MARSHAL TSAO KUN ELECTED PRESIDENT REPUBLIC OF CHINA

PEKING, Oct. 5 (AP)—Marshal Tsao Kun, chief of the northern militarists, has been elected president of China.

In China the president is elected by parliament.

Tsao Kun becomes president in succession to Li Yuan Hsing, who quit his office and fled to Tientsin last spring because of the menacing situation in Peking. At the time of Li's abdication the militarists who had opposed had made a show of force by engineering a strike of the metropolitan police force and threatening further disorders unless the president left.

Tsao Kun is 61 years of age. Thirty-five years ago he was a common soldier. An officer arranged for him to be sent to a military school. Tsao Kun became successively regimental, brigade and division commander.

REPORT ON CONDITION OF BOSTON WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow: "The demand for wool in the past week was slackened a bit, but prices keep generally firm with the sales still fairly well diversified. Woolen mills have been buying moderately this week and here and there the worsted mills have taken on a little wool, although the knitting mills seem to have covered their immediate needs fairly well. The goods market is about in status quo, but the demand for drapes and rugs in the auctions this week has been encouraging. Fall shearing in Texas continues with few purchases reported."

Assessors Convention Recommends Tax Commission for State to Determine the Basis for Levying

Recommending that the state of Texas be divided into four sub-divisions with an equal population in each sub-division and selecting a representative from each of the four sub-divisions to compose a tax commission, together with a commission head selected by the state, was included in the resolutions adopted by the county tax assessors Friday morning.

The resolution further recommended that this body of five men be invested with the power to prescribe assessments for all properties in order that an equitable basis be arrived at and to remove the alleged inequality of taxation as it now exists with reference to various sections of the state.

In his report to the convention the resolution committee extended a sincere vote of thanks to the citizenship of Wichita Falls for its hospitality, to the chamber of commerce for its courtesies, to Irvan Denton and his office force for the kindness extended, to the Martin Printing Company for its refreshments and for providing programs and badges for the convention, to the Texas-Oklahoma Fair Association for its generosity, and to Lon A. Smith and his deputies and the retiring officers for the favors extended during the past year.

Close cooperation between the tax assessors and collectors of the state was urged in the discussion of that subject at the Friday morning session. The benefits to be derived from a better cooperative spirit both from the standpoint of individuals and the associations were pointed out in the round table discussion of the subject. It was the sense of the convention that the collectors and assessors meet in the same town at the same time for the first time and that at least one day of the three day's meeting be spent in joint session.

In discussing the subject of needed legislation which would assist the assessors in conducting their office, it was pointed out by E. D. Shannon, president of the association, that a general revision of the tax laws of the state was necessary. He said, "The trouble is that we are driving an ox team in an airplane age." He stated that before any better benefits could be derived by the assessors and the tax payers as a whole a constitutional amendment was necessary.

The members of the association reported Friday morning that they thoroughly enjoyed their visit to the Texas-Oklahoma Fair Thursday and were surprised at the large number of exhibits and the variety of entertainment provided.

Preparations were made by the majority of delegates to leave for their homes early Friday afternoon.

LABOR FEDERATION HAS MUCH WORK AHEAD AT PORTLAND CONVENTION

PORTLAND, Oregon, Oct. 5 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor convention went into its fifth day's session with most of the work to be done on the floor still before it. Committees which have been wrestling with resolutions and recommendations of the executive council while the convention has been marking time were expected by convention leaders soon to have material ready to keep the delegates busy.

FIVE YEAR OLD GIRL INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Mildred Price, the five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Price, 214 Buchanan, is in General hospital with a painful scalp wound and minor body bruises as the result of an accident on Grant street at 7:10 o'clock Thursday evening, when she was struck by a passing automobile. Her condition is not considered serious, but she will be confined at the hospital for several days for treatment of her wounds.

According to information given by neighbors, officers who investigated the case believe that the accident was unavoidable. The driver of the car told officers that he did not see the child until she was directly in front of the vehicle and it was impossible to stop. The driver talked to officers Friday morning and at noon no charges had been filed against him.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. RACHAEL BATTESSE

Letter From Beatrice Grimshaw to Sally Atherton
Your letter has saddened me, Sally dear, impressively. It has made me really wonder if, after all, the good Lord, when he made Eve out of Adam's rib, did not always intend us to be subservient to man.

Do you suppose Sally, that our mothers really were so restless and unhappy as the women of today? Do you not think when women knew their only destination was in the household of some man, they were given by their fathers, into the keeping of their husbands, when all their whole thoughts and lives were circumscribed by the existence of some male individual, that looking forward to nothing more, they did not make themselves as comfortable as possible by trying to please their masters?

Now, of course, every girl can do things she can earn her own living. She is not dependent upon any man, especially if she has been a wage earner before marriage. Consequently she tries to please herself.

She thinks she should have quite as much to say as to how she should spend his money, as he has about how she should spend hers.

PLACE OF MASONRY IN LIFE DESCRIBED BY TEMPLE MORROW

That Masonry fills a place and a need in society and in the life of the individual which compare favorably with that of the church and the home, was brought out in the address by Temple Houston Morrow of Dallas when he spoke to the Wichita Falls Commandery and their friends at the open house Thursday evening.

Mr. Morrow related briefly his experience in his long association with Masonry in Texas and described some of the benefits which he had received from his work in this fraternity. He emphasized the practice of kindness and love for one's fellow man, which he said were embodied in the teachings and creed of the organization.

Mr. Morrow was introduced by J. C. Jones, of Dallas, secretary to Sam P. Cochran. In his introductory remarks Mr. Jones conveyed messages from Masonic officials in Dallas to the local commandery and their friends. Otto Stohlik was master of ceremonies at the meeting.

EVANGELIST COMMENDED IN CHURCH RESOLUTION

Evangelist E. G. Baucom, who has been conducting the revival services at the Floral Heights Baptist Church for the past three weeks closed the meeting there Sunday night and the following resolution was passed by the membership of the church upon his departure from this city:

"Whereas, Brother E. G. Baucom and his wife have been laboring among us for about three weeks; therefore, we, the members and friends of the Floral Heights Baptist Church desire to give recognition to our appreciation of their labors:

"1.—We bear testimony to their Christian character and conduct in our midst.

"2.—We commend Brother Baucom as a sound, practical, able preacher of the gospel. Those who unite with the church will find in his preaching how what they are accepting and abiding themselves to do.

"3.—We commend his unswerving standing for rightness, and against all forms of wickedness.

"4.—We commend his wife as a helper and friend, and his wife as a worthy fellow helper, a pianist of unusual ability and efficiency.

"5.—We pray God's richest blessings on them wherever they labor, and shall gratefully cherish the

LON SMITH SPEAKS TO ASSESSORS IN CONVENTION HERE

Lon A. Smith, state comptroller, arrived here Thursday afternoon from San Antonio, where he was elected commander in chief of the Texas Chapter of the R. C. V., and Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock spoke to the county tax assessors in convention here.

Mr. Smith stated that he had not come prepared to give an elaborate address but came to meet with the men of the state with whom he had many pleasant dealings.

He complimented the assessors on maintaining an association and stated that he was glad to see that they assembled to discuss some pertinent subjects which would benefit all in the conduct of their offices.

His address had a humorous vein and he recited a number of stories of wit and humor. He told the association that he felt complimented in being placed on the program and expressed the hope that he would be able to meet with them each year.

Mr. Smith met many of the county judges and commissioners whose association's convention opened at the court house Friday morning. A number of them left their meeting to hear Mr. Smith's address.

AUTOMOBILE DEALERS ASSOCIATION RECEIVES CHARTER FROM STATE

Word was received from Austin Thursday of the granting of a charter and the incorporation of the Wichita Falls Automobile Dealers Association. W. E. Langford, L. O. Brown, C. C. Handie and others are mentioned as the incorporators.

Capital stock of the association is given as $1,000.

The association was organized here in 1918 and has been active since that time, but decision to incorporate and application for a charter was made recently. Officers in the association are: W. E. Langford, president; L. O. Brown, vice president; A. L. Weisenbaum, secretary, and C. C. Handie, treasurer.

H. P. Nevin returned Thursday from a two week's visit at his home in Kansas City, where he was called because of the injuries sustained by his wife and children in a recent automobile accident. Mrs. Nevin and the children are still confined to the hospital, but are improving steadily.

Which reminds us of the old story of the southern ducky that was in jail and his friend who had called on him at the jail and said: "Rastus, they can't put you in jail for that." And Rastus said "maybe not but I'm in jail ain't I." So it is with our bread, we are selling it at 5c a loaf and will make money while doing it.

WHY THIS ENORMOUS VOLUME

It is so simple every six year old child knows it.

Piggly Wiggly's Prices are Always Lower.

Piggly Wiggly does not deliver; trucks, upkeep and drivers cost money.

Piggly Wiggly has no charge accounts; bookkeepers, collectors and bad debts cost money.

Piggly Wiggly buys in enormous quantities; big cash buyers get the best prices.

Meat Markets
In All Our Stores Soon

Common Sense will argue out correctly that you ought to buy your food products where you can get the best for the money, in the most convenient way from a clean store.

Foresight will tell you that you cannot telephone for goods, have them delivered or have them charged without paying for the services rendered.

For these reasons opportunity's knock should sound as loud as a steam driven pile driver, driving home the argument—buy at PIGGLY WIGGLY.

Whether you have little money, some money or much money, it will pay you to buy at PIGGLY WIGGLY.

We Will Be In Our New

STILL THEY SAY WE'RE GOING BROKE!

Selfish reasons and jealousy prompt these statements from certain interests because they get no business from Piggly Wiggly. The "Bear for Talking Co." are giving us a lot of free advertising. If they would put these efforts to work in their own business they would profit more and have more friends.

The Wichita Falls grocery buying public likes Piggly Wiggly as is evidenced by our sales in September, and in spite of all knockers and hit dog howlers the Piggly Wiggly stores will stand as the trail blazers of greater values and as barriers against extortionate prices and continue as stepping stones to a better living at less cost.

OKLAHOMA BANDIT CAPTURED IN BARN NEAR KANSAS LINE

PORT SMITH, Ark., Oct. 4.—Ed Lockhart, Oklahoma bandit, is in jail at Jay, Delaware county, Okla., after six weeks of evading the law in Oklahoma and Arkansas. He was captured while he slept in a barn on the ranch of Charles Baker, six miles from Kansas, a small town in Delaware county, late yesterday.

Placid Defiance By 1300 Saloons In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—Philadelphia saloons were still doing business today despite the order of Governor Pritchard and the federal department of justice to close their doors and dismantle their fixtures. A few of the 1300 or more establishments had obeyed the order, but the multitude of most of the proprietors apparently was one of placid defiance.

RELEASED FROM PRISON IS HELD IN CONNECTION WITH DEATH OF WOMAN

STEVENS ROCK, Tex., Oct. 4.—George William McLain, 22, recently released from the Tennessee state reformatory, is being held here for investigation in connection with the murder in connection with Mrs. Nora Mullens de Jarnett, 37, whose body was discovered jammed under a log and covered with brush in the Fowles river near the river days after she left her father's home to come to Little Rock.

CHARGES ARE DENIED BY ATTORNEY FOR CLARKE

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 4.—Charges that the suit of Mrs. Helene Katherine Single filed here yesterday in which, according to the Atlanta Journal, she asks $100,000 damages from E. Y. Clarke, are denied by Sidney Smith, attorney for Mr. Clarke, to be "just another of the efforts that have been made over a period of nearly two years to discredit" Mr. Clarke. In a statement made public here following publication of the story of the filing of the suit, it is asserted that all of the charges made in the petition are "false."

Will Wales Take a New World Bride?

England's Royal Son "Roughing It" on Calgary Ranch Said to Be Slyly in Quest of Beautiful Canadian Cinderella

The Prince of Wales draws more cheers than the King when he walks forth in London, but here's a young man who has baffled the whole British Empire because he won't get married.

And all the pretty faces in the Old World did not yield the Prince a bride; so, wrapping his ermine robes about him and pressing his gold and diamond crown very tight, he set sail in a great vessel for the New World.

SO MIGHT the chroniclers who gather the future children of the British Empire about their knees weave a fairy story for their delectation. And part of it would be true—maybe.

Translated into everyday fact and drenched of fairy gilt, the present chapter of the story of the Prince of Wales relates how all the pretty princesses and near-princesses of Europe, who have crowded his dreams at night, have failed to produce a face haunting enough to satisfy only when safely secured under a bridal veil. So now the British Empire, disappointed but still hopeful, has given ear to the undercurrent of gossip to the effect that the Prince has gone bride-hunting in the New World; that a Canadian beauty furnishes the real cause for his visit to Canada.

But after you put a little Canadian Cinderella in the tale, it loses all its verisimilitude to a fairy story.

Dress a fresh-faced, good-looking, light-haired boy in a dinner coat, put the longest cigar you ever saw in his mouth, frame him in a smart London supper club clapping for Paul Whiteman to enclose his synopses of the "Nut Cracker Suite"—and there you have this modern Lochinvar who rode out to the West for a girl to slip in his heart's pocket—maybe.

THE new rumors about Albert Edward, oldest son of the King of England, center themselves around a mysterious, beautiful, high-born young woman who caught his heart and affections while at a dance in Vancouver during his last visit to Canada. Those Britishers of romantic persuasion who pass the story about have it that the Prince in leaving told this possible princess that some day he would come back, and that the purchase of the E. P. (Edward Prince) ranch near Calgary was only a piece cut out of the strategy of love.

No particulars have accrued since the Prince, traveling as a private citizen under the name of Baron Renfrew (as his grandfather Edward VII once did), stepped eagerly across the gangplank at Quebec and immediately entrained for his month of roughing it on his stock farm skirting the Canadian Rockies, and the story is more apt to be untrue than true; but England, lately treated to rumors of the engagement of Prince George, youngest son of the King and Queen, to Lady Alexandra Curson, youngest daughter of Foreign Secretary Curson by his first wife, who was Miss Mary Leiter, of Washington, insists on dallying fondly with the report.

THE Prince of Wales is twenty-nine years old. Although he made an unforgettable war record and has one hundred and one other qualities to recommend him for public attention, the most outstanding feature of his entire career is that he refuses to get married. For months and months the Britons have been selecting brides for their pride and their hope. And although it is frequently rumored that some of these prospective brides accepted less illustrious suitors in preference to a young man who has a crown to offer, it is pretty safe to conjecture that most of them at least would have given their hands and hearts for the asking. But the Prince has gone courteously on dancing, falling off his horse, shaking hands by the thousands, laying cornerstones, petting little children on the head—but not announcing that he had just picked pearls for the future Queen of England.

In Great Britain the problem has assumed serious proportions. It is the greater because of the extreme popularity of the Prince with the English people, a popularity which it must be admitted is somewhat turning to ashes in the British mouth as the years roll by, and no secret is made of the fact that among his intimates the Prince jokes about being a bachelor king even as Queen Elizabeth was a virgin queen, when he is not jocularly bidding his brother, the Duke of York, to learn how to be King of England.

If the gay, blue-eyed young Baron Renfrew who is a Prince has just merely failed to be pleased with any of the princesses of the Old World and come to the verdant shores of the New World with a glass slipper in his pocket for an unknown Cinderella, he is keeping the matter pretty well concealed.

Over here romance of a different nature has attended his doings. For, after all, what is more picturesque and romantic to Americans than the figure of one whose heritage is the throne of the British Empire throwing away all the pomp and prestige and glamour of his station and going in for a month of rough-and-ready living in a modest log ranch house where the fare is as simple as that set before any average young American who takes it into his head to go vacationing; where the work is frankly strenuous and the curfew rings almost as soon as the dishes are washed?

The Prince doesn't wash these himself, that is true, but the housekeeping on the ranch has been almost that informal. Prof. William D. Carlyle, who went to England to make negotiations with the royal family about the purchase of the ranch in 1919 and who is its manager, turned the place over to the boys, which means Albert Edward and the few friends who accompanied him—much as the college boys turn over the fraternity house to their young belles when a house party is in session.

WILL the Prince of Wales eventually take a bride?

Does Canada hold what neither America nor the Old World failed to produce? The Canadian beauty, born and bred in a country where winter lasts most of the year, is a hardy sort of rose. She is a winter sports type of young lady, an ice girl if you will. She bundles herself in her woolly cap, her knickers and her high-fitting boots, throws snowballs and flies like a snow fairy on her skis, her fur coat flying backward to bare for Jack Frost's kiss a neck pink and rosy with the glow of health.

Has the winter sports girl, a snow-drop Cinderella, captured the heart of Wales, or is it true, as some of the gossip runs, that no one can capture his royal heart because it is already given in a hopeless sort of love affair that has turned the future King of England into a reckless young man whose chief object in life is to forget?

An International Bouquet of Beauties for the Prince—But He Never Picked a Posy

The Princess Ileana, youngest daughter of the Queen of Rumania, a winsome gypsy flower mentioned

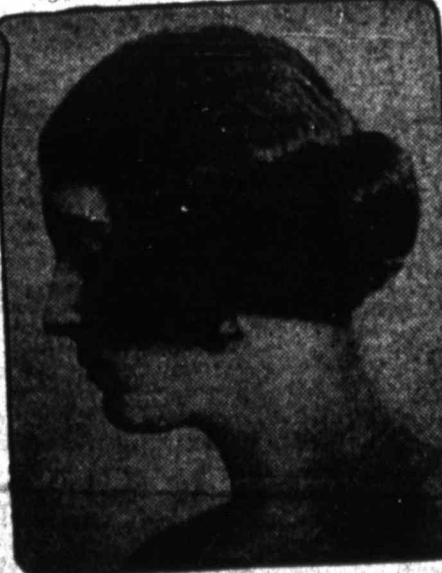

When the Prince paid his visit to America in 1919, he danced many times with Miss Margaret Calhoun Simonds!

Every one said beautiful Lady Stuart, who was Lady Rachel Cavendish, was a probable choice of the Prince

Miss Mary Millicent Rogers won the pleased eye of England's royal son during his visit to New York

Lady Mary Thynne, whose engagement to the Prince has often been rumored, a delicate English flower sweet enough to bloom in any royal garden

Not last and not least, Geraldine Miller Graham, whom Wales named the most beautiful girl he met in America. She is a San Francisco girl

D. D. FAUNTLEROY DETAILS PROBLEMS OF MAINTENANCE

Captain J. D. Fauntleroy, state highway engineer, spoke to the county judges and commissioners in annual session here Friday afternoon on the problems which will confront the commission on the maintenance of state highways, which duty develops upon it beginning January 1.

It is useless to build roads in the state unless we are going to maintain them, Mr. Fauntleroy stated in opening his address.

He stated that there were over 18,000 miles of state highways in Texas of which amount 4,995 has already been improved and 13,005 miles are under construction.

The plan at this time, he said, was to divide the state into 16 different divisions with a division engineer in charge who will have two superintendents of maintenance under him.

At the close of his address the convention was adjourned and the delegates departed for their homes at the Kemp Hotel at 5 o'clock Friday night.

COMMITTEES ARE NAMED FRIDAY BY JUDGE A. ALLEN

Judge Arch C. Allen, president of the County Judges and Commissioners' Association, Friday noon selected members of the various committees with instructions to meet as soon as possible.

The afternoon session of the convention began partially under protest because a large number of the judges and commissioners did not want to miss the football game at the fair grounds. They were assured that the afternoon session would be adjourned in time for all to get to the game on time.

The resolutions committee is composed of the following: Judge J. C. Cayton, Ardmore; Judge J. A. McCloskey, Berclair; Judge J. H. West, Clinton county; Judge J. C. M. Hall, Mitchell county; Judge J. W. Sutton, Bell county; Judge R. D. Sarlin, Wichita; and county commissioners J. W. Hunsinger, Dallas; U. D. Wolfson, Mitchell; J. H. Reed, Finney; J. J. Hill, Smith; W. H. Robinson, Burtis; and R. C. Benson, Armstrong.

SPECIAL GRAND JURY TO CONDUCT INVESTIGATION DEATH OF OTIS BALLARD

MOUNT PLEASANT, Texas, Oct. 5. (AP)—A special grand jury next Monday will begin investigation into the death near here of Otis Ballard, material witness in a bank robbery case, whose body was found several days ago in a shallow creek.

Charges of murder have been filed against Clem Gray, who pleaded guilty of bank robbery at Glimmer nearly this week, and Barrill Kemp, a negro, and of being accessories against Paul Keith and George McKinley young men of this section.

At the close of his address the convention was adjourned and the delegates departed for their homes at the Kemp Hotel at 5 o'clock Friday night.

RECORD FAIR CROWD EXPECTED SATURDAY

Association, more than a dozen racing automobiles have entered the speed contest to be held at the fair grounds Sunday. Large purses are offered in the automobile races and many thrills are expected by the crowd.

The races will be preceded by a large automobile parade at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon, in which 1934 models of all makes have been entered by local automobile dealers.

The automobile polo game will be played Sunday immediately following the speed program. Many thrills are offered spectators of the polo game.

Seven races will be run Saturday afternoon and thousands of people are expected to crowd the grandstand. According to officials of the fair association, more than fourteen horses are expected to enter the derby Saturday afternoon.

The Hippodrome vaudeville attractions in front of the grandstand twice daily are proving one of the main features of the great fair. The acrobatic acts are the most popular, although the Al Sweet Singing Military Band, is a major attraction.

Perhaps the biggest attraction at the Texas-Oklahoma Fair grounds Thursday was the Boys band from Walters, Oklahoma, that visited here for the day. The band played around the grounds during the forenoon, and furnished part of the music in the grandstand for the races during the afternoon.

According to the director, E. L. Nichols of Walters, the 25-piece band is composed of boys from nine to 16 years of age, all attending the Walters public schools. The band is one of the best equipped in the state, although it has been organized only eight months.

"When we come back next year we will be 75 strong," said Mr. Nichols Thursday. "We have many boys who are not yet able to carry parts in the band, but it won't be long before we grow."

Thursday afternoon's vaudeville acts, held in connection with the race program, were especially good, with a larger and more appreciative audience on hand to encourage the performers. A crowd of close to 4,000 fans turned out to witness the derby day program and the events that went along with it. Something new that was particularly pleasing to the spectators was the exhibition of five-gaited saddle horses in front of the grandstand.

The night's program was practically the same that has been given each evening during the fair, with new numbers added to the fireworks display and slight changes in the hippodrome acts. A new program every night is promised for the fireworks display.

The Clarence A. Wortham shows continued to attract big crowds along the midway and the shows and concessions were in full blast throughout the afternoon and evening.

Although judging was completed Thursday, hundreds of people are still visiting the livestock and agricultural shows.

ment have been announced and judging was completed Thursday afternoon. The judging ended with the announcement of awards in the Poland-China division. E. T. Neely, of the Fairview Farm at Amarillo judged the swine.

Weather Man Is Kind and Sends Ideal Condition

The weather man was very kind Friday morning and during the night he cleared the skies of all obstructions and ordered that the cool pleasant north wind continue to act.

Throughout the section touched by local railroads came the reports of clear skies and ideal weather conditions. A heavy dew was noticeable at sunrise locally Friday morning and the atmosphere in general carried with it a peppery attitude.

Mothers! Apply Common Sense

THIS is the era of the prevention of disease and sensible people do not wait until sickness has actually come before remedying the trouble. The crowded hospitals everywhere are sad examples of the results of neglect. Be especially watchful of children. Restlessness, lack of normal appetite and feverishness usually indicate constipation. Stop it that instant with a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and you will have prevented real sickness. Mrs. Ida Williamson of 1637 Pine St., Long Beach, Cal., and Mrs. Lou Brawley of Self, Ark., never have illness in the family because of their prompt use of Syrup Pepsin.

A Great Family Laxative

It may be difficult to decide just what medicine to use out of the many that are offered, but it would not be if you knew the facts. There are laxatives, cathartics, purgatives and physics, and they vary in their reaction on the system. Naturally, the stronger the medicine, the more it shocks the system, so wise parents never give anything but a laxative to children. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a mild laxative, a vegetable compound of Egyptian eral carried with it a peppery attitude. The sun shone down in splendor throughout the morning and as a result thousands of people were attracted to come to the city and attend the Texas-Oklahoma Fair.

During the night Thursday the thermometer suffered a relapse and in the early hours of the morning Wichita Falls was made to cover up with an added blanket.

Twelve thousand coal miners are being trained annually by the United States government in safety methods of mining, rescue and first aid work.

A single teaspoonful of DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN will restore good humor

Three Rules of Health Purchase a bottle of Syrup Pepsin at a drug store and always keep one in the family medicine chest. Give it to anyone from infant to grandparent, for it is safe, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. You can keep a family healthy with just this simple medicine. Give it for constipation, torpid liver, indigestion, biliousness, headache, colds and other evidence of bowel obstruction. Dr. Caldwell, who was a practicing physician for 47 years and who originated this formula, had three rules of health that he found very effective among his patients and which you can follow with great benefit: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open.

Form for requesting a sample of Syrup Pepsin, including fields for Name, Address, and City.

CABINET MEETING FURTHER DISCUSSES HELP FOR FARMERS

PARTY LEADERS IN FREQUENT CONFERENCE WITH THE PRESIDENT.

EXPORT CORPORATION TO SELL SURPLUS PLANNED

No Suggestion Definitely Approved and Many Have Been Discarded.

By MARK SULLIVAN
Political Correspondent of the New York Tribune and Wichita Daily Times.

Copyright, 1923, by the New York Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Help for the farmer continued to be the outstanding subject of today's cabinet meeting. The bulk of the visits made to President Coolidge, either by him or request from the visitor, and of the administrator's activities altogether. It is plain that a good many suggestions have been discarded and that no one suggestion has yet been definitely adopted.

One gathers that President Coolidge has an air of hesitating pathetically and sympathetically, of not feeling hurried and of unexcited examination of one plan after another. At the moment, the plan most in the foreground is an export corporation to sell all the export surplus of American wheat through a single selling agency. The idea which is still in course of change seems to contemplate that the capital for the corporation shall be furnished initially by the government treasury, but shall be returned to the treasury at the end of the transaction. The capital would be provided by the same mechanism that has already loaned some two hundred million dollars from the government treasury to farm organizations through their local banks, namely, the war finance corporation. This agency of the treasury, which was originally authorized by congress to loan as much as a billion dollars for facilitating the export of farm and other commodities, has never actually used as much as half of the authorization. There is plenty of money available, the authorization by congress already exists, and on the government end there is no difficulty about going ahead with the plan. The real hard work involved will lie in the immense and widespread details of getting the farmers to organize and cooperate, and arranging for the local banks and local farm organizations to provide the necessary guarantees to the government. It appears to be the intention to turn this work over to Eugene Meyer Jr., who, as head of the war finance corporation, has had a large and successful experience in this general line during the past two years. Like every cooperative institution, whatever success attends the plan will be due less to an inherent magic in it than to the resourcefulness and energy and business ability of the management of it.

Orderly Marketing. There should be no illusion about this plan making the present wheat crop actually profitable to the farmers or about preventing the farmers from having some loss. The main thing the plan can do is to bring about orderly marketing of the export surplus, prevent American wheat from being dumped on the foreign market where there is no demand for it, and save the American farmer from the ill effects of competing with each other. The other day when the representative of the farmers and farm bankers of the northwest were in Washington, after calling on President Coolidge, they called on Mr. Meyer.

Mr. Meyer told them of the investigations he made during the past summer into the European markets for American farm products. The point he most emphasized was that formerly European consumers and European banks did the financing of American crops. They took the crop from the American seller whenever the seller was ready and held them until the European consumer was ready to buy. This is no longer done. The reason is, the fluctuation in exchange and the erratic changing value of currencies, which reason, incidentally, brings the farmer's troubles back to the old story of Europe's political and economic instability. Under these conditions Mr. Meyer said: Buy From Hand to Mouth. "The European buyers do not contract for wheat far ahead, but buy from hand to mouth and do not carry the normal pre-war stocks of wheat in elevators and in mill warehouses. This situation cannot change for the present and the producing countries must carry the stocks which formerly were carried by the consuming countries. This means for American slower marketing, with warehousing and financing adjusted to a slower distribution, and emphasizes the importance of developing cooperative marketing associations."

It is to meet this need that the present plan is devised. All that is meant really by the proposal is that the American wheat farmers shall organize themselves into a cooperative foreign marketing association under the leadership of the government and financed by the government. This is a fundamentally useful and permanent thing to do. It will help much. But it cannot work magic. It cannot reduce the size of the Canadian crop which will be sold in the same markets as American wheat and in competition with it.

Wage Escapes Law. HOUSTON—A campaign for the enactment of a state real estate license law was launched at the annual convention of Texas real estate agents here. It is said this proposed law will be one of the most important activities of the association during the coming year.

TRUE BLUE TRAVELER MAKES PROMISED STOP IN WICHITA THURSDAY

The long anticipated Oakland True Blue Traveler arrived in Wichita Falls Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock with Tom H. Eisman driving, accompanied by J. E. Beque, publicity representative, from Pontiac, Michigan.

Covered with mud and an hour behind schedule, due to the condition of the roads, the car was met at the Red river bridge by Arthur Huff, local Oakland dealer; J. A. McElreath, district representative for the Oakland Motor Company at Dallas, and a party of local citizens. In the parade, headed by a band which welcomed the visitors, Arthur Huff, Chief of Police Hodgins, W. H. Carver, R. H. Haggard and Jerry Moffet rode in the True Blue Traveler. The car will make its next stop in Dallas, it was stated.

County Farm Sold. HOUSTON—Harris county's abandoned county poor farm has been sold at auction. The farm, together with improvements, netted the county approximately $100,000. The plant included 125 acres of land. Thirty years ago the county purchased the land for $8,000.

Bird censuses covering a period of seven years indicate that there is a little more than one pair of birds to the acre of farm land in that section of the United States lying north of Maryland and the Ohio river and east of the great plains.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any. Col. 3:13

THE HERO OF THE WEEK.

A few days ago dispatches from Salt Lake City told of the arrest there, at the instance of J. Frank Norflett, of Hale Center, Texas, of one M. P. Hunt, alias W. H. Spencer, who, it is charged, is one of the men who hounded Norflett out of $40,000 in a Fort Worth hotel in November, 1919.

Back of this arrest is a story of the most dogged persistence.

Norflett was a ranchman and a sheriff when he was made the victim of the bunco gang. An ordinary man would have reported the matter to the authorities, perhaps would have attempted for a month or two to assist them in apprehending the swindlers, and then have returned to his home a sadder and wiser man and have attempted to forget the whole affair. But Norflett was no ordinary man. It is true that he reported the matter to the authorities, but he evidently knew enough about such matters to know that while the authorities were willing to do what they could their resources were limited.

Norflett, whom it appears the loss of $40,000 did not bankrupt, set about to bring to justice the men who had fleeced him. He determined to quit the trail until he had accomplished his purpose. The trail is said to have led him to every state in the union and to two foreign countries. It has taken four years of his time, but it has resulted in the arrest of nearly half a hundred confidence men in different cities. In Denver alone thirty men were arrested, of whom twenty were convicted and sent to the penitentiary.

This would have satisfied 999 men out of a thousand. But Norflett was not satisfied. There was still one of the three men who swindled him at large. The man who was arrested at Salt Lake City a few days ago admitted that he is this man.

Norflett might have been better off had he returned to Hale Center after his loss in Fort Worth and devoted his time and energies to recouping his losses. His efforts to run down the gang must have further depleted his fortune. But we will wager that Norflett wouldn't exchange his satisfaction over his accomplishment for any amount of money. He has performed a genuine public service. And the story of his persistence will live long after he is dead and gone.

PRESIDENT CALLS CONFERENCE OF GOVERNORS.

President Coolidge has sent out invitations to the governors of the forty-eight states for a conference to be held in Washington, October 30, to discuss law enforcement, particularly as applied to prohibition, immigration and anti-narcotics statutes.

Both the federal and the state governments have laws to enforce prohibition and to regulate the handling of narcotics but the states have little to do with immigration.

Perhaps it is desirable at this time that both the state and the federal governments take a hand in the enforcement of prohibition because the federal government has not yet well enough organized prohibition enforcement to be effective and needs the help of the states, but this arrangement ought not to continue permanently for in the end it will result in confusion and inefficiency. That has been the experience in everything where two parties, organizations or individuals have the same duties to perform. In governmental, as in private affairs, responsibility ought to be single and definite. This thing of coordinate jurisdiction is not likely to work. In the end we can expect to see either the states or the federal government take over the enforcement of the law. Prohibition is now incorporated in the federal constitution. It is properly the duty of the federal government to enforce the law.

But as said, prohibition is a new thing and the federal government needs the help of the states for a time.

There can and ought to be cooperation between the federal and state governments in the enforcement of all laws. The states can do more to help not only in the matter of prohibition enforcement but in the enforcement of the narcotic regulations and the immigration laws.

ANIMAL STUFF.

It isn't true that the ostrich attempts to hide from danger by burying his head in the sand. Instead he lies down with his neck stretched along the ground. In which position, he looks like one of the large desert ant hills, even close at hand.

So the ostrich, after all, is wise and we've been unfair to him for centuries by jesting about his stupidity. A lot of other inherited ideas that we conscientiously accept as gospel truth are really as false as the hokum about the "stupid" ostrich.

The truth about the ostrich is from the fact that...

There is agitation and anger because graves of American soldiers in France are neglected. The anger is justified and government announcement that each soldier shall have a headstone will welcome.

But those dead men if they could speak, would say: "It is too late to save us and grave-diggers won't do us much good. But don't increase our number by foolishly mixing in the troubles of nations that will not have peace."

The air giant ZR-1, bigger than a gallon of gasoline per mile in flight, is a big ocean steamer would need two tons of coal to one gallon of gas for the giant flyer. That shows the difference between the ZR-1 and the push aside light air and heavy water and it tells you how heavily men will travel in years to come if they get rid of that "all the traffic can't get along" slogan. It is quite probable that in future one day's work will earn the cost of a flight around the world.

Congressman John P. Hill for making wine at home is to be indicted if prohibition can manage it. Mr. Hill squeaked grapes and put the juice to bottles. He had no distillery. There was no "wine" alcoholically speaking in existence while he was at work on the grapes. Later, without assistance from the liquor turned into wine. It changed itself or eternal law changed it.

Can a man be indicted for what happens inside of a bottle with no assistance of any kind from the man, should not pasture be indicted or perhaps a lawyer's office for miracle to prevent fermentation?

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

DRINK DEEP. You can't hurry past beauty and take much of it with you. Neither can you reach into a heart and just take therefrom samples of love or affection, loyalty or devotion.

You must give much, you must drink deep into truth, nature, character, or else you have to expect a loss of richness and understanding.

As you look about you, life may appear very confused, but there is no confusion in nature. The trees or flowers are never in any special hurry to perform their tasks. They are given their special work to do and then patiently perform it.

How careful to sit beside a bed of wild daisies, or on the bank of some stream that ripples restfulness and beauty beneath the hangings of thick branches that wave in the wind and whisper to you as you play with their shadows across the moving waters.

Really to gain power from the out-of-doors you must come into its spirit and become a part of it. You must drink deep from its spring.

And to gain from any gift you must drink deep of its meaning. "The gift without the giver," says Lowell, "is bare."

In a way you must live the book you read, the painting you view, the scene that you select.

Someone has said that nothing is worth while without enthusiasm. Which is just another way of saying that we must drink deep of life itself and then rise from our refreshment to spread service far and wide.

It was Thoreau, I believe, who said that he would rather have a bird light on his shoulder than to have an epaulette placed there. This remarkable man drank deep. He gave new standing to rocks, birds, wild fowls, and every natural being.

Rippling Rhymes

LETTER WRITING. It is a frightful thing to do, to write a foolish letter; some day its fatal lines you'll view, and mumble, "Donnerwetter!" The man to whom you send the note will never let it perish; and some day it will get the goat that you so proudly cherish. The years may pass and you may think the letter all forgotten, all faded doubtless is the ink, the paper fluffed and rotten. But foolish letters never fade, or decompose or shrivel; of things eternal they are made, preserving words unscathed. And in your hour of pomp and pride, when luck could not seem better, some grossly common, evil-eyed, will spring your foolish letter. And you will totter from the heights to chaos and affliction, and all the scornful village wights will laugh at your shamefast. If you have sentiments as strong they clamor for an airing, go to the woods, where loud and long, a man may do his swearing. Proceed to yonder mountain top, when you feel full of ginger; there you may make the welkin stop—your future you won't ignore. But when you take your fountain pen and put your wrath on paper, you'll hear from that fool trick again—it is a sensation caper.

A PUZZLE A DAY

In the Japanese flag shown above, the dark circle, which represents the sun, has been mysteriously shifted from its correct position in the center of the flag (dotted circle) to its present position. The strange behavior of the sun, which probably caused either by the earthquakes in Japan or by the recent total eclipse of the sun, but how it happened has nothing to do with the puzzle. The problem is how to put the circle back where it belongs. It can be accomplished by cutting the flag into two pieces, and refitting them together. Can you do it?

she asked interestedly. I saw him when he got in this afternoon, but it was only for a moment, and we didn't have a chance to talk. He's looking better for his trip.

"Oh, yes," Bristow answered. "and he's pleased very well pleased indeed with the way everything's been handled. Why shouldn't he? He wants to see me both at half-past nine for a conference, he glanced at his watch; 'so you'd better look in on sister now, and then go on up to his room.'"

She slowly drew herself up from her chair and then stood waiting, submissive and yet hotly imperious. "You've forgotten to keep him from getting pogy. I kidded a swell in a snoring ken and shook him of his dunny and a sample of 'em."

She threw her arms about his neck and pressed her cheek to his. "Run no!" He gave her a little push. "The alderman hates to be kept waiting, you know."

"Damn you!" she said through her shut teeth, the angry fire in her eyes dying her starting tears. And then, with head thrown up, she walked out the next envelope and drew out its enclosure, there came a tap on the door. Before he could respond, this was pushed open and Anita Copley entered.

"Anita!" He turned back in his chair. "Strictly on time, and I've scarcely begun. Vill nuisance, this sort of thing. No more of it for me tonight anyway. Wait! he thrust the pile of letters away from him and turned toward her, "how is the little sister today?"

"Just the same." She helped herself to a cigar, lit it, and sank far down in an easy-chair. "I'm not only for his advertising, but it's awful—more incoherent. Its notes, 'I'd rather be hung than hanged around Kelsey any more!' I found her sitting under the tree with the other day."

"She's forgotten him," Anita was positive. "Notices him no more than she does any one else."

"That's all right then," Bristow dropped the subject; his mind had turned in another direction. "Speaking of Kelsey, though, I think I ought to tell you."

"He picked out a letter from among those he had read, and tossed it across the desk to her. It was a request from a well-known magazine for a series of popular articles covering modern methods of dealing with the insane, and named a handsome figure as payment.

"That is worth considering," he said, "not only for its advertising value, but because it gives me a prestige, a cachet of high authority that it is wise to cultivate."

SLANG. "I piked into Deuceville with a lumber-damber who couldn't pad the hoof for a single darkman's without his license to keep him from getting pogy. I kidded a swell in a snoring ken and shook him of his dunny and a sample of 'em."

No, this isn't the ravings of the slang used in the underworld 15 years ago. The slang of 1923 will seem equally puzzling to people 75 years from now in the year 1998. The wording changes, but the subjects of conversation are about the same in all generations.

MUSIC. Just 900 years ago, in 1032, the monk, Guido, invented the method of "writing" music on paper. Before Guido, music could be learned from one person to another only by ear. Guido invented the system of recording musical notes on lines, in about the same form as modern sheet music.

We owe much to Guido, the Benedictine. Incidentally, when he brought out his discovery he had a hard time overcoming suspicion and ridicule. Such is the history of all new things, especially new ideas.

MUMOR. John Jankowski, proprietor of a soft drink parlor was down in a chair at the front door of a place of business. Two passing strangers poured a bottle of acid into his gaping mouth.

Frightful cruelty, this "joke" certainly. And yet this bit of viciousness is twin-brother of the thing that is a us laugh when a man slips painfully on the ice or when a mule kicks him. Humor, so-called (separate this from fun) is a survival of savager. Human nature is usually at its lowest when it laughs.

OKLAHOMA SOUND AT BOTTOM, SAYS EX-SENATOR GORE

Characterizing the Oklahoma situation as a temporary hindrance to progress and the coming of out-of-state capital into Oklahoma, ex-Senator Thomas Pryor Gore of Lawton, Okla., and Washington, D. C., who stated Thursday he had suggested that civic and business organizations, make plans to tell the world about Oklahoma as soon as the dispute is settled in the courts.

Senator Gore arrived in Wichita Falls Thursday evening from Oklahoma City, where he spent Tuesday and Wednesday. The two days in Oklahoma City were the only ones spent in the state since Governor J. C. Walton placed the state under military control. The senator spends most of his time in Washington in the practice of law, although he still names Lawton as his home.

Strategizing out the conflicting claims of landowners along the Red river caused Senator Gore to come to Wichita Falls. He is attorney for a number of large eastern oil companies and as their counsel he is endeavoring to straighten out disputes of claimants before Oct. 25, 1934, when all conflicting claims must file their claims and boundary surveys at Guthrie, Okla.

Speaking about the Oklahoma situation, Senator Gore said: "Bad as it can be and getting worse all the time, it is up to the courts to settle the matter. Of course if the court holds the election valid, the legislature must meet and investigate the charges against the governor, and if the court decides the election invalid, Governor J. C. Walton has declared his intention of calling a special election on December 4.

The ex-senator declared that due to the present situation, outside capital had almost ceased coming into Oklahoma. He also declared that foreign advertisers had cancelled a number of advertising campaigns until the present situation cleared up.

"As soon as the courts decide the matter, it is up to the business and civic organizations of Oklahoma to start a publicity campaign throughout the United States, showing that the citizens of Oklahoma are law-abiding people and that they are not responsible for conditions which now exist in their state," the former senator declared.

Senator Gore declared that he believes in a government of law and order.

not of men and that a citizen should not be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law.

After spending a couple of days in Wichita Falls, Senator Gore will return to Lawton and Guthrie, Okla., and thence to Washington. He maintains law offices in Washington, Lawton, and Oklahoma City.

NASH PRICES UNCHANGED DESPITE IMPROVEMENTS MADE IN NEW MODELS

Announcement was made Thursday that despite all expensive improvements in the new Nash models, the prices remain the same, according to the King-Weaver Company, local dealers.

The new line of Nash cars offers the buyer a wide range of choice, there being thirteen models in all, open and closed types, some on the four-cylinder chassis and some on the four-cylinder chassis.

Particular interest is centered in the new Victoria, the latest addition to the Nash enclosed line. A conspicuous feature is the smart tilted windshield which broadens the driver's area of vision.

The sweeping square deck with its low built-in trunk and aluminum bars mounted on the top of the trunk add to the car's pleasing appearance.

Practically every convenience of equipment comes with the Victoria. There is a rear-view mirror; flush-type vanity and smoking set; and in addition the Victoria as well as other models in the new six-cylinder line is equipped with automatic windshield wiper, a fine jeweled instrument board with all instruments under glass, rubber filled running boards, and kick plates.

The passenger capacity of the Victoria is ample for four adults; and there is room for a child to sit behind the driver's seat. The heavy duty seat is broad and deep-cushioned and its convenient arm rest provides additional comfort.

Another Nash model that is creating quite a sensation is the beautiful big seven-passenger sedan. Its windshield is also sloped with admirable technique and its appointments are just as complete and luxurious as those of the Victoria.

Among the new four-cylinder Nash models, the most interesting changes have been made in the carriage. It is now finished in a rich maroon with shining black running gear and fenders.

The most striking advancement in body lines that characterize the new six-cylinder Nash line are the new and distinctive fenders. Both front and rear fenders have a far superior crown which gives them a more massive appearance.

The new Nash Six instrument board is not only a work of beauty, but the instruments are arranged in the most convenient manner for the driver. The board itself has a dull blue satin finish with three neatly arranged assemblies under glass. Every panel of glass is thoroughly illuminated by an individual electric light which may be turned on permanently or flashed on at the driver's will. A jeweled high-grade clock has been added as standard equipment.

Mrs. Huckabee's Sunday School Class of the First M. E. Church, South, will have a rummage sale at Noble-Little's old stand on Seventh street Saturday, Oct. 6.—Adv.

BOWIE FAIR IS OPENED THURSDAY PARADE FEATURES

BOWIE, Texas, Oct. 4.—The Bowie fair opened at 10 o'clock Thursday morning with a crowd of several hundred people present from the surrounding towns and communities. The initial feature of the morning was the parade which started from the tourist park about 10:30, headed by "Uncle Sam" on horseback. Next in line came the 400 school children wearing bright colored paper caps and carrying banners for "Better Health."

The school children were followed by the fire truck, and next in line came representatives of the local artillery. These were followed by beautifully decorated cars representing the various business houses. First prize was won by the E. M. Stallings Insurance Co. of the City National Bank car won second prize, the Holman Broom Co. car won the prize for representing its business best in its decorations. The Bowie band furnished music for the parade.

The army on Mason street is being used for the exhibit. The interior is very attractive with its well arranged booths. Many of the local firms have booths and also there are booths for fancy work, art, canning, antiques, cut flowers, cooking, agriculture, made in Bowie and many others. A livestock wagon yard and the artillery stables are being used for the livestock and poultry.

The fair will continue through Friday and Saturday.

Big Show Snake Enjoys a Semi-Monthly Plunge

Jumbo, the biggest snake in the world, took his semi-monthly bath Thursday night in his tank with the Worthams shows at the midway. The regular plunge of the big fellow is quite an event with the show city. Jumbo basks from the jungles of Congo. He loves water as much as any school boy. A bath of course, is a regular necessity.

He has his own bath tub, because it takes an unusual plunge for twenty feet of reptile to climb into. Thursday night just before the cook house with the shows closed, six workmen showed up. They took tank after tank of hot water to Jumbo's tank.

They poured this in the big tub and then added five gallons of fresh milk. Jumbo was released. He glided from his big cage to the side of the big tub. Then he gradually immersed himself in the water and milk, drinking as much of the mixture as he wanted.

He crawled around in it, and remained in it until it became too cool to be comfortable. Then he crawled out, and every inch of his twenty feet was wiped off with a blanket. Other blankets were provided to wrap him in. Then $600 worth of "big pet" went to bed for the night.

Texas has proved its taste!

I knew it would; I felt certain sure that when Texans realized they were not getting Kellogg's Corn Flakes—and realized that they were missing—that our sales would go steadily up and up.

And, they have! Once folks get the extra-flavor, extra-crispness and extra-substantial flakes that have made Kellogg's Corn Flakes the largest selling ready-to-eat cereal in the world, they KNOW that they never before knew how good corn flakes could be!

This is just the time to start eating Kellogg's Corn Flakes!

Texas also buys great quantities of our Kellogg's Corn Flakes. And, Kellogg's Corn Flakes are available in all the big cities of Texas.
