Impeachment Trial Of Governor Walton Thrown Into Up roar

OFFICERS ABANDON FOUL PLAY THEORY IN CASE AT VERNON

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 13. (AP)—The state senate court of impeachment was thrown into an uproar today when counsel defending Governor J. C. Walton launched into a cross examination of Dr. E. T. Bynum, former confidant of the suspended executive which was characterized by members of the court as "outrageously unfair."

NOW BELIEVED JIM HODGES WAS STRUCK BY AN AUTOMOBILE

Effort being made to locate driver of car striking body early Sunday morning creates sensation at Vernon.

EFFORT BEING MADE TO LOCATE DRIVER OF CAR

VERNON, Texas, Nov. 13.—The means by which Jim Hodges, young farm hand, came to his death here some time between 1 and 2:30 a. m. Sunday morning remains a mystery, following an investigation by officers which began early Sunday morning and continued throughout Sunday and Monday.

The murder theory has been practically abandoned. Officers are now of the opinion that Hodges was struck by an automobile driving westward on the paved road leading into Vernon. The driver of a service car of the heavy type, who made a trip east of Vernon and returned in the early morning hours Sunday, was held for questioning today, but investigation has failed to connect him with the affair thus far.

It is generally believed now that Hodges was fatally injured by a fast running automobile while he was walking along the paved road. Officers are now trying to find the driver of the death car with a view of lodging a charge of negligent homicide against him.

The finding of Hodges' almost lifeless body early Sunday morning caused a sensation here today, but investigation has failed to connect him with the affair thus far.

His injuries were such, according to physicians, that all probability he did not have a single rational moment after he was struck.

PARTY LEADERS MEET IN CHICAGO FOR CONFERENCE

CHICAGO, Nov. 13. (AP)—Political observers today attach considerable importance to the visits here of Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, William G. McAdoo and Chairman John T. Adams of the Republican national committee. Although none of them would make any statement, each was engaged in a series of conferences with local leaders and greeted numerous callers.

In some quarters the opinion was expressed that Senator Johnson, whose stay here may be prolonged, might announce his intention to become a candidate for the Republican nomination for president at the national convention, which will be held in Chicago.

Mr. McAdoo, accompanied by his wife, will leave tonight for California. Chairman Adams conferred with Fred W. Upham, president of the Republican national committee, who had expressed the belief that the Republican national convention will be held in Chicago.

RAIN OF OVER ONE AND ONE-TENTH INCHES IN CITY

DOWNPOUR IS GENERAL OVER DISTRICT FOR MORE THAN TWELVE HOURS.

NO DAMAGE REPORTED ON ANY RAILROADS

Highways Again Becoming impassable; Very Slight Rises Reported In Rivers.

AND NOW WE KNOW WHY IT'S RAINING SO MUCH

"Why is it raining so much?" is the question put by many. The answer comes forth through the channels of court house employees. The source was an astronomer or an astrologer, this having not been made entirely plain.

Here is the reason: The great earthquake which spread rain and disaster in Japan has dislodged Old Mother Earth from her base, and with the result that this portion of Texas where we reside has been pushed over to the rain belt formerly located in the country lying around Memphis and eastern Arkansas.

More than one and one-tenth inches of rain have been recorded by George Simmons, local weather officer, since the advent of the rain Monday, and it is still raining hard in this vicinity.

Railroad dispatchers report rains on all lines operating out of Wichita Falls. Highways are in bad condition and many are impassable. The mercury stood at 59 degrees Monday evening and the same today morning.

The heavy downpour of rain began Monday night following light drizzles Sunday and Monday in this vicinity. A heavy rain fell all night and rain was still falling at noon Monday. Activities in the oil fields and at the irrigation dams and canals have been suspended on account of the inclement weather.

The dispatcher of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad reported rains all along the line. Wichita Falls dispatcher for the Wichita Valley line reported heavy rains at all points except at Abilene.

Heavy rains are reported on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas lines as far as Altus and light rains beyond that point. Light rains were reported by the Wichita Falls and Southern Railroad. Wet and soft tracks are being experienced by all of the railroads and several trains are reported running behind schedule time. No damage has been reported by any of the lines operating out of this city.

Highways are again in bad condition and many of the roads are reported impassable. Very little rise has been reported in rivers in northern western Texas and southern Oklahoma.

MORE THAN ONE INCH RAIN AT BURKBURNETT

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Nov. 13.—Rain began falling here early this morning amounting to over one inch before noon and it has continued since. The roads are in very bad condition.

Repairs on the Burkburnett wagon bridge over Red river is held up pending settled weather.

Highways are again in bad condition and many of the roads are reported impassable. Very little rise has been reported in rivers in northern western Texas and southern Oklahoma.

MORE THAN HALF INCH RAINFALL AT HASKELL

HASKELL, Texas, Nov. 13.—Rain began falling here late yesterday afternoon and continued at intervals through the night. It was still raining at 10 o'clock this morning. More than one-half inch of rain has fallen and the roads are in very bad condition.

RAIN OVER HENRIETTA SECTION MONDAY NIGHT

HENRIETTA, Texas, Nov. 13.—After a week of bright weather rain started here about 7:30 last night and continued through the night. It is raining hard today, with no prospect of clearing off. The temperature is about the same as for the past week.

Secures Passports for Return And Rumor Is He Will Attempt To Revive Monarchy December 4

BERLIN, Nov. 13. (AP)—It is officially denied here that former Emperor William has been authorized to return to Germany.

BERLIN, Nov. 13. (AP)—Former Crown Prince Frederick William arrived at his estate at Oels, Silesia, at 8 o'clock this afternoon, a message from Oels announced.

BERLIN, Nov. 13. (AP)—The German government will predicate an autonomous Rhineland state in the immediate future, it was stated on good authority here this afternoon.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 13. (AP)—William Hohenzollern, former emperor of Germany, was again a figure commanding world-wide attention today as the governments of the powers made efforts to learn more of the reported plans for returning to the fatherland.

Equipped with passports for himself and members of his suite he is said by a local newspaper to be prepared to establish either himself or his son, former Crown Prince Frederick William, on the throne of the empire on December 4.

There was no official confirmation of the return of the emperor nor was William's destination in Germany suggested. Private messages from the little Dutch village, however, said that a courier yesterday delivered there 12 passports permitting the ex-emperor and his entourage to reenter the fatherland after about a year's exile. Cables, cypher messages are said to have been received at the castle during the day.

It is pointed out here that William has been keeping in close touch with the monarchists in Germany and that he has hoped for some time that the situation in the fatherland would shape itself favorably for his return. It is also believed that he would regard Holland as perhaps an insecure place for refuge in view of the protest lodged by the return of the emperor of Frederick William.

SHOW ANXIETY OVER MOVEMENTS EX-KAISER

LONDON, Nov. 13. (AP)—Some of the British newspapers are beginning to show anxiety over the possibility of the return of the former Emperor William and last night's report from Paris and Brussels that he had obtained his passports are featured significantly this morning.

It is said the visit of Dr. Kaas, Dutch official at Doorn house, yesterday was in view of the protest lodged by the return of the emperor of Frederick William.

None of the London correspondents at Oels, Upper Silesia, or elsewhere had been able to locate Crown Prince Frederick William up to midnight of the 12th, counting a previous dispatch that the prince had arrived at his estate yesterday afternoon.

Interest in his return is now very feeble. The newspapers commenting on it hold that his re-entry into Germany is not an incident of sufficient importance to justify that allied action which seems to be favored in France.

ITALY IS WORKING IN HARMONY WITH ALLIES

ROME, Nov. 13. (AP)—Italy has adhered to the protest of the allied governments against the return of Crown Prince Frederick William to Germany and also against the refusal of Germany to re-establish the international control commission, says the Giornale d'Italia.

This is new proof of the full solidarity of the allies in maintaining the validity of the treaty, the newspaper adds. It asserts that Premier Mussolini has sent instructions in this sense to Baron Averani, Italian ambassador to France, and that it is understood the allies are awaiting Germany's answer before exchanging views with regard to the protest.

The fall of the empire," he says, "left an aching void in Germany's soul which the republic has been incapable of filling. Berlin secretly aspires to a return of the glistering capital of the empire.

"Fetters in Germany is forced. She has no army and therefore is pacifist because she can not wage war."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. (AP)—President Coolidge believes traditional policy of the American government is to inform the emperor of Germany of the allied governments' protest against his return to Germany.

CHIEF JUSTICE OF AUSTIN COURT OF APPEALS IS DEAD

AUSTIN, Nov. 13. (AP)—Judge William H. Gage, chief justice of the third court of civil appeals, died at his home here at 1:30 o'clock this morning following an illness of several months. Judge Gage was known throughout Texas as a jurist.

Born in Georgia, he came to Texas as with his parents who settled in Gonzales county, and it was there his boyhood days were spent. When a young man, Judge Gage came to Austin, where he first took up the study of law. Several years later he moved to Georgetown, Texas, where he was elected county judge, his first judicial office. From that post, he was elevated to district judge, which office he held a number of years.

During the time Judge Gage held the office of district judge, he had many intricate questions to decide. It was he who handed down a ruling, the first of his kind in Texas, that the state of Texas could not be divided into counties by an act of the legislature. This decision is not yet settled.

In 1922 when the courts of civil appeals were organized, Judge Gage was appointed associate justice of that tribunal at Austin by Governor McCombs. In February, 1918, he was appointed chief justice by Governor Campbell to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Chief Justice R. C. Fisher.

Judge Gage held the office of chief justice from that time until his death. He was a distinguished jurist and his high office was characterized at all times by his distinguished ability.

COURTS WILL NOT MEET

AUSTIN, Nov. 13. (AP)—Out of respect for the late Judge William H. Gage, the courts of civil appeals will not meet tomorrow, according to an announcement by F. T. Conroy, clerk of the supreme court. The courts will hold their regular sessions Thursday.

ROME, Nov. 13. (AP)—Premier Mussolini in the preface of a book written by R. Suster on the present German situation says: "Is Germany sincerely republican? Is Germany really pacifist? Is Germany really bankrupt?"

The premier answers the first two questions by quoting from articles he has written in the past. "The fall of the empire," he says, "left an aching void in Germany's soul which the republic has been incapable of filling. Berlin secretly aspires to a return of the glistering capital of the empire.

"Fetters in Germany is forced. She has no army and therefore is pacifist because she can not wage war."

JUDGE DISMISSES WARRANT AGAINST IMPERIAL WIZARD

REQUESTED BY ATTORNEY "FOR BEST INTERESTS OF ALL CONCERNED."

BRIEF STATEMENT ON DEATH OF CAPT. COBURN

Declares He is Not in Possession of Facts Leading to Tragedy.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 13. (AP)—The peace warrant against Imperial Wizard H. W. Evans of the Ku Klux Klan was dismissed today by Judge T. O. Hathcock in municipal court here after Walter Colquitt, attorney for Dr. Fred B. Johnston, chief of staff for Emperor W. J. Simmons, who swore out the warrant, asked that it be dismissed, "for the best interests of all concerned."

Dr. Evans, accompanied by his attorney, Paul E. Etheridge, was in the court room as was Dr. Johnston. Referring to the statement of Dr. Johnston's attorney, Mr. Etheridge said Dr. Evans was in court and was prepared to go into trial of the peace warrant proceedings and he asked the court either to conduct a hearing or dismiss the case. Judge Hathcock said he would dismiss the case in view of the statement from the prosecution and since the defendant offered no objection, a peace warrant against him Wizard Evans issued a statement in which he declared that he was not in possession of the facts which brought about the tragedy.

The request for a peace warrant against Evans was promptly dismissed by Judge Hathcock upon his voluntary appearance in court this morning. The peace warrant was issued on the basis of a statement by the complainant.

"Colonel Simmons' statement that the Klan was the rock of evil means that it is resting spiritually on the rock of evil in all that implies and particularly on the rock of evil, as said in House resolutions."

OFFICIAL ANXIETY IN LONDON RESULT GREEK SITUATION

KING GEORGE WILL PROBABLY BE FORCED TO LEAVE THE COUNTRY.

ESTABLISHMENT OF NEW REPUBLIC IS PROPOSED

King Little More Than Harmless Adornment to Throne Since Father's Death.

LONDON, Nov. 15. (AP)—Ministerial circles in London are without definite word of the uncertain political situation in Greece at the present moment, but they view with much anxiety official reports that King George probably will be forced to leave the country so as to permit the establishment of a republic.

Great Britain, like the United States, has financial claims against Greece and it is felt that the proclamation of a republic amid such chaotic conditions as now prevail would make the payment of these claims or even the interest on them impossible.

The United States advanced Greece $15,000,000 under the "Liberty bond act" and the interest on this amount to date totals another million. While the London government, like that at Washington, has withheld its recognition of King George, who inherits such a legacy from the late King Constantine, it has warmly endorsed the young monarch's neutrality throughout the three party strife in Greece and his efforts to reestablish his country in the good opinion of the world.

It is recognized that George has been little more than a harmless adornment to the throne since his father's death, but it is felt he is probably the one man acceptable to both the Venizelos and royalist parties who could tide a country through the furious political passions which since the ruthless killing of King Constantine and his five colleagues have poisoned the whole national life.

Little hope is entertained that the establishment of a republic through penetration of a powerful yet harmless germicidal, of which Crocetin is the greatest germ-destroying, tissue-purifying, and blood-cleansing agent, is the best and most certain way to the South by Florida known as Crocetin.

Denials are made that a great majority of people suffer from pyorrhea (gum disease) or pyorrhea (gum disease). This condition is not, as is commonly supposed, a disease of the teeth, but a disease of the gums and teeth, but also a very general health, as the pus, which is very poisonous, is absorbed into the system, causing various troubles, the result of which are sometimes fatal.

If your gums are sore or bleed easily or your teeth sensitive or loose, start now using Crocetin. The new discovery that, through penetration, carries a powerful germicidal, of which Crocetin is the greatest germ-destroying, tissue-purifying, and blood-cleansing agent, is the best and most certain way to the South by Florida known as Crocetin.

Crocetin should be used by every one with weak or aching teeth, the gum firm and healthy and free from pain. It is at Palace Drug Co., Four corners where it is sold. Crocetin Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

Venizelos himself, who is said by observers to be probably the only man of sufficient calibre and popularity to drag Greece out of her present position, has said that any violent change in the constitution would entirely alienate the masses, and that the question of a republic will not be decided until the entire population has had the opportunity of expressing its opinion in the general elections that have been fixed for February 15, 1923.

COUNCIL DECIDES TO REPAVE INDIANA AVENUE WITH BRICK

After hanging fire for several weeks a decision to pave Indiana avenue from Sixth to Tenth streets with brick pavement was reached at the meeting of the city council Monday night, when a majority of the ballots showing the preference of property owners specified paving of that type. The contract for the paving of the four blocks on Indiana avenue will be awarded to the Plains Paving Company, the same company to which the contract for the repaving of Ohio was let at the last meeting.

The removal of the wooden block pavement and its replacement by brick on the two downtown avenues brought up the question of a change in the water mains on these streets to avoid tearing into the pavement after it had been laid and the council authorized an expenditure of $4,000 to be used in Monday way. It is proposed that a four-inch main, which will be accessible from the sidewalk and will eliminate the disturbance of the paving will be laid, under the new plan. The proposal was made by Commissioner Clayton and received the approval of the council. Commissioner Clayton also recommended the extension of 5 1/2 feet of two-inch main on Front street, 5 1/2 feet west from Lee street. The extension will be made at a cost of $125.00 and will at present serve ten families, the commissioner said, in recommending the installation. The council authorized the extension.

RAILROAD BULLETIN TELLS OF INTERRUPTION OF TRAFFIC BY FLOOD

Recent interruption of railroad operations in the southwest caused by floods and heavy rains more forcibly impressed upon the people of northwestern Oklahoma and southern Oklahoma the importance of railroad service, according to the "information bulletin" issued November 7 by the public relations department of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad. Demands for lower freight rates and higher wages were also taken up in the bulletin.

In substantiating its position that a reduction in grain rates would not solve the present problem, the Katy bulletin quotes what it terms "an interesting comment on the actual benefit that would accrue to the average farmer through a decrease in grain rates, in a recent decision on the case by the interstate commerce commission. The commission found a saving of from $10 to $15 a farm by a reduction of the rates on grain based on the 1910 census, but the commission found that fluctuations in the grain market are frequently just as important as substantial changes in freight rates and that the effect on the carrier's revenue would be serious to certain individual lines. The comment concluded by saying that the revenue of railroads had not been "excessive or in violation of the law," that railroads in the western group have been and are now earning considerably less than the prescribed return and apparently less than the fair return to which they are entitled by their constitutional rights," although the tonnage handled during the past year has been large.

Average Pay Higher. "Average annual compensation of railroad employes is now higher than at the peak in 1920," the bulletin reads in regard to the constant demand for higher wages. Increased demands recently granted to the shopcraft and maintenance of way men, added to the demands of clerks, train and engineers, would raise the Katy payroll a million dollars a year, the statement in the bulletin declares.

Get health—Keep health—Feel fine by eating Kellogg's Bran regularly!

Constipation and the toxic poisonings that come from it not only take the enthusiasm out of life, making you depressed and physically and mentally full—but they head you into the most dreaded of human diseases. You can actually rid yourself of these dangers if you will EAT KELLOGG'S BRAN REGULARLY—at least two tablespoons daily; in chronic cases with every meal. Kellogg's Bran is nature's most wonderful food. It is scientifically prepared to relieve suffering humanity from constipation and it will do that as no other food can! Don't take a chance of "getting away" with constipation—IT WILL GET YOU! Don't ruin your health with pills and cathartics—they are as dangerous as constipation itself and give but temporary relief, at the very best!

What you should do for your family and for yourself is to serve Kellogg's Bran every day, in any one of several attractive ways, and fight constipation as you have never fought it before! YOU WILL WIN, because Kellogg's is ALL BRAN!

In the first place, Kellogg's Bran is delicious in its nut-like flavor, adding greatly to any cereal with which it is used. Eat bran as a cereal with hot milk, or mix it with hot cereal before serving. Another method is to cook Kellogg's Bran with cereal. In each case add two tablespoonsful of bran for each person. A popular way is to sprinkle bran on hot or cold cereal. Bran makes wonderful bakery products. Recipes on every package. Kellogg's Bran is served in leading hotels, restaurants and clubs. It is sold by all grocers.

Strong Plea for American World Leadership Delivered At Electra By Fred Weeks On Armistice Day

ELECTRA, Texas, Nov. 11.—A large crowd attended the Armistice Day celebration here, when the principal address was delivered by W. F. Weeks of Wichita Falls. Mr. Weeks said in part:

"If Armistice Day means anything beyond recounting our sacrifices, and pausing a grain with sorrow for the soldier's grave in loving memory of the service and life he so willingly gave, it is to reconsecrate ourselves to the cause for which he died. To prevent those principles from being dimmed by the years, and the train of incidents which ultimately called practically all the nations of the earth into the most colossal combat in history, began some 35 years ago. It is interesting to refer to a newspaper article of about that time. Harold Frederic, a famous American novelist of the period, was the Berlin correspondent of a New York paper. The old German Emperor, William the First, had died. His son, Frederick William, an able man with liberal tendencies and an English education, was the young crown prince. William the Second, was impatiently waiting for the time when he would mount the throne. All the world was wondering what manner of man he was and what he would do to the peace of Europe. An old Frederick sent to his newspaper a long pen picture of William the Second, which not only showed him as he was, but with singular clarity showed just what a menace he was to the world. The reporter said: 'You look into the face of this young Hohenzollern and remember with wondering reservations the malignant tales which have been told of his inner nature by those who knew him best. Their view of his character is that he is utterly cold, entirely selfish, wantonly cruel; a young man without conscience or compassion or any softening virtues whatever. That he has great ability, they all admit, but they stop there. Heart, he has none. His character is the crown and flower of might, ruthlessness and spoliation exalted into creed.'

"This man came to the throne as Kaiser William, and for years he prepared to ravage and exploit the world. For five years now he has been in exile, but oh, what it cost the world to place him there. Civilization at Stake.

"It was not our quarrel and we had no entangling alliance obligating our participation. But civilization was at stake, and was fast being destroyed to give way to a world empire ruled by a monarch whose only creed was military supremacy.

"Ultimately by the logical steps of necessity our peace-loving nation was drawn into the conflict.

"At that time General Haig, with the bluntness of a soldier, said: 'The British army is fighting with its back to the wall.' France clung like a drowning man to the Rock of Gibraltar.

that the president of the United States will address congress. There steps out to the speaker's desk a vigorous, slender man, active and alert. He is 60 years of age but he looks not more than 40, so little of him, so alert of bearing, so virtuous in Woodrow Wilson reading his great war message. The other picture is only three and one-half years later. There is a parade of war veterans of the great war. They are to be reviewed by the president from the east terrace of the white house. In a chair sits a man, the president, broken in health but still alert in mind; his hair is white, his figure bent. He is 63 years old but looks older. Presently, in the procession, there appears an ambulance, laden with wounded soldiers—the maimed, the halt and the blind. As they pass they salute and tears fill his eyes. The wounded is greeting the wounded. Those in the ambulance chair are like casualties of the great war.

"The tall and graceful obelisk and Grecian temple that stand as monuments to Washington and Lincoln make you wonder whether from their spirit world they ever look down upon the commemorations in everlasting stone and think what it would have been had their countrymen given them more of their hearts during their lifetime and less of stone after death. And so it may be for future generations to see clear-eyed and unprejudiced one of America's immortals—Woodrow Wilson.

International Arbitration

"Now, after five years of 'watchful waiting' shall we enter in or turn our back? As between individuals, there must be between nations, a greater moral code put into practice. We must attain those high standards of morality and religion which are imparted by the democratic and selflessness of the time, and by national and international tendencies which seem to give concern to every lover of liberty and humanity. It may seem idealistic, but we must constantly strive to attain higher ground in the perfection of future generations. Nations will have to practice self-respect and self-restraint. And as the states, who went into our union, gave up some rights to form a more perfect union; so, let each nation agree to the same thing in the basis of the weaker nations. This is the only way the weaker nations, as the weaker and smaller states of our union, can be protected. We must remove from diplomatic and international dealings the universal dominion of right by force. We must put international relations on an entirely new basis in which a community of nations should protect all and each from exploitation and aggression. Without this no man can tell what new calamities may be visited upon the human race. The breed and creed of the latter have not yet been entirely destroyed. The passions of the least conflict have not subsided and there is still a dangerous state of upheaval and agony. Peace and calm will result when only when there is a concert of action by all Christian nations to bring to bear upon the problems of the world that tolerance and cooperation and those high standards of unselfish tendencies which make us invincible in battle and will make us equally noble in peace if we only invoke them again.

"On January 8, 1918, the president went before congress and set forth his famous 14 points. All 14 points were acknowledged by the belligerents as a basis for the discussion of peace. The 14th point, which is practically identical in language with the provisions of article 19 of the peace covenant provides:

"A general association of nations must be formed under specific covenants for the purpose of affording mutual guarantees of political independence and territorial integrity to great and small states alike.

"An attempt to make a separate peace would brand us with everlasting dishonor. The intent of the president was that there could be no peace until we could create a situation where no such war as this could recur."

Roosevelt's Statement

"Former President Roosevelt, on July 12, 1918, said:

"Unless we stand by all our allies who have stood by us we shall have failed in making the liberty of a well-behaved civilized people of a greater moral code put into practice. We must attain those high standards of morality and religion which are imparted by the democratic and selflessness of the time, and by national and international tendencies which seem to give concern to every lover of liberty and humanity. It may seem idealistic, but we must constantly strive to attain higher ground in the perfection of future generations. Nations will have to practice self-respect and self-restraint. And as the states, who went into our union, gave up some rights to form a more perfect union; so, let each nation agree to the same thing in the basis of the weaker nations. This is the only way the weaker nations, as the weaker and smaller states of our union, can be protected. We must remove from diplomatic and international dealings the universal dominion of right by force. We must put international relations on an entirely new basis in which a community of nations should protect all and each from exploitation and aggression. Without this no man can tell what new calamities may be visited upon the human race. The kind of an association was necessary; and yet they have not substituted an Article to take the place of Article X or formulated any substitution for the remaining articles; but have been content to withdraw entirely from active participation in the discussion of those questions upon which permanent peace is possible. And if five more years should expire and then ten upon top of that and so on, with the same kind of attitude on the part of this government as has been demonstrated during these years, we will continue to feel as each Armistice after another is celebrated that the lessons we should have learned from the war have been lost; that the good that humanity should have realized has not been gained; and that our noble sons have paid the supreme price in vain.

"This will mean that our entry into the war was a mistake, our participation was a failure, and that the victory that we helped to win at so great a price is but an empty shell. It simply means that we have not lived up to the high standard of citizenship realizing our proper place in the whole scheme of civilization, and in this respect have proven unworthy of the valiant American soldiers who died upon the battlefields of France. Not one lesson that we claim to have learned from the experience of this war has been put into practice to prevent future wars. We, as a nation, have not stood by the conference table until all of the issues growing out of the war could be settled. Not one pledge have we redeemed. Our experience to date in its sum total is—so many lives lost, so many young men maimed and crippled, so many debts incurred, so many sacrifices made. The balance sheet today is all in red and that dripping with the noblest blood of this great country. And on the other side, where we depend upon American statesmanship to follow up the victory, we would the sentiment throughout the world in the cause of peace and redemptive humanity for all time to come from the oppression of empires and kings and wars of aggression,—on this side of the Atlantic sheet, far as America is concerned, is an absolute blank.

"We should see to it that the next administration which enters upon the functions of government in this country should be pledged to a definite international policy to redraft and recommit a covenant for all the civilized nations of the earth to band themselves together in a union of nations, whereby all disputes must first be submitted to international arbitration, and when that arbitration has rendered its judgment the law-abiding will of mankind will stamp upon that judgment its approval.

World Longs For Peace

"Let us stand with the forces of civilization; it may be an experiment but it will at least be a step in the right direction. Every rightful impulse of the human heart beats for peace. From time immemorial men have dreamed of peace, poets have sung of it, philosophers have written about it; men everywhere have hoped and prayed that the day might come when wars would no longer be necessary in the settlement of international differences. This was the first time in the turbulent annals of humanity that such a prospect as world peace had been so feasible. World Peace should follow World War. This was a time when militarism, at least temporarily, was destroyed. Through crumbled; dynasties were dissolved; the world-wide appreciation of the real meaning of war and the triumph of democracy at least seemed to make it possible to realize the dearest dream that ever crossed men's minds. The opportunity for service was and is as great as the need of the world, and the failure to render it will be a reproach for all time.

"It is said that if those who died in the Great War were placed here to see the world as it is today, they would reach from New York to San Francisco and from San Francisco back again to New York, and that if those who perished from starvation and from other causes collateral to the war were placed here to see they would reach around the globe itself. At this very hour millions of men, women and children in this world are still the victims of our hesitancy. Our boys, the soldiers of liberty, lie at rest in foreign lands. The generous heart of France enfolds them. The women and children of France cover their graves with flowers and water them with tears. Destiny seized these boys and led them far from home to die for an ideal, for a principle, and in spirit they live now and speak to us here in the homeland, not of trivial things, but of immortal things. Their sacrifice and high resolve surely remain with us. In that heart of hearts where the great works of men are wrought, there can be no forgetting. Oh, God, release the imprisoned soul of America, touch once more the headcap of the spirit and reveal us to ourselves. May we stand squarely today for the same ideals of peace as those for which the war was fought? This cause constitutes a summons today; the heart of America, still again, the ancient faith revived, the immortal part of man speaks for us. The services of the past, the sacrifices of the war, the hopes of the future, constitute a spiritual force gathering about our banner. We shall release again the checked forces of civilization, and America shall take up once more the leadership of the world."

The healthy look that DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN Gives is Nature's Own

Ladies! This Beats Cosmetics

GOOD health cannot be camouflaged by powder and rouge. The eyes will tell. That sparkle and clearness that denote good health will not be there if you are constipated. Mrs. Clara Proctor of Pottsville, Mich., had been told by doctors she had this and that disease, and one advised an operation, but she knew she had been constipated all her life so first tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. She avoided the operation and now feels better than she ever did. Likewise Mrs. William Appleton of Eddington, Pa., who was badly constipated and now looks her best again after using Syrup Pepsin.

Special to The Times. BURKBURNETT, Texas, Nov. 11.—The Burk Legion eleven added another game to their list of victories when they took the Fort Sill team into camp by the score of 20-6 Sunday. The game was witnessed by a large crowd of local fans and there was a delegation of soldiers from the fort to help their buddies along.

The Burk eleven played brilliant football throughout the game. They varied attack had the soldiers worried at all times. The ball was in the hands of the Burk team for most of the game and they met with strong resistance on their part. The Burk team scored a touchdown in the second quarter, after carrying the ball to the five-yard line. The Burk team scored again in the third quarter, after carrying the ball to the five-yard line. ## AMARILLO PUSHES CLARENDON ASIDE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Special to The Times. MARILLO, Texas, Nov. 11.—The Golden Bandstorm won the championship of district number one of the Interscholastic League Monday by defeating the Clarendon Bronchos 22 to 0 before a large Armistice day crowd.

The locals scored a touchdown in the second, another in the third and a great rush down the field in the fourth. The Clarendon Bronchos were unable to pierce the Golden Bandstorm's line but at times showed brilliant play in forward passing and in holding the locals as they headed the game. A feature of the game was the extra point which was made in the fourth quarter.

The first period was mostly played in Clarendon's territory, but the solid wall of the visitor's backs kept the locals from scoring. A feature of the quarter was a pass from Curtis, Sandy center, to Heider, and a great rush down the field to recover the ball when Corbin fumbled. Again in the second quarter the bandstorm played through the Clarendon line and around the edge to the one yard line, but the Bronchos lived up to their name and held the locals for down. Near the end of the quarter Kelly smashed through the line for a touchdown after passing the ball to the five-yard line. Harrington failed to drop kick. The bandstorm team played down the field for a touchdown in quick order in the third, Nicklaus carrying the ball across the line and Harrington drop kicked for the point. Immediately afterward Clarendon passed to Goldenrod for 22 yards and when the big fellow seemed to be almost free for a touchdown he stumbled and before he could recover he was downed.

In the fourth the bandstorm carried the ball down the field to the ten yard line and Harrington kicked a field goal. The locals were held on the line at the last few minutes of play when Sipe began advancing on the plunger and before the locals could be checked the ball was carried across the line for the third touchdown.

Admission Lines Declined. SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 12.—Johnny Adamson, Denver, junior welterweight, lost the decision in six rounds to Frankie Darron of Logan, Utah, here last night.

By NEA Service. DETROIT, Nov. 12.—What is believed to be an unprecedented incident in football annals occurred in a recent game here between the Detroit city and Hope (Mich.) college teams.

In the first period of the fracas, the Hope aggregation had the ball for 14 consecutive downs without gaining an inch, and without either of the eleven receiving a single penalty.

Immediately after the kickoff, Hope recovered the ball on a fumble on the Detroit 25-yard stripe. The visitors then had the leather for 18 straight downs, making three first downs, and yet on the 16th attempt, when the Hope punter fell back to kick, he stood on his own 35-yard line, 48 yards back of the place where the ball had originally been recovered. Here's how it happened:

On the first three plays, Hope lost 10 yards. On the fourth down, Detroit broke through and blocked the punt, which, however, was regained by the visitors. This gave them a first down. Practically the same thing was repeated twice more, two additional kicks being blocked with Hope recovering each time. The first down was successful but by this time the Hope backs had been thrown on 12 occasions for losses totaling 42 yards.

This had Hope not gained an inch had the punter not been down, without a single penalty but had lost 44 yards in so doing. It's one for the album.

KID SNYDER ADDS ANOTHER VICTORY TO LIST MONDAY

Another victory was attached to the record of Kid Snyder, the hard hitting favorite of Burk Burnett when his hand was raised as winner over Panther Wells of Fort Worth at the Elbe Club Monday night. The bout was stopped in the fifth round. Wells, who had been outclassed completely by the early part of the fight, was in a groggy condition, and had a severe cut on his arm, when the bout was stopped and the decision awarded to Snyder. They were scheduled to have gone eight rounds.

Every round was in Snyder's favor. While his opponent delivered some hard, well placed blows, Snyder showed his true worth as a feather pusher and gave back all he had. His punches to the body and head were well aimed and effective. Wells was groggy before three rounds were over. Fans at the ring-side were waiting for a knockout, but the sleep producer never came.

Kid Cole of Depeu, Okla., won from Kid Ivy when the latter's second round was in the fourth round of the scheduled six-round classic. Cole, who is scheduled to fight Wells at the Opera House tonight, got in some good blows that nearly put his opponent down for the count. His well placed body punches proved the best of young Ivy.

Dope Box Again Turned Over When Straw High School Lads Defeat Cleburne 24 to 21 In Thrilling Game

STRAW, Texas, Nov. 11.—Beating the Cleburne high school football squad out by one field goal in a thrilling griftion classic here Monday afternoon Straw won the title for two more touchdowns, while their tries at goal from the extra five-yard scrimmage were successful.

Each team held its own during the first part of the fourth quarter. Straw, fighting a losing battle, fought grimly on, never wavering. All seemed well for Cleburne until Straw again opened up its aerial box and several long forward passes and sensational runs took the ball over for the winning touchdown.

Possibly the one act that won for Straw was the field goal in the second quarter. Both teams kicked perfectly from the extra five-yard line, and three points were added to each score as a result of good place kicking.

Wichita Falls, winner of the northern half of the district will play Straw for the district championship this week.

Fight to Scareless No. MARSHALL, Texas, Nov. 11.—Intense interest was created here Monday in the football for the district championship between Texas and Arkansas as Marshall which resulted in a scoreless tie.

LEATHER PUSHERS READY FOR BELL AT LEGION SHOW

Reports from the training quarters of Kid Rich of Depeu, Okla., and Kid Simmons of Harrison, Tex., fighting the main go on the American Legion boxing card at the Wichita Falls, Texas, show Monday night, indicate that the two men are now in excellent condition and are ready for the fight.

Both boys well earned reputations as boxers. Since the American Legion boxing carnival was first held in Wichita Falls, the state has never lost a bout, although he has been on the program at the last few months of the year. On the other hand, he has lost only four bouts by decision out of 25, a number of these ending in the knockout. He put the sleeping powder to Jimmie Carroll in four rounds a short time ago.

Immediately after the kickoff, Hope recovered the ball on a fumble on the Detroit 25-yard stripe. The visitors then had the leather for 18 straight downs, making three first downs, and yet on the 16th attempt, when the Hope punter fell back to kick, he stood on his own 35-yard line, 48 yards back of the place where the ball had originally been recovered. AMARILLO PUSHES CLARENDON ASIDE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP. Special to The Times. MARILLO, Texas, Nov. 11.—The Golden Bandstorm won the championship of district number one of the Interscholastic League Monday by defeating the Clarendon Bronchos 22 to 0 before a large Armistice day crowd.

The locals scored a touchdown in the second, another in the third and a great rush down the field in the fourth. The Clarendon Bronchos were unable to pierce the Golden Bandstorm's line but at times showed brilliant play in forward passing and in holding the locals as they headed the game. A feature of the game was the extra point which was made in the fourth quarter.

The first period was mostly played in Clarendon's territory, but the solid wall of the visitor's backs kept the locals from scoring. A feature of the quarter was a pass from Curtis, Sandy center, to Heider, and a great rush down the field to recover the ball when Corbin fumbled. Again in the second quarter the bandstorm played through the Clarendon line and around the edge to the one yard line, but the Bronchos lived up to their name and held the locals for down. Near the end of the quarter Kelly smashed through the line for a touchdown after passing the ball to the five-yard line. Harrington failed to drop kick. The bandstorm team played down the field for a touchdown in quick order in the third, Nicklaus carrying the ball across the line and Harrington drop kicked for the point. Immediately afterward Clarendon passed to Goldenrod for 22 yards and when the big fellow seemed to be almost free for a touchdown he stumbled and before he could recover he was downed.

In the fourth the bandstorm carried the ball down the field to the ten yard line and Harrington kicked a field goal. The locals were held on the line at the last few minutes of play when Sipe began advancing on the plunger and before the locals could be checked the ball was carried across the line for the third touchdown.

MANAGER OF MISSION

H. S. FORD

D. F. R. Enterprises Splendid Example Energy and Ability

The handsome new Mission Theatre which opens Wednesday, November 14, is the result of the energy and keen foresight of the three men who comprise what is known as the D. F. R. Enterprises.

The rapid development of this concern is a few short years "is a story of an uphill pull in which the car has been running in high from the start."

In the little town of Tulsa, Texas, in the fall of 1913, three business men, D. F. R. Enterprises, consisting of running the local opera house, managing a retail store and operating a real estate business.

These two young men were E. Lee ("Doc") Dye, and H. S. Ford. Desiring to broaden their field of industries they conceived the idea of entering the, then, somewhat wild field of motion picture exhibiting.

A vacant store building was leased, a couple of hundred folding chairs purchased, a projecting machine, a screen and an electric piano installed; also a young lady with a "raw many" smile to tear off the green tickets.

Going back to 1913, R. D. Rogers, of the present firm, purchased the old Majestic Theatre of Tulsa, and opened the first motion picture theatre on the south plains, where was shown the first Paramount picture and the first Mutual picture ever exhibited west of Fort Worth.

After several months a new theatre, the "Rubin" was built and the show moved into that.

With the coming to Plainview of Dye & Ford's Olympic, the two houses ran in competition for some time, after which they consolidated forces and then came into existence the present firm.

In 1916 they disposed of the Rubin and opened the MAE-L, following which they opened the Mission at Canyon, Okla. Ford was in command there. On the heels of this came the leasing of the old Grand Opera House at Amarillo, Texas, after which they consolidated forces and then came into existence the present firm.

On the heels of this came the leasing of the old Grand Opera House at Amarillo, Texas, after which they consolidated forces and then came into existence the present firm.

With a seating capacity of more than a thousand, one of the most modern and handomely appointed picture houses in this section of the country will be opened to the public Wednesday, November 14, on the Indian avenue in this city—the Mission Theatre.

The new theater is one of the well known D. F. R. Enterprises and is complete and modern in all respects, with beautiful decorations, effective lighting and interesting arrangements.

The interior is in a grey stipple with blue upholstery, including blue velveteen on the grey seats, blue draperies, and blue aisle carpets.

A real indicator is located in the lobby and the shows will run on a two hour schedule beginning at 12 noon, according to H. S. Ford who will have active management of the house.

A drinking fountain is located in the main foyer and mahogany and wicker settees will be found for the convenience of waiting patrons, just inside the main entrance.

Handsomely equipped ladies' rest room and gentlemen's smoker are located on either side of the main foyer.

A cool pleasant room is assured regardless where the thermometer stands, because of the Typhoon cooling system with which it is equipped.

A magnificent Hope Jones organ has been installed at a cost of $1,000. Mrs. Eugene Hardy, organist with Mrs. Lola Doughty as relief organist. This is the same make of instrument which is used in the Palace and Melba theaters in Dallas and the Palace in Fort Worth, these being considered the best theaters in the south, it was stated.

The Mission is the only theater in the city which affords a balcony exclusive for negroes, thus giving them an opportunity to see and hear the best picture of the city at a price of 30 cents. A separate stairway and ticket agent have been arranged for.

Probably the most remarkable feature of the entire theater is the wonderful lighting effect in front of the stage, consisting of two electric lights outlining the building. This is a real big town feature and one which Wichita Falls should be proud of.

Three sides of the entrance awning is equipped with electric hand signs, adequately announcing play and star. The management deeply regrets that the theater will not be opened until the time of opening, in particular respect to the lighting features and some of the interior decorations. This is due to the delay in shipping.

A number of the best known local business concerns have contributed to the splendid results obtained in the new theater.

Taylor Brothers and Ryan, who have had other theaters in the city, have had the general contract for the new house.

Vosker and Dixon were the architect and Charles E. Watson, the decorator and painter.

The American Electric Company handled the lighting contract and Freer Furniture Company furnished the heating by the hot water system from the North Texas Fertilizer Company.

The American Seating Company handled the contract for the seats, the immense pipe organ came from the D. L. Whittle Music Company of Tulsa.

The Ray Sheet Metal Works is responsible for the tin work and wiring, and the White Sign Company for the electric signs.

The plumbing was installed by the Elliott Plumbing Company, and the heating by the Hot Water Heating Company of Fort Worth. The Typhoon Fan Company of New Orleans put in the big cooling system.

As a result of the best efforts of all of these well known contractors and business concerns, the Mission Theatre is a picture house of which a larger city might well be proud, and with the high type of pictures which are to be shown, it is due to bring much favorable comment to Wichita Falls as a high class amusement place.

Constance Talmadge Loves to Travel; Is Always Eager for Change of Scene

"I like to travel," says Constance Talmadge. And Constance, being one of those fortunate mortals who can spend most of her desires, sees to it that each of her pictures has plenty of voyaging about "written in" by the scenarist.

One would think that after her lengthy and comprehensive trip abroad she would be content to settle down in Hollywood. Not so.

Constance left for Yosemite where the course of a waterfall was diverted to make a realistic west coast Niagara Falls for her comedy.

For ten days before going to the Yosemite "Conny" traveled around with her company in Mohave Desert.

"I love the desert," Constance declares, "and with the cactuses and other desert flowers in bloom it has a beauty all its own. Time has a glorious and amusing time filming Mohave and Watahapi Indians down near the Colorado river not far from Needles, California. Then we went over to Death Valley."

"It was cool at night in this hot, least spot on the American continent; but during the day time it was so hot that I hesitate to make comparisons. No, we didn't see 'Death Valley Scotty,' but they tell me he is still browsing around in the hills with his male collecting specimens."

After we finished at the Yosemite we went to Sacramento and San Francisco. I love Los Angeles best of all, of course, but dear old Fresno is a wonderful place—and each time I come to the coast I never miss a trip north to the Golden Gate City.

"New that I have finished 'Dulcy' I want to go down to the west coast of Mexico, Norms and I are planning a yachting trip among the little known islands in the California Gulf, and, don't tell anyone, we may kidnap a few Yaqui Indians and bring them north for a picture."

Apparently Universal actors are not afflicted with superstition. Otherwise, they would never have started work under a title, "Courtin' Calamity," a story which William Dudley Pelley wrote for the Saturday Evening Post. And still, with the director, Edward Sedgwick, and "Kansas" Mosher, a cowboy in the cast, laid up in the hospital, one with poison and the other with a broken collar-bone, no one has suggested changing the title.

King Daggot says he and no other is responsible for Mary Philbin's huge success on the screen. It was her work in "Human Hearts" which Daggot said was the turning point of her career. He predicts wonderful things for her in "The Inheritance," J. R. Wylie's novel of English life which is going into production at Universal City shortly.

Bill Hart took a tumble that he hadn't planned in the filming of "The Bargain." Carefully inspected ground where he and his horse were to slide failed to reveal a hidden root. The horse was barely scratched, but Hart received a sprained wrist and numerous bruises.

Constance Talmadge will be the next star in a screen version of Edgar Selwyn's play, "The Mirage." It will follow completion of "The Trip North to the Golden Gate City."

"The Hunchback of Notre Dame" opened its seventh engagement on Monday in the Harris theatre, Chicago. It is now playing in its twelfth week at the Astor theatre in New York City.

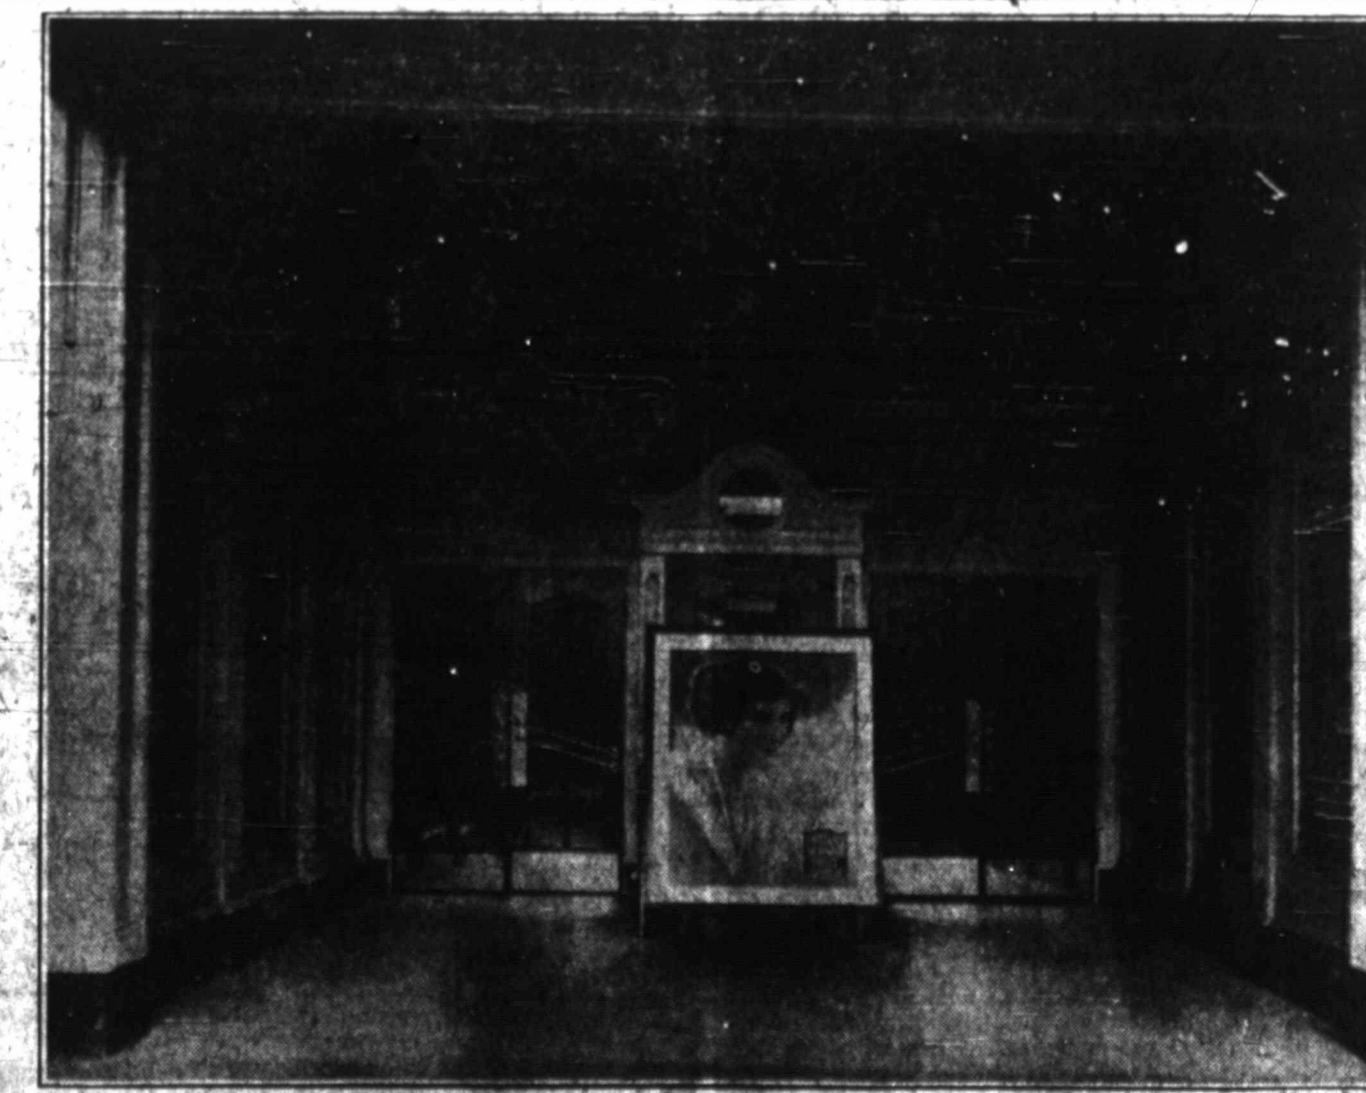

"Anyhow, if the studios close I can always go back to the prize ring," said Ed Kennedy, whose versatility as a comedian in "The Leather Pushers" and tragedian in "Perley Poppo Sheehan's" picture "Innocent" seems to have gone to his head. Hayden Stevenson is willing to lay any odds that he wouldn't win a single fight.

Baby Peggy's trip to New York to witness the opening of her first feature production, "The Darling of New York," has been signalled by an invitation to review "Guard Mount" of the most famous regiment of the War, the 11th Regiment of the First Division. At this ceremony held in Battery Park, she was presented with the regimental coat of arms by Colonel Gearhart.

Broadway has gone motion picture mad. Every week sees the opening of some new feature picture at feature prices. The theaters showing these "super-productions" are crowded for each performance, and there is no let-up in sight. Lionel Barrymore's newest, "Unassuming Eyes," comes to the Big Street in a few days.

ATTRACTIVE LOBBY PROVIDED FOR PRETTY PICTURE HOUSE

High Class Attractions Will Be Provided for Patrons of "Mission" Opening With Constance Talmadge

"It is our intention to make the Mission and Olympic twin theaters in all respects as to quality," declared H. S. Ford in speaking of the remarkable line of pictures which will be shown at the new Mission theater which opens Wednesday, November 14.

The house will open with Constance Talmadge in "Dulcy" which is the latest and possibly the best picture this popular star has offered.

This will be followed by Tom Mix in "Soft Boiled."

Harold Lloyd's new picture, "Why Worry," which is a special Fox production with an all star cast, will be shown in the Mission.

This will be followed by the big Warner classic, "How to Educate a Wife," and then comes the "Eleventh Hour," a special Fox production with an all star cast.

"The Call of the Wild," the famous Jack London story, and "A Country Kid," a picture which precedes "The Acquittal," and a little later William S. Hart's new picture "Wild Bill Hickok" will be shown.

Robert Bosworth is up to his excellent par as "General De Mendonca," who would accept blame for his sovereign's murderous thrust at "Don John." Pauline Stark plays "Dolores," blind sister with pathos, and Louise Littlefield is to be complimented for creating a court jest or of his own pattern, Alleen Pringle, one of Goldwyn's best featured "lookers," falls to her knees up to possibilities as the court siren, but that is partly due to the superficial character of her role.

The picture has spectacle in the campaign of the Spanish against Morocco, but these sequences are so time consuming that the dramatic progress and emotional content of the production.

Film has demonstrated that the atmosphere of a court, even in hectic times, may be adequately created without lugging in a lot of sword play. "King Philip" is the only ragier thrust in the picture.

There is also a bodacious scene without a bow-wow. "Dolores" takes refuge in the palace apartments of "Don John." What refreshing here!

Theodore Roberts steps fast. Only recently he was "Moses" in Cecil B. DeMille's "The Ten Commandments," a picture of three thousand years ago, and now he is at work in "Stephen Steps Out."

Thriller Shows Value of Screen In Melodrama

Revealing the full possibilities of the motion picture, as far as the production of melodrama is concerned, and probably opening a new vista for screen authors, "The Eleventh Hour," a William Fox production, adapted from Lincoln C. Carter's famous play of the same name, will be offered at the Mission theater at an early date as a feature extraordinary.

Vigorous and intense throughout, this production reflects credit upon the director Bernard J. Durning. It was acclaimed when first shown, at a private projection room, again when it reached the critics and thirdly when the public saw it.

When first produced on the stage it was a sensation, and the history of its rapid and unusual success is unexcelled in the annals of the theatre. Despite this, Lincoln C. Carter was vastly dissatisfied with the stage production. He had conceived many and startling stunts which it was found impossible to include in any stage attraction. It is the original Carter production enlarged by those elements rejected by the limitations of the stage, that makes "The Eleventh Hour" so unusual, both as a photoplay and as a melodrama.

Constance is a true child of the film. Her first experience in acting was before the camera. With her school books under her arm and her hair trailing down her back in braids, she ventured into the old Vitagraph studio in New York with her sister, Norma, and pleaded her way into her first role.

Today Conny holds first place as an exponent of the better side of drama. Her "Ming Toy" in "East is West," which preceded her current release "Dulcy" was accepted with a praise that rivaled its reception in the spoken form.

After that she found her "luster" no longer subordinated to older players.

She was starred by Joseph M. Schenck Productions, and included in her triumphs such First National releases as "A Temperamental Wife," "Folly of the Police," "The Virtuous Vamp," "Two Weeks," "The Search of a Sister," "Mamma's Affairs," "Lessons in Love," and "East is West."

"Dulcy" will be the opening attraction at the Mission, Wednesday, November 14th.

With completion of "Flaming Youth" in which she has the principal role, Colleen Moore is now getting ready to take the leading part in "The Step-Child."

WELL EQUIPPED ART ROOM OF NEW MISSION THEATRE

Up from a Wichita Falls alley, a flight of long narrow stairs leads to one of the most interesting spots in this city, a busy, colorful place, and the work which is done here causes more people to stop and look than any shop window, display or exhibit that is offered on the streets of the city.

The room at the head of the stairs is the art and advertising studio maintained by the D. F. R. Enterprises in connection with the Wichita Falls theaters and is under the direction of E. M. Berg with Frank Klein assistant, devoting their entire time to designing and building lobby displays.

Probably 95 per cent of the people who have seen the handsome and original lobby displays in the D. F. R. theaters in the last year have never realized that they were designed and built in Wichita Falls.

There are few theaters outside of the larger cities displaying advertising of this character, most of them using the stock posters sent out by the picture companies. The Mission and Olympic theaters therefore enjoy an unusual distinction in that every attraction offered by these houses has an original and specially designed display.

This art department is located on the second floor of the Mission theater and occupies as much space as an ordinary commercial establishment, being the entire width of the building and 30 feet in depth. It is equipped with every modern device for the building of any kind of display, including electrically driven saws, airbrushes, a complete carpenter and paint shop, motors and specially arranged lighting and complete stock of materials.

Mr. Berg states that he has used over 10,000 square feet of copper or wall board and several thousand feet of bracing material in the last year.

With such facilities at hand and under the direction of Mr. Berg at the Mission and Mr. Sparks at the Olympic, where a similar but smaller studio is maintained, the D. F. R. theaters at Wichita Falls can easily maintain the reputation which places them among the foremost picture theaters of the south-have been photographed at a depth of twenty feet or more below the surface of the Pacific. In these the motion of the water is shown, for the cameras swing free in the crystal depths of the ocean. The temperatures encountered were often so low that the cameras "froze," that is, the lubricants employed were so chilled as to gum into solids, preventing the further operation of the instruments.

To impart additional interest and afford contrasts for jazz parties, fashion parades, dancing girls and the maneuvers of the battalions of bathing belles, marine and bird life were introduced under conditions that will delight the naturalist and intrigue the curiosity of the casual film fan. Scenic numbers as have never hitherto been photographed are shown in their lonely rockeries remote from the intrusion of man and further protected by the strong arm of the United States government. These pictures were taken under special federal permit and supervision. There are also amazing pictures of marine bird life, with myriads of pretty creatures nesting and in flight.

Phyllis Haver and by a big cast and also an army of dancing and bathing beauties. The direction reflects the long experience and highly artistic attainments of Henry Otto and is the first big picture since his return from voluntary exile of two years in the South Sea Islands. Mr. Otto enjoys a unique identification with pictures of this type and will be remembered as the director of "Tudor" and other successful spectacles, although he has to his credit numerous modern dramas. Among these Phyllis' "Trix," "The Willow Tree," "Fair and Warmer," "Half-a-Rogus" and "The River of Doubt" are probably best known. Pauline Frederick, Yvonne Deans and Shirley Mason are among the many stars he has directed.

Novelty of subject and treatment rather than great investments are emphasized in the exploitation of "The Temple of Venus," yet it ranks among the most costly pictures produced in the days of profligate expenditure in the movies. The Fox forces frankly describe it as the most ambitious effort yet undertaken by that organization and confidently expect the unique combination to prove their season's outstanding sensation.

"The Temple of Venus" Coming to Mission Theatre Is Fox Production And Classed Among His Very Best

William Fox was among the pioneers to attempt employment of the film as a medium for interpreting the beautiful phantasies of legend and allegory, contributing "A Daughter of the Gods" and "Queen of the Sea" as milestones in the progress of cinematography. While both productions were successful, they demonstrated precisely what others of their character disclosed—that American audiences, while appreciative of poetry and pictorial beauty crave the more substantial diet of vital drama. After waiting half a dozen years Mr. Fox sensed an improvement in methods and results in motion pictures justifying another attempt along similar lines. "The Temple of Venus" is the result.

In reference to American taste, the allegorical and extravagant features are made subordinate and incidental to a modern drama. The story of Echo is borrowed from Greek mythology as the foundation for the scenes of pure phantasy. An aquatic twist is given to every phase of the narrative. To accommodate this and also to obtain natural beauty spots of unusual charm for "locations," lonely volcanic islands of the Pacific were employed—Santa Cruz, Richardson's Rock, the fringed San Miguel, where an American naval flotilla lies wrecked as the result of a recent misadventure, and beautiful Catalina Island.

A new process of under-sea photography to portray adequately the marine features and many scenes

Walter W. Head thinks a father should be to his son:
An advisor.
An ideal.
A confidant, with whom the boy can share his joys and sorrows.

OMAHA, Nov. 12.—Walter W. Head has to "borrow" a son. Otherwise, the chairman of the national committee for "Father and Son Week" won't even get a look-in on the big doings.

pecially the kids of the streets. Owns Gimsh Hard.
Like Judge Ben Lindsay of Denver, he is known the length and breadth of the land as a friend of the boys.
His own boyhood struggles left within his heart a great desire to be a "brother" to the "men of tomorrow."
Scouting, Sunday School and Y. M. C. A. activities have monopolized the major portion of his leisure for a number of years.
Every Sunday morning, he teaches a Bible class of sixty active boys.

He was president of the Omaha Boy Scout Council until he became such a national figure in scouting that he couldn't manage both his national and local duties.

Followed Flow.
Last July, he went to Paris as chairman of the American delegation at the international conference on scouting.

And he's a member of the "Y" international council, besides.
His own life story catches boyish imagination, for it reads just like Horatio Alger's "The Farmer Boy Who Became Bank President."

In his early teens, he followed a plow, behind a stubborn Missouri mule. Then he became a teacher. He quit the classroom a short while later to take a job in a bank at $20 a month.

Today, at 43, he is president of the American Banking Association.
It's no wonder he appeals to boys. And, in view of his own hard climb, it's no wonder the boys appeal to him.

"When I was working my own way up," he says, "I made up my mind that if I ever had a chance to give the boys a lift, I would do it." And he has kept his word.

picture exhibiting is by no means a "swivel chair" job. As many people think, managing a house cannot be done in an eight hour day. The man at the helm must be everything from a producer and a critic to a musician. He must know what his people want and in what manner they desire it served. He must serve them in an impartial and a sacrificing manner if success is to be his.

GATHER YE AROUND BROTHERS AND HEarken TO THE LAMENT OF POOR, UNHAPPY TOM MIX

Gather 'round, you, and listen to this:

Lots and lots of fellers would like to be Tom Mix—a popular picture here coming to the Mission Sunday, Nov. 18th, in his new William Fox special, "Soft Boiled."

But this is what Tom says: "I have a hundred cuts of clothes. Do I ever get a chance to wear 'em? Sure, around the house. One half of the time I have to be in the studio at eight in the morning, get home around six in the evening too tired to go anywhere. The other half, I'm out on the desert or up in the mountains on 'location,' living in a tent. I have a flock of automobiles. Do I get to drive 'em? Sure, between my house and the Fox studios—six blocks.

"I have the best collection of rifles and shotguns in California, a bunch of hounds, bird dog 'n' everything. When I was poor I used to go down to my old home in Texas and Oklahoma each fall and hunt for six weeks—usually had to borrow the money to go on. Do I get a chance to hunt now? Hunting for the director and the 'location' is about the best I get.

"I love to travel. I would like to visit some of the big cities and take a little jaunt around Europe and I have the money to make the trip. Do I go? Do I travel? Sure, up to the Mojave desert or around timber line in the San Jacinto mountains—to make pictures.

"I have a new yacht—ninety feet long, the 'Miss Mixit.' 'Dusty' Farnum, in whose shipyard she was built, tells me she can do 25 knots—whatever that is—an hour. Some day I hope to see her do it. In the picture I'm now making, 'A Modern Monte Cristo,' we are to have some water scenes at San Pedro. I think that's where 'Dusty' told me the yacht's corral was. If I get time while I'm down there, I'll look 'Miss Mixit' up—maybe take a ride on her. I have the yacht some white flannel trousers, a blue coat and a cap and man's papers—all I need to be a real, sure enough yachtsman is a couple o' days off. The last vacation I had was two years ago when I got away for two weeks to go east and see Dempsey lick Carpentier, and I spent ten days of that time on a train, comin' and goin'.

"I love kiddies—got one of my own—Miss Thomasina Mix, ten months old. Do I ever get a chance to play with her? Sure I get a look at her in the morning and in the evening—when she is sound asleep. She hardly knows who I am.

"I'd love to visit my neighbors—like to take Mrs. Mix and see a good show now and then—but do I go? Half the time I'm away on location and the other half I'm too tired when I get home to do anything but go to bed.

"Once I had it all figured out that one day I'd enjoy what I got—when I finished with the pictures. Now it seems that by the time I get through, if I ever do, I'll be so old that sittin' on the front porch of my home countin' the automobiles goin' by will be wild dissipation."

Thus ends the soliloquy and lament of poor, unhappy, overworked Tom Mix. Tough, ain't it brother? Virginia Vall and her "Signal Tower" Company, under the direction of Clarence Brown, have gone to Fort Bragg to take exterior scenes. By the time they come back, the title will be changed on 'em.

One Hundred Ten Traffic Signs Placed Monday

One hundred and ten traffic signs, calling attention to safety zones, parking limits, and other city traffic regulations, were put up by the city police department Monday. The signs for the most part are in the business district and mark the two-hour parking zone, safety zones, and car stops. The signs were ordered by the city council several weeks ago at the suggestion of Chief of Police Hodgins and it is believed will prove of much benefit to the enforcement of local traffic rulings.

The Mission Theater Is Properly Wired

One of the most important things to consider in wiring a building is that the wire itself must be of large enough size to provide sufficient carrying capacity. In the wiring of this theatre a liberal allowance has been made to prevent overloading of circuits; to permit light fusing; to give better value in lighting for current consumption and to eliminate fire risk from overloading wires.

We congratulate the builders of this theatre upon their enterprising spirit and the confidence they have shown in Wichita Falls in being willing to make the investment that was necessary to put over this up to date theatre.

Sold With a Service

NATURAL GAS is a commodity but is sold with a service. The gas itself is obtained from nature—without the service it would be only a waste product.

That service requires a huge investment. This investment differs from other services in that it cannot be made a permanent investment. The source of supply is too uncertain for that. Some day it will fail entirely.

Look Into Our Efforts

But until then each year compels increasing expense to maintain the service to you, and each year sees more difficulty in obtaining gas.

That the necessary money may be obtained to continue the supply, this company must have the good will of the public it serves. We are sure of that good will when you understand the problems we face.

Hence we like to have you investigate the natural gas question—to see what the natural gas problems are. Then you will work with us in our efforts to maintain the excellent service Texas communities have enjoyed from this company.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Perhaps by the time New Year's day rolls around we shall be sitting in a movie house enjoying an opera, music and all on the screen.

It's a mighty short time to New Year's, but there is no retraction of this highly hopeful prediction on the part of those who make it. Movies, they foresee, with all the accompanying words and other sounds that would bring the film versions almost to an equal plane of the spoken drama itself.

What has this to do with radio? Nothing much, except that it is the brain-child of Lee De Forest, famous wireless engineer, and therefore brother of his many important radio inventions.

But perhaps this will eventually develop into the wireless transmission of talking movies, as some enthusiastic fans insist.

Not Perfect Yet.
At present, however, De Forest has been striving to perfect his invention, as a direct talking-movie, even though it is ready for its first public trial. He calls the apparatus, which makes this combination possible, the phonofilm.

The beauty of the phonofilm is that it will make available to all communities the advantages that usually remain in the great centers of population such as New York and Chicago.

Take grand opera, for instance. There are few localities which can afford the upkeep of grand opera organizations where artists are paid anywhere from $100 to $2,000 for appearing at an individual performance.

With the phonofilm, however, it is possible to photograph not only the scenic but the vocal and orchestral splendor of an opera or other performance. Photograph all the sound as well as the action, simultaneously on motion picture film and then print and distribute it in the same way that ordinary motion pictures are printed and distributed.

The high cost evaporation, of course, you pay the artists for one performance and reproduce that performance in hundreds of places—wherever there is a motion picture theater.

Popular Prices.
Grand opera is only one phase of the story. The same idea can be applied to vaudeville, lectures and concerts.

Entertainment now limited to communities that can afford to pay for seeing the original performance, will be put on the phonofilm and distributed far and wide. Already 200 phonofilm selections have already been made. They include comedies, concert numbers, operatic arias in endless variety.

Leading Lady In Lloyd Production Scores Big Hit

We knew it would happen. Everyone is asking about Jobyna Ralston, who makes her first appearance as Harold Lloyd's leading lady in his latest Pathé comedy, "Why Worry." Her shadow is quite the daintiest and most petite of any that has flitted before our vision in many a day, and while we mourn the loss of Mildred Davis, our grief is softened, for it gives us a new personality to study and delight in.

The life history of Joby, as everyone calls her at the Hal Roach studio, started in the town of East Pittsburgh, snuggled away in the mountains of Tennessee. Jobyna was named after the noted actress, Jobyna Howland, who is greatly admired by the Ralstons of Tennessee. Jobyna's earliest longing was for the stage, and when she was little more than fifteen her mother took her to New York to give her a chance at fame. There they met Nat Wayburn, the noted dancing master and stage producer. He took Jobyna under his care, and after developing her into an excellent dancer, obtained for her a part in George M. Cohan's "Two Little Girls in Blue."

The lure of California and the screen soon overtook Jobyna, and it was not long before she was in Los Angeles, looking over the motion picture studios. She took part with the thousands of other girls who aspired to fame on the shadow stage. She played extra bits in a couple of pictures and was then selected to play opposite Max Linder in his burlesque version of Douglas Fairbanks' "The Three Musketeers." Hal Roach saw her on the screen in this picture and was so impressed with her work that he engaged her as leading lady for his single reel comedies. She held that job for six months, when Harold Lloyd decided he needed two leading ladies and engaged Mildred Davis for life, the contract being and her eyes are a dark gray and her complexion is not removable. As Jobyna tackles only one thing at a time, her present ambition is to please Harold Lloyd as a leading lady. Maybe, later on, her ambition will change, but first she'll have to really grow up, for she is only eighteen, and the only way she can convince anyone of that many summers is to lead them to her birth certificate.

"Why Worry." Harold Lloyd's latest comedy, will be presented for one solid week at the Mission Theatre, opening Sunday, November 25. Eyes. Faith Optical Co.—adv.

Past and Present

When the gas industry was in its infancy and it was proposed to introduce it in London to light the streets the conservative British mind saw in it a terrible possibility for evil. Editors of daily newspapers in all seriousness objected that to make the streets "brilliant" (as the old time street lamp might be called brilliant compared with candles) would encourage keeping late hours and lead to increased dissipation. Sounds funny doesn't it? But it is historically true.

But what a miracle it would have appeared to them if told that it was possible to use gas for cooking and heating, and as fuel for the factories, and without labor, worry and trouble. This is one of the greatest blessings this generation enjoys. Cooperation with the company will insure the best results at all times.

So It Is With the Movie Theater

Years ago, not many, for most of us can remember when picture shows first originated, was born this infant. Moving objects on the screen at that time were novel and the people flocked to the small built theatres to witness the flickering flashes of the new art. The outcome of this great step was vague and therefore picture owners were reluctant about spending much money for their promotion. Chairs were the only accommodations for the patrons. Today times have changed and theatre owners all over the country are investing millions of dollars in this great class of amusement which has forged ahead so fast that the legitimate stage has suffered in consequence. The D. F. & R. Enterprises have done much for the amusement world in Wichita Falls and we wish to compliment them on their new MISSION Theatre.

put on life jackets and lay face down in the boats, clinging hard to the lifelines that were stretched across the deck. The waves seemed mountainous and to most of us this was a thriller. But we afterward became so used to riding rough water that we vied with one another to make the plunge with lighted pipe or cigar without losing the light. Frank E. Dodge, expert boatman who accompanied the party largely in the role of emergency lifesaver, in making one rapid in the canvas canoe upset in one of the swirls, but he swam out, dragging the boat with him and righted it without help.

"On Aug. 16," Birdseye recounts, "the boatmen of the party ran the little fleet of four boats through Boulder Rapids while the more conservative members picked their way through the boulders. "H. E. Blake, one of the boatmen, was hurried completely out of his boat, turning a complete somersault and going completely out of sight. But he soon reappeared and caught his boat, climbed in and paddled on through the rapids. Surveyors Busy. "All this time the real mission of the expedition was never forgotten. "In spite of the steep walls and swift water, though, the survey line was carried through without break, the surveyors often clinging perilously to small projections just above the swirling water to make their sights. The Hermit Creek Rapids were among the roughest. The boats tossed about like corks on the huge waves, many of which broke over them. Sept. 8, in running a cataract no preceding party had ever made, Kolb grazed a rock and lost an ear, but managed to pull through. Freeman, the next man to run, struck a rock on which his boat seemed to hang for a moment, the stern of the boat being badly mashed. It was Sept. 18, after camp had been made on a sandbar below Lava Falls, that the record rise in the river, which occasioned national alarm for the safety of the party, set in. No one expected a rise of more than five or six feet. But time after worse rapids later. It was man-killing work to portage the heavy wooden boats here. Recovers Boat. "At noon on Aug. 4, we reached a rapid that lay between vertical cliffs which rose directly from the water, so that there was no foothold for portage and no chance even to look the rapids over and form a plan to run them. We called these the "Sheer-wall Rapids," and we made them safely, though everybody got wet. We ran such rapids with the boat stern first, in order to steer better.

Such is the story brought to Washington by the government party which surveyed the last uncharted stretch of the Canyon of the Colorado. Rain Increase Danger. The party, headed by Col. C. H. Birdseye of the Geological Survey; E. C. La Rue, hydraulic engineer, and H. W. Burchard, topographic engineer, started from Lee's Ferry, in extreme north central Arizona, Aug. 1. Last Chance Rapids, 212 miles below, was reached Oct. 13. Meantime, torrential rains in the mountains raised the Colorado to flood stage. Grave fears were felt for the safety of the explorers and a searching party was sent out from Needles, Calif. But despite hardships and dangers, not one life was lost, and the only injury of note was a broken rib. At first, portages were made wherever possible past the worst portions of rapids. At Soap Creek Rapids, for instance, they got the boats over the rocks for about 100 yards and ran an eddy below the main rapid. "However," says Colonel Birdseye, "we might have got through safely without portage, as we ran Down Through the Ages Lightning and different manifestations of electricity were known to the philosophers of ancient times, dating back to the writings of Pliny; 61-115 A. D. Experiments down through the centuries were made by various personages but they were unable to find a resemblance between lightning and electricity until the historic kite of Benjamin Franklin in 1752, which demonstrated to him that there was such a resemblance. This demonstration added zest to the efforts of many experimenters from that time to the present day. There was a day when the public felt that electricity was a luxury but that day is far in the past and today with practically every business concerns in the world using electricity in some form as well as thousands and thousands of individuals in the homes as power, light, heat and cooking, electricity has with its great progress of experiments and inventions shown that this is truly an electrical age—a necessity and not a luxury. The modern era has brought motion picture theatre, referred to as the picture of the silent drama, through the medium of which the world's greatest talent is portrayed to the eyes of the residents of every community, large and small. Electricity has made motion pictures possible; simple in its application—a brilliant and intense light projected on a screen. We compliment the D. F. & R. Enterprises on the new MISSION Theatre and know that the public will be pleased with the beautiful indirect lighting effects in this theatre. Wichita Falls Electric Company time during the night the boats had to be dragged higher and higher up a shaly shore or limestone. At one time block and tackle had to be used to drag one of the boats to safety.

Police Arrests Early.
Police, the cook, who went to bed 10 feet above water, was flooded out at midnight. His pants had to rescue his bed and clothes.

During the night the beds and the cook's outfit had to be moved three times. Before the recession set in the river had risen no less than 21 feet.

At Separation Rapids, where the sheer walls forced everyone to ride, Kohl, Blake and Lint ran their boats ashore, but the docklands made the boats top-heavy and they danced like cork— even after the cockpits were filled with water.

Freeman, ran last, with La Rue and Moore clinging to the latches.

Racing Moments.
"They had the thrill of their lives," Birdseye says, "for the huge waves tossed the boat into the air and when it came down, bottom side-up, they were thrown out between the boat and the rocks on the bank. La Rue narrowly escaping being crushed."

Freeman dived clear of the boat and came up a few yards from its where he caught a rap. Blake and Dodge pushed out in their boat and hauled the men aboard. Freeman and Moore, holding hard to the upturned boat, towed it to quiet waters and righted it. All loose articles, such as hats, pipes and glasses were lost.

Such were the daily experiences, almost for more than two months, of this little band of line men who blazed the path of science through the heretofore uncharted course of one of our great rivers.

DAMAGE TO DIVERSION DAM BY PRESENT RAINS BELIEVED UNLIKELY

R. A. Thompson, chief engineer of the Wichita County Water Improvement district No. 1, said Tuesday morning that he believed the heavy rains would cause no damage to the diversion dam, which is not yet complete.

Unless further rain is recorded, it is believed that the spillway gates will carry off the water without damage to the structure.

Last week construction of an eighteen-foot dam across the river channel was completed and this small dam will hold the water while the puddling is placed in the big gap and the sheet iron piling is driven across the channel of the stream.

Some rip-rap has been placed on the upstream side of the dam and when the water is four feet deep, it will be carried off through two 44-inch gates in the spillway.

It was necessary to suspend work again Tuesday at the dam on account of the heavy rain and if it is the better of engineers' opinion the water will not damage the dam unless further rains are recorded.

However, if more rain visits the locality, it may be necessary for engineers to hastily construct a temporary dam, with timber and sacks of sand, to spread the water out over a wide area to lessen the pressure against the diversion dam, which is not yet completed.

The Lake Kemp dam is completed and the reservoir is rapidly being filled by the recent rains.

Why Worry? Let Harold Do It! Mission Week of Nov. 25th

When Harold to the south was sent by doctors, he'd been told he suffered every ill a man can have and not be laid out cool. In far-away Paradise, where he took his ill and pills, Jim Blake, a rough-neck renegade, was itching for some thrill.

His outlaw gang did storm the town and take it by surprise and when our hero came along they knew they'd copped a prize. Into a dungeon he was thrown—a giant for a cellmate, who did his best and freed the boy when he cured him of a toothache.

In all our hero's dodged life he's never known such thrills. He's surely die—his head was hot, his feet were cold, burr, what chills. He looked about him for his nurse—his valet, too, was missing, and found the girl in the villain's arms—and he was doing the blushing.

Having the damsel from distress had never been his calling and when he licked the dirty soaps he found it most appalling. The villain had to loose the play, but Cupid entered in, though to win the girl took three reels more of laughs and fights and grins.

The moral of this tale, 'tis plain, is always turn about and look upon the other side of life and care, despair and doubt. So laugh in the face of your troubles, put on your hat and hurry along with the mob that's seeking a thrash from Harold Lloyd in "Why Worry?"

"Toughest Africa," a highly amusing travesty on the African jungle pictures recently featured, is to be released soon. Stan Laurel burlesques the exploits of the intrepid camera man.
