

SITUATION SERIOUS FOR FOREIGNERS IN PEKING IS REPORT

STATE DEPARTMENT INFORMED THAT POLICE HAVE QUIT THEIR POSTS.

MUCH CONCERNED OVER NEW TURN OF AFFAIRS

Trouble Follows Closely on the Heels of Resignation of Cabinet.

By Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The state department was informed late today that the Chinese police have quit their posts at Peking, thus creating a very dangerous situation there for foreigners.

United States Minister Jacob Gould Schurman called the department he has been informed by the Chinese foreign ministry that the police strike was caused by pay rearrangement.

The American minister does not, however, accept the statement that the police struck for back pay. His report to the state department said:

"It is not believed that the police struck for pay, as they received a new day's pay immediately after the strike was over."

Military and civil attaches of the American legation began an inspection tour of the city immediately after the police left their posts at 10 o'clock. At 11 o'clock they reported to the legation that all Peking shops were open for business and everything was quiet.

Fung Yu Hsiang, inspector general of the Chinese army and Wang Hual Ching, commander in chief of the metropolitan force, have delivered a joint note to the diplomatic corps at Peking, in which they assumed full responsibility for the preservation of order in the capital and promised to protect foreign interests.

Minister Schurman's cablegram added that in the absence of Brigadier General Connor, commander of the four companies of foreign guards on duty in Peking, has been assumed by a Norwegian, General Marthe.

The state department is being watched closely by the Chinese situation in the present moment, unless such intervention as necessary for the protection of American citizens in such cases, however, the U. S. army marines stationed in Peking would not without hesitation.

Private dispatches tonight indicated that a few of the Peking police were returning to their posts. This is regarded as somewhat improving the situation there.

CONSTITUTIONAL ARMY OF CHINA IS RETREATING

CANTON, June 9. (AP)—On three fronts, west, north and east of Canton, battles are raging between Sun Yat Sen's constitutionalist forces and Northern Chinese troops. In two of the battles, Sun's army is reported to be falling back in the face of greater numbers, while on the third he is barely holding his ground.

Up the West river reinforced Kwangsi forces are driving the constitutionalist forces back. The city of Douling is in flames. Traffic on the river is at a standstill.

From the North river come reports of reverses for Sun and further victories for the Peking allies. Communications in this region are badly disorganized.

At Watchow, on the East river, 10 miles east of Canton, the battle which has been raging intermittently for more than a week's time, is in progress.

NORTH TEXAS FURNITURE EMPLOYEES ARE GUESTS MR. AND MRS. BRADLEY

About 35 employees of the North Texas Furniture Company with their wives and husbands gathered on the lawn of the Bradley home, 322 Eleventh street and enjoyed a delicious lunch of barbecued lamb cooked on a model barbecue pit at the home.

After the lunch, outside games were enjoyed and after a musical program closed the evening. It is Mr. Bradley's custom to have these get-together affairs at occasional intervals in order to bring about a better acquaintance among the group of the store's employees. Mr. Bradley will have soon the western furniture markets which open June 15 in Grand Rapids and Chicago.

SUMMERS IN JAIL ASKS TIME TO GET PLAYERS IN GAME

NO DATE SET FOR PRELIMINARY HEARING IN MURDER CASE.

ACCUSATION OF MARKED DECKS STARTS TROUBLE

Body of Roy Bolander Shipped to Giddings, Texas, For Burial Friday.

By Universal Service.

The body of Roy Bolander, killed in the Freeman-Hampton pool game at Giddings, Texas, Saturday and lies in state awaiting the time for funeral services Sunday.

J. Summers, accused of the man's death sits in his lonely cell at Archer City asking time before a preliminary hearing is had so that his witnesses may be put under process.

All day Saturday he penciled notes giving the sheriff of Archer county a description of "Slim," "Blackie" and the like. In the cell the boys are known only by the first name and there may be a half dozen Slims and Blackies in the oil field. The officers must have more than a familiar diminutive name.

No date has been set for the hearing as officers want to give the accused all the time he needs in summing up those who played with him in that last game of poker.

Summers told the sheriff of Archer county that shortly after the game started Thursday night that there had been some little dispute about the value of the cards. Apparently, according to the accused's version this difficulty had been ironed out.

An hour past midnight and everything was still save for the chug chug of an engine on a lease a half mile away. Inside the little stuffy room every body was playing close to the cards as it was either a case of making bigger winnings or attempting to get even.

A card had been burned and the dealer called "cards." The number desired was indicated by the show of fingers. Four remained when Summers raised. The raise was followed by another and all but Summers and Bolander threw in their hands.

Summers relates that a call was made and as the hands were laid face up on the table on top of the pot it was seen that he held the better hand. He attempted to rake in the pot but his hand was pushed aside by Bolander's left wife. He pulled the money to him with his right.

Bolander accused Summers, the latter stated of putting in a cold deck that was marked. Words brought on more words. According to two others who sat in the game some threatening words and gestures accompanied by words were said and made. Bolander was a half hour later, within a hundred feet of the shack where the game had been in progress, all field workers found Bolander dying. They say there was an exchange of shots a minute before.

APPROPRIATIONS FOR DEPARTMENTS PASSED IN HOUSE

MEASURE WAS CONSIDERED THROUGHOUT THE DAY SATURDAY.

REDUCTIONS OF LESS THAN TEN THOUSAND

Principal Amendment Abolishes the State Mining Board.

By Universal Service.

AUSTIN, June 9. (AP)—The departmental appropriation bill was passed finally by the house late today by vote of 73 to 32, after the measure had been considered throughout the day. Reductions of less than $10,000 were made on the budgets of 11 departments, the largest being that of the state highway department, which was cut slightly over $5,000,000.

The principal amendment adopted today was that abolishing the state mining board carrying with it an appropriation of $100,000. The amendment was offered by Representative Turner of Harris, and adopted by vote of 63 to 32. Slight changes were made in the budgets of the markets department, agricultural department and board of health.

Four main state departments were yet to be considered when the previous question on the bill was ordered and it was considered the previous question was ordered on final passage. This is the last of the general appropriation bills to be considered by the house. Only the emergency appropriation bill remains on the calendar and this is not expected to be considered.

Consideration of the departmental bill was extended, efforts being made to cut out large appropriations in several divisions. The bill as reported by the appropriations committee was a reduction of over $400,000 compared with the departmental bill voted by the governor. As finally passed it is a reduction of approximately $700,000.

More than a dozen local measures were passed finally by the house. A new bill to make it unlawful to distribute narcotics was introduced by Representative Quaid of El Paso.

APPROPRIATION CUT NOT TO EXCEED FOUR MILLION

AUSTIN, June 9.—Probability that reductions of appropriations by the present session of the legislature will not exceed $4,000,000 became apparent tonight when the conference committee on the emergency appropriation bill completed its work. Although house reductions to the measure amounted to nearly $400,000 this was cut until the final reduction stands at $347,000. As agreed upon by the committee $4,318,000 compared with $7,218,000 as voted by the governor.

Action on this measure is taken as an indication that other reductions made in the house will be cut in conference committee. Legislative leaders tonight expressed the belief that the reductions when the session closes will not amount to $4,000,000. The following figures were declared to be the probable maximum final reductions: Departmental bill, $400,000; emergency

Eugene B. Mapel of Grandfield, Okla., ten years old, enjoys an unusual honor for a boy of his age, holding a commission as major on the staff of Governor J. C. Walton. Young Mapel took an active part in the campaign in which Governor Walton was nominated and elected, making a number of speeches in southwest Oklahoma. He was also a speaker at the inauguration at Oklahoma City.

EUGENE B. MAPEL

Young Mapel has won several gold medals and honors in school contests, the most recent being first place in the county meet held at Frederick, Okla.

$247,000; general educational $1,900,000; reclamation, $250,000, and emergency school, $2,000,000. An item of $220,000 was added to the emergency bill by conference committee for establishing a supplemental insane hospital at Austin. The largest reduction in the bill was for construction of a new building at the Wichita Falls hospital totaling $100,000. This item was cut out entirely.

No conference was held today on the educational bill and the departmental bill had not reached conference committee tonight.

MOTHER, OPEN CHILD'S BOWELS WITH "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Even Cross, Feverish, Sick Children Love its Taste and it Never Fails to Empty Little Bowels

If your child is listless, full of cold, has colic, or if the stomach is sour, breath bad, tongue coated, a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" will quickly start liver and bowel action. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works the constipation poison, sour bile and waste right out and give your child a happy, playful child.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today may save a sick child tomorrow. It never cramps or overacts. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

CAPT. AMUNDSEN AND PILOT READY TO START FLIGHT

BERGEN, NORWAY, June 9. (AP)—It is now settled that Captain Rued Amundsen and his pilot, Omdal, will start on their North Pole flight from Wainwright, Alaska, to Spitzbergen on or about June 26. The flight is expected to take about 22 hours.

It is thought that the greatest danger of engine failure will arise after the machines have passed the pole and is approaching the edge of polar ice north of Spitzbergen. In summer this ice pack is a considerable distance north of island. If Amundsen is forced to abandon his plane he will, if within reasonable distance of the ice edge, try to reach it on skis.

The Norwegian government has assigned two naval hydro-aeroplanes and one fishing patrol vessel to assist in the quest for the pole. As soon as a message is received at Spitzbergen that Amundsen has started the airplanes and patrol ship will proceed to the edge of the ice.

The vessel which already has sailed for the island, will cruise along the ice rim, while the airplanes will continue a northward flight to meet Amundsen and escort him home, or render help should he need it.

SUBSERVIENT TO SPECIAL
PRIVILEGE SENATOR
CHARGES.
DISREGARD OF PEOPLE
CHARACTERIZES HISTORY

Done Much to Destroy Confidence of People in Free
Government.

By Universal Service.
VINCENNES, IND., June 9.—Subservience to special privilege and disregard of the people have characterized the Harding administration from its inception to the present.

Senator Neff, of Alabama, declared in an address before the Democratic editors of Indiana here today. The hardest and most effective work performed by the Republicans since 1921, he said, has been done in behalf of big interests, while it neglected the small business man, the farmer, the wage worker and the former soldier.

"This administration has done nothing to improve the condition of the people in America than any administration that has ever preceded it.

"If has mistreated and embittered
the American soldier, who offered his life for his country. It denied him a hearing and a decision as to whether he was entitled to adjustment compensation.

"The Tea Pot Dome oil scandal smells to high heaven.

"The sugar scandal is branded all over with the deliberate plan and purpose to hold up and rob the American consumer, just when the fruit crop of California and Florida was ready to be consumed or canned and made into preserves. The president had the authority to reduce sugar to a penny a pound, but he failed to use it."

Senator Neff blamed the Republican congress in 1921 for the deflation, which he declared wrought so much injury to business and agriculture in that year. He said:

"It robbed the northern farmer of his grain and the southern farmer of his cotton. It drove millions of wage earners from profitable employment. It destroyed the purchasing and debt paying power of millions of people and in a few months stripped them of the accumulations of a life time.
It robbed the many for the benefit of the few."

OKLAHOMA OFFICERS ARE EXPELLED FROM FARM LABOR UNION

DURANT, OKLA., June 9.—Oklahoma officers were expelled from the Oklahoma division of the Caraway, Democrat of Arkansas today. "They know just about as much about the union as they do the other, and want one as much as the other. The Harding-Hughes court proposal is just an illogical device to drag before the people to make them think the administration is giving them something in the way of farm policy."

"The only thing the American people want right now is Henry Ford, and they seem to want him mightily bad. He is the only presidential candidate the people are talking about and pushing forward."

"The others are self-starters," Senator Ashurst, Democrat of Arizona, interjected. "They are having a hard time getting anywhere after they get self-started," Senator Caraway replied.

"And when I say this," the Arkansas senator added, "Henry Ford is not my candidate. It is not a candidate who will make some speed when he gets under way. He hasn't tried to start yet. He is Oscar Underwood."

AMERICANS HAVE
WORK CONFIDENCE
MEXICAN PEOPLE

By Universal Service.
LOS ANGELES, June 9.—"The members of the American Reconciliation Commission now in Mexico City have won the good will and confidence of the Mexican people. I am strongly of the opinion that the mission will be successful."

Thus here today General Manuel Peres Treviño intimated that he thinks good the prospects of reconciliation by Washington of the present
Mexican regime as the Mexican Government.

Treviño is chief of staff to President Obregon. Among the foremost men of today in the neighboring republic he has brought here a message of progress across the border under the administration of Obregon
—progress, socially, industrially, commercially and educationally.

"Business in Mexico is good and the Mexican people are in a better state of mind than in any other country," Treviño said.

"The army has been reduced, the old militarism has disappeared.
There is no possibility of interference with civil authority."

GEORGETOWN, June 9.—G. E.
Dunbar, Godfrey Loftis and W. E.
Burleson, committed to county jail here 30 days ago for contempt in refusing to answer grand jury questions concerning flooding in Burleson county, today were discharged from jail after they were brought before Judge J. D. Hamilton at their request and each answered the 16 questions propounded them in the negative and declared they were not in the county at the time of the flooding.

Charges were filed against them in justice court for carrying prohibited weapons. Loftis and Dunbar were allowed $1,000 bond which it is expected they will give tonight.
Burleson was held under indictment in the Burleson case and under $3,000 bond is still in jail for contempt of court, for refusing to answer grand jury questions. It signified no change in his intention not to testify.

DAMAGE ESTIMATED AT OVER MILLION DOLLARS

Canoes and Row Boats Are Brought Into Use By Residents of City.

WICHITA, KAN., June 9.—Residents of East Wichita laid aside street attire and donned bathing suits when Chisholm creek, north and east of here went out of its banks and inundated an area of four square miles of the business and residential sections causing damage estimated well over a million dollars. Canoes and row boats were brought into use and by afternoon a virtual ferry system had been established.

The water in the city was brought to a flood stage by raging waters from its source, was aggravated by heavy rains last night, and early today the small Kyle along its banks gave way, flooding everything before it. Hundreds of families were forced to flee for safety.

Creeping up to the very door of the Union Station, the waters rose steadily and by noon stood from one to three feet deep in the main street. As the section of the city lying directly east of the Union Station is low virtually the entire east side was under water. The flood is said to be one of the worst ever experienced in the history of the city. Not since 1904 was a large portion of Wichita was inundated. Heavy flood waters exceeded today's high mark.

Salvation Army posts were established and scores of destitute victims were furnished with food and dry clothing.

Hundreds of passengers were delayed when virtually all train service out of Wichita was partially suspended.

Thousands of acres of farm lands were laid waste along the lowlands of the Walnut river, extending from

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 9.—
Sheriff William L. Traeger of Los Angeles county announced tonight that he was hastening back to Los Angeles to take up the investigation fully of the story that a Yegg gang committed the William Desmond Taylor murder.

Sheriff Traeger, who came here to attend a meeting of the bureau of criminal identification, declared he regarded the statement coming from the Seattle police of sufficient importance to get on the trail of Otis Hefer, Texas cattleman, and run down his alleged story that a gang of five men killed Taylor during a robbery.

"My office in connection with the Los Angeles police department has been fully investigating the Taylor murder case in the belief that someday it would be solved," said Sheriff Traeger.

"I cannot say now that the statement attributed to Hefer conforms with the theory on which we have been working. Nevertheless, I feel nothing should be left undone in the investigation and I shall return to Los Angeles tonight to have my deputies go fully into this phase of the case and join with other police departments in an effort to locate Hefer."

Each suite of this shipment is finished with Viscolac, the hardest, most durable, most beautiful finish we have been able to find on the market. Bumps and knocks which would dent and scratch other finishes do not affect this material. It can be washed repeatedly with soap and water for it is absolutely waterproof, not being affected by even boiling water. With this finish it is not necessary to use messy, smelly polishes. Heated vessels, such as hot water bags, dishes, or electrical cooking apparatus, unless red hot, cannot mar or soften this finish.

We want you to be sure and come in and see this wonderful selection of new furniture.

APPEAL IS MADE TO GOVERNOR NEFF
TO PARDON TODD

AUSTIN, June 9.—Appeal has been made to Governor Neff to commute to imprisonment of 10 years the death sentence imposed upon W. W. Todd, Tarrant county, for murder in connection with the killing of James McNeal, Fort Worth service car driver. It was stated at the executive office today. Petitions signed by several thousand persons are among the documents submitted to the chief executive. McNeal was killed on August 31, 1931, on the Fort Worth-Weatherford road near Aledo. Todd is scheduled to hang on June 21.

FLOODS CLAIM VICTIM
IN SOUTHWEST MISSOURI

JOPLIN, MO., June 9.—High water caused by heavy rains in the last 24 hours has claimed at least one victim in southwest Missouri. All streams are bankful and Shoal creek, south of Joplin, has overflowed its banks, flooding farm lands and a summer pleasure resort. The body of an unidentified man was seen floating down Spring river near Riverdale, at noon today.

HOUSTON WOMAN IS ACQUITTED OF MURDER

HOUSTON, June 9.—Mrs. Mae Getchell, 22, was acquitted by a jury today of a charge of murder in connection with the shooting on October 4, 1932, of her husband, George Getchell. She pleaded self-defense and declared she had seen subjected to abuse and threats.

THREE EARTH SHOCKS
PROVINCE OF APULIA

LONDON, June 9.—Three earth shocks, successively increasing in violence, were felt today in several towns in the province of Apulia, Italy's stretch to the Central Alps from Rome. The towns shaken were San Marino in Lunig, Senevero, Lucera, Torre, Magliore and San Paolo.

WATER THREE FEET IN STREETS OF ENID, OKLA.

ENID, OKLA., June 9.—Water stood three feet deep in several streets heretoday as a result of a rain of 4.12 inches last night. A number of residents have been forced to move to higher ground.

SECRETARY OF STATE IS IN SERIOUS CONDITION

AUSTIN, June 9.—Secretary of State H. C. Byrd was reported in serious condition in a local hospital following an operation on his eye. Staphylococcus bacteria were found in the eye. A number of physicians and complications set in. He has been in the hospital for several days.

Mr. Ford and Other Political Self-Starters

By WILL ROGERS

Well, there has been quite a stir in the Political news. The big news of the last week was the Ford for President talk, made more important by Mr. Stewart announcing that he would back him if he ran on an independent ticket. It only shows you what both of the old line parties are degenerating into. Nobody wants to associate with either one of them.

I think that it will be the biggest boost Mr. Ford will have that he belongs to either party. It's getting so that a man a year Grand all socially he can't afford to be seen with either the Democrats or the Republicans.

I suspect, if it was left to a vote right now by all the people, Mr. Ford would be voted for by more people than any other man. But, if it comes to a question of counting those votes, I doubt if he ever ran third. For, with all the mechanical improvements they have in the way of adding machines, and counting machines, they can't seem to invent anything to take the place of the old Political mode of counting—two for me and one for you.

More men have been elected between Sundown and Sunup, than ever were elected between Sunup and Sundown.

And, say, talking about Presidential Candidates, another one of the likely starters in 1936 Handicap for the 75th birthday is Grand old one of the most impressive showings of his entire career during the past week. And that wasn't anybody but the present Skipper of the Mayflowers, Mr. Gamaliel Harding. He spoke on Decoration Day at Arlington Cemetery, and when I say he spoke, what I mean is, he said something.

One Public man is speaking every day on something, but they don't say anything. But when Mr. Harding said that, in case of another war that capital would be drafted like men, he put over a thought that, if carried out, would do more to stop Wars than all the International Courts and Leagues of Nations in the World.

Of the three things to prevent wars, League of Nations, International Court, and this Drafting of Capital, this last one is so far ahead of the others there is no comparison. When that Wall Street Millionaire knows that you are not only going to come into his office and take his Secretary and Clerk but that you come in to get his Dough, say Boy, there wouldn't be any war. You will hear the question: "Yes, but how could you do it?"

Say, you take a Boy's life, don't you? When you take Boys away you take everything they have in the World, that is, their life. You send them to war and part of that life you don't use you let him come back with it. Perhaps you may see all that; "Yes, that's the way to be with wealth. Take all he has, give him a bare living the same as you do the Soldier. Give him the same allowance as the Soldier—all of us that stay home. The Government should own everything we have, see what it needs to conduct the whole expense of the war and give back what is left, if there is any, the same as you give back to the Boy what he has left.

There can be no Profitfeering. The Government owns everything till the war is over. Every Man, Woman and Child, from Henry Ford and John D. down, get their Dollar and a Quarter a day the same as the Soldier. The only way a man could profiteer in war like that would be to raise more Children.

If Mr. Harding went before the People on a platform of that kind and put it over, he could remain President till his Whiskers got so long he could make a fortune just picking the lost Golf Balls out of them. But, no, it will never get anywhere. The rich will say it ain't practical, and the poor will never get a chance to find out if it is or not.

Lincoln made a wonderful speech under similar conditions one time. "That this Nation under God, shall have a new Birth of Freedom, and the Government of the people, for the People, for the People, shall not perish from this earth."

Now, every time a Politician gets in a speech, he digs up this Gettysburg quotation. He recites it every Decoration day and practices the opposite the other 364 days.

If our Government is by the people, how is it the Candidate with the most votes by the people, going into a Presidential Convention never get nominated?

Now, Lincoln meant well, but he only succeeded in supplying an applause line for every Political speaker who was struck for a finish. And that's the way with Mr. Harding; he certainly meant well, for you can imagine his feelings after having to mingle for the last 3 years with some of our War Millionaires who are hanging around Washington and laying off between Wars.

And, in after years, so will this speech of Mr. Harding's be used, but the man who the fellow gets through quoting it he will get a War Contract for Cash Plus 10 percent.

In our Decoration day speechmaking Mr. Tall spoke at some unrolling of a Monument in Cincinnati. He made an Allude to the Supreme Court. I don't know what prompted him to tell the dead what the Court was doing, unless it was some man who had died of old age waiting for a decision from that August Body.

He can't say any more about Judge Gery for a weekly laugh in his speeches. But last week he had the prize wheeze of his career. He had his accomplices make an investigation of the Steel Industry, and they turned in a report that it was much more beneficial to man to work 13 hours a day than 8. They made this report so alluring that it is up to make people who read it decide to stay the extra 4 hours of their job, just through the Health and enjoyment they get out of it. I never knew Steel work was so easy till I read that report. Why the advantages they enumerated in this report would almost make a Bootlegger trade jobs with a Steel Worker. But here is the kick. Judge Gery got up to read this report before the stock holders who had made it out. He read for one hour in favor of a 12 hour day. Then he was so exhausted they had to carry him out, and Charles Schwab had to go on reading the sheet.

Now, if the Judge couldn't work an hour, how did he expect his workers to do 12 every day?

After Schwab read for 2 hours the audience was carried out. It was the greatest boost for the 12 hour day I ever heard of. I am thinking of going out there and working for them, but, if it is such a pleasure to work 12 hours, I am going to try and get them to let me work 18, at least, for I don't believe I would get enough pleasure out of just 12.

So if you don't hear, of me next week, you will know I just enjoyed myself to death in Judge Gery's Steel Mills in Pittsburgh. (Copyright, 1933, by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

ELECTRA NOW HAS PLENTY WATER AS RESULT OF RAINS

LEVEL OF WATER IN THE CITY LAKE RISES MORE THAN FIVE FEET.

PARK COMMISSION TO OPEN SWIMMING POOL

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Magee Narrowly Escapes Drowning in Cellar.

ELECTRA, TEXAS, June 9.—Electric water shortage was relieved, at least for some time, as a result of the downpour of rain this week. The level of water in the city lake was raised more than five feet.

Not only will the water impoundment this week provide moisture to keep the trees and shrubs green—it will keep alive the fish, a quantity of fine ones being introduced with one as a result of the low stage of the water. Another shipment of game fish was received last week.

Electrically operated swimming pool for the city commission is developed that the water supply is ample for every purpose and the park commission was authorized to open the swimming pool in the municipal park grounds this evening.

Miss Rosemary, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Magee of this city, narrowly escaped death by drowning while playing with other children about a new house, which is under construction at the corner of Washington and Harrison streets. The cellar had become filled with water from the recent rains. According to report, the little girl fell in while attempting to walk a plank laid across the hole.

Mr. Magee was the first to reach the scene, after the little's companions had spread the alarm. The little girl was unconscious when taken from the water.

COMMISSIONERS BURKBURNETT TO MEET ON MONDAY

NUMBER OF MATTERS OF IMPORTANCE WILL BE DISCUSSED.

JUDGE SARTIN SPEAKS BEFORE ROTARY CLUB

Baptist Ladies Raising Fund to Pay Off Indebtedness On Their Church.

BURKBURNETT, TEXAS, June 9.—The city commissioners at their meeting this week discussed many matters of importance, but no resolutions of any nature were passed before adjournment. The meeting was scheduled to take place next Monday night at which time important matters will again be taken up for consideration with chances of some action being taken.

Judge B. D. Sartin was the principal speaker at the Rotary Club's weekly luncheon held this week. He made a most interesting address using as his subject "Democracy." He stated that education was the essential factor to a democratic government such as we have in this country. The time has come, Judge Sartin said, when it doesn't matter materially who is at the head of our government, the people have knowledge and are in position to control any situation that may arise.

The Baptist Ladies' Auxiliary of Springtown has been canvassing the city to raise money to pay off the indebtedness of their church and to buy seats. The employees of the Panhandle Refining Company sent the ladies a donation of $15, which greatly helped in the campaign.

Vital Statistics from the city health department report birth certificate: males 15, females 26, total 41. Death certificate: males 5, females 1, total 6.

Another rainfall amounting to more than one inch fell in Burkburnett Friday night. Rain began falling between 1:00 and 1:30 o'clock and continued at intervals during the night. Small grain harvest is now in full swing in this community and if it continues damage are sure to result.

Special services will be held at the Baptist Church Sunday for the Code Fellows and Rebekahs. An appropriate sermon will be preached by the pastor, Rev. J. H. Hamilton. The regular meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church met this week at the building. Following the devotional opening, business matters were presented and reports given. The entertainment of the previous Friday was reported a success, socially and financially.

The civic league met in regular session at the Shrine hall. The treasurer reported $183.94 in the bank to the credit of the organization. Plans for the entertainment on Tuesday night, June 16, were discussed. It was decided that the program committee perfect details in order that other organizations in the city may be represented. The entertainment will be known as "community evening" and will be held at the Y. M. C. A. building.

Local and Personal: Miss Dorpat held her Red Cross health center at the corner drug store Thursday. A number of children were examined by the nurse and instructions given as to their care.

R. L. Eads, formerly of Burkburnett, was here Friday looking after his property located near the school building. The tearing down of the Manhattan refinery located north of the city has about been completed. Shipments are being made of the wrecked plant to Los Angeles, Cal., where it will be erected by the new owners.

OLNEY BOY SCOUTS GIVE BANQUET AND SPLENDID PROGRAM

COMPLIMENTARY TO MOTHERS OF MEMBERS AND COMMITTEES.

MERIT BADGE AWARDS FEATURE OF OCCASION

Nineteen Badges Are Awarded to Eight Scouts With Impressive Ceremony.

OLNEY, TEXAS, June 9.—The local organization of Boy Scouts of America entertained at Scout headquarters in the basement of the Methodist church Tuesday evening. The occasion being a banquet to the mothers of the boys, and in addition to their mothers, the boys invited the local scout committee and examiners.

A program of scoutcraft was carried out, and the first merit badge awards made to local boys. Nineteen badges were awarded to eight of the Scouts, and it was a very impressive ceremony. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

The local Scouts are a live bunch and are undertaking many things for the benefit of the community as well as their own pleasure and profit. Plans have been perfected for a big barbecue celebration on July 4 at which time they will have the Scout cabin at the municipal lake completed. The boys have agreed to furnish plenty of "sets" including barbecue for all who will attend, and the chamber of commerce has gone on record as being wholeheartedly behind the plan.

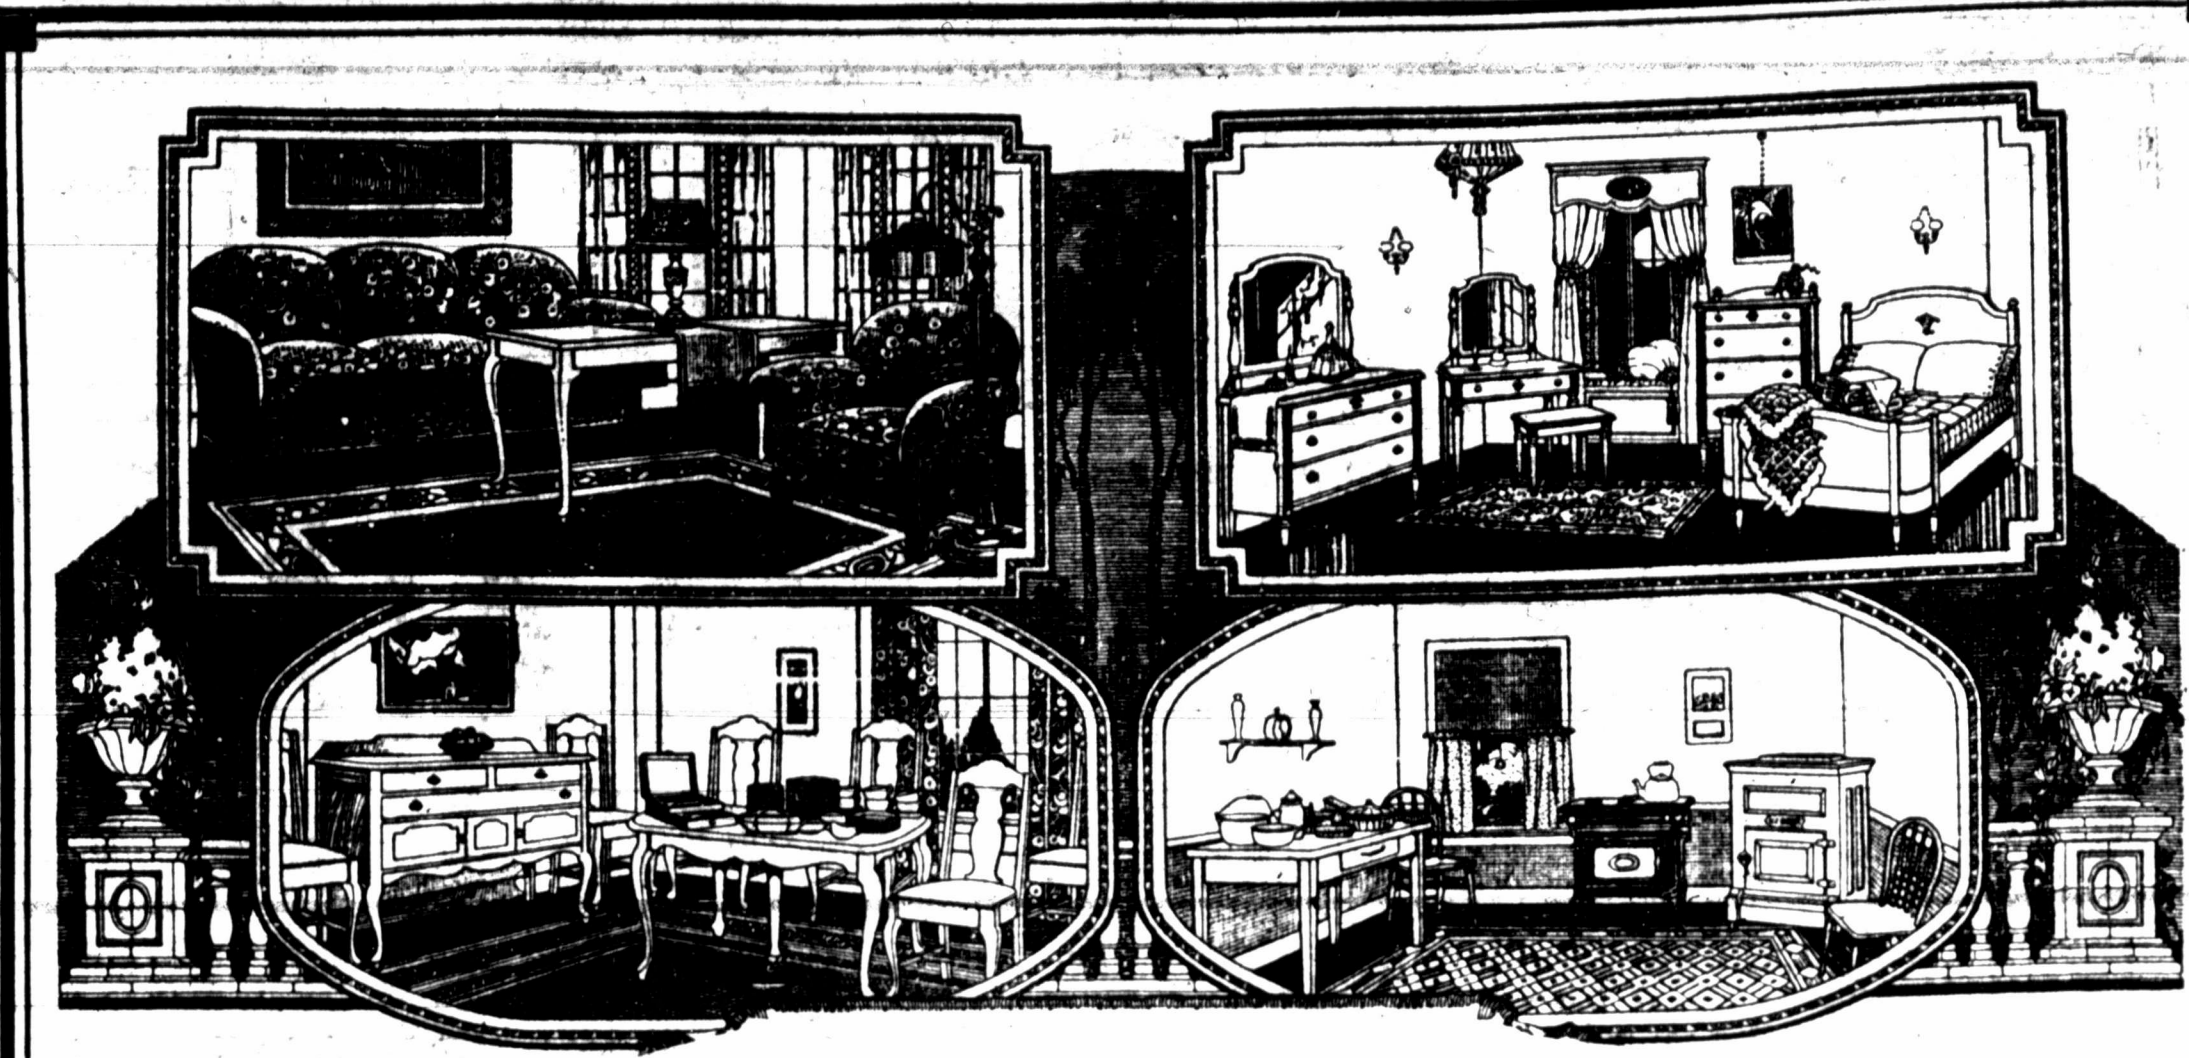

Return From Funeral: Mrs. W. N. Lunn returned Wednesday from Lubbock where she attended the bedside and later the funeral of her brother, E. C. Simmons. A prominent business man of that city. Mr. Simmons was an Undertaker, and got an infection from embalming a subject who died of tetanus. He was well known in this city, having lived here in his young manhood, and has many friends here who mourn his death and extend sympathy to the bereaved.

Entertainment Meeting: The monthly luncheon meeting of the chamber of commerce was held in the dining room of the Morris Hotel at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday, and was well attended. Several matters of importance were disposed of, the first being the election of W. C. Harrel as president of the organization in place of R. J. Marcell, resigned.

Membership committee made an excellent report and the committee in charge of working the roads to the surrounding oil fields was notified with instructions to get busy on the roads at once. The club meets twice each month, once in a business session in the evening, and once at a luncheon at the noon hour.

Wedding: Mr. W. H. Hamilton and Mrs. G. H. Roach were hostesses to a jolly crowd at the municipal lake Tuesday evening and a delightful chicken supper was enjoyed by several couples present.

Wallace-Poole Wedding: Mr. W. H. Hamilton and Miss Gladys Wallace stole a march on their many local friends by slipping off to Graham Saturday evening where Rev. Taylor pronounced the marriage ceremony for them. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wallace and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Poole, and both are very popular members of the younger set here.

HOME BEAUTIFUL TO BE OPENED SOON IS CLOSED TODAY

The Times Ideal Home Beautiful will be closed all day Sunday due to the fact that the plumbing and other interior finish is under way and it will be necessary to keep it locked for protection against the weather.

The house is rapidly nearing completion and will be open to inspection by the public in a short time. Those desiring to see the interior as it is in progress will be able to gain admittance during the week when the workmen are in the building.

Plan Extension: WASHINGTON—Plans for an extension from Santa Fe to Galina, New Mexico, were laid before the interstate commerce commission today by the New Mexico Central Railway. The new line will be about 100 miles long.

VERNON OFFICERS CAPTURE BIG STILL ON BEAVER CREEK

VERNON, TEXAS, June 9.—Vernon officers captured a large still on Beaver creek this week and 2,000 gallons of mash was destroyed by the officers. The capacity of the stills found was over 100 gallons. The secret hiding place of the moonshiners was a dense plum and cedar thicket on Beaver creek. The stills used were oil burners and water being pumped from the creek. Six men were arrested and all made pleas in jail. The officers taking part in the raid were Deputy Sheriff Boyd McClendon, R. J. Bailey, E. D. Neal and City Marshal Jim D. Key. The officers stated that two of the men came up with a barrel of oil when they were arrested.

Wheat in Rainfall: OVER WILBARGER COUNTY: WILBARGER COUNTY, TEXAS, June 9.—Wilbarger county was visited by a three-inch rain, beginning Friday night. It rained the greater part of the night and all morning Saturday. Quite a bit of wheat in the county will be lost on account of the heavy rains. Some farmers have not cut their wheat and others have not threshed. Most of the wheat that has not been placed in shock will be greatly damaged, if not a total loss. The roads are in very bad condition in some parts of the county.

EXHIBITS ARRIVING FOR WATERWORKS CONVENTION HERE

MORE THAN 100 DELEGATES MAKE RESERVATIONS AND 300 MORE EXPECTED.

VISIT TO DAMSITES IS TO BE PROVIDED

Care Being Asked For Trip; Daily Publication to Appear During Meeting.

Plans are practically complete for the entertainment of the some 400 delegates to the convention of the Southwest Waterworks Association which meets in this city for four days beginning June 18. Exhibits are arriving daily and are being placed in the American Legion hall on Ohio, the locations secured for the exhibits of the various companies will demonstrate for the benefit of the waterworks men.

In response to invitations mailed out from the office of the city waterworks, over 100 reservations have been made at local hotels. The invitations contained a request that the delegates secure reservations or notify local officials of their intention to attend. Reservations are being made daily, and F. N. Lawton, manager of the local water company, is of the opinion that over 400 delegates will attend.

One of the features of the entertainment for the waterworks men is a one-day trip to the irrigation dams. Al Ellis is in charge of securing conveyances to make the trip. The chamber of commerce and city officials have asked 100 citizens with automobiles to offer their vehicles and drivers for the trip. The citizens have responded to the call and it is believed that ample transportation will be furnished.

Other features aside from the regular business sessions include an informal dance and at fresco barbecue at the city water plant. A banquet at the Kemp hotel will be given to delegates while they are guests in the city. Judge A. H. Brittain has been asked to act as toastmaster at the banquet.

A daily publication known as the "Whisper" will be published for the four days of the convention. The paper will be strictly a convention organ and will be devoted to the activities of the convention and its delegates.

Officers of the association and prominent men who will attend and take part in the convention are: J. R. Patterson, Oklahoma City; R. D. Morgan, Mexico; F. N. Lawton, city; Geo. P. Cotton, Hot Springs, T. L. Ammie, Shreveport, W. A. Stanfield, Topeka, Milton Anderson, Tulsa, H. A. Gallagher, Independence, Mo.; G. W. Kelly, Las Vegas, N. M.; Jesse High, Taylor, H. H. Krause, Omaha.

COOPER DISTRICT NOW CLASSIFIED AS HIGH SCHOOL

The Cooper school district was reclassified Saturday at a regular meeting of the county board of trustees and now rates as a high school. Two years ago it was classified as an elementary school of six grades, but the board at the meeting held in the office of County Superintendent Burl Bryant raised its classification.

The trustees of this district were also authorized to sell a Ford truck which was purchased by that district last year. F. M. Goette of district No. 17, known as Prairie Cottage, appeared before the board asking that district 17 have its boundaries redefined. The trustees also decided to redefine the boundary lines of district No. 2, known as Cityview.

J. C. McQuerry of district No. 19 asked that the board divide this district. No action was taken. In the absence of Chairman D. E. Hooks, W. W. Cook acted as chairman of the Saturday meeting. M. B. Singletary and J. P. Holder were the other members present.

PLAN TO PURCHASE LARGE SILK FLAG FOR COURT HOUSE

A flag pole, long stately and slender, has adorned a place on top of the county court house ever since the building was erected, but it has never borne the distinction of having a flag fly from it.

County Judge R. D. Sartin will place this matter before the county commissioners Monday and will ask that the county purchase a large silk flag which will be exhibited on at least special occasions. County Auditor E. F. Walsh Saturday asked several manufacturers to submit prices as to the cost of a flag.

If satisfactory arrangements can be made the flag will be raised every morning and taken down each evening.

COMMUNITY BAND TO GIVE CONCERT SUNDAY EVENING

The community band, composed of 23 pieces and directed by John Kaufman, will give a free band concert at Bellevue Park Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. The park at Ninth and Broadway streets affords pleasure to thousands of people every Sunday evening and a large attendance is expected at the concert.

Last Sunday the band played at Lake Wichita and a free concert will be given each Sunday evening in one of the parks of the city. The program for Sunday follows:

- 1—March, "Camp Custer," by Edward A. Schroder.
- 2—Gavotte, "Shadowland," by Lawrence H. Gilbert.
- 3—"Simple Air" (Theme), by Alberton.
- 4—Selection from "Bohemian Girl," by Franz Lehár.
- 5—Intermission. A brief address.
- 6—PART II
- 1—March, "The Tenth of Victory," by Franke Fuhrer.
- 2—(a) "Humoresque" by Dvorak.
- 3—"Intermission, Russia" by Th. Franke.
- 4—"Fair Maiden of Seville," by A. Calbuena.
- 5—Selection of plantation songs "Chorus of the South," by Kishner.
- 6—Patrol, "The Blue and the Gray," by C. W. Dalby.
- Star Spangled Banner.

CITY GETS BATTY SATURDAY MORNING, MANY IN EVIDENCE

Bats in great numbers infested the downtown section of Eighth street Saturday morning and caused many of the feminine pedestrians to detour on their way to work. It is believed that they were blinded by the rain Friday night and were unable to return to their nests.

Corners on Eighth at Scott and Indiana were covered with dead bats which had dashed themselves against the buildings. Many stenographers refused to go to their offices in some buildings until the bats were driven out.

Four Boys Not Only Take Pledge But Assert They Will Encourage Birds to Make Home in Back Yard

Four of the boys who help to make up the list of 50 who joined the ranks of today's honor roll not only pledged never to injure or kill a song bird but also are going to spend some time during the summer vacation in learning more about song birds and next year encourage birds to make their home in their back yards. The boys said they were going to construct bird houses.

One little fellow who is confined to his home with whooping cough asked his mother to call Mr. Bradley Saturday so that he might have his name in the honor roll. He also told his mother to state that he could well appreciate the sorrow that the death of the mocking bird brought to the little girl invalid whose song bird had been killed by thoughtless boys.

The following boys have taken the pledge: "I promise on my honor as a boy never to injure or kill any song bird or destroy its nest of eggs as long as I live nor permit it to be done if within my power to prevent it."

CLINE BACK FROM IMPERIAL SHRINE COUNCIL SESSION

A good time was had by all at the Imperial Shrine Council in Washington last week, according to W. D. Cline, representative of Muskogee Temple, who returned Saturday from the meeting.

Mr. Cline made the trip with the El Paso Temple, which had a conspicuous part in the council's affairs. The patrol was dressed in Mexican garb, with a number of serenades. El Paso girls who danced the fandango whenever given opportunity.

President Harding's address, was one of the features of the meeting. Mr. Cline said the chief executive making a profound impression on the Shriners, particularly when he expressed the hope that the nations of the earth might get together in the same fraternal spirit that actuated such gatherings as that in Washington.

The address of Secretary of Labor Davis, who told the Shriners how he hoped to "Americanize the alien before the alien alienated the American," was another interesting part of the proceedings. Mr. Cline said Washington was very hot and very crowded during the meeting. Mr. Cline reported Mr. Cline will spend most of this week here planning to leave Friday for St. Louis to represent the Rotary Club here at the International Rotary convention at St. Louis.

Everything Ready For Y. W. Campaign To Open on Monday

Plans were complete Saturday for the "finish it now" campaign for the Y. W. C. A. building fund to be staged this week.

Workers have been called to meet at luncheon at the Wichita Club at noon Monday to formulate plans for the campaign, which is scheduled to start Monday afternoon. It is hoped to wind up the campaign within record time, owing to the large number of pledges already made in the original campaign.

W. D. Cline, president of the chamber of commerce, who has been one of the active workers for the Y. W. C. A. is expected home from Washington in time to have a part in the campaign.

Those summoned to Monday's luncheon meeting are: A. Rogers, W. B. Hamilton, W. M. Priddy, E. S. Goodner, J. L. Jackson, Jr., Walter Hobbs, G. W. Platt, Julian Montgomery, Ed T. Sheeque, G. C. Wood, W. W. Sisk, J. T. Harrell, Lamar Fain, L. M. Greer, Jos. Huckling III, Carter McGregor, Lester Jones, R. A. Thompson, Joe W.

Plans were complete Saturday for the "finish it now" campaign for the Y. W. C. A. building fund to be staged this week.

My Hair Grows finer, thicker every year

By Edna Wallace Hopper

At my ripe age my hair is such as any girl might envy. Heavy and luxuriant, fine and clean, I have never had gray hair, never falling hair, never a touch of dandruff. And every year, despite my age, it grows more beautiful.

It is my greatest glory, admired by all who see it. Yet I have stood in the limelight for 22 years as a musical comedy star.

Beautiful at 27. I owe this to my mother. She said "Science knows one way to beautify the hair. Let us find it." So we searched the world until we found the best that science offered.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Hair Youth sells everywhere at 25c and 50c with eye-dropper. Also my Facial Youth—my famous liquid cleanser. Also my Youth Cream—my fruitly cold cream. Also my White Youth Clay. My Beauty Book comes with each Youth drop. It tells all who want lovely hair will see what my Hair Youth does. If the first bottle fails to please you, your dealer will return the price.

SOME DAMAGE DUE TO HEAVY RAINFALL OVER WIDE SECTION

TRAFFIC OVER BOTH DENVER AND KATY EFFECTED BY WASHOUTS. EXPECT FOUR FOOT RISE AT STORAGE RESERVOIR

Lake Wichita's Content Materially Increased; Wheat Fields Sustain Damage.

Two inches of rain here Saturday, and equally heavy precipitation throughout Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma, gave this section an unusually thorough June wetting, causing some damage to crops, washed out bridges on railroads serving this city, and put a plentiful supply of water into streams and tanks.

The bridges, one on the Denver and the other on the Katy, were both on the Canadian river. The Denver's structure over that stream was taken out, and the Katy's, near Camargo, Oklahoma, was damaged sufficiently to impede the flow.

Additional four-foot rise was expected in the storage lake on the irrigation project before Sunday morning, and a third of the outlet gates was being opened Saturday night to release the flood.

Construction company officials anticipated no trouble here in the delay which the rise will occasion.

Lake Wichita was reported Saturday night to be rising steadily, and it is thought the outlet supply, which was getting uncomfortably low, has been considerably increased.

The extent of crop damage will depend upon the subsequent weather. A little sunshine will serve to dry out the soil in condition for binders to operate on what which, in practically all uncut fields, is dead-ripe. Continued wet weather would have a harmful effect.

The southern part of Fort Worth and Denver train No. 2 due here at 1:30 o'clock, in the afternoon was delayed several hours Saturday because of the destruction of the bridge over the Canadian river. Not only along the Denver railroad, but also on the Katy is the Canadian river over running its banks, and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas bridge over the Canadian river near Camargo is almost washed away. It is said that it will be at least five days before traffic can be carried on over the river at that point.

The heaviest rainfall in the district was at Woodward, Oklahoma, according to the dispatcher reports. About four inches of rain fell at that place with over two inches and a half at Kik City. The main in Oklahoma stopped at 4 p. m. Saturday. Three inches of rain fell at Jayton with from one to one and a half at Stamford and vicinity, causing some track damage between Waurika and Abilene were also visited by good rains measuring about one inch.

While the wind extended north and south over the entire district, the damages on the Denver between Fort Worth and Childress were minor. The rain over the Canadian river being in the Amarillo district.

By spasmodic showers locally, the measurement of the rain was obtained. There was very little wind movement Saturday, and the temperature remained low. Late Sunday afternoon the skies cleared off, and old Bol came forth for the first time during the day.

Uncover An Odd But Unsuccessful Alleged Oil Scheme to Defraud Members of the Legal Profession

There was rejoicing in No. 3 fire station Saturday night when Andy Johnson, Dick Campbell and H. H. Jobs, three firemen at the station, returned from a day in the justice of peace court and announced to the firemen that "Billie," the pet coon mascot of the station for several months, had been returned by law to his rightful owners. ...

Early in the year Dick Campbell came into the station with a shaggy, ill-tempered coon, whose only redeeming feature was a white tooth nail. As time passed, the animal's disposition and personal appearance improved; he was dubbed with the high sounding title of "Billie," and accorded the staid position as mascot, with all the accompanying rights and privileges. ...

It all happened when Roy Campbell, brother of one of the firemen from Electra, spent the day at the fire station "Billie" attached no particular significance to his visit and was entirely unaware of what was going on. Late in the afternoon "snaps eye" showed up for the rightful owner of the coon and "Billie" lost his position as mascot of the station and entirely against his will accompanied Roy Campbell to take up his residence in Electra. ...

But alas, his efforts proved futile and he fell into the hands of a professor of the residence of the recent purchaser of the pet coon and without question or ceremony went in to recover his property. "Billie" willing and ready to go, accompanied his former owner to his home only to be disturbed again in a few days. In three days a complaint had been filed in the justice of peace court against Roy Campbell for claiming the animal, which he had arrested on a charge of larceny. ...

On testimony offered concerning this one particular physical characteristic of the coon, the court dismissed the case against Campbell and handed down the decision that Billie was in the hands of his just and legal owner. Firemen at No. 3, while not yet in possession of their former mascot, are anticipating a future day when the fates and gods are with them and Billie will again take up his abode at the station on Highway street.

SPIDERS OCCUPY PROMINENT PLACES IN LEAGUE AVERAGES

Salms Top Circuit In Fielding And Are Second Only To Bruins In Attack; Team Hitting 310

Leading the league in fielding and running second only to San Antonio in batting, the Spiders occupy a prominent place in the first complete Texas League averages issued by Statistician William B. Huggins and including games through June 1. As a team the Spiders are batting .301, as compared with San Antonio, leading with .275, and the eighth place hitters with .262.

The Salms are showing the way in distance circuit, with 19, just four more than the Bears and the timeliness of their safe hits is vouchsafed for the fact that fewer Spiders have been left stranded than any other set of players in the league except Gassers. And the Gassers have not seen an often enough to have many left stranded.

With 23, the Spiders are showing the way in stolen bases. In runs scored, total up to that time, the Spiders are showing the way to none but the Bears.

In the list of league leaders, the Salms claim to top the pitchers. Bob Deacher tops the circuit in runs scored, while the Spiders' Ruddy Tanner divides honors with Gassers' Ed Smith. Since the completion of the official figures, Tanner has slipped another for the circuit and Clarence Kraft has hit two, making the Spiders and the Cat tied for the leadership, with seven each.

As the Beane, the San Antonio slugger, though slumping considerably since June 1, holds away in many departments as the league's best. Sylvester Simon, the league's leading hitter, having laced the leather for the fine average of .347.

Two Panther hurlers, who are largely responsible for the present position of the Cats, Pale and Stoner are among the pitching leaders. Stoner's average is the best in the league for earned runs allowed, opposing teams having hit the former Tiger for but 1.16 earned runs a game. Conley of Dallas is the leader in percentage of games won and lost, with eight wins against a lone defeat. Bill Bailey, the Houston veteran, has whiffed 49 opposing batters for the lead in that department, while Pale is the circuit's hardest worker, having toiled in no less than 199 innings.

The averages as compiled by the league statistician follow:

TEXAS LEAGUE LEADERS

Batting: Simon, San Antonio, .347.
Pitching: (Games won) Conley, Dallas, won 2, lost 1 (earned runs average) Stoner, Fort Worth, 1.16.
Strike outs: Bailey, Houston, 65.
Most innings: Pale, Fort Worth, 199.
Most hits: Boone, San Antonio, 75.
Total bases: Boone, 113.
Runs: Deacher, Wichita Falls, 47.
Home runs: Tanner, Wichita Falls, 12.
Bases on balls: Demaggio, Beaumont, 31.
Stolen bases: Baucher, 11.
Home runs: Tanner, Wichita Falls, 12.
Bases on balls: Demaggio, Beaumont, 31.
Caught stealing: Donohue, Dallas; Strong, Beaumont, 7.

AMERICAN PROFESSIONALS IN QUEST OF BRITISH OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP AT TROON

WALTER HAGEN IS THE BRITISH OPEN CHAMP AND INTENDS TO HANG ON TO THE CUP

The rear guard of goldfom has drawn up to join the American invading forces in quest of the British Open title at Troon, Scotland, on June 17.

Departure of "Long Jim" Barnes, Johnny Farrell and Leo Diegel completed the American contingent in the British classic. On the other side they meet up with Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen and Charley Hoffman.

Outside the fact that Jack Hutchinson has been unsuccessful in obtaining a leave of absence from his club, the American team will make an supreme effort to retain possession of the cup which was brought to this country last year by Walter Hagen.

With Sarazen and Farrell to take the place of Hutchinson and Diegel, the American team should be far more dangerous than it was last year.

As in Sarazen's case, this will be the first time since he won the British Open last year that he has made three returns for the open. He finished third in two occasions and last year fell within a single shot of the "Mug."

Last year Hagen and Hutchinson, with Barnes and the three practically made a clean sweep of everything in their way. Hagen beat the winner, the first time in history a home-bred golfer succeeded in copping the treasured trophy. Barnes came second until Duncanson.

POLICE SEARCH FOR POSSIBLE CLUES TO WAGONER ROBBERY

Late Saturday night there had been no developments that would furnish a clue leading to the arrest of the thief responsible for the robbery of the "Wagoner" home Saturday morning when over $15,000 of diamonds and jewelry were taken from the residence of 1400 Tilden.

Just working on a shoe-string, the only remark which city officials had to make Saturday night concerning the possible apprehension of the thief and recovery of the loot.

City officers have worked on the case from several different angles and have been successful in identifying the work of professionals. All the evidence points to the fact that the thief was familiar or had access to the premises previously informed as to the location of the jewelry.

Word has been sent out to all citizens to watch for any possibility of the thief having come, announcing the burglary and the reward of $1,000 for information leading to the recovery of the loot.

Wagoner, shortly after discovering the loss, the reward is offered for the return of the jewelry and a liberal reward also offered for the recovery of any piece of the stolen articles.

'Bill Dollar' Spends a Busy Day And Makes Many Deals While on Journey in City of Wichita Falls

(Copyright 1934, F. W. Mosart)

"Bill Dollar spent a busy day on Tuesday with people who were taking advantage of the special sale in all parts of Wichita Falls in fact, he admits personally, that yesterday was about as busy a day as any, for Wichita Falls people could not resist the bargain advertised in the Times.

"Bill Dollar, up to the present time, has passed through the hands of many merchants, and each one who received him in the course of business has made a profit from him.

"This condition can keep up until I pass through the hands of all merchants," said "Bill Dollar," "as long as I remain in Wichita Falls under the care of local citizens I will work for them and build things they want me to, for my power for good is unlimited if I am used in Wichita Falls. The thousands of "Bill Dollars" that are circulating in Wichita Falls will work in the same way if they are properly handled.

"If the money spent on worthless stock and other wildcat securities by Wichita Falls in the last five years had been invested in manufacturing plants for this city many new places of business would be in evidence.

"See Great Future for City

"From all that I can see," said "Bill Dollar," "Wichita Falls is destined to become a great manufacturing city, because of its natural advantages, but the consummation of its hopes will be delayed if people persist in buying goods away from Wichita Falls if they can be obtained here.

"Money that is made in Wichita Falls by either employers or employees, and kept circulating in Wichita Falls will develop the necessary money to establish the big manufacturing plants that are so badly needed in this city now.

"The circle of a home working dollar is a small one. If it is treated fairly, the employee gets it, then it goes to a local merchant, who buys his goods from the many wholesale houses in this city, and they in turn pay it out in salaries. The employee banks part of it and the money is invested in the city, and it goes to many other employees who come here to take a place in the new industries.

"On the other hand, the circle of a dollar is short. The employee gets it, then it goes to some other city, and it is always under the impression that things are cheaper somewhere else, and it is away to some other city and neither the local merchant, wholesaler or banker gets the good of it, and the other city gets "Bill Dollar" and puts him to work in its own community.

"Money a Medium

"To put the matter in another way, "Bill Dollar" is not a thing of money as a commodity, for it is only a medium for the exchange of commodities (either goods or labor). Under the present conditions, a man who pays out money does not get anything in return, and he is always under the impression that things are cheaper somewhere else, and it is away to some other city and neither the local merchant, wholesaler or banker gets the good of it, and the other city gets "Bill Dollar" and puts him to work in its own community.

SPIDER STAR TOPS CIRCUIT IN HOMERS

When Eddy Tanner cracked one of Ashley Pope's offerings over the left field fence in Saturday's game at Shreveport, he took the Texas circuit by storm. This home run, which smacked brought his total to eight, one more than Clarence Kraft's collection this far. While Tanner always has obtained his share of the long hits, this was the first in which he has been able to jeopardize the home run honors.

Normal Downing, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Downing, is expected home the early part of next week from Fayetteville, Arkansas, where he has been studying in the University of Arkansas.

A. L. Yarbrough of the University of California, who has been visiting his mother, Mrs. M. A. Yarbrough, of the Albany Hotel, will leave for California tomorrow morning by his mother. Mr. Yarbrough, who is an aviator, is an art collector and a value in some other previous transaction and receives value back again.

In other words, all through this life, he gives up commodity for money in endless chain. The money that he gives up is the commodity that delivers the money to him.

Mr. J. R. Boat and daughter, of Detroit, were visitors in the city Friday.

Mr. Vera Hendrick and Miss Herline Millard returned from a day's visit with friends and relatives in Henrietta.

Mr. W. H. Pink of St. Louis left for her home Saturday after visiting his son, Louis Pink, for several weeks.

Miss Allie Hill, of Patrolia, visited friends in the city Saturday.

G. C. Parker, of Dallas, was a business visitor in the city Friday and Saturday.

A. P. Handley, formerly of this city, now of Port Worth, was in the city Saturday meeting his friends here.

Captain Edleman, of the Texas National Company, is in Dallas on business.

County Tax Assessor Ivan Denton left for Dallas Friday night to attend the graduation exercises of his daughter at T. C. U.

Mr. Will T. Hunter of Johnson City, Tennessee, is here for a visit with Judge and Mrs. Joseph H. Almsworth of 1419 Eleventh street.

Scott Foster of the Mungler Oil Company is in Dallas for a few days on business.

F. F. Nevin of the Tethona Oil Company is visiting in Kansas City for a short time.

M. G. Manning is spending the weekend with his mother, Mrs. W. H. Manning, of 207 Maple street.

COTTON CONDITION TEXAS IS REPORTED 76 PERCENT NORMAL

AUSTIN, June 9 (AP)—Cotton conditions in Texas on June 9 is reported as 76 per cent normal by George B. Trent, director of agriculture, in the first monthly state department summary of crops this year, issued today. All crops are declared to be promising, with cotton and corn in good condition. Some damage to cotton, citrus, guavas and grasshoppers is reported.

Condition of various crops reported by the summary follows:

Corn, 85 per cent normal; oats, 85; wheat, 81; hay, 81; kafir, 81; sorghums, 80; peanuts, 81; milo maize, 81; and ribbon cane, 72. The report states that Texas has the best prospects for a large cotton crop, then any other southern state.

It may be the man himself is to blame. It may be that he has fallen away to some distant community when he desired to buy commodities and has been unreasonable enough to

Zev, Winner of Kentucky Derby, Is Easy Victor In Belmont Stakes, Sande Up

By THOMAS L. CUMMINKEY
Universal Service Reporting Editor

NEW YORK, June 9.—There was nothing to the fifty-fifty running of the rich Belmont Stakes Saturday, but Zev, the crack three year old colt of the Hancoc stable, was the victor.

A few leaping strides after the start and he was in front. There he remained, with Jockey Billie Handke riding him along splendidly, all the rest of the way.

At the turn into the stretch, Sande pressed his horse into the sides of the big brown colt and began to draw away, to win easily by a length and a half.

Next came Chickvale, with a rush hidden out to the last ounce, and Billie Handke began to urge him in the betting as the Whitney Green Tree entry.

Messenger, a great Belmont hope, was a bad fourth, outgained by both Chickvale and Rialto, and slowing down suddenly at the head of the stretch. Martingale, Hypocrite, All American and Miss Smith were well strung out.

Zev simply too good.

A crowd of about 18,000 kept down by the dark, gold day, gave Zev and Sande, prince of riders, a far echoing and long sounding ovation, cheering them all through the last furlong and after the finish for infants.

By his victory, Zev added $15,000 and a silver cup of 1899 value. The total earnings of the three year old star are now $174,441. He has won $112,429 this season, and earned $24,663 as a two year old. This season he has won the Kentucky Derby and the Withers, Panmook and Railway Handicaps. Largely due to Zev, the Hancoc stable has made $126,908, a record for a month's racing.

It was a truly fun race, with every member in the best field of the historic event has attracted in years, having a chance to win. If it is in him or her. Zev was simply too good for them. He ran the mile and three furlongs, a searching race for speed, stamina and courage in 2:15, and over a track that was heavy and holding.

Clayton, Max Caskey, held the field at the barrier eight minutes before

SCOUTS TO RETURN FROM CAMP TODAY, TOO WET SATURDAY

On account of the heavy rains and the condition of the roads between the city and Craverville Park, 126 Boy Scouts who were scheduled to return home by automobile Saturday afternoon, will not break camp until Sunday morning. I. H. Roberts, president of the scout council, talked by phone to Chester Powell, scout executive at the camp, Saturday afternoon.

Plans Saturday night were for the Scouts to return home Sunday on the Northwestern unless there is a decided change in the weather. Mr. Roberts will talk to the camp again Sunday morning and if the weather will permit and the roads are passable, the Scouts will be brought home by automobiles as originally planned.

If the trip is made by automobile, the party will leave here Sunday morning shortly after nine o'clock. Parents of the boys who own touring automobiles for the return trip should notify Mr. Roberts.

ALEXANDER HOWAT IS FREE ON $2,000 BOND

PITTSBURGH, June 8 (AP)—Alexander Howat, deposed leader of the United Mine Workers, Kansas district, was released from the Allegheny county jail tonight after $2,000 bond had been approved for his appearance at the September term of court. Howat was arrested several days ago upon a serious charge preferred by Mrs. Inga Robinson of Chicago upon behalf of her 15-year son.

SCOTLAND ADDITION The great industrial addition of Wichita Falls offers the greatest opportunity ever presented for people of moderate means to own their own homes close in to the heart of the business center of the best city in Texas. You can now build within walking distance of the business district on lots that are cheaper than they are several miles out in other additions. We are selling these beautiful lots which are 20x140 feet at the ridiculously low price of $100 and $150 per lot on easy terms. Availability and modern conveniences are two of the primary considerations when purchasing home sites. Scotland Addition is particularly favored being close in and containing all the modern improvements including street car service. Located between the business district and all the refineries, factories and railroad shops, out lots in this addition are bound to enhance in value as the addition builds up. There will never be another close in addition. The time to buy is now while you have over 300 lots to select from. Call or phone for further particulars and free transportation. A. L. Huey & Co. Office 262 Scott Phone 4122

Out on the Seymour Road About a 15 minute drive from the heart of the city, we have an exceptional fine tract of land, fronting more than one-half mile on the road. This land is extra well located for suburban homes and all subject to irrigation. Tract contains more than 100 acres and we have a very attractive price for immediate sale. This is one of the best investments we have to offer. J. N. PROTHRO & CO. NEXT DOOR TO STRAND THEATER Phone 5187 811 Scott Ave.

INDIAN HEIGHTS

Is Protected for the Best Homes—No Stores Or Factories Can Invade It

With the encroachment of small business houses, factories, filling stations and other commercial institutions in strictly residence sections, those who buy sites for their future homes should be very careful to safe-guard themselves against neighbors that may not be very satisfactory. Under the present rulings of the Supreme Court of Texas, city officials have no control over the building of stores and factories in residence districts. The family with their savings of a lifetime in a home, may find themselves neighbors with a boiler factory or a grocery store or meat market. With the law as it stands at present, householders can only protest in vain unless they are living in a restricted district which is protected in the original deed against stores, factories and commercial buildings generally. Indian Heights is protected forever. When you build your home here you may know that you will always be surrounded by the best type of homes only.

Every vacant lot in unrestricted residence sections in Wichita Falls and Texas is a menace to the surrounding homes for it may have a store or factory erected on it at any time. Many of our citizens do not realize the condition that prevails. In providing a home for your family, your future neighbors should be carefully considered.

INDIAN HEIGHTS

The Indians Chose Long Ago.

The beautiful and commanding Indian Heights at the western edge of Wichita Falls attracted the attention of the Indians years ago because of its commanding eminence overlooking all the surrounding country.

Where once the red man's moccasined feet trod the soft grass and his keen eye searched the far reaching hills and valleys, civilization now holds sway and down Wenonah Avenue, into Onaway Trail, the white man's automobile winds its way and beautiful homes, prosperous farms, and paved highways meet his gaze.

INDIAN HEIGHTS with its beautiful view of the river and surrounding country, its cool breezes sweeping across the irrigated section from the south, with modern conveniences of the city and delightful advantages of the country, offers possibilities for a home equalled by no other addition to Wichita Falls.

INDIAN HEIGHTS is the one logical direction for the desirable residence section to go. The river, railroads or factory districts are encountered in any other direction. The most desirable part of the city is traversed in reaching this addition, including the most beautiful homes and attractive drives. The Seymour road to be paved, is the logical drive straight west to the two big lakes. These two lakes will not only be the recreation grounds for the citizens of Wichita Falls, but will be the mecca of thousands of tourists from all over the country.

INDIAN HEIGHTS

Eventually you will want to live in Indian Heights. There are only 46 building sites, Buy Now.

INDIAN HEIGHTS offers modern conveniences, beautiful drives, an inviting park and small lake to be converted into a swimming and wading pool as the residents desire, and the most attractive and far reaching view to be had in this section of the country, are features of indispensable value.

Look over the map, study the size of each building site and its price, drive over the addition, observe the view which will not be obstructed by the erection of buildings, because the sites are large, and then compare the price of this property to any other desirable section of the city and you will be convinced that this is the cheapest priced property in Wichita Falls.

Building Better Homes From the Inside; a Nation's Wealth

By MARILYN MORRIS

"I suppose," says the Little Girl's mother wistfully, "that when she gets a few years older she'll want a job—she'll want to earn money for her own. But somehow I've always hoped she'd be one of the girls who marry young and have children and make—make money."

"All very well," says the practical friend briskly, "but suppose the right man doesn't come along?"

"Suppose her marriage is a failure and she waits a divorce; suppose she's left a widow, with children to raise?"

"Every woman, no matter what her fortune or her prospects are, should have a profession or a trade, should be able to take care of herself!"

"Yes, I know," agrees the Little Girl's mother, still frowning. "But I had always rather hoped—After all, a woman is never so happy as when she has her own home!"

She cannot quite explain it, but she knows that even the most glittering success—the woman who has acquired a fortune, who has won a million dollars in a lottery, who has inherited a vast estate—she cannot be so happy as when she has her own home!

It is not only the woman who has inherited a fortune, who has won a million dollars in a lottery, who has inherited a vast estate—she cannot be so happy as when she has her own home!

Haskell

SOCIAL ITEMS.

Mrs. J. U. Fields Hostess.
One of the very nicest affairs that has ever been planned in Haskell was the party given by Mrs. J. U. Fields honoring Mrs. F. T. Sanders, president of the Methodist Missionary Society. Many bowls and vases of freshly cut panicles and snap dragons from the hostess' own garden added charm to the room.

In the receiving line with Mrs. Fields and Mrs. Sanders were Mesdames O. E. Patterson, H. H. Langford, Tyson, and S. L. Culwell. The guests were ushered into the reception suite by Mrs. H. M. Smith. As the society has been studying "Building With India" for the past two months, the hostess had arranged on a table a large collection of curios from India, sent by Mrs. Mildred Smith Pace to this district. Mrs. Pace who taught here is now with her husband, a Missionary in India.

Mrs. R. C. Montgomery, treasurer of the North West Texas Women's Conference explained the course.

Mrs. Fields, toast mistress paid a happy tribute to each speaker as she introduced them. Mrs. Ethel Irby gave a toast from the Missionary Society. Mrs. Hill Oates, from her Sunday school class, of which Mrs. Sanders is teacher. Mrs. B. L. Culwell told in rhyme of the church work of the honoree. Mrs. Kirkpatrick, from the Parent Teachers Association, Mrs. C. L. Lewis told of the record of the honoree as president of the Magazine Club. Mrs. H. M. Smith gave a clever toast to Mrs. Sanders as a newspaper correspondent. Mrs. P. D. Sanders as a daughter-in-law. Best of all were the beautiful and loving tributes paid by Miss Lola Earnest, the sister, Roy Sanders, the son and F. T. Sanders, the husband. Then Mrs. Fields expressed her appreciation of the honoree as a friend, and as a southerner of this happy occasion, she presented Mrs. Sanders with a beautiful pottery bowl filled with panicles for thoughts. Mrs. Sanders responded with a toast to Mrs. Fields. "Friend O' Mine."

After the refreshment plate consisting of brick ice cream and cake with panicles for favors, a song to the tune of "Old Black Joe" bringing in the honoree's name "Linnie" was sung. The following enjoyed this most delightful occasion: Mesdames H. M. Smith, O. E. Patterson, R. L. Culwell, Tyson, H. H. Langford, W. H. Murchison, John, and Hill Oates, C. L. Lewis, I. W. Kirkpatrick, R. C. Montgomery, Pippin, R. H. Ricks, F. M. Morton, B. Cox, F. G. and Fred Alexander, T. J. Demmon, A. F. Neil, Andrew Driver, Oates, A. G. Jones, Leahy, F. H. H. Howell, W. J. Howell, F. Rutherford, J. D. Sanders, Walden, Miss Lola Earnest, Mr. F. T. Sanders and son, Roy. The honoree, the hostess and her grandmother, who was a dainty and beautiful little lady in pale lavender.

Mrs. R. V. Robertson Entertained.
Mrs. Robertson entertained all those who took part in the play "The Hickory Holler School" last winter for the benefit of the Parent Teachers Association. Mrs. Robertson directed the play. The whole of the large home was opened and in every room there were beautiful roses. Mr. and Mrs. Robertson's two attractive daughters, Gillen and Ruth, and Harriet Allison of Seymour presided at the punch table on the front porch and served the guests as they came in. A delightful evening was spent playing "42," and ice cream and cake were served to Mesdames and Messrs R. C. and J. A. Couch, H. S. Wilson, P. L. Daugherty, O. E. Patterson, C. L. Lewis, Rogers, B. M. Whitaker, R. C. Montgomery, H. R. Jones, C. F. Elkins, M. B. Watson, R. R. Rike, R. J. Reynolds, Mesdames M. Pierson, Mary Oates, John Robertson and daughter of Mineral Wells. Miss Klina Kinnard.

Farewell Party.
Mrs. F. T. Sanders Sunday school class gave an attractively planned party at the home of Miss Lois Earnest Monday evening. Miss Langford was presented with a bracelet as a parting gift from the class by the hostess. Mrs. Hill Oates gave a toast to the guest of honor. The home was decorated with roses. "42" was enjoyed, and brick ice cream and macaroons with dainty little favors were served to Mesdames Alberta Smith, Agnes and Anna Maud Cox, Juanita and Nona Kirkpatrick, Tannie Haggcock, Eunice Haggcock, Anna Kate Ferguson, and the guest of honor, Mrs. W. H. Smith, Messrs Wallace Cox, Whit Smith, David and Clarence Perrin, Ernest Petzet, Bernard, Courtney Menefee, Mesdames and Messrs Hill Oates, F. T. Sanders, Owen Fouts, Guy Mayes.

Kenneth Granting Class.
Mr. M. H. Brasher, superintendent of schools and Mrs. Brasher entertained the members of the graduating class with a lovely party Thursday evening Progressive "42" was enjoyed, and ice cream and cake were carried out in the refreshments.

Murchison Hostess.
Mrs. Murchison entertained the members of the graduating class with a few friends, honoring her son Walter Jr. Thursday evening. The reception room was decorated with the gold and purple colors draped in different places and snap dragons and larkspur. A very delightful evening was spent playing "42." The color scheme was carried out in the dainty refreshments and the favors were nose gays of the class flowers, sweet peas tied with purple and gold ribbon for the girls and for the boys buttonholes of the same. Those enjoying the hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Brasher, Mesdames Mildred Davis and Minnie Ellis two of Walter Jr.'s favorite teachers, Rebecca Meadors of Wichita Falls, Mesdames John Oles and Trigg of Bartrop. Mrs. Trigg is Mrs. Murchison's aunt who came out to attend the graduating exercises and see the new lovely little niece in the home.

T. E. L. Class Party.
The T. E. L. Class of the Baptist church held a social meeting at the home of Mrs. S. A. Roberts Friday afternoon. Vases of roses, sweet peas and nasturtiums were used for decoration, and the victrola furnished appropriate music. Mrs. J. J. Reynolds conducted the program which was opened by each introducing her right hand neighbor. None of the introductions were very clever and several confusions followed including books of the Bible. Ice cream and angel food cake were served with clusters of sweet peas as favors. Mesdames Paxton, Campbell, Whitaker and Gilliam assisted the hostess in serving. Mesdames R.

BRIDGE AT BEAVER CREEK READY FOR TRAFFIC JULY 1

Placing of the steel framework on the Beaver Creek bridge has been in progress during the entire week and according to present indications the bridge will be completed and ready to accommodate traffic by July 1.

The concrete piers were completed the latter part of last week at which time the steel framework was started. Practically all of the steel has been hauled to the site of the new bridge and no delays on account of lack of material need be expected.

The Beaver Creek bridge was destroyed early last spring when it collapsed while a heavy load of oil field machinery was being moved across it.

AMUSEMENT CALENDAR FOR WEEK AT LOCAL THEATERS

'Bohemian Girl' Is Attraction At Strand Monday

'The Bohemian Girl' At last the famous opera, noted alike for its thrilling, romantic story and its musical gems, has been pictured and will be seen at the Strand Theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Magnificently produced, it was directed by Harley Knoles with one of the most extraordinary casts ever assembled for a motion picture, comprising celebrities of the British stage such as Gladys Cooper, pre-eminent dramatic actress of London; Ivor Novello, unquestionably among the greatest of the most leading men and destined for a high place among the chosen favorites of the American public; Ellen Terry, illustrious, veteran, and one of the greatest actresses of the world; Henry Vinton, Gibb McLaughlin and a hundred other artists contribute a perfect ensemble.

'The Bohemian Girl' is an entertainment of the highest order, combining in its dramatic with the spectacular and is a feast for the eyes, an appeal to the heart. Furthermore, its musical setting will bring delight to those who love 'I Dreamed That I Dwelt in Marble Halls' as well as those who hear the celebrated aria for the first time. Arline is the little daughter of Count Arline, governor of an Austrian province, who lives in feudal splendor near a forest where a Gypsy Queen and her tribe encamp. Among them is her lieutenant, Devilhoof. He comes by chance upon Thaddeus, a young Polish refugee, who is pursued by Austrian soldiers. Devilhoof protects Thaddeus and offers him the concealment of Gypsy life.

Actors Mistaken For 'Revenuers' In Producing 'Driven'

An amusing, albeit nearly disastrous experience, has attended the production of Director Charles Brabin to film 'Driven', the Universal-Jewel coming to the Empress Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the exact locale of the story—the heart of the Blue Ridge Mountains. 'Driven' they found themselves ninety miles from the nearest railroad amidst a people who viewed all strangers with suspicion. Down in the Blue Ridge the mountaineers shot first and asked questions afterwards. No sooner had the company started staking around looking for desired backgrounds than they noticed a rough, tattered man trailing them with a shotgun. Mr. Brabin realized that he suspected that they were 'revenuers' and at the risk of his life walked up to the man and explained their mission. The mountaineers were not quite convinced, but finally were won over and became interested spectators. A short time later, while the players were in costume, a party of real revenue agents approached and mistook the made-up actors for real mountaineers, and again a tragedy was averted only by a narrow margin. This time the sheriff of the county was watching the opera-ations and he hastened to reassure the federal officers. 'Driven', one of the most sensational photoplays ever made, has a real all-star cast including Charles Emmett Mack, loaned for the production by David Wark Griffith; Elmer Fair, Burr McIntosh and Emily Fitzroy with George Bancroft, Ernest Chandler and Leslie Stone in the principal supporting roles.

It is a picture that grips one from the very start right through to the true-to-life ending and tells the truth about life in the part of these cultured United States where the law of force is still looked on as the only authority to be recognized.

'Driven' was termed an exceptional production by the National Board of Review, an honor seldom given by that body. A special inducement is offered the patrons of the Empress during the opening day of 'Driven'. Two persons will be admitted on one ticket.

'Has The World Gone Mad?' See Answer Monday

When Ambassador George Harvey uttered his famous words, 'Women have souls!' he set countless tongues wagging throughout the world. Now comes Daniel Carson Goodman, dramatist and motion picture producer, with his view of it. In answer to the question, 'Have women souls?' Mr. Goodman stands right up in meeting and answers, unequivocally, 'Yes.' And Goodman ought to know. All of which is by way of announcing the first exhibition of Mr. Goodman's latest and most inspiring dramatic photoplay, 'Has The World Gone Mad?' at the Olympic theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

'Of course women have souls.' Mr. Goodman replied when questioned recently by reporters on the question, 'Have women souls?' Mr. Goodman's apartment overlooking the wind-ruffled lake in Central Park, New York.

'Womenhood is the greatest force for good in the tortured world today. With Turkey torn by antagonistic religions, it is to regrettable millions; with Smyrna still smoldering in the ruins left by vandal hordes, with Europe still tottering on the very brink of disaster; with our own great country troubled by selfish politicians and adventurers, I shudder to think what would happen if there were no women to keep us traveling on an even, steady keel.'

Woman, according to the view of Mr. Goodman, has realized that if she is to hold her own in this, one of life's greatest battles—the battle of her own sex—she must borrow from the weapons of experience. That is why, Mr. Goodman holds, she does not disdain the roughest pen, the pencil, the art of the manufacturer and the subtlety of the dressmaker. Yet Mr. Goodman believes there is room for improvement in all of us women as well as men. He agrees with H. G. Wells and other famous writers that there is a great, unseen force composed of extravagance, self-indulgence and moral laxity, that is slowly but surely undermining our very civilization. This is the theme of the production, 'Has The World Gone Mad?' which the title implies and which, according to critics of standing, takes rank among the most entertaining and thrilling screen dramas of the year. The cast includes Charles Richmond, Mary Alden, Robert Emmett, Heddle Hopper, Vincent Coleman, Elmer Fair and others. J. Searle Dawley directed under the personal supervision of Daniel Carson Goodman.

The most expensive color used by the painter, ultramarine (blue), which is obtained from the lapis lazuli stones of India and Persia.

Monte Blue On Noted Horse In 'Tents of Allah'

Because Monte Blue stands two inches over six feet in his shoes, difficulties were experienced in finding a horse for him to ride in 'The Tents of Allah', the Encore picture in which Monte Blue is costarred with Mary Alden.

This is not a usual difficulty in pictures in which Mr. Blue appears, but came about in the production of 'The Tents of Allah' because it was made in Porto Rico. The Porto Rican horse is very small—about the size of our western burro—and Monte Blue mounted on one of these little animals was ludicrous, rather than a heroic figure.

Producer E. A. MacManus was worried. He had spent much time, labor and money to have every detail of 'The Tents of Allah' not only magnificent, but correct, and would not be defeated for a horse. There were more conferences over a horse for Mr. Blue than any other picture that has won over a hundred races in Europe and has reared on every big track in the United States and in the others, for he was immediately purchased from his owner, Dr. Denton, and turned into a moving picture actor.

But that is not the end of the story. Black Eagle did not like the other horses and it took all the riding that Monte Blue, an expert horseman that he is, could do to ride that horse. He would rear and race as though pursued by the devil. In scenes where Monte Blue, as the chief of a desert tribe of bandits, had to ride at the head of his tribe, Black Eagle ran so fast that they had to start the others first and let Blue on Black Eagle come later and overtake them.

Otherwise, he would have left the tribe far behind. Even then they had to turn Black Eagle's head to the other side so that they could see their way—there was no holding him.

'The Tents of Allah' is an Encore picture that will be at the Strand Thursday, Friday and Saturday. It was written and directed by Charles A. Linn, and tells a fascinating and thrilling story of romance and adventure. The exceptional cast includes Charles Richmond, Mary Alden, Robert Emmett, Heddle Hopper, Vincent Coleman, Elmer Fair and others. J. Searle Dawley directed under the personal supervision of Daniel Carson Goodman.

SEE Monte Blue as the most romantic Shiek of the screen! Mary Alden is a mother role full of sympathy and romance! Mary Thurman as an American girl held as hostage by bandits! A story by Charles A. Logue, of adventure, intrigue and love that keeps you breathless with expectancy! Thrilling action, magnificent settings, beautiful scenery in the pictorial achievement of the year!

Priscilla Dean In 'The Flame of Life' Empress Thursday

Dramatic, dazzling Dean is with us again. But this is the time Priscilla dazzles through the sheer artistry of her wonderful technique and not by reason of elaborate costumes and tuneful settings. The more one sees of the clever actress the more one appreciates that she is one of the outstanding figures in the world of the cinema. There are stars many that depend upon fancy costumes or beautiful faces to 'put them over,' but few that win out through real dramatic ability and at the head of the list stands the name of Priscilla Dean.

Miss Dean's latest vehicle, which will be the offering at the Empress Thursday, Friday and Saturday is a Hobart Henley Universal-Jewel adaptation of one of Frances Hodgson Burnett's widely read novels of English life. It tells the story of the English coal fields during the period of 1870 when the landed gentry of England looked upon the slate-pickers, miners and other workers as 'less than the dust under their feet.'

It was into such a camp that a wealthy young man came to learn the business 'from the ground up' perhaps one should say 'from the ground down.' He was an exception to the general rule of his class in that he looked upon the workers as fellow human beings and his one desire to help their better themselves. Robert Ellis as the 'overman' gives a wonderful characterization.

In 'The Flame of Life' Miss Dean as Joan attracts the attention of the 'overman' and he centers his efforts on her. His attitude is misconstrued by her fellow workers and she is forced to endure their vulgar jibes. Joan's father is anything but a paragon of virtue. He hates all the upper crust and this includes the overman who has tried to be his friend. Wallace Beery, master villain, brings to the part of the father all the consummate artistry of his long and varied experience.

It would not be fair to divulge the entire plot, but it is one that is certain to hold any audience spell-place. They are a scene of a mine strike and disaster that is a masterpiece of realism. Others in the excellent cast are all capable and great credit must be extended Universal and Director Hobart Henley.

'The Prisoner of Zenda' Comes to Gem on Monday

Rex Ingram, whose latest production for Metro, 'The Prisoner of Zenda,' which comes to the Gem Monday, declares that he finds much in an unusually effective stimulation to the emotions, very often a same to dramatic heights which otherwise the actor or actress might never reach.

'One need know nothing whatever about the technique of music to be greatly affected by it,' he says. 'I profess to no knowledge of it and yet a Wagnerian opera can stir me tremendously.'

Recognizing its efficacy, Mr. Ingram employs music consistently forward the work upon his productions, delving into the preferences and prejudices of his players to discover in what way the note of melody may be most convincingly sounded in them. For each and every one of us almost invariably cherishes some song or piece which through associations, can evoke from us expressions of pathos, tears and often downright sobbing. The glycerine tear drop is rapidly becoming a thing of the past. It is a sign to many directors that the player is incapable of the most refined emotion. It was never as prevalent as readers of motion picture magazines have been led to believe.

'The Prisoner of Zenda' is an adaptation by Mary O'Hara from the famous Anthony Hope story. Edward Rose dramatized it. The notable cast of players assembled by Mr. Ingram for the production is headed by Alice Terry of 'Four Horsemen' fame. Lewis Stone has the leading male role, while others having important parts are: Robert Edeson, Edward Connelly, Stuart Holmes, Lois Lee, Malcolm McDowell, Barbara La Marr, Harmon Navarro and John F. Seitz photographed the picture.

EUROPEAN QUESTION BIG ISSUE IN 1924 PRESIDENTIAL RACE

WHAT UNITED STATES SHOULD DO IF ANYTHING AT ALL TO FEATURE IN CAMPAIGN OF TWO PARTIES

By MARK SULLIVAN
Political Correspondent of the New York Tribune and Wichita Daily Times
(Copyright, 1923, by New York Tribune)

The state of Europe and our relations with Europe are sure to play a large part in our American presidential elections next year. What American should do about Europe; whether it should do anything at all; to what extent the situation has changed since our senate refused to ratify our signature to the League of Nations; whether our joining now would have as beneficial an effect as the friends of the league believe it would have had in 1919; whether some wholly new initiative on the part of America would be better, or if it called for—all these are questions which will be much in the minds of American business men, American editors and other leaders of thought and American politicians next year.

Here in Europe the facts upon which to base sound judgment on these questions are widely scattered. They are additionally difficult to get at because they change from day to day. They are nowhere on record and must be sought out energetically. Finally, as to some of the facts, prejudice or self-interest on the part of the European custodians of these facts creates a motive for concealing them and raises a situation calling for energy and discrimination on the part of the American inquirer.

Nevertheless, if our people at home next year are well informed about these questions it will be for some other reason than lack of enough Americans, leaders in one field or another, now here in Europe. Aside from the American newspaper men and writers resident here, or here for the special purpose of supplying the present American curiosity about Europe, there are days in Paris or in London when you find across many American senators or congressmen that you almost feel as if they could call a quorum and transact business.

These senators and congressmen include many with an eager interest in the facts, a lively energy in getting at them and a sound equipment for testing them and basing judgments on them.

All these senators and congressmen have the American point of view. This is not said in the sense that all of them have a merely selfish "America first" standpoint. On the contrary, some, at least, of the American political leaders here are among those who hold most strongly to the belief that idealism in international relations is the best policy for America, even from the most thoroughly national point of view. What they do is that they uniformly avoid falling into the position of becoming partisans of one side or another of the various issues now being argued. As between France and Germany in the matter of the Ruhr, they are neither pro-French nor pro-German. As between Great Britain and France, they are neither pro-British nor pro-French.

There are some Americans in Europe—quite a number—who proclaim themselves on one side or the other of these tensions between European nations. But these are chiefly Americans of the sort whose primary interest in Europe is on the social side, who are susceptible to that form of sentimentality which is practiced here than in American life, which expresses itself in a claimant by persons of social standing, so called or in the offering of distinctions or privileges from the government in attention to the various nations. But these are chiefly Americans of the sort whose primary interest in Europe is on the social side, who are susceptible to that form of sentimentality which is practiced here than in American life, which expresses itself in a claimant by persons of social standing, so called or in the offering of distinctions or privileges from the government in attention to the various nations.

In any event, none of the American senators or congressmen now here has other than a purely American point of view. Among them so far as there is any lack of a perfect equipment for the acquisition and reflection of the facts, it is the reflection of the individual to our domestic politics in their previous commitment to one point of view or another about the League of Nations, for example, or in the unwillingness of a Republican or a Democrat or an irreconcilable to embarrass his party or his faction or his personal associates, by admitting a system of appealing to opinion in America which was begun during the early months of the European war, which has generally expanded and carried on energetically under the frank and official name of propaganda as soon as we were in the war, and which, in one country at least, is still carried on in some form. It was legitimate enough while the war was on—this effort to build up sympathetic understanding in America. Under the present conditions it is possibly a little open to question. But it is probably does no great harm. Those Americans who are affected by it who become frank partisans of one European nation against another, are not, as a rule, so situated at home in America as to have great power in influencing our national actions—although occasional examples of this partisanship surprise you a little.

is taken as a whole, an immense evil, economic and moral. But in the case of the farmer and the peasant it has worked, so far, in his favor. A farmer before the war had a mortgage which kept him lying awake at nights with apprehension, a mortgage, let us say, of ten thousand crowns, or marks, or lire, or francs. Such a mortgage on an ordinary European small farm was a cause of terror. But since the depreciation of the currency, since marks have fallen from twenty-five cents to a thousandth of a cent, since crowns have fallen even more, since francs are worth only a third of their pre-war value, since lire are worth less—under these conditions the farmer in Italy has been able to sell a few cows and get rid of his mortgage; the German farmer has been able to do it with a dozen eggs; and so on throughout the rest of Europe. And every one who knows the farmer anywhere knows the oppression of the mortgage and knows the psychological lift, the spirit of hope and optimism, that comes with paying it off.

Now, the mere paying off of farm mortgages, as one detached incident of currency depreciation, is only an island in a flood of economic evil. Also, everybody knows that sooner or later, when the joy ride of currency depreciation is over, the farmer must share with others the inevitable distress and depression of the morning after. Nevertheless, for the present effects of currency depreciation have made the farmer and the peasant happy and optimistic, having this spirit of hope, he is working harder than ever, and the European farmer always worked hard.

On the farms of Europe everywhere economic wealth is being piled up rapidly. The aggregate of another horse added to the stable, a cow or two more to the herd, an improved plow instead of the primitive one—all that is creating a new body of real wealth in Europe faster than has caught the attention of the pessimists. As you observe it, you realize that the most durable thing, the really substantial thing, is the aggregate of individual men and women going back to work, the resourcefulness under the necessity of getting something to eat for themselves and their families. It is a commonplace thing, a thing we rarely take notice of or talk about, but it is doing more for Europe than all the devices of theorists and governments and statesmen about which we talk so much.

The cities are a contrast with this. The cities are still in the shape, and it is the cities that are seen by travelers in truth, very little that is hopeful can be said about the cities. You can find a city in which it is difficult for the poor to get enough to eat, in which food, money do not get enough to eat. But you can walk ten miles from that city, into the country, and on the farms you can find abundance. There are thoughtful persons in Europe who believe that the cities are destined for very unhappy times, that the present economic tendencies may result ultimately in the cities being very much reduced in size.

But one feels like gripping hard on the elementary fact that the farms are fast becoming more prosperous. The cities are a contrast with this. The cities are still in the shape, and it is the cities that are seen by travelers in truth, very little that is hopeful can be said about the cities. You can find a city in which it is difficult for the poor to get enough to eat, in which food, money do not get enough to eat. But you can walk ten miles from that city, into the country, and on the farms you can find abundance. There are thoughtful persons in Europe who believe that the cities are destined for very unhappy times, that the present economic tendencies may result ultimately in the cities being very much reduced in size.

Everywhere the small farmer is adding a cow or two to his herd; increasing his flock by a few more sheep; buying a better plow or a modern reaper. Nearly everywhere, the farmer is paying off his mortgage. The reason he is paying it off so easily is the depreciation of the currency that is characteristic of almost every country that was in the war, except Great Britain. That currencies are depreciated

No remedy can cure all ailments of the human body, but an immense number of people suffer from aches, pains and discomforts when their real trouble is lack of iron in the blood. It is the iron of the blood that gives you the strength to get the nourishment out of your food. Without iron your food merely passes through you without doing you any good; you don't get the strength out of it. There is one universally known tonic that has helped thousands because it contains iron like the iron in fresh vegetables and like the iron in your blood.

perous, more fruitful, and as nearly happy as it is possible for wounded people to be. After all, that is the thing that is fundamental. All this wrangling about reparations and currency inflation and international debts—had as all that is, it is, after all, merely a matter of the book-keeping at the top of the structure. Because we are all obsessed with it we fail to see the solid improvements at the bottom.

Having made this as a broad and loose generalization, it is desirable to suggest some deductions that follow:

Of course, since the farms in Europe are "coming back" fast, and since the rest of Europe is not, it follows that those European countries which are furthest on the road to recovery are those in which farming is the principal occupation, while those countries in which farming is the least important part of the nation's business are the least advanced in recovery.

What is said about farms and farming districts recovering has nothing to do with political conditions or the management of governments. As if happens in the countries of Europe in which farming is the principal economic resource, recovery is most rapid. In which individual farmers is offset or more than offset by bad government.

As it happens, by an ironic justice, the one country among all who took part in the war, in which government is most wise, most honest and most courageous, is Great Britain, and Great Britain less than any of the others is an agricultural country. Agriculture in Great Britain is almost a negligible industry compared to some others. In other words, although Great Britain has gone further than any other country in the direction of recovery, so

However, the new machine will make without less hazardous as it will reduce the cost of drilling in wildcat territory approximately one-half and will eliminate fuel oil and water shut-downs. One barrel of kerosene is sufficient to run the new machine a full day.

BUILDING PERMIT TOTAL LIGHT FOR PAST WEEK, ONLY 7 PERMITS ISSUED
Building took a slump during the week ending June 3; seven permits for repair and improvement work were issued from the office of the city clerk. The largest permit granted was for $100 and the total for the week amounted to only $142. Not an application was received during the week for the erection of a new building. Permits for improvements were granted to the following:
F. E. Johnson, 1703 Bluff, sleeping porch, $100.
R. C. Pemberton, 504 Brook, repairs to residence, $15.
J. A. Lawrence, Bk. 8, North Park, repairs, $200.
Stehlik and Baber, Bk. 1-A, High-tenth Heights, $100.

PATENTS SECURED BY H. A. CLARK ON NEW MACHINE
Patent protections have been secured by H. A. Clark on his new rotary drilling machine and the Clark Machine Company located at 123 Ohio avenue has installed new machinery to begin the manufacturing of the new device at once. The new drilling machine will employ a large tractor for power which is also used for moving the entire drilling equipment. The fuel cost of the new machine is reduced approximately 70 per cent. The tractor burns kerosene instead of fuel oil. The mud pump, draw works and rotary table is driven from the tractor motor, eliminating the steam boilers and steam engine, also.

STORIES OF THE NEW-RICH WHO ARE OVERRUNNING BERLIN

FRANK G. CARPENTER REVEALS HOW THEY MADE THEIR MONEY AND HOW THEY SPEND SURPLUS

A Look at the Fashionable Restaurants and Dance Halls—Gambling for Wine—A Lady Who Prefers Lobsters to Dickens—Madame Schieber Versus Madame Senator—The Old Father and His Finger Bowl—A Country of Contrasts.

(Copyright, 1923, by Carpenter's World Travels)

BERLIN—Germany swarms with millionaire drones, bred in the bosom of the war and fattened on the honey of army contracts. It is the home of others who have made fortunes in the rise and fall of the mark, and in shady speculations, often contrary to law, on the varying conditions since the Versailles treaty was made. Many of these new-rich were paupers in 1918. Some had little more than a few machines in the back rooms of tenement buildings. As the war demands increased they bought more machines, and finally had enough money to establish factories and bid for big contracts and get them. Some made fortunes on a special plan they had invented, and others foisted on the people and government paper-soled shoes, shoddy clothing and jerry-built houses. Hundreds amassed wealth by selling goods they pretended to have, relying on the rise of prices to resell their contracts. All the while the price of goods was rising and the price of the goods they were selling rose and they were sure to make money.

One of the contemptuous names for these new-rich is "the schieber." The word comes from "schleichen," which means "to creep," and the schiebers being those who smuggled things in from Switzerland, Holland, Denmark and Sweden during the war, trading in materials that were supposed to be controlled by the government. There were many such men and they made a great profit. These men are now engaged in chain-selling, which is forbidden by law. They sell cheap products which can be smuggled into the country, or cheap goods made in Germany which are escaping the taxes, and speculate in them. They take orders from one another, selling the goods over and over—adding a commission on each sale, which comes out of the ultimate consumer. For instance, a schieber bought a lot of tent canvas when the army was being dissolved, at 19 cents a yard. He offered a brother schieber a piece of the stock at 15 cents a yard, and the latter sold it to the same man at 10 cents. In the meantime the price of canvas went up and the goods passed from hand to hand until they came back again to the first schieber, who paid 20 cents for the canvas. He was buying back the same stuff he had sold at 15 cents. Most of such selling is "without seeing the goods, the transactions being on paper with the idea that the last buyer will pay. Many men have made money by buying on the margin, increasing, buying cheap real estate and selling it as the prices have risen. Most of such purchases have been made "on a shoe string," as the saying is, and only a small amount in cash being paid with long time notes for the balance. As the market fell, the schieber was able to pay off the mortgage at one-hundredth for one-thousandth of its original value, and the speculator in such conditions has been just the reverse of those of other countries. The man depends on the market to best off, for he can pay his debts, contracted in gold, in marks which are not worth the paper on which they are printed. The speculation in real estate is so promising that foreign investors have bought up some of the best properties in the chief German cities. There is one district of Berlin, known as the Bavarian section, because its streets are named after towns in Bavaria, where so much property has been acquired by Hollanders that the people have nicknamed it "Dutch Berlin." The Russians, also, own valuable real estate.

Food Speculators
A great many of the schiebers have made money in food which they smuggled in and sold secretly when the government had the nation on rationing. A vast deal has been made in buying and selling industrial, both here and abroad. These men depend on a different class from the really great capitalists of industry, such as Hugo Stinnes and others. The latter are doing an actual business in cash. It is they whose millions are supposed to be stored away in the banks of the sound financial nations. These people, and in fact all of the conservatives of Germany, have a contempt for the schiebers. The common people, then, and class with them all profitters who are feeding fat off the miseries of their fellow-men.

Millionaire Babies and Luxury Dags
The schiebers are known by their ostentation. They go about in fur coats and rich raiment. They are among the few who have automobiles, and they always travel first-class. They now own the fine houses and are gradually buying the palaces in fashionable Berlin. One sees the babies of these new millionaires gorgeously dressed with fur coats and matching in the parks. The Vanderbilts used to belong to the aristocracy but they are now employed by the schiebers as their fantastic caprices are thought to be a sign of wealth on the part of the person who hires them.

Some Stories of Schiebers
It is the schiebers who are now paying the greater part of the luxury tax, and they own what is known as the luxury tax here in Germany. We have dogs free of tax which labor, hauling cars as they do in Holland. There are also the common curs which, if taxed at all, are taxed lightly. But the hair-shaved ponds and the aristocratic shoe bound, reaching almost to the waist of his mistress, have to pay a big license and form an important part of the luxury revenues.

The Old Rich do not recognize the standing of the schieber, and the millionaire, by whom I mean the professional man, artist, scientist, and literary characters, rather pride themselves on their poverty in contrast. Indeed, all sorts of stories are told of the mistakes made by the new-rich. One I heard today relates to a student who, concealing his identity, was asked whether he liked Dickens. He replied: "I can't say that I care for him. We had some at Hitler's restaurant under den Linden the other day, but really lobsters were more to my taste."

The student thereupon asked the lady what she thought of Beethoven's latest work. She answered: "I like them all right, but I thought he was dead." She based this on the fact that she had lately bought a picture of him and that portraits of literary men were seldom sold until they were dead. She had no idea that Beethoven was a composer of music.

Another story now going the rounds is about a schieber who had ordered his wife's portrait painted by a well known Dresden artist. When the picture was completed he

Gambling at roulette for bottles of wine in the newest indoor sport of Berlin, chiefly engaged in by the newly-rich and those who have been lucky in their speculations in marks.

The profifers display their newly gained wealth by engaging as nurses to their million dollar babies and girls, who, in their curious head-dresses, were formerly employed by the aristocracy only.

asked his wife how she liked it. She was delighted and the schieber, contentiously said to the artist: "You may make me a dozen and a half, exact copies of this."

Schieber Versus Senator
It was the other night in Hamburg that the wife of a rich schieber and the wife of a former senator sat at the theater side by side. Madame Schieber asked Madame Senator to explain the scene on the stage. Madame Senator did so at the next pause and Madame Schieber was so delighted that she asked whether Madame Senator always sat in the seat that she then occupied. The latter replied that she could not afford to sit to the theater often and was there only because she had a free ticket from a friend who was unable to use it. Thereupon Madame Senator felt her hand creeping towards her, and when the lights came on she found she had been given a bunch of notes of small denominations, chicken-feed as the Germans call them, which just covered two cents. She was amused and handed back the money with the sarcastic remark that she was always glad to give information gratis to those who had a chance to learn things in school.

And just one more story, concerning a practical old man whose son was a schieber. The son was giving a wife-warming and both he and his wife were ostentatious in showing their wealth, and aristocratic methods of serving. The old man grew warmer and warmer as the evening advanced and he peered, until, his finger-bowls were brought in, he raised one to his lips and, looking around the table, he said to the son: "I have all right in these after-war days but as for him, he always pretends to be a schieber. The face of Madame Schieber, flushed like the father's drink, nevertheless."

Among the Ruffians
Another class of the new rich is known as the "ruffians." The word comes from "raufen," which means to sweep together and carry off. They are the stock exchange, backed by tips and borrowed funds, and often come some a mark millionaire. He is of a little higher grade than the schieber, for he must have some thing of stocks to be able to foresee the trend of events, but he is a well known character in the gambling halls of Berlin and of the finest demesne. There is wine on each table and the wine glasses come from Bohemia. The waiters speak English and French as well as German, and everything seems to be at the pinnacle of luxury and good taste until you look at the schiebers. Some seem to be at a loss in their dress clothes. Here is one who has tucked his napkin under his chin, and another has trouble in keeping the peas from rolling off his knife on their way to his mouth.

The most of the crowd, however, are as well-behaved if I may except the loud talking as those in similar places of the world.

And then the food at these restaurants. It would tempt a Lucullus, and one cannot imagine that just over the way people are in regretful and half starved. We picked up a menu and order a dinner for two. We have first clear turtle soup, then a fish, with a pheasant cooked while we wait, a salad of lettuce and tomatoes, and asparagus, with fruit and ice cream for dessert, and coffee to close. We have wine with our meal and the whole costs, for the two, just about one American dollar. As I look over the bill I find that the pheasant is put down at twenty-five cents. I have seen the same item on an American menu in New York with the price at five dollars. The charge for the asparagus, translated into American money, equals ten cents, and the delicious clear turtle soup is one cent and a half. These prices seem cheap out of all reason and they are an evidence to many travelers of the good condition of Germany in that one can buy food so cheaply. When it is remembered, however, that out of these small sums must be paid the farmers who raised the vegetables, the hunters who shot the game, the wholesalers and retail grocers and the cooks who prepared the meals and the waiters who served them, and the general upkeep of this gorgeous restaurant, one sees that the scale of wages must be exceedingly low and the people equally poor.

Cheap Restaurants in Berlin
But the Germans who are not rich eat in restaurants, too. The old conservatives who have lost their fortunes cannot dine at a score of such establishments as I have described. Some of them patronize the middle-class wine restaurants, such as Kempinski's, where one gets a good meal with a glass of wine for about twenty-five cents, or they can go to the Munich beer restaurants where they can have a glass of beer for fifteen cents, or to restaurants of a still lower class which serve a quick lunch and beer at from six to eight cents. The people who frequent these places start reading the bill of fare at the prices and the meal is chosen to suit the purse, not the stomach. There are also small taxi-driver hounds, where a meal with a jigger of whiskey is served for less than five cents.

In the Charity Kitchens
In addition to the restaurants of which I have written, there are some which the foreigner seldom finds without seeking. These are the public kitchens and those of the middle class. Public kitchens are to be found in every part of Berlin. They are supported partly by the customers who pay from one cent to one-third cent per meal, partly by the gifts of charitable people, and partly by the municipality. The food is good but it consists mostly of vegetables, served in a bowl and eaten with a spoon. Bread seldom accompanies such meals.

The middle-class kitchens are maintained in cooperation with the Housewives' League. They serve dinners at an exceedingly low price, and so far have been self-supporting. They are frequented by the educated middle-class and to some extent by the former nobility and rich, who are too proud to accept charity.

These restaurants are plainly furnished. They have clean wooden tables upon which often are flowers. The customers are quiet and well-behaved and the waitresses are often reduced gentlewomen who are glad to do work of this kind for the warm meal they receive free of charge. Only the kitchen help get a salary, and the cooks are often pupils of the cooking schools kept up by the Housewives' League.

Go with Frank G. Carpenter next Sunday when he visits Siemensstadt, the electric city, home of a company employing 15,000 men and talks with the leader of Germany's great industrial combine.

Cheap Restaurants in Berlin
But the Germans who are not rich eat in restaurants, too. The old conservatives who have lost their fortunes cannot dine at a score of such establishments as I have described. Some of them patronize the middle-class wine restaurants, such as Kempinski's, where one gets a good meal with a glass of wine for about twenty-five cents, or they can go to the Munich beer restaurants where they can have a glass of beer for fifteen cents, or to restaurants of a still lower class which serve a quick lunch and beer at from six to eight cents. The people who frequent these places start reading the bill of fare at the prices and the meal is chosen to suit the purse, not the stomach. There are also small taxi-driver hounds, where a meal with a jigger of whiskey is served for less than five cents.

In the Charity Kitchens
In addition to the restaurants of which I have written, there are some which the foreigner seldom finds without seeking. These are the public kitchens and those of the middle class. Public kitchens are to be found in every part of Berlin. They are supported partly by the customers who pay from one cent to one-third cent per meal, partly by the gifts of charitable people, and partly by the municipality. The food is good but it consists mostly of vegetables, served in a bowl and eaten with a spoon. Bread seldom accompanies such meals.

The middle-class kitchens are maintained in cooperation with the Housewives' League. They serve dinners at an exceedingly low price, and so far have been self-supporting. They are frequented by the educated middle-class and to some extent by the former nobility and rich, who are too proud to accept charity.

These restaurants are plainly furnished. They have clean wooden tables upon which often are flowers. The customers are quiet and well-behaved and the waitresses are often reduced gentlewomen who are glad to do work of this kind for the warm meal they receive free of charge. Only the kitchen help get a salary, and the cooks are often pupils of the cooking schools kept up by the Housewives' League.

Go with Frank G. Carpenter next Sunday when he visits Siemensstadt, the electric city, home of a company employing 15,000 men and talks with the leader of Germany's great industrial combine.

Everyday Service

One of the greatest conveniences made possible by public utilities is everyday service—we might say every-minute service.

Run your mind back to the last time your merchant told you he was "out" of the article you wanted. Count up how many times that has occurred to you in your experience.

Planning For You

Compare it with the uninterrupted service of natural gas you have enjoyed—then think how serious an inconvenience it would be to have that service interrupted.

Our plans and our work must be so arranged that no interruption will occur. At any minute, regardless of any conditions, you rightfully expect to light a match and have full natural gas service.

Have you ever thought of the careful planning, the study of your possible requirements, the extensive physical work required, and the great investment of capital necessary to make this possible? This company sells natural gas but it adds to it a great amount of real service to the people of Texas.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

WICHITA OFFICER IN NATIONAL ORGANIZATION WHICH SEEKS TO FURTHER INTERESTS OF AUTOISTS

A local man, C. H. Verachoye, was elected vice-presidency of the American Automobile Association at its twenty-first annual meeting held in New York City recently.

About 150 delegates representing the principal automobile clubs in the United States were present. George C. Diehl of Buffalo, retiring president, and Henry C. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, the principal speaker.

The association accepted into membership twenty-five automobile clubs, bringing the total membership to more than 300,000.

Through the adoption of resolutions, the A. A. A. went into effect favoring the removal of highway departments and officials from politics, favoring the government taking over the obligation of both building and maintaining highways, and "unappropriated lands" and federal reserves instead of leaving this to be done by the state in which they are located, and again pledged itself to continue its efforts for the national system of adequate highways.

Secretary Wallace departed from his set speech to compliment the association on its work for federal aid to roads, and declared that the A. A. A. had no small part in making federal aid possible. He told of the disbursement of the funds and how they are handled, and also went into detail regarding the work of the agricultural department scientists for good roads, especially with reference to testing materials, solving drainage and other problems and fitting special materials to different soils. He told of the largest group of men, about 3,100, connected with his department, the largest single group of scientists in the world.

Dr. James W. Inches, former police commissioner of Detroit, said that the most important problem confronting the police of every city is that of handling traffic. He said that in the past ten years he had "and it is time that we start to really regulate the pedestrian, and unbelievably large percentage of accidents to pedestrians which result in injury or death are due to the carelessness of the pedestrian."

Legislative problems menacing the motorist are facing automobile clubs in every state in the union. Robert P. Hooper of Philadelphia, a past president of the association declared, Pennsylvania has even gone so far as to attempt to take the money collected from motorists for the payment of a deficit in general funds, instead of using it for road maintenance, he said. He called attention to the comparative small number of organized motorists and declared that under the circumstances, the work done by the organization has been remarkable.

A. M. Loomis, secretary of the National Grange, warned against the new socialist element that is creeping into the government, and that even the farmer, trained to think for himself and opposing so-

Nash President Looking for Good General Business

"The general outlook for business during the last six months of the year is decidedly more favorable than it appeared three months ago," says C. M. Nash, president of the Nash Motor Company. "Conditions in fact look far better for the last half year period than I had hoped in March they would look."

"Along about March 1, big merchants in practically all lines of business seemed fearful of a general slow-up for the last half of 1922 and as a result they did not overload their shelves with merchandise. Buying was done on a basis of immediate requirements; this was true of the manufacturers as well as of the jobber and retailer."

"The result of this careful policy has been that stocks are low in everybody's hands, a condition that will work to the advantage of the country during the period we are now entering. With low merchandise inventories jobbers and retailers must continue to order goods which of course means that manufacturers must continue to produce their wares. This assures uninterrupted employment, the only basis I know of for that condition of sound prosperity which in the past we used to call 'good times.'"

"Added to the fact already cited it is encouraging to note that the farmers of the country, as a whole, are in far better condition than they were a few months ago. Reports from practically all sections indicate a healthy condition of crops and excellent work in the matter of financing long since has been accomplished by the Federal Reserve banks, through local bankers of the country."

"With all of these things in mind, I feel that the automobile business will be good during the second six months of the year. Stocks of cars in the hands of dealers have about been depleted; in fact there are practically no cars of standard make in stock. Automobile dealers are entering the summer period with a clean slate. Demand for cars continues because business conditions in other lines warrants a continuance and factories will be kept busy supplying automobiles. This again means continued employment for hundreds of thousands of men."

"One factor in the automobile industry which is fast gaining in importance is the closed car. A few years ago the enclosed type of automobile constituted only a slight fraction of the industry's annual output, whereas today it has come to the front to such an extent that it is almost of equal importance to the open car in point of sales and consequent production. Demand for closed cars during the late summer and early fall months, I believe, will be greater than ever in the history of the automobile industry."

"We are now entering the month of June, the opening month of the second period of the year. Business in June is bound to be good."

Motor trucks hauled almost as much freight as the railroads in 1922.

Victory Company Employees Enjoy Luncheon Monday

The Victory Motor Company celebrated the move to new quarters and the addition of the Rickenbacker car, with a dinner for all Victory Motor Company employees in the sales rooms of the new building last Monday at noon.

J. P. Wintersoon, Rickenbacker factory representative who was in this city for the purpose of closing a five-year factory contract with the Victory Motor Company, was the speaker of the occasion.

With 15,000 feet of floor space and a hundred-foot frontage the Victory Motor Company has a home that cannot be surpassed in this section of the state. Half of the building is given over to the sales room, offices and rest room and the other part to a fully equipped service station including washing, greasing, repair and storage departments. Parts and accessories departments are also included.

The Rickenbacker car which has made a remarkable gain in popularity since it first appeared on the market will be handled by the Victory Motor Company and a shipment including a sedan, coupe and two phaetons is expected in a few days, it was stated.

The interior is attractively done in suitable light tones and the freshness, cleanliness, and spaciousness of the entire building is most inviting.

Mr. Brown certainly has ample reason for the broad smile he is displaying, with handsome new quarters in a most desirable location and with the addition of a leading and most popular car to his line—the month of June must be his lucky month!

Studebaker Here Leads All Texas In Sales for May

The Studebaker Motor Company led the state of Texas on sales for the month of May, according to reports brought from the factory branch at Dallas by E. G. Wilson last week.

"This is a record to be mighty proud of," Mr. Wilson declared, as the Dallas, San Antonio, Houston, and other much larger territories are included.

Mr. Wilson looks for the automobile business to continue the remarkable prosperity which has obtained during the first half of 1923.

"We are emerging from a depression of two or three years during which period people, and especially the farmers, have bought only absolute necessities," he stated.

"This factor, together with the already assured good grain crop and the splendid prospects for cotton will keep all business in a thriving condition. A great many will purchase cars for use on their vacations, too, which will tend to keep up the market during the usually slack months of July and August."

There is a shortage in some Studebaker models. Mr. Wilson declared, due to the excessive demand but he declined to state which models are affected since "everybody would want that particular car, then."

Mr. Wilson will cover the territory with Mr. Keim while here and expects to make some additions to this territory, he stated.

or are under construction, new equipment has been installed, and greater facilities afforded all around.

The plant at Atlanta, Georgia, has been considerably enlarged since its occupying a year ago. At that time its capacity was 150 cars and trucks a day. This already has been increased to 210 and when improvements are completed the maximum for an eight-hour day will be from 250 to 375.

Railroad tracks which formerly ran inside the building have been removed to make way for an assembly line and a new concrete loading dock will be completed in June, on which big stock conveyors will be installed running into the building.

The Cleveland, Ohio, assembly branch has been entirely reequipped and is now assembling cars at the rate of 100 per day. A new electric smelting oven is in process of construction, there is further facilities the work.

Several changes have been made at the Louisville, Ky., branch where a one-story addition has been erected. The assembly line has been removed from the third to the first floor, a body oven has been installed for drying all paint coats on open bodies and the finish varnish coat on closed bodies, and a new type electric enameling oven is being erected. Production has been increased from 100 to 170 cars per day.

At Indianapolis, Ind., the branch

Assembly line has been greatly extended and stock facilities increased which permits this branch to turn out 300 cars a day.

Denver, Colo., and Portland, Ore., have again been opened as assembly plants with daily production of 150 and 50 cars respectively.

Columbus, Ohio, and Houston, Texas branches have been equipped with extensive drying ovens and recently enameling ovens have been lengthened in twelve other assembly plants.

The New Orleans, La., branch is now housed in a completely new building, 22 by 124 feet, employing approximately 700 men and turning out from 150 to 200 cars a day, together with 25 closed bodies daily.

Vacuum Cleaner Service Offered For Upholstery

Have you used a whisk broom and a brush and a gasoline rag, all to no avail, on the upholstery of your car?

You will welcome the news that this problem is at last solved for residents of Wichita Falls.

The Lloyd Weaver Automobile Company has installed a vacuum cleaning apparatus for use on the upholstery and interior of cars, especially closed models. This is the only equipment of this kind in this part of the state and was secured at a cost of $25 in order that the company be in a position to give first-class service in any and all respects to their customers.

A dollar extra is charged in connection with the car washing service offered by this company and the satisfaction of having this part of the car absolutely clean and fresh is worth considerably more than this small fee.

The magnet is a wonderful instrument requiring so little attention that it is apt to be neglected. It requires certain care if best results are to be secured. The first details is to place one drop of oil in each oil lead every thousand miles. There is one for each rod of the armature and one for the distributor.

Clutch Pedal Lock

A simple means of insuring the auto against theft is shown here by merely boring a hole through the clutch pedal and snapping a lock into it, the owner can feel safe in leaving his car. The pedal can be let out nor can the floor board be removed to disengage the lock.

Ford Is Adding Still Further to Assembling Plants

DETROIT, MICH., June 7.—One phase of the Ford Motor Company's expansion program, entailing the expense of millions of dollars, is strikingly illustrated in a survey of improvements made in assembly plants throughout the country, all of which have brought better business and employment conditions to the several cities affected.

The survey, which is just announced through the Ford News, shows that every assembly plant of the company, numbering 28, is now in full operation and producing more Ford cars and trucks than ever before.

New additions have been erected

Chevrolet Utility Express Truck

Chevrolet Utility Express Truck is the lowest priced quality truck in the world, capable of fast heavy-duty service. It hauls your heavy loads quickly and economically. It is reliable.

Long grades and deep mud are mastered by it without racing the motor or boiling the water, because the three-speed transmission provides correct gear ratios to overcome difficult conditions of load or road.

With this truck you get fast heavy-duty service at the lowest operating and maintenance cost. It leads in high mileage on gasoline, oil and tires. Ample power for all your work is supplied by the famous Chevrolet valve-in-head motor. Full motor power always reaches the transmission through the positive cone clutch. With the three-speed transmission you can run the motor at the most economical speed under all conditions. The staunch chassis is fitted with spiral bevel gears and stands up under continued hard service.

QUICK ACTION BRAKES EXTRA LARGE AND EXTRA SAFE

In the construction of Dodge Brothers Motor Car, every consideration has been given to the owner's safety.

This is particularly evident in the brakes, which, with their 14-inch drums and 2 1/4 inch lining, are appreciably larger than the average. The extra surface thus provided develops greater friction when the brake bands contract over the drums—and it is this friction which stops the car.

Connecting levers are designed to transmit the maximum of power with the minimum of effort. The slightest pressure on the brake pedal has an immediate effect. This pressure is distributed evenly between the two rear wheels by a highly efficient equalizer, which prevents skidding because it retards both wheels simultaneously.

And the brake bands grip evenly all around the drums. This protects the lining against irregular wear and enables the driver to stop quickly, quietly and safely.

The price of the Touring Car is $1005.00 delivered.

PART TWO Durant's Plan of Financing Car Is Interesting One

(From Investors' Guide.)
When W. C. Durant conceived the idea of "the Durant plan" of investment saving it is doubtful if even he, with his recognized far-sightedness, realized how great was the movement he was inaugurating. Today the plan is hardly three years old. Yet it is being adopted by many of the biggest and strongest corporations in America for the promotion of their own enterprises. Bankers and brokers, seeing in the movement the possibility of revolutionizing existing practices, are excited, and not a few of them are even attempting to capitalize on the plan, with modifications to suit their own ends.

It is doubtful if any other man in the world could have carried so vast a movement to a successful issue, but to Durant, backed by public confidence in his integrity and ability and with a personal following greater probably than that of any other industrial or financial leader, it apparently was just a part of his day's work.

Durant appreciated and was in sympathy with the great movement in behalf of thrift, but he saw a serious flaw in it. People were being taught to save, but—after accumulating a few dollars they were to invest in stocks, bonds, or real estate. They listened, and then bit. Acquiring worthless securities, their savings melted away.

If these people could be taught to save systematically, and invest while they were saving, acquiring securities of a type that would make their savings earn in proportion to those of large investors, the solution was at hand. The solution was a properly managed, earned faster than almost any other type of investment. Being an industrial leader, Durant knew this. He saw it possible for the average person of modest means to invest in industry—a few shares of this, and then a few shares of that, and presto! the little investor and saver soon had a variety of industrial securities, secured almost without effort.

Because he knew the earning capabilities of his own industries, and therefore could recommend them and stand behind them, Durant first offered these through "the Durant plan." But he knew he could not continue to supply his own securities indefinitely. So Durant, if present reports are to be credited, is securing the field, seeking other independent industrial securities that he will feel safe in recommending to his partners. He will supply his "partners" with a variety of securities.

In the course of a few years, if they follow through with him, they will own small blocks in each of half a dozen or more industries, all of the securities selected by Durant, with the utmost care. Then, even if one or two, or three of them fail to measure up fully to expectations, they will be more than offset by the really successful ones, and the little investor will have his savings intact, invested, and earning him substantially.

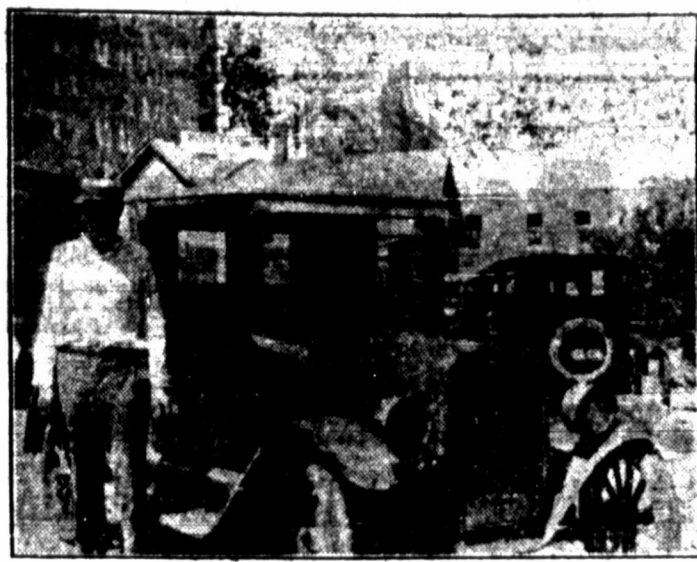

But there is little likelihood of any of Durant's selections going wrong. He has a great responsibility and evidently knows it. He is going to be doubly sure of the character of the securities that he selects for his partners.

The Durant plan has enabled almost 200,000 investors to invest their funds, while saving in legitimate industrial enterprises which are under the domination of W. C. Durant and with which he is thoroughly familiar.

In furtherance of his campaign for helping deserving enterprises effect necessary financing, Durant is planning to establish a bank by means of which industrial concerns of merit may obtain the necessary working capital and other funds needed in their expansion.

One interesting and unique feature of this proposed bank is that no person who becomes a shareholder shall be permitted to hold more than one share of its stock. Furthermore, it has been stipulated that all the officers of this institution shall serve without compensation, with the exception of its manager, who shall be placed in charge of the operating staff.

Los Angeles and Back in 13 Days

To Los Angeles and back in 13 days? Can you beat that? But this is only part of the wonderful record held by the Chevrolet coupe pictured above.

On May 7 the Lockhart Chevrolet Company sold this Chevrolet coupe to E. R. Stroud of Ellenville, Texas, box 71. After driving the car 416 miles a business trip to Los Angeles became necessary. Believing that the coupe would be speedily returned in a more satisfactory manner by going in the car, Mr. Stroud started in his new machine. It was absolutely no repair to be made.

back Overland cars. A shipment of Red Hids is also expected in a few days. Mr. Quisenberry stated.

The Lloyd Weaver Automobile Company reports the sale of a Packard roadster to the T. & B. Pipe Line Company; a Packard touring fully equipped to J. R. Long; and a Hudson coach to Mrs. J. W. Shaw of Elberta.

Bob Raines, manager of the Dallas branch for Goodyear tires, was in the city last week on business with the local dealer, C. C. Handley.

Mr. Lewis from the Buick agency in Dallas was here with the Buick Motor Company last week.

Charlie Nolen drove a Buick back from Dallas last week.

MONTH OF MAY SETS NEW HIGH RECORD FOR CAR PRODUCTION DESPITE CUTS IN SCHEDULES

By ROY C. HAYES
Universal Service Special Correspondent.
DETROIT, June 9.—Despite the slightest tapering off of production schedules during the last week in May that month was the best in history for the automobile industry. Official figures in May, not yet available, will show a material increase over April, the banner month. Government figures for April indicate an output of 330,000 cars and trucks while National Automobile Chamber of Commerce reports show that 351,000 cars and trucks were produced. May totals will surpass these and probably set a mark that will not be topped for at least six months.

June production schedules are unusually high for the month and will likely reach a level never yet attained in the month. However, the output for the month will probably be about ten thousand less than May.

Downward revisions in production schedules have been effective mainly in the smaller plants. Several of the larger factories have recently stepped up production.

For instance, Ford smashed all production records in the month of May, producing a new high mark for the company.

Hudson-Exess production is at the peak of the year with a daily output of 450 cars. Contracts for coaches dating back nearly two years are helping maintain the high proportion of closed car production.

Ford is running at the remarkable rate of 4,700 cars a day. Output for the week ended Tuesday was 24,730 cars and trucks, the holiday on Decoration Day accounting for the smaller figure this week. The New Paige-Jewett production marks were set during May. The month just finished was the largest in the history of the company. The Paige company built 6,185 Paiges and Jewetts in May.

For the fifth consecutive month this year shipments of Hupmobiles in May broke all previous records.

for a similar month when 4,327 cars were shipped.

Olds Motor Works has set a record for the first five months of the year. Ending with the last day of May production figures for the first five months were thirty-nine per cent greater than during the same period of last year and forty-three per cent greater than during 1932. Oldsmobile has been producing cars for the last quarter century and this remarkable showing sets a new record.

Bundy Strong Co. Enlarges Store Gets New Opening

The Bundy-Strong auto supply company has moved the location at 703 Tenth street, formerly occupied by the Prest-O-Lite battery company and are opening the rear of the building into the room now occupied by the Prest-O-Lite battery company.

The new space is 22 by 78 feet larger and also allowing for two entrances, one now in use at 1004 Indiana and the one at 703 Tenth street.

The newly acquired space is being redecorated and remodeled and will be used for the heavier stuff of the business, the offices of the company remaining in the Indiana street building, Mr. Bundy stated.

A carload shipment of Ford wheels and a load of auto springs were unloaded Saturday, being placed in the new building.

The remarkable expansion of the business during the past 48 days made additional space essential. Mr. Bundy declared and the new arrangement will be most satisfactory.

A large driveway is being cut between the two buildings adding to the convenience of the place.

We are as proud of our lines As we are of our new homes Call on us.

Few Realize How Powerful Car Is If Uncontrolled

Do you realize the power and weight behind your automobile as you ride smoothly along the highway?

If you do—and if you know what these amount to—you can also realize the danger lurking within that moving vehicle, were it not under your absolute control.

For instance, the power in the engine pulling your car equals the combined pulling force of from 20 to 45 horses, according to the rating of the individual motor car. To realize the immensity of this, think of only 20 horses, two abreast, pulling a heavy load along the street, drivers yelling, wheels creaking, men running alongside and ahead to keep pedestrians off and clear the road of obstacles.

Then imagine this great force pulling a comparatively dainty vehicle like an automobile, weighing only a ton or a little more. Only an occasional foot of the horse warns another of the oncoming force, yet neither you nor the pedestrian—threatened by it—think of its immensity.

If you did, you would always keep a serious eye on the road ahead and a steady hand on the wheel. And the pedestrian would always exercise special caution in crossing the street.

In addition to the force developed by the engine, there is another which adds so much more to the danger in a moving automobile. The other force is called momentum. That is, the impetus or inertia developed by a moving body which, as the motion continues, makes it so much harder to stop.

Insurance statisticians report $5,500,000 was paid out for burned cars in 1932.

Buicks Popular Among Number of Big League Stars

Henry Severed, who is behind the bat nearly every day for the St. Louis Browns and is one of the hardest hitting catchers in baseball, has recently been added to the all-Buick team with the purchase of a new automobile of that make.

Other big league stars of the Detroit Tigers, Sammy Bohner and George Burns of the Cincinnati Reds, and Frank McGowan, Philadelphia Athletics, are also recent purchasers of Buick cars.

Carry your registration or license card with you at all times. Sudden jolting on the brakes hurts the car.

Standardized Service-Costs a Big Factor of Packard Economy

Packard country-wide standardized service and prices are further evidence of Packard's genuine interest in its ownership.

Every owner is assured that wherever he may be, any service required will be rendered according to factory standards and at a fair price.

The prices—including both labor and material—are calculated by the factory whose experts have analyzed all standard operations.

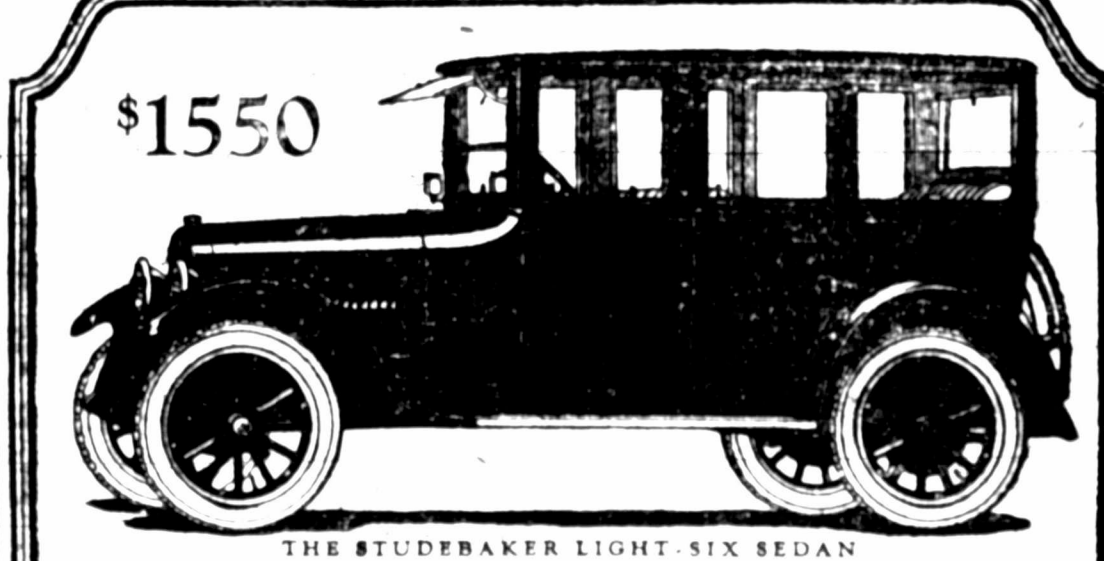

The owner may check them himself by turning to the factory service book where they are printed.

Study this book and observe how moderate these prices are.

THE STUDEBAKER LIGHT-SIX SEDAN
Where Quality Counts Above Everything Else

Quality is more important in an enclosed car than in most any other product in daily use.

Regardless of price, it is not economy to buy a makeshift job in which the quality is skimmed and cheapened at every turn. Paint, imitation leather and fibre board too often cover serious structural defects and cotton-and-wool trimming cloths are short lived. The chances are that the buyer will more than pay the difference later—in higher upkeep cost, frequent repairs and excessive depreciation.

The price of the Light-Six Sedan is the lowest at which it is possible to obtain a substantial, high grade hardwood and steel body, upholstered in mohair, in combination with a chassis of proved dependability and performance.

Studebaker's South Bend plants build more high quality closed bodies than those of any other automobile manufacturer and consequently overhead costs are reduced and the price to the customer is low.

The in-built quality of the Light-Six Sedan is evident the moment one gets behind the wheel, and is appreciated far more after twenty-five or thirty thousand miles of service.

The Light-Six Sedan, with its sturdy four-door body, its improved L-head motor, and the excellence of its chassis, combines distinction of appearance with a reliability of performance, a degree of comfort and economy of operation unknown in any other car at anywhere near its price.

THE MOTORISTS' PROBLEMS'

By WILLIAM H. STEWART, JR.

Motor Department: There is a common mistake in the way of lubrication at high speed as a heavy resistance as it slows down. Also considerable vibration will be caused in this due to faulty bearing.

A. C.

Undoubtedly the transmission is in need of repair and suggest that you have the necessary repairs made before it is too late. The longer you wait the more it will cost to get it back into good condition.

Motor Department: State what is meant by interrupter and where same is located. When over-running clutch in heavy starter fails to hold and slips instead of turning the motor over, is this a sign that the motor is out of adjustment. Have the rollers in bearings, but in a few days same trouble returned.

E. S.

Interrupter is at base of distributor on the shaft which drives them both. Remove rollers and springs in the over-running clutch and replace with new ones.

Motor Department: In overhauling any automobile I got it out of the shop and when it started to run the cylinder it sparks on all. What is likely to be wrong? I have taken all the magnets from the magneto. All are marked "N" on one end. The other marked "S" all go to the same side. Thanking you for any information you may be able to give me, I am, C. T.

W. H. S.

Do not place a new chain or gear in contact with another hadly worn member. Noise will result and the new part will not give good service. It is best to install all new parts.

Motor Department: Advise me what the compression is possible per square inch is on the average engine.

C. W.

The average compression is about thirty pounds to the square inch.

Motor Department: In changing from high speed to second, the same is always accompanied by a loud grinding noise. When changing from first to second the noise is high, no sound is heard at all. I have tried shifting and then shift without any noise. The noise seems to be in excellent condition and the car works fine with the exception of the above—NOVICE.

Motor Department: I have a Durant car that pulls good in low and second gear, but seems to jerk in high gear unless it is running at high speed. When running in high gear and at a slow speed it jerks and it goes lower in advanced engine. The engine seems to be in good condition and when running it does not choke when gas is advanced. Please explain the trouble.

READER.

Probably your air adjustment is weak and giving you too much air. Try a readjustment of carburetor. Also clean and adjust the breaker points and plugs.

Motor Department: I understand that you can get a good idea of the kind of mixture you have by opening all of the relief valves watching the flame from the different cylinders. Please let me know how this may be done—OWNER.

Motor Department: My clutch squeaks when I throw it out. It is quiet when my foot is off the pedal and makes a squeaking noise the same as I press on the pedal. Why is this? The clutch is free from the shaft at the time, so why does it squeak?—W. O.

Judging from your description the trouble is in the arms of the shifting yoke. They run dry unless grease is forced into them frequently, at least once a day. If no grease cups are provided they must be flooded with oil so that it will go where it is needed. As these only come into play when the clutch is disengaged that is the only time they will squeak.

Motor Department: I have a 1918 Ford and have a lot of trouble with grease working out of the rear axle housing. I have had the left side packed with felt twice and the grease worked out after running the car two weeks each time. Is there any permanent way of fixing it?—OWNER.

Perhaps the bearing is badly worn or the shaft scored on this side. Oil tight joint difficult to make on either of which causes will make on try using a heavier felt and fit it tightly. Also see that the shaft is not bent at this point. Use a heavier grease in the differential, especially in warm weather.

Motor Department: Being uncertain as to the type of engine to buy, I should like your advice. Will an L-head engine develop as much power as a valve-in-head of equal size? With the same kind of a cooling system will a valve-in-head engine overheat any sooner than an L-head?—READER.

The power does not depend on the shape of the head. In both cases the designers have worked out the best sizes of valves and the difference between two such engines is a matter of design and not because of the relative merits of one type over the other.

HELPFUL HINTS

Watch the magneto and generator couplings. The bolts work loose and by timely inspection you may avoid the delay and expense of a tow-in.

Do not place a new chain or gear in contact with another hadly worn member. Noise will result and the new part will not give good service. It is best to install all new parts.

One of the best ways to save gasoline on the road is to keep the spark plug advanced. Some experienced motor drivers show that carelessness in this respect reduces the mileage of a car from twenty-five to thirty per cent.

Texas Girl Wins Essay Prize in Safety Campaign

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 9.—An essay by Opal Sprules, pupil in Austin School, Houston, won first honors for her state in the last national safety campaign. It was announced today by the highway education board. She has received a gold medal and check for fifteen dollars, and her essay will be entered in the national competition for three valuable prizes. A silver medal and check for ten dollars have been sent Elizabeth Bibb, a pupil in the Sam Houston school, Marshall, Texas, who wrote the second best essay by pupils.

In a similar contest among teachers, who were invited to submit practical safety lessons teaching children correct behavior on the highways, a lesson by Miss Josie Jaynes, Goodson rural school, Hugh Springs, Texas, was chosen as the best of those prepared by Texas teachers. Second honors for the state went to Miss Ruth Jordan, Taylor school, Houston, Texas.

Eighteen third prizes also were given pupils, in addition to the first and second awards. These students were: Ervin McKelroy, A. & M. Consolidated School, College Station; Margaret Moore, Brown school, Dallas; Francisco Hernandez, Beal school, El Paso; Pat Johnson, Palestine grammar school, Palestine; Ruth DeLahite, campus ward school, Longview; Francis Lewis, Navasota public school, Navasota; Mary Condon, Ursuline academy, Laredo.

Now They're Using Automobiles to Hunt Foxes With

Three, or wear out before the others have begun to age at all," Mr. Sharpe declared.

"When asked for the reason for this he declared that it was due to circumstances surrounding the individual use of the tires. "Tires of the same make are alike not only in appearance but in their whole structure. The careful and exact processes of manufacture which obtain in the modern high-class tire factory preclude any possibility of their being otherwise than identical."

A starfish may lay $99,000,000 eggs, and but for their enemies, which preserve the balance, these creatures would fill the world's seas in one year.

"The horse is doomed. First of all, faithful Old Dobbin pulling the family phaeton was obliterated by the dusty summer landscape, by the motor car. Then the plodding truck horse was pushed aside, while the sea-going hack horse was forced into the history of other days," declared Frank Quiesler, last week.

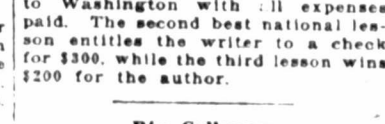

"Now the existence of the blue-blooded lanky hunter is threatened. He too, will soon be listed in the Museums of Natural History as an institution that could withstand the onslaught of motorization. Perhaps he will figure in the zoo as a specimen of interest to the holiday visitors. Old gentlemen from the Blue Grass State will wipe dry lips and tell coming generations that they once knew a horse that was a horse, that could clear every hurdle in the hunting field and shimmy home with the 'bru' beating a ticklebat tattoo on his spare ribs."

"Recently at Allen, Pennsylvania, an automobile fox hunt was held. Twenty-eight deep-breasted hounds mingled their bays with the roar of open exhausts while they scraped their noses on the stubble in a mad endeavor to distinguish the smell of foxes from the scent of the quarry. Forty-three cars of various makes followed them across country, and up lanes. In the chase of a big red fox, Herbert H. Renard driving an Overland car was first in as the "bru" and captured the prize. It was tough going, over rough fields, through shallow creeks and over stiff grades. Mr. Renard claims that the patented triplex springs gave him a distinct advantage over the other cars. These springs which are used on all Overlands, embody the principle of pulling the front wheels over obstacles, instead of pushing them. Pupils winning first state honors are eligible for one of the three national awards offered, and their names will be graded by a special committee named by the U. S. Commissioner of Education. The first prize is a gold watch and a trip to Washington, in 1921 won by Stanley Newcomb, San Diego, California. Teachers also are entitled to three national awards, but to no state prizes. The teacher contributing the best practical safety lesson receives a check for $100 and a trip to Washington with $11 expense paid. The second best national lesson entitles the writer to a check for $50, while the third lesson wins $200 for the author.

Rim Collapse.

Of the many forms of rim tools on the market, this one shown is the latest and one of the simplest.

Grasping the rim at each side of the split, it collapses the rim by a sort of lever and eccentric movement, and it holds it in the collapsed position. Reversing the movement stretches the rim into place.

Says Appearance Of Tires Not Way To Judge Quality

"Tires of the same make and dimension are usually all alike as far as appearance go, and yet, as nearly every motorist knows they don't all exhibit the same wearing qualities," declared Burford Sharpe of the Dixie Tire Service Company, last week.

The springs which are used on all Overlands, embody the principle of pulling the front wheels over ob-

THE GENERAL CORD TIRE

THE GREATEST TIRE VALUE OF THE DAY

There are many reasons for the purchase of a General Cord besides the fact that the General is a good tire. Most of the tires on the market today are fairly good tires, perhaps and probably worth about as much as is asked for them. The fact that the General Tire and Rubber Co. is one of the most financially stable manufacturers and is truly dependable assures the purchaser that he is buying a quality product. Every dealer and distributor of General is a foremost tire dealer in his particular locality and is desirous of having his tire give more than satisfaction.

General Tire users everywhere are enthusiastic over the "GENERAL CORD."

780 Studebakers Turned Out in Day New Record Made

When the whistles of the mammoth Studebaker plants at South Bend and Detroit sounded on the evening of May 29 and 30, 780 Studebaker employees started toward a new record for a single day's production. The plants had been made for on that day 750 Studebaker cars were forwarded to Studebaker dealers throughout the country. Of the total, 181 were driven overseas.

This record represents a single day's production and was achieved without permitting cars to accumulate purposely to establish a new mark. The only extra incentive involved was an effort to more adequately meet the instant demand from every section of the country for more Studebakers, but this daily endeavor because of the thousands of unfilled orders on hand for immediate shipment.

While the production of 780 cars in one day establishes a record for Studebaker, the total is only a little above the daily average since the additional facilities provided by seven new Studebaker factory units completed and ready for operation early this spring, reached capacity production. Although Studebaker's present output is 15,000 cars a month or 500 a day, 19,000 cars annually, the demand is far in excess of production. The 1922 production of 150,000 cars, valued at $2,000,000, are being rushed to completion.

Studebaker manufactures six-cylinder cars exclusively in three models—the big six, special six and the light six—which are offered in two body types. The big six, therefore, represents the big six-cylinder car ever made by a manufacturer.

The increasing popularity of Studebaker cars, which is a subject of common conversation even outside of the automobile industry, is attested by the yearly record of production and sales. In 1921 Studebaker sold 131,414 cars. The following year sales increased to a total of 150,000 cars. In 1920 sales amounted to 117,474 cars.

1921 the year of general business depression, was the biggest in Studebaker's history. In 1921 when sales reached a total of 131,414 cars. Stated otherwise, the sales of Studebaker cars in 1921 were 25 per cent greater than in 1920, notwithstanding the fact that the total number of cars sold of all other makes was only 10 per cent more than in 1920. Studebaker again established a new record in 1922 with the sale of 150,000 cars. This year's record established, up to July 1 Studebaker will have produced and loaded 150,000 cars or an increase of 50 per cent over the same period of 1921.

There are a number of reasons for the universal popularity of Studebaker cars, according to Frank Keim, local Studebaker dealer.

"(1) Because of their quality, durability and dependable performance in owners' use.

"(2) Because of manufacturing sizes exclusively on a large scale and by building all vital parts in its own plants, Studebaker cars offer economies and save the middleman's profits, and thereby provide maximum value and quality at a low price.

"(3) Because in the three models of Studebaker cars we have a car of exact size, style and price to suit every buyer.

"(4) Because with $22,000,000 of actual net assets, including $12,000,000 of plant facilities, Studebaker stands unsurpassed in ability and resources in manufacture economically and give the greatest intrinsic value possible for a given price.

"(5) Because of the name Studebaker, which for 71 years has stood for high grade transportation, integrity, quality, value and comfort."

How Vulcanizing Was Discovered by Chas. Goodyear

There is real romance in the story of rubber—a billion-dollar industry less than a quarter century old.

And written across its pages is the story of Charles Goodyear, one of the great benefactors of the human race.

Rubber, before the year 1820, had one fault that absolutely blocked its commercial use. In hot weather it would melt and run, and in cold weather it became brittle and cracked. If this difficulty could be conquered the greatest possibilities were ahead. So men struggled and experimented and labored and gave up. Fortunes were lost and lives were sacrificed.

At times men thought they had solved the mystery, only to find it still eluded them.

Charles Goodyear was a New England Yankee. His father before him was an inventor. Goodyear settled in the city of Philadelphia and founded the first retail hardware store in the United States. He was moderately successful, but his genius as an inventor was in his blood.

Some one showed Goodyear a bottle made of India rubber and the amazing material held hold upon the surface of a hot iron. He was amazed. God did not put such a strange substance into the world without intending that man should use it and to the task he devoted his life.

In his search for the secret of rubber he lost fortunes and friends. He suffered abject poverty and was reduced to beggary. He was ridiculed and thrown into prison for debt. But he was the stuff of which genius is made. Charles Goodyear did not give up.

And on the day that he solved the secret he fell on his knees and thanked God for making him the agent for giving this great blessing to men.

Sulphur plus heat was the solution. Heat applied to a mixture of sulphur and rubber brings about the change we call vulcanization. Just what that change is, scientists even yet are not sure, but after vulcanization rubber remains constant despite heat or cold.

Biographers disagree as to how Charles Goodyear made his momentous discovery. One story runs that his wife, who had for years faced poverty and suffering loyally, finally lost hope and isolated that he abandon his experiments, find a job and settle down to providing for his family.

After this Goodyear kept up his experiments in secret. One day while trying a mixture of sulphur and rubber, he heard his wife's footsteps outside his door. To avoid her reproaches he hurriedly dropped the mixture into a stove. Later in the day, to his surprise, he found that the mass had not melted, but had only charred. In the stove's heat it had vulcanized. His secret was ended.

Extended Oil Can.

A piece of wire attached to the spout of an ordinary oil can makes it leak into otherwise inaccessible places. This is done by fitting a cork into the end of the spout and setting the wire into the cork. The cork is pushed in and the oil can is used. The wire follows the oil out.

Disabled Vets Take Advantage Of Ford's Offer

Among the many plans for good service out by Henry Ford, one deserving of particular attention is the recent offer made by the Henry Ford Hospital to disabled war veterans more than 20 of whom have already taken advantage of the opportunity.

All of the veterans are admitted to the same manner as private patients and are treated on exactly the same basis. They are entitled to receive the same quality of service and are distributed in the various units in the hospital according to the availability of rooms.

The first thought was to open a special unit for these men, but the hospital officials, on consideration felt that the men would be better satisfied if they were distributed throughout the hospital with their other patients and accordingly this plan was discarded.

Arrangements for opening the hospital services free of charge to all disabled veterans of Michigan pending treatment were made a few days ago at a meeting between Henry Ford, Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, and Dr. J. H. Harkness, state commander of the American Legion.

The arrangements for the care of the disabled veterans continue in effect until December 31, 1922. At that time Congress has passed necessary legislation to afford hospitalization of disabled war veterans. The matter will be further discussed and the arrangement renewed for another definite period.

The 22000 men are admitted following recommendation by the welfare officer of the American Legion in Detroit.

Another arrangement also has been effected between the hospital and the Henry Ford Hospital whereby in extreme cases of disabled families of former service men their children needing hospitalization will be admitted when designated by the legion office.

Marmen Makes Record Time With Pathe Race Films

By the time the last car rolled out of the Indianapolis Speedway grounds last Wednesday, headed for home at the conclusion of the 500-mile race, a cloud of dust might have been seen swirling along the LaSalle Pike on its way to Chicago. In the center of the young parade was a yellow Marmen speedster, carrying complete Pathe News films of the race.

Trains schedules could not be depended on to get the pictured chronicle of the race to headquarters in time for developing and distributing. Marmen was called upon for rapid express transportation to meet the emergency.

At the wheel of the Marmen speedster was Tom Roberts, Denver resident, who had a total of 44.44 minutes and forty-five minutes elapsed from the time he passed through the tunnel under the track in Indianapolis until he arrived at Michigan avenue and Fifty-fifth street, Chicago, a total mileage of 227 miles, at an average speed of 44 miles per hour, including an observation of traffic regulations in the towns en route.

According to Edward Ford, Pathe News representative who accompanied Mr. Roberts, 124 gallons of gasoline were used for the journey, an average of 18 miles per gallon.

The return trip, carrying developed films of the race for release in Indianapolis theatres, was made in almost equally fast time. The elapsed time was four hours, 50 minutes.

The expedition enabled Indianapolis people to see the checked flag waved on the screen less than twenty-four hours after the time Tommy Milton got his sign of Victory on the track.

The yellow speedster which served Pathe News is Tom Roberts' personal car and had a total of 44.44 miles on its speedometer. The race against time in carrying Pathe films in a more incident in the history of this car. The week before the race Roberts drove it from Denver to Indianapolis, a total of 1400 miles in two and one-half days, elapsed time, or 224 hours actual running time, an average of more than 45 miles per hour.

According to the log of his journey, which included a digression from the Santa Fe Trail for a dip into Southern Kansas to pay a brief visit to relatives, he covered 425 miles his first day out of Denver, that day journey terminating at Canon summer home of the local welfare association. They will be kept there until they are declared to be "fat and healthy." Only under such circumstances are accepted at the home.

Littleton, Colo. (Special) FORTY MILES—Fifty-three Fort Worth kiddies are enjoying a treat in a summer outing. The youngsters have been placed in the Ruth Lubin Camp summer home of the local welfare association. They will be kept there until they are declared to be "fat and healthy." Only under such circumstances are accepted at the home.

It is 12,000 miles from England to Australia.

Henry Gribble Is Charged With Conspiracy To Violate National Prohibitions

Henry Gribble, 37, was arrested Friday at Crowell by Prohibition Enforcement Officer Arch Tyler and Sheriff L. B. Campbell of Ford county, on charges of conspiracy to violate the national prohibitions. Jesse Stevens, the second man named in the complaint, has not been apprehended as yet. Gribble was convicted in federal court at the last session. He is charged by officers that Stevens would deliver whiskey and that Gribble would do the collecting. Gribble's bond was set at $1,000.

The application of a slight film of vasoline in the commutator will lubricate and prevent squeaking of the Ford's motor.

Raise Your Own Roughage Save on Your Feed Bill

Many dairymen are losing money as they feed too much concentrate because of shortage of roughage. You can lower your milk production cost by raising your own roughage and using less feed. Any Texas soil will raise good roughage such as cane hay or sorghum. A liberal amount of these of Johnson grass, lespedeza, prairie hay, make fine balances for Purina Cow Chow. The roughage will maintain the cow's body and you will require a less amount of Cow Chow.

Raise your own roughage and get your Purina Cow Chow from us.

John William and J. T. Ryan Open Filling Station

At the corner of Eleventh and Lamar has been opened one of the best equipped and most attractive filling stations in the city.

The new station is owned and managed by John J. Williams and J. T. Ryan, both well known in Wichita Falls, having lived here several years. Mr. Ryan was formerly with the postoffice and Mr. Williams was with Swift & Company for a long period.

The new station is built of red brick with the entire corner surrounded and has three gas pumps and the modern and complete all day service, of a kind that has been found in very few other places here.

Hobbit and Tolens, which is a rare Pennsylvania oil, are carried and small accessories and Firestone tires are also handled.

The office space is unusually large, including racks for the tire stock and the usual office equipment.

"The new station is large enough to care for the big trucks and we confidently expect in view of our wide acquaintance here and our splendid location," Mr. Williams said.

A VICTORY for AMERICAN MOTORISTS

The CRUDE RUBBER MONOPOLY weakened when it came into contact with aroused public sentiment. The press of the country reflects the determination of the AMERICAN motorists that tire prices shall stay at a reasonable level—and that AMERICA must produce its own rubber.

Cuts Tire Prices 10% Effective June 11

We announce a 10 per cent reduction in tires and tubes effective June 11th. The lowered cost of crude rubber and the special Firestone manufacturing and distribution advantages makes this possible.

Firestone factories are organized on a basis of large volume and effective production. Costs are down but quality is at its peak. Stockholder workmen are daily building thousands of Gum-Dipped Cords—the best tire Firestone ever produced and, we believe, the leader on the market today.

Firestone Cords took the first four places and eight of the ten money positions in the Indianapolis Sweepstakes, May 13th, without a single tire failure.

Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords have set new standard in mileage, traction, comfort and safety. Car-owners have expressed their approval of the extra value in Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords by increasing their purchase 194 per cent in the past six months.

We have replaced many expensive branches with warehouses. We now have 108 distributing points which are delivering Firestone Tires to the consumer at the lowest cost in our history.

Follow the tide of economical tire buying—equip with Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords—and learn what most miles per dollar means to you today.

MR. AUTOMOBILE OWNER MEET BLACK AND WHITE SERVICE

And in introducing the famous system, let us remind you that you do not have to become a member, you do not have to pay any dues, nor do you have to make one single pledge. It is yours for the asking.

Black and White Service is not local, it is national. Along every highway in every town dependable garages are falling in line with their neighbors to offer you dependable service. These garages are not picked just because they can afford to display this trade-mark, but because this trade-mark represents efficient service courteously performed at fair prices. The "gyp" garage is positively eliminated. Garages that display this emblem are guaranteed for their services. This guarantee is backed by every garage in the great chain, and behind this chain stands a corporation that guarantees each member individually.

Surely you choose your favorite garage at home because of its dependability—because of its desire to please you and its honest and fair methods of doing business—because you know that for any over-charge they will refund you, any inefficient service they will gladly correct.

This great chain system offers you a garage in every town that will serve you just as dependably as your "Home Town Garage." Their prices to you will be just as fair, their transactions just as honest, and their guarantees will mean more than your Home Town Garage's because hundreds of other good garages will correct their inefficiency and scores of offices throughout the nation will be maintained as bureaus to adjust any complaint that a tourist might have.

Can you afford not to be a user of this famous guaranteed service? Can you afford to take a chance with the unknown garage? Surely you think more of your car than that.
