MINORITY OF ELECTORS MAY USURP ABSOLUTE DOMINION AS RESULT OF GROUP SYSTEM

LONDON, March 24.—The startling English, by the elections of the last few weeks, have called attention to the working of the new electorate in Great Britain and set men pondering about its possibilities in a way a general election failed to make them think. Democracy in the sense of government of a great state by the absolute and unimpeded authority of the majority of its own citizens of all ranks and conditions is a modern experiment. The United States of America is the oldest democracy in the world today.

How many realize that Britain became a democracy for the first time in 1917? Until then, the majority of its adult population had no voice in the making or administering of the laws that ruled their lives.

They have adopted universal suffrage as the basis of authority for their government.

Their franchise, but British herself, the pioneer of representative institutions, until recently shrank from the experiment of universal suffrage. Before the reform act of 1832, the total electorate of this country numbered only 3 per cent of the population. The distribution of power in this small electorate was so arranged that even 3 per cent represented in effect no more than at least 1 per cent of power. A generation of turmoil and agitation almost culminating in revolution succeeded in forcing through a measure which increased the 3 per cent to 4.5 per cent of the population. It is true that the restriction of votes was more equitable, but even with that, to call this ridiculous percentage a democracy would be ridiculous.

LLOYD GEORGE

Another generation of growing agitation ensued. This also ended in blood. Then Mr. Disraeli, one of the British statesmen, doubled the electorate. This measure increased the number of voters to 7.5 per cent of the population. Disraeli's audacious plans horrified one of his aristocratic supporters and shocked many Whigs. Bob Lee had already forebode the candidates that would follow Gladstone's measure. The proposals seven years later saw the election of a first-party parliament since 1841. It is true that the prospect of men by always fear evil must follow from justice.

Thirteen years after the Disraeli measure, the Gladstone administration added another seven per cent to the electorate. The Gladstone proposals which reduced the number of voters to 11 per cent of the population. It is true that the prospect of men by always fear evil must follow from justice.

Converted into Democracy. The electorate that through its representatives accepted the German challenge in 1914 and was therefore responsible for involving the country in the most costly and sanguinary war it ever waged represented one-sixth of the population and about one-third of the adults. The conscription act converted this country to the injustice of this state of things. Millions of men were forced to fight their lives for a policy which they had no share in fashioning, nor had they any share in choosing the parliament which determined the issue of such grave moment for all citizens. Millions of women faced anxieties and tortures worse than death in pursuit of the same policy, and yet no woman was allowed to express any opinion as to the selection of the rulers who led them to this sacrifice. It was felt to be so unjust that in the exultation of war which lifted men to a higher plane of equity, this obvious wrong was redressed. Hence the greatest of all enfranchisement acts, the act of 1917, that for the first time converted the British system of government into a democracy.

How has it worked? It is too early to speak of its results. Mr. Austen Chamberlain in his letter last week has called attention to one aspect of its operation. He has pointed out a fact which is already known to every man who has passed through the experience of a contested election, that nearly one-half of the new electorate is attached to any political party. If you deduct out of the total the number of the old electorate which had no party affiliations of a party character, you will find from the result of the elections that more than half the new electorate was free and floating about without any anchor or rudder and ready to be lured by the first party that succeeded in reaching the millions of the new voters are too indifferent or too undecided about political issues to take sides at the polling booths.

Hotly Contested Election. In the hotly contested election of January, 1918, only 10 per cent of the voters went to the polls. At the second election, which took place in the same year, the percentage was 32 per cent. The slight difference between the two elections would be accounted for by the fact that the complete comparison these results with the two elections which have occurred since the 1917 enfranchisement. At the 1918 election, 64 per cent only of the voters could be induced to make the acquaintance of the ballot boxes. This might be explained by the inevitable political apathy that follows a great war. The pulse of party beat feebly and irregularly. The old party organizations had through five years of neglect and through complete disrepair—the new party had not yet had time to perfect its machinery. Hence the failure of a competitive effort to induce at least 4,000,000 of the new voters to take sufficient interest in their new privileges to exercise them at the election.

The next four years were a period of growing political activity. The new party was especially energetic. Its chief organizer, Mr. Arthur Henderson, M. P., is one of the most gifted party men of this generation and his achievement is an outstanding feature of political organization in this country. The old parties also made a vigorous effort; by the time the election was called their organizations were in full working order. The only party which has no organization worth speaking of was the National Liberal Party. The others were

Frank of Group System of Representation Enables Minority of Electors to Guide Kingdom's Fortunes for Five Years.

Amongst many disquieting factors there is one which ought to be dealt with as another election arrives. Under the present system, a minority of electors may usurp absolute dominion over the fortunes of this kingdom for fully five years. This is one of the freaks of the group system.

The present parliamentary majority has been elected by an aggregate vote which represents something a little better than one-fourth of the total electorate and one-third of those who recorded their votes.

Nearly 5,000,000 of the electors were not sufficiently interested in the contest to take the trouble to record their votes. Our municipal elections tell a still more dismal story of apathy.

How does the record compare with democracy in other lands? France is no better. Voting in America fluctuates according to the interest excited in the particular election. The Germans polled at their last election 89 per cent of their electorate. In Italy the percentage was much lower. With an unpolled and unvoted electorate of over 4,000,000 anything may happen. But one day an issue may arise which will make up the most lethargic. What will it be? Who will succeed in catching the eye of the slumbering multitude when it opens?

It Mitcham and Edgell are a forerunner, Labor will be the lucky third.

Conflicts that engage the minds of the electors chosen by four and a quarter million of British electors will vote on this proposal and if four years hence they add another million and a half to their poll they will be in a position to place their own stamp on the statute books. Their increase between 1918 and 1922 was greater than that.

Will Wake Up Lethargic. But one day an issue may arise which will wake up the most lethargic. What will it be? And what view will they take of it when it comes? And who will succeed in catching the eye of the slumbering multitude when it opens? Much depends on the answer to these questions. They may rally to the defence of property menaced by rapacious creeds. They may rush to the protection of their homes threatened by voracious wealth. Even those who have already voted are liable to sudden and devastating changes of opinion. Witness Mitcham, Willington and Edgell. These three seats were regarded as being amongst the safest in England, and were selected for that very reason.

Amongst many disquieting factors there is one which ought to be dealt with as another election arrives. Under the present system, a minority of electors may usurp absolute dominion over the fortunes of this kingdom for fully five years. This is one of the freaks of the group system. The present parliamentary majority has been elected by an aggregate vote which represents something a little better than one-fourth of the total electorate and one-third of those who recorded their votes. It Mitcham and Edgell are a forerunner, Labor will be the lucky third. A similar turnover of votes in every constituency would place them easily in that position.

America has brought its vast electorate under what is to be a perfect discipline. But in the process it has passed through much tribulation, including the furnace of a terrible civil war. It has been impelled to correct the working of the democratic institutions by a display of force. Britain has mobilized and drilled its electoral forces with less trouble. But it has a socialist party which has grown by millions within less than a decade—and it is still growing. Its most eloquent member proposed in the house of commons a solemn motion for the abolition of private property. Deb.

It was indicated, however, that there would be less weevil damage this year than in 1922. This prospect may be Friends, Politicians, Bootleggers!

By WILL ROGERS.

They pinched Washington's favorite Bootlegger last week, and he published all their names. That was the most publicity some of them had received all year. This list of names will be used as next season's social register.

I will say one thing for this Captain of our first industry. He had no political affiliations. He had an equal number of Democrats and Republicans on his list. The only one thing that predominated on his list was the Dry.

Well, all our Senators and Congressmen are away from Washington now. This is the season of the year when they do the least damage to their Country. They are scattering all over the Nation. Some are going to Europe, some to Alaska, some to Russia. A Senator or Congressman will go anywhere in the world to keep from going back home and facing his people after that last Congress.

Some are going to England. You see Ambassador Harvey is kinder behind with his Speech-making so they are going over to help him advise the rest of the world. Borah is going to Russia to speak. Is there no room for that troubled Country?

Denby, Secretary of the Navy, went down through the Canal again. When it's an off day and nothing else to do, why, Denby goes through the Canal. That's the only place our Secretary of the Navy can travel without getting seasick—back and forth through the Canal. I suppose the Secretary of War spends his spare time in a Shooting Gallery. Congressman Usher, of Georgia, who gained fame in the closing hours of Congress by not drinking in Public, is going out on a Prohibition Lecture Tour. That's one of the curses of drink, that a man full of liquor will listen to anything. So he is sure of a full house wherever he goes.

You know statistics have proven that listening to Prohibition Lectures has done more good to people to drink than any other cause. Volstead wanted to go out and talk, but his Amendment created such much interest, that the Lecture Managers decided that he wouldn't be known by the Chautauque crowd.

Dear old Uncle Joe Cannon just hopped out to Danville, got all the Main Street Shickers into a Poker Game, and wound up with a monger on the top. Popple, so you see, after all, a Man does learn something in Washington.

One of our most able Senators was back in my dressing room last night for quite a chat. That was Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi. He has such a good sense of humor that you would hardly take him for a Statesman. His other accomplice, John Sharp Williams, resigned. He was one of the most picturesque and learned men that Body ever housed.

I asked what he said when he left and they wanted to give him a big Blowout. He said, "No, I just want to put on my hat and go home, get up in the morning and tend to my Mint bed, and maybe mix me a few Juleps now and then."

Mr. Harding went south for a vacation. But I see where 5 Senators went with him. So that does away with any chance of a rest. If he invited them he certainly is a glutton for punishment. But the chances are they just went anyway.

They are all playing Golf. After all, our Government is not in such bad shape as some would have you think. While the Administration part of it is not up to normal, they say our Golf is improving every day. And after all, about all that there is to prominent men nowadays is their Golf. It has always been a mystery to me how our old time Men ever got even as good as they had with no Golf.

JUST IMAGINE IF LINCOLN HAD HAD GOLF TO ADD TO HIS OTHER ACCOMPLISHMENTS. THERE IS A BOY YOU WOULD HAVE HEARD OF.

Well, I see where my old friend Henry Ford give stockholders 4 Million that he was not obligated to do. First thing you know that Bird will prove a Theory that you can pay the highest wages, give everybody a square deal and still wind up by being the richest man in the World.

Young John D. pulled off a big deal, too, last week. He sent a Million Dollars worth of Tapestries back over to Europe and bought them there. So you see we have Bootleggers in Tapestries the same as in Booze. One of these was called the Chase of the Unicorn. It's been renamed; it's now called, "Dodging the Income Tax." I only cite these two incidents to show you how our two richest men operate yet both arrive at their colossal Fortunes.

Just an hour ago I got home from a Luncheon, (where I come from we would have called it dinner, and by the way, we would have had more to eat, too.) This was a meeting of the Child Adoption League, a very fine and worthy charity which is doing real good. Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson is the main one and she asked me to come and annoy with a speech. You know you all have read a lot of Mrs. Chas. Dana Gibson, one of the famous Langhorne Sister of Virginia, who is a sister to Mrs. Astor, the first Woman Member of the British Parliament.

When she wrote and asked me to come and I answered that I certainly would, as I wanted to see this Famous Beauty who was the original and the inspiration of the Famous Gibson Girl. She wrote back a very cute letter, "I am a Grand Mother now and am not Beautiful—but I am Nice." Well, say, I want to tell you, Ladies, she was not overrated one bit. You know they are the ones who entertained Mr. Clemenceau when he was here. I wanted to meet her and find out if all that Onion Soup for breakfast junk I had read about was on the level. Because we, over here, had always considered the Onion more as an odor than as a Breakfast Food. Well, she says the Soup thing was really correct, and that he was such a nice old Man that he could almost persuade you to eat it with him. Now he might appeal to her but there ain't no man living so nice that he is going to get me out of bed at 4 o'clock in the morning and get me to inhale a touzen of Onion Odor.

Mrs. Fiske and Laurette Taylor were there and spoke. Mrs. Fiske had adopted a Baby. Now that made a hit with me, and when I see her act now she will be twice as good an actress to me as she was before. Mr. Morganthau spoke. He used to be Ambassador to Turkey when the Democrats were speaking to the Turks. Turkey is so busy now with Wars they haven't got time to entertain an Ambassador. I went to this Child adoption thing thinking maybe if they run short of Children I could palm off a couple of my Little Rough Necks on some prospective Adopter. But a Child had to have references so that let me out.

Just imagine if Lincoln had had Golf to add to his other accomplishments! There is a boy you would have heard of.

Then I thought I will adopt one. But I found they look up your Mayflower History, Physical, Moral and Spiritual, and Financial record before they let out a Child. So, as my home would not stand too severe a test, I was stuck again. So the Luncheon was a Total loss to me, as I could neither get rid of or get any more Children.

But I did like Mrs. Gibson. She is just like some Ranchman's Wife out West. She is so plain and nice that some newly Rich Woman would consider her ordinary.

Yo, yes, there was a Woman convicted here in New York last week for killing a Man. These Women will learn after awhile that you can't go out and kill a Man you are not married too and get away with it.

If you see some man you want to shoot, why, marry him first. The law only protects a Man as far as the Altar. THEN IT'S EVERY DEVIL FOR HIMSELF. (Copyright, 1922, by The McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Wherever you see the Blue Bell there's a telephone line that ends in your home.

This Sign Means You're Near Home

When you see the sign of the Blue Bell, remember, you're near home. The actual distance—over rivers, mountains and deserts—may be miles or hundreds of miles; but the Blue Bell means a telephone—a cheerful corps of Long Distance operators—at your service, ready to transport your voice—yours.

How You May Send Your Voice Home

- Station to Station Calls—This service is quicker and costs less. Use it if you are willing to talk to anyone who answers the telephone at the number you call. Tell the operator you wish to place a station to station call and give her the number or the name and address under which it is listed in the directory. No charge is made unless the connection is completed. Evening Rate—Station to Station calls placed between 8:30 p. m. and midnight are half the day rate if this rate is 50c or more. Night Rate—Station to Station calls between midnight and 4:30 a. m., are one fourth the day rate, if the day rate is $1 or more. Person to Person Calls—Use this service if you wish to be connected with a particular person. It costs about one-fourth more than Station to Station day service. Under certain conditions a small charge is made for reports rendered on these calls.

Ask the Long Distance operator for sample rates to points in which you are interested.

FIVE PER CENT TAX TO SUPPORT COUNTY LIBRARY IS URGED

REPRESENTATIVES OF TOWNS HOLD MEETING SATURDAY MORNING.

OTHER TOWNS READY TO PROVIDE SPACE

Believe Tax Can Be Diminished After Brackets Have Been Started Going.

A five per cent tax on the maximum allowed under the state laws would be a sufficient amount to start off the library.

The proposition apparently has met with the unanimous approval of all those concerned in the matter.

It was expressed at the meeting Saturday that the five per cent tax would be sufficient for the first and that in all probability it could be reduced within five years.

At present a three cent tax is levied on resident property owners of Wichita Falls.

PLANS FOR SHRINE CIRCUS ARE SHAPING UP RAPIDLY, WILL SURPASS LAST YEAR'S

King Tut's Name Worth $150,000, Dealer Alleges

NEW YORK, March 24.—The suit to use King Tutankhamen's name as a trade mark for dresses is worth $150,000, it was contended yesterday by the complainants in a suit to restrain a competing company from using the Egyptian Pharaoh's name on their products.

"It's pretty hard to get much information about the forthcoming Shrine Temple Shrine circus as to what is going to take place, but sufficient to say at this time, the circus, on a bigger scale than ever, will take place during the week beginning Monday, April 23, and ending Saturday night, April 28, and there won't be a moment of idleness on the part of anyone, not a dull moment," says a Maskat Temple announcement, which adds: "Fun every minute, something interesting for all. All objectionable features will be eliminated, and good wholesome innocent fun for all is promised."

Jones, head bally-hoo man; Harry Bray, chairman collecting; W. J. Stewart, head of the sale committee, and a lot of other good fellows who make things hum."

CLEAN-UP time's here again! Illustration of people cleaning up.

OLD Mother Nature is in the midst of her annual rejuvenation. She's cast aside the dull drab of winter and is garbing herself in the green and white and pink of spring.

At this time most of us get a longing, want-to-get-outdoors feeling. Let's take advantage of this and get out and rake up the yard, spade the garden, plant garden, flower, and grass seeds, and do the little odd jobs of fixing up and painting that are necessary to keep our premises in tune with nature's mood.

Make It a Pleasure With the right tools this work becomes a real pleasure. But a wobbly wheelbarrow, a hoe with a loose handle, or a lawn mower that must be continuously adjusted robs you of the enjoyment you naturally would take in "fixin' up."

NEW COLD STORAGE PLANT PLANNED BY PRODUCE COMPANY

The Wichita Produce Company began work last week on the installing of a new cold storage plant at their location on Ohio avenue.

The new plant will cover a space of about 25,000 feet and is being installed at a cost of nearly $50,000, according to statement made by George Keith.

The system being installed is the Moose Cold Storage system and is new in this country. Mr. Keith declared. It is the last word in cold storage, he said, and one of the most modern buildings in the United States has just been completed by the same produce company in Abilene. The local plant is being modernized after the same plan as it is completed the same system will be installed in the parent produce house in Fort Worth, according to Mr. Keith.

Mr. Keith said that the feature of the new plant is a ventilating fresh air system which makes it possible to keep fresh vegetables and fruits in good condition for a much longer period than is possible with the usual cold storage system. It has been demonstrated that vegetables and fruits require fresh air just as people need it to breathe and the system was solved as a result of this discovery, according to Mr. Keith.

The plant will be complete in about 60 days and Mr. Keith declared that at that time he expects to have open house and extend an invitation to the public to inspect the new system.

RESERVES RULING IN HABEAS CORPUS UNTIL MONDAY A. M.

Upon conclusion of the evidence in the habeas corpus hearing of A. Luecke, who is being held in the county jail without bail bond on a statutory charge, Judge Martin of the 89th district court announced that he would take the matter under advisement and would announce his ruling Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

The defendant's eleven-year-old daughter again took the stand and told the same story substantially as she told at the preliminary hearing held last Tuesday morning before Justice of the Peace O. L. Gibbs.

The defendant also took the stand and again branded the story of his daughter as a "frame up" and assigned as a motive the fact that the girl had been wanting to leave his house and live with her grandmother, since the death of the little girl's mother on the last day of December last year.

The defendant also introduced several character witnesses who testified as to his reputation for truth and veracity in the community in which he resided.

WILL FINISH ON IOWA PARK ROAD NORTH THIS WEEK

Completion of the work of graveling the eight miles of road north of Iowa Park will be seen during the coming week, according to J. M. Isbell, county engineer who stated Saturday that only a few finishing touches were needed to call it a completed job.

This will give Iowa Park fifteen miles of completed gravel road. The seven miles to the river bridge south of town were completed a month ago and have been open for that length of time to traffic. The construction company which is engaged in graveling approximately six miles more south of the river bridge, says that the M. A. fields has completed a mile and a quarter of road. Work began on the far end and is proceeding towards the river bridge.

William Rip the Artist
Of international reputation who recently died leaving a collection of pictures that make up his biography and tell a story of his wonderful ability as a painter.

He won a silver medal 50 years ago in competition with the great European artists and many other prizes and medals since that time. Four of his canvases are hanging in the Royal Palace of Queen Wilhelmina. The picture by Rip on display at the Decorators Company is a remarkable symphony in gray that appeals to most every lover of the great out of doors. The sky is gray, the water gray, but the moment you look at it there is a feeling of appreciation that only a great artist can command.—Adv.

Just Like a Man

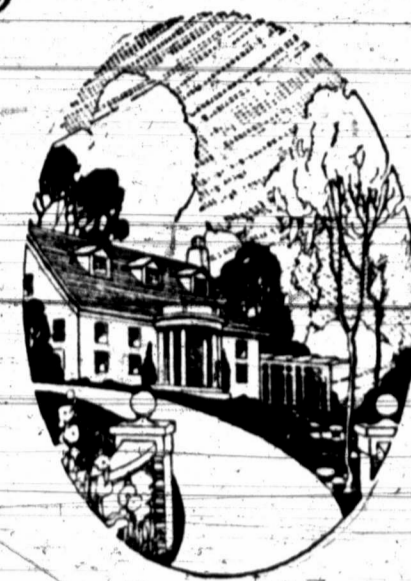

"My husband suffered for several years with stomach trouble. He often had colic attacks that put him to bed. But a man can stand the pain that a woman can. He thought he was going to die and the doctors didn't seem to help him any. I tried a drowning man's remedy for a while, but it didn't do any good. Then I tried Dr. Williams' Wonderful Remedy, which a nurse told us about, and now he is entirely well and eats anything. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will restore or money refunded. Mack Taylor and drugists everywhere.—adv.

McADOO, FORD AND UNDERWOOD IN DEMOCRATIC LIMELIGHT

HENRY FORD IS CREDITED WITH HAVING AROUSED THE GREATEST AMOUNT OF GENERAL INTEREST

By MARK SULLIVAN
(Copyright, 1923, New York Tribune, Inc.)

There are three men in behalf of whom active and organized work is being done for the democratic nomination for the presidency. They are McAdoo, Ford and Underwood. Of the three, the one that gets the largest amount of popular support is Henry Ford. The support of the kind that politicians call "grass roots" strength is Ford. No one who aims to reflect current political events in the United States with any accuracy can fail to set down the fact that in widely separated parts of the United States there is lively and constantly increasing talk of Ford for the presidential nomination. The writer has already mentioned this phenomenon as occurring in the Middle West and the eastern part of the south. The latest community in which this talk of Ford has come to the attention of the writer is one of the most orthodox democratic communities in the country, the state of Mississippi. For that matter, it is useless to particularize states or communities. Every politician who comes to Washington from farming districts or from states in which farmers and residents of small towns compose the bulk of the population, reports that about the only democrats as to whom there is real discussion in the country are Ford and Underwood, and that there is more of it about Ford than about McAdoo.

To the extent that this Ford talk goes, it is all among the people and not among the politicians. So far as the writer knows, there are no national or state democratic leaders with possibly one exception—who is Ford. This, however, is not a criticism that to some extent automatically corrects itself. In almost any community, when the talk among the people reaches a certain volume, the local leaders are compelled to reflect it. Also, whenever any movement reaches the momentum which Henry Ford talk may readily reach within the coming year, there is not wanting political leaders ready to take advantage of it, ready to jump to the front as the first "Ford for President" leaders in their communities, and hoping to profit by this activity in the event that things turn out favorably.

In spite of this, however, the best judgment would say that the idea of nominating Henry Ford is and will continue to be anathema to practically every important democratic leader in the country, and that if Ford is ever named, it will be a serious approach toward the democratic nomination, it can come about only through an expression of popular feeling so formidable that it is not now possible to predict it as probable. Indeed, the greater probability is that Ford at the convention and even in the contingency that he should throw himself and his resources unreservedly into a campaign for the nomination, cannot possibly enter the democratic convention with more than a third of the 108 delegates who will compose the convention. It might readily turn out that the number of his actual delegates would be nearer 500 than 400. It is also the greater probability that the seasoned political leaders who will dominate the convention and for the most part compose it will be able to keep Ford from getting the prize. It must always be remembered that there is no rule in democratic conventions which make it necessary for a nominee to get two-thirds of the whole number in order to win. This is the same as saying that one-third of the entire number of delegates, if they are held together under able leadership, are well able to exercise a veto on the nomination of any one man. Incidentally, this is a condition which is going to work to the disadvantage of McAdoo as well as of Ford, although it will be a more serious handicap to Ford than to McAdoo.

One of the things which the more orthodox democratic leaders will be sore to look into is the question whether Ford really is a democrat or not. Ford himself probably doesn't care much. Also, probably many of the Ford fanatics among the people don't care much. But there is always a section of every party who regard orthodox of theory and practice as a serious matter, and this group is large enough to make an appeal to its prejudices effective. Nobody seems to know, and a good many of the democratic leaders would like to know, just how Ford has voted in the two presidential elections that have been held since he was twenty-one. Some who have already been looking into it report that Ford's wife and son seem to have decidedly republican leanings and a tendency to prefer that if Ford is to take any part in national politics, it should be as a republican rather than as a democrat. However, the politician realizes perfectly well that Ford is an individual a person, one so given to going his own way, to "thinking across lines" as he once expressed it, that he doesn't pay much attention to party lines. In fact, the politicians, feeling this way about Ford's idiosyncrasies, number among their apprehensions the fear that he may run in the primaries of both parties and figure in both conventions. One of these leaders, surveying the possible future contingencies, says that Ford may first go into the republican convention, make a showing there and gather up a certain amount of republican following, which following, by a familiar law of human psychology, would tend to stay with him all the more closely through his subsequent fortunes. The next step in this supposition would be for Ford to go into the democratic convention. If he should again fail in the democratic convention, the assumption is that he might organize and lead a third party and carry both his republican and democratic followings into it. All-in-all, the activities in Ford's behalf and the apprehensions about things that Ford himself may do, if he should personally throw his energy and his resources into the situation, require a good deal of the politicians' thought.

In addition to the familiar reasons for interest in Ford, his making of a useful and familiar article at an astonishingly low price, his reputation for paying higher wages to his workers than do his competitors, his experience as the successful operator of a railroad which no one else could make profitable (although railroad men knew he was able to do this by conducting his own traffic on his own road), and his occasional pungent utterances about various public matters, a recent Muskie Shoals trial is not the place for any sufficient statement of facts to show whether congress and the government have done wisely or unwisely in refusing to so far, let Ford have Muskie Shoals. The writer has seen a curious story about this episode of Ford and Muskie Shoals. It is to the effect that the offer which Ford made to the government is really a better offer than he ought to have made, and that from the purely business point of view he would now be relieved clear to everybody in Washington, it is equally clear to them, however, that this improvement is not likely to go to the length which would make him available as the candidate next year. In spite of this lack of availability as the actual candidate, Wilson will probably be the most potent single figure in the situation next year. He may or may not take a hand in the selection of the candidate. That he will be urged to do so is certain. In the volume of letters that Wilson is always receiving there are repeatedly ones from party leaders in distant states who say that they will do nothing and make no commitment to any candidate until they have had a chance to come to Washington and talk with Wilson. Even if Wilson should refrain, as he refrained in 1920, from attempting to influence the nomination, "by so much as the raising of a finger," as he expressed it, it is a reasonable prediction that he may have a good deal to do with the making of the platform. Even when Wilson's health was less favorable than it now is, he maintained a keen interest in party politics and took active part in the action on the constantly improving health he is expected to be even more active in this regard. And it must be remembered that any action on the part of Wilson in the determination of party policy—in the making of the platform—would inevitably have a collateral effect on the choice of the candidate. If Wilson, preceding the convention, should write in public letters setting out his ideas as to what the platform should be, the effect of that letter would be to cut the cloth of the suit which a candidate must wear.

Whereas Democrats come together there is gossip of the most glib and gossip on that subject never ends without taking in the name of John W. Davis, who was ambassador to Great Britain during the last two years of the Wilson administration. In all such conversations there is general assent to the fact that Davis would make an ideal candidate. The elevation of his mind, the dignity of his personality, his capacity for agreeable and forceful statement, his integrity and his all-around ability are universally conceded. But there is always a "but." In 1920, when there was a prolonged strain between the leading candidates in the convention, and when Davis' name was brought seriously forward as the solution, the objection made to him was that the mere fact of his being ambassador to Great Britain was a handicap in the sense that it might alienate the Irish vote. At that time the Irish question was at its most acute stage, when the whole of Ireland was being freed by Great Britain, the Irish question, not only as it affected Mr. Davis then, but in the widest sense, has happily ceased largely to be the factor in American politics that it used to be. The present objection raised to Mr. Davis among these who think of politics in probably too severely practical terms is that he is now what they call a "Wall Street lawyer," with great wealth and a large bank account, and that he is a fact that Mr. Davis, like every other man who fills the office of Ambassador to Great Britain, was unable to live within his salary, and that in the course of his term he not only exhausted his savings, but actually had to borrow. It was to meet this situation and to try to accumulate a competence that Mr. Davis went to the practice of law in New York. Politicians say that if, instead of doing this, he had returned to his native state of West Virginia and laid out a course with an eye to the political future, he would surely be the candidate next year. When you hear this talk of Mr. Davis being disqualified by his present work and associations, you feel like hoping that some leader or leaders might arise in the Democratic party—who would have the forthrightness and courage to dismiss mere appearances in favor of facts. Of all the men who bring forward Mr. Davis' present work as a disqualification for his nomination there is not one but admits that Mr. Davis as a president would not be affected in the faintest degree by his former associations as a lawyer. They admit that this so-called disqualification is not a real disqualification—defence to a prejudice. It is the sort of thing that can be completely dispelled by a candid and forceful campaign of education about the true facts of Mr. Davis' character and personality. So far, however, the sort of leaders who are likely to enter the next nomination are men who prefer to defer to a prejudice rather than to face it and dispel it, with facts and dispassionate

One of the men who will figure in the Democratic situation next year and who will come as near as other to being the beneficiary of any leadership that may arise, in the convention, is Senator Robinson, the new Democratic leader in the senate. The equipment of personality and ability is equal to that of any other man so far mentioned and superior to some. As leader of his party in the senate he will have an opportunity to become well known to the public. The session of the senate which begins next December will be the forum in which the issues of the campaign will be developed. By the prominence in which necessarily he will have in the debates, Senator Robinson has the opportunity to impress himself on his party associates and on the public in a most advantageous way. Further than this, Senator Robinson has one of those accidental advantages which frequently weigh much in political conventions. He was the presiding officer of the 1920 convention. This is one of the most trying and difficult tasks in American public life, and the manner in which Senator Robinson performed it won him not only approval but enthusiastic praise. In this role he stood day after day in action before the eyes of the several thousand delegates and leaders in the hall. This experience is a decided asset. The men who were the delegates in 1920 with to a large degree, he delegates in 1924 also. In any one of those years which occasionally arise it is easily possible for a convention to turn with swift suddenness to some man who has figured favorably in the personal knowledge of many of them. This advantage which Senator Robinson will have in 1924 is one that Harding had in 1920. Harding had been the presiding officer of the 1916 Republican convention, and as such had impressed himself on the knowledge of the party leaders in a way that made it easy for them to turn to him in the situation that arose in the 1920 convention.

URGES FAKE OIL STOCK PROMOTER BE ELIMINATED

SHREVEPORT, La., March 24.—Asking the American Association of Petroleum Geologists and its individual members to do all in their power to combat the pernicious activities of the fake oil stock promoter, J. Edgar Few of Tulsa, Okla., delivered a stirring attack on this class of "snake-oil" salesmen at Saturday morning's session of the association which closed its eighth annual and most successful convention here tonight.

Mr. Few, who is a past president and general manager of the production department of the Sun Oil Company, showed how the promoter operates and by lurid advertising and extravagant promises of dividends which seldom materialize and exaggerated claims as to the value of his company's leases, location, etc., lures the gullible public to part from the hard earned cash.

Ninety per cent of the money paid for stock in such promotion is lost. The promoter comes from a class of people least able to stand the inevitable financial loss in such investments.

The oil industry as a whole and the legitimate enterprise engaged in it suffers more from the fake oil stock promoter, he declared, than from all other causes combined. "And any one who can stop this thieving will be a world benefactor and will do the oil business a favor the value of which is difficult to estimate."

EXPECT MUNICIPAL CAMPAIGN TO WARM UP THIS WEEK, ALL OF CANDIDATES ACTIVE

Municipal politics rather quiet so far, is expected to warm up somewhat during the nine days remaining before the city election, April 2. Up to this time, the campaign has been a quiet one, but it is usually the case in Wichita Falls elections that the final week sees more activity displayed.

Chief interest is manifested in the police commissioner's race, which is admittedly between J. T. Young and J. B. Fitts, incumbent. Both have been hard at work. The eight-candidate race for park and sanitary commissioner, also, has apparently so many personalities involved that the public is postponing decision.

The school board contest, also rather quiet so far, is expected to come more into public notice before the election, the number of candidates is unusually large this time.

Some of the municipal candidates were reported Saturday to be planning speaking engagements at various points over the city, but no definite plans of that nature were announced.

COOLING TOWER IS BEING INSTALLED AT HOLIDAY CREAMERY

Work has been started on the installation of a cooling tower to be used in connection with the Holiday Creamery on Austin street.

A milk condenser was added to the equipment of the creamery last year and the addition of the cooling tower will make it possible for the factory to use all local milk in the manufacture of ice cream for the coming season, D. J. Carithers, manager of the creamery, stated Saturday.

The installation of the tower will be completed in about thirty days, Mr. Carithers said.

A Montreal man can lift 520 pounds. That is two kegs or 520 pounds.

Rutro seems to think peace will take French leave.

INJUNCTION PROHIBITS JUDGE INTERFERING IN BANK CASE AT HOUSTON

AUSTIN, March 24.—An injunction prohibiting Judge J. D. Harvey of the 50th judicial district court at Houston from holding further hearings or undertaking to render further decision in the case of the state prison board against the Houston Eye National bank was issued by the supreme court today on application of the state.

The case involves a $112,000 note on the school board for the purchase of the Fort Bend cotton oil mill.

The state's application for writ of error filed in the court of civil appeals at Galveston several days ago also was certified to the supreme court today. The effect of the court's injunction order is to prevent further proceedings in the case until decision is rendered on the state's application for writ of error.

The court's order commands Judge Harvey to "desist from hearing or undertaking to determine any proceedings whatsoever, based upon or for the enforcement of a certain judgment of said court." It is dated last May. The lower court ordered the prison commission to pay the note and sought injunction to prevent the commission from paying out other funds until the oil mill note had been met.

FORWARD MEMBER STAFF OF NAPOLEON IS DEAD

BROWNSVILLE, TEXAS, March 24.—Joseph Brande, former member of the military staff of Napoleon and an officer under Maximilian in the attempted conquest of Mexico, died here last night.

The former officer had resided here since 1917, escaping from Mexico after the execution of Maximilian. He conducted a shoe repair shop here for years. He was born in Austria in 1854.

HALF OF PEACHES SURVIVED FREEZE, TRUCK LOSS HEAVY

About 80 per cent of this section's peach crop was killed in the freezing weather of early last week, according to J. L. Downing, well known orchard man. Mr. Downing said Saturday that the freeze had cut the crop about half in two, and that the surviving portion was doing well.

Heavy damage was done in the irrigated district south of the city. Mr. Downing says, "The warm weather that preceded the freeze had brought truck to a point where it was very susceptible to the sudden change—in the weather, and practically everything that has come up will have to be replanted. It is thought."

The state's application for writ of error filed in the court of civil appeals at Galveston several days ago also was certified to the supreme court today. The effect of the court's injunction order is to prevent further proceedings in the case until decision is rendered on the state's application for writ of error.

Following the meeting of the class Sunday afternoon, the committee appointed to draw up the local regulations will meet to decide on several important matters. At a recent meeting of the chapter, officers were elected. George Howe assumed the place of master counselor. Hospital Patient Has Mania for Spoons and Other Metal Food and Tries to Swallow Doctor's Watch

PARSONS, KAN., March 24.—John A. Malgrene, patient at the local hospital for epileptics, continued his mania for metal food today and attempted to swallow a watch.

Dr. J. T. Naramore, attending physician, said Malgrene made an attempt to take his watch as he was coming to his room. The doctor was not permitted to touch an article of silverware during his meals.

Commenting on his patient's mania for eating spoons and keys, Dr. Naramore said the case was the most unusual in his memory. Malgrene has a ravenous appetite and while he is eating, his desire for silverware appears to vanish. When he is told he cannot have more food, he invariably begins reaching for the silverware on his tray.

According to Dr. Naramore, it may not be necessary to operate on Malgrene for the removal of a key which he swallowed yesterday, for some time.

"He lived several months with 23 spoons in his stomach," the physician said, "and I don't think a small door key will cause him any trouble, at least until he is strong enough to undergo another operation."

The competitive drills will be held in the athletic stadium. There will be a church service at the First Baptist church, and entertainment for visiting ladies will take place at downtown hotels.

The most prominent visitor will be no less than Leonidas P. Newby, most eminent grand commander of the grand encampment, United States of America, who is making Texas one of three conclaves he will officially visit this year.

It is announced that in connection with his formal visit to the Texas grand lodge, Grand Commander Newby will deliver two public addresses on the Masonic Play, the Holy Land and some of the several other lectures he has delivered throughout the United States, based on his wide study and travel.

Other prominent visitors are to include the national chairman of the committee on temple instruction, Col. H. H. Hamilton of Newton, Kans., and Right Eminent Sir Jennings of Chicago.

Register at Scottish Rite. Instructions to visiting knights begin with the information that immediately upon arrival in Dallas, they are to register at the Scottish Rite cathedral, Harwood and Cabell streets, where all formal sessions of the grand commandery will be held.

The official program calls for assembly at all commanderies at the Scottish Rite cathedral at 8:30 a. m. on April 3, the first day of the conclave, in preparation for the parade which is scheduled to start at 9:45 o'clock. REPORTED SPIRITS SHOW IN PICTURES TAKEN AT FUNERAL

LOS ANGELES, March 24—Photographic points from a plate made yesterday at the funeral of Mrs. Mary Fairchild McVicker, associate pastor of the Central Spiritualist Church, showed three distinct oval resembling human faces, according to O. H. Monroe, who made the prints. In the lower part of the picture there are also several faint impressions said to have some resemblance of faces.

Before her death, Mrs. McVicker requested a photographer be at her funeral to take pictures of her casket and she would cause her spirit form to record itself on the camera plate.

Accordingly at the First Spiritualist Church, where the funeral was conducted, the photographer made two exposures.

A third exposure was attempted but was prevented by the ending of the services. The plate was taken to the Monroe studio and developed.

The process was carried on very slowly, with a weak developing solution to bring out every detail in the picture. One plate was spoiled in developing when the remaining plate was examined late yesterday while still wet from the developing tank it showed evidence of spirit form, according to announcement made by Mrs. McVicker's coadjutors.

The plate was allowed to dry last night and the prints were made late today.

Mrs. Mary C. Vasek, pastor of the First Spiritualist Church, after examining the prints declared that she could identify the three forms. The upper one, she said, was Mrs. McVicker, kneeling down at her casket in the cabinet.

The other two, according to the pastor, are her father, Mr. McVicker and Dr. James Martin Boehler, a spiritualist who died here last year.

Other spiritualists have identified the other two ovals as being likenesses of a friend, A. J. Davis, dead several years, and Mrs. McVicker's husband, who has been dead a year.

BUGABOO OF RADIO TUNED OUT AND NEW ERA NOW AT HAND

CONFERENCE SUBMITS RECOMMENDATION TO SECRETARY HOOPER. PROVIDES FOR RELEASE OF NEW WAVE LENGTHS

Creates Broad Zone of Wave Bands to Be Divided Between Stations.

WASHINGTON, March 24—The bugaboo of the radio broadcasting interference has been tuned out by the second national radio conference and a new radio era is at hand, it was announced at the department of commerce today.

Recommendations submitted by the conference to Secretary Hoover after a week of deliberations for a new allocation of wave lengths between broadcasting stations, eliminating the actual classes hitherto.

The successful efforts of the conference to bring out of the "bugaboo" of the government of a large number of wave lengths hitherto set aside for its exclusive use, a field extending from 211 meters to present set aside for the use of 885 broadcasting stations regardless of their power, the conference has created a broad zone of wave bands which is to be divided between high power continuously operated stations and stations of lesser importance.

Announcing the results of its work, the conference today recommended that the government should concentrate on three wave lengths, 260, 400 and 445 meters. Now a new field extending from 211 meters to 250 meters can be created for the purpose. The higher power class 'A' stations corresponding to the present class 'B' stations use the wave lengths between 238 meters and 312 meters, while lower powered stations (group class 'C' stations) can use the waves from 227 to 250.

AMUSEMENT CALENDAR FOR WEEK AT LOCAL THEATERS

'Mad Love' Here With Pola Negri Strand Theater

STRAND STARTING ON THURSDAY

Pola Negri, queen of emotional actresses, in some of her varying moods in "Mad Love."

"Mad Love," the new Goldwyn picture starring the Polish screen beauty, Pola Negri, which comes to the Strand theater on Thursday, for three days, is something out of the beaten path in motion pictures. The story is that of a fascinating, almost-woman, desired of all men who see her. It is not a historical character as has been most of her screen impersonations of the past, but a modern woman, brimful of feminine appeal and the charms and graces that prove irresistible to mere men.

The story is an original one written especially to exploit Pola Negri's genius in playing the hot-house type of womanhood—a woman who, for there is something in Pola Negri herself, something of the dark beauty and the mysterious appeal of the ancient Egyptian of the Nile who was Mark Antony's undoing. Then the character of Sappho, who is the actress who plays "Mad Love," carries the analogy several degrees further, for Sappho is of that sisterhood to which Cleopatra belonged by the strict if not by name.

Sappho has been made loved by Andreas de Vries, the actor who plays her. He is the one who carries the analogy several degrees further, for Sappho is of that sisterhood to which Cleopatra belonged by the strict if not by name.

Battle of Sexes Picture Theme at Empress Theater

The eternal battle of the sexes, raging from the very dawn of the human race, is the theme of Daniel Goodmann's powerful dramatic and prophetic philosophy, "What's Wrong With the Women," which opens its engagement three days at the Empress Thursday.

Woman, according to the view of Mr. Goodmann, long noted as a writer and producer of plays for the stage and screen, has realized that if she is to hold her own in this, one of life's greatest battles—the battle of her own sex—she must borrow from the weapons of experience.

That is why, Mr. Goodmann shows in bold and powerful strokes, she does not slink the vulgar pot, the powder puff, the pencil, the art of the manurist and the subtlety of the dress-maker.

Mr. Goodmann employs real characters of flesh and blood to tell his amazing story on the screen but he goes far beyond mere individuals. He treats the theme as a manly human canvas—a world problem for the answer to which great men have been vainly groping for centuries.

Traditions Upset In Production of 'The White Flower'

How modern motion picture producers upset all traditions and go to almost unbelievable lengths to get results, has been exemplified in the production of "The White Flower," a Paramount picture written and directed by Julia Crawford Ivers, and made almost entirely in the Hawaiian Islands, and which comes to the Olympic Monday to Wednesday.

Not only was it necessary to transport the island a vast amount of paraphernalia, including camera equipment, properties, costumes, and of course, but it was also found that once on the location, the company had to be self-sustaining, as it were. There was no nearby city which could supply needed equipment. Much had to be made while there. Honolulu is not equipped to provide the necessary adjuncts and whatever had been overlooked when the big shipment was made, had to be manufactured.

Many Difficulties Overcome
The obtaining of scenes, for example, in the crater of the volcano, upon the steep heights of the Paia, in the tropic tangles of undergrowth, in pineapple plantations, in the ocean, and everywhere that seemed to provide a favorable and typical background, required the services of ingenuity and the employment of more than the usual amount of "nerves."

The fact that "The White Flower" was written and directed by a woman, Ivers, adds to the interest in this picture for Mrs. Ivers has proved time and again that she yields the palm to no man's macho without a misgiving. Working with rain and wind, thunder and lightning, storm and stress, she held in tropic sunlight and were soaked in tropical rain.

When Pale, native god of the volcano, tossed up tons of lava over the Hawaiian landscape many years ago, she probably didn't realize that she would be doing the present day motion picture a large favor.

But she did just the same, as the Paramount laboratory staff will testify. For that same lava serves as a filter for the water supply of Honolulu. And the water there is ideal for the development and printing of motion pictures.

According to film experts, the water in passing through the lava formation picks up a certain quantity of mineral elements which aid materially in the laboratory work. It required some experimentation before the results were satisfactory but in the end better work was turned out in Honolulu than is possible in California, thanks to the unique properties of the water used in developing solutions.

In this bungalow tanks, driers, dark room and a printing machine were installed and all of the work finished there. Because of the humidity of the weather it was necessary to install a cooling system of ice and fans to reduce the humidity ten degrees.

J. G. Hardin of Burkburnett, One of State's Richest Men, Once Made Home in Dugout

BURKBURNETT, March 14.—J. G. Hardin, pioneer of Wichita County, and now one of its wealthiest citizens, recently donated to the city of Burkburnett to be ultimately used as a site for a city hospital his old homestead valued at more than $50,000. The property is located in the southern part of the city and is an ideal location for the institution and has been continuously occupied by the donor since the year 1878.

Mr. Hardin was born in Tipper County, Miss., August 26, 1854, and when he was three years old his parents moved to Iyer County, Tenn., where young Hardin attended the public schools; attaining his majority he made his way to Texas and settled in Johnson County, a few miles east of Cleburne in what was known as the Sand Flat neighborhood. Here he met and married his first wife, Cordelia Adams and of this union two children were born who died in their infancy.

In the year 1875, Mr. Hardin having lost his wife, he moved and settled on the homestead which he has donated to the city of Burkburnett. At that time Wichita County was unorganized and attached to Clay County for judicial purposes. His first investment, which was the foundation and upon which was built a great fortune, was made in the purchase of the old homestead containing 100 acres of land at $100 per acre. In order to make the deal $10 was borrowed from a brother-in-law, S. P. Hawkins, who at that time lived in Henrietta. Mr. Hardin states that at the time of the purchase, Wichita County was in a state of desolation. Cattle and cowboys roamed the fertile prairies which were now dotted with oil derricks, farms and towns and no more production. This was a time, he states, far in advance of the well known Burkburnett's advent. In this section of the country, Burkburnett, came several years later and acquired many thousand acres of land in and around the site where the city of Burkburnett now stands and this land was used for the grazing of great herds of cattle, owned by the cattle king.

Mr. Hardin had no money with which to make necessary improvements and was compelled by dire necessity to construct a crude dugout in which he and his present wife resided for several years. Shortly after locating on the old homestead Mr. Hardin married Molly C. Funk, there being born one child which died in infancy; this resulted in leaving him childless and this later caused the adoption of three children who were raised and educated by Mr. Hardin. One of the children, Owen L. Clark, one of the children adopted, now resides three miles southwest of Burkburnett. E. M. Hardin, another resident at Moore, Okla., and Edna Hardin, constituting the trio, is deceased. The three adopted children were given by their benefactor 1,500 acres of land near Burkburnett which has since become very valuable property except of the discovery of oil underneath its soil.

Some of the donations made by Mr. Hardin during the past three years are as follows: Burkburnett Home, $5 acres of land valued at the time of the gift at $150,000; gifts of $1,000 in cash to each of his brothers and sisters and their children amounting to $10,000; to Reynolds' Presbyterian Orphanage, Albany, Texas, land valued at $1,000; to Salvation Army, Burkburnett, land valued at $1,000; to Dixon's Colored Orphanage, $450 cash and many other small donations which would amount to several thousand dollars. Several worthy young men and women are at present being schooled out of the generosity of Mr. Hardin's contributions.

Mr. Hardin's income report for the year 1919 made to the government was one of the largest made by any individual in Wichita County and showed him due the government after all deductions had been made the sum of $52,000. He has recently erected a new home situated about one mile southeast of the old homestead where he now resides. There is nothing about the house that would indicate wealth or splendor. Just a neat, substantial bungalow that, from appearance, would be inhabited by a person of limited means and simple taste. There are no electric lights or other city conveniences. The owner, who can count his wealth in the thousands, is content to live in the future as he has lived in the past, minus the pomp and splendor that usually goes with wealth easily acquired.

TAKING OF TESTIMONY LAST HALF OF WEEK

Carter Is Charged With Killing
George Halyard With a Wagon Spoke.

QUANAH, TEXAS, March 14.—The case of J. C. Carter, charged in indictment with the murder of George Halyard of Childress county, is the feature attraction at the court house this week. The case is being tried in Hardeman county on a change of venue from Childress. A special venire of 25 men was used in the selection of the jury, and 15 additional men were used before the jury was finally selected. The jury is composed of the following: the names appearing as they were selected: J. M. Phillips, A. B. Houtzack, A. E. Eubank, J. A. Childers, J. A. Branden, J. R. Wilson, W. T. Stephenson, G. W. Jones, W. L. Thomas, J. A. Thompson, Bob Reed, R. Steffer.

It is alleged that J. C. Carter on August 27, 1921, killed George Halyard with a wagon spoke. Carter is represented by Judge A. J. Piers of Childress and Marshall and Perkins of Quanah, while District Attorney Nicholson is assisted by C. Y. Welch. The taking of testimony was begun Wednesday afternoon and continued throughout Thursday.

District Court Dispositions.
The following cases have been handled by the district court this week: Joe Graham, murder, case dismissed because defendant has been adjudged insane and is now in an insane asylum; C. V. Sharpe, theft of auto, convicted and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary; Bob Craig, theft and burglary, burglary dismissed, pleaded guilty to theft and sentenced to 60 days in jail.

Regulars Quite Numerous.
A burglar or burglars was unusually busy Wednesday night, leaving out in a full night of it, judging from the results seen Thursday morning. The office of Wm. Cameron & Co. was burglarized. Hall & Phillips' feed store was also entered by marauders, and the office of the Quanah Mill and Elevator Company was burglarized. The safe at Wm. Cameron & Co. was opened but nothing was taken, and an attempt was made to gain admittance to the safe of the mill. Some confusion was noted in all three of the places, but nothing was missing anywhere, it was stated.

Burglars Friday night entered the warehouse of James McCord & Co. and removed several articles. It was stated that J. L. Hines of the Farmers' Coal and Grain Co. also reports someone having entered his store the other night.

Buster to Speak.
J. D. Buster of Sherman will be the principal speaker at the laymen's banquet to be held April 2 by the men of the First Baptist Church. Mr. Buster is a lawyer and a layman of wide reputation, and the announcement that he is to deliver the principal address here at that time accentuates the already big plans now being made.

Mrs. Frances E. Bone, county superintendent of Hardeman county, has been asked to serve as judge in the interscholastic events in the meet to be held in Wichita county April 6-7. The meet is to be held at Iowa Park, and is one of the biggest to be held in this section.

Work of pouring concrete for the foundation of the new high school building is now well advanced, and a large force of men is being kept busy at the scene of operations. The foundation furnishes observers with something of an idea of the dimensions of the building, which will have a larger ground space than any other local structure.

Three hoists are used in pouring the concrete, and the mixing crew is kept busy supplying enough concrete for the operations.

CARPENTER DESCRIBES COUNTRY WHERE TENANT IS KING

TELLS HOW REPUBLIC GERMANY HAS CONFISCATED REAL ESTATE; BUILDINGS SOLD FOR OLD BRICKS

Five-Room Apartments at Two Cents a Week and Good Business Stands at One Dollar and Twenty-Five Cents per Month—A Rent Talk With a Typist—Sad Fate of Property Owners—Some Hard Luck Stories—How Uncle Sam Lost an Embassy and How Foreigners are Buying Up Germany—A Warning to Investors.

CARPENTER'S WORLD TRAVELS
(Copyright, 1922, by Carpenter's World Travels.)

BERLIN, GERMANY. What rent are you paying for the home where you live? I mean your house, apartment or lodging of one or more rooms? I want the figures to show you what you would pay if you lived here in Germany.

Suppose you have only a room or a small apartment and your rent is thirty dollars a month. If you lived here in Berlin you might have the same quarters for less than six cents a year, but you would have the heat and light bills to pay.

Suppose your apartment consists of five or six rooms and you pay fifty dollars. Your rent here would be less than nine cents a month, and if you paid one hundred dollars it would be less than eight cents a month or a little over two dollars per annum.

But you may be a nabob with a whole house to yourself or a palatial apartment that rents for five or ten thousand dollars a year. Men with the same tastes as you are living in quite as good apartments and houses in the cities of Germany, and paying therefor only about eight to sixteen dollars for the term of twelve months.

I took tea this afternoon with a lady whose twelve-room apartment faces the Tiergarten on one of the most fashionable streets of Berlin. The house cost several hundred thousand dollars to build, and many of the rooms are twenty feet square. A similar apartment in a good location in Washington would cost five thousand dollars. A year in New York it might cost fifteen or twenty. Her rent is just eight dollars per annum or about seventy cents for each month.

Five-Room, One Cent a Week. I am dictating this to a typist. She has a comfortable five-room apartment with a kitchen and extra room for her servant. The rent for the apartment before the war was forty dollars a month and in any city in the United States it would bring at least ten dollars more. The typist tells me she is paying less than two cents a week, and she knows she is not alone. She had a fight with him the other day because he wanted to raise her twice cents per annum, and she came out victorious as supported by the law and her lease.

As I laugh she grows quite indignant at my sympathy for the owner of the property, saying that the rent is quite fair, for she has to pay her own heat and light bills, which raises her expense to six or seven dollars per month. She is especially warm about the heat question, saying that coal has so risen that her winter supply will cost forty dollars. I laugh again and she indignantly adds that the heat means about two million marks which is the annual income of many a small clerk in Berlin.

But think of you people in our big cities at home who are paying fifteen dollars and more for each ton of hard coal, and whose monthly rent for single quarters is fifty dollars and upwards. Instead of eight cents as here. The man who pays ten dollars a month rent in the United States is paying one hundred and twenty-five times as much as my typist is charged for her comfortable flat. She says I do not put the thing rightly, for the earnings of the people here are in marks and so small they cannot afford more. In the meantime I am wondering how the owner of the apartment building which by the way has 20 such flats, pays his taxes and living expenses out of his total receipts of less than sixteen dollars per year.

These are some of the conditions which have come as a result of the war and the socialistic government which took charge of the republic after the revolution of 1918. That government passed rent laws providing that no rent should be more than double the amount then existing, but that the tenants should pay for the light, heat, repairs and upkeep of the buildings. This was not so bad at that time, when the mark was somewhere near par, but it became ruinous as the currency fell, and now when one gets several hundreds marks for a cent it means the practical annihilation of the leased property while these rent laws prevail. From time to time the rate of multiplication for the rent has been increased, but this does not keep pace with the tobacco slide of the mark, and the gold value remains as they were. In the meantime, the tenant is king, and the landlord is practically his slave.

Real Estate in the Cities. These conditions obtain throughout every city and village of Germany, but they are especially hard in the cities. Take Berlin. It is INDIGESTION!!! STOMACH UPSET, ATE TOO MUCH. Instantly! Stop Gas, Sourness, Heartburn, Stomach Misery. Chew a few pleasant, harmless tablets of "Pape's Diapensin" and your distressed stomach will feel fine at once. Correct your digestion and ease your stomach for a few cents. Don't let your stomach keep you miserable! Druggists recommend it.

How Uncle Sam Lost an Embassy. The rent laws have caused an enormous fall in real estate prices. Big properties have been going begging. A short time ago our government was offered the mansion in which our ambassador lives for one-fiftieth of what it will sell for when Germany comes back to normal. The price was two thousand dollars, and our ambassador tells me it is easily worth a million or more. The building is large enough for the offices of the embassy and also the home of the ambassador. It is on the Wilhelmplatz in the very heart of the business and official center, within a pistol shot of the palace of the president and not far from Unter den Linden and the Reichstag. The state department has refused to give me the rent price but in normal times it would easily bring every year one-half the amount of the price which was asked for the property. As I understand the proposition, it was submitted to congress and a bill authorizing the purchase of the property was practically passed when some minor local matter intervened and it went by default.

Later the American embassy in Berlin, a property equally valuable, and built especially to suit the department, was offered for sale. The foolish policy of congress which is content to have our diplomats live and do business in the shabby quarters of Charlottenburg, one of the most important European capitals where it might have bought legations and embassies equal to those of other great nations for a song. The housing and official quarters of its diplomats are a disgrace to the United States, except where the diplomat is rich enough and generous enough to pay for a respectable office and home out of his own pocket.

Buying Up Germany. In the mean time many foreigners are taking advantage of these low real estate prices. The Americans, Dutch, Swedes, Swiss, English and Danes are purchasing homes or business buildings with a view to their own use or investment. Castles on the Rhine have been sold for one-tenth of their value. Only last week New York City real estate men sold a sum of less than one hundred dollars and for it bought a three-story building which before the war would have cost ten thousand dollars. The house was sold for a song. The housing officials has an apartment house which cost him sixty-five dollars. He took it with a mortgage of a million marks but that was about twenty dollars at the time of the purchase.

It was shown yesterday a small apartment house that cost ten thousand dollars to build and which has been sold for four hundred and seventy-five dollars. A large American trading company has recently bought one of the best business corners of this city at a price less than the cost of construction. The building contains sixty rooms and the company wants them all for its business. Forty of the rooms, however, are under lease made before the war. The tenants are paying in tenths of a cent where it should be dollars. The company has no means of getting these rooms as long as the existing rent laws continue.

Investors Beware. In this connection any one thinking of making a profit in Germany, either in real estate, in industrial, or in securities of any description should look into the laws relating to each investment before he puts in his money. The German government and business men have a method of controlling certain institutions by legal enactments through what are known as plural voting shares. These can be held by Germans only, and although only a small number may be issued they may regulate the sale and management of the institution. A single share may be worth ten or twenty times as much as the others, and a few small German investors may be able to control the machine. The laws as to the eviction of tenants are such that after buying a property one may not be able to evict the old tenants. Indeed, I am now told that many of the landlords are neglecting their buildings, letting them go to ruin with the idea of selling them at a high price rather than to put additional money upon them. I hear all sorts of hard luck stories as to real estate in Berlin. One relates to a princess who owned a palace worth about a million dollars. She had the idea of selling the house to her father, but she had no money to pay them. She had barely enough for her food and matters were growing worse every day. So she sold her house on an agreement that the purchaser should pay her twenty thousand marks a month for the term of five years. The mark had then not begun its mighty slide down the hill and she thought she could live well on this income and save up for the future. It meant an addition or conserving a nest-egg that she was getting one million.

This second hand store is a poor part of Berlin, but rents for 10 cents a month, though it once brought $50. Here the people even convert into cash such old tin cans, tin and empty bottles, all of which are carefully saved.

(Copyright, 1922, Carpenter World Travels.) Business property may be bought for a song in Berlin, with foreigners doing most of the buying. An American firm purchased a three-story office building for $100 and an army officer paid off an apartment house mortgage with $20.

IF SICK, BILIOUS! START YOUR LIVER. Don't Take Calomel! "Dodson's Liver Tone" Acts Better and Doesn't Gripe, Salivate or Make You Sick—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee! Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work. Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight. Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

down. I can best figure them in dollars. A shop which rented for one hundred dollars before the socialistic government made these laws now brings only two dollars and a store which may have brought a thousand dollars a month may now rent for twenty dollars. This does not mean that the tenants lower the prices of the goods in the windows. On the contrary they keep on charging as much as the traffic will stand. I know a butcher who paid sixty dollars a month rent before the war. He is selling meat at the old stand, but by the law his rent has fallen in value from sixty dollars to one dollar and twenty cents. In the mean time he has raised his prices and the market he receives for his beef and sausage seem to the people here out of all reason. It takes only three pounds of beef or less than three pounds of sausage to pay his rent for one month, and a good stevedore would pay his rent for three years. This condition prevails in every German city and in all kinds of businesses. If the same fate should come to the United States the rent of every store would drop from dollars to cents, and any shop-keeper who reads this can figure out what his rent would be by taking what he pays now and dividing the sum by ten thousand, or even more as the money continues to fall. For instance, the man who is paying five hundred dollars a year would then be paying five cents, and he who is paying five thousand dollars would have his rent reduced to fifty cents. The only difference would be that he would have to light and heat his establishment, and pay his share of heating up the repairs on the building.

Building Up A Community. What makes the comfort of a city? Isn't it the conveniences enjoyed that are possible only where many people live in a small space? Water, electric light, telephone, telegraph, railways, natural gas—all these contribute to comfort, expedite business and save money. Public Utilities Money Is Saved. Practically all of them are furnished through public utility companies—composed of men who had foresight and the courage necessary to install plants costing millions. Because of this courage and their enterprise we live better, get more done, and pay much less than would be the case if we had to supply our needs individually. Public utilities have added greatly to the value of our homes and business buildings, saved us a great amount of time, and given us better living conditions at less expense. Few of them have had more than an ordinary profit as a reward for their efforts; many of them have lost money. Yet if they ceased business, the public would willingly pay double to have them back. A better way is to appreciate their problems now, meet them fairly and encourage their development by the payment of reasonable rates out of the money they save for you. BIG VALVES ARRIVE FOR USE IN DIVERSION STRUCTURE.

NORTH SIDE DITCH QUESTION MARKS TIME

Officials Still Hoping First Election Can Be Held Sometime In April

The two main spillways, at the storage and diversion dams of the irrigation project, are the most interesting phases of the construction work under way at present.

At the storage dam, following work has started on the upper section of the big half-funnel, while the job of putting the surface concrete.

Two big 18-inch gate valves have arrived at the site. They will be installed in the diversion structure, and will be used to control the regular flow of the stream, thus meeting state law requirements.

Work on the dredge at the storage dam is hampered somewhat by the "bit" that is required from the irrigation canal. It is estimated that an additional 100,000 feet of additional water could be used right at hand at the present time by the dredge.

Matters relating to the north side ditch are still hanging in the air. The various red tape formalities are being gotten out of the way. It is thought that the election to ratify the contract between the two districts will be held some time in April.

Sensitive skin

Keep it soft and smooth by this special treatment

Is your skin easily irritated? This irritation may be due to dust. Dust is a harmful irritant to a sensitive skin. Use the following treatment, to keep it from getting rough and painful:

EACH night before retiring, dip a soft wash cloth in warm water and hold it to your face. New soap is warm water. Dip your cloth up and down in it until the cloth is thoroughly saturated. Rub the lathered cloth gently over your skin until the pores are thoroughly cleansed. Rinse thoroughly, and dry your face, then with clear cool water, and dry carefully.

This treatment will help your skin to resist irritation.

Get a cake of Woodbury's soap, at any drug store or toilet goods counter. A 25-cent cake lasts a month or six weeks for this treatment and for regular toilet use.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

Car Manufacturers Busier Than Ever Before and New Production Records Made

By ROY C. HAYES
Universal Service Staff Correspondent

DETROIT, March 24.—The name "motor cars" was never more prominently applied to Detroit than at this moment, when Detroit automobile factories are turning out automobiles at the fastest clip in the history of motor vehicle production. Starting as was the production rate one week ago, floods of orders have stepped the output up still another notch, until there is not a single plant in Detroit not operating at capacity.

With the close of the Boston and Indianapolis shows March 27 concluding the 1928 automobile show season, all Detroit plant executives have returned and are devoting every effort to push production to the utmost. Practically every plant is behind orders while new demands for cars pour in.

Lack of adequate rail facilities still hampers delivery of cars, drivers being taking care of from 15 to 25 per cent of deliveries. Cars are being driven from Detroit as far as 1000 miles. Cars are going over the road every day to Chicago, Cleveland, Toledo, and other prominent points of similar distances from Detroit.

With the opening of highways in a few weeks another channel of delivery will be available. Rumors of price increases persist in motor circles. Rising costs of materials and manufacturing coupled with a scarcity of skilled labor to meet current requirements are given as reasons why an advance may be necessary.

Charles D. Hastings, president of Hupp, put an end to the rumor that a Hupp was concerned with the statement that "no increase in price is being considered at the present time." He further denied that any increase had been made recently as was reported last week in financial circles.

Hupp shipped 2,600 cars during the first half of the month, the greatest shipping ratio in the history of the company. Hupp and other "daily" production record on Tuesday when 5,311 cars and trucks were made in a single day. Monday's output tallied 5,120 vehicles. Production for the week was 32,745—a new record for one week. Ford is making 4,200 motors daily.

Ford has begun the construction of a $200,000 sintering plant at the Blue-Route factory to be completed early this summer. This will effect a good saving of tons of iron ore which at present escapes in powdered form from the blast furnaces.

Last week was an epoch-making one for Buick when the company turned out the millionth car. This feat is especially remarkable in light of the fact that Buick is the first of the larger car manufacturers to achieve the distinction. Ford and Chevrolet having been the only ones to duplicate the feat of producing a million cars Buick is running at capacity at the rate of 200,000 cars for the year.

Shipments made by the Olds Motor Works during the first fifteen days in February were 53 per cent greater than during the same period in January and are several hundred per cent greater than during the same period last year.

Production at the Willis Overland plant in Toledo for March will run better than 18,000, according to the present rate of manufacture. This will bring the total for the first three months of the year up to 42,000. Goal for the second quarter has been set at 60,000 cars.

Studebaker is running at capacity. The company has taken out a building permit for erection of another factory unit in South Bend to cost more than one million dollars.

Durant plants built 13,000 cars in the 22 working days in February, bringing the total production of all Durant cars up to March first 34,000. The total plant value of the product is in excess of $92,000,000.

Production of Star cars in February was 10,794. The number of Star cars produced to date and marketed is 21,646. March production will be in excess of 15,000 and plans call for more than 20,000 in April.

Republic Motor Truck Company operating in the hands of receiver is turning out approximately one hundred trucks a month.

AUTOMOTIVE DEALERS HEAR POLICE COMMISSIONER

The Automotive Dealers Association met last Tuesday at the Kemp hotel in regular weekly session, with a splendid attendance.

Commissioner of Police Pitts furnished the secretary with a copy of "Texas Highway Laws" from which several extracts were read, including sections in regard to bills of sale and number plates.

Seasonal matters were discussed in the course of the luncheon and were deferred for action until later meeting, possibly next Tuesday at which time the next regular meeting will be held.

A little more attention to the lubrication of the steering gear will make steering much easier. If there is no grease cup remove the plug and force heavy oil or transmission grease in by means of an oil gun.

M'FALL BROTHERS GET AGENCY FOR GABRIEL SNUBBERS

Announcement was made last week of the appointment of M'Fall Brothers, local Dodge dealers, as distributors for the Gabriel Snubbers for Wichita county.

This appointment comes as a result of the fact that M'Fall Brothers have always been the largest users of this equipment in this vicinity, according to Mr. Dodge of M'Falls, and this puts the local company in a position to supply all garage, dealers and owners of cars.

The factory which is located in Cleveland, Ohio, is now producing 3,000 snubbers a day and over four millions are already in use. Mr. Dodge declared that there are 27 standard equipped and manufacturers of 34 others have put holes in the frames for them.

Mr. Dodge stated that M'Fall Brothers will now carry a complete stock of Gabriel Snubbers and parts to fit all cars whose frame is equipped for their use.

HOW HARDWARE SALESMEN MAKE USE OF AUTOMOBILES

Salemen in the hardware business make more calls and more sales when using motor transportation. Such is the experience of 103 out of 110 commercial houses surveyed by the National Hardware Association, as quoted in the Oil, Paint and Drug Reporter.

In 23 cases the salesman owns his car and is remunerated on mileage basis. In 23 cases the car is owned by the house, and in other cases there is a plan of joint ownership.

Of those who keep comparative cost records, 44 report that car transportation costs the same or less, and 30 that it costs more than train transportation plus livery.

Do not permit too much lost motion in the wheel. A careful inspection should be made from the wheels back to determine that all parts are tight and properly adjusted. Occasionally adjustment will afford not only easier control of the car, but greater assurance of safety.

Overland Agency Installs Branch At Henrietta

Announcement was made last week of the opening of a branch establishment in Henrietta by the local Overland Motor Company. A parts depot and an up to date service station will be maintained according to statement made by R. A. Ebner last week.

"The Henrietta branch will be under the management of J. E. Tipton who is an old resident of Henrietta and well known all over Clay county," Mr. Ebner stated.

This makes the third branch to be established by the Wichita Falls Overland Motors Company, the other two being located at Electric and Burk Burnett, according to Mr. Ebner who also declared that the local company now delivers the first two days of last week, which he feels is a mighty good record.

BIG INCREASE IN FORD SALES OVER FEBRUARY, 1922

The Langford Motor Supply Company, local agents for the Ford car, reports the sale of 85 Ford cars during the short month of February. This is just double the number sold in the same month last year according to statement made last week.

This local record is right in line with the sales record reported for the same month by the Ford company's headquarters, which gives out a total of 115,000 Ford cars sold at retail in the face of the most unfavorable weather conditions in many sections of the country which tied up freight traffic and prevented many deliveries.

This sales record bears out the prediction made at the opening of the year that an acute shortage in Ford cars is certain and this shortage is expected to be felt within the next two months with the increased volume of car buying, which is always attendant upon the spring month, according to statement made from headquarters.

Even the high production schedule set by the Ford Motor Company's factory in Detroit, which will reach 6,000 cars and trucks a day about April 1, will be unable to meet the apparent demand for Ford products.

It is said.

February was the eleventh month in which Ford car sales have gone over the 100,000 mark, the total for this period is close to 1,100,000 cars, the factory report states.

Part That Motor Truck Now Plays Is Important One

Did you ever stop to think what the motor truck means to the city in which you live? Do you know that city life would be almost impossible were it not for the big, homely trucks rumbly over the city pavements day in and day out, regardless of winter or any other element?

Next to the telephone, the truck is the public's greatest utility. At the daily breakfast table there is not one of us but what uses milk or cream. Some take it in coffee, some on cereals and probably the most important use of all is the early morning bottle for the baby.

At some distant point, several miles from the city is the farm from which this milk came.

Consider the case of the farm produce. It would be impossible for the farmer to get his goods to the market in a fresh condition, if it were not for the motor truck.

Then take the case of the city government under which you live. The chances are that the garbage from many homes is collected by truck daily. The city also uses trucks to build the streets in which you live. Consider the very home which you occupy. Trucks played a part in bringing the material to the contractors for their men to work with.

Turn to the railroad or the street car system in any city, think what the motor truck did to assist in the building of that structure and what part it plays in keeping it up for use.

It makes no difference in which direction you turn you cannot escape being served by the motor truck. It helps in the manufacture of your clothes, your shoes and brings material to keep every known commodity in repair. And all of this would not have been possible years ago with the horse. It could have been done but the cost would have been prohibitive.

Look over all the bolts and nuts and see that they are properly secured, not merely tight, but held from turning by split pin, lock nut, or lock washers. Also see that the front wheels are in alignment, so that they do not toe out or toe in.

Adjust by means of the tie rod that connects the two wheels.

Motor Department: Please explain in simple manner how to time valve and ignition on model 55 Overland I am going to overhaul the motor. It will be out of Chances and all apart. It also has a Bosch Dual Magneto, type Z. H. 4. The timing gears are not marked. Thanking you in advance.—Reader.

Motor Department: Kindly tell me if a trans-rod is necessary for a Ford rear axle. We use the car mostly for light touring work, but occasionally for driving small and large gears.—Owner.

Motor Department: Why is it I cannot start my 1917 Ford? Burns out inside of twenty miles. Wired from headlight switch and from battery to separate circuit from same switch. Headlights always O. K. have removed all possible vibrations and changed and used 15-24 bulb.—H. H.

Motor Department: I have bought a new 4 cylinder valve in head motor. I understand the great importance in proper lubrication. I am planning on using pure motor oil. Can you give me any advice in regard to it. I was told that all speed cars use it on the track for the great heat-resisting power. What does motor oil sell for a gallon.—Reader.

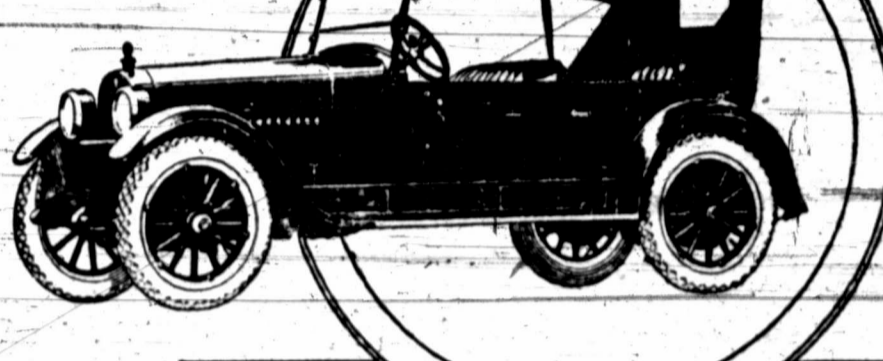

Motor Department: Please state if a 6000 cc motor is measured in the same way as a 6000 cc motor. Please give location.—H. H.

These requirements crystallize the Buick ideals of service which have guided its policies more than twenty years. Mr. Dixon said: "To motorists everywhere the Buick sign has become a guarantee of courteous, efficient attention to their motoring needs."

"The car will not be marred by careless handling. Owners and service men are taking an increasing interest in the necessity for protecting automobiles from scratches on the finish and stains on the upholstery and other fittings while repairs are being made.

Another point which inspires the owner with confidence when he enters a Buick service station is that if-replacements are necessary they will be made with genuine Buick parts.—Every Buick dealer is required to carry a large stock of these. But even in the event that the needed part is not immediately available it can be quickly obtained from the nearest Buick depot.

They are a guarantee that he will enjoy uninterrupted transportation from the moment he purchases a Buick car. The sign which marks every authorized service station is a symbol of the entire service organization."

RUBBER MARKET POINTS TO INCREASE IN TIRE PRICES C. C. William Jennings Bryan's Weekly Bible Talk
Fact of Resurrection: An Easter Talk
By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

Today, with Easter near, we deal with Christ's resurrection. Did He really break the bonds of the tomb and rise, hale and hearty, from the grave?

TEXT OF TODAY'S BIBLE TALK, BY MR. BRYAN (Luke 24:13-31)
And, behold, two of them went the same day to a village called Emmaus, which was from Jerusalem about threescore furlongs.

And they talked together of all these things which had happened. And it came to pass, that while they communed together and reasoned, Jesus himself drew near, and went with them.

And he said unto them, What things? And they said unto him: Concerning Jesus of Nazareth, which was a prophet mighty in deed and word before God and all the people.
