

NEXT YEAR'S ANTHRACITE COAL BILL OF U. S. MAY BE INCREASED $200,000,000

Breaking up anthracite after a blast and loading it, by conveyor, on the car which hauls it to the hoist shaft.

By HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer
LAKESHARRE, PA., July 12.—Another dollar per ton to your anthracite coal bill for this winter, on the safe side, perhaps better make it two.

With the margin that will be by operators to cover "overhead" and "overhead" proper with the increased pay and working conditions demanded by anthracite miners, the cost of anthracite to consumers during the next year seems to be well up toward $200,000,000.

This on an approximate shipment of 100,000,000 tons.

With the increased pay and working conditions demanded by anthracite miners, the cost of anthracite to consumers during the next year seems to be well up toward $200,000,000.

citizen of the coal fields, who is neither miner nor operator, "the miners have the operators on the hip" and both sides know it.

Briefly, the demands of the miners are a reinstatement of the Shamokin demands of last year, calling for a 20 per cent increase in scales of mine pay, with 32 per cent increase for day labor. Translated into tonnage costs, it is estimated these increases would amount to from 85 cents to $1 per ton.

Additional demands, involving expenditure by the operators in providing free tools, payment of uniform rates for blasting top and bottom rock and for handling refuse, supplying free all necessary props, sheet iron, timber, etc., and extra shoveling, will, if granted, result in the addition of about an equal amount by the operators to their selling price, it is believed.

May Close.

The present agreement, under which the mines are now being operated, has less than two months to go. It will expire August 31. Unless a new agreement is reached by that time, the mines will be closed September 1.

"There will be no strike," John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, told me. "But if a new agreement is not signed by that time the men automatically will be out of work."

"They have simply taken a job at a certain price for a certain time. When that time is up, the job is through. Unless there is a new agreement, they're out of work, that's all. They don't strike. They simply haven't any job."

"What are the conditions that justify the union's demands for a 20 per cent increase at this time?" I asked Lewis.

"Oh! Scale Expired.

"The same that justified them a year ago," was the reply. "At that time, however, we were also faced with the demands of the operators for a reduction. After a five-month tie-up, because of the public's necessity in the face of approaching winter, work was resumed at the old scale for the period of three months. A new agreement is reached by that time the men automatically will be out of work."

"If, under general industrial conditions as they were last year, the demand for a 20 per cent increase seemed fair and reasonable—and it did—then certainly with industry flourishing in all lines as it is today and with costs of living still high, a reiteration of the demands of a year ago is the least that could be expected."

Another factor influencing anthracite miners in their new wage demands is the fact that whereas anthracite miners have been advanced 17 per cent in the last three years bituminous miners have been advanced 27. As an offset to this, however, operators contend that the coal fields gives the worker a larger yearly income here than in the bituminous fields.

Day workers in and around the mines now receive from 14.25 to $6 per day. However, I found some shovel men at the Jardo mines, near Hasleton, who told me they got only 15 to 40 cents an hour.

The miners run, in the main, from $6.50 to $8 per day. Rinaldo Capellini, newly elected president of District No. 1, estimated the average earnings at "about $90 every two weeks." This, however, he pointed out, is not the return for an eight-

SAYS SHE FEELS LIKE YOUNG GIRL

Oklahoma City, Kansas Frances Stella Vitale, 40 years old, says she feels like a young girl.

"I actually believe that Stella Vitale is the happiest woman in town," said Mrs. Liddle Johnson, 404 E. Ninth St., Oklahoma City, Okla.

"I suffered from a complication of troubles that was undermining my health. Headaches hung on for hours and my stomach was damaged and gave me trouble almost after every meal. I was badly crippled and so nervous I found it hard to get any restful sleep at night."

"After trying several other medicines without getting any better I began taking Stella Vitale and my sufferings gradually became less frequent and less severe, and as I kept on taking the Stella Vitale I found myself fully recovered and feeling like a young girl."

Stella Vitale may be obtained from any drug store at the purchase price, will be refunded if it fails to bring relief. Tryon's Drug Store and Miller's Drug Store—adv.

108 DEGREES HERE FRIDAY; A NEW RECORD FOR YEAR

The local heat record for the summer was broken Friday afternoon when the mercury reached the 108 mark on the thermometer at 2 o'clock. This is recorded as the warmest day for the year.

Soon afterward black clouds partially hid the sun from view, but this had no effect on the temperature. There was very little wind blowing.

At most points in the territory the temperature was about the same, and the mercury continued to rise Friday afternoon. Near Woodward, Oklahoma, and other points in the northern part of the section, it was partly cloudy, with light showers.

By MARK SULLIVAN.

WRIGHT, July 12.—The atmosphere in Berlin during the present crisis is one of shell shocked helplessness.

While France and Britain pull and haul over her fate, Chancellor Cuno's personality, as compared with his former state by those who have seen him frequently during the months of his tenure of office, is drooping to one in which sheer fatigue robs the man of whatever his normal will power and decision may be. Parenthetically, the fact men become worn out under longed responsibility—a fact usually forgotten by the general public—frequently mournfully recognized by close observers—has been in several corners of this European situation.

General Degoutte, it is believed those who are being reticently regard him favorably, might be to handle the Ruhr troubles his appearance of progressive if he were not under the strain of a conception of duty keeps him at his desk for hours without fresh air or rest—fatigue which he has the embarrassment of illness in family.

Paris is Telling.
Paris the strain of the situation beginning to tell also on her Poincare, emphasizing his disposition to "sit tight" rather than magnifying to his mind of procedure.

Personal equations more and more unfortunately involved like this than they in America, where great decisions are equally less personal and less political. The strain of the war is limited by our government.

The important figures involved in the Ruhr, although noticeably less appalling than was at Washington last year, has developed the physical effects of nervous strain is less the more equal and noted than any of the others in the world.

Within the fear of an internal crisis is practically universal. That does not look merely to an end of the present government but to a substitution of another. If were the form of the fear, Berlin would be less acutely apprehensive also would London be less anxious, as well as other quarters take thought for the future world. But the anticipated of the greatly feared German the break-up of the country several warring states, some communist, some catholic and some trying to go democratic.

It is known in America, states in Germany have industrial and some times antagonistic characteristics to a degree that is not known in America, while the general system that holds them together is much looser than with the break-up of Germany frontier states should be so may not be clear to America.
Initially, it would even seem to be an advantage, such as perspective of a great industrial and military power. But British men, as well as many other quarters, say the break Germany means the break up of European civilization.

In statements privately say so many words and with earnestness. Economists warn where advise they say it. If you ask the reason they say that communists and Islam would start that there burn into a blaze, that there the civil war among the various German states. It is with the up the intricate economic industrial Germany represents the present population of Europe could not be reduced by processes of and starvation.

British to President.
The British are determined to accept the responsibility of preventing a war.
June 1, the British policy has been to exhaust every resource, of force and reconciliation in order to restore and maintain the entente with France. As one British statesman said: "Our one hope is to pre-negotiations." But the British have been equally steadily determined to take another course if it should become inevitable, and accept the leadership and responsibility of preventing the break-up of Germany.

Regarding France, she is charged with having the break up of Germany as the main, though concealed, purpose of her present course. Ninety-nine out of every hundred Germans believe this. Many British believe it. And yet the charge is probably not wholly just, certainly not in the form in which it is commonly phrased. It is undoubtedly true that if the Paris newspapers should announce tomorrow that Germany was blown into fifteen pieces, practically every man in France would say: "I should worry," and between this and the state of mind which tries to bring the same thing about there is not a great deal of difference. But any impartial examination into France's actions six months ago when she embarked upon the Ruhr adventure shows that her motive then was a determination to get her money and get it at once.
But although that was her original purpose, it is now clear without any doubt whatever that the development of the Ruhr adventure is a complete failure. The net result of it so far as money goes is that France will get it not sooner but later. She may get none whatsoever, as it stands now.
France's course in the Ruhr basin is tragically increasing the momentum, not towards collection of reparations, but toward the break up of Germany.
France's course in the Ruhr has come to be precisely what the German militarists need to call a "policy of frightfulness."

It is about time that those holding office arrange an outline of interrogatories for themselves to answer before taking action on any matter of consequence. The same practice could be observed with advantage by some counties in phrasing of indictments to conform to laws also. Is not the whole thing an indication of the chaotic state of mind of all people, the lack of any recognition of constitution or laws and governing procedure in any state?

Is there anything that would aid law enforcement more, if it were possible to achievement, than to have the constitution and statutes given as much attention by officials at least as even patrons give to baseball rule books?

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Butter little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of God.—Luke 10:16.

There is a feeling of Eternity in youth which makes us amends for everything.—To be young is to be as one of the immortals.—Hasselt.

THE DUMBBELL

About the dumbest thing in creation is the jellyfish. But in laboratories the scientists take this low form of life and perform an experiment that would interest you.

Anyone studying the jellyfish would decide that it has no brains at all. When it needs food, it automatically opens like a clam and stays open until something edible drifts along into its "mouth." Then the contact of the bits of food causes a nerve reaction that makes the jellyfish close again—all by involuntary or automatic action, the same as when you touch a hot stove and immediately withdraw without pausing to think it over.

The scientists play a mean trick on the jellyfish. They put a chunk of yeast into its awaiting "jaws." Pronto, the jellyfish closes and starts digesting the yeast.

But the yeast begins expanding. It continues swelling until the jellyfish is on the verge of exploding.

Then suddenly the jellyfish opens up spasmodically and casts out the yeast. The scientists are convinced that this action is semi-voluntary—that the jellyfish opens instead of the yeast forcing it open.

The experiment demonstrates what amounts to the beginning of thought. For, until fooled with a chunk of yeast, the jellyfish apparently never before in history opened to digest.

According to the evolutionists, there was a time far back in the mists of history when our ancestors were as dumb as the jellyfish, when all action was involuntary, instinctive.

Some accident, such as the jellyfish getting a meal of yeast, probably started those ancient ancestors of ours along the line of voluntary action.

Will power began developing. So did memory. Then came a sense of curiosity, the desire to experiment—which is manifested by small children when they attempt to eat everything that comes their way and look strange. You've had the experience of making baby spit out a button, pin, pebble or strange bit.

Will power, memory, curiosity, judgment and reasoning power are the foundations of human thought and progress.

Can plant life think? You may believe so, if you have ever had a garden. Else what teaches the climbing plant, which has been creeping along the ground, to turn and fasten itself to the supporting twig you place for it in the soil? Surely, in this, are the faint rudiments of thought processes.

All this may be skating on thin scientific ice, but it's interesting to ponder. And so-called exact scientific knowledge is never definitely established, for principles accepted as truths frequently are exploded in later generations. In this direction, Einstein has upset a lot of "established" science.

We refer the question to the interesting organization, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Plant Life, which believes it is as cruel and painful to root out a hill of potatoes as to butcher a steer.

MADOO'S FRIENDS TO ORGANIZE STATE.

A number of Texas friends of W. G. McAdoe will meet in Dallas Saturday to start to organize Texas to send a McAdoe delegation to the democratic national convention next year.

The Texas delegation was for McAdoe at the San Francisco convention, having agreed to vote as a unit for the former secretary of the treasury. Texas was recorded on every ballot until the last for McAdoe.

McAdoe has more personal supporters than any other candidate, either democrat or republican. In his position in the cabinet in the Wilson administration and in his war work and as director general of the railroad administration McAdoe came into contact with many people throughout the country, among them being many Texans. It is to McAdoe's credit that practically all of them are urging his candidacy for the presidency.

It is probable that McAdoe is now the favorite of Texas democrats for the nomination, but there are a number of leaders who will be for Oscar W. Underwood. The contest in Texas, as it now appears, will be between McAdoe and Underwood, and it may become a real contest with something of the old time gusto and enthusiasm. Such a contest would be a worthy one. It would be for a big man and real issue.

TILLMAN COUNTY PHILANTHROPY.

Up in Tillman county, Oklahoma, a few days ago 63 farmers armed with hoes, cultivators and plows gathered at the farm of a widow woman and when they left that evening all her plowing had been done, her crops worked, fences repaired and her farm placed in first class shape.

Here was a demonstration of practical philanthropy which benefited everybody concerned. The widow, we may believe, was relieved in mind and greatly helped by the action of these generous farmers. The farmers themselves must have felt a softening glow as they did their good work and it can be imagined that neighborliness was promoted and that the whole community will be benefited by this demonstration of charity.

In the city too often our philanthropy is cold and impersonal. In the country it can be warm and personal as it was in the case of this Tillman county widow and these Tillman county farmers.

THE MORNINGS OF CHILDHOOD.

In the days of long ago
 Youth's delights were ours to know,
 And our dreams were fair before us
 And the hills were good to climb.
 We were brave and we were strong,
 Neither pain nor grief nor wrong
 Had let one blot of sorrow
 On the register of time.
 It was sweet to wake at morning
 For the day was always new,
 And the past was left behind us
 With the night wind slumbered through.

In the days of long ago
 We could rally come and go,
 We could race the fruitful orchard
 Or go trudging down the lane,
 We could wander left or right,
 Light of heart from dawn till night.
 For we had not met with failure,
 Had not heard the voice of gain;
 Then no scorn or censure waited
 At the ending of our play,
 And our little wrongs at night
 Were all gently washed away.

Now men look on us as wise
 And there's sorrow in our eyes,
 On our cheeks the lines of trial
 Have been permanently traced,
 Much we've suffered, much we've learned,
 And our souls are seared and burned
 And the memory of our failings
 Is not easily erased.

Now the sunny mornings call us
 As they called us long ago,
 But we walk to worldly wisdom
 And the memory of woe.

To the ribbons of the past
 We are tied and tethered fast,
 To life's cares and griefs and burdens
 We are slaves forevermore.
 Not as children now, but men,
 Morning calls us back again
 To the tasks we've left unfinished
 And the tasks which lie before.

We have looked on pain and felt it,
 We have worshipped glad and gold,
 And we find each glad new morning
 Has been tainted by the old.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THRILLS.

There are those whose blood would boil and whose eyes would pop with excitement over a dog fight or a runaway horse, or some spectacular fire—who would let a perfect moon, in a setting of clustered stars, shine its heart out without a single throb within their human being.

Stevenson, in one of his delightful essays, tells of his excitement and happiness as he would sit of an evening with one of his favorites and find the hours sobe "enlivened with such a clatter of horse-shoes, and such a rattle of musketry, and such a stir of talk."

The fact is that we select our thrills. Few of them come to us, if we want them, we must make them.

How many lives there are that are a veritable network of thrills. The late Theodore Roosevelt was a bundle of thrills unto himself—and he thrived his nation and the world as well, and got the fun of a boy out of it.

Much of all that we are is but a state of mind, after all. We think ourselves into success and happiness.

We get the things that we want more than anything else in the world because we keep wanting them. And when we have wanted them hard enough, we either get them, or we aren't worthy of them anyway—and so miss out.

Burns was thrilled over the flower that looked up at him from his feet as he walked through the meadow, and over the field mouse that the plough released from its nest.

And who is there who is worthy or less than that to catch the thrills that Keats and Shelley gathered to themselves?

Take this single stanza from Shelley's "Ode to the West Wind"—

Drive my dead thoughts over the universe
 Like withered leaves to quicken a new birth;
 And, by the incantation of this verse,
 Scatter, as from an incense-burner, a host,
 A thousand, aye, ten thousand times as many,
 As do thy everspring and unfurling
 The leaves of the one-germ seed:
 Thy soul lies fallow, but these are the Bare fallow, and the bare fallow
 The seed-time brings, and so it always
 Will be when the more sovran
 Breath blows, and the bare fallow
 Is tilled, and the furrow Sows the seed, and the bare fallow
 Brings to the furrow, and the furrow Brings to the seed, and the seed
 Brings to the harvest, and the harvest
 Brings to the sheaf, and the sheaf
 Brings to the stack, and the stack
 Brings to the barn, and the barn
 Brings to the granary, and the granary
 Brings to the mill, and the mill
 Brings to the millstone, and the millstone
 Brings to the mill-dust, and the mill-dust
 Brings to the mill-race, and the mill-race
 Brings to the mill-wheel, and the mill-wheel
 Brings to the mill-stream, and the mill-stream Brings to the mill-dam, and the mill-dam
 Brings to the mill-pond, and the mill-pond
 Brings to the mill-lake, and the mill-lake
 Brings to the mill-sea, and the mill-sea
 Brings to the mill-ocean, and the mill-ocean
 Brings to the mill-universe, and the mill-universe

Drive my dead thoughts over the universe like withered leaves to quicken a new birth! And, by the incantation of this verse, Scatter, as from an incense-burner, a host, a thousand, aye, ten thousand times as many, as do thy everspring and unfurling the leaves of the one-germ seed: Thy soul lies fallow, but these are the bare fallow, and the bare fallow the seed-time brings, and so it always will be when the more sovran breath blows, and the bare fallow is tilled, and the furrow sows the seed, and the seed brings to the harvest, and the harvest brings to the sheaf, and the sheaf brings to the stack, and the stack brings to the barn, and the barn brings to the granary, and the granary brings to the mill, and the mill brings to the millstone, and the millstone brings to the mill-dust, and the mill-dust brings to the mill-race, and the mill-race brings to the mill-wheel, and the mill-wheel brings to the mill-stream, and the mill-stream brings to the mill-dam, and the mill-dam brings to the mill-pond, and the mill-pond brings to the mill-lake, and the mill-lake brings to the mill-sea, and the mill-sea brings to the mill-ocean, and the mill-ocean brings to the mill-universe, and the mill-universe brings to the mill-eternity.

Four photographs have been taken of the fight between the two men. They are taken from the ring. They are taken from the crowd. They are taken from the press box. They are taken from the balcony.

The fight of the moment is ending in what ought to be called shameful butchery. George West, who has been beating the other man is beating him in the face. The poor guy does not seem to know how to fall. One man says the referee is a young fellow. "Are you all in?" The bloody face looks "yes," and the referee stops the fight. It is necessary to show respect for humanity, and the time is an important matter of this kind.

FEIGERT LEAVES SPUDDERS JOINS FLINT, MICH., CLUB

Earl (Lefty) Feigert, pitcher obtained from the Pittsburgh Nationals early in the season, left Friday morning to report to the Flint, Mich. club of the Michigan-Ontario League.

The Spudders returned him to Pittsburgh from whom he had been secured on option and the Pirates in turn turned him out to the Flint club.

Since joining the Spudders Feigert has had considerable trouble with his left arm and for several weeks was under the care of a physician. He never was able to get the "kink" out of his arm although in the past week or 10 days he was able to do some relief hurling.

Feigert is a hard worker and in an effort to get his arm in condition spent nearly an hour every day in the ball pen. Thursday afternoon while chasing fly balls in the outfield during batting and fielding practice he succumbed to the heat of the sun and had to be carried from the field.

After being revived he stated that he felt no ill-effects today with it a new record for fight crowds anywhere in the world. More than 10,000, according to the promoters' estimate, thronged to overflow the great bowl at Boyle's Thirty Acres and around 25,000 more were turned away in the last hours rush for the gates.

Willard and Firpo will draw down slightly more than half of the "gate," 20 per cent for the former champion and 22 for the South American, but even so Tex Rickard reaped a tidy profit and paved the way for a still greater attraction, Jack Dempsey-Louis Firpo encounter for the world's title.

Figured on the $400,000 estimate, Willard's share will be about $130,000 and Firpo's $100,000. Other expenses of promotion, purses for remaining fighters on the program and repairs to the arena will cut heavily into Rickard's profits.

The scale of prices was among the lowest on record for an attraction of the show's calibre. It ranged from $1.00 to $18.85 with a large bulk of the seats, about 20,000, selling at $1 and $2.

New Record For Bout Attendance Thursday Night

NEW YORK, July 13.—The "gate" of the "fight of the century" led into prize ring history today with it a new record for fight crowds anywhere in the world. More than 10,000, according to the promoters' estimate, thronged to overflow the great bowl at Boyle's Thirty Acres and around 25,000 more were turned away in the last hours rush for the gates.

American Legion Scrappers Are Undismayed By Fact of Bouts Coming On Friday the Thirteenth at Lake

Friday the 13th!
Not a very lucky day for prize fighters, or anyone else for that matter. But superstition will not bother the American Legion fighters who are billed in the 23 rounds of boxing at Lake Wichita Friday night. The new open air arena, especially built for the fights, was completed yesterday afternoon and the battlers are ready to go.

"Red" Byrd, Oklahoma champion, who is billed to meet Sailor Grisham in the main event, has been working out for two weeks for the fight, and is in the picture of condition and confidence. His long string of wins would seem enough to give any leather pusher confidence, but he realizes that he has a real scrapper to meet Grisham, who missed things in the navy by beating all the welterweight scrappers in his fleet, is an old hand at the game, and a hard hitting side stepping boxer of the rounds at the end of the long preliminary schedule.

Cowboy Rodgers, a 154-pound heavyweight, is going to try again to beat Anderson Martin, who won their last bout on a decision. The challenge was given on a fight which was a six-round affair. Both the big boys are hard hitting scrappers of the old school and a half dozen stanzas of fast whipping is promised.

The semi-windup is an eight-round melee between Kid Snyder, a Burk Burnett favorite and will be followed here by a large number of Burk Burnett fight fans who are anxious to see him dispose of his last little opponent. Savage is a local favorite who has successfully disposed of all but one of his odds look out even for the bout.

Six Round Go Feature.

A feature bout of the program is the six round go between the battling J. B. Jennings, Henrietta leather pusher par excellence, and Sailor Williams. Jennings, a hard hitter who started in the game when he was in the service during the war, is a finished fighter and one of the best ring men in the welter class of the southwest, while his opponent is a navy scrapper who brings a good reputation with him from the coast where he has beaten a lot of the first raters at 150 pounds. Jennings challenged the Pat Carrigan post of the American Legion in general and was matched with Willie Williams. He is backed by the Henrietta legion and has a little the best of the match, according to the promoters. Although his opponent is an experienced fighter and a slugger.

"Peg" Ramsey, sensational one-legged wrestler, Burk Burnett, who has a record of victories that is as long as his strong arm, will meet Red Finger of Wichita Falls in the one wrestling match of the night, the mat men working 10 minutes for a fall between preliminary fight events. Ramsey, in spite of his one limb, is the favored wrestler of the two.

Cyclone Dollar of Tulsa, Okla., will meet Sailor Richardson in a four-round bout.

Dr. E. F. Reed, Henrietta ex-serviceman and sportsman, who has refereed many professional bouts, will be the third man in the ring in all the fights on the program.

The new open air arena, with a seating capacity of 2,000, is expected to be completely filled for the fights. Tickets are on sale at Stocker's Smoke Shop and at Hurley Fletcher's barber shop.

Accident Puts Boxer to Sleep Is Counted Out

NEW ORLEANS, July 13.—A variation of that same occurrence in pugilism—the knocking out of a boxer by himself—was reported from Monroe, La., where Swell Paul of Lawton, Oklahoma, put himself to sleep long enough for the referee to count 10 and award the decision to his opponent.

It was a scheduled 12-round bout with Grady Franklin of Shreveport and the feature of the evening's program. The first round had been under way less than two minutes when, breaking out of a clinch, Paul aimed a healthy right swing at Franklin. Paul failed to register, lost his balance, and as he fell his chin struck Franklin's knee. The Oklahoman was unconscious when he reached the floor and Referee Kenneth Elliott counted him out.

BASEBALL TRADE RUMOR UNFOUNDED HARVEY DECLARES

The curbstone baseball managers and magnates have consummated a trade which would take away one of the mainstays of the Spudders team and bring back two players from Fort Worth and $2,000.

President R. O. Harvey, however, has not as yet been advised of the trade and for that reason it is rumored that the alleged trade is nothing but a rumor started from somewhere and by some one unknown here.

It is stated, however, that the Fort Worth management did propose a trade. It was to be an even trade, a man for a man, but no consideration was given the offer by the local club.

NAME INSCRIBED IN HALL OF FAME SINGLE SCORES 3

CLEVELAND, July 13.—The name of Walter "Rube" Lutzke, third baseman of the Cleveland Indians today is inscribed in the baseball hall of fame. He gained the honor by scoring three men with a single yesterday in a game with Philadelphia.

The bases were full, two men were out and the count stood three balls and two strikes on Lutzke. With the next pitch, all of the runners were off and Lutzke connected for a single to center. Records here show that only ten other American League players have executed the play since 1910, and only five since 1914. The latter were Les Nunamaker, Oscar Vitte, Duffy Lewis, Ray Deming and Buck Weaver.

"Kitty" Bransfield, Jack Miller, Sherwood Magee, "Guvvy" Casavath and "Irish" Meigs are the National Leaguers to accomplish the feat.

WILLARD IS KNOCKED OUT BY FIRPO IN THE EIGHTH ROUND

Former Champion Fights Gamely But Is Unable to Withstand the Blows Showered By Luis Firpo

NEW YORK, July 12. (AP)—Luis Firpo from Argentina last night knocked out Jess Willard of Kansas, and today was shaking his fist in the face of Champion Jack Dempsey and challenging his right to the heavyweight crown of the world.

The knockout came in the eighth round, one minute and fifty-five seconds after the round began.

The South American rushed his heavier opponent to the ropes with an attack as furious as any he has ever made in the heavy-weight class to the jaw, sent the giant Kansas to his knees in his own corner, and before he had time to get his feet under him, he had landed the fatal count of ten had been given.

"One," counted the referee, "two," "three," "four," "five," "six," "seven," "eight," "nine," "ten," "Willard is down!"

Willard's eyes were closed, his head fell forward, and he remained motionless.

"Two—three—four—five—"

Willard's eyes opened, but he was unable to rise. He was counted out by the referee at the end of the eighth round.

Buenos Aires Is Proud of Firpo

BUENOS AIRES, July 12.—Tumultuous enthusiasm, the like of which Buenos Aires seldom has known before, followed the receipt of the news of Luis Angel Firpo's victory over Jess Willard. Great crowds marched through the streets shouting and singing and making impromptu torches out of twisted newspapers.

The result was announced here one minute after the referee had counted out Willard in the ring at Boyle's Thirty Acres at Jersey City.

Crowds of boxing fans gathered before the newspaper buildings to hear early in the evening. The police were forced to their greatest efforts to maintain order.

The first great demonstration occurred when it was announced that the ring-side betting was two-to-one in favor of the Argentine. The crowd roared "viva Firpo" and sang loudly.

THE WINNER

LUIS FIRPO

600 people were still outside festering for the fight. This was news that brought another smile to Tex Rickard's smoothly shaven countenance.

William Muldoon, chairman of the New York state boxing commission, looking like the picture of a stern old Roman senator, came down the aisle with majestic stride and took a ring-side seat. He is 88 years young and was at heavyweights fighting long before many of the spectators in the huge crowd were born. Scores of celebrities stopped to shake hands with the dean of the world of sport.

At Brighton, England, substitute for Young Bob Fitzsimmons and went through eight jolly rounds with Tom Roper, of Chicago. The pair put on a tough struggle match. Tom in the third round displaying the first blood of the evening. Roper came back strong in the last three rounds and had the better of the night.

A lot of women were among the early arrivals and they had the good sense to bring picnic baskets full of grub with them. They dined at freedom in their seats. Some of the women not so far advanced looked on anxiously.

A hand climbed onto the ring and set among the ring ropes and other paraphernalia still hoisted on the ropes. Jack Kearns, Jack Dempsey's manager, was there, red hot from Montana, and still thinking a lot of things you can't print about the promoters out there yonder, who are doubtless retreating by thinking about Jack.

The newspaper writers, many of them just back from Shelby, held a session in the press section of the ring. A lot of western writers came on direct from the field of battle in Montana to see this fight.

Mayor Frank Hague looked at the crowd—over from his box and seemed pleased with what he saw. Irving K. Goble, ex-Fedora, Kentucky, was seen spread out over the chair and a ball not far from where Eddie Foy, the comedian, sat with his wife.

There was plenty of society—society of all kinds. The Long Island set that goes in for Meadowbrook and polo, and all that sort of thing, rubbed elbows with the Long Island set that merely owns polo dogs.

Former Governor James M. Cox, of Ohio, was reported inside with a party. Governor Smith, of Vermont, was another official reported on hand. State Treasurer McMahon, of New York, added to the official tons. John E. Madden, the Kentucky barman, and Charles Sabitt, the banker, were said to be among those present.

Mickey Walker, the welterweight champion of all states except New York, sat with Mayor Hague and presumably explained the neat points of the pastime.

Hill Waddy came in and as he struggled to his press seat said:

"You are cordially invited TO THE West Texas Cotton & Grain Exchange Waggoner Building GROUND FLOOR COTTON GRAIN STOCKS BONDS"

Wiltord McDaniel, owner and manager, Member New Orleans Cotton Exchange

when Willard's tall form appeared above the ropes. He was half way through the ropes and left him in a sitting posture on the edge of the ring. The Detroit boxer crawled languidly back into the ring, but never rose from his knees until after Joe Jannette, negro pugilist, who was refereeing the match, had counted 10.

Firpo was looking mighty serious. His black hair was brushed up pompadour fashion. He listened with a scowl as De Forest whispered in his ear. The man wore their boxing gloves when they came in and there was very little preliminary. Jess was introduced by Humphreys as "the veteran Kansas," and another demonstration broke out. Firpo was presented as the champion of the Argentine and got little applause compared to Jess.

The fight was announced as 345 and Firpo as 314. Henry Lewis, the referee, a big, black-haired man in white flannels, was also introduced. Willard wore green trunks, which clung close to his body. He wore a pair of boxing gloves of purple silk, with his initials monogrammed on one leg. As they posed for a picture Firpo—never glanced at Jess and Willard didn't look at Firpo.

An interpreter stood at Firpo's elbow and instructed the fighters. The program as originally arranged called for Johnson to meet Jack McAuliffe II, of Detroit just before the main bout. But this was switched at the last minute so that it formed an epilogue to the chief attraction, the idea being that part of the 100,000 would depart after the Willard-Firpo go and the rest would linger for the lesser show.

This would have been all very well if Johnson had not knocked out McAuliffe very dramatically, one minute and four seconds after they began fighting. This upset all the dope for McAuliffe had lasted three rounds against Luis Firpo at the milk fund bouts held recently in the Yankee stadium. If the Johnson-McAuliffe fight had not been an anti-climax, it would have attracted more attention for it was a brief but startling episode of the ring. Johnson jumped into the fight at the very start and began battering his opponent around the ring in a few seconds he had him flat on his back. His head hit the canvas like a pile driver. He got up but the fight was all knocked out.

The crowd fell silent during this bout, as Babe Goldberg remarked, "Richard and Firpo would go on next, Johnson and McAuliffe last, this scheme being employed to dribble the crowd out. The same plan was employed at the Dempsey-Carpenter fight, but only because a threatened rain hastened the big bout.

Charles Nashert and George West were the six rounders. West being a smiling Englishman. They weighed 140 pounds each. George had not out of his corner all night and tried to make it quick, but Nashert made an expression of pain to a spasm of the chin.

The crowd finally decided it did not care for this bout, and withdrew unseeingly. Finally the folks in the distant tiers began yelling. This expression of displeasure brought an expression of pain to the mobile features of Dumb Dan Morgan, who was seconding Nashert.

Eddie Dugan finally stopped the matter after Nashert had outpunched West by a wide margin in the fourth round, and that brought cheers from the multitude.

Joe Smollett dashed about yelling "Richard estimates the crowd at 100,000," ten thousand more than the Dempsey-Carpenter fight.

At 10:10 Luis Firpo in the checkered bathrobe that is the mark of the Argentine, climbed into the ring with his trainer, Jimmy De Forest behind, the inevitable cigar butt lightly clenched between his teeth. DeForest wore the same lion's white cap he wore behind Dempsey at Toledo.

Firpo, looking very serious, got a good hand, but the real demonstration broke out at a moment later.

of him and in another instant Johnson was on him, half way through the ropes and left him in a sitting posture on the edge of the ring. The Detroit boxer crawled languidly back into the ring, but never rose from his knees until after Joe Jannette, negro pugilist, who was refereeing the match, had counted 10.

After the Fight

BOYLES THIRTY ACRES, JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 12.—There is little for me to say. I fought a good game hard-hitting young fellow and he beat me. I did the best I could, but it wasn't good enough and I have fought my last fight.

It is certainly a terrible disappointment to me but life is full of those things.

Up to the time Firpo hit me hard in the fatal eighth round I thought I would surely wear him down and win. For years they've always said youth would take age into camp and you can rest assured.

It is a heartbreaker for me but I did the best I could, but it wasn't good enough. I did everything I could to win but my legs wouldn't help my body. It is a tragedy for me to rest there and hear a count without being able to help myself. It is the fortune of war and I must bow to the inevitable.

As far as Firpo's future is concerned, it is full of grand prospects. He is a good student of fighting and clever than many give him credit for. He has a lot to learn, I know, but he will learn. Whether he will beat Dempsey, it would be foolish for me to say right now. He will give the champlion a terrific battle, but it might be worth his while to wait before he tackles Dempsey.

I have no regrets. In a way, for I have no regrets. I always did my best and had the chance of my life in this fight. All I can say is I no complaints. All I can say is I no complaints. All I can say is I no complaints. All I can say is I no complaints. All I can say is I no complaints.

PIGGLY WIGGLY

"Whoever could make two cents of corn or two blades of grass grow, where only one grew before, would deserve better of mankind and do more service to his country than the whole race of politicians put together."—Swift.

It is the old story—the man who can make with the same energy, in the same length of time, two blades of grass grow where one grew before, has a greater value to society.

The same is true of the man who sells. The man who can sell one hundred pairs of shoes in a day is one hundred times more valuable than the man who can sell only one pair of shoes a day.

In a PIGGLY WIGGLY store one hundred people can help themselves in the same time that it would take to wait on ten people in any other store.

The PIGGLY WIGGLY system saves not only time but it saves money, energy and health.

GROCERY-MARKET DEPARTMENT

COTTON MARKET

New York Cotton

NEW YORK, July 12.—The cotton market opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 7 points on overnight buying orders which appeared to be based on apprehensions of drought damage to the crop in the southwest. There was some buying for the first opening of the stock market but the demand seemed to be quite readily supplied at about the opening quotations, and prices soon turned easier under liquidation. A private trader was promoted by a private trader placing the mid-month condition of the crop at 71.5 or about 4 points better than the two reports previously issued. October contracts closed off from 21.5 to 21.5 with the active months ruling about 4 to 5 points net lower during the early trading.

Reports of prospects for increased New England mill output were also a factor in the early setback but the market firmed up later on buying by buyers who evidently felt that the improvement in crop prospects during the first half of July would be the best of the season. Drought in the southwest continued, with the active months showing net advances of 2 to 3 points but of 4 to 5 points in the early trading. The market showed reactions of several points from the start of trading. The close was strong, with the official forecast of 71.5 for the active months. October contracts closed at 21.5 at mid-day or 5 points net higher.

Detailed weather reports showing very high temperatures in Texas and Oklahoma led to renewed covering in the early afternoon and prices were steady around 21.5. July selling at 21.5, showed a net decline of 4 points but new crop positions to 18 points. The net higher with October selling at 21.5.

NEW ORLEANS, July 12.—Poor news and a private bureau mid-month report of 71.5 for the active months caused a decline of 1 to 2 points in the price of cotton around the opening today but the market soon strengthened on further talk of high temperatures in the western belt and complaints of insect damage in south Texas. At the end of the first hour the active months were 21.5 to 14 to 20 points higher than the close of yesterday. October, after trading down to 21.5, worked up to 22.4.

At the highest of the morning the trading months were 22 to 20 points up. Reports of a somewhat easier spot basis in Texas for August and heavy working against values mid-month at 11 o'clock October, stood at 22.1.

Steadiness in the stock market and the bullish showing in Texas gave the market pronounced strength late in the session. Toward 11:30 o'clock prices were 21.5 to 20 points up net with October at 22.7. The world's visible supply of American cotton fell to 2,245,000 bales against 2,215,000 a year ago and 2,125,000 two years ago.

Future closed very steady at net advances of 11 to 11 points.

NEW ORLEANS Spot Cotton. NEW ORLEANS, July 12.—Spot cotton, steady, 11 points higher. Sales on the spot 110 to arrive, 11.65; middling, 11.65; good middling, 11.75; receipts 64; stock 11,125.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Local Grain Market. Wheat, receipts light; basis No. 1. 1.10; No. 2, 1.05; receipts nominal. Basis No. 1 44 cents.

Chicago Grain Market. CHICAGO, July 12.—Wheat moved upward a little in price today during the early trading, influenced chiefly by some falling off in the volume of hedging sales and optimism in various quarters as to a settlement of the reparations problem. The market had a solid-out appearance and even ardent buyers seemed disposed to show caution in view of recent sharp declines. Recommendations that winter wheat acreage be reduced tended further to strengthen the market, according to opinions of some traders. Opening quotations which varied from unchanged to 1/2 cent higher, were 1.05 1/2 to 1.05 1/2. We were followed by a moderate general advance with July and September both rising above 1.05.

STOCKS AND FINANCIAL

Coffee Market.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Coffee, Rio de Janeiro, futures steady; July 12, December 1.12.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Speculative sentiment was somewhat unsettled for the opening of today's stock market but most of the standard industrial and railroad stocks tended toward higher ground. Initial gains of 1 to 1 1/2 points were recorded by American Car, American Can, and Corn were products while U. S. Steel, Standard Oil, and American Locomotive opened fractionally higher. Some of the minor oils were heavy.

Early trading was rather listless with price changes generally unimportant. There was a moderate demand for the steel equipment and automotive shares. American Car and American Can, American Locomotive, and American Locomotive were heavy.

ANDERSON RESIGNS THURSDAY AS CITY TAX COLLECTOR

H. J. Anderson, who has been associated with the city and county tax offices for the past ten years and city tax collector for the past four years, filed his resignation as city tax assessor and collector with Mayor Frank Collier Thursday afternoon. The resignation will be formally submitted to the council for action at the regular meeting Monday night.

Mr. Anderson became associated with the city tax office in 1923 and served in that office until his appointment as deputy collector in the county office. Following the resignation of Harry Robertson in February, 1934, Mr. Anderson was appointed to serve the unexpired term, as city tax assessor and collector. In the following year he was elected without opposition and has held the office by appointment since that time.

Mr. Anderson made the statement that he had formed a business connection in this city and would continue to make his home in Wichita Falls. His resignation will become effective on or about August 1 and an announcement of his plans for the future will be made at that time. Several applications to serve the city as Mr. Anderson's successor have been filed with the clerk. The applications will be presented to the council Monday night and it is probable that an appointment will be made at that time.

UNITED STORE MOVES INTO NEW LOCATION FRIDAY A. M.

The United one-cent to one dollar store, formerly located at 111 Indiana avenue, opened for business Friday morning in new quarters at 217 Indiana avenue, the store space which was used by Salomon & Neri and adjoins the Kimberlin-Smith ready-to-wear store.

The store opened its door at 10 o'clock to a large crowd who inspected the new location and much enlarged stock and received carnations and cold drinks as compliments of the management.

The store has been remodeled and a balcony built the full length of the building. A fresh and greatly enlarged stock is now offered. J. D. Bivins, manager of the store, stated Friday morning.

Wichitans Will Attend McAdoo Meet at Dallas

It is expected that several Wichitans will attend a meeting in Dallas Saturday in behalf of the candidacy of W. G. McAdoo for the Democratic nomination for the presidency. Mr. McAdoo has not announced his candidacy, but a number of his friends in all parts of the country are becoming active for him.

In response to a telegram from the Times asking for particulars concerning the meeting announced for Saturday, Marshall Hicks of San Antonio, who called the meeting, wired the Times as follows:

"McAdoo meeting will be held at ten o'clock Saturday morning at Adolphus Hotel, Dallas. Widespread interest has been manifested in the meeting and all friends and supporters of McAdoo are urged to be present."

Among those from Wichita Falls who may attend are W. F. Weick and K. M. Griswold. There will probably be others.

Mr. McAdoo has visited Wichita Falls several times and has many personal friends here and many admirers who would like to see him present.

W. R. Kinney of Fort Worth, traveling freight and passenger agent for the B. & O. railroad, was a business visitor in the city Thursday.

ORDERS RELEASE OF WOMAN; MUST VISIT PHYSICIAN

Upon conclusion of the habeas corpus hearing Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Judge F. A. Martin of the 19th district court ordered Mrs. Elithal Crain released from the county jail, but asked her to choose some reputable physician to whom she must report in order to take the treatment as prescribed by the county health officer, provided such treatment is deemed necessary by the physician chosen.

The court held that there was not sufficient testimony on hand to determine whether Mrs. Crain was suffering with a malady but held that the statute held that the county officer was invested with the authority to order treatment in cases where he was reasonably certain.

Mrs. Crain selected Dr. M. M. Walker as her physician and Judge Martin then ordered her release from the county jail, subject to her promise to visit Dr. Walker.

The woman was placed under arrest upon complaint of Dr. Jop Frank Clark last Wednesday morning and during the day the woman sued out a writ of habeas corpus, asking to be released on grounds of illegal restraint.

Mrs. Crain, joined by her husband, instituted a $15,000 damage suit against the county health officer and Sheriff Murphy for alleged defamation of her character.

W. M. Fore of Memphis, Texas, and his son, W. L. Fore, of Los Angeles, California, have returned to Memphis after a visit of several days with the former's brother, J. S. Fore, and daughter, W. L. Fore is a member of the city police force at Los Angeles.

TRAFFIC VIOLATIONS, DRUNKENNESS, AFFRAY, CASES IN CITY COURT

Traffic violations caused seven offenders to say "good morning, judge" in the city court Friday morning on charges of driving with poorly lighted vehicles, reckless driving, and speeding. Fines of $5 and $10 were assessed in the cases where a penalty was given; several cases were dismissed.

Four charges of drunkenness, affray, and disturbing the peace were also brought up for trial. A fine of $1 was assessed against a negro boy who was responsible for a disturbance in a Seventh street barber shop late Thursday afternoon. The boy escaped from the officers and was later arrested and brought to trial. Fines totalling $10 were collected in the cases that were heard.

WICHITA FALLS HEALTH DEPARTMENT RECOMMENDS USE OF FLY-FLU

To whom it may concern: I have just witnessed a thorough demonstration of Fly-Flu, by Mr. Nethery in various places of business in this city. Bunches were snatched from cracks and crevices in restaurant kitchens by the thousands and flies in countless demonstrations were made.

I have never seen any kind of insect powder or destroyer which approaches Fly-Flu in merit and I most heartily endorse its use about every premise infested with any kind of insect life.

Respectfully,
A. H. DOUGLASS,
(Signed) Director of Health Dept.—Adv.

Cord of Thanks: We wish to thank our many friends for their kindness and sympathy during the illness and death of our darling baby; for the beautiful floral offerings and for the words of consolation spoken, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Kenny.—Adv.
