TEMPORARY ORDER PREVENTS TRAPP ACTING GOVERNOR

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 24. (AP)—A temporary restraining order preventing Lieutenant Governor M. E. Trapp from assuming the duties of the governor's office was issued today by Judge Tom G. Chambers. In the state district court upon application of Governor J. C. Walton. Hearing to make the order permanent will be held tomorrow. Judge Chambers is an associate of Governor Walton.

MAY BE GOVERNOR

MARTIN EDWARD TRAPP, Lieutenant Governor of Oklahoma.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 24. (AP)—An effort to file two executive orders with the secretary of state was made today by a clerk from the office of Governor J. C. Walton. Miss Una Roberts, assistant secretary of state, refused to accept the orders in view of the resolution adopted by the state senate suspending the governor from office. Observers believe the incident may be made the basis for court action to test the legality of the executive's suspension.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 24. (AP)—The bitterest fight precipitated since the convening of the special session of the Oklahoma legislature broke out on the floor of the house today when Representative J. W. Callahan, Democrat, Latimer county, introduced a resolution providing for an investigation to determine who paid the expenses of house members when they attempted to convene September 16 and were dispersed by the military authorities upon orders from Governor J. C. Walton. Callahan is a Wadsworth supporter.

The resolution was adopted after a brief, but acrimonious debate and was referred to a committee investigating conduct of house members. The resolution sought especially an inquiry to determine whether the Ku Klux Klan or certain "interests" in Tulsa had contributed funds for the attempted session.

Representative J. P. Phillips, Democrat, Cleveland county, asked Callahan to convene the house members who sought to answer the call for the session that was blocked by Governor Walton. He demanded an immediate investigation of the latter's action and declared that if it is proved untrue he would demand the suspension of Callahan from the house.

Callahan rejoined that he had the proof and dared the house let him present his testimony. The house fight was in progress, both Governor Walton and Lieutenant Governor M. E. Trapp officially served with the senate resolution adopted late yesterday suspending the governor from office and naming the latter acting governor during the impeachment trial of Governor Walton.

Lieutenant Governor Trapp declared that he would seek an opinion from George Short, state attorney general, as to the legality of the senate resolution. He declared that he will be advised by the attorney general's finding and that if he is informed he is the legally empowered acting governor he will perform the routine duties of the executive's office.

A message from Governor Walton received yesterday before passage of the suspension resolution was read in the house today. The executive called on the house members to investigate charges contained in local newspapers that large amounts of money were on hand to be used in influencing the trial of the legislature in the impeachment proceedings.

The governor referred to an article which he said appeared in a local paper denouncing "Jewett" (grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan) said that reports had come from Tulsa officials that $15,000 had reached Oklahoma City to be used in the senate.

The house took no action on the message.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 24. (AP)—Testimony of Walter D. Caldwell, wealthy oil operator, who from Governor Walton purchased a 141,660-acre home last year, and Dr. E. T. Tamm, former secretary of the governor, was read before the house today when it took up Article 4 in the impeachment bill submitted by the senate. Caldwell also testified on the impeachment and impeachment of the governor.

Article 4 alleges that the executive used his official authority for his personal financial gain, charging that E. W. Marland, wealthy oil operator, bought notes on the residence totalling $18,000 which the governor had given to Caldwell. The bill declares such action was "corrupt" in that it placed the governor as chairman of the state board of equalization under a great obligation to Marland, who was said to have "several millions of taxable property" in the state.

Caldwell admitted that he regarded the purchase of the notes as a "gift," the testimony revealed. Testimony of Marland also was read in which he admitted that he owned the notes. Asked if he bought the notes as a gift to the governor, Marland replied, according to the testimony: "I did not expect to get any money." Marland said he supported Walton in the general election last year because he "wanted the Democratic party to win."

A resolution was unanimously adopted today by the house directing W. C. McCallister, secretary of the senate, to call the senate to meet at once to the house the returns of the special state election held October 2.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24. (AP)—A few hours before he was to have been arraigned in court on charges of murder and arson growing out of the death of six persons in a Brooklyn fire last week, William Ford, 35, a white man, attempted to kill himself in his jail cell today by slashing his arms with a safety razor blade. A physician stopped the flow of blood and said Ford would recover.

"I'll try it again the first chance I get," Ford said. According to the confession of an alleged accomplice, set fire to the Brooklyn flat in which his father-in-law, George Kahn, a playwright, had his home, to revenge himself on the older man, with whom he had quarreled over a business deal.

In arguing to the jury the prosecuting attorney made the following statement: "If there is a member of any sect, organization or clan whose purpose and designs are the murder and enforcement of the criminal laws of the state, you have an opportunity in this case to demonstrate your sincerity to the teaching and doctrine of such organization."

The trial judge reprimanded the prosecuting attorney for the statement and instructed the jury to disregard it. In taking cognizance of this action of the trial judge the court said: "The letters are already in evidence."

Distinguished Guest of City Is One of Really Big Men of Nation And Recognized Leader in Senate

Senator Oscar Wilder Underwood of Alabama who is the guest of Wichita Falls today is one of the really big men in public life today. He is credited with being better informed on the tariff than any other man in the United States senate. His public life has been marked by a devotion to duty. He studies all important matters carefully and deeply, and acts from conviction and sincerity. He is not suspected as a debater by any member of the senate. He searches out the facts, then takes his course and with his facts well in handing is a most formidable adversary.

While a consistent Democrat Senator Underwood has enjoyed the respect and confidence of many Republican leaders. The late President Harding was one of them. The complaint was made from some source that Senator Underwood had more influence with the administration than many Republican senators.

RHINELAND MOVE GAINS AND LOSES; REPORT REACTION

TAKE FEW ADDITIONAL VILLAGES AND TOWNS ON TUESDAY. HAVE CLEARED OUT OF COBLENZ AND MAYENCE. Reaction is Apparent in Number of Towns That They Still Hold.

BUESELDORF, Oct. 24. (AP)—The Rhineland republic movement has spent its first force, according to reports received over the crippled wire system, but the struggle is still continued. The separatists took a few additional villages and towns yesterday and last night, but cleared out of Coblenz, their headquarters, and Mayence and reaction is apparent in a number of the towns they still hold.

RHINELAND REPUBLIC IS PROCLAIMED AT COBLENZ. PARIS, Oct. 24. (AP)—A Rhineland republic has been proclaimed at Coblenz and a provisional government has been appointed, but as national French newspapers put its republicans seem lagging.

The situation of the separatists this morning is not brilliant. They made no headway yesterday; rather the reverse. They apparently have lost Aix la Chapelle and also their hold on other places as the loyalist react from the first surprise of the coup and realize that the French and Belgian authorities are perfectly sincere in their neutrality and have no intention of interfering except to stop bloodshed.

NOTED EXPERT ON CHILDREN'S WORK FEATURES OF MEET

Two speakers who will take part in the program of the Texas Conference of Social Welfare to be held in this city on November 4-7, on account of their prominence as experts on children, are expected to attract extraordinary attention.

Miss Lundeberg has done a most notable work on the legal protection of children from child labor. The problems for which she stands and which she will discuss in her lecture at the local conference are condensed in the following statement quoted from an address by her at a national conference of social work held in Providence, R. I., in 1922.

"The child born out of wedlock constitutes a very serious problem, and for this reason special safeguards should be provided. For these reasons both parents should be held responsible for the child during its minority, and especially should the responsibility of the father be emphasized."

Miss Margaret E. Carey of the Child Health Organization has been successful in dramatic fashion in the First Christian Church during the conference she will give a play which will not only be beautiful to see but will teach the children of Wichita Falls the great value of the personal habits that will make possible the preservation of physical health.

Among other speakers of prominence who will address the conference during the three-day session are: C. C. Carver, director of the Child Welfare League of America; Clifford Dealey, chairman of the house committee on elementary institutions of the national committee of mental hygiene, and W. H. Parker, secretary of the national committee of social work.

Announcement of the splendid staff of speakers who will take an active part in the conference has brought about the greatest interest and every indication points to a record attendance at the 1923 conference. Local welfare workers said Wednesday it is the first time in the history of the Texas conference that so many nationally known speakers have been secured.

Imperial Wizard of Ku Klux Klan Outlines Plans of Organization In "Klan Day" Address at Dallas Fair

DALLAS, Oct. 24.—Citizens of the Invisible Empire, otherwise known as Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, heard the Klan's immigration policy outlined by their imperial wizard, Dr. W. H. Evans, in a Klan day address at the state fair this afternoon. The imperial wizard outlined the Klan policy as being for the stopping of all immigration with exceptions applying only to departed families with a study by the government for the determination of a permanent immigration policy.

"The subject of his address was 'The Menace of Modern Immigration.' He quoted at length from government statistics obtained in the first and from other government sources. He stated that the present quota law is radically wrong and cruelly inhuman. While he did not urge the exclusion of the Jew and the Catholic he characterized them as undesirable.

"Considering his address he said: 'This problem of immigration has become so acutely critical, so menacing to America in its every aspect and influence, as to demand instant and heroic attention by those in authority. I speak only as one American, but in that capacity I humbly submit to you that the course should, at the earliest possible moment, enact two emergency measures.'

"First, stop all immigration with exceptions applying only to separated families. 'Second, while the gates are closed, institute a thorough governmental investigation into every phase of alienism, to the end that there may be exact and scientific information upon which to base a permanent immigration policy. Such an official inquiry should include: (a) The causes and all the results of the foreign influx, past and present—nationality, politically, socially, economically, and in relation to education, health and morals.

"(b) A survey of all our needs for man power, with particular reference to geographical distribution and the requirements for production and creative labor; and (c) A study of the kinds of people whose presence here would best meet those agricultural and industrial needs, always keeping in mind the all-important American matter of their ultimate assimilation into our civic and social structure.

"Such a comprehensive, impartial official investigation of the whole special problem seems absolutely essential to its just solution. The congress cannot act to prevent the remedy without being in possession of such and every vital fact. Moreover, all our people should be fully informed, because in the final analysis it is public opinion that counts for well or woe, under our republican form of government.

"As an alternative to the first suggestion, however, if the congress be not reluctant to close and lock the gates against all immigration, pending the most far-reaching inquiry, it might not greatly increase our immediate danger to continue the quota law, provided that 1880, and not 1910, were made the ratio basis for admission. Up to 1880 fully 98 per cent of our immigration was of the Nordic type, the kindred, desirable, easily assimilable kind. By 1910 it was an overwhelming flood of inferior foreign elements.

"Therefore, any continuance of the quota principle, whether tentative or permanent, should revert to the earlier period when the influx was of a character that did not preceptually lower our standards of the American, private and public life.

"But regardless of whether or not the quota basis be retained, we, as Americans, seeking American supremacy for this nation because the alternative is the highest goal, should demand that any permanent immigration policy shall bring about a complete reversal of the existing situation, both as to principle and practice.

"Now, the immigration motive is all in alien circles. Likewise, and equally unstatesmanlike, the agencies for the examination and admission of immigrants are upon this side of the water.

"The selection, and then the invitation to come, should originate here; the machinery should be there.

"We should know, we must know, not by guesswork, but through exact analysis of our needs, both the number and quality of people whose migration to America would be of lasting advantage for all concerned.

"Their domestic basis cannot aid any element if it enrages us. Our wholesomeness, our stamina, as a nation, is the hope of humanity everywhere. A selfish, militant, attention-to-the-composite-character of our citizenship becomes at once the most sinister, menacing and altruistic endeavor to which we can turn our hearts and hands. I say, therefore, that eliminating ourselves from the consideration of any constructive benefit to ourselves, thinking only of the fulfillment of God's purpose for a superior Christian civilization for America, after learning where, why and to what extent immigrants can advance our common welfare, we should say to kindred countries having our ideals and aspirations: 'There is in America a place for so many thousands or tens of thousands of your best citizens. We invite them to settle in this or that particular place, where the need exists for agriculture, production, or creative labor. For their convenience and our own safety, we will send them to the place of their choice, renovated and re-invigorated with the true American spirit, will make all decisions as to their physical, mental and moral fitness before your sons and daughters begin the pilgrimage to America. Their admittance will be determined before they start. Then no uncertainty, no financial danger, no dread of unsettled consequences, can mar the journey.

"Officially and spiritually will we await their coming with words and deeds of welcome. We will be determined before they start. Then no uncertainty, no financial danger, no dread of unsettled consequences, can mar the journey.

"Officially and spiritually will we await their coming with words and deeds of welcome. We will be determined before they start. Then no uncertainty, no financial danger, no dread of unsettled consequences, can mar the journey.

"The divine intention, it seems to me, has been manifest from the beginning. Ages and ages before this country was called America, He fashioned this land in surpassing beauty and placed in it and upon it a varied, exhaustless store of resources to which His favored children could apply their genius and attain new heights of human welfare. On all the planet there was no country so rich in its perfection. Throughout the centuries, when man was savagely struggling upward, learning the lessons of life at the cost of death to himself and devastation to his possessions, America remained hidden. It was as though His choicest earthly heritage were being kept concealed until a superior people should emerge to justify its habitation. Certainly it so came to pass. The discovery, long delayed, was timed to the advent of settlers with character and accomplishments completely in harmony with that conception. To this great Eden journeyed the best and bravest of the Old World, among whom in turn only the bravest and best were able to survive. There was a double refinement of these pioneer patriots. First, through the strength and courage required for their emancipation abroad, and then in their triumph over the dangers and adversities of a virgin environment. The birth of this nation, out of that holy alliance of the highest human and heavenly purposes, marked a new era for organized society. It brought new light and new hope to the world. That was, and is, America's mission. During a hundred years of national existence, there was uninterrupted evolution toward such a destiny, because, as God intended for this republic, its composite people were physically, mentally and morally purified, with an inherent kindred reverence for rightly established institutions and a genuine sense of heart and mind concerning the principles which would insure their perpetuity.

Take the cement industry, as an example: The mills used 9,000,000 tons of coal last year. That is, of course, saying nothing of the business created for coal operators and transportation lines. Sacks are not so large an item in the cement industry as coal, yet 50,000,000 new sacks, representing 50,000 bales of cotton, had to be bought last year for replacements alone. Back of this were cotton planters, plantation workers, mill owners, mill operatives and so on—thousands altogether.

And consider these other requirements of the industry last year: 3,700,000 barrels of fuel oil, 3,400,000,000 cubic feet of gas, 15,000,000 pounds of explosives, 32,000,000 pounds of greases and oils, 1,700,000 linear feet of belting, 4,500,000 firebrick for relining kilns, 7,000,000 pounds of paper for bags, 600,000 tons of gypsum.

In addition the industry bought quantities of heavy grinding and burning machinery, locomotives, cars, rails, electrical and other necessary equipment. In this way a single industry spreads prosperity to many others.

S. M. U. ELEVEN BATTLE TEXAS AGGIES FRIDAY

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 24.—The Southwestern Conference campaign opens Friday afternoon at College Station for two teams as yet undefeated, neither of which has met a conference rival, when the S. M. U. Eleven battles Texas Aggies at home lot of the latter. This game starts the S. M. U. well on its way for the conference titles as the opening week the Mustangs play T. C. U. at Dallas.

Coaches Morrison and Freeland leave for College Station tonight with a full squad of thirty men with the expectation of putting a team in the field Friday that will for the first time this year have hit the real stride on offensive and defensive play. In the latter department, the Mustangs can match the achievement of A. and M. as their goal line has not been crossed this year by a hostile foot and only a field goal has been driven across their defense. The Aggies are not yet scored on and on previous showing possible rate a more consistent team.

S. M. U. has never been a team that permits itself to be beaten on paper and against A. and M. it has always played its hardest. The eligibility of "Blink" Bedford will improve the end play of the club, and in addition Logan Shilley rank may reach his real form against the Aggies. Bedford and "Stolley" were stars of the victory of S. M. U. at the stadium last fall.

Here again is a case of one team that has been able to point for the Aggie battle as its first big clash of the season against a team that had to condition its men mentally for an early season battle with another strong rival.

Whoever wins Friday's game will get it by a close score—and the conference title may be decided in this game.

The American Legion will line up a big double program for its boxing show at the Wichita Theater Thursday night, according to the card which has been planned. A feature of the program will be a ten-round match between Dago Ryan of Dallas, a Wichita Falls favorite who took a decision over Country Boy Lance, and Duke Trammel, the Fort Worth high school boy, who won his way into the hearts of local boxing fans last Thursday evening in the semi-final of the card when he put Alvan Williamson down for the count in the second round of their scheduled encounter.

Jimmie Carroll of Fort Worth will take on Speedy Dinyon of Alford for the second part of the affair. Both boxers have won decisions here, while Carroll went so far as to put the layo on Tucker of Abilene in the second round of main bout. Both of the main attractions should be peppy with lots of thrills.

"Kid" Snyder of Burk Burnett may go six rounds with Joe Yare of Fort Worth, the Mexican wonder. However, since Snyder is scheduled to fight in Amarillo Friday night, Mickey Gray of Sapulpa, Oklahoma may possibly be substituted in his place.

The dusky favorite of Wichita Falls, the local favorite, will be contenders to the championship of this county, has been called to the carpet by "Tar-Baby" of Elkhart for the first time since he lost the later states that Rattle Snake must make good his boast or the belt will go down Elkharta way. Other preliminaries are to be scheduled before the time of the exhibition. A five-piece orchestra will again furnish music between bouts.

This business of being an "invincible" in golf is a glamorous thing, but it lacks the good, old-fashioned, home-cooked qualities of permanency. Messrs. Travis, Hagen and Evans, giants of the game, resigned from the order years ago. Now the dear ladies are finding that invincibility is something that does not exist.

What many predicted would be her best season on the links turned out to be her worst. She was defeated four times in individual tournament matches, a rather sizable number of defeats to check against a national champion's name.

Mrs. Caleb Fox, 63-year old grandmother, outstroked her in the south early last spring. Miss Cummings beat her in the Buffalo Invitational. Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeek triumphed her in the national, and Anita Lohme of Chicago, practically an unknown, ushered her out of the sitting room in the recent Berthelina Cup tournament.

Vernon Will Get Championship Game If Her Eleven Wins From Quannah: Otherwise May Come Here

Vernon will get the sectional championship game a week from Saturday if the Vernon high school squad wins over Quannah in its tilt at Quannah Friday afternoon. This decision was given by Roy B. Henderson of the interscholastic league. If Friday's contest is won by Quannah the place for the next game will be decided upon later. Vernon played the Coyotes in this city last season, which gives Vernon the right to have the 1923 meet in her own back yard. Mr. Henderson stated that it was the plan of the league, as near as possible, to alternate the games each year in order to give every city an even break.

AS "COL. BILL" EDWARDS REPORTS FOOTBALL

(Henrietta Review.) In the game between high school teams of Wichita Falls and Henrietta last Saturday afternoon on the local field, the result was an expected 25 and 7 in favor of the visitors. As expected for the reason that Henrietta's city schools are par excellence as an educational institution and walk "em right through the text books before their bodies are developed into manhood; and so the boys are physically light in weight. Anyhow, whether for this or other reason, the local eleven was as a whole very perceptibly the lighter in bone and frame. Or the visiting team, Fullback Baldwin was of the full stature of a man and weighed, perhaps, 150 pounds, and shook off the tackles of the Wichita fellows easily. The score advantage to the big boys, however, was all gained in the first half of the game, the small boys having "spunked up" with result that the last half was a tie with one touchdown for each team. Game was played on well soaked ground and for part of the time it rained. No casualties. A statement found somewhere in the visiting team, Fullback Baldwin cannot serve both football and books—with the additional observation to effect that in proportion as one is loved the other will be hated. Perhaps a boy's mind may run to football with the result that he is still in school when practically a grown man.

SOME THINGS OF MODERN DAY BUNK SAYS DR. DAVENPORT

Branding psychology and birth control are bunk. Dr. Charles Davenport declared Wednesday morning in her room at the Kemp, that such teachings should be suppressed instead of advocated.

"I am younger today at 50 years than I was 20 years ago," declared the famous Dr. Davenport of New York. "My husband, who is in his fifties, is not younger than I am in any respect."

"I have never liked sick people or medicine," she believes entirely in prevention and all these psychologies and Divine healing theories are useless and Wichita is rolling wild with them at present.

"Life is a school and not a playground," continued the remarkable world-known woman and she can not refer to heres as being old, or remarkably aged, she carries herself, she has never worn corsets, yet her figure is such a beauty as to might give. She deplores tight shoes, tight shoes and the use of cosmetics.

When asked what she thought of flappers she declared: "I would not call those poor young girls flappers, because they are just silly young girls and one does not expect anything from them. It is the older women who should be ashamed of their hands and made to behave properly."

To ordinary mortals perhaps Dr. Davenport seems somewhat pious, but she is a keen horse rider, a swimmer, tennis and takes part in all kinds of games, besides being a very graceful and a keen dancer. She is a leading exponent in America and Europe of physical training and has conducted a school in New York for 40 years. Her husband that and during her school career at intervals she has returned to Europe to study physical training and hygiene. For 10 years she has been at the Austrian court of the Emperor Elizabeth and to be a teacher in the court of the Russian Emperor, she has been in the court of the Duke of Westminster and both pupils of Dr. Davenport.

Thursday afternoon she will give a lecture to a select crowd on the smallness of the woman's body and the influence of the atmosphere. The public is cordially invited to attend. She will also give a lecture on the influence of the atmosphere on Thursday afternoon and all are invited.

Dr. Davenport will probably spend much of her time in visiting and getting acquainted with the people of Texas, of whom she is very fond. She declared her joy for the people of the great southwest and stated that she was interested and wanted to meet more of the citizens of this part of the country.

CHARGES THOUSAND ILLEGAL OPERATIONS IN DENVER ANNUALLY

DENVER, Oct. 23. (AP)—Whether juvenile Judge Ben Lindsey can be compelled to reveal specific cases concerning alleged illegal operations performed in Denver was expected to be determined today. The chief figures in Denver's underworld are expected to be named in a statement to the press recently that fully 1,000 illegal operations are performed in this city annually.

In a letter mailed to the grand jury yesterday, Judge Lindsey made known his intention of refusing to violate confidence placed in him by women and girls who had told him their troubles. However, he said the grand jury should be kept advised of the results of his investigations and the manner in which he would attempt to stop the operations.

While District Attorney Phillip H. Vance last night declined to make any statement, what his attitude on the judge's refusal to appear before the jury, he intimated that some action will be taken.

Judge Lindsey was fined $500 several years ago for contempt of court when he refused to divulge the confidence of a 17-year-old boy, Wright during the trial of the boy's mother for the murder of her husband.
