Friends of Wood Charge Resignations Move to Confuse Washington

MANTILA, July 25.—The chaotic political situation here, marked recently by the resignation of all the principal native officials of the Philippine government and by a legislative request that Governor General Leonard Wood be recalled, was in a more muddled state today following the resignation last night of six appointive representatives and senators of the legislature.

The late group to quit as a result of differences between Governor General Wood and Filipino officials, explained they wished to give the governor an opportunity to fill the positions with legislators who would not embarrass him.

ASK INCREASE PEACE TIME REGULAR ARMY

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Increase of the peace time regular army of 15,000 officers and 150,000 men in order to permit all year round instructions of civilians components of the army of the United States is urged in a resolution adopted unanimously by the national council of the reserve association which met in Indianapolis July 14-15. The resolutions were received today by Secretary Weeks and sent to the war department budget committee which is laboring with next year's estimates.

Action of the reserve officers was not disclosed at the time although the resolutions provide that all members of congress receive copies. The declaration of the regular army was made in view of the indications that an effort will be made at the next session of congress to reduce the present strength of the regular estimate.

LOWER TREND FRUITS VEGETABLE PRICES

CHICAGO, July 25.—A lower price trend for fruits and vegetables except cantaloupes was observed during the third week of July, according to the weekly review of bureau of agricultural economist, chiefly due to liberal supplies. Even water-melons, the supply of which has been only half of that for 1922, but now being shipped in excess of last July shipments, with jobbing prices 80 to 75 per cent above the marks for last year and in 1921, showed a downward trend, although little change was noted at Georgia, Alabama and Texas shipping points.

HEAVY DAMAGE FROM FLOODS IN WYOMING BIG HORN RIVER

CASPER, WYO., July 25.—More complete reports early this morning on flooding conditions in northern Wyoming were that late last night water was rising at Thermopila, 80 miles north of here, and that many houses were flooded. Water from the Big Horn river it was said, was nearly up to the top of the rail on the Chicago, Burlington and Quebec railroad at the depot. This is one of the highest points in the city.

TWO RESIDENCES AT NOCONA BURNED TUESDAY AT NOON

NOCONA, TEXAS, July 24.—The residence of W. M. Leonard, assistant cashier of the Farmers and Merchants National Bank in this city, was burned yesterday at noon. The fire caught from an oil stove. Very little furniture was saved from the home. The loss is about $4,000 with some insurance.

UNION OF METHODISTS FORECASTED IN 1925

CLEVELAND, July 25.—Reunion of the northern and southern of the Methodist Episcopal Church existing since 1845, was declared to be practically assured when members of the joint commission on unification convened today.

The commission had before it a plan of union drafted by a joint commission of states, eight from each branch, which was approved by the northern and southern branches in separate meetings yesterday. The action of these commissions has made possible a United church by 1925, Dr. A. W. Harris, general secretary of the board of education of the northern branch and secretary of its unification committee, declared today.

The plan requires the changing by each branch of its constitution to provide for the merger of the general conferences of the divisions, which heretofore have held separate meetings every four years. Both general conferences of the divisions of the church must ratify the changes.

WEATHER CONDITIONS WILL DETERMINE YIELD OF COTTON

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The weekly weather and crop review issued today by the department of agriculture contains the following on southern crops: Cotton. The temperature was below normal during most of the week in the cotton belt and considerable cloudy rainy weather prevailed in the central portion. In general the progress and conditions were good to very good in the northern, border and parts of Oklahoma and parts of Arkansas and also in the more eastern districts except in Florida.

Spent Fortune in Search

"I spent $1,000 in seven years treating with physicians, some specialists costing me $10 a visit, only to find at last that nothing could be done for me, that I had cancer of the stomach. The stomach felt awful pains in my stomach, but after taking a few doses of Mary's Wonderful Remedy these all disappeared and for three years I am feeling fine." Europe Facing Grave Times Congressman Freer Declares In Berlin Enroute to Russia

By KAREL H. VON WIRGAND Universal Service Staff Correspondent. BERLIN, July 24.—"Europe, and more especially central Europe, is facing grave times, if what one hears on every side can be taken as a true criterion of the situation," said Congressman James Freer of Wisconsin to Universal Service today.

Mr. Freer is on his way to Russia as a member of the unofficial congressional commission which will study conditions in the soviet republic on the ground. Other members of the commission will gather here for the visit to Russia.

"During the last six weeks," said Mr. Freer, "I have been studying matters of taxation and economics in the different countries we have visited. I have talked with many people, from presidents and statesmen to guides and ordinary citizens wherever and whenever possible."

"The economic and political rapings of Austria is another Pandora's box she is able to value only one-third of the food stuffs she needs and yet she is prevented by hostile neighbors from commercial intercourse with them. Her situation seems practically hopeless, unless sentiment changes."

"An official, whose judgment generally would be accepted, said to me in Vienna that a revolution would have occurred in Austria during the past year, with wide spread possibilities, but for the loan of $100,000,000 guaranteed by the allies."

"At Geneva, though, the terms of the Austrian loan are declared exorbitant. I spent a day at Montreux, interviewing Sir Arthur Salter, who negotiated the Austrian loan. Manley O. Hudson, the United States ambassador to Geneva, also was interviewed. He said that the labor representative were there and they expressed hope that the League of Nations would be able to work with the conditions in Europe, and discussed some of its commitments."

"The Versailles treaty is so deep seated and widespread that I am looking for a haven more peaceful and tranquil—we will leave for Russia with the unofficial party this week."

"The jealousies and rivalries of 1914 among the now fallen monarchies were not so serious, in my mind, as the bitterness and bitterness now exist throughout Europe among the new and changing governments."

"From far and wide in all manner of containers, the subjects have arrived—in several instances accompanied by letters explaining that they were caught on foreign premises. The shipping experiment itself has suggested one means of extermination as a great proportion died in transit."

Call For Bedbugs Quickly Brings An Over Supply

WASHINGTON, July 25.—A public spirited response to the recent announcement of the insecticide laboratory that it would pay one cent each for 1,200 bed bugs, in sound condition, has over supplied the demand. The department announced today that it had received more than enough specimens to carry on its tests of various insecticides which apparently have yet some fields to conquer.

From far and wide in all manner of containers, the subjects have arrived—in several instances accompanied by letters explaining that they were caught on foreign premises. The shipping experiment itself has suggested one means of extermination as a great proportion died in transit."

The Queen of Sin Spectacular Film Strand Wednesday

Do you believe in Queens? Does a dream warn you of anything? Whether it does or not, the dream which Laura Wendland has in 'The Queen of Sin,' which is playing at the Strand Theater this week will interest you.

The Queen of Sin is without a doubt one of the biggest spectacle pictures ever filmed. Enormous sets, destruction of cities, floods, wicked queens, hundreds of people, in fact everything that goes to make up a spectacular play, as demanded by the movie-loving public today.

Mr. Nutt met his father and other relatives in Fort Worth, and the trip was made by automobile from that point, with stops at Austin, San Antonio, adding to the cost of the return by way of the Comcho river, where the main part of the filming was done.

M. E. NUTT RETURNS FROM TRIP TO COAST

M. E. Nutt of Salmond and Nutt, has returned from a vacation trip to Corpus Christi and intermediate points, and states that most comfortable weather was encountered most of the time.

Rome's seven hills have nothing on Oakland's one lake.

Ask any Oaklander. He will grant that Rome's hills are the most famous in the world, but will offset this by pointing out that Oakland's lake and adjacent park is the prettiest fresh-water marine setting in the world.

Soon the wonders of this lake, Lake Merritt, will be broadcast by an annual festival which is to be predicted, will rival the Mardi Gras of New Orleans, the Portland Rose Show and similar yearly events.

The League del Fiesta will center, as do all Oakland lake festivals, around Lake Merritt.

Rats and boats will transport the merry-makers and attractions such as floating band concerts, pageants and festival-time spectacles.

However, the whole city will join in the week of festivity, early in September, and in costume and pageants will "put back" to the days when all the present site of Oakland was owned by Don Peralta, retired soldier of the Spanish crown.

Thus Oakland's one lake may become the mecca for a yearly pilgrimage of fun-loving people from all parts of the nation.

At the University of California library, Berkeley, there is a certain shelf reserved for faculty members and prohibited to students.

On this shelf are Balzac's "Droll Stories," Gautier's "Mademoiselle de Maupin," John Payne's unappreciated edition of "The Arabian Nights" and other similar volumes.

Recently a college student was seen to pause before this shelf, gaze at the titles for a moment and then ask a companion:

"How long do you have to be here before you're ready for higher education?"

The Chinaman, who is not so sleepy by any means as sometimes pictured, is quick to catch the value of American-style advertising—but slower to catch the psychology of the American housewife.

Recently these appeared in an Oakland paper a large advertisement by a Chinese herb specialist containing a testimonial from "An American Housewife."

After telling how she had been cured by Chinese herbs, the lady concluded:

And now I can again use my arms perfectly, and can sweep, scrub and cook. No one can realize how happy I am.

Which may or may not induce other afflicted housewives to try Chinese herbs.

C. Greenberry Dorey, manager of the California Development Association exhibit in the Ferry building, doesn't know whether to put iron bars over the windows or a bar and sawdust on the floor.

An important part of the exhibit consists of fruits, vegetables and nuts preserved in fluids.

Not long ago all the grain alcohol disappeared from a small jar containing silk worms and cocoons. Dorey charged it up to Volstead and let it go at that.

But recently a large glass jar of yellow pears preserved in a solution of citric and sulphuric acid was opened and the contents confiscated.

"If this keeps up," lamonia Dorey says, "I'll have to hire a special watchman—or a bartender. I don't know which."

BUMPER CROP OF RECORDS IN SIGHT IN BIG LEAGUES

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Major league baseball promised to produce another bumper crop of unusual achievements this year if the first three months of the combination can be taken as a criterion.

Among the variety of brilliant performances, these high marks so far this year have been written into the game's annals:

Cobb's lifetime run scoring record, which on May 24 reached 1,741 for a fraction over 18 seasons, eclipsing the total of 1,740 amassed by Hans Wagner in twenty years.

Ever Alexander's achievement in twirling 51 innings without leaving a base on balls, a mark of ten home runs for a single game, set by St. Louis Cardinals and Phillies on May 11, and the new American League standard for single game run scoring when Cleveland overwhelmed Boston, 27 to 3 on July 7.

One mark that stands out as close to impregnable is Babe Ruth's record of 59 home runs, established in 1921. Ruth, as well as his rival sluggers, this season are well behind the record.

Other noteworthy feats recorded so far include: Six hits in six times at bat by Jacques Fournier, of Brooklyn; passing of the 1,000 mark in consecutive games by Everett Scott, Yankee shortstop; 15 batsmen struck out by Dazzy Vance, of Brooklyn, in game with the Giants; 25 scores in innings pitched by Coveleskie of Cleveland.

First Round In Singles Completed Tuesday In City Tennis Tournament; Doubles Matches to Start Thursday

Some good exhibitions of net play were shown during the first day of the Fourth Annual City Tennis tournament Tuesday, when all but a few of the first preliminary matches were played off. Of the first round, the two matches to be played Wednesday will be at the Municipal sports, John Ray Duke vs. Des Ford, and Sharpe vs. Fisk.

The matches Tuesday for the most part turned out the way the dope pointed, with the exception of the game between Clifton Haynes, local high school net star, who was defeated by Kelly, a dandy horse in the tournament. By a victory of 6-1, 6-3 over the young high school player, Kelly is expected to prove a close contender for the singles cup.

His employ a fast slice both forward and backward, and is steady in all departments of a game.

Another interesting match occurred when Powers took the measure of Underwood, A. & M. College tennis player. In a difficult match in which Powers was threatened several times, the high school champion won by a score of 4-2, 7-5.

The second set of the match was exciting all the way through. Underwood led 5-3 at one time and needed only one point for the set.

NEW YORK, July 25.—World's champion boxer Eugene Spong, of France, and Challenger Johnny Dundee, of Italian parentage, declared themselves ready Wednesday for their international bout for the title at the Polo Grounds on Thursday night.

Both fighters will be in heavy training Tuesday. Dundee indulged in eight miles of road work and six rounds of boxing at his West Orange, N. J., home. Spong did very little. He has never himself fit and will do no boxing until he enters the ring. The challenger will do only light work.

Several wagers were reported Wednesday from Wall Street with Dundee at 7 to 5 and Spong at 2 to 1. The men will weigh in at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

First round results follow: Reppy eliminated Parks, 6-1, 6-3; Beck eliminated Upchurch, 6-2, 6-3; Powers defeated Underwood, 6-2, 6-3; Myers defeated Norton, 6-2, 7-5; Ellis defeated Cohen, 6-1, 6-2; Kasper drew Cooper, 6-3, 6-0; Hines defeated Williams, 6-1, 6-0; Rider defeated Dewey and Gray, 6-1, 6-0.

Boy, Page Judge Landis. Ruling Desired Whether Babe Ruth Is Using Regulation Home Run Bat

By NEA Service.

CLEVELAND, OHIO, July 25.—Babe Ruth is sure the original cause.

When the Babe isn't busy making home runs he is pulling something that will keep Judge Landis and Ben Johnson interested.

In 1921 Ruth made 59 home runs. The lively ball as use was regarded as the big reason for the Babe's remarkable feat.

If the Babe should come through this year with a goodly share of circuit drives, in all probability an investigation of the bat he uses will be demanded.

On July 2 Ruth started to use a bat, the like of which has never been seen in the baseball world. Since that date Ruth has been on a swat spree that has greatly increased his home run record.

Rule 14 of the playing code says that the bat used in baseball must be round, not over two and three-fourths inches in diameter at the thickest part, nor more than 42 inches in length and be entirely of hard wood.

The bat that Ruth is now using with such great success is all that the rule says and then some. Instead of being turned out of one piece of wood, the bat is made of four distinct sections, which are glued together.

This unusual bat is said to be the outgrowth of an idea advanced by Sam Crawford, in his day one of the greatest batmen the game has ever produced. The bats are now being turned out at Whittier, Cal., Crawford being interested in the company that is making them.

With the ordinary bat there are always parts of the wood that are weak because of the grain. As a matter of fact most batmen so hold the bat that the grain will always be up when it comes into contact with the ball.

Crawford's idea does away entirely with any weakness in the bat. The bat is constructed of four sections of the very best selected wood, so that it is uniform throughout. It is known as the "quadrebat" and the claim is made that it is many times stronger than the one-piece affair.

Has Ruth the right to use such a bat?

Does such a bat conform to the rules of baseball?

It may be necessary for Ben John-

Wuxtry! Buster Keaton Laughs!

BUSTER KEATON

By JACK JUNGMEYER

HOLLYWOOD, July 25.—I have heard—seen the rarest, sound-sight in this vale of glycerin tears: The frozen face of Buster Keaton cracking with laughter; a phenomenon no movie audience has ever beheld.

What made the "mirthless comedian" laugh is worth recording, because it provides a peep behind those drapes or solemnity where the born clown invariably hides his mysterious nature. Even off stage, Buster is almost giggle-proof.

With a look of unutterable woe he was despatching a fried chicken, immune to the slipping wise-cracks of his studio table mates. The talk skittered back to pre-movie days when Buster, his father, Joseph P. Keaton, and his mother were known to every American vaudeville stage as "The Three Keatons." Their roughest ever on the boards, with a slap-stick act, probably the Buster on the receiving end of most of the slaps.

But Buster shook as with an ague. I thought he was choking on a drum stick. A quick snorting cackle burst forth, racking his thin frame. But his brooding eyes never lost their dolor.

"I was thinking," he said slowly, "how I got back at my dad when he had a lapse of memory."

"You know we often got serious in our slap-sticking, as I began to grow up. If I had disobeyed or angered dad he'd take it out on me on the stage. Many a slap which the audience thought just had the sting of truth behind it, and my father had a powerful hand."

Naturally, having the opportunity of the act, I used occasionally to hit back with all my might. The old man never whipped me off stage, but he did it many times, when he thought I deserved it, before the curtains in the guise of "business."

"One day he gave me a terrible whalloping, all with the semblance of just after he'd discovered me smoking my first cigar."

"Next day it was my turn to spank him with a hard broom—all in the act, of course. For this he fortified himself with a heavy pad."

"Well—when the time arrived I let out with all my might. The broom smacked him with an unusually loud report, and I saw dad straighten up—all in the act, of course."

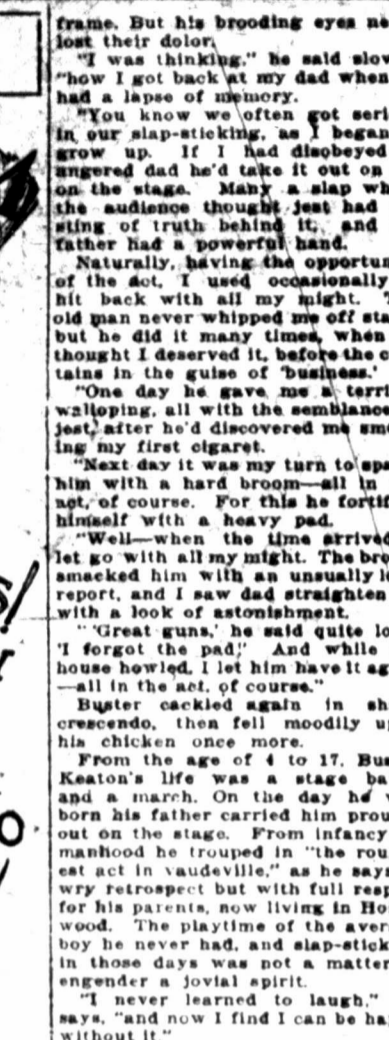

"Great guns," he said quite loud, "I forgot the pad!" And while the house howled, I let him have it again—all in the act, of course.

Buster cackled again in sharp crescendo, then fell moodily upon his chicken once more.

From the age of 4 to 17, Buster Keaton's life was a stage battle—and a march. On the day he was born his father carried him proudly out on the stage. From infancy to manhood he trouped in "the roughest act in vaudeville," as he says in very retrospect, but with full respect for his parents, now living in Hollywood. "The playtime of the average boy he never had, and slap-sticking in those days was not a matter to sneer at a jovial spirit."

"I never learned to laugh," he says, "and now I find I can be happy without it."

One thing, however, always prices a grin from his sad phis—putting son, Judge Landis and the other high powers of baseball to pass on this question.

The four-piece bat unquestionably offers an opportunity for trickery. If such a bat was loaned at the point of contact with a heavy substance would it cause the ball to travel farther?

Would a cork center in the bat make for distance as it has in the ball.

Constructing the bat of four distinct sections would offer the possibility of pulling something in glue to be regarded as a foreign substance?

Crawford sent several of these bats to Ruth. The Babe is trying them out and is having unusual success. There could be no greater ad for a bat than the fact that Ruth is using it and making plenty of home runs.

In all probability before many weeks have passed the "quadrebat" will be as widely discussed as the "shine ball," the "snappy ball," and other widely known tricks of the trade.

Boy, page Judge Landis.

tion he consoles himself by playing grand opera on the violin to his wife, Natalie Talmadge, and little Buster the Second.

It's a Nice Idea but... All men aren't equal and neither are all valve cups. Far from it.

Two of either may look alike at the start. It's only after they've been going awhile that the difference hits you between the eyes.

You see then that genuine Darcova Valve Cups are putting off in the pipe line after the other cups have worn out. While you are pulling out and recouping the other valves at a big expense of time, labor and loss of oil, the Darcova Cups are working along as well as ever and earning good money for you.

You want trustworthy men and those trustworthy Darcova Valve Cups. It pays to be particular.

Look for the label, and insist on getting genuine Darcova from your dealer.

Mrs. Magnus Johnson Doesn't Want to Live in Washington, Hopes Husband Wont Stay Long

KIMBALL, MINN., July 25.—Magnus Johnson will be senator for Minnesota for two years and Mrs. Johnson is glad of it and proud of Magnus.

But when the two years are over, she wants Magnus to come back home and run for governor, she said today, so they can go on living on their little farm and build the new house they have planned for the last five years. She doesn't want him to run for reelection as senator.

For she doesn't like leaving the farm. She was raised on the forty acres adjoining. She has lived there ever since, and she likes it. She is doubtful liking Washington.

"The longest I have ever been separated from Magnus was three weeks and two days, once in a political campaign when he had to be away," she said. "I'm going to go to Washington so we won't be parted. But I'll come back to the farm in the spring. And maybe I'll stay."

It is a homelike place, the Johnson farm. You sit down at dinner with your coat off and you call it "supper." You eat fried potatoes and strong tea and bread and butter—there wasn't any meat, because the boys made a mistake and brought home pork chops instead of cold ham, and Magnus decided it was too hot for Mrs. Johnson to cook the chops over the big range in their kitchen.

Mrs. Johnson is feminist.

And Mrs. Johnson fits into the picture. She is a large woman, a motherly woman, with brown hair and kindly eyes and capable hands. She is feminist, no shrinking violet. "I never saw any kind of a horse that I couldn't drive single or double," she says. That isn't boasting. It's a simple statement of fact.

"And the work around the farm—I get discouraged sometimes—all of us women do, I guess, but I soon get over it."

Magnus and the boys were in a hurry. There were chores still to do, and then there was a meeting in town. Magnus was supposed to arrive in Kimball on Thursday on a train and they had a band waiting and the town decorated. But Magnus took a bus to Darke instead. So the celebration was ruined and they arranged a meeting in town instead.

Magnus always is in a hurry. He sits rapidly, he talked rapidly. He does his work rapidly. He hurries constantly.

But he can't hurry any faster than Mrs. Johnson.

"My wife is a big strong woman," he said proudly. "She never was stikly. Lately she has had rheumatism some. But she has always worked hard. They always have worked hard here, for that matter.

"Twenty eight years ago I hauled cord wood clear to Richfield and sold it for $1.85 a cord," Magnus said. "It was an all day haul and I'd get home late at night all tired out. I want to tell you, too, that a lot of times I was good and hungry. Did you ever stop to think what it means to be able to eat when you are hungry and sleep when you are all tired out? The average American don't know what it means to be really hungry or really tired. But we do."

Milk 22 Cows

"The first year I was here, I didn't have a horse. I cut timber and rolled the logs together and burned them. Later, my neighbor and myself each got a horse and we worked together. After a while, things began to get better and then, a few years ago, I saw we needed diversified farming and I got cows."

They milk 22 cows, now with Mrs. Johnson doing her share and often more.

When she doesn't feel like working, mother goes out anyhow and helps even if dad says she should stay in the house. Like the oldest daughter explained. Right now they need a new binder and that was the chief topic of conversation. The one they have used for twenty years and it's just about all in.

Today Magnus bargained with a hardware dealer from Kingston for a new one, offering a horse in trade, and he thinks the deal will go through.

Mrs. Johnson talked about motion pictures and said she didn't like them.

"I don't get to very many shows and hardly ever to the movies," she said.

Their own boys go to the movies very seldom, it seemed. There was none of the conversation about Charles Chaplin and Pola Negri or even Jack Dempsey and Christy Mathewson you would expect to hear. Instead it was devoted to the farm, the coming crop, the needs of the farm.

The conversation turned to Mrs. Johnson again, when she said that after nine years of service on the school board, she doesn't plan to run for reelection, because she thinks it's about time to give some one else a chance. The board is only a part of her work, but they worked until 1 a. m. herself and Magnus and the board, to get the district books ready for a board meeting tonight.

"I don't believe in early marriages," she said. "and don't think people should get married on small incomes. When I married Magnus you know he already had forty acres of land and my people gave me a cow, a horse and some chickens. Magnus only had two rooms in the house then, but he put on an extra room. Mothers in law should not live with their children when they get married, either. The children ought to get away by themselves. They'll be happier that way."

Every Town Should Have Landing Field For Aircraft, Government Bureau Points Out Coming Need

She believes that women have a right in public life. She can look back at her own record and know that she has done some good work.

"But a woman, who isn't fitted for public work has no right to try it," she said. "She will only hurt the people she is supposed to help."

Magnus doesn't smoke, nor do the boys. And Mrs. Johnson, she continued certainly doesn't smoke herself and doesn't believe that any woman should. The men do enough of that, without women trying it, too," she said.

She is highly proud of their three boys and three girls.

Expression of Gratitude.

We take this means of thanking all those who so nobly stood by us during the illness and the passing of our beloved one, Mrs. Maud Irwin. WASHINGTON, July 25.—The time is almost here, the department of commerce predicted today, when business men will fly into congested centers from the suburbs by airplane, and tired city dwellers will flutter to Nova Scotia and Florida in a few hours. The main obstacle is the absence of adequate landing fields and the towns which provide such facilities will jump from comparative obscurity to prominence. The statement issued through the Bureau of Standards, says:

"Experts believe that within ten years the United States will see an extension of the use of aircraft for business and pleasure somewhat similar to the extension in the use of automobiles between 1905 and 1918. Airplanes will be used more and more for carrying mails and perishable goods, while it is not impossible that people of moderate wealth will find them useful for commuting, for business trips and for week end and pleasure jaunts. The effect of the airplane, if developed as expected, will be to extend greatly the distance to which such trips can be made in a given period of time. They will permit commuting from distances of 100 miles, while week end trips can be made from New York to the Thousand Islands, from San Francisco to Yosemite, from Washington and Baltimore to the mountains of Virginia and from Boston to the Maine woods."

"If the visions of the experts materialize, people whose business requires only occasional visits to the city can live almost anywhere they choose while some of our wealthiest men can spend their winters in Florida and their summers in Nova Scotia and still keep in touch with business interests in New York."

"All of these possibilities indicate a considerable extension of the ettier influence, with rise in real estate values and an increase in prosperity for many of our smaller towns. But it must be remembered that the airplane traffic will not be evenly distributed. The flying people go where landing facilities are provided. The towns that first provide these facilities should become popular with aircraft and may in later years be the fashionable resort of the region."

Dimensions, proportions and equipment of landing fields are now being studied by the bureau of standards and bureau of automotive engineers in the hope of encouraging the enterprise.
