rapid strides that already looms up as one of the set dangerous men in the division. McAuliffe has all the requisites at go to make a real fighter. He a young giant, standing 6 feet 1 the, and weighs 200 pounds. He is ly 22 years old, but is a marvel physical perfection. For a big low he is exceptionally fast, and has the tremendous shoulders of a thiete and the tapering waist, schest is larger, when expanded, an that of Jess Willard, despite of fact that the former champion tweighs him by 50 pounds. McAuliffe is also the possessor an exceedingly long left arm, lich is said by cirities to be the itest and sturdiest left in heavylight circles. Certainly it is the gest, longer even than the wellown reach of Willard. To deter the world, he has seed bouts, of which all but one re won by the knockout route. In the leading contenders for Jack Dempsy's crown. McAuliffe could not hand Johnson a sleep-producing punch, but he gained the verdict in six rounds. # Hunch, Prejudice, or Logic?

Which do YOU use in placing your advertising?

HUNCH may tell you where to invest your advertising dollars: A you may win by following a prejudice for certain publications; but a sane and careful analysis of the field and the mediums which cover it is the best basis for a decision.

When you place an adevertising contract, the only businesslike way to decide where to get the best returns is by logical analysis. And the way to get information for this analysis is from the statistical reports made by the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

The A. B. C. examines thoroughly every record kept by its newspaper members which has a bearing upon the circulation or distribution. Figures are verified. Methods of securing subscribers are scrutinized and reported upon. The distribution is checked and subscribers classified in such a way as to aid in surveying the market.

The advertiser using A. B. C. reports does not have to piece together bits of information. When he places a campaign after reading the facts about an A. B. C. paper, as given in a report by the Bureau, he knows that every paper of every issue is going to count. He will reach the reader he wants.

FARM-LABOR PARTY TO SEVER ALL CONNECTION WITH RADICAL GROUP

labor party has decided to severall connection with the conference progressive political action, formed in Cleveland last year, it was announced

In a letter to William H. Johnstone, chairman of the conference, Jay G. Brown, secretary of the farmer-labor party, stated that the action of the conference in adopting a constitution at variance with that of his organizaion provides a binding program to which the farmer-labor party cannot adhere. To act with an organization of non-partisan bodies when the farmr-labor party is a partisan associwould be inconsistent, Mr. Brown explained.

PASTOR SAYS MAN MUST GO THROUGH REFINING PROCESS

The text for the Sunday evening sermon at the First Methodist Epis-sopal church was Zech. 12:9, "I will tefine them as silver is refined, and refine them as silver is refined, and try them as gold is tried." The minister said in part:

"For God's afflited children there is a very deep consolation in those frequently repeated emblems of suffering which liken it to a great refiner's fire, in which he purifies his gold. 'I will refine them as silver is refined, and try them as gold is tried.' This is a somatimes forgotten part of God's redeeming and restoring work. We redeciming and restoring work. We sometimes say to a sufferer, 'Be patient with God.' We should also say, 'And think how patient God has been with you.' Surely this is one explanation at least of the length of time some of God's suffering ones are kept in the fire. He wants to have them pure as He increases.

But Christian graces are never obtained that way. They are the fruit of discipline, and often that discipline is suffering or sorrow. Prayers for heavenly graces will be answered, but often the answer comes through training and not by immediate gift. "In all this, however, that only where there is real gold to work upon will any trouble be taken to make it pure; which is but another way of saying that we must be truly His children before His refin ing process can begin. It is not the refining that makes us His, but it is because we are already His that He refines us to make us more like Himself. If there is not real metal among the dross, there would be no use for the fire, and there would be no result from the burning.

"Does not this explain, at least in part, why, we see so many un-Christian sufferers come out of the tire of affliction no better than they Tire of affliction no better than they were before? Not every fire is a refiner's fire, nor is everything that goes into the fire purified. Some people come out of the fire of affliction as bricks come out of the brick klin, the harder for the burning. Because there is no gold in them there is nothing to refine. The best and most helpful of the Psalms were written when the Psalmist was undergoing some of the most severe trials of his life. The richest and most comforting of Paul's Epotles came from an un
