QUANAH ENTERING ERA OF REVIVALS FOR FEW WEEKS

METHODIST AND BAPTIST ALREADY IN MIDDLE OF SERIES OF MEETINGS.

OFFICIAL DEDICATION OF WELFARE PARK ON FRIDAY

Quanah is experiencing considerable trouble with its water supply.

QUANAH, TEXAS, June 23.—Quanah is in the midst of a revival era at the various churches of the city for the next few weeks. Under the leadership of Rev. Robert Huxton and preaching by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Story, the Methodists the past week have been holding three services a day. Each morning at 10 o'clock a platform message is delivered by the preacher; then at 7:45 each evening Rev. Robert Huxton holds his young people's meeting. Then at 8:30 the final meeting of the day is held. Several young people have been converted in this meeting and the interest seems to be centering around the young folks in their Win-One Club. A contest is on with Miss Jessie Cass captain and the White and W. B. Foster leader of the girls. This meeting is to last another week.

Baptist Revival

Rev. C. V. Carroll, county Baptist missionary, is being assisted by Rev. Geo. Carroll of Fort Worth in a revival service on the north side of the city. These two preachers announce a good meeting and that they are having a hearty response from their congregations. A special feature of this meeting is the singing being done by the children.

Church of Christ

"Hear Him" is the slogan of the church of Christ meeting to begin Sunday and last for three weeks. W. D. Billie will be assisted by S. L. Cox who will conduct the singing in the meeting. Rev. U. R. Forrest is pastor at this church and has a good congregation of members with a new service.

Namarene Leader Treat

The Namarene are spreading literature rather freely for their revival to be held in the city. Their new pastor, Rev. Will H. Lynn, will be in charge of these services. He will be joined Sunday by Superintendent and Evangelist Trick and wife, who will have charge of the campaign, assisted in song by Prof. White of McKinney.

Episcopalians To Have Preacher

Rev. Milton J. Swift of Paducah, Kentucky, will arrive here on the 24th of this month to take charge of the Episcopal Church here, according to a letter received by De Witt Haden. This preacher is said to be an enthusiastic worker and will fill an important place in this work in Quanah.

Water Supply Is Bad

Quanah is experiencing considerable trouble and worry with its water supply at present. Recent chemical examinations show an increased number of bacilli in the water caused from a seep in the well supply which has caused their formation in the water main. Dr. T. D. Frisell, city health officer, has given out the report that the bacilli is sufficient in number to cause typhoid fever in children usually taken into the system. All users are therefore requested to boil the water before drinking.

Experts are being secured from Dallas to try to purify the water in the main, the source of the trouble.

Half Fare Granted

The Austin Brothers Bridge Co. has granted one-half fares across the bridges at Pease and Red rivers to the big free Fourth of July celebration here, being directed by the Y. M. B. L. for Independence Day. Practically everything is in readiness for the occasion and at least 15,000 people are expected for the barbecue and rodeo. More than forty beaves have been secured.

Park Is Opened

Official dedication was held for the Welfare park last Friday evening. The local band furnished music and a number of good talks were made.

Four directors for the chamber of commerce here were chosen the past week for a three-year term of office. They are as follows: J. L. Elliott, Jr., Harry Kock, Carl Bloomfield and Mason Harwell.

Wichita Getting Defeated

From every indication of the heard on display on Walton's Style Shop window of the exhibit success being made by both sides it appears that the Wichita Falls chess players are soon to be defeated in the match game with local players. Under the leadership of Harold McKee a challenge is being broadcast to take all comers by an undefeated team.

Dallas Expected To Furnish Next Fraud Sensation

PORT WORTH, June 23 (AP)—With the addition of eight more postoffice investigators to the force conducting the probe of alleged fraudulent oil promoters, United States District Attorney Henry Zweifel announced today that the government would at once push vigorously its war on oil stock selling frauds through North Texas and Arkansas.

Brokers selling bogus oil stock, publishers of promotion organs who are among those whom the government is after, had been indicted and admitted that considerable promotion activity had continued since the turn of the latest indictments and declared that oil stock brokers were among the most flagrant violators.

Dallas, he predicted, will come into the limelight in approaching developments. Zweifel explained that the government is investigating a case in Dallas that is one of the biggest cases in amount of promotion and in extent of fraud that has come to the attention of the government.

Zweifel explained that there is a marked tendency on the part of oil promotion organizations to change from common law trusts to corporations. They are incorporated under the laws of Delaware usually, he said.

Growing with the Southwest

Missouri-Kansas-Texas improvements in 1923, under way and planned, and including 55 new locomotives, 2500 new freight cars and 30 new steel passenger coaches, call for the expenditure of approximately $12,000,000. The Katy is making steady progress in the enlargement of its transportation capacity and the improvement of its service, as are the railroads generally.

American railroads have authorized expenditures in 1923 of approximately $1,100,000,000 for new cars, engines, trackage and other additional facilities. In no other year in the last decade have equal expenditures been authorized for railroad improvements.

Authorities agree that the railroads, to meet normal traffic growth, should expend in excess of a billion dollars a year for improvements. Average net operating income is less than a billion dollars a year. Requirements for expenses, taxes, rents, interest and improvements are regularly greater than gross operating revenues. Necessarily, new capital must be attracted to railroad investment to provide additional facilities and equipment required to adequately serve the public.

M-K-T expenditures for additions and betterments in 1922 exceeded net income by approximately a million dollars. Improvement expenditures were $5,113,495. Net income, after expenses, taxes, rents and interest were paid, was $4,117,477. Katy improvement expenditures in 1923 will exceed net income by a greater margin.

New capital, necessary to enlarge transportation capacity, so long as revenues do not directly provide the funds, must be secured in competition with other enterprises offering investment opportunity. Continued expansion of railroad facilities is contingent upon a continuance of conditions under which investors may reasonably hope for a fair return from railroad investment. Such conditions may be maintained only through the cooperation and support of the public which the railroads serve.

The Missouri-Kansas-Texas Lines earnestly solicit this co-operation and support. Helpful suggestions, looking toward continued improvement in Katy service and Katy standing with the public, are always welcomed.

QUANAH ENTERING ERA OF REVIVALS FOR FEW WEEKS

QUANAH, TEXAS, June 23.—Quanah is in the midst of a revival era at the various churches of the city for the next few weeks. Under the leadership of Rev. Robert Huxton and preaching by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Story, the Methodists the past week have been holding three services a day. Each morning at 10 o'clock a platform message is delivered by the preacher; then at 7:45 each evening Rev. Robert Huxton holds his young people's meeting. Then at 8:30 the final meeting of the day is held. Several young people have been converted in this meeting and the interest seems to be centering around the young folks in their Win-One Club. A contest is on with Miss Jessie Cass captain and the White and W. B. Foster leader of the girls. This meeting is to last another week.

SHORT TERM OF FEDERAL COURT OPENS ON MONDAY

NEARLY 100 CRIMINAL CASES SCHEDULED FOR TRIAL DURING TERM.

EIGHTY PER CENT ARE WHISKEY LAW CASES

Judge Wm. H. Atwell to Sit on Bench During Special Term of Court.

Judge Wm. H. Atwell of the United States District court for the northern district of Texas, will open court in the Wichita Falls division in this city Monday morning at 10:00 o'clock. The term is a special one and will be but one week in duration.

Nearly 100 criminal cases, besides a small number of civil cases, are scheduled for trial during this short term. Fully 80 per cent of the criminal cases set down for trial are for alleged violations of the federal prohibition laws.

Included in the liquor cases are several defendants who have been previously convicted, while there are one or two who will appear before the court for the third time. A third appearance before the federal court in case of conviction, warrants a penitentiary sentence.

Summons have been issued for 30 petty jurors who will report to Judge Atwell at 10:00 o'clock Monday morning, at which time defendants in all the criminal cases are also to be present.

Assistants United States District Attorneys Reinhardt and Coffman will be in charge of the prosecution of the criminal cases. Mr. Reinhardt arrived in the city Friday morning and has been busily engaged getting things in order so that no delay will be occasioned Monday morning and trial of cases can begin as soon as all preliminary matters pertinent to the opening of court are disposed of.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT AVOIDED BECAUSE OF MODERATE SPEED

Only the moderate rate of speed at which the two cars were traveling prevented a serious accident on the Iowa Park road Saturday afternoon, when a Ford car driven by Ed Cantrell of Tipton, Oklahoma, collided head-on with a machine driven by Mrs. M. D. Swan of Burk Burnett.

Mrs. T. E. Orshon, who, with her two small children, was in the Swan car at the time of the accident, was painfully cut about the face and arms by the glass from the broken windshield. Mrs. Swan and the two Orshon children escaped unhurt, except for a severe shaking up.

Cantrell had just crossed the river on his way from the city. Mrs. Swan was coming into town from Burk Burnett. The collision occurred at the intersection of the Iowa Park and Burk Burnett roads. Both machines were badly demolished.

Raise Your Own Roughage Save on Your Feed Bill

Many dairymen are losing money as they feed too much concentrate because of shortage of roughage. You can lower your milk production cost by raising your own roughage and using less feed. Any Texas soil will raise good roughage such as cane hay or sorghum. A liberal amount of these or Johnson grass, lespedeza, prairie hay, make fine balances for Purina Cow Chow. The roughage will maintain the cow's body and you will require a less amount of Cow Chow.

Raise your own roughage and get your Purina Cow Chow from us.

FINISH TERM OF DISTRICT COURT AT MEMPHIS FRIDAY

NUMBER OF CIVIL AND CRIMINAL CASES CLEARED FROM DOCKET.

FOURTEEN FELONY CASES DISMISSED BY JUDGE

Estelline Precinct Defeated and Turkey District Votes Proposed Road Bonds.

MEMPHIS, TEXAS, June 22.—The mid-summer term of district court, which convened June 4, finally adjourned yesterday. Several civil cases were finally disposed of during the term, but a crowded docket awaits the next court. On the criminal docket, a large number of cases were disposed of, 14 felony cases being dismissed. Among these were nine cases against the Crabb boys for carrying liquor; four against Kirkendall, on the same charge, and one for swindling, against N. R. Stroud, former manager of the Memphis Dry Goods Company. This indictment resulted because of the bankruptcy of this concern. Other cases were dismissed in three cases. H. T. Hester, charged with theft of an automobile, was transferred here from Childress, was given three months in the penitentiary. A. O. Vancey, charged with making liquor, received a year, transferred here from Childress, was given three months in the penitentiary. The law creating a new judicial district composed of Hall, Donley, Childress and Collingsworth counties was introduced this week and the next court will probably convene in February, the date in this instance having been changed to that month and August Judge Leak has moved his home to Vernon.

Vote on Road Bonds.
The official count of the votes in the elections in the Estelline and Turkey precincts upon the issuance of bonds for road improvement show that the proposition to issue $100,000 in bonds in the Estelline precinct was defeated, the proposition lacking 21 votes of the necessary two-thirds majority. In the Turkey precinct the proposition to issue $100,000 in bonds carried by a vote of 120 to 61. These two commissioners' precincts cover the southern half of Hall county, which is divided by Red river.

At Memphis on Fourth.
A communication to Secretary Sawyer of the Memphis chamber of Commerce from W. R. Nabours, secretary of inspection of the town board, corrects an error in the published itinerary of the board in the itinerary of the technological locating applying for the location. Secretary Nabours said that the statement that the board would work Memphis and Quannah on July 5 is wrong. This date comes on Sunday and it is the purpose of the board to reach Memphis on the evening of the fourth and spend Sunday here. They hope to complete the investigation here in time to leave for Quannah at 9:18 o'clock on the morning of the sixth.

Scouts to Have Outing.
Three companies of Scouts expect to leave Monday morning for their annual outing. The place selected is upon Crooked creek, near Quannah. The encampment will be under the command of Major James V. Leak, who secured permission for the camp location on a ranch. Lieut. Alan Grady, adjutant, will also accompany the scouts. Fishing and

OLNEY WHEAT CROP BETTER THAN MANY FARMERS EXPECTED

NOW THOUGHT AVERAGE WILL BE BETTER THAN 15 BUSHELS TO THE ACRE.

PLAN COMMUNITY PICNIC OLNEY MUNICIPAL LAKE

Dirt is Broken for New Home of First National Bank to Cost $40,000.

OLNEY, TEXAS, June 23.—The wheat crop in the Olney country is turning out better than was expected and it is now thought that the entire section will average in the neighborhood of 15 bushels per acre.

The smallest yield that has come to the attention of the correspondent was around 10 bushels, and the best he has yet heard of was a 40-acre field belonging to J. M. Bloodworth, whose farm is just northwest of the city limits, and who averaged 23 bushels per acre.

All of it is of good grade and tests from 60 to 65 pounds to the bushel. Olney will market between three and four hundred cars of wheat and oats but this marketing is taking place very slowly on account of the depressed price prevailing at present. Many farmers are building new granaries and storing their entire crop for a better market.

Community Picnic.
At a meeting of the chamber of commerce Thursday night plans were completed for the community picnic to be held at the Olney municipal lake on July 4, dedicating the recently completed Boy Scouts cabin.

The program will be in charge of the Boy Scouts, free barbecue will be served and in addition to this it will be a basket picnic. It is expected that practically every family in the town and surrounding country will enjoy the day with the scouts.

The business houses of Olney will be closed and the chamber of commerce is cooperating with the boys in staging the picnic.

Building Activity.
Dirt was broken this week for the new home of the First National Bank at the corner of Main street and Avenue K. It is to be a two-story and basement structure, steam heated, and 30 by 140 feet in size and will cost approximately $40,000. It will be fitted out in the latest and best furniture and fixtures and it is hoped that it can be ready for occupancy by the middle or latter part of September.

Ground will be broken for the new $100,000 high school building on Monday of the coming week.

C. D. Shamburger is erecting sheds and office for his new lumber yard here. Already they have one of the largest stocks of building materials in the city.

Morris Hanna is just completing a handsome new stucco-finished bungalow in northwest Olney and should be ready to move in early in the coming week. There are about a dozen new homes under construction in the city at this time.

The Farmers State Bank has definitely decided to build a new home, and work on this is expected to begin real soon.

Missionary Program.
The ladies of the First Christian church of Graham visited the local church Monday afternoon and gave an interesting missionary program which was led by Mrs. John B. Ithra. After the program delicious refreshments were served, and a delightful social hour was enjoyed.

NEW VAN NOY INTERSTATE MANAGER ARRIVES HERE

J. O. Sherman, the new local manager for the Van Noy Interstate News Company, has already assumed his duties.

SAFETY GAS VALVE PLANT MAY BE ESTABLISHED HERE

A plant for the manufacture of a safety gas valve will in all probability be the next addition to the industries of Wichita Falls.

The valve, which it is expected will be manufactured here, was recently invented by Roy P. Tooley and C. W. Johnson of this city. Patents on the invention were obtained last week and although no definite decision has been reached, the inventors expect to manufacture the article and put it on sale from this city.

The advantages of the safety valve are that should the gas be turned on without notice to the consumer, it is so arranged as to prevent the escape into the building.

The invention provides for a valve with the usual port or opening for the passage of the gas. The valve is provided with recesses at diametrically opposite points. A ball arranged to operate within the bore occupies a position in one of the recesses when the valve is open and gravitates to a position at the lower end of the bore when the valve is closed. In case the gas is turned on unknown to the consumer, the ball is forced forward in the bore under sufficient pressure to prevent the escape of the gas.

SAUL'S "OF COURSE"

A Girl at 60

A famous beauty for 40 years

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I have been a stage beauty since days you can't remember. Now, at a grandmother's age, I am still a stage beauty, and I look like a girl of 19. The thousand who see me daily marvel at my youthful bloom. It seems unbelievable to them. Countess women have urged me to tell them the secret.

Now I am doing more than that. I am supplying all who wish the very helps I use. The helps France gave me years ago. The helps that made me famous as a girl, and that keep me a girl today. I hope they will bring to millions what they brought to me, and I believe they will.

White Youth Clay
My chief help is a clay. Not like the crusty and sticky clays so many use. This is a white refined clay which brings manifold results. It has been perfected by 20 years of scientific study.

I apply it twice a week. It purges the skin of all that clogs it—the excess of yellowish blackheads and blemishes. It brings the blood to the skin to nourish and revive it. The result is a rosy, bright glow, and immediate new complexion.

It firms the skin, combats all lines and wrinkles, reduces enlarged pores. Many women in 30 minutes seem to drop 10 years. My own face is what constant use will do.

This White Youth Clay will do for any girl or woman more than any other I know. The new beauty and new youth it brings will be amazing to you.

My Facial Youth
This is a liquid cleanser which I owe to France. No cleansing cream I ever saw in any way compares. It contains no animal or vegetable fat. So it cannot grow hair on the face.

the face. It cannot assimilate in any way with the skin. It simply cleans to the depths, then departs, and all the grime goes with it.

The leading beauty experts of the world now advise this formula. It will bring to you a new conception of what a clean skin means.

Mr Youth Cream
French experts tell me this creation is the utmost in cold cream. It contains both lemon and strawberry. Also the best that science knows to soften, whiten, feed and smooth the skin.

I apply it on retiring. Also after my Youth Clay. Also daytime as a powder base. My baby skin shows what it does compared with other creams.

My Hair Youth
My hair is thick and lustrous. It grows finer every year. I have never had dandruff, never falling hair, never a touch of gray. Nor have countless friends who long have used my method.

This is due to my Hair Youth—another French creation. I apply it with an eye-dropper, directly to the scalp. That does not muss the hair. It combats whatever stifles hair roots—dandruff, hardened oil, etc. It stimulates and fertilizes. I have never found anything to compare with this for the hair.

All druggists and toilet counters now supply my helps exactly as I use them. White Youth Clay costs 10 cents and $1 per tube. My Youth Cream, 50c. Facial Youth, 75c. Hair Youth 50c and $1 with eye dropper. My Beauty Book comes with each.

For my beauty and new youth, these are the best helps known. They cost me years of searching and a fortune. Now gladly place them at everyone's command. Go learn what they mean to you.

STRANGER THINGS HAVE HAPPENED.

The Washington editor of the Philadelphia Public Ledger has it all figured out just how the democratic national convention will turn out. When the balloting begins there will be much enthusiasm and many votes for W. G. McAdoo, but Tammany and Tom Taggart and a few other kindred spirits will see to it that the necessary two-thirds vote is lacking for McAdoo or anybody else. After hours of weary voting Tammany will make its effort for Al Smith, which the Public Ledger's man believes is sure to fall on account of his religious affiliations and his wet inclination. Then at some psychological moment Tom Taggart will launch his effort for Samuel L. Ralston, who will satisfy the drier of the dry and who is a mighty good friend to some wets, and against whom little objection can be raised by anybody. All factions will join in the stampede to Ralston and the tired delegates will be leaving for home before the candidate for vice-president can be elected. That is the picture of the future drawn by the Public Ledger man. It would not be strange if it turned out that way.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

INVESTMENTS.

Everybody makes investments. For investments made with money are not the only kind of investments. Nor are they the most important.

Just the minute that you arrive at the point where you are able to think for yourself, you begin to make investments.

The boy who early loves to roam the woods, to hunt flowers and to learn about the beautiful secrets of nature and all her gifts, animate and inanimate, is setting aside an investment that will pay him more in health and happiness than all the money he could accumulate in later years.

And he who takes his plastic brain in youth and plants insuperable impressions of beauty there, is sure to approach the problems of life in a strong and fit manner.

I talked with a boy the other evening. He is but 14 years of age, and yet his mind was so filled with the love of books and art that he was an inspiration to me. I thought of the great wealth he was beginning to accumulate—how, in after years, his love of beauty and books was sure to mean more to him than anything he could invest in with money.

I read a letter once from a friend of mine—a big public man—who wrote to a wealthy friend asking him to loan a young man money sufficient to take him through college. "There is no investment on earth," wrote my friend, "that pays greater dividends than that invested in a man."

I know a man who has been investing in human beings all his life. He is nearly 80 years of age now. His hair is like the snow of winter, his soul is like the cool, gentle breath of late summer laden with the sweet fragrance of its dying flowers. In money he is very poor, but his investments in people are scattered in the four points of the compass—and each one of these men and women whom he has helped are building a world for him.

One of the wealthiest friends I have is "Chief" Beckman, a man who worked his way through Yale and who now devotes all his time to the training of boys at Camp Dudley on Lake Champlain, New York. Every summer he invests anew in something like 300 boys. That's compound interest for you!

Where do you keep your investments—in vaults with great burglar-proof doors many feet thick, made from pressed steel; or do you put your investments in people's hearts where neither moth nor dust doth corrupt, and where there do not break through and steal?

By EDGAR A. GUEST

WHEN THE BABY SMILES AT YOU.

Now the rising sun at morning is a glorious sight to see.

And there is a wealth of beauty in a blossoming apple tree.

There are landscapes built to thrill you with their splendor night and day.

And when you come upon them "Oh's" and "Ah's" are all you say.

But the loveliest sight I know of, one which thrills you through and through,

Is that glad smile of a baby when she wants to come to you.

There is nothing to excel it, not the rising sun at dawn

Nor the glitter and the splendor of the dew upon the lawn.

Nor the majesty of mountains with their jeweled crowns of snow,

Nor the silver of the waters as they fall to depths below—

These are not so captivating, though they're beautiful to view.

As the glad smile of a baby when she wants to come to you.

There's no painter who can catch it and no poet who can tell

All the wondrous radiance of it and its charm ineffable.

When those little eyes start dancing and across that chubby face

The countless lines and wrinkles of her gladness seem to race,

Then you see God's best creation—yes, the finest He can do—

The glad smile of a baby when she wants to come to you!

MARSHALL POINTS MORAL FROM LABOR'S WAR FOR SQUARE DEAL

By THOMAS R. MARSHALL, Former Vice President of the United States.

No one on earth has a finer sense of intellectual and moral honesty than the average American. This applies equally to the native born or naturalized citizen. Give him a thorough understanding of any subject, and he will reach a correct conclusion and have the courage to put his conclusion into concrete conduct. Our trouble is not that we are inherently bad heads or bad hearts, but from bad digestion. They cause us to take into the system too many calories, from overloading ourselves with too much of the same kind of food. Instead of taking the place of deliberate judgment and, strangely enough, the impulse usually arises over a word received from village peddlars, and, although the remedy may be only a partial cure, or in the end may breed new diseases worse than the one eradicated.

Dawning Day Inevitable. It sometimes takes us quite a while to orient ourselves, but we are the average American. I will remember the long struggle to educate the American people to an understanding of the fact that beyond temporary relief to poverty, additional relief was not contributing to delirium. I recall our village peddlars and how profoundly we were impressed with the idea that when we received public benefactions, we had done good service. He was far stouter than I am or ever was, but having gotten into an abstract condition, he received public benefactions, he had lost all sense of personal responsibility and lived, not because he did not hope to do anything in it, but because benefactions enabled him to live without any effort on his part. One day he said to me: "I do not know why we are not doing the right thing by him or by the community. We insisted that he go to school and we got him a job. In a short time his self-respect was restored, and thereafter he became a self-sustaining and useful citizen."

In its long fight for a square deal, labor has constantly sought to put the burden of taxation upon supporting fellow-workers whether they worked or not. Of course, the wrongs of the past have made many of the demands of the present, but it is well to question whether all of these demands are justified, whether the present has succeeded, to may not result in common evil rather than in common good. Viewing one segment of the league of nations, that is the present, kindly light, he prayed to keep all our minds open and to be the most important line. "My soul yearns for peace, my heart is hungry—my spirit is eager to serve—my passion is for justice over force—my mind is made up to have a 'stink or swim, survive or perish' swing to it; very persuasive."

The president exhorted, he besought, he implored, he quoted "read, kindly light," he prayed to keep all our minds open and to be the most important line. "My soul yearns for peace, my heart is hungry—my spirit is eager to serve—my passion is for justice over force—my mind is made up to have a 'stink or swim, survive or perish' swing to it; very persuasive."

Coming back from "kindly light" to cold facts, this is the part of the speech that counts. "The president will demand: 'First, that the tribunal (world court) be so constituted as to appear to be in theory and practice, in form and in substance, beyond the shadow of doubt, a world court and not a league device.'"

"Second, that the United States shall occupy a plane of perfect equality with every other power."

As to No. 1, Lord Robert Cecil, who knows more about the league of nations than President Harding could possibly know, says positively that the world court is not on a plane of equality. Europe is Europe, and America is America, and the two continents are opposed, which is what Europe envies, hates, and to a large extent despises this country. "But a trip to Europe would convince him of it, if he went disguised."

If there were six judges on that world court not more than one would be from the United States. The five others would be against him. There would be no 'plane of perfect equality' there.

R. M. Baruch gives farmers advice to which they will listen. Baruch knows how things are bought and sold and where the rake off goes. He spent many years in Wall street, before leaving active business. He advises a pool to control prices for the benefit of the farmer and discourage speculation that gives to gamblers instead of farmers the best profit on the wheat crop.

Baruch's suggestion that J. Ogden Armour start an export agency on behalf of farmers is a good suggestion as a starter. The scheme would need somebody that understands world wide marketing, and that Armour would understand.

The farmers would not let go of control, and Baruch would suggest it.

The proposed wheat pool would not perform miracles, of course, but it would be a good suggestion as a starter. The scheme would need somebody that understands world wide marketing, and that Armour would understand.

G. O. P. to Democratic Party: "Hello, It's Time for the Old Spectre Again"

By MORRIS

The learned editor of the Chicago Daily News, who publishes an English edition of his excellent Chicago newspaper, is in New York arranging with Mr. Keough, American syndicate boss, for the publication of this column in English and Chinese in Chicago.

This little candle throws his beams a long way around the earth in El Mundo, Havana, out in the Atlantic in seventy American cities, stretching from New York to California, also in the Honolulu Advertiser. The next step is from the Hawaiian Islands to China. As there is nothing much in this column except brief reference to news, you learn that the same kind of news interests parts of the world far apart.

All read the president's speech cord address, an excellent speech with hearty trimmings: "My soul yearns for peace, my heart is hungry—my spirit is eager to serve—my passion is for justice over force—my mind is made up to have a 'stink or swim, survive or perish' swing to it; very persuasive."

The president exhorted, he besought, he implored, he quoted "read, kindly light," he prayed to keep all our minds open and to be the most important line. straw will be piled up in neat bundles.

How wonderful is such a machine and the mind of man that creates it! And how miserably incompetent is our so-called "civilized government" that after creating such a machine condemns the farmer to a life almost as hard and unprofitable as that life was when the farmer cradled his own wheat with an aching back, and threshed it by hand on the barn floor.

Boas enjoying his nap, with Ruth keeping his feet warm, would have died in superstitious terror at sight of such a machine as President Harding will drive. But Farmer Boas was better-off than any Kansas farmer today.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The sleep of a laboring man is sweet, whether he eat little or much; but the abundance of the rich will not suffer him to sleep.—Eccles. 5:12

Everyone for his home, everyone for himself.—M. Dupin.

SUMMER PHILOSOPHY.

The dispatches have been telling us of the heat wave that has been severely felt at many points in the middle west and at points along the Atlantic coast. Many have been stricken with heat prostration and there has been much suffering and distress.

Down here in Texas where it is popularly believed outside the state that it often gets hot enough to boil water in the creeks and tanks, we have not suffered unduly from the heat. It is true that it gets hot but heat prostrations are rare in Texas and there is comparatively little discomfort.

The worst thing about the heated season in Texas is that it sometimes continues for many months and the monotony of it wears on our nerves. For that reason those who can ought to get away for a few weeks at least. A little respite from our work will refresh us and will break the tedium of the long heated period. Those of us who cannot get away ought to slow up for the time in our accustomed activities. Most of us are keyed up too highly anyway. We gulp down our meals. We rush about the street. After we go home in the evening we are not content to remain there but must go out to this or that.

We ought to eat more leisurely. We ought to know where we are going before we start and what we are going to do after we get there. We will be better able to resist the heat of the morrow if we remain at home in the evening and lounge about on the porch or lawn.

The next best thing to a vacation is to take things a bit easier and live more leisurely. If we will do this we will probably accomplish just as much and certainly go

JOHN THE BAPTIST

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

JOHN THE BAPTIST—TEXT OF TODAY'S BIBLE TALK BY MR. BRYAN

(Luke 3:3-8; 7:24-35)

And he came into all the country about Jordan, preaching the baptism of repentance for the remission of sins.

As it is written in the book of the words of Esaias the prophet, saying, The voice of one crying in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, shall be filled, and every mountain and hill shall be brought low; and the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough ways shall be made smooth.

And all flesh shall see the salvation of God.

Then said he to the multitude that came forth to be baptized of him, O generation of vipers, who hath warned you to flee from the wrath of come?

Bring forth therefore fruits worthy of repentance, and begin not to say unto you, That God is able of these stones to raise up children unto Abraham.

And what messengers of John were departed, he began to say unto the people concerning John, What went ye out into the wilderness for to see? A reed shaken with the wind?

But what went ye out for to see? A man clothed in soft raiment? Behold, they which are gorgeously apparelled, and live delicately, are in kings' courts.

But what went ye out for to see? A prophet? Yea, I say unto you, and much more than a prophet.

This is he, of whom it is written, Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

For I say unto you, Among those are born of women there is not a greater prophet than John the Baptist; but he that is the least in the kingdom of God is greater than he.

In spite of our intellectual progress and our boasted civilization we are continually compelled to design new laws to protect society from new forms of brutality and crime. Pure food laws are necessary to keep men from poisoning their customers; anti-option laws are necessary to keep gamblers from robbing the producers of wealth; and white-slave laws are necessary to keep women from being stolen from their homes and dragged down into the underworld—a way station on the road to a suicide's grave.

There is much of the "wilderness" even in our crowded cities and we need the cry of souls afar, calling society back to God, to the Bible and to Christ.

Are our hearts open to calls to service? Are we ready to endure sacrifice in order to win the approval of conscience and the commendation of the Heavenly Father? (Copyright, 1922, by The Republic Syndicate)

The forerunner is a very important character in history and John the Baptist was the greatest of all the men of his type.

His was the greatest message because he ushered in the Saviour of mankind.

He was a relative of Jesus, their mothers being cousins. He was born to Elizabeth in answer to prayer and was a Nazarene, pledged to total abstinence, was supported from the world—set apart for the exemplification of the highest purpose and the strictest morality.

Let us consider first his mission. Most of the people of the world in history are like the summits of some mountain range, approached so gradually that they hardly know when he has crossed the divide. Forerunners sometimes go in groups, each succeeding member of the group carrying the banner a little farther, until it is finally planted upon the eminence toward which all were marching, even though unconscious of the ultimate goal.

Remedy for Luxury and Lust.

Tolstoy, in one of his essays, pays a tribute to Bondarof, the author of the bread-labor remedy for luxury and lust. In speaking of this reform, he says:

"All discoveries of truth, whether in science (abstract or applied), in philosophy, in morals, in social sciences, are reached by people going round the new truths in ever-narrowing circles, drawing nearer and nearer to them, and sometimes slightly touching them, until some bold, free, and gifted man seizes the very center of the new truth and places it on a height where it is visible to all.

"This is just what Bondarof has done for the moral-economic truth which was awaiting discovery and elucidation in our time."

Sometimes it seems a forerunner comes upon the scene suddenly, as in the case of John.

There had been a long era—some four centuries—between the days of the great prophets and the coming of Christ. In all that time there was no towering figure to challenge attention, but there was an air of expectancy—a sort of lull before the storm. All at once John appeared, fully prepared for the work upon which he was about to enter.

In describing himself, he quotes the words of Isaias: "The voice of one crying in the wilderness."

A Bold Man.

This is wonderfully expressive; it suggests boldness on the part of the one described and implies also that his words were unwelcome. He was ready to encounter opposition; his purpose was so strong that he headed not the encouragement of the multitude. His work was mapped out beforehand; he was "to prepare the way of the Lord." The crooked paths he made straight and "all flesh" was to "see the salvation of God."

He is represented as scolding the customers of the bath, and his language was as unconventional as his appearance. He did not use any conciliatory phrases in addressing the multitude.

"I beg your pardon," I venture to suggest, "I hope you will permit me to say—such courteous means of approach were entirely foreign to his nature. On the contrary, those who went out to be baptized of him were a generation of vipers, and he inquired who had warned them to 'flee from the wrath to come.'"

He was not satisfied with lip service; he enjoined upon them to bring forth fruits worthy of repentance. It was not sufficient for them to say, "We have Abraham to our father," God, he declared, "is able of these stones to raise up children unto Abraham."

He worshipped the God whose power was unlimited—a God whose could both reward and punish. No other appeal was he fitted into the time or met the requirements of the occasion.

What Kind of Preaching?

There is quite a difference of opinion among Christians as to the kind of preaching that is most effective.

Some want a subdued sermon, perfect in rhetoric and sonorous in delivery. They feel that calmness befits the dignity of the house of God. Some are doubtless won by such methods who might be repelled by what they call "sensational" appeals. It takes all kinds of preaching to reach all kinds of people and any kind of preaching is good if it reaches the hearts and turns sinners to righteousness.

But it is not fair for any particular class to set its method up as the only proper method. The test is whether the Lord rewards the evangelist with souls for his hire.

The preacher who speaks softly to a sleeping congregation is not in position to condemn as improper the vehemence that shocks the wrong doer into penitence and opens the way for the greater of all miracles—the changing of the human heart so that the person actually hates the things he once loved and loves the things he once hated.

God's Varying Methods.

We cannot improve upon the plan of the Almighty and we find that His methods are various and often in sharp contrast one with another.

The very air that we breathe usually moves past us in the form of a gentle, refreshing breeze, but sometimes this same air, set in motion by unforeseen forces, sweeps along with it despite all efforts that we make to resist its power.

So with water; it is the daily need of every living thing, and usually falls in pleasant showers, but this same water becomes irritable when it rolls down in a flood or a gale.

The Wichita Daily Times Ideal Home Beautiful.

Opens today

THE building of the home beautiful was undertaken by the Wichita Daily Times and Wichita's progressive contractors, builders and home furnishers as a matter of civic interest and to point out the way for building of better, more convenient and comfortable homes in Wichita Falls. Everyone is cordially invited to visit this beautiful, ideal and complete home. The home beautiful will be formally opened to the public at 2:00 o'clock this afternoon. Easy to find. It is located just across the street from the new Junior College, on the corner of Avenue H and Bell St. Drive down or up Tenth street to Monroe and follow the guiding signs out pavement on Monroe to Avenue H, where another sign will direct to the left to the corner of Avenue H and Bell street. The site may be reached by going out on a Factory or Lake street car and getting off at Avenue H on Kemp Boulevard. A walk in an easterly direction will lead to THE TIMES IDEAL HOME BEAUTIFUL. After today the hours will be 10 a. m. to 8 p. m.

TIMES IDEAL HOME BEAUTIFUL OPENS TODAY TO PUBLIC

Public Is Invited to Inspect This Model Of Home Construction

The Times Ideal Home Beautiful which will be opened to the public Sunday afternoon, June 24, is a building with only the best in materials and workmanship all the way through.

Leaders in various lines of business were selected in order that the idea of perfection might be carried out in every detail.

The lot was purchased from Jerome Stone and was selected by B. F. Johnson, because of its desirable location, being accessible to the handsome new Junior College building, and being high and cool. Mr. Johnson, with offices in the basement of the Waggoner building is thoroughly familiar with the development and relative desirability of real estate in Wichita Falls, having been engaged in this business here for some years.

Bert Adrian, the contractor stayed right on the job, giving his personal direction to seeing that only first class materials and workmanship went into the building. Mr. Adrian believes that careful building always pays and has a reputation for being a dependable and thorough contractor. The plans he carried out were drawn by Jerry Schaeffer, local architect.

Lumber was selected, furnished by the Galbraith-Foxworth Lumber company, because lumber is accepted as the ideal material for home building due to the fact that it is cheap, practical and easily produced.

The tin work and gutters are furnished by the Lewis sheet metal works, leaders in this line of business.

The concrete work, including driveway, garage floor, walks and foundation was put in by the Portland cement people with Bob Collier as local representative. Much depends on the foundation of a house and only the best, was essential for the home beautiful.

The mill work, such as door work and the roof were handled by the Wichita Falls Lumber and Building company who have a high reputation for dependable work of this character.

The builders' hardware the dishes and the cooking utensils were furnished by the Noble-Little Hardware company who carry a full and complete line of this character of goods.

The Wichita Builders Supply put the tile in the bathroom, proving the extreme desirability for this sort of finish for bathrooms. Possibly no other part of the furnished by the Perkins-Stimberlake company, a small motor driven refrigerating machine furnished by J. D. Jackson, local representative of the J. M. Brantem company, and fans for the entire house, sewing machine, washing machine, Thor ironer, Hotpoint iron, waffle iron, toaster, percolator, hair curler and drier, warming pad, vibrator, ice cream freezer, utility motor and Hotpoint Hughes range put in by the Wichita Falls electric company, who will also furnish the electricity for the home.

These modern electrical conveniences are selected under the house is properly wired for their use and to the Deoch Electric Company was given this important job, as well as furnishing the light fixtures.

Economical and dependable heating will be assured by the use of Gascon radiators of a Colonial type, which is the newest method of modern heating.

Natural gas is furnished by the Municipal Gas Company thus insuring heat at all times, when wanted. The Goosier Wholesale Grocer company stocked the pantry with the highest grade and best brands of flour, sugar, coffee, tea, butter and boiled, ready to serve were placed in the Frigidaire by the Sanitary Meat Market.

Adequate insurance protection has been secured by the Robbins, H. O. Craven and William-Dwyer companies and working on the same theory of being "safe rather than sorry" the abstract to lot 16, block 11-A was brought right down to the minute by the Guarantee Abstract & Title company.

The Wichita Building and Loan association offers to assist the ultimate buyer of the home to finance the deal through a long period of time on an easy payment plan.

The silver which goes to make the dining room a place of beauty was furnished by the Kruger Jewelry company and the pictures and much of interior decorations are from the Decorators shop whose wonderful stock of these articles is well known.

The McConnell Brothers furniture company furnished the living room, one bedroom and the kitchen, using practical furniture, with beauty of line and high standard of quality uppermost in mind. The Victorias without which no home is ideal is also placed in the home by the Victoria department of this store.

The Presser Furniture company had charge of the dining and breakfast rooms, one bedroom and the sun parlor and handled the draperies for the entire house, seeing to great benefit the advantages offered by their interior decorating department under the supervision of Ivan Marchison.

The modern electrical appliances which go to make of housework a science rather than a drudgery these days have been incorporated, including a Hoover electric sweeper.

handed this line of business here in Wichita Falls.

The National H.-Wright company installed the new and modern weight each balance giving correct ventilation and also being responsible for the weather stripping.

In the garage will be a Studebaker car placed there by the local dealers the Keim Motor Company, completing the ideal furnishing and equipment of the ideal home.

No detail has been overlooked in the plan to make of this home an ideal in all respects, economical and yet attractive and substantial and no effort has been spared by those connected with its erection and furnishing to carry out this idea.

FRAGRANT FLOWERS COLOR AND LIFE TO ANYBODY'S HOME

Fragrance, color, life, elements which are indispensable in the making of a beautiful and attractive home, and flowers add all of these essential characteristics both inside and out.

People are coming more and more to realize that the plainest little cottage can be made beautiful with a bit of well kept lawn, shrubs against the house and window boxes with their trailing vines and bright, glowing flowers.

The window boxes of the Times Ideal Home Beautiful add a remarkably attractive feature to the exterior of the building and to the view from the interior as well as the glance cannot travel out of the window without encountering these charming pictures of nature.

Helping to make them the very most beautiful in the city, these "ideal" window boxes have geraniums, petunias, coleus, verbena, phlox and vinca vines, each adding its bit of beauty and color to the whole.

The Wichita Floral company is responsible for the beauty of the window boxes and for the cut flowers used for the opening.

F. & M. Dairy furnished the milk which the Frigidaire is to keep sweet for a number of days. To PFM Company is due the credit for the handsome linens seen in the dining and breakfast rooms and the bedrooms, also the soft blankets and beautiful spreads on the beds.

HOME BEAUTIFUL FURNISHED WITH THE FRIGIDAIRE

From earliest times man has recognized that perishable foods should be kept in a cool place. He did not know a thing about the development of bacteria but he knew the food tasted better and lasted longer if kept where it was cool and therefore sought every means to keep it chilled and free from decomposition.

Trees were hollowed and perishable foods stored in them. Caves were dug and bottoms of streams were used. In more modern times the cellar floor was resorted to. All these were poor makeshifts and soon were supplanted by the ice box, which was a great improvement even in the early days when the ice must be garnered from streams, ponds and rivers.

Artificial refrigeration has been one of the greatest inventions of these modern days. It is not new but until recently it has not been practical to build ice making machines of small capacity.

These machines serve for cooling and to make ice in limited quantities. They are automatic in operation and while they call for a moderate investment in the beginning their maintenance is about half that of the ordinary ice box.

The small motor driven refrigerating machine is in fact a modern household essential. The turn of a switch brings winter's cold!

This is also another triumph for electricity. Over the same wires that bring current to light your home, to heat your iron or your toaster, to run your range, now comes the current to cool your ice box. It seems marvelous to refrigerate without ice yet it is only the application of a principle made use of for years commercially—mechanical refrigeration.

The Frigidaire, put out by the P. M. Brantem company, with J. D. Jackson as local agent is one of the most successful of these household electrical home refrigerators. The Times Ideal Home Beautiful is furnished with a Frigidaire—ideal because of its economical maintenance, the great length of time food can be preserved, due to the extremely low and dry temperature maintained, and to its convenience, banishing the muss and nuisance of ice and waiting for the ice man.

Gift For Scholarship WACO—Mrs. M. H. Reed of Austin has announced a gift of $5,000 to the Baptist Church here to be used for a scholarship for girls desiring to attend college. The scholarship will be to Baylor University.

Guin Has Resigned BALLINGER—Carl S. Guin, president of the Colorado Valley Irrigation Association, has resigned that position effective immediately. Guin announced connections with another firm as the cause for his resignation.

STREET CARS RUN TO HOME SITE ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The Wichita Falls Traction Company, under the direction of L. L. Albritton, has arranged to give a special street car service for those not having automobiles, for Sunday afternoon, to the Home Beautiful.

The car will run from the junction, Avenue G and Kemp boulevard, and will connect with every out-bound Factory or Lake car. It was stated.

This special arrangement will be a great convenience as it will save a walk of four or five blocks.

GOODNER COMPANY SUPPLIES CANNED GOODS FOR PANTRY

A can of soup underneath the bough of a tree, a can of beans, Van Camp's and a can of tomatoes, are the things that make the wilderness a paradise. Ah! Wilderness was paradise once.

On a South Sea island, in the ice-bound regions of Alaska, on the menu of a Paris Cafe, in the pantry of the Times Ideal Home Beautiful in Wichita Falls, where ever civilized man partakes of food, can be found the products of Van Camp's, a packing company established away back in 1861 and one that has reached the highest degree of perfection in the art of canning pork and beans, soups, vegetable, catsup and saucers.

On the shelves of the pantry of the Ideal Home will be found food products of the highest degree of quality and grade. In keeping with the ideal perfection which is being carried out in this home, as Van Camp's is said to be the best in their line as well as the best of other lines of foods to be used in this home.

It's a far step from the day of our great grandparents when every family produced the products that filled the store house, preparing for the winter by canning and drying fruits and vegetables, curing meats, pickling, preserving and the present day when the best, the purest, the most wholesome of all of these can be purchased from the grocer at a great economy of both labor, money and convenience.

Fruit from Oregon and California; crab meat from Japan; sardines from Norway; peas from New York state can all be on the shelves of the pantry any month in the year, as advanced our modern civilization.

Just as in all lines of merchandise there are superior products using only the best in material and method and there are inferior goods with cheaper ingredients and slip shod methods of production.

The Goodner Wholesale Grocer company, in whose hands has been placed the stocking of the pantry for the Times Ideal Home Beautiful, only carries brands of highest quality and brands that are nationally known and advertised. Among these are:—The Proctor and Kramble line including Ivory soap, Crisco and P. & G. soap, enjoying one of the largest distributions in the United States; Del Monte canned fruits, packed by the California Packing corporation, which uses only the finest and freshest fruits and vegetables and is one of the largest canners of food products; Gold Medal flour, nationally advertised; and a list of products that are the most universally used flour in the United States; Van Camp's products, packed by the Van Camp's company, and a leader in this line, Virginia Dare Extracts and Love apples, both of the highest quality; Sugar Leaf Canned Vegetables, offering a specially high-grade of peas, corn, hominy, beans and catsup; Maxwell House coffee, famous for its popularity and wide distribution; Nigger to Go Cane Syrup and Pure Georgia ribbon brand syrup of which thousands and thousands of cases were sold in this territory alone last year.

March 1, 1922 two young men formed a partnership for the purpose of writing insurance in Wichita Falls and surrounding territory, starting out with the good will of a host of friends, splendid experience in the insurance line and an abundance of energy and determination to succeed.

The remarkable growth of the Williams Dwyer insurance company has borne out even the most sanguine predictions of those interested and the first half of 1923 shows an increase in business of 48 per cent over 1922. It was stated:

The company, which maintains offices at 104 Ninth street, have recently acquired the agency for three of the largest companies in existence, including the Aetna Fire insurance company of Hartford, Conn. who are 104 years old with losses paid during this time amounting to $228,537,749; the Liverpool, London & Globe and the Hartford Fire insurance company. They also have secured the resident secretaryship for the American Surety company, one of the largest companies of this kind in the United States.

HOME LIGHTING HAS IMPORTANT EFFECT ON YOUR EYESIGHT

"Have you gone to the oculist's lately? And taken Edward Junior along for an examination, and perhaps little sister too?" asks R. E. Broyles of the Wichita Falls Electric company.

"Isn't it a shame the way young eyes are being affected? (To say nothing of those of older folks!) What can be the matter? It's hard to think that youth should be robbed of half the rough-and-tumble fun to which it is entitled because of the restrictions laid on it by spectacles and eye-glasses? And that ineffective vision should be allowed to forbid to later life so much beauty and achievement?"

"What can be the cause? You have, you think, provided in your home plenty of light, especially since the advent of the economical high-powered electric lamp."

"What is the answer? Is the artificial illumination of today linked up with the ever increasing prevalence of the eye strain, with its untold effects upon physical, mental and psychological balance?"

"Men of high repute in illuminating circles say that it is. And manufacturers of lamps, illuminating engineers, designers of fixtures and shades and other lighting equipment are not only concentrating large energies upon the correction of faulty illumination; they are addressing audiences and writing books, and talking early and late to teach the nation that inefficient lighting and improperly directed and diffused light can and must be eliminated."

"Glare is a bad fault in illumination as it exists in most American homes today are gloom and glare. And the greater of these is glare."

"Gloom is discernible in insufficient actual light, because of either too few or too small lamps or too much heavy shading. Glare is light out of place, as dirt is matter out of place. Glare may be present because a high power lamp is placed within the range of vision, or it may be from illuminated surfaces, as highly polished paper, tops of desks or tables, walls and so on, when light in unbroken rays travels directly to these surfaces and then travels back to the eyes."

"It is claimed by today's oculists that 85 per cent of all head aches are caused by glare. A light too dim overtaxing the eye muscles, creates strain and when under glare the pupils of the eyes contract to shut out the straining brilliancy, thus throwing upon other eye muscles an excess share of visual labor."

"The local light company is supplied with literature that helps to

ADVANTAGES OF STEAM HEAT
OBTAINED, FURNACE TROUBLES
ELIMINATED BY GAS STEAM

Cost of operation, heating efficiency, probable duration and beauty of fixtures are all elements to be seriously considered in selecting ideal heating apparatus for the home.

Steam heating is not practical for the small home because of the necessity for a basement. Gas stoves have not proven an altogether satisfactory substitute.

A combination of these two methods, steam boiler and gas

ward illumination both mental and physical. And when new equipment can be purchased at will, the dictates at art and decorative fitness may be freely indulged; for lovely fixtures which also conform to illumination requirements may be found by those who study their topic and apply to this purchase the same judgement and common sense as used in other buying operations.

"But in some instances, especially in rented homes there will not be the ability to spend money as freely as would be necessary for this revolution. Still, even in rented homes lighting should be correct. The effort here must be to correct bad conditions, whenever this is possible, by altering the flow of light by means of the addition of such shades and reflectors as necessary."

heater is now available in the Gas-steam radiator which is a steam radiator eliminating the boiler, making its own steam, each radiator being complete and independent.

With this combination the air is humidified as well as heated in a mild manner and uniformly distributed.

The central boiler is completely eliminated as well as the gas vent and pipes; it is automatically controlled.

"Gassteam" is the most progressive and modern step in home heating and this method is used in the Times Ideal Home Beautiful, the Williams Radiator company of Ft. Worth, supplying the equipment.

Vienna Supports 73,000 Dogs. VIENNA (AP)—From a census which has just been taken in Vienna it appears that the city has 73,000 dogs, or twice as many as in peace time. At first sight it would seem remarkable that so many people in this poverty-ridden city should be keeping dogs.

One of the principal reasons is the increase in the number of burglaries and thefts, which has led many households to keep dogs for protection. Watchmen with police dogs are employed to guard the great Central cemetery, from which a number of bodies have been stolen.

Attractive Dining Room a Feature
Home Beautiful

"It used to be said that the way to reach a man's heart was through his stomach and mere man probably hasn't changed very much since Mother Eve made that remarkable discovery. And as it follows that the dining room became a very important way station on the route to a man's heart" declares a prominent builder of homes.

"Eating continues to be a popular indoor sport. We probably don't spend as much time over it as they used to in more balmy and leisurely days, but even bare statistics will testify that we spend a minimum of 1100 hours in the dining room per annum."

"Eat drink and be merry! The dining room is coming back. Many a modern housewife will tell you that it is her favorite room. And well it may be with its well-rubbed furniture, its cherry array of electric grills, toasters and percolators, its soft rugs, and its fresh lovely wall paper and draperies."

The Times Ideal Home Beautiful will doubtless be a favored spot in the heart of the lucky owner of this beautiful home, with its paneled walls, two-tone walnut dining room set, soft Wilton rug featuring the predominating blue and rose of the paper on a tawpe background. The draperies are blue in a plain fabric with a gold stripe and the entire effect is the happy creation of Freear Furniture company who were responsible for the furnishing of this room.

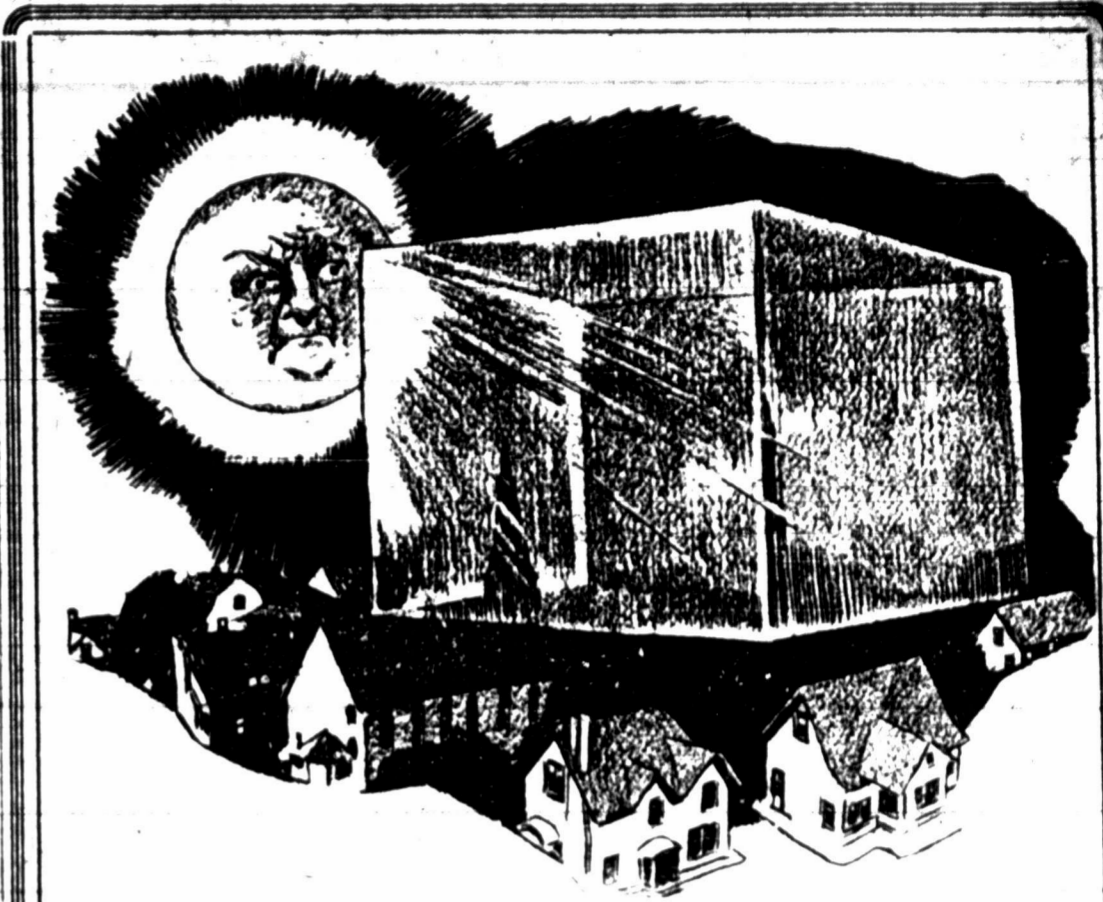

Treasure in Petrograd. LONDON (AP)—A field marshal's baton has been discovered buried in the masonry of one of the columns of the Petrograd Svendsenky Cathedral, near the steps leading to the altar. It is made of solid gold and adorned with 116 large diamonds and emeralds. Its value is said to be $2,000,000.

SERVICE GIVEN TO PATRONS OF FREAR FURNITURE STORE

Most psychologists agree that the greatest influence of our lives is our environment—that we react directly to our immediate surroundings. If this be true how important it would seem that our homes be planned to bring out the best that is in us.

A large part of the attractiveness of the modern home depends upon the taste and skill with which it has been decorated and furnished. The most pleasing surroundings are to be found in the selection of the draperies, the furniture of each phase of the interior decoration of the home.

The members of this firm consist of W. A. Frear who came to this city nearly 15 years ago, purchasing a furniture store already located here and the two sons-in-law of Mr. Frear, Ivan Murchison and Barton Mayton who became members of the firm in 1914 and 1915 respectively.

In 1919 the store was moved from a location on Ohio avenue to the present spacious and ample quarters at the corner of Scott and Ninth, where a three story building, covering a ground floor space of 75x100 feet is now occupied. A warehouse, 40x150 feet is also used and 15 employees are in the service of this concern some of whom have been with the store since Mr. Frear's purchase of it 15 years ago.

The extensive stock covers everything in the furniture line, as well as floor coverings, stoves and draperies.

The drapery department is featured, a large display room being maintained with a number of windows exhibiting various drapery treatments. The latest in drapery materials and fabrics is carried and suggestions for the most modern and up-to-date styles and methods of window treatment are offered. Beautiful window shades which are desirable particularly for their freedom from the possibility of cracking are handled by this store also.

Twenty two nationally advertised products are carried by the W. A. Frear Furniture Company which include the exclusive agency for a number of well known lines including the Leonard Refrigerator, the Globe-Warneck bookcases, Karpis Brothers furniture, A-B gas ranges, Radiant home heaters, Whitall rug, Kroselin window shades and the Kroselin manufacturing company.

Printed Cloths For Brightness In Your Home

The printed cloths that help to make homes hospitable and livable are among the commodities which serve to glorify our lives and are humble only because we are so used to them.

The word Chintz is from the Hindoo "Chint" meaning "Full of color." During the early part of the 17th century "Indians" was a trade term for printed calicoes and the great cloth printing works near Rouen are still called "Indiennes." Thus India so far as we know, was the original source of printed cloth.

The merchant marine supremacy of England started with the British East India company, which was founded to bring native wares from India and distribute them to the great markets of the world. Among the chief articles of merchandise were the beautiful hand printed calico curtains brought to England and used to give a foreign effect to the manor house.

The charm and gaiety of this new household decoration were so great that industry overcame the limitations of the original products and what we call "yard goods." So the chintzes and cottons which you purchase today have a truly noble ancestry.

Printed Cloths For Brightness In Your Home

The printed cloths that help to make homes hospitable and livable are among the commodities which serve to glorify our lives and are humble only because we are so used to them.

The word Chintz is from the Hindoo "Chint" meaning "Full of color." During the early part of the 17th century "Indians" was a trade term for printed calicoes and the great cloth printing works near Rouen are still called "Indiennes." Thus India so far as we know, was the original source of printed cloth.

The merchant marine supremacy of England started with the British East India company, which was founded to bring native wares from India and distribute them to the great markets of the world. Among the chief articles of merchandise were the beautiful hand printed calico curtains brought to England and used to give a foreign effect to the manor house.

The charm and gaiety of this new household decoration were so great that industry overcame the limitations of the original products and what we call "yard goods." So the chintzes and cottons which you purchase today have a truly noble ancestry.

WORKS OF ART FOR THE HOME

Perhaps you are examining a group of pictures casually, without the remotest intention of purchasing; merely admiring them for their own sake, when one very abruptly stands out from the others and it suddenly "occurs" to you that the picture is just what you have been looking for to fill the north wall of the living room, a corner of the den, or some bare nook in your home. Only the psychologist cares to follow the relation of the process of selection, definition and rejection which has made it possible for this seemingly random thought to occur. Just for amusement, suppose we work out, in imagination, the cause of the strange action related above, which has very likely occurred to us all. We will do consciously what takes place.

Select a wall, nook or corner in your home, which is now unoccupied. Consider first of all the size of the space, then the color of the wall, ceiling, floor, of the rug and furniture in the room. You will immediately decide that only certain combinations of colors will blend harmoniously with those surroundings. Consider the lighting in the room. Perhaps the wall you have chosen is dimly lighted, or it may be colorful and bright. Suppose it is the latter. After that consider that you do not have to like certain pictures merely because they are said to be good, or happen to be in a school of painting that is in vogue at the moment. If you know what you like, without knowing why, or even if the object of your choice is generally accepted as a so-called "good picture," it is enough if it pleases you for it reflects your personality and character.

Can Only Apply to Pictures

Your mind has by this time made certain very definite requirements for the picture which might fill the space you have chosen. Certain colors must predominate; it must be of a certain size; it may be gay or somber according to your choice. KITCHEN CABINET A THING OF DUTY AND JOY FOREVER

"A kitchen cabinet is a thing of duty and a joy forever" declares Ethel Peyer in an article on the subject.

It signifies the demand of the modern housewife for a shipshape tool chest with all the materials ready to her hand, so that there may not be reaching, stretching, or relay races around the kitchen, in the preparation of the recurring daily meals.

For the most part these cabinets are movable, although there is quite a tendency to the built-in cabinet, at present.

Steel and wood are the materials out of which the cabinets are made. The steel ones are easy to clean and are protected from vermin, however the wooden cabinets are built with rounded corners which are sanitary and vermin proof. Wooden cabinets are finished with a hard enamel paint which can be washed with impunity.

Never fill your cabinet too full of things, as they are prone to fall down and out, causing nervousness and inconvenience.

The kitchen cabinet is a boon to the small housekeeper and is becoming so appreciated for its concentration of work and saving of steps that even the owners of large homes insist on installing it.

Small neat cabinets are made to fit corners as well as flat spaces and give the kitchen the clean efficient look of the laboratory.

The Times Ideal Home has a Hoosier cabinet furnished by McConnell Bros. Furniture Store.

ANTI-RUN FORCES REPORT PROGRESS IN ARGENTINA

BUENOS AIRES, June 23.—The Rosario branch of the Argentine Anti-Alcoholic League has made notable progress, according to Dr. Benito Valasco, the president of the institution, who told his hearers at a crowded meeting in Rosario recently that the wave of ebrioholism, so noticeable all over the world since the close of the war in Europe, had thinned in Argentina, but that, thanks to the efforts of the league, it was being successfully combated in the great cities of the republic.

He cited statistics to show that drunkenness was on the decrease and urged his hearers to continue the work of prohibition, which had proved so beneficial in this respect.

MISS CRAIG TELLS OF ADVANTAGES OF HOT POINT RANGE

"The kitchen that stays cool in hot weather, where soot, smoke and kerosene are unknown, where full meals are prepared without constant watching, where there is no danger from fuel or open flames, where roasts and vegetables are cooked to their richest flavor, where food is saved and work is reduced to its simplest and lightest form,—this is the kitchen of which you have dreamed," declared Miss Veda Craig, who demonstrated the Hot Point Electric range at the Wichita Falls Electric company's sales room on Scott, last week.

"You cook in cool comfort with this range because the electric heat without flame or fumes is concentrated under each cooking utensil and cannot radiate into the room," Miss Craig stated.

"Your kitchen stays clean, because electricity gives out no smoke, soot or stain, to smut up the pots and pans, or grime the walls and curtains.

"Electric cookery relieves you of the constant heating of meats and broiling and steaming of foods, because the heat is so constant and dependable.

"You cook in perfect safety because there is no open flame to touch hand or garment, since the hot coils are embedded in the soap stone, heat retaining composition. There is no danger that a careless motion or a childish hand may unnoticed open a closed key.

"Electric cookery is most delightful because every article cooked with this pure, clean heat really tastes better than can possibly be produced with fuel heat. There is no odor from the heat to mix with the foods, and since there is no circulation of air in the oven, meats can be cooked with virtually all of the flavors and juices retained and it is not dry and shrunken. Breads are more evenly raised and browned. Cakes are more delicate in flavor and more perfectly baked and browned. Vegetables cooked on the surface elements are free from the danger of boiling dry and burning since the concentrated electric heat does not dry out the moisture and evaporate the liquids.

"The economy of electric cookery is due to the thickly padded walls of the oven which retain all the heat and store it up to continue and complete the roasting and baking long after the current has been turned off. A very small amount of current is required to retain any desired temperature during the cooking operation.

"The kitchen of her dreams is not a dream, but a most possible reality and the housewife of today with the heat to contend with, with the servant problem such a serious one, with the high cost of food stuffs, with the expense of redecorating or cleaning smoked walls, with all of these problems confronting her, she cannot afford to be without this cheapest, cleanest, and most modern kitchen servant, an electric stove."

H. O. CRAVENS IN INSURANCE LINE HERE 12 YEARS

Of all the insurance men in Wichita Falls H. O. Cravens is the longest established in this city having conducted an agency here since June, 1911.

During this period Mr. Cravens has enjoyed the confidence of the public and has commanded a splendid patronage.

There is hardly a building in Wichita Falls that has not at one time or another been protected with a policy written by a company of which Mr. Cravens was the head.

His policy of representing only old established stock companies has proved beneficial in many ways he claims, one of the most satisfactory results being the fact that he has never had a law suit over a claim for a loss in his agency.

Mr. Cravens is one of the best known insurance men in the country and holds a reputation for giving the highest quality of service and satisfaction.

One of the most desirable insurance locations in the city at 712 Eighth street is now occupied, with a well equipped office.

Part of the insurance on the Times Ideal Home Beautiful is carried by Mr. Cravens assuring the owner of absolute protection and safety.

SWEDISH IRON COMPANY PAYS DIVIDEND OF 15 PER CENT

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Sweden's biggest corporation, the Grangesberg Iron Mining and Traffic Company, whose activity is looked upon as a barometer of industrial conditions shows in its report for 1922 a net profit of about $2,860,000 on a total capital of about $22,000,000. The board of directors proposed a dividend of 15 per cent. The quantity of iron ore shipped out during the year rose to more than 5,000,000 tons.

It is reported that prices of iron ore have been steadily sinking and are now only 25 per cent above those of normal peace times before the war.

The sale of Swedish ore to the United States for delivery during 1922 has been particularly brisk, and the quantity ordered is already five times as great as the total shipments to America during 1921. The company now has 13 of its own steamers carrying iron to the United States on a regular schedule, and many of these vessels bring back American coal to Sweden.

Among the Eskimos, "conjurators" who have special training and may be of either sex, wield a great influence.

HOOVER VACUUM CLEANER MEETS ALL REQUIREMENTS

"I have seen ten vacuum cleaners and every one according to the salesman, is the best on the market. They all look charming and shiny and all seem very perfect in the shops. And they all do their stunts beautifully, says the skilled operator performs with them. I want one, but which one shall I buy? Its most confusing. Thus, the uncertain housewife.

The satisfactory cleaner must be light weight, easy to operate, economical and durable. There is nothing so hard to remove as "natural born dust." It becomes imbedded in the carpet and takes force to remove it and the sort of force that will not destroy.

It is easily understood that, as the floor is walked on the dust becomes deeply imbedded in the fibres of the rugs and carpets, and that surface sweeping never can take out the dirt.

Above the floors are, of course, the hangings, mattresses, pictures, books, mouldings, ceilings and walls. As to the dust and litter, such as matches, hair and lint, possibly 25 per cent of it gathers on the floor, therefore the cleaning of the upper regions is reduced if the floor is kept really clean.

Hair, lint and grit are hard to remove but grit especially must be removed as it is the destructive agent in dirt. In oriental regions where the street shoes are left at the door, vacuum cleaners might seem useless.

The carpet doesn't wear out so much from the top as it does from the stamping in and cutting at the roots of the grit from dirt, therefore the vacuum cleaner saves the carpet and annihilates the microbes brought in on the feet.

The satisfactory vacuum must: Sweep loose the adhering dirt and brush up matted nap and restore color tone.

Loosen and shake to the surface ground-in dirt that kills rugs and carpets.

Have suction enough to carry away all dirt after the soft hair brush loosens it to make this possible.

As to expense, the operation costs less than an electric iron, and far less than the cost of having somebody come in to do extra cleaning.

It is an economy, a comfort and a gold lined investment in which the interest is health, money saved and fabrics preserved. Could any one ask for more in a sweeper? ask the builders of the Times Ideal Home Beautiful who have placed the sweeper that meets all of the above requirements in the ideal home.—A Hoover furnished by the Perkins-Timberlake company.

LITTLE EXCUSE FOR MESSY APPEARING KITCHEN THESE DAYS

Furnishing the kitchen sounds simple enough but any housewife will agree that it isn't, if it is properly done. Everything put into the kitchen must have not only beauty and uniformity, but also utility, durability, tool shop convenience and the maximum hygienic attributes. Equipping a kitchen is like equipping a medical laboratory—skilled thought must be employed.

A white kitchen or one in very pale tints is the ideal generally held in the mind of the housewife, because of the clean and sanitary possibilities. The Times Ideal Home Beautiful kitchen is a white kitchen. It can be kept as spotless as any laboratory and with its electric convenience outlets, its electric refrigerator, and range, its Hoosier cabinet, its built-in ironing board and large light, well-shelved pantry, it is as scientifically equipped and arranged as any medical laboratory.

The saving of space, energy and time have been seriously considered in planning this kitchen and it is not so large as to wear the housewife out or to take up too much room for free movements and pleasant work.

There are on the market today kitchen furnishings to suit every pocket, so there is really little excuse for a kitchen to look heterogeneous and messy. Furnishing a kitchen is a most difficult problem, especially with not too full a purse, but after the furnishings are bought if they are not placed right they are of as little value as if they did not exist.

There are a number of convenient contrivances which can satisfactorily be used in the kitchen of today just as improved methods have been invented for the use in the business world. The Times Ideal kitchen has a grocery and milk receiver with outside door which automatically locks making it impossible to open it again from the outside. Provision is made for the use of various small electrical equipment for the lighting of household duties, and plenty of ventilation and light are provided for comfort of the worker.

Colors in Home Have Influence On Occupants

Color has a definite effect on people. We all know that, but we must realize that under certain conditions the same color has different effects and different reactions.

Green is most of a relief in the city than in the country. Red on a blustery winter night is cozy and social. In the daytime it contracts the size of a room; in summer it is hot and oppressive. Red is called an "advancing color" because it makes the room seem small. Blue on the other hand is a "receding color" and increases its apparent size. Red excites, yellow cheers, and stimulates, and blue quiets.

Intense colors, bright red, orange, purple, brilliant green should be used only in small doses. A large area covered with them would be offensive. The use of yellow in all its various tones is growing. This is well, for it is sunny and cheerful.

Light walls usually help to make one forget that he is indoors, aged in. However, dark colors used in combination with light ones often make wall paper more interesting and give it character. If a room is dimly lighted it needs light paper and vice versa.

Then there are tones of color. You may have a "warm gray" or "cool gray." Also the furnishings, especially curtains and rugs must be considered as to their effect. Sometimes a north room is small so one uses a cool paper to give it size.

LIGHTING SUGGESTIONS

Is your shadow in the way? A frosted lamp will help get rid of such a shadow, a central semi-indirect fixture throwing most of the light on the ceiling, diffusing the light throughout the room.

There are two reasons why closets augment center ceiling illumination and is gaining favor constantly. Attractive floor lamps and side wall brackets are being featured for practically every room in the house.

The lamp used for reading, sewing or other close work should be shaded with translucent glass if eye strain and fatigue are to be avoided. Parchment and silk shades are very decorative.

LAMPS HAVE GREAT POSSIBILITIES IN HOME DECORATION

"One might find quite an amusing pastime in guessing the character and personality of the unknown owner of a room by the lamps she is willing to live with," said Miss Blaise de Wolf, prominent interior decorator, and yet many people continue to exist in unattractive surroundings just because they have not realized the decorative possibilities and value of lamps.

There are two primary factors to be considered in the selection of lamps—namely, color and type. The size, shape and character of the room determine the type of the lamp, and the general color scheme—the background as it were determines the color of the lamp base and of the shade that will best bring out the decorative qualities of wall or floor coverings, furnishings, hangings and the like.

The attractively furnished home is not necessarily the mansion nor is the quaint cottage the only structure that lends itself to coziness of decoration. Simplicity and neutrality of color are the secrets which underlie all that is truly artistic in a scheme of decoration. The spacious low-ceilinged rooms of an old farm house have the same decorative possibilities as the modern apartment or town house, if a neutral color scheme is held to, depending upon lamps and art objects.

MANY VARIETIES CUSHIONS TEMPT THE HOME MAKER

To create a lived-in, intimate and sympathetic atmosphere—to make homes rather than houses—it is necessary that all accessories to the rooms we selected and arranged with a view to comfort as well as beauty. A room does not really "live" until it is complete in all of its minor touches; through these it gains personality and distinction and the character of the owner can easily be judged by the taste displayed in their selection.

That idea is a little hard on those of us who have inherited quantities of useless trifles of neither beauty nor value. The best thing to do in this situation is to put the things away with other keepsakes, in lavender and old lace, where they belong.

Some one has called the seemingly unimportant details "tremendous trifles." The placing of a lamp, the fitting of a desk, the hanging of a picture can as completely make or mar a room as the choice of furniture, carpets or hangings.

Take for instance, cushions, too recently regarded as something to be added to, rather than planned with our decorations.

The trouble with cushions is that there are so many varieties to tempt one; the big, square pillows, our comfort loving souls delight in, the little square pillows that make such a feminine background for us and the exquisite lace and silk confettions that conquer our pocket-books.

Every one of them is lovely in its place, but we must think well before we venture—have we the place for it? While striving to keep that air of nonchalance a cushion should have we look to it that nonchalance does not descend into carelessness and choose each cushion with a careful regard to its relation to each piece of furniture and to the harmonious whole of the room.

The question of color is, perhaps, the first consideration. We accent our scheme of decoration by them as a musician accents his theme by the use of the loud and soft pedals. The happy touch that cushions of clear yellow gives to a blue chair, the unsuspected relation between purple and green and the black cushion that steadies the too gay insouciance of our scheme can easily be found by a little experimentation.

The size and shape should be decided by the size and shape of the chair or sofa for which they are intended. We all know the discomfort of being asked to share a small with a large cushion, and for general purposes we should advise you to keep your cushions small, at any rate your chair cushions.

Sofa cushions of course are different. A very long daynaport may carry as many cushions as one desires, but two or three are enough for general purposes and give a trimmer effect.

The porch cushion is a story in itself. Here we can permit ourselves a gaiety that may even verge on the baroque, without overstepping the bounds of good taste. The ultra modern chintzes, some almost violent in design, are often used with good effect, but many of us prefer the coolness of linen, either plain, checked or striped. The color here should be chosen with an eye to its practicality, and the covers should be easily removable to permit laundering.

With the exception of the British parliament the Swedish Riksdag is the oldest of existing legislative bodies.

Brussels has a church clock wound by atmospheric expansion induced by the heat of the sun.

We honor the miracle that reproduces Caruso's marvelous voice as we mourn his death, and this is only one of its benefits to humanity. It will retain in permanent form what the radio performs temporarily, and its popularity will never decline.

McConnell Brothers is placing a Victrola in the Times Ideal Home Beautiful, a new style Victor console, flat top and divided lid. This model is most attractive and has a new feature, which is the small drawers just above the cabinets for the album, which can be used for record covers, needles, and catalogues.

This store has one of the most complete Victrola departments in this section of the country, under the management of Miss Anita C. Jones and Roy Coffey, both of whom have had special work in this line in Oklahoma City and Dallas within the past few months.

The company does one of the largest businesses in this part of the state and is in a position to supply the wants of the public as to models, type of machines, and records.

Between 75 and 100 machines are kept in stock all of the time. It was stated, and about 6,000 records.

SHEET METAL WORK BY LEWIS COMPANY

The Lewis Sheet Metal Works, located at 209 Indiana avenue, was selected to do the work on The Times Ideal Home Beautiful for various reasons, chief among them being the reputation this company holds for quality, neatness and efficiency.

This is one of the leading concerns of this character in this section and when the work for the Home Beautiful was placed in their hands all interested realized that the responsibility was well placed.

Americans are lovers of cleanliness, and a clean bath spells a clean "everywhere." A tile bath room means rest, beauty and sanitation—what more can be desired?

The bath room in The Times Ideal Home Beautiful has a floor of one-inch hexagon white ceramic mosaic tile and the walls are in six by three-inch white glazed tile with three-inch white glazed tile with in a six by four-inch tile and the wall chaps also to match on other sides in six by two inches.

The receptacles are set in the walls at places where necessary.

The Wichita Builders Supply furnished and did the tiling in this room. They carry floor and wall tiles, tile mantels, weather strips, Murphy door beds, built in ironing boards among the things to be used in a house.

JUMBO SHINGLES USED FOR ROOF OF HOME BEAUTIFUL

The mill work, eak and doors and roof for the house beautiful were done by the Wichita Falls Lumber and Building Company.

The roof, which is so often a source of trial and tribulation, is guaranteed for its lasting qualities and is of Carey "Jumbo" shingles which do not curl, thus greatly lessening leaking possibilities.

The company employs high class workmen of experience and skill and the mill work is all of a high grade as a result.

This company was organized in 1918 and has as officials M. Stanforth, president; J. C. Mytinger, secretary-treasurer; H. J. Naylor, general manager, and C. E. Naylor, manager. M. D. Walker is included as a director.

Besides the lumber yard and planing mill the concern does a high grade of contract work, handling three of the largest jobs in this section at present—the John Mirsch and Tom Burnett homes in Iowa Park and the A. H. Britain residence at Tenth and Garfield in this city.

PAINTING AND DECORATING HOME BEAUTIFUL REFLECTS WATSON'S WORKMANSHIP

The two factors that can either make or mar the beauty of our home are paint and paper. You may have the best in material and construction and the most beautiful and attractive furnishings, yet whether your home is beautiful or ugly depends on the paint on the outside and the paper on the inside.

Since so much depends on these considerations not only should the best in quality of material be selected but it is wise to accept only the services of a contractor of experience, ability and reliability.

Charles E. Watson is the man possessed of all of these characteristics and to him was intrusted the decorating, inside and out, of the Times Ideal Home Beautiful.

Mr. Watson started in this business in Illinois, 24 years ago and has been contracting for himself for 17 years. In 1917 he came to Wichita Falls, taking charge of the contracting department for the W. B. Robertson Paint Company. In 1919 he severed his connection with this company, starting a small shop at 255 Lamar. From here he moved to 207 Indiana in 1922 where the store was destroyed by fire necessitating a temporary move to 210 Ohio.

In February 1923 the company moved into the modern and splendidly equipped shop at 297 Indiana where a strictly "big city" paint shop is maintained with the latest in machinery and only first class workmen.

Two years ago Mr. Watson spent seven weeks in Chicago and in the east gathering information on the running and equipping of large shops. He bought a complete air brush painting outfit, a machine very little used but which has proved so useful in painting that hundreds are in use all over the country at this time.

This machine can be used in the finest homes, doing enameling, varnishing, staining and shellacking. It does the work of from two to three men and is used for painting roofs, barns, fences, lattice work

PLUMBING MODERN AND HIGH CLASS IN TIMES IDEAL HOME

Probably no development of the home has mirrored human accomplishment to such an extent as has the bath room. We pride ourselves on our sanitary bathrooms; on the devices for comfort and perfection in this the smallest yet possibly the most important room in the house.

The thoroughly equipped bathroom must have the usual tub, shower, lavatory, water closet seat, a closet in the wall, towel racks, brackets for soap, hooks for hanging, things, rug, a chair or stool, mirror and tiling for floor and walls.

The most interesting fixtures in the bathroom to Americans at least is the bath tub. Aside from the kitchen stove this is the nucleus from which our content is generally derived. There are two generally used types of bathtubs, the solid porcelain and the enamel over iron. The tin tub has gone out, the glass tub is too perilous and the porcelain or porcelain lined proves about the most satisfactory.

Nearly every modern bath has a shower of some sort. The difficulty with the shower is the splashiness of new materials, before passing them on to our customers," Mr. Watson stated.

The company is the exclusive representative for Pratt and Lambert's varnish and enamel, including the well known "81 floor" and "Vitrinite enamel." Lowe Brothers high standard house paints and specialties; Johnson floor wax, Ilmor powder and paste varieties. They also are exclusive handlers of the W. H. Birge & Sons high grade wall papers and claim to have in stock the highest quality of wall paper ever carried in this city, together with a large quantity of cheap and medium priced paper.

A complete line of Devos's artists supplies, including brushes and painters supplies of all kinds are also carried.

A full stock of window glass, windshield and sedan door glass is handled with an expert in charge of installing this line, it was stated.

HOME OWNERSHIP MAKES FOR GOOD CITIZENSHIP DECLARES B. F. JOHNSON

"Wichita Falls—the City that Faith Built—is known far and wide over the land," declared B. F. Johnson, local real estate man who selected the site for the Times Ideal Home Beautiful.

"This beautiful and prosperous city of ours with its splendid schools, handsome churches, play grounds, parks, paved streets, was not built on the faith of the transient citizen—the man who lives in a rented house a few months, expecting to move on in a short time to some other locality—it was built on the faith of home owners, men and women who believed in Wichita Falls as the best place in which to bring up their families, people to whom Wichita Falls meant 'my town' because it was the place where they owned their home."

"Show me a prosperous and growing city and I will show you a city of home owners," Mr. Johnson declared. "Not necessarily handsome and expensive homes, but small homes, bungalows and cottages that have been obtained as a result of hard work and saving on the part of the owners."

Makes Men Better Citizens

"When a man becomes a home owner in a town, that town becomes his town. He is immediately interested in the schools, whether he has children or not; he is interested in good streets; he has taxes to pay he needs police protection; he wants the best for his home and his home town."

"Civic builders realize this and encourage home ownership with Better Home expositions, organizations of building and loan associations and various plans for assistance and aid in bringing about the desired result."

"The majority of large business concerns appreciate this matter to the extent of taking steps that make it possible for every employe to own his own home. They realize that a man becomes a much more efficient employe, more to be depended upon, a harder worker, if he

DOSCH ELECTRIC CO. TAKE JUST PRIDE IN THE IDEAL HOME

In the last 10 years great advances have been made in the development of home lighting.

Efficiency is the most important factor in home illumination but it must not be the guiding rule altogether. Every one entering the house comes under the influence of the lighting and this influence is keenly felt. The same person might walk into the home at two different times. One time the impression of warmth and friendliness and cordiality would be given, while under different conditions of illumination coolness would be obtained by the creating an unwelcome sensation. For this reason every source of light in a home, should, in the true sense of the word make it a home, not merely a residing place.

The most general rule that may be stated is to avoid glare. All of us have been exposed, not infrequently, to high candle powered lights unprotected by diffusing globes, bells, shades or reflectors. This condition is not only wasteful and unromantic but produces restlessness, irritability and lack of ease.

The Dosch Electric company has held the contracts for many of the most successful lighted of Wichita Falls beautiful homes and has proved splendid ability in handling this problem with a view to both efficiency and attractiveness. Their very best efforts have been put forth on the Times Ideal Home Beautiful.

In the living room of the Ideal home fixtures of gold Estofado are used both for the central illumination and the wall brackets. The new fixture can be had in silver as well as a gold finish and is the very latest in lighting arrangements. Mr. Dosch stated.

The dining room is attractive with silver fixtures in a late design and the sun parlor has a cream basket which is the ideal sun room fixture harmonizing beautifully with flowers and ferns which are always features of this room.

The bedrooms feature the new and attractive shield style of wavy fixture and a flat ceiling globe.

The quality of work and appliances are quality beauty and appropriate rather than cost," declared Mr. Dosch.

"The most expensive fixture we have might look perfectly horrid because it was not suitable for that type of home and exactly the right effect might be obtained by the use of an inexpensive fixture."

Earl Dosch, owner of the Dosch Electric company has been well established in this city for a good many years and the type of residence as well as public building which this company handles speaks for the class of work which he offers. The beautiful new country club building is one of the latest contracts to be carried out by them.

Great Britain has completed 431 new cemeteries and is working on twice as many more.

HOME INCOMPLETE WITHOUT MUSIC

There was never a time in the history of music when it occupied a place of importance. The acknowledged marvel of the age yet is being used primarily for transmitting music to millions of homes.

It is said that "music hath power to soothe the savage beast" but it soothes the savage alone upon whom music works a beneficial influence. The tired and nervous housewife, the rowing child, the worried business man, the atmosphere of the home as a whole, all respond to the spell of music, its gracious and potent power, a decided factor in the development and improvement of the individual and of the family life.

The Ripley Jones Music Company explained a Lyon and Healy recording grand in the Times Home Beautiful, without which it could be called "an ideal home."

This company has "very recently" moved into new quarters located at 400 South Avenue where they handle complete line of Starr pianos and phonographs, Lyon and Healy records and reproducing grands and full and up-to-date line of music, records and rolls. A wide assortment of small instruments is also being installed.

VITING BEDROOMS IN TIMES HOME BEAUTIFUL CERTAIN TO PLEASE ALL

The bedroom, more than any other room in the house should express the individuality of the person who occupies it.

Probably the greatest mistake the average person makes in furnishing a bedroom is the use of too many odd and insignificant trifles in the way of pictures, ornaments and unnecessary objects of all kinds which would easily be dispensed with. Many bedrooms have the walls so covered with pictures of all sizes and descriptions that the effect is cheap and tawdry. Another common mistake is to hang pictures too high and as far as possible simple frames and not the cheap fancy variety should be used.

It is a largely a matter of taste whether we choose plain or figured paper for the wall covering.

There are sunny yellows that the grayest morning in the world cannot discourage.

There are papers where flowers bloom so easily that the blackest winter morning can't be cheerless.

And there are quiet papers of dignified elegance that fit any mood.

There was a time when people made bedroom papers with restless, swirling birds that never alighted a flower half an inch away from them and other unsatisfying pictures to drive one wild. And then a day of geometric figures that is counted and counted going in directions while one gradually went insane. But those times are past and the new papers are restful, peaceful, quiet.

As a rule plain rugs are most effective in bedrooms than oriental figured effects. The bedroom should be fresh and bright in its atmosphere and oriental and figured rugs seldom lend themselves to the general color scheme. Rag rugs are most effective, especially in oval shapes, which can be had in a variety of sizes and color combinations.

The Times Ideal Home Beautiful has two of the most inviting bedrooms to be imagined. One has a paper covered with a profusion of Great Change in Home Decoration Since Grandma's Day When Conch-Shell and Pampas Grass Featured

"When grandmama was married, and set up housekeeping the decoration of the parlor was easy," says Charles E. Watson in speaking of the progress of home decoration in recent years.

"She had just what other folks had: it was the thing to do. Hair cloth chairs. A square piano—closed, of course. A 'what-not' with knickknacks and breakables. A great conchshell on the mantle to show she has been to the sea-coast once. A dried sheaf of pampas grass eternally waving from an ornamental vase. The shades carefully drawn to save the carpet."

"We wonder the family all lingered to talk in the kitchen, and instinctively hushed their voices when they entered the parlor on state occasions, weddings, funerals, meetings of the Ladies Aid. No wonder the company felt it would be a breach of etiquette to be comfortable."

"And now—when granddaughters are married and come jollily back from the Transylvania Hotel, a glorious house—or more likely to 'three-reality,

HOME REFLECTS CHARACTER

"How can I turn from any fire on any man's hearthstone? I know the wonder and desire That went to build my own." —Rudyard Kipling.

Around the hearthfire is gathered everything that is dearest and best in life. Home is the sanctuary, the center room which all the varied businesses of life start forth.

Anything that can contribute to the comfort and peace of home is deserving of attention and thought, and because we believe that it may contain ideas and suggestions that will contribute to the charm of your home, the Times Ideal Home Beautiful has been built.

Home reflects character, more it moulds character. As your home is so are you. Then make your home as you want to be—dignified, beautiful, comfortable, desirable.

Home charm is not essential in dollars and cents. Selection is more potent than expenditure in its achievement. It is surprising how inexpensively beauty, comfort and

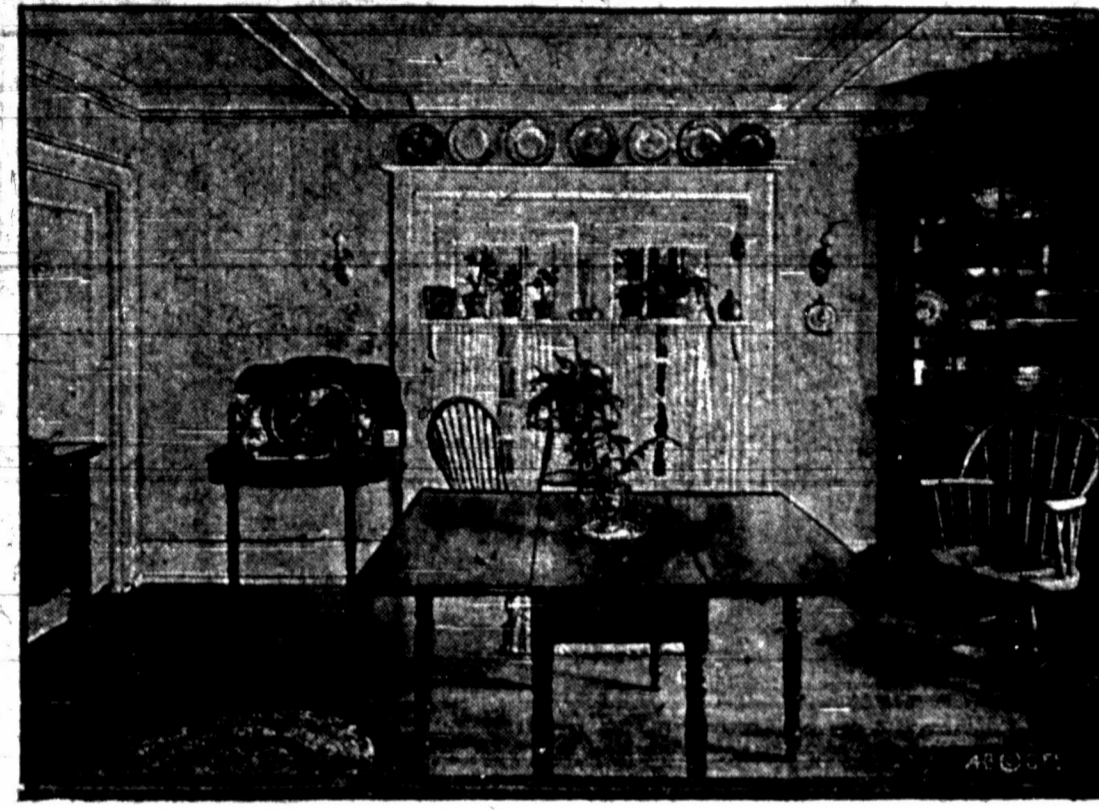

Nippon China Furnished By Noble-Little

Pretty china is one of the most valued possessions of any housewife and that used in the Times Ideal Home Beautiful, furnished by the Noble-Little Hardware Company will be the envy of every woman who sees it.

In the dining room is a $2-piece dinner set in Nippon china, using the Argonne pattern with a green edge and band of cream between that and the white of the body. Heisey's glassware will be used also.

In the breakfast room a flower basket design is carried out in the English dinnerware. Deep colors of blue predominate in the border of

DELIGHTFUL COTTAGE DINING ROOM

Proper furnishing of the summer cottage is as important as the right kind of living room furniture for the year-round home. It should be comfortable and convenient, for discomfort is inexcusable even in a cottage, yet everything should be of the utmost simplicity to reduce housework to the minimum.

The illustration shows us the dining room of a summer cottage which might be well taken for a model. The square extension table with the study leg under the leaves can accommodate a large number of diners, or can be folded to a small size if the room is needed as an additional "living" room. The Windsor chairs may likewise be used for lounging as well as at meal times, and their simple design is in accord with the other furnishings. The serving table, with the leaf against the wall, will carry a large number of dishes or the coffee service as the photograph shows. The corner cupboard with the glass doors is large enough to contain all the china necessary to the cottage with two lower compartments for linen, for most cottages are woefully lacking in linen and china space.

Potted plants on a shelf before the window, contribute a glow of color and cheer made necessary by the cream-striped paper and ivory woodwork.

If you will tell me why the housewife, so wise in everything else, has placed a row of dust catchers above the windows, I shall be very grateful. The seven plates are interesting, perhaps, but a total loss from the standpoint of utility or decoration.

HOME BEAUTIFUL MIGHT BE CALLED ELECTRICAL HOME

The electrical appliances in the Times Ideal Home Beautiful, put there by the Wichita Falls Electric Company, are a feature that will make every housewife in Wichita Falls wish that she might own that home.

All of them are time, energy and labor savers and go to make housework a scientific pleasure.

In the kitchen is a Hotpoint Hughes range, which is the latest development in electric ranges, being a combination of all of the best points of the three leading electric stove models. Comfortable, economical and modern is electric cookery.

In connection with the built-in ironing board is a Hotpoint iron which is most satisfactory, having the heat centered where it should be, in the point. Ironing is not drudgery with this equipment.

A utility motor is one of the newer things in kitchen conveniences and is a machine of many uses. Polishing and grinding facilities are available and a small belt may be used giving power for the operation of various devices to lighten kitchen labor, as heating, whipping, mixing and so on.

What is more essential in the summer than an ice cream freezer? Cool, ice and wholesome ice cream can be made at home more economically than it can be bought and it is much more palatable and dairy.

In the breakfast and dining rooms are the table servants that are such a delight to every housekeeper, including toaster, percolator, waffle iron and grill, always available and efficient.

In the bedrooms the Hotpoint curling iron with its distinctive features and a hair drier which is the most rapid and refreshing method of drying hair, will be found. A vibrator which represents such a small outlay in comparison with what it does to build up run down tissues and give tone to the vital organs, will also be included.

For every ache and pain that heat will relieve is the automatic heating pad. It satisfies an almost universal demand for an electric pad that is soft, flat, light in weight and flexible. It is absolutely sanitary with a cover that can be removed.

Yards of sheer material and lace are almost magically converted into firmly garments when you sew electrically. There is no tireless peddling with the necessity of stopping very now and then to give the avoid feet and back a rest.

Durable, easy to operate, saving time and labor, the electric clothes wringer is one of the most popular machines ever put on the market. With the automatic ironer the laundry bills can be very materially reduced. The serious problem is partly solved and many hours of fatigue eliminated.

The entire Home Beautiful is equipped with electric fans, contributing to summer comfort and hot weather health. Pleasant living and working conditions are thus established and the depression caused by heat and humidity is neutralized.

With a house thus electrically equipped and furnished house work falls to be a trial even on the hottest day.

Well Stocked Linen Closet Is Essential

There is no more attractive background for fine china, shining silver and gleaming crystal than linen. Heavy and rich. A well stocked linen closet is essential to any well ordered household and the woman who does not appreciate beautiful linens is indeed rare.

The F. M. Company has equipped the Times Ideal Home Beautiful with lines of a most desirable and superior quality.

In the dining room is a Deary Bale genuine Irish linen cloth and napkins in a scroll design. The cloth is two and a half yards and the napkins are 14 inch. This is a set that would do justice to the most elegant table service.

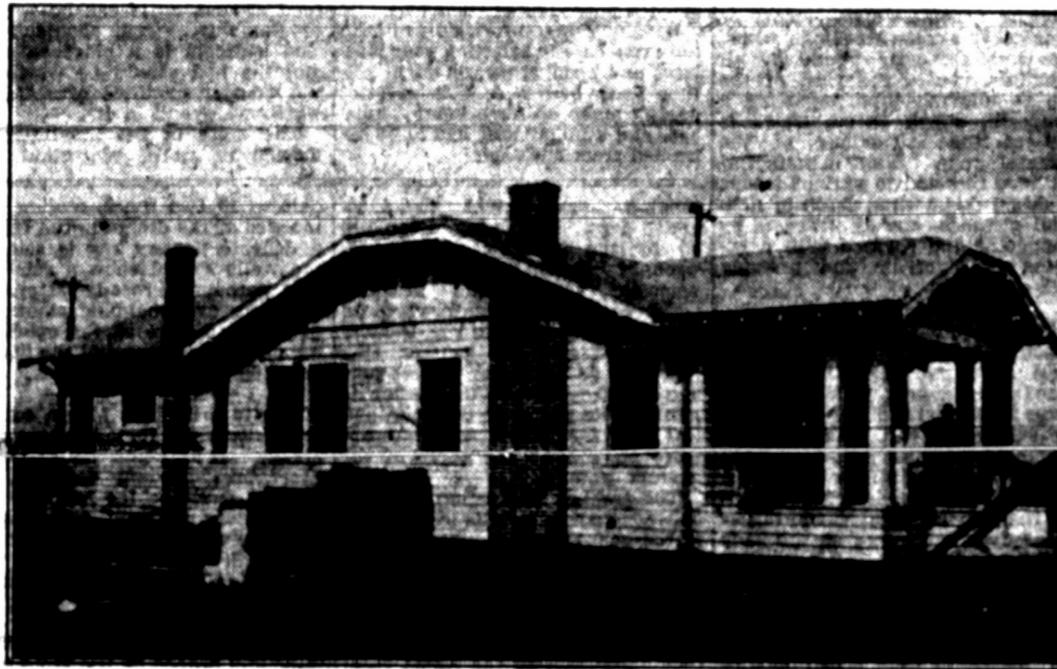

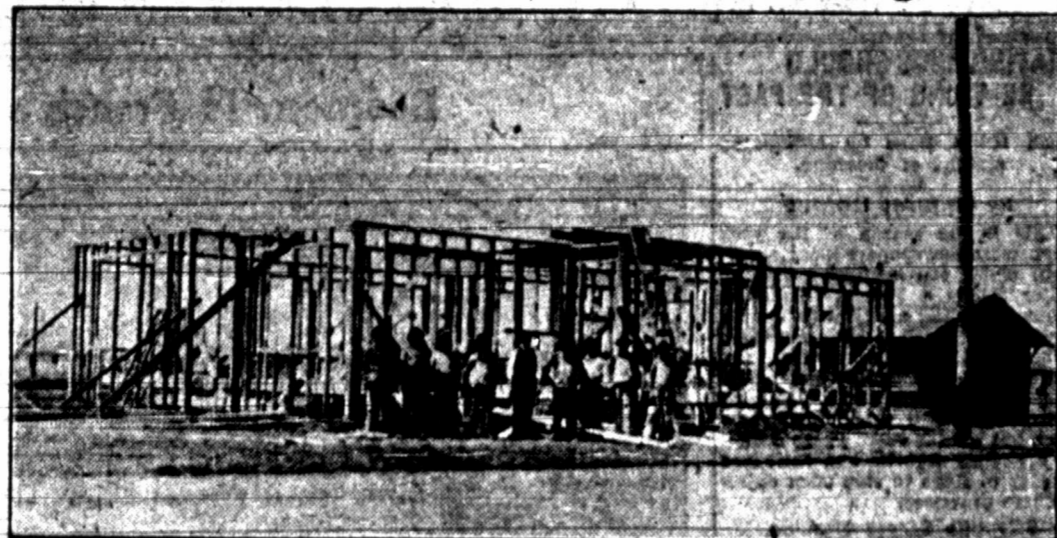

The breakfast room set is in the damask with a rose wreath design in white and rose colorings, fresh, cheerful and practical.

The bedrooms have all wool blankets, rose for one room and lavender for the other in keeping with the color schemes of the two rooms. The lavender room has an exquisite spread of pale cream jewel cloth with stippled and scalloped of flint lace and hand embroidery in pastel shades. A rose and white Imperial quilt spread and pillow set is attractive in the rose room.

The linens are Pequot hemstitched pillow cases and sheets, than which nothing could be more quietly elegant as well as practical.

A spacious linen closet is one of the desirable features of the home beautiful and this will doubtless be a favorite feature for the woman who is so fortunate as to become the occupant of this ideal residence.

Photographs of Home Beautiful As Its Construction Progressed

INTERIOR DECORATION MUST FOLLOW RULES OF GOOD TASTE WHICH ARE SIMPLE

By ESTELLE H. RIES
With the magazines writing about decoration, the newspaper giving space to it, and the schools teaching it—the woman who keeps abreast of the times must do a bit of studying if her house is to compare favorably with her neighbors. Just as music and painting must obey rules to be art, so interior decoration must follow certain rules of good taste. The studying is, therefore, simple—merely a matter of learning the rules.

Sometimes a rule is proved mistaken and changed. Take the theory of having plain walls throughout the house. That was "good taste" 16 years ago, but not today, for it proved tiresome and monotonous.

Then for a time they told us that communicating rooms must be papered alike. But suppose one faces north, the other south? One wants a "warm" paper, and the other a "cool" one. One has light furniture, the other dark. One has pictures, while the other hasn't. The "uniform" theory exploded because it couldn't hold water.

But when a theory has been satisfactory for a long time—say, ever since the Revolution—then it is a real rule of decoration. One of the first rules about wallpaper is that it is background, and mustn't be so blatant that you can't see anything else. If it is for a room, the color scheme should be ever so striking and bold of pattern.

And it is background for people, too. Don't forget that and make your friends appear against splid, bright orange, or some other color that will kill their gowns and make them look like ghosts. That was what the Empress Josephine did once, so they said. She learned that her rival was to wear a blue gown, so she hung her walls with a vivid green that killed it, while she herself appeared in white satin, admirably set off. But it wasn't exactly hospitable, was it? Because a wallpaper should be background, it should not be ornamented with realistic pictures of animal life, real dogs, real women drinking tea, real lovers embracing and so on.

Yet all rules have exceptions, you know. So real dogs are adorable on nursery papers—while some reproductions of Colonial papers have "scenes" on them, which are allowable because they are historical. And so, sometimes, daring and brilliant effects in color and design gain entry to good taste.

If your room is awkward, too low, too high, too long, too short, wallpaper can make it right. Simple vertical stripes will increase height. Tapestry effects give width. Where a ceiling is dropped a room usually appears wider. Warm colors decrease, cool ones enlarge the apparent size of the room. Those are invariable physical laws.

Not only the color, but the texture of neighboring papers and draperies must harmonize. Don't use thin silk curtains against burly wall paper. Velvet does not go with chintz, paper, nor madras with leather.

The patterns of walls and hangings must be harmonious and not clashing. Too much pattern is bad. It is a safe generalization to have plain curtains with a figured wall, unless the figure be inconspicuous. Striped paper may often be used with figured curtains, however. Above all, the hangings and paper do not need to match. Pleasing contrasts often take away the mechanical "store" look of the room too painstakingly matched.

Sometimes we are advised not to hang pictures on a patterned paper. Such a generalization is absurd. Many patterned papers are good backgrounds for pictures, better than plain walls where the picture is isolated against a hard, unyielding flatness. Indeed there are those who say that plain wallpaper should not be used as a background for pictures. They maintain that a plain paper tends to efface the wall, and the sudden spots of isolated color of the pictures seem unsupported excrescences, irritating in effect.

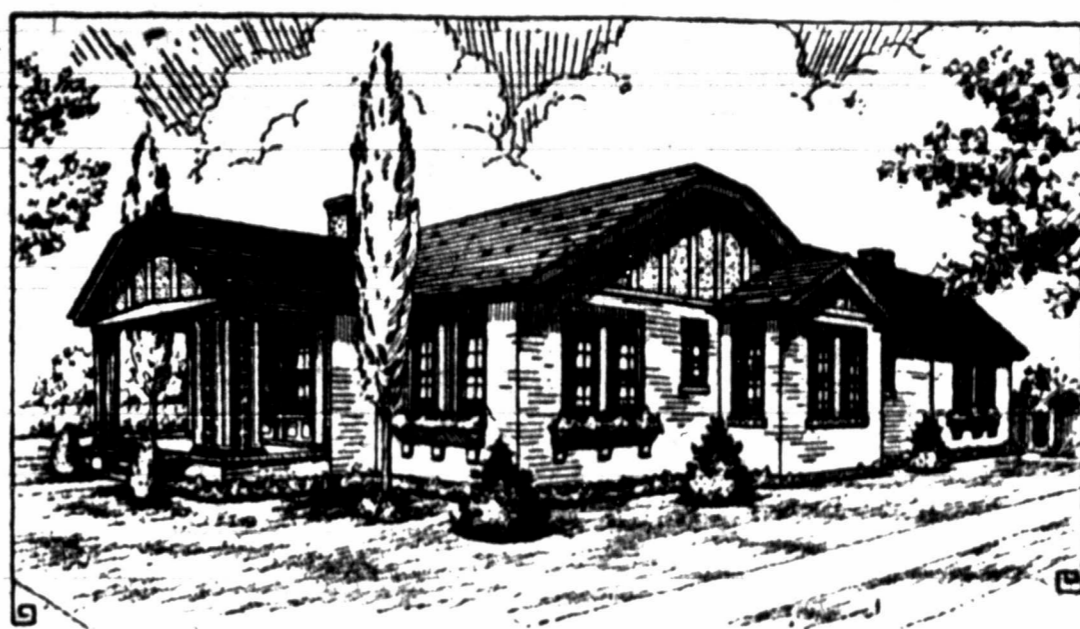

NO WEIGHT SASH MODERN INVENTION

The Times Ideal Home Beautiful is equipped with one of the most modern innovations in home building—the no-weight sash balance put out by the National No-Weight Sash Balance Company.

This is a device by which correct ventilation is accomplished automatically when the window is raised, the patent having been acquired about a year and a half ago. The company is a stock company of which 71 per cent of the stock is owned by Wichita Falls men.

The capitalization is $100,000 and the product is manufactured in Chicago, Ill., with Wichita Falls as distributing center.

LAWN AND GARDEN FURNISHINGS MAKE SUMMER LIVEABLE

French life is the second great invention which America has given to the world, the first being the rocking chair, as everyone knows.

Only in America has the porch become the center of family activities during the summer months where meals are eaten, books and papers are read and guests received and entertained. However, America still has to learn that the garden of the lawn is the way in which country may be "lived in" as well as the porch. We are more prone to look upon beautiful stretches of green grass, beds of flowers and shade trees, as merely decorative accessories to the house and its porch, while the idea of moving out chairs and a tea table is commonly supposed to be something they do in the movies but never in real life.

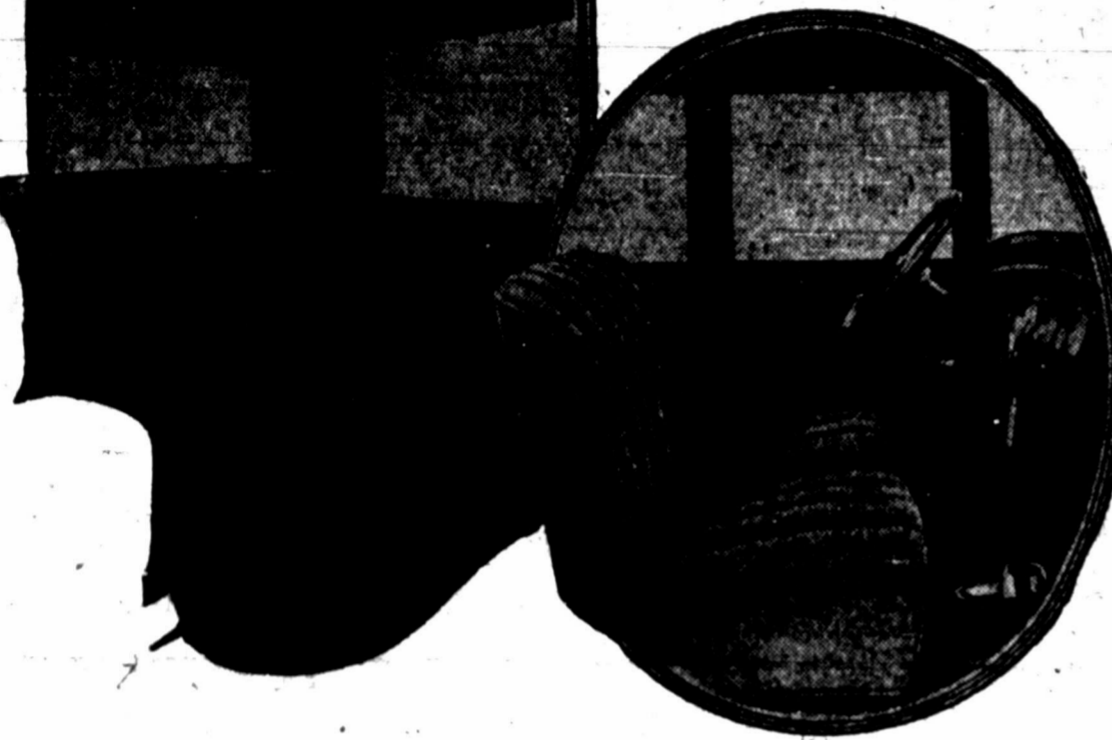

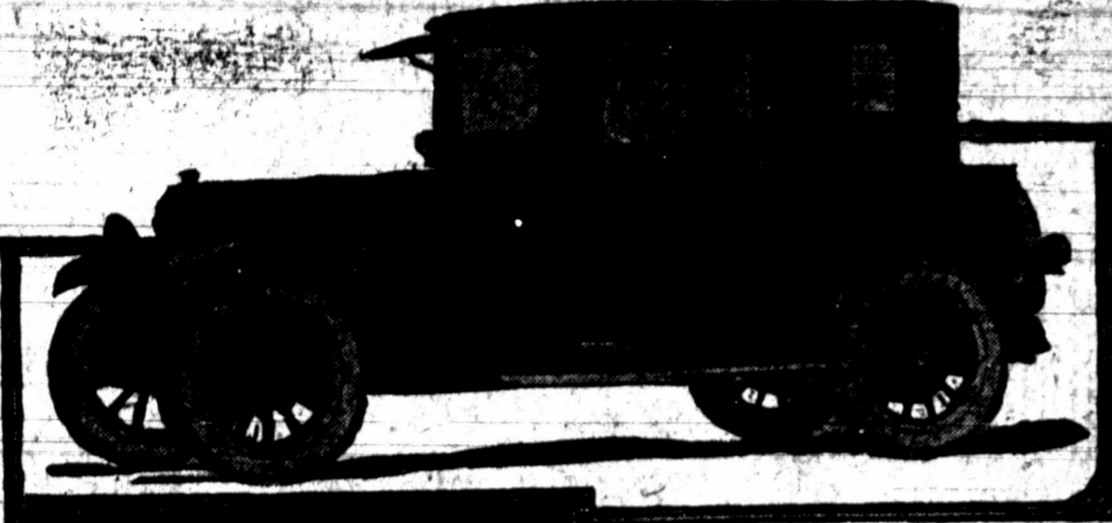

But once a group of furniture springs up on a shady lawn you will notice that it achieves a lasting popularity.

The question of choosing the right kind of furniture for the lawn or garden will have much to do with making the group a beauty spot. Pale colors have no place in competition with nature—bright tones of orange, blue, yellow and green, should be chosen for all fabrics, and the lines of chairs and swings should be designed for comfort as well as appearance. If one would have enticing furniture.

If the shade tree is not to be relied upon to furnish sufficient shelter from the sun, there are huge umbrellas, wide enough to shield a tea table and its complement of chairs, with a jointed handle which can be tipped in any direction, and whose colors attract the eye as far as it can be seen. These are usually used with iron tables and chairs whose hard lines may be covered with slip covers of linen matching the umbrellas to protect light summer clothes. The furniture can stand outdoors the whole summer long with no ill effects and frequent washing of the slip covers keep the group fresh and dainty.

One attractive group of this nature recently noted had an umbrella of striped orange and black, with slip covers for the chairs and a cover for the table of striped orange and black edges with a white center. When more comfortable seating arrangements are desired, there are long folding chairs, similar to a deck chair, with a jointed handle of their own to protect the head of the occupant. The old-time hammock has been made by the furniture maker, similar to a deck chair, but swung on an iron frame. This can be obtained with a wide canopy tilted with a screw, allowing to render it independent of the umbrella. The couch hammock may be a simple affair with canvas back and ends, or it may be more elaborate with a padded back, wicker ends and springs, as is comfortable as the highest priced model. For the lawn or garden, however, it is always advisable to select furniture which will not be ruined by a sudden drenching rain. Iron furniture has close competition in the wooden furniture with a protective varnish. The latter is tested to withstand the ravages of sun, wind and rain. Benches, tables and straight chairs, made of wood, are secured in this finish, and are guaranteed to take the home right into the garden.

AN IDEAL CAR FOR AN IDEAL HOME BEAUTIFUL

The family car is the greatest civilizer, educator and vitalizer of the century. What other method of travel, sightseeing or picnicking brings as much pleasure to all members of the family or makes the whole family more physically fit?

There is nothing so healthy as the American family car. Here and more is the importance of the automobile industry in placing more and more within the reach of the modest income. IT MAKES AN EXQUISITE LITTLE COLONIAL HOME

Delightfully Effective When Furnished in Early American Style.

By HENRY WESTON

A porticoed Colonial doorway is just as charming when it forms the entrance to a homely little bungalow as when it fronts a dignified mansion of many rooms.

The interior of the house should carry out the charm and dignity of the white exterior. With the Colonial atmosphere predominant. The walls of the living room and dining room should have paper showing cool ivory bath stripes on a cream background to harmonize with the ivory woodwork. The windows should be decorated alike with cream marquisette with a yellow dot and orchid silk overdraperies. The living room should be carpeted, for that gives an illusion of greater space than rugs, and the best carpeting for this particular room would be dark mauve.

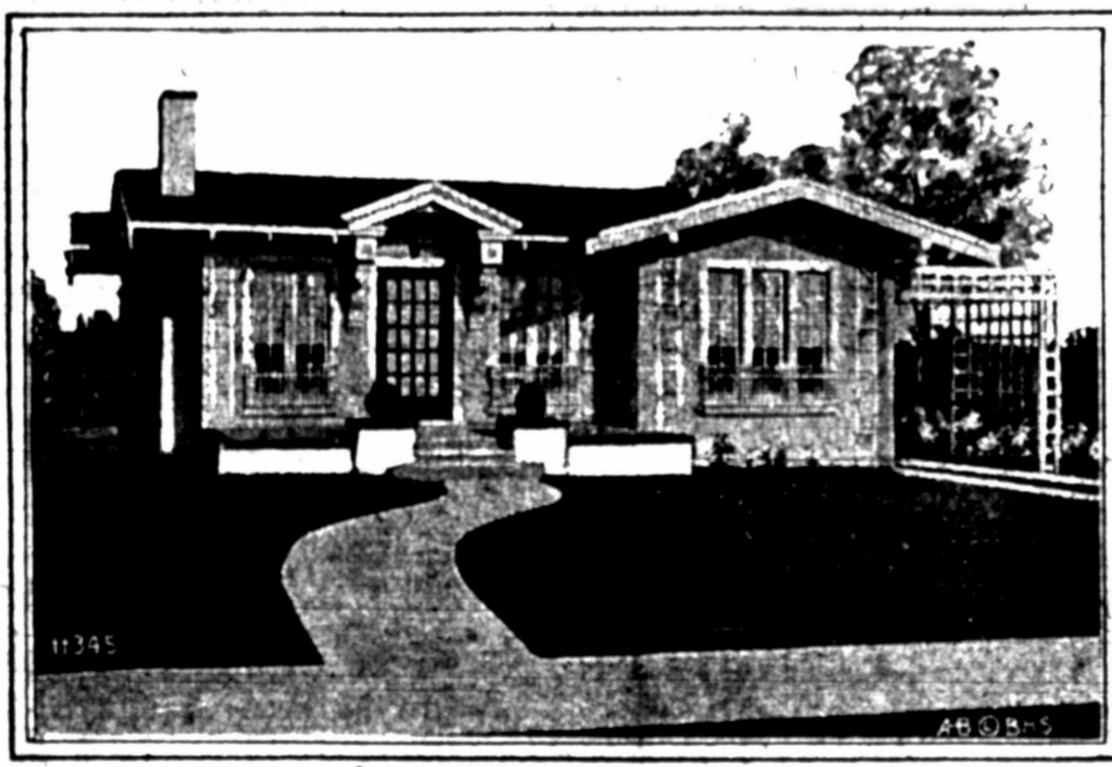

The Colonial atmosphere of the room should be established in the simple coloring. The piece first chosen should be a large gate-leg table, which will stand at the right and in front of the fireplace, between a large easy chair, somewhat on the English style, upholstered all over with small pattern mauve damask, and a comb-back chair in walnut. Balancing this grouping, on the other side of the fireplace, should be a large rocker, matching the easy chair, beside a small walnut octagonal table.

A writing desk along Jacobean lines, with two tiers of pigeon holes above the writing surface, which closes to form a compact cabinet, with a straight little desk chair, may be placed under one of the high windows beside the fireplace, with a low bookcase under the other.

A rug, either domestic or Oriental, with a bright pattern of yellow, red and black, to repeat the tones of the freight, should be placed before the hearth. The other end of the room should be given over to two groupings, widely dissimilar, yet completing the harmony of the room. The piano, with its bench, a mahogany and cane armchair, should be grouped along the large wall space and in the corner beside the dining room entrance. An ivory fiber chair, cushioned with lavender linen, matching the easy chair, may be placed before the French window, with a chimney little ivory fiber table to match.

The bedrooms at the front of the house should be papered with gay colors chosen with an all-over floral pattern. The curtains should be similar to those in the living room, for they will show from the street. The furniture should be matched,

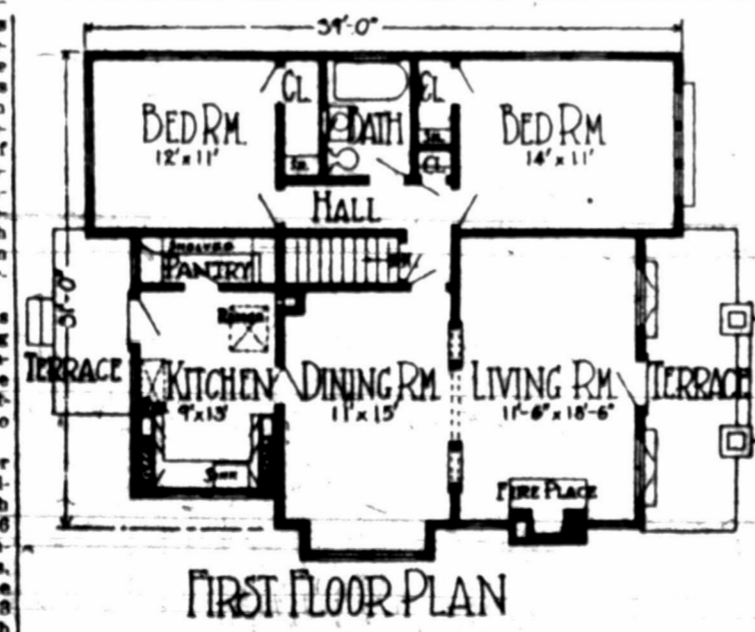

Dignity Achieved in Small Home

The climate of California has brought about a home building design that is commonly called the "California bungalow." These homes are of frame construction, and in California usually have no basement. However, other sections of the country have adopted the general design of the California bungalow and building them more substantially and providing them with basements for the accommodation of the heating plant and for storage purposes.

An attractive bungalow of this type is shown in the accompanying illustration. The bungalow contains five rooms and bath. The main porches a "vine-clad cottage" in the future, and adds to the beauty of the exterior.

The entrance door reached over the terrace at the front leads directly into the living room, which is 11 feet 6 inches by 15 feet 6 inches. A colonnade opening connects the living and dining rooms, the latter being 11 by 15 feet. The kitchen, at the rear, is 9 by 10 feet. A short hall, reached through the dining room, connects the two bedrooms, both of which are corner rooms. The bathroom is between the bedrooms, and opposite the door leading from the dining room, which makes it conveniently located and easily accessible.

The home is of standard frame construction, set on a concrete foundation. The site is 31 by 39 feet. BEATING RUGS SHOULD BE THING OF THE PAST

Much Harm Done by Antiquated Method of Cleaning.

By MARIAN MOORE
This is the season of the year when most newspapers print a cartoon, under the heading "When a Feller Needs a Friend," depicting Johnny mauling a rug with a wire clothesline handle. The cartoon is really a good deal of fun, but the appearance on the baseball diamond, the exercise will probably do him good, but for the rug. There should be a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Rugs to stop such objectionable practices.

Scientific Carpet Cleaning.
The custom of "cleaning" rugs by beating them twice a year is particularly objectionable. The proper treatment is a daily cleaning with carpet sweeper or vacuum cleaner, with a trip to professional rug cleaners for a steam or naphtha process once a year. In towns where professional cleaning cannot be secured, it is well to follow the custom of the Orient, where soiled rugs are scrubbed with a heavy rubber of the castle soap rubbed in with the grain against it, then rinsed with slightly warm water the same temperature as the first lather, until the water runs clear, then hung in a shaded place to dry.

Good Rugs Are Cheap.
It is always advisable to purchase good rugs, for they prove the most economical in the end. With proper care, they should last a lifetime, even with the heavy wear to which they are subjected in our American homes. In the Orient a rug lasts several generations, because all Oriental rugs are made of wool, which is worn the year 'round by all Oriental, causes the yarn of the nap to unravel, thus imparting a wonderful silken sheen, which is one of the attractions of the Oriental rug. Rug manufacturers have resorted to various means to obtain this desired sheen by artificial methods, one of which is by the use of the heavy wear to which they are subjected in our American homes.

The Washing Process.
Another practice is the so-called "washing" process. New rugs, with vivid hues, are stretched on inclined boards, over which chlorine water is allowed to flow. This fades the surface to soft tones, but undoubtedly diminishes the life of the rug by weakening its fibers. A washed rug can be detected by parting the nap and noting the bright colors underneath and on the back of the rug.

The new republic of Czechoslovakia embraces three-fourths of the entire (industrial) area of the former Austro-Hungarian empire. The first "doctor of medicine" was Gulgino Jordano, who received the honor from the College of Aesti, in Italy, in 1228. The old steeple of Boston Common was blown down by a severe gale on February 16, 1876.

Bedroom Is French in Motif

Decorative Details and Color Scheme.

The post who sang "Bed, bed, delicious bed" was not an advertising writer, but it would be good "copy" with which to advertise the beds in the illustration. If they are as comfortable as they look, we are willing to apply even such a sub-deb adjective as "delicious." Speaking of comfort, do you take the same care in selecting your mattress and bedding as you do in getting your bed? A milk covaried doesn't make up for a bumpy, hard bed, and a pillow that has to be extracted from one's ear!

Many bedrooms nowadays are furnished with a sort of apology that a bed is necessary—the chairs, the dressing tables, and the draperies come in for a good deal of attention, and a bed is chosen that will fold under, or double up, or turn around, so it can be put out of the way. This shouldn't be! The bedroom is a place to sleep, and the bed should be worthy of the quarter or third of our lives which we spend in it. The suite in the illustration is French in motif, of walnut with

PERFECTION IN DETAIL IS ART OF FURNISHING

Test of Good Taste in Selection of Accessories.

By MARIAN MOORE
A room may be made or marred by its accessories. Do you remember when it was quite the fashion to wear a room with wicker knick-knacks, ranging from a wax work under glass to shells and rocks in a what-not and a big wire contraption hanging on the wall to hold picture postcards? That was not very long ago, but the beautiful simplicity of the present-day living room indicates how far the pendulum of public taste has swung.

Accessories Reflect Color Scheme.
Accessories of room include the lamp shades, table scarfs, candles and candlesticks, statuettes, pictures, cushions, book-ends, smoking sets and the various small items that make a room a room. They should be in a certain harmony between them, for the accents of a color scheme may be brought out in these little accessories. Where a color is desired, whose intense hue is necessary, it is in large quantities, it may be used successfully in its most brilliant tone in the accessories.

Lead Touch of Brightness.
For instance, the brightness of ordinary room is used in bowl and candlesticks for the living room mantle, while bright orange walls would be a sad mistake. If a bit of vivid red is wanted for a dull brown room, use a mirror on the wall, or oak paneled walls. It may be used in a satin cushion for the davenport or a lacquered box. Where the richness of gold or corn color is desired, lampshades of georgette or taffeta in that color give just the correct touch. The admirer of bright colors who regrets that she must confine herself to neutral tones throughout the room, may go the limit in accessories, with good success, if she limits them to few in number.

Balanced Pieces for Mantel.
The mantel should never be loaded. Never use more than three or four articles on it. The balanced arrangement is good—that is, matched articles at the ends, with a central object such as a clock, vase or statuette in the center. If two more objects are desired, they should be in harmony, in size and form, if not matched, and should be placed at either side of the central object. The same arrangement holds good for the buffet and sideboard.

Good objects are displayed, they may be treated as one object in that case. In the dining room a lavish display of ordinary china should never be made in a glazed china cabinet. If you have a few really good pieces, arrange them so that each piece shows distinctly, not jumbled stacks of cups and saucers. In the bedrooms various jars and boxes of cold cream and powder should never be left about the dresser or dressing table. Use the top drawer for cosmetics and leave

Comfort in the Sun Room

Decorative Details and Color Scheme.

It is a sweet, unselfish idea to always think of others first, but the true successful home-maker, when selecting the furnishings for a particular room, thinks first of her own family's requirements, and the thought of how the room will appear to guests is secondary.

Take a look at the sun room in the photograph and decide for yourself whether the furniture and decorations were selected for the time or for the casual guest. Every chair is comfortable enough for hours of rest and ease, while the davenport is just the right height from the floor, with a springy cushion, and the back at exactly the right angle. Note the window draperies that admit every possible bit of light during the day, and the distribution of lamps that will give a good reading light to every part of the room in the evening. In that connection, note the smoking stand inside the "easiest" easy chair and the floor lamp—looks like father was receiving proper attention, doesn't it?

Notice also the lower shelf of the table where books and magazines are stacked. The entire room shows that family needs are not being sacrificed for appearance, yet the beauty of the room cannot be denied.

The grass rug is grayish green with a black pattern carrying out the scheme of the black and white tile linoleum. The walls are light gray, with decorative features of wall vases, holding hanging stems. The windows are curtained with plain mauve linen with a mauve, yellow and black valance. The reed furniture is in ivory with mauve and yellow crepe upholstery.

Busy Week Features Community Entertainments and Benefits; Guests Still Coming and Going

The past busy week has somewhat featured big community entertainments and benefits, with no falling off in the arrival of guests and the departure of summer sojourners elsewhere.

On Tuesday the First Christian Aid ladies gave a benefit ice cream supper at one corner of Bellevue Park, serving scores of joy-riders and passers-by who stopped for cool refreshment. They also realized a neat little sum.

On Thursday the Wichita Falls Art Association gave a benefit party on the I. A. Kamp lawn, with tables arranged and refreshments served to a good crowd of players.

Thursday evening the Highland Heights big three-day benefit carnival to provide playground funds opened. The Floral Heights Presbyterian folks also enjoyed a big picnic at Scotland Park.

Friday evening the Fannin Mothers Council gave a benefit party and program with refreshments and a very delightful evening which is outfitting a little triangle park with children's playground equipment.

Two other attractive social affairs were given on the pretty Culbertson grounds last week; the first, a party Tuesday evening honoring Mrs. Howard M. Frank of Albany, a guest in their home and former resident here.

Friday evening the children gathered at 8 o'clock, and by 8:30 the beautiful grounds were thickly dotted with the pink and blue and white of crisp little frocks and suits of the cradle roll, primary and junior kiddies.

The house party at Helen Snider's has kept all of the younger set members very busy for another week, and the girls at home were very sorry indeed to bid the last guest goodbye Saturday morning when the remaining three left for home.

AMUSEMENT CALENDAR FOR WEEK AT LOCAL THEATERS

"The Exciters" Is Monday Feature At the Olympic

Bebe Daniels in "The Exciters" at the Olympic Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, has a typically Bebe Daniels role—that of a peppery maid who craves excitement and gets it regardless of the consequences, until such time as it is deemed wise and proper for her to submit to the suppressions of matrimony. The idea is a variation of a tried and true formula and is founded upon the young ladies who must be married within a specified time or lose her inheritance. The plot is usually worked out with a youth in the background and giving it to a maid serves to establish a note of novelty. Certainly Miss Daniels is endowed with nature to play the role. It fits her like the w. k. proverbial glove. If we must criticize her it is in those moments when she gasped too wildly in making her role convincing.

The picture is finely balanced with thrills and humor and should be accepted as good summer entertainment. It doesn't tax the imagination. Everything works out in customary fashion with the interest being held through the star's breezy performance and the assortment of stunts, which include a mad auto ride, a surf-board dash through the waves behind a motor boat—and a sippy ride in an airplane. It is a white she is dashing through the scene that the accident takes place. When she recovers consciousness she suddenly remembers that she should get married that day. So it conveniently happens that the burglar who rescued her is the only available man. The idea suits him and the plot is off on another tangent.

It develops that he is in reality a secret service agent working to collect evidence against the gang of thieves with whom he is operating. They would blackmail his bride, but he punishes the culprits, and the girl, somewhat disillusioned to discover that her excitement is over, is nevertheless willing to settle down and keep quiet. There are several crisp fights. It is an action picture which keeps moving all the time without any dull settings and exterior as satisfying to the eye—and it has been well photographed.

Empress Picture Splendid Tribute To Railroad Men

"At last, a lady but telling tribute to the most neglected class of our public servants in America, the locomotive engineers."

Such was the ejaculation of Col. L. Huston, part owner of the Yankess, American steamship company, one of the heads of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Association and who himself saw service in France as an officer in an engineering corps, when he viewed the first authentic photoplay based on the life of the man who guides the hurtling steel monster along the skirting rails, entitled "Westbound Limited."

Packed with the perennial fascination of railroad life, this latest effort of Emory Johnson, producer of other spectacular film plays revealing about heroes in humble walks of life, which will have its local premiere at the Empress Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

"Film plays without number have exhibited the braved heroes of the battlefield—the general with the flashing medals, the spectacular ace of the flying corps, the aviators who cut through the wire entanglements under withering fire, the buffeted crews of the "caterpillars," the dashing cavalry leader, the artillerymen and the fighting men on foot," Col. Huston added. "But how would these men have gotten within a gunshot of fame but for the laborers that laid the steel rails to the front and the engineers that propelled the locomotives and the equipment."

"The battle fronts of France and Belgium teemed with the best railroad men of America throughout the war, and it was not the part of these men to shoulder muskets of flash sabres on sudden fields of fame. No laurel wreaths for them. Theirs was to toil in the wake of the big show, even as stage hands set the scenes on which others gain applause. And without wishing to subtract one whit from the credit due to the other factors in winning the big war, I want to go emphatically on record as saying that at least a third of this recognition should be bestowed on the humble but nevertheless heroic railroad. It is he who made untenable positions tenable by the rushing of munitions to the hard-pressed vanguard; it is he who brought up the reserves that saved the day when retreat seemed inevitable and it is upon whom primarily and completely depended the execution of any successful military maneuver.

"And so it is especially gratifying to me, as one of the officers of an engineering corps on the French front, who watched these unassuming heroes of the shining rails at work, to see such a play as "Westbound Limited" reach the screen. Furthermore, what a relief it is to get away from the writer of sex plays and revel in the wholesome atmosphere of such a vigorous workaday world of realness and red blood as is revealed in "Westbound Limited."

Billie Dove in 'Youth to Youth' Strand Thursday

Billie Dove, the 19 year old screen actress, showed she was worthy of the honors which have been showered upon her since her affiliation with Metro Pictures Corporation, by her excellent portrayal of the leading role in "Youth to Youth," the first of a new series of special stories in which she appears at the head of distinguished casts. Miss Dove proved a delight to the eye, as well as an actress of real charm and skill.

"Youth to Youth," which comes to the Strand Thursday, Friday and Saturday has proven one of the season's most refreshing photoplays. It tells a wholesome and thoroughly entertaining story, intelligently directed by Emilie Chautard, is interpreted by a cast of players of unusual capabilities.

The story, which was written by Hubert Footner, is concerned with the troubles of a Broadway musical comedy star, whose reputation is being damaged by unjust scandal. She assumes another name and joins a barnstorming troupe in the Middle West. Here she finds happiness and a lover, but she almost loses both when her sweetheart in his ambition to make her famous reveals her whereabouts. A happy ending finds all the principals contented and the lovers united.

The scenario was written from Mr. Footner's story by Edith Kennedy. Arthur Martinelli was responsible for the excellent photography.

Carpets which are made on a paper mesh foundation are being manufactured in Germany, but they will stand neither beating nor much wear.

Viola Dana Is Attraction at Gem on Monday

In "Love in the Dark" the new Metro photoplay which is scheduled to be shown on the screen at the Gem Monday, Viola Dana has one of the most dramatic and exciting photoplays in which she has ever appeared. In fact, it is a combination of the various elements which have made this diminutive star one of the most vivacious, charming and talented screen actresses today. It has a bit of the appealing tenderness of "The Five Dollar Baby," something of the drama of "Holding the Believing," and the love interest of "The Fourteenth Lover." All in all, it is one of the most satisfying photoplays in which this charming star has yet been presented.

The story, which was written by John Morosco, tells of the adoption of an orphan by a woman who is a member of a gang of thieves. Her husband is afflicted with blindness during the day, and only at night can he see. She compels him to work with her accomplices. When the police track them down, "Tim" manages to escape. Mary—the orphan—obtains a position with a kindly minister, whose son is being defrauded by an unscrupulous gambler. Mary obtains Tim's aid in exposing the crook who is causing her benefactor's son to steal, and she manages to put back the amount of money stolen without the father being aware of the son's guilt.

There are many unexpected turns in the drama; and the excitement keeps going at an even pitch. It is frequently relieved by scenes of sheer comedy, and the combination is irresistibly enjoyable.

Miss Dana as the orphan about whom revolves much of the play's story is at all times excellent. The role makes great demands on her skill in character portrayal and she manages to depict her tom-boy play with much human appeal. Her characterization is one of the most satisfactory that she has ever given.

A fine cast of screen favorites appears in support of Miss Dana in "Love in the Dark." Cliven Landis is seen in an important role. Others are Aniline Pretty, Edward Connelly, Bruce Guerin, John Harron, Margaret Mann and Charles West. The acting is at all times splendid.

'Can Woman Love Twice' Comes to Empress Monday

A screen actress who does not like publicity, it reminds me of the old story. There isn't such an animal! The interviewer was frankly skeptical when he visited Ethel Clayton, one of the screen's most popular stars.

Miss Clayton's reputation in Hollywood described her as a modest, retiring, thoroughly feminine woman who kept as far away from the glare of publicity as possible. We decided to verify all this—and we did. We found it to be partly true and partly false. Here's the way Miss Clayton explained it while sitting in her dressing room at the R-C studio every morning at nine, and I'm not home again in my bungalow until seven in the evening and often later.

And after that I never feel like making a tour to unearth such deeds of wickedness which are supposed to occur in sleepy little Hollywood.

from movie fans from all parts of the world. I am only too glad to talk to you, if—and she emphasized the condition—"if you will publish what I really think and say."

We promised faithfully.

"So many screen folk are made to say such sensational things—advising young girls to enter the motion picture, and assuring them of huge success."

"And you don't believe they should?"

"Not unless they have been told by some really good authority that they have ability. And even with ability they should realize that the road to success is a hard and difficult one. It takes a long time for genius to be recognized. And then again I don't believe in painting poor old Hollywood in such dark colors. Girls should not try to become screen stars because the chances are so very small and not because they will be gobbled alive by some wicked ogre in Hollywood."

We asked the blonde beauty to tell us how wicked Hollywood really was.

"I can't," she laughed. "I really can't. You see I've never had time to find out. I know my own neighborhood is just as quiet and respectable as the residential district in any city in the country. And my time is very evenly divided between my home and the studio. I am in my dressing room at the R-C studio every morning at nine, and I'm not home again in my bungalow until seven in the evening and often later.

And after that I never feel like making a tour to unearth such deeds of wickedness which are supposed to occur in sleepy little Hollywood."

Bebe Daniels Has Her Likes Also Dislikes

Bebe Daniels, popular Paramount star who is co-starting with Antonio Moreno in "The Exciters," at the Olympic Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, doesn't like hunting because she says "I don't like to kill things." But there are many things she likes, especially animals, but above all, she adores the movies. "I love animals," she declares. "I have two dogs upon whom I lavish a great deal of affection—a collie and a bull dog. Horses, too, I am very fond of. I have ridden almost ever since I can remember—when I was eight I rode horseback to school every day. This is my chief diversion outside of my screen work—which is so enjoyable as to be practically a diversion. I hate hunting things because I don't like to kill things."

In answer to a questionnaire recently sent her by an admirer, she wrote the following:

What is your favorite virtue?—Strength of character.

Your favorite quality in women?—Good morals.

Your favorite quality in men?—Refinement and manliness.

Your favorite occupation?—Next to the screen, the stage.

Your idea of happiness?—To be able to adapt oneself to circumstances.

Unique History Of Screen Fame Of Vera Gordon

Vera Gordon!
The Mother of the Screen World! Graduated from the kitchen table to the dramatic stage!
Some actresses have fame thrust upon them, and others have it wished upon them. But Miss Gordon never experienced the thrill of having fame wished upon her (if it can truly be called a thrill), nor did she have it wished upon her.

She had to batter through a barrage of heart-breaking experiences and then, like a lightning current breaking through a rift of clouds, she was hailed as the peer of screen mothers following the showing of Fannie Hurst's "Humoresque" in the cinema palaces throughout the country.

"I shall never forget the day I received the telegram from Miss Hurst," said Miss Gordon, smiling reminiscently. "It was in mid-ocean at the time, bound for America, after playing in London for eight months in Al H. Woods' play, "Business Before Pleasure."

Miss Gordon has an appealing and altogether sympathetic face, with black, dreamy eyes surrounded by a wealth of jet black hair. She is of medium height, but the comeliness that was once hers now gives evidence of the fact that she is the mother of several healthy and ambitious children.

"For a long time my thoughts, awake or asleep," continued Miss Gordon, "were centered on the wonderful possibilities of the screen, and how it would feel to portray a role that would send people home with the feeling that they had seen something worth while."

"In order to explain my present position in the cinema world, it is necessary to mention a few pertinent experiences that led directly to my entrance into motion pictures. I had been chosen to play a part in a play called, "The Land of Hope," written by Miss Hurst, and which did not last very long, but shortly thereafter I appeared in another play called "The Gentle Wife."

"To one of the performers of the latter play, there came a prominent motion picture producer. I afterwards learned that he was very much impressed with my characterization. And then the first ray of hope loomed on the horizon. A friend gave me a letter of introduction to this man. Can you imagine how I felt, what a thrill I experienced? But alas!

"Every effort I made to see the motion picture producer was in vain. Just about this time I decided to accept Mr. Woods' offer to go to London to play in "Business Before Pleasure."

"On my return while in mid-ocean I received a telegram to report to the Empress Players Studio, on Long Island. I was promptly engaged to play the mother role in Miss Hurst's "Humoresque" and Miss Hurst was directly responsible for the engagement. She had watched my performance in "The Land of Hope" and when her story had been accepted for the screen she immediately thought of me as being best qualified to play the mother role.

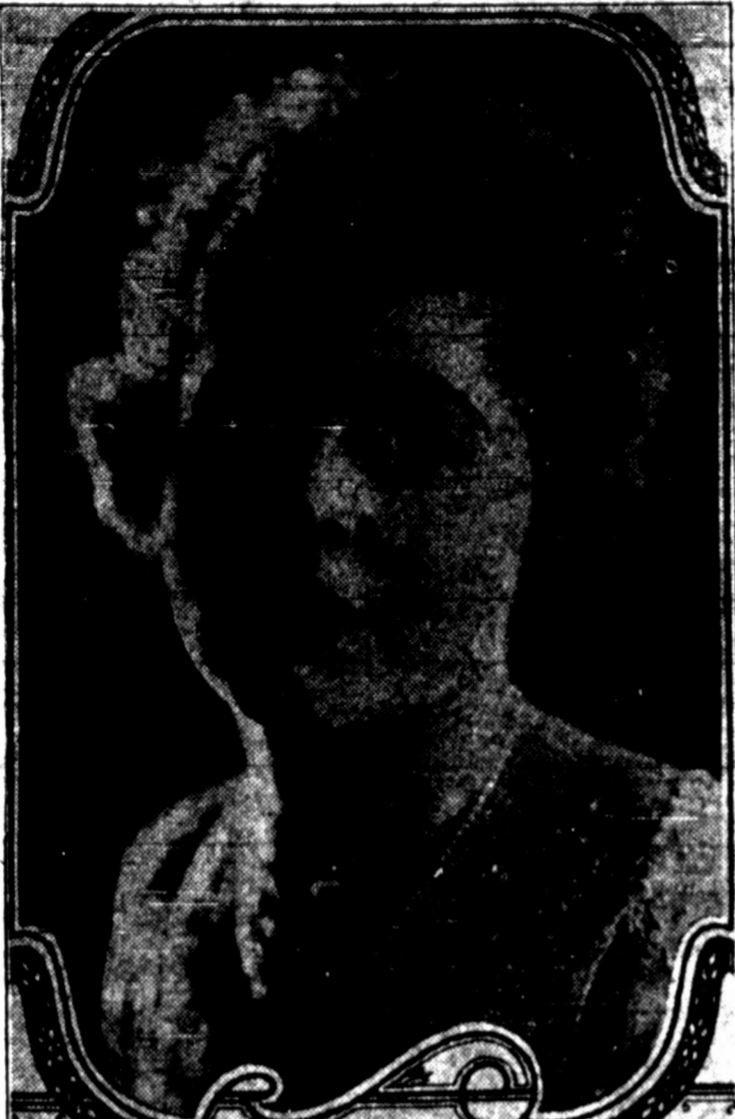

"And there you have the tale of how I broke into motion pictures."

Miss Gordon was born and educated in Russia. She came to America when but a mere child. Her first theatrical engagement was in the stock company of Jacob P. Adler, an East Side, New York, theatrical producer. Later she joined Sam Lisher in vaudeville.

In her latest production, "Your Best Friend," she also plays the part of a mother. This Warner Brothers' attraction which will be shown at the Strand Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday tells the story of a mother who gives and loves and sympathizes, when it's brightest, warmest or otherwise.

Miss Gordon wants to refute the accusation that she is anywhere between forty-five and fifty. She was born on June 11, 1884, in Ekaterinoff, Russia, and by the strictest exaggeration she can't be more than thirty-five!

OLYMPIC ATTRACTION THURSDAY

Douglas MacLean and Muriel Frances Dana in "The Sunshine Trail"

Doug MacLean in "Sunshine Trail" Comes Thursday

"The Sunshine Trail" at the Olympic Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Thomas H. Ince's latest comedy-drama, starring Douglas MacLean and featuring little Muriel Frances Dana. Jackie Coogan's feminine rival is the long-looked-for "universal appeal photoplay." It has elements which will please every type of audience and every individual in every audience.

"The Sunshine Trail" has a twist all its own. It's different. It is unique. This novelty comedy-drama, combines snappy farce, rapid-moving action, hair-raising thrills, great bits of fun for the kiddies, mother appeal, sensations for the men folk, burlesque melodrama, and a sunshine theme which will please the church-goers in any audience.

It's the story of a cowboy who comes back to civilization from his ranch, scattering sunshine and helping everyone he can along his way, despite the fact that those whom he aids return evil for good by dragging him through dangers and deviltry, and lambasting him at every turn. It's the sort of a picture which keeps an audience itching to help out the hero and hurrying with laughter at the same time at his troublous adventures.

The hero, by the way, is Douglas MacLean who enacts the role of a doughboy-cowboy who returns from the war and visits his home town. Our hero expects to be made a hero when he returns home and he also complacently expects that his sweetheart will be waiting patiently on the front steps to marry him. But he is disappointed. Well, say he is "woo." What a time the home folks give him!

First, they call him an impostor and a liar. They tell him that the real MacLean is buried in France and that he has come to claim an inheritance which doesn't belong to him. Constables, sheriffs and detectives follow him day and night. He is accused of burglary and highway robbery.

And then a strange woman takes off her child on him. This child, by the way, is one of the big hits of "The Sunshine Trail." The role, that of a little cowboy, is played by pretty Muriel Frances Dana, and she is delightful in the part. Our hero really begins to have his troubles when he finds himself with a child on his hands. First off he is accused of kidnapping it. A mob forms to lynch him and the mother arrives to see them on.

Without money to pay his board bill, our hero goes to the bank where they have refused to honor his draft when—bingo—a carload of bank bandits roll up. Some fast work follows. MacLean takes to a motor cycle and pursues the bank bandits, who flee in a speedy car. There's some shooting, three are punctured with bullets and both bandits and MacLean end up in a ditch at the side of the road in a grand smashup.

Accused of complicity in the bank robbery, our hero comes back to town to learn that his $20,000 inheritance is to be divided between his sweetheart and an old rival, provided she marries the latter. Crooks steal our hero's clothes and his cash and, finally, the minions of the law close the chapter by hauling our hero off to jail.

But it all ends happily.

Douglas MacLean never had a role better fitted to him than that of "Sonny" McTavish in "The Sunshine Trail." "Sonny" is a folksy western cowboy who has for his motto in life: "No-atter sunshine on your way. Do some good every day." "Sonny" befriends everyone, even his enemies, and thereby he piles troubles on himself sky high. But he doesn't turn cynical. He's the original "Cheerio Charlie."

Your Blood—the secret of Vitality!

YOU, too, may be more attractive. It is the blood that circulates thru your body and comes to the skin that makes the "glow." It is the rich blood that clears away pimples, skin eruptions and makes the skin youthful and clear. It is rich blood that feeds the flesh and rounds out the body naturally.

Then why not use this simple, reasonable way to get more strength and more vitality and attractiveness that follows?

S.S.S. is one of the greatest blood-cell builders, body-builders and blood-cleansers of all time. Its medicinal ingredients are purely vegetable.

S.S.S., because of its blood-building powers, is a remarkable builder of firm flesh. It fills out hollow cheeks and beautifies the complexion as thousands of men and women can testify.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

She had to batter through a barrage of heart-breaking experiences and then, like a lightning current breaking through a rift of clouds, she was hailed as the peer of screen mothers following the showing of Fannie Hurst's "Humoresque" in the cinema palaces throughout the country.

"I shall never forget the day I received the telegram from Miss Hurst," said Miss Gordon, smiling reminiscently. "It was in mid-ocean at the time, bound for America, after playing in London for eight months in Al H. Woods' play, "Business Before Pleasure."

Miss Gordon has an appealing and altogether sympathetic face, with black, dreamy eyes surrounded by a wealth of jet black hair. She is of medium height, but the comeliness that was once hers now gives evidence of the fact that she is the mother of several healthy and ambitious children.

"For a long time my thoughts, awake or asleep," continued Miss Gordon, "were centered on the wonderful possibilities of the screen, and how it would feel to portray a role that would send people home with the feeling that they had seen something worth while."

"In order to explain my present position in the cinema world, it is necessary to mention a few pertinent experiences that led directly to my entrance into motion pictures. I had been chosen to play a part in a play called, "The Land of Hope," written by Miss Hurst, and which did not last very long, but shortly thereafter I appeared in another play called "The Gentle Wife."

"To one of the performers of the latter play, there came a prominent motion picture producer. I afterwards learned that he was very much impressed with my characterization. And then the first ray of hope loomed on the horizon. A friend gave me a letter of introduction to this man. Can you imagine how I felt, what a thrill I experienced? But alas!

"Every effort I made to see the motion picture producer was in vain. Just about this time I decided to accept Mr. Woods' offer to go to London to play in "Business Before Pleasure."

"On my return while in mid-ocean I received a telegram to report to the Empress Players Studio, on Long Island. I was promptly engaged to play the mother role in Miss Hurst's "Humoresque" and Miss Hurst was directly responsible for the engagement. She had watched my performance in "The Land of Hope" and when her story had been accepted for the screen she immediately thought of me as being best qualified to play the mother role.

"And there you have the tale of how I broke into motion pictures."

Miss Gordon was born and educated in Russia. She came to America when but a mere child. Her first theatrical engagement was in the stock company of Jacob P. Adler, an East Side, New York, theatrical producer. Later she joined Sam Lisher in vaudeville.

In her latest production, "Your Best Friend," she also plays the part of a mother. This Warner Brothers' attraction which will be shown at the Strand Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday tells the story of a mother who gives and loves and sympathizes, when it's brightest, warmest or otherwise.

Miss Gordon wants to refute the accusation that she is anywhere between forty-five and fifty. She was born on June 11, 1884, in Ekaterinoff, Russia, and by the strictest exaggeration she can't be more than thirty-five!

ASSESSOR BEGINS PREPARATION OF VALUATIONS LIST

County Tax Assessor Ivan Deaton has started to prepare the list of valuations of county property in order that he may provide the state department and the county commissioners with an approximate figure on total valuations of the county. The valuation roll will be in the hands of the state department by July 15, in order that a state tax rate can be set.

Mr. Deaton has completed the unrendered roll, with the exception of unrendered leases. He states that that of a little over 1922, but still finds a large amount of property which owners have failed to render for taxation.

Work continues on checking up of automobiles and all owners of cars who have not rendered them for taxation are being notified. Saturday morning one man appeared after receiving the notice and rendered four big automobiles for taxation.

Thrashing On In Full Sway; Every Farmer Engaged

Thrashing is on in full sway throughout Wichita county, according to County Farm Agent Guy R. Jones, who made a county wide trip Friday. He states that every farmer, without exception, is busy at work with some thrashing outfit.

Farmers who are not thrashing on their own land are assisting their neighbors in order that the work may be completed sooner and the outfit moved to another farm.

Wheat continues to show a bigger yield than was originally expected. According to Mr. Jones, the wheat as a whole averages approximately nine or ten bushels to the acre.

Thirtieth Anniversary Entrance of C. J. Barnard Into Business Will Be Celebrated This Week

On a farm in Tennessee, back in the eighteen-eighties, a young man decided to start out in quest of fortune. He was 18 years old, tall and lean and lanky. His name was C. J. Barnard.

With his few possessions he turned his face toward Texas, and having arrived at his destination immediately set about the making of the fortune he had come so far to find.

His first step was to borrow $100 with which to buy a horse and a small crop—and I've never been out of debt since," he declared last week as he sat in his office in one of the largest and most prosperous dry goods stores in this section of the country.

The young Tennesseean did not farm for long, but after acquiring a good little black land farm of his own by dint of rigid economy and hard work, at the age of 21 he went back to Tennessee for a few more months of school and his wife has proved to be the greater asset, his bride.

C. J. BARNARD

Coming back to Texas he went in debt again for the purchase of a little $100 stock of groceries and men's furnishings, which he soon sold with a stock of piece goods.

These were the hardest times that the country has known within the memory of the present generation, with cows selling for $10 and wheat bringing 50 cents a bushel and corn 15 cents. The young merchant could not afford to make a mistake, and with characteristic confidence in his fellowman he went to his competitor and asked him to buy his first stock of piece goods for him.

The other merchant smiled at the unusual request, but he accepted the responsibility.

The business grew to such an extent that after a few years it had outstripped all other mercantile establishments in the little town, Celeste, and Mr. Barnard decided to look for a new location with greater possibilities for the future.

He selected Wichita Falls because he liked the progressive spirit of the town and the type of citizenship he found here, so in 1910 he opened a store at the corner of Seventh and Indiana, with a $50,000 stock of dry goods. The business in Celeste was retained and a few years ago moved to Ursham and then closed out at that place last year.

P. H. Pennington and Due Millsap were partners in the local business for a few years, but Mr. Barnard bought their interests in 1916, and since that time he has owned the business, together with G. Clint Wood and Jack C. Barnard.

C. J. Barnard has had charge of the affairs of the business, with Jack C. Barnard as general manager in recent years.

Mr. Barnard declares that the success he has attained has been due to his confidence in his fellowman and to his practice of placing responsibility on the men and women associated with him and allowing them to work out the details of their work in their own way.

Those who know Mr. Barnard and the success of the business with which he has been connected know that, added to these qualities, are many others which have been instrumental in bringing about the results which have been attained. Hard work, keen foresight and accurate judgment have all had a share in building the present extensive and prosperous business concern known as the P. H. M. Company.

During the past few years Mr. Barnard, celebrates the thirtieth anniversary of his entrance into this business, the week of June 25 to 27 with a big anniversary sale, at which time all merchandise will be greatly reduced in price.

One of the interesting features of this sale will be the display of velvet skirts and parade waist of the style worn by little boys 20 years ago, which came out of the first stock handled by Mr. Barnard and was worn by Jack Barnard, the present manager of the store, at the tender age of two and a half years.

Not only is the style of these small garments interesting, but the splendid quality of material is noteworthy and is a fair example of the high grade of merchandise which Mr. Barnard has always insisted on for his store.

Jack Barnard, manager and part owner of the store, was recently honored by election to the board of directors of the Texas Retail Dry Goods Association, which met in annual session at Galveston.

be ready to receive callers until 1 o'clock.

At the latter hour they will be greeted with full honors by the local waterworks and escorted to the Kemp for breakfast, led by the Khiva Temple Shrine band of Amarillo, which will accompany the trade trippers.

Wichita Falls will know that the Amarillians have been here, because the representatives of that city plan to make lots of noise and to tell the Wichitans all about the many stories of the fair city from which they hail. It was intimated in a letter received by the Chamber of Commerce Thursday from O. V. Vernon, secretary of the Amarillo Board of City Development.

The special will remain in Wichita Falls four hours and 30 minutes and will carry at least 125 enthusiastic trade evangelists, according to Mr. Vernon. The stop here is one of many to be made in the course of Amarillo's annual trade excursion, June 25 to 27, inclusive.

Amarillo Trade Excursionists Arrive Tuesday

At the dark and dismal hour of 4 o'clock in the morning Tuesday, a solid special trainload of Amarillo boosters is due to invade Wichita Falls.

The special train from the Panhandle capital will be met by a Chamber of Commerce reception committee, composed of C. M. Mytinger, chairman, Frank Quisenberry, C. H. Clark, Bert Bean and F. N. Lawton.

However, the Wichita committee will not be at the station when the train arrives, for word has come down the line of the Fort Worth and Denver from Amarillo that the Trade Trip excursionists will not

The article in Hearst's International Magazine exposes not only the complete hold that the Klan has on the state of Texas but makes it clear that it will be well for every voter in every state to familiarize himself thoroughly with the extent of the political Klan activities throughout the country and its attempts to control the political machinery of the entire United States.

KU KLUX KLAN ISSUE TO BE DECIDED IN SENATE

NEW YORK, June 21.—Every member of the United States senate will have to vote in December on whether Earl B. Mayfield is to keep his seat as senator from Texas. The decision will arouse interest from the Pacific to the Atlantic according to an article by Editor Norman Hapgood, in Hearst's International Magazine for July.

Senator Mayfield's tenure of office centers around one of the hottest political wars ever waged: Mr. Mayfield's seat is questioned not only because of alleged breaches of the Texas election law but a charge is also made against him that he is a klanisman and that his allegiance to the klan conflicts with faithfulness to his office.

"The Republicans are hoping the vote will be particularly embarrassing for the Democrats," says Mr. Hapgood, "since it is in Democratic states that the klan is strongest. The contest charges the expenditure of vast sums of money, very much in excess of the sum authorized by

SULLIVAN DISCUSSES U. S. ATTITUDE TOWARD REPARATIONS

FIRST OPPOSING FRENCH ACTION IS RECONCILED TO LET GERMANY TAKE DOSE OF HER OWN MEDICINE

By MARK SULLIVAN
Political Correspondent of the New York Tribune and Wichita Daily Times

In this unhappy European situation one of the many obstacles in the path of clear thinking and helpfulness is the fact that whenever you criticize anything the French government does you seem, by implication, to be expressing sympathy for Germany.

This confusion of thought was the cause of the about-face we made in America over the French invasion of the Ruhr. Up until the time France actually entered the Ruhr our American public opinion deplored it and insisted that Mr. Harding and Mr. Hughes do something to prevent it. But just as soon as France had actually taken the step the German began to wall to heaven. Thereupon public opinion in America turned around. We declined to shed any tears over Germany's woes. We remembered what Germany herself had done in France and in Belgium, the deportations, the executions, the remembering all that we said: "Now let Germany take a dose of her own medicine." We continued to know that what France was doing was most unfortunate from the point of view of a world that wanted to get back to peace and stability. But, however much we deplored the French action, we knew that Germany, in view of her own record, was not in a position to complain. And so an American public opinion which disapproved the French action refused, nevertheless, to let that disapproval be turned into sympathy for Germany.

In this Ruhr situation both parties are in the wrong. What the French government is doing is unwise. Every government except the French one thinks it unwise. Our government thinks it unwise. (The day the French entered the Ruhr we withdrew our troops to let France know we thought of it.) Britain deplores it. Italy deplores it. Even the Belgian government, which is nominally a partner of the French government in the enterprise, thinks it unwise. (The Belgian government is under duress to the French.) Many of the best people in France heartily disapprove of their government's action.

But it doesn't follow that you need sympathize with the French. With the German people I do sympathize—sometimes almost to the point of personal pain. But it isn't merely because the French went into the Ruhr. I sympathize with them because of the way they were formerly misled and exploited by the Kaiser and the Prussian Junkers. And even more so because of the way they are now being exploited even worse by a hitherto group of industrial junkers, so-called "big business" men, as they are called in distinction from the "small business" men. It is these "big business" men who are chiefly responsible for the action that brought the French into the Ruhr and for most of the rest of Germany's recent troubles. It is this group of profiteers who have a grip on the German people and a relation to the German government not unlike that the Kaiser formerly had. It is just beginning to be realized how these new industrial junkers are exploiting the German people through the depreciation of the mark. It is beginning to be suspected, also, that this group is responsible for the continued depreciation of the mark that they have had a hidden hand in bringing about. This is an wicked thing that perhaps it ought not to be said without being proved, and to prove just what persons and cliques brought about the depreciation of the mark, the depreciation of the mark, that Germany's recent and present misery is due, less than the presence of the French in the Ruhr.

We in America, and the rest of a world that wants peace, are right to complain about what France is doing in the Ruhr. But Germany has no title to complain to Germany if, merely one of the consequences of the step she took.

It is a people makes war it must fight to abide by the outcome. We must look at it as a gamble, the chance that they may lose and be certain manlike enough to stand the consequences. Any nation that takes up the sword must understand that failure is going to be followed by some unpleasant results.

In the case of Germany she hasn't begun to endure the suffering that has followed defeat, although she has followed the advice of the one who started. Practically all the suffering from war that Germany has endured so far is the loss of life and treasure during the fighting. That has been merely the cost of making the war. She has hardly the freeing of the slaves made land in the South almost worthless. Land which under the slavery system was worth $100 an acre made worth $10. How many billions that meant it would be difficult to compute. Worst of all, we made the latest masters over their former owners. What that meant in humiliation and destruction to the South is that the Civil War is a thing beyond any comparison. Nothing the French have done to the Germans makes the faintest approach to what the enfranchisement of the slaves meant to the South.

But to the American reader the comparison need not be pursued further. To any one with knowledge of what went on in the South after the Civil War the parallel— or, rather, the lack of a parallel—needs only to be suggested.

There is still a lot of grief due to Germany. She must expect to suffer it. Whatever appeal she may ever have to make to the sympathy and sympathy of the world she outraged will be promoted if she endures it without whining or trying to evade it.

All this is said with full knowledge—or, at least, with the conviction that the original crime of making the war was done less by the German people than by the Kaiser, the Junkers—that whole cabal of monarchists, junkers and militarists who misled and deluded the German people. But a people must expect to pay the cost of being docile to such leaders.

Germany made war against her neighbors. She did all the fighting on her neighbors' land. Her own land is practically untouched by the sword. Her factories, her homes, her homes are untouched. If now she should be allowed to escape without paying adequate reparations it would be a crime only slightly less than that of her first crime. It would be an invitation to make war again.

Germany has not begun to pay the amount of reparations she ought to pay and can pay.

The difference in the circumstances, the greater wickedness and the greater cupidity of Germany I need not enlarge upon. The South did not invade the North. She did not plan the war nor prepare for it. The South fought for a conviction, not for conquest. She fought merely for the right to go her own way and live her own life in the way she wanted to live it within her own borders.

However, I need not enlarge upon the greater sinfulness of Germany compared to the South. What I want to point out is how much less Germany has paid as the price of losing the war than our own South paid as the price of losing the Civil War.

Germany complains to heaven because at the end of four and a half years she has lost a portion of her soil is occupied by the conqueror's troops. We had troops in the South ten years after the war ended as late as the election of Hayes, in 1876. And there is yet living, and high in power in the Republic, a man who has been a Senator Lodge, who made his first marked impression on the nation by advocating that the federal troops should be sent back to the South at a time, in the early '90s, when the war was nearly thirty years past.

Further, nearly every man in the South lost practically every dollar he had. The demand on Germany for reparations does not approach anything even remotely resembling that. Every dollar in the South belonged to the man who paid it. He did every dollar of the Southern government.

Now, do not make the mistake of comparing this thing that happened to Confederate money and Confederate bonds with what has happened to German marks and German bonds. It is not the conquerors who made them so. It was not defeat that caused that. What has happened to the German mark is merely that group of the German people—namely, for the most part the dishonest and unscrupulous profiteers and industrialists—has stolen every mark that belonged to the honest and ingenuous portion of the German people. But all that has happened within the boundaries of Germany. Those losses, due to the transfer of wealth from one portion of the German people to another, and all the misery that entails, they were not enforced upon Germany by the victors.

Also, all the wealth is still in Germany. It was not destroyed. Germany as a whole lost nothing through inflation. The wealth is still there. The mass of German people, due to the transfer of the wealth, must charge that against the unscrupulous leaders who they trusted to their cost, not defeat that caused that. What we destroyed, I think, more property and more values than even the total amount of reparations demanded from Germany. We freed the slaves. If there were 4,000,000 of them, and if there were worth $1,000 each, that alone is the equivalent of $4,000,000,000. In addition larger amount of reparations than was regarded as possible at the time of the Peace Conference. To let Germany escape paying adequate reparations would not only be a failure to penalize her adequately and justly for the military war she made in 1914, but it would also enable her to start off with an immense advantage, an intolerable and unjust advantage in the economic competition with France, Belgium and the rest of the world that is just ahead of us.

One thing, however, Germany is clearly entitled to. She has a right to know the amount of reparations required of her. It is not the size of the reparations, it is the indefiniteness of the sum, that is holding the world back. Germany is entitled to be told by France, or by some one, just what sum she must pay, and is entitled to the assurance that as soon as she pays it or gives adequate guarantees for the future payment of it she shall be free.

But that is what France doesn't want to do. France doesn't want the amount fixed. France has preferred to keep the amount of the reparations indeterminate and that the amount remains indeterminate that is an injustice to Germany of which Germany can justly complain. It puts Germany in the same position as the Irish farmer under the old landlord system. The more the renter made the more the landlord took from him at the end of the year. If the farmer worked hard, improved the land, repaired the buildings, then the landlord raised the rent. He put a penalty on thrift and work. By no amount of work could the renter ever hope to be free of his burden.

That is what France has wanted to do to Germany. That is what the Versailles Treaty made it possible to do to Germany. France has wanted to keep Germany in a permanent state of economic impotence as well as military impotence. One can understand why France should want to do this. But one can also understand why this course should be opposed, not only by Germany but by Britain, and by everybody else who wants to get the world back to normal.

France must consent to making the reparations a fixed amount. On that contingency France has a right to insist that the amount be as large as the last farthing possible to get out of Germany. And so soon as the amount is fixed France will be doing no unprecedented cruelty to Germany if she insists on staying in the Ruhr until the amount is paid or satisfactorily guaranteed.

Packard "Single Eight" Has New Ease of Control

The new Packard car, the advent of which is preceded by probably more speculation than has been aroused by any event in the automobile industry in years is a "straight eight" with four wheel brakes and with something new in ease and control, according to the local dealer, Lloyd Weaver.

Official announcement of the production of the "Single Eight," as it has been christened, has been made by the Packard Motor Car Company and, at a number of strategic points throughout the country, the latest Packard now is being shown to the public. Production is already well under way at the factory.

First public tests of the car were made at Detroit by a group of automobile magazine editors, all automotive engineers and all possessed of a thorough knowledge of every kind of motor car made in America.

Expressions of the whole party about the motor were summed up by Mr. Tarantous with the remark: "There is a wonderful flow of power, more than enough for any requirement with not a period of vibration from minimum to maximum speed. Of course, it is obvious that what such critics have called the 'motor would be perfectly balanced.'"

After various models of the "Single Eight" were inspected at the factory on the Detroit River, Mr. Schipper summed up his impression of the car with the remark: "The last word in motor cars is being expressed in all that is endorsed by all others."

A new principle for eight cylinder in-line motors was announced. It is said to be such that it completely eliminates vibration through cancelling the unbalanced forces. It is especially in all newly designed and manufactured six cylinder in-line and V-type cylinder motors.

Packard engineers in effect have cut one four cylinder motor in two and put a half on one end of another four cylinder motor and the other half on the other. This permitted a new design of crankshaft and an unusual firing order.

The result has been the perfect balancing of the reciprocating forces, wiping out vibration, said the magazine editors who rode the car.

In general lines the new car is distinctly Packard. However, the 126 and 141-inch wheel bases, long hood and the disc wheels, which are standard equipment on all models, serve to give a low racy appearance which those who have seen the car declare adds greatly to its beauty.

With simplicity attained, along with greater power, flexibility and other objectives in the car, we found that as a natural result we had obtained economy both in operation and maintenance, something of much importance, despite the field in which the new car is placed.

We found that the increased speed and faster acceleration and the great surge of power in the new motor made necessary something additional in the way of brakes. We completed our investigation of the four wheel brakes. Most of the limited number of such brakes now in use were too complicated.

As an indication of the simplicity of these new brakes there is the fact that they have for all four wheels different parts while most rear wheel brakes have 46 different parts.

Braking pressure is applied to all four wheels by depressing an ordinary foot pedal and an equalizer gives a uniform pre-determined pressure to each wheel. It is said to be impossible to stop with any car to passersby to cause the car to skid by quick application of brakes, no matter what the condition of the pavement.

Brakes on the front wheel are so installed that, with a new type steering knuckle pin, there is no interference with the steering gear. Tests have shown, it is said, that brakes can be applied as well while making a turn as when on a straightaway. All brakes are protected in drums and are protected from dirt and water at all times. An emergency brake acts on the rear wheels alone.

Aluminum pistons are used. They are so designed that expansion does not appreciably affect the clearance of the piston which is fitted closely to the bore of the cylinder, eliminating piston slap when the motor is idling.

An unusual feature of the car is lighting arrangement. Three different ranges of light are provided in the head lamps. One is designed for ordinary city driving. The second range throws a beam of light low enough not to make a glare in the eyes of approaching motorists but far enough in advance for normal night driving in the country. The third range throws a great shaft of light along the highway, making possible high speed on the darkest night in case of necessity.

Many accessories have been built into the car as standard equipment. The bumpers, as an example, are permanent parts of the car. At both front and rear the frame has been built to include, as an integral part of it, fixtures to carry the bumpers. The warning stop light also is a standard part of the car. The operating switch is controlled by the foot brake, the switch being enclosed in a waterproof receptacle on the transmission case. All wires are carried in conduits. The instrument board has the usual equipment, with the addition of a gauge which gives accurate indication of the gasoline in the tank at all times.

Open cars have been given a striking color scheme. The body and bonnet are in dust proof gray, striped with vermilion. Bonnet moulding and top body moulding are black. Wheels are in dust proof gray, striped with vermilion and black. Packard blue and black have been used on the enclosed cars with red striping. Interior fitting and upholstery are in keeping with the character of the car.

The five passenger touring car will sell for $2,850, runabout, $2,550, five passenger sedan, $4,650, five passenger sedan limousine, $4,700, four passenger coupe, $4,850, five passenger coupe, $4,725, seven passenger touring car, $2,750, seven passenger sedan, $4,900, and the seven passenger sedan limousine $4,850. All seven passenger models are on chassis with a 143-inch wheel base. The others are on a 136-inch wheel base. The 136-inch wheel base chassis will sell for $2,850 and the 143-inch wheel base chassis alone for $2,450. All list prices are f. o. b. Detroit.

Last Symbol of Frontier Passes Into History

The last symbol of frontier life passes into history. Progress discards the picturesque old stagecoach for the modern motor car. A famous Indian route in British Columbia—the Cariboo Trail—first used by the white men in the 60s, is now traveled tri-weekly by Studebaker Big Six Touring Cars.

Carrying passengers, baggage and express, these cars start from Ashcroft—a point about 100 miles northeast of Vancouver—and run straight north to Quenell. This is the route of the Cariboo Trail, which winds over steep, towering mountains in the range of the Canadian Rockies. It is a difficult road at best, and has always been almost impassable in bad weather. The distance from Ashcroft to Quenell is 230 miles.

The trip by stagecoach was long and drudgery and required three and one-half days, whereas the distance is now covered by motor car in a single day at a cost to the passenger of only twenty-five per cent of the fare charged by the stagecoach.

In Mr. Dodge's opinion, is the fact that in the southeast cotton is playing a less and less part in the financial scheme of things. Factories, he says, are springing up everywhere and this development has assured the south of a constant income no matter what condition the cotton market may be in. The inland southern states are still dependent on cotton mainly, he reports.

The average business man in the south, Mr. Dodge says, also shares his view that a business boom is heading in their direction and many automobile dealers are preparing to spend large sums of money in expansion programs to take care of the increased business. As proof of this contention he cites the fact Oldsmobile distributors in Montgomery, Ala.; Birmingham, Ala.; Richmond, Va.; Greenville, N. C.; Baltimore, Md.; Washington, D. C.; Spartanburg, S. C., are all building new sales rooms and service stations, or have just moved into new quarters.

No charge is made and the public is invited to drive by and see the interesting collection. It was stated that the building operations among the dealers in the south, Mr. Dodge says, are not confined to any one locality or to any one class of

Motor Car Sales For Next Year to Make Huge Gain

Thousands of dollars are being spent by automobile dealers throughout the south in new buildings and motor car sales, during the next year, will probably be 100 per cent greater, in the opinion of L. G. Dodge, assistant sales manager of the Olds Motor Works of Lansing, Mich., who has just returned from an extensive survey of the south.

For the first time in several years, Mr. Dodge says, indications are that a real business boom is portending south of the Mason-Dixon line. He visited all of the principal places in the southeastern section and says that even used car merchandising is taking a firm foothold in this section.

PART TWO Carbon, Vibration And Friction Are Three Worst Foes

"Vibration, friction and carbon," says C. B. Mott, vice-president of General Motors, "are the motorist's three worst enemies. Vibration and friction are constantly gnawing away at his investment, reducing its value and making it less serviceable. Carbon puts an added load on the engine, increases vibration and friction and makes driving less comfortable and even less safe.

"The manufacturers of automobiles have done great work in designing engines, chassis and bodies that are as nearly free from harmful vibration as the present stage of the industry permits us. Scientific knowledge of proportion and balance, with a careful selection of material for the parts, is required to play these make our present-day automobiles not only easy-riding but long-lived. The old days, when it was not unheard of for a car to shake parts of its engine loose during ordinary traffic, are gone forever.

"Past certain point, however, the manufacturer cannot go. The oil refineries and the highly specialized oil companies have produced highly efficient lubricants, specially designed to reduce friction to the lowest possible point. Most of a motorist's troubles come from faulty lubrication, but their correction is in his own hands. Too little lubrication inevitably leads to trouble; so does too much. There is a proper kind of lubricant, and a proper amount of it, for every car on the market. Motorists are constantly being warned by manufacturers and service men that proper lubrication is absolutely essential in the operation of an automobile. The heedless man pays a high price for his carelessness, in burned out bearings, scored cylinders or pistons.

"Too much lubrication is almost as bad as too little, in that it leaves carbon deposits where they will do the most harm.

"Even with proper lubrication, carbon is almost certain to result from the use of modern fuel. It has been conclusively shown that petroleum, alone, does not yield an ideal fuel for internal combustion engines, even with the most advanced knowledge of refining. Refiners of oil have found it necessary to add certain agents to petroleum in order to increase or adapt its lubricating qualities. Refiners of gasoline know that an addition agent with certain definite properties greatly increases the efficiency of the fuel.

"In its newly discovered addition agent, Ethyl Fluid, General Motors believes that it has made an important contribution to the safety and comfort of the passenger in an automobile, and lengthened the life of the engine itself. Added to commercial gasoline, in even very small amounts, it has been shown to develop marked efficiency and to make substantial economies in operation.

"The manufacturer has dealt efficiently with the problem of vibration; and he has made it possible for the driver to co-operate in the matter of doing away with, or at least very greatly reducing, friction and carbon.

Home-Owning States Are Also States Having Large Proportion Of Owners of Automobiles

Cars promote home ownership. Those states which have the most automobiles per capita also have the highest percentage of dwellings owned by their occupants.

Conversely, where rented homes are most common, the supply of motor transportation is relatively less. These facts are revealed by a study of the car registration figures of the United States bureau of public roads compared with the data on homes compiled by the United States bureau of the census.

The relation between the percentage of homes owned and the ratio of cars to population is striking. This is regarded as a markedly close relationship indicating that few exceptions.

The relationship between the two factors may be expressed as "cars promote home ownership" or conversely that home ownership promotes car purchase. The possession of either a car or a home, generally speaking, indicates the ability to accumulate an investment. It is logical to find a relationship in the two groups.

Furthermore, the car owner conserves time and energy which is likely to enable him to be a home buyer. The home owner, saving the added cost of the rental system, is more likely to have a surplus for automobile purchase.

Moreover, however, is the fact that under modern conditions the two investments are frequently essential to each other. The head of the family seeking better living conditions and relief from high rents finds that the more reasonable property is located at some distance from suburban railroad stations. He buys a car as a matter of real estate insurance protecting the value of the property to him, a value which is negligible without transportation. Further, the car owner finds that the more suburban where traffic is less crowded and garage rents are lower.

In rural sections the relationship between the automobile and the owned home is particularly clear. The farmer finds the motor car one of the most essential items in his power machinery equipment, both for saving time in working hours and for providing educational and social contacts for his family.

Best Half Year's Business General Tire & Rubber Co.

The General Tire & Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, in announcing that the regular quarterly dividend on preferred stock has been authorized payable July 1, makes the additional statement that it has just completed the most successful half year's business in its history, according to the Dixie Tire & Rubber Company, local representative.

Gross sales for the first six months of 1923 have been seventy-five per cent greater than for the same period last year and an extremely conservative estimate is made that the year's business, which was roughly $7,000,000 last year, will exceed $10,000,000 in the present fiscal period.

General's three new plant additions are now in full operation, yet the company's orders are still so far in excess of production that it was decided not to close the factory for the semi-annual inventory and the inventory was taken at night

Prices of Hudson Cars Lowered, Dealer Reports

To the great surprise of the local dealer, Lloyd Weaver, and in direct opposition to the general trend in the automobile industry, the Hudson factory announced a drop in prices last week.

Advice was received by the local dealer that a $55 decrease has been declared on Hudson speedsters, replacing the $1000-$1050 seven passenger touring, delivering for $1620, and the coach at $1670. This is the lowest price that a Hudson Super Six has ever had for, being considered a remarkable value for this class of car.

The reduction is due to question production, it was stated, as the factory is putting out cars at full capacity.

The Lloyd Weaver Company is suffering from a shortage in cars due to the fact that their shipments have been held up on account of the floods.

Firestone Tire Co. Reduces Prices By Ten Per Cent

AKRON, OHIO, June 23.—One of the outstanding results of the campaign against the British crude rubber restriction act led by Harvey K. Firestone is seen in the announcement made this week by the Firestone Tire & Rubber Company of a reduction of 10 per cent in tire prices. In its announcement the company says:

"The crude rubber monopoly weakened when it came in contact with aroused public sentiment. The press of the country today reflects the determination of the American motorist that tire prices shall stay at a reasonable level—and that America must produce its own rubber."

It is generally conceded by press and public that the activities of Mr. Firestone waged to protect motorists and other rubber consumers from the grip of the foreign monopoly, are ranked among the great commercial and patriotic achievements of the present generation, for the restriction legislation was designed to extract millions of dollars from the pockets of the American people.

While Mr. Firestone was practically unaided, and in some instances was actually opposed by certain manufacturers of rubber products, he set out to counteract the artificial stimulus given prices of crude rubber by a group of powerful British rubber growers, whose program was greatly aided by the English government through the passage of laws restricting production.

Although the Rubber Association of America claims to represent 80 per cent of the rubber industry of this country, it decided to take no aggressive action against the unwarranted legislation, and Mr. Firestone proceeded to carry on his campaign practically single-handed. He sent representatives to England and set in motion a movement through the newspapers and other agencies against the legislation, with the result that a parliamentary investigation of the situation

Victory Has First 3 Rickenbackers Ever Seen in City

The Victory Motor company now has on the salesroom floor three of the new Rickenbacker cars, the first ones to be seen in this city.

The vibrationless motor and the unusually handsome finish of the interior are both noteworthy features of this new car.

The steering feature is remarkable, the touch of the finger being sufficient to turn the car safely around or in any direction. "Ask the woman who drives one," Mr. Brown declares is the slogan for the car.

The car has an air cleaner which eliminates 83 per cent of the dirt and dust passing through, and protecting the valves, pistons and other parts from being ground out by dirt in the usual manner.

The interior of the closed car is finished in high beam out velvet with German silver handles, light fixtures and so on. A noteworthy feature is the aluminum foot board, instead of the usual rubber.

Another striking improvement is the folding arm attached to the extra or jump seat, adding greatly to the comfort of the occupant.

The maroon body with gray disk wheels is a striking combination in color, and the Rickenbacker symbol, "that in the ring" is used in several places, as well as on the front

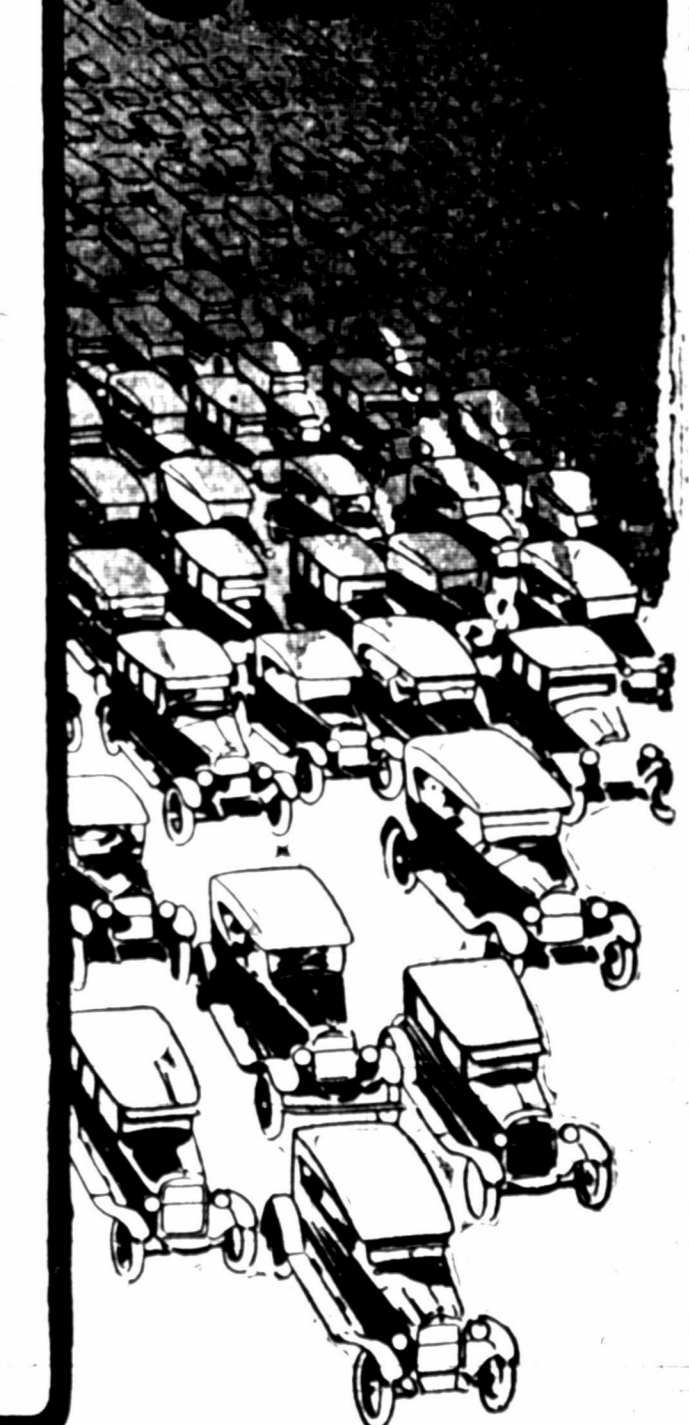

MORE than one million automobiles now have been built and sold by the Willys-Overland organization. One million cars! This is not merely an accomplishment in production and distribution. It is an accomplishment in civilization.

Many Overlands and Willys-Knights are playing a tremendous part in the life and happiness of our own community. They are putting our families on swift wheels. They are multiplying the earning power of our men. They are lightening and quickening the work of our women. They are carrying our children to school. They are promoting business and bringing our people together in closer, friendlier relationship.

Today's Overland and Willys-Knight cars unquestionably are the best automobiles Willys-Overland ever built—and at the lowest price. All past achievements are being excelled in beauty of design, in comfort, in faithful performance—in the giving of real value.

Reflecting such quality, sales this season are the greatest in our history. The public has registered unmistakably its appreciation of great value.

Provisions of Proposed Road Amendment Explained By President Of Texas Highway Association

Mile-High City Says "Come Up" To Colorado

DENVER, COLO., June 23.—The convention of the great outdoors in Colorado, it was dubbed the "Society of All-American Vacationists," because every state in the Union, including Texas, will send representatives and their families. Unusual in scope and object, its motto is "Recreational Education," and its password, "Unconventionality."

Sessions began June 1 with the clearing of most passes of snow, affording transcontinental automobile traffic, and with the sale by railroads of special summer rates effective until October 31.

The vacationist, sightseer, traveler, botanist, fisherman, scientist, hunter and prospective settler—all swell the ranks of the pleasure-seekers in Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo and other points, bound for Rocky Mountain National Park, Mesa Verde National Park and National Forest regions.

Others come in endless streams by automobile to Overland Park municipal camp grounds, in Denver where the 1922 attendance included these 10 leading states: Kansas, 2576; Nebraska, 6377; Colorado, 4169; Iowa, 3202; Missouri, 3181; Oklahoma, 3062; Illinois, 2544; Texas, 2411; California, 2192; and Ohio, 1128. Last year $1,412 motorists camped in the 213 automobile camps throughout Colorado.

They heard the call "Come up" borne on western breezes from the far-flung, snow-crowned Colorado Rockies. Already the days of ancient Rome are being re-created with certain modifications in a new country. The horse drawn chariot is replaced by the gas steed, otherwise the procession is much the same. They fill the highways leading to Colorado.

Rocky Mountain National Park had 219,151 visitors last year. Mesa Verde National Park, with its ruins of Indian cliff dwellers, is reporting record crowds. Between these two national parks are highways that make possible a 1000-mile trip by automobile. The way leads through many national forests, affording the innovation of traveling and camping far from civilization's domain, but not too far from the hotel or a place to purchase provisions and gasoline.

It's all a part of the convention program of the great outdoors.

Kell to Attend National C. of C. Directors' Meet

Frank Kell will leave Monday for Washington, D. C., to attend the bi-monthly meeting of the directors of the chamber of commerce of the United States of America, June 25 and 26.

One of the chief questions to be considered at this meeting, Mr. Kell said Saturday, will be the revision of the quotas assigned to the several states for the building fund of the National Chamber of Commerce. Construction of the $2,000,000 office building of the chamber in Washington is now progressing rapidly. This edifice will be one of the most beautiful structures in the capital, which is already world famous as a city of beautiful buildings.

Texas has subscribed its full quota, Mr. Kell stated, all the larger cities having paid or guaranteed the same assigned to them. Many of the smaller cities of the state, not included in the original list, have voluntarily contributed to the fund, Mr. Kell said.

Eleven Years Of Life Added By Motor Cars

Eleven years have been added to the average life of the American citizen by the general adoption of the automobile as a means of individual transportation.

In 1909, when only 10,850 cars were produced, an American might hope to live an average of 37.64 years.

In 1913, 10 years later, when 41,500 automobiles were built, his life expectancy was 41.97 years.

In 1922, when 2,337,000 automobiles were built, his life expectancy had increased to 48.66 years.

Sunshine, freedom from worry, the open air and the exhilaration of the open road has accomplished this in 20 years time.

These figures were revealed after an investigation by three prominent physicians in Louisville in an exhibit at the National Health Exposition.

That is why Edward S. Jordan, president of the Jordan Motor Car company, says that the greatest contribution made to good health and future happiness of the American people is the last reduction of the Ford price.

It will take one million people away from the congested area of the city, out into the country, not only for fresh air but to establish homes, where the owner may have a garden and all open space for the development of his children.

Raise Dairy Cattle. DALLAS, June 23.—A series of "raise dairy cattle" meetings is being conducted in Texas by Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad through its agricultural department. The first of the series was held in Hart county, supervised by R. H. Walker, agricultural agent for the road.

Imports Decline. GALVESTON, June 23.—Imports through the Galveston customs district for April were valued at $4,147,000, according to reports from the fiscal department. This amount is a decline compared with March shipments, but nearly double the shipments of last April.

Middle of September Probable Date Completion of Storage Dam 90 Days to Finish Diversion Dam

The middle of July will see the completion of the hydraulic fill at the storage dam of the Wichita irrigation project and about 10 days more will be required to finish the rip-rap, gravel blanket and gate house. It was estimated Saturday by R. A. Thompson, chief engineer and general manager.

At the diversion dam the head gates have been completed and the excavation for the spillway is rapidly nearing completion. Pouring of concrete for the spillway will commence next week and continue for about 90 days until it is entirely finished, in Mr. Thompson's opinion.

Upon completion of the diversion dam, the diversion lake will be filled by opening the gates at the storage dam.

The chief engineer will recommend that the diversion lake be placed under a strain will not be placed upon the dam at once.

The water barrier will be allowed to season and settle and take up its burden of water a little at a time, so that it may be more easily become accustomed to bearing it.

After the diversion lake shall have been filled to within eight feet of the spillway level, the water can be drawn into the south side canal.

Water will be let into the canal very slowly, so that it may be seasoned and tested for seepage.

From the canal the water will flow into Lake Wichita and thus constitute a new source of water supply for the city of Wichita Falls.

Contract for the construction of the north side canal has not yet been let. Final location surveys for this canal are now being made.

Building of the graded highway between the storage dam and Maybelle is about half finished. As the road from Maybelle to Wichita Falls is good, completion of the new road will make a graded highway all the way from the city to the storage dam.

The road from the storage dam to the Wilbarger county line is graded all the way and the dam site is rapidly becoming a popular resort for the people of Seymour and Vernon, as well as those of Wichita Falls.

ENROLLMENT FOR GIRL'S CLUB MEET WILL EXCEED FIFTY

The enrollment for the Girl's Enrollment to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week at Haven Park will exceed the fifty mark, it was indicated Saturday.

Girls from all parts of the city are writing Miss Georgia Lanford, home demonstration agent, stating that they will attend.

The enrollment opens Thursday morning with an address by County Judge B. D. Barin. Camping equipment and tents have been secured.

To Attend Convention. DALLAS, June 23.—More than 100 members of Elms clubs in Texas will attend the international convention of the organization at Atlantic City, June 27, 28 and 29, according to R. G. Buford, state secretary. All of the 43 clubs in the state are expected to send from one to three delegates. The Texas representatives will gather here to go to the convention.

All stockholders of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair Association are invited to a luncheon at the Wichita Club at noon Monday as guests of the management. It was announced Saturday by G. M. Verachoyis.

The advice and cooperation of all stockholders will be sought in making this year's fair the greatest possible success.

The new grandstand and race track is expected to add greatly to the attractiveness of this year's show, Mr. Verachoyis said.

A purse of $10,000 is assured for the races and smooth running of all events has been made certain by the securing of the same management for the race track as has charge of the races at the Texas State Fair in Dallas, he declared.

There will be 30 or 37 shows in the Midway, including the famous caterpillar that has won such great favor at Coney Island, together with eight other riding devices.

At Sweet's band will play between races, so that there will be no intermission in the entertainment provided for those in the grandstand.

The fireworks display this year will be considerably enlarged, Mr. Verachoyis said, and will contain many novelties peculiarly appropriate to Wichita Falls.

Among the set pieces will be all gunners with the derricks clearly outlined in fire against the sky.

Other features will be the count-down of some of Wichita Falls leading citizens embraced in mammoth design of flame.

"Our seven-day fair this year will bring between 50,000 and 75,000 visitors—and will be the most successful Texas-only by the state fair at Dallas," Mr. Verachoyis asserted.

Each member is urged to call telephone number 2333 and inform the secretary's office whether he will or will not be able to attend, so that the committee may know how many to prepare for.

Natural Gas Goes Through Many Handlings

From the well to the delivery of natural gas to your home is not a simple process. The gas itself is handled many times. It passes through costly machinery and many regulatory devices.

Gas from the well is taken through pipe lines to gathering stations first. One well may have high pressure—say 300 pounds—and another supplying the same territory may have a pressure of only 125 pounds. Of course they cannot be directly connected together, for the high pressure would force gas back into the low pressure lines.

Pressure Regulation

Hence the gas is taken to a gathering station, where by means of compression it is all sent into the transportation mains at the same pressure.

This process heats the gas, and before it is sent on its way it must be cooled, passing through a system of pipes over which water flows.

Then when gas arrives at the city for which it is destined the pressure is reduced from 175 to 200 pounds to about 50 pounds, sometimes lower, leaving just enough to carry it to the low pressure service mains, where the pressure is again cut down to a few ounces. Meantime it is measured at every change so that leakage may be detected.

These operations require a complicated system of gate valves, meters, regulators, etc., for every local supply point. They represent not simply the installations of pipe lines, but a huge monied machinery that requires a great amount of attention at all times.
