"Good to the Last Drop"

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

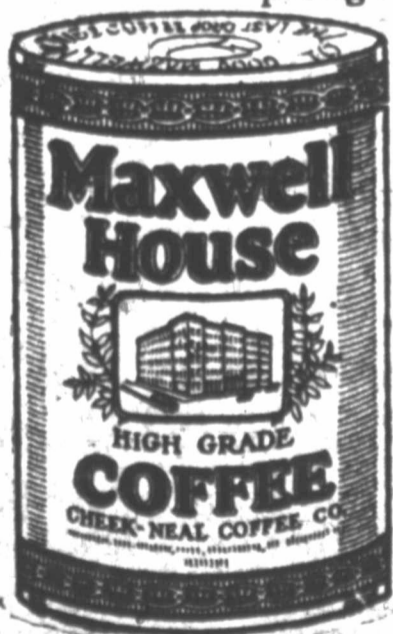

A New Year's Resolution that has been kept for 51 years

The originators of Maxwell House Coffee resolved that it would always be "Good to the Last Drop." That resolution has never wavered. It is the motive that has searched the world for finer coffees—that has tested and combined them with unremitting care until the unequalled flavor of Maxwell House Coffee was attained. Steadfastness to an ideal has reaped a rich reward. Now, Maxwell House is the largest selling high grade coffee in the United States.

Two short years ago Maxwell House was unknown in New York City. Today, New York is confirming the judgment of the nation by buying more Maxwell House than any other coffee.

More than six million times every day

Maxwell House is called upon to make good the promise "Good to the Last Drop." Maintenance of this high standard is the first consideration in each of the five great plants that make Maxwell House.

Again in 1924 the makers of Maxwell House renew the pledge that your coffee cup shall always hold the inimitable flavor that comes only from the finest, purest coffees blended with the skill of two generations of experts.

Dependability has made Maxwell House famous. Today you may buy the blue tin can with redoubled assurance that every cup will be "Good to the Last Drop."

Letter from Leslie Prescott to her husband, John Prescott

Dad and mother came this morning, dear John, and poor dad is looking pretty thin. I am quite sure the journey across will do him a lot of good. Jack, if you could see how delighted they are with Junior, I would make you very happy. Dad took him to his bedroom and once and the baby put up his hands, grabbed his mustache and fairly hung onto it, which of course pleased dad more than anything else in the world. In fact, it has been impossible for mother and me to get him away from the boy for one minute. He even wanted to take him down to the dining-room for luncheon yesterday, and when I told him it was against the rules of the house, he almost left the table because he would not have his grandson classed with dogs and parrots and other weak animals. Jack, dad is growing old, I never realized it until seeing him this time. You see, I haven't seen him since he was in the army, and he seems to have aged years instead of weeks. You forgot to say goodby to me, Jack, and it has made me very unhappy. What did we quarrel about anyway? I have forgotten and I

Firm, Plump Flesh!

MANY are the eyes that are turned to gaze with admiration on the well developed, healthy girl no matter where she may be on the rapidly moving thoroughfare or gliding gracefully over the dance floor.

All eyes turn because we all appreciate the girl with the figure so firm and plump—the girl with red, radiant cheeks, cheeks that carry a touch of rosy from nature's own garden—the girl with the sparkling eyes, keen and sharp—the girl with buoyancy and the swing of youth.

Not necessarily an out-of-doors girl, just a girl with ever increasing blood cells. Just a girl filled with the vim and vigor of youth.

S. S. S., since 1875, has stood for increased blood cells. S. S. S. means restored strength—renewed vitality—added energy. Take S. S. S. and watch the bloom of youth return to your cheeks. Watch that baby, ill nourished flesh fade away before flesh that is firm and plump. Red blood cells will do it and S. S. S. will build them. It contains only pure vegetable ingredients. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size bottle is more economical.

DISTRICT MEETING
KIWANIS OFFICERS
PLANS PROGRESS

Julian Bobo, lieutenant governor of the Texas-Oklahoma district of Kiwanis clubs, has returned from Fort Worth, where he attended a meeting Saturday of officers of the district. District Governor James L. Powell of Muskogee, Okla., presided at the meeting and the five lieutenant governors recently elected in the district, which comprises the state of Texas and Oklahoma, were all present at the meeting.

An extensive program and many plans for the coming year for Kiwanis were drafted and prepared at the meeting. The organization of many new clubs in the district is planned by the officers. Mr. Bobo stated Wednesday that he hopes to organize almost a dozen new clubs in his territory during 1934.

More attention will be given the program of the international headquarters and the officers-privileged child movement during the year, according to plans made by the officers.

This was the first meeting of the new officers of the district and several of the retiring officers were present to give aid and to give their experience. The district governor, lieutenant governors and other district officers were elected at the annual convention of the district at Mineral Wells during the past summer.

Severe Weather
Hinders Work at Diversion Dam

Special to the Times. DUNDEE, Texas, Jan. 1.—The extremely cold weather, together with the sleet of Wednesday morning, has made it impossible to proceed with the finishing touches of the work on the diversion dam. The cold north wind and the sleet from their work early Tuesday morning and as a result New Year's day was spent in idleness.

Subcontractor Hanna has concluded his portion of the work at the dam and Monday moved his outfit to a point near Lower Park to begin work on a portion of the northside canal. His contract calls for dirt excavation.

The Callahan Construction Company gang, which has been engaged in excavating work on the south side of the dam last two weeks, this week is moving the steam shovel to the farther side of the project. This gang has two more small openings to finish up in the dam and it is estimated that this will be completed within the next 10 days.

The rip-rap work is moving steadily ahead under the direction of Contractor King. With the little work that remains to be done on the south end of the dam and the two small openings which the steam shovel outfit will finish up in the next three weeks, it is estimated that the rip-rap work will also be finished by the first of May.

As soon as the rip-rap work is done it will require but a few more weeks to put on the final finishing touches and the great work will have been completed.

Bad Luck and the Devil Pursued Him

"We'll Dodge Cupid," Say Men; Girls Say All "Bunk!"

By NEA Service. LORAIN, Ohio, Jan. 1.—This little Larkie Emily, in the course of a spirited fight between the sexes, is on account of last year.

Recently, with the coming of 1934 but a few weeks off, a number of Lorain's young men banded together, resolved to forswear the desolating specter of matrimony and formed the Amalgamated Order of Confirmed Bachelors. Among its by-laws are the following regulations:

No member shall flirt; the club rooms shall be bare of all pictures of girls or women; no member shall whistle any song containing the word "love"; no member shall marry during 1934.

This was all right as far as it went, but the girls jealously resolved to let the men get away with it.

"If a girl wants a man, all the rules of the Amalgamated Order can't hold her back," declared Miss McGraw, in the first broadside laid down by the sex against the organization.

"This boys are bluffing," said Miss Maxine Padley. "They can't get away with a thing as foolish as this."

So a counter organization has been formed and it is causing no little concern among the ranks of the bachelors. Miss Vera Moore, one of the organizers of the "anti," declares the rules of the girls' outfit will be: "The Amalgamated Order of Confirmed Bachelors."

Lorain's fair sex are predicting the early demise of the Amalgamated Order. They claim no more than six

City to Continue Fight Against
Imposition of Ready-to-Serve
Charge By Municipal Gas Co.

Although the 50-cent ready to serve charge has been added to the rate of the Municipal Gas Company, city commissioners and members of the chamber of commerce committee appointed to meet with the commission in regard to the case, agreed at a joint meeting Wednesday to continue the fight for the prevention of the added charge.

Following the necessary procedure of law, counsel for the city will file a suit against the railroad commission at the state supreme court of Travis county at Austin. The case will be appealed from that court to the court of civil appeals and finally to the supreme court of the state of Texas.

A special meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce will be called Thursday morning to decide on the stand of that organization. It is hoped that a resolution backing up the action of the city council in the fight to prevent the increased charge for gas, will be adopted.

The special committee of the chamber of commerce, composed of Walter D. Cline, F. E. Noble and J. A. Richolt, met with Mayor Frank Collier, Commissioners N. M. Clifford and J. H. Patton, and City Attorney W. E. George and C. C. McDonald, special counsel for the city, at the city hall.

As counsel for the city in the matter Mr. McDonald explained the court proceedings in detail to those present, stating that he had asked

Lieutenant Commander U. S. Navy
Praises Helium In Discussing the Recent Accident to French Airship

By PITTSBURGH GREEN. Lieutenant Commander U. S. N. M. M. Cooke, who is in the city on leave from the U. S. Navy, is discussing the recent accident to the French airship, the Rhenan, which was destroyed by a lightning bolt.

One of the contributing purposes in the use of hydrogen is the carrying of heat. It is a gas that is colorless and odorless. It can leak into the living quarters of an airship without its presence being known.

The writer was once working in a laboratory when a blast came and the hydrogen gas was ignited. Investigation showed that hydrogen gas had filled the space in which he stood without giving any sign of its presence.

The secretary of the navy has publicly announced that hydrogen gas is a gas that is ready to be used in the propulsion of a ship.

Permanent dwellers north of the Arctic circle complain that they are annoyed by shocks they receive if they touch any metal object after walking about the house. If this be true, the danger of such a disaster as happened to the Rhenan is equally greater over the polar sea even though there be no actual lightning.

Some accidental loss of gas while flying over the polar cap is nearly unavoidable. The gas, if it is not formed on the propellers during low temperatures may be buried through the thin envelope covering the dirigible's frame.

Should such punctures occur with the use of hydrogen nothing could be done. The gas, if it is not formed on the propellers during low temperatures may be buried through the thin envelope covering the dirigible's frame.

Even though helium cut the Rhenan's buoyancy, it is a gas that is not inflammable and is not explosive. It is a gas that is not inflammable and is not explosive.

Friends of Prominent Washington
Officials Demand Another Contest
To Decide National Milking Honor

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—A third contest in milking to break the unsatisfactory results of the two ties is being demanded by the friends of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and United States Senator Mangus Johnson of Minnesota.

The first set-to was held Saturday at the old soldier's home, with Major General Tasker H. Hilder, director of the milk of human kindness, at the Paris peace conference and superintendent of the home, as timekeeper and judge.

After ten minutes, the three-gallon pails showed the same amount of milk. Johnson claimed a foul, because his prize Heine was "dry" and in addition switched him so hard in the face with her tail that he was greatly disconcerted.

The second contest yesterday ended even as the first, with six and a half inches of milk in each pail and both dairymen perspiring contestants.

"I'll challenge you to a hay-pitching contest, even if you've never pitched hay," Johnson shouted in his great voice.

"We will let the people of the middle west decide which city to milk or hay-pitching, we will try cutting wood with a cross-cut saw, provided I can have Lynn Freestart at the other end."

Johnson then explained that he would have won except he was not raised in the "saucer" and the grip in his hands was developed after he became 25 years of age and moved away from cities.

One of the last pictures Calvin Coolidge had taken before he became president, showed him in a woolen smock and a broad brim hat milking a cow on his Vermont farm.

The president's democratic tastes and the presence of his son, Calvin, in the Massachusetts tobacco fields of the simple life to flog down the gauntlet to the genre of the silk hat and the formal attire.

Pythian Circus
Through Thursday

At a meeting Tuesday night of the committee having charge of the indoor circus now being given by the local lodge of the Knights of Pythias, it was decided to extend the show until Thursday night of this week. Two of the main reasons for this decision were the present cold snap, which has prevented many ticket holders from out of town from coming in and depositing their tickets, which they have already paid for, and the circus company was willing to remain over for by so doing they would extend one night, whereby if they had closed Tuesday night as originally planned they would have lost two nights. The circus acts as of today open under the hills for a ten-day engagement. The auditorium, which will be in use Thursday night, according to advices from the circus.

AUTO MAINTENANCE
FUND IS DIVIDED
AMONG PRECINCTS

The automobile maintenance fund of Wichita county, which has been accumulating throughout the past five years, was divided Wednesday morning equally among the four road precincts, each county commissioner being credited with $45,527.75.

The maintenance fund has grown to the size of $222,930.98 at the close of the year 1932, and in the last day of the month, the interest received on this money from the county depository was sufficient to give each commissioner an additional $394.53.

The money received by the county from January 1, 1934 on automobile taxes will be turned over to the state.

The county is still due $40,000 from the federal government as aid on the last state highway project. When this is received it will also be divided equally among the commissioners.

The automobile maintenance money, as it now stands, will be used by the county commissioners in road improvement work. The Wichita Falls precinct will expend all of its portion on the paving of the Seymour road.

Severe Weather Hinders Work at Diversion Dam

Special to the Times. DUNDEE, Texas, Jan. 1.—The extremely cold weather, together with the sleet of Wednesday morning, has made it impossible to proceed with the finishing touches of the work on the diversion dam.

The dam construction company, which has been engaged in excavating work on the south side of the dam, has been unable to get the work started.

The rip-rap work is moving steadily ahead under the direction of Contractor King.

As soon as the rip-rap work is done it will require but a few more weeks to put on the final finishing touches and the great work will be completed.

Only four arrests were made during the entire day Wednesday. Traffic violations were the most common and the great majority were assessed in three of the cases.

The fourth man was released without charges being filed against him.

Bad Luck and the Devil Pursued Him

"I don't think any one has had more bad luck and sickness than I have. In 1918 I had two ribs, an arm and collar bone broken in a railroad accident. Then I had pneumonia. After recovering I crossed a pasture when a bull chased me, tossed me over the fence and broke my right leg. In 1919 I had typhoid fever, since then I have stomach and liver trouble, which no medicine or doctor touched until two years ago I got a bottle of Mayer's Wonderful Remedy, which proved the first ray of light in thirteen years."

It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the cause and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal troubles, including appendicitis. One dose will relieve or money refunded. Mayer's Wonderful Remedy is sold everywhere and drug stores everywhere.

PAZO OINTMENT COMPANY, 100 South Main, St. Louis, Mo.

City to Continue Fight Against Imposition of Ready-to-Serve Charge By Municipal Gas Co.

Although the 50-cent ready to serve charge has been added to the Municipal Gas Company, city commissioners and members of the chamber of commerce committee appointed to meet with the commissioners in regard to the case, agreed at a joint meeting Wednesday to continue the fight for the protection of the added charge.

Following the necessary procedure of law, counsel for the city will file a suit against the railroad commission at St. Louis in the district court of Travis county at Austin. The case will be appealed from that court to the court of civil appeals and finally to the supreme court of the state of Texas.

A special meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce will be called Thursday morning to decide on the stand of that organization. It is hoped that a resolution backing up the action of the city council in the fight to prevent the increased charge for gas, will be adopted.

The special committee of the chamber of commerce, composed of Walter D. Cline, F. B. Noble and J. A. Nichol, met with Mayor Frank Collier, Commissioners N. M. Clifford and J. H. Patton, and City Attorney W. C. McGee, and C. C. McDonald, special counsel for the city in the fight.

At the meeting of the session, Mayor Collier stated that the purpose of the meeting was to determine whether the city should continue to fight the case and consider whether the money necessary for the continuation of the case should be included in the city treasury or subscribed by the chamber of commerce. It was explained that there was money in the city treasury which was not used for other expenses. Considerable discussion was given the matter and it was decided that the chamber of commerce had served notice on the Municipal Company that it expected to collect two-thirds of the additional 50-cent ready to serve charge.

Lesser Suit Contracted. As counsel for the city in the matter Mr. McDonald explained the court proceedings in detail to those present, stating that he had asked a decision from the commission that the Municipal company was an imprudent investment. He named a number of cases which had been cited by the city's counsel in the case, in regard to decisions on imprudent investments.

Declaring it an imprudent investment, Mr. McDonald stated that he had asked that the increase be refused the Municipal company as long as its present contract with the Lone Star Gas company was in effect. The contract referred to stated that two-thirds of the money collected for gas shall be turned over to the Lone Star company and the balance to the city.

Mr. Noble stated, "people of Wichita Falls are being made to pay for had trade between the Municipal and the Lone Star company."

"I don't believe that the case can be won in any of the courts or before the railroad commission. We can get no relief in the courts," Walter Cline stated.

Legislation is needed to regulate the Lone Star company. But for the best interests of the community, the fight will be a good investment and it would include the expense of carrying it to the highest courts of the state," Mr. Cline continued.

Mr. McDonald explained that the amount would include the expense of getting witnesses to Austin and defraying all court costs.

It was stated at the meeting that the value of the fight was not organized to make money. It was the opinion of all present that the value of the fight was not organized to make money.

Friends of Prominent Washington Officials Demand Another Contest To Decide National Milkling Honor

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—A third contest in milkling to break the tie is being demanded by the Friends of Agriculture Wallace and United States Senator Angus Johnson of Minnesota. President Coolidge, himself a milkler, is greatly interested in the outcome.

The first set-to was held Saturday at the old soldiers' home, with Major General Tucker H. Bliss, deputy secretary of the National Milkling Contest, as referee.

The second contest yesterday ended even at the first, with six and a half inches of milk in each pail after perspiring contestants.

"I'll challenge you to a hay-pitching contest, even if you were to pitch a brick," he said.

"We will let the people of the middle west decide which city to meet in. If I can't beat you at milkling or hay-pitching we will try cutting wood with a cross-cut saw, provided I can have Lynn Fraser at the other end."

Johnson explained that the contest would have been won by the city which had the most milk in the pails.

DEPUTIES TO TAX ASSESSOR BEGIN WORK ON MONDAY

Field deputies of County Tax Assessor Ivan Deaton will begin the arduous task of assessing property for taxation for 1934 next Monday morning.

A meeting has been called for next Saturday morning in the assessor's office in the court house, at which time Mr. Deaton will give definite instructions as to the method to be employed in assessing property for this year.

In 1933 a very careful check was made of all property owners and as a result an additional 25 per cent in number of additions was secured. An equally careful check will be made this year in an effort to secure an increase in renditions for 1934.

The county is still due $40,000 from the federal government as aid on the last state highway project. When this is received it will also be divided equally among the commissioners.

The automobile maintenance fund of Wichita county, which has been accumulating throughout the past five years, was divided Wednesday morning equally among the four road precincts, each county commissioner being credited with $15,322.75.

The maintenance fund had grown to the size of $122,926.83 at the close of the year 1933, and on the last day of the month the interest received on this money from the county depository was sufficient to give each commissioner an additional $124.62.

The money received by the county from January 1, 1934 on automobile taxes will be turned over to the state.

The county is still due $40,000 from the federal government as aid on the last state highway project. When this is received it will also be divided equally among the commissioners.

The automobile maintenance fund of Wichita county, which has been accumulating throughout the past five years, was divided Wednesday morning equally among the four road precincts, each county commissioner being credited with $15,322.75.

The maintenance fund had grown to the size of $122,926.83 at the close of the year 1933, and on the last day of the month the interest received on this money from the county depository was sufficient to give each commissioner an additional $124.62.

The money received by the county from January 1, 1934 on automobile taxes will be turned over to the state.

World's Most Famous Scientist And Inventor Answers Questions Covering 13 Important Problems

By Universal Service.
EAST ORANGE, N. Y., Jan. 2.—Thomas A. Edison, world famous scientist, and inventor, the man who conceived the much discussed questionnaire to test the intelligence of college men, for the first time in his life, answered a questionnaire submitted today.

Mr. Edison was busy—as usual. A dozen executives were in the library of his laboratory seeking "just one word with Mr. Edison."

He didn't have time to be interviewed. But a questionnaire! That was different. He'd have time for that.

It was handed to him. A Leonine figure of a man, as virile as an athlete in his forties, he took one rapid glance at the sheet containing 13 questions. A powerful hand strayed to his vest and withdrew a snub nosed lead pencil. He sat down at his desk, seized a pad of yellow paper and waving a stenographer aside, began answering the questions in a handwriting as legible as that of a youth.

When he had finished—and it was done in record time—he smiled, passed them over, saying: "Take a look at them."

Questions Answered.

Here are the questions, each one followed by his answer:

Q-1. Will this be a prosperous presidential year? If so, why, in your opinion, sir?

A—I think it will be a moderately prosperous year. To explain why would take too much time.

Q-2. Is President Coolidge acceptable to you for another term?

A—Yes. The United States has struck luck.

Q-3. Should we still hold aloof from foreign political entanglements, or should we espouse and hold hands with the European nations?

A—We should have joined the League of Nations, with reservations.

Q-4. Do you think there is any danger of America being "captured" by the Reds, and their flag hoisted over the White House as Secretary Hughes seems to fear?

A—No. Still, we should fight their propaganda, which is based on ignorance of our complex civilization and the nature of man.

Q-5. Are we approaching the day when mechanical contrivances will reduce the average working day to say, four hours?

A—We are rapidly displacing manual labor by automatic machinery. In the end one member of a family will be able to support it.

Q-6. Will that be a blessing or a curse?

A—This may be a curse, but there are some doubt about it.

Q-7. What is America's greatest need today?

A—Education of the general public in economics.

Q-8. Being a scientist, what position do you take in this modernist-fundamentalist controversy?

A—The modernist will prevail in the end. The age of myths has begun to close.

Q-9. Was Voltaire right when he said, "If there were no God it would be necessary for man to invent one?"

A—No intelligent man denies the existence of a supreme image.

Q-10. Is our educational system "all wrong" or are we muddled toward perfection? What changes would you suggest?

A—My experience is that the present system is wrong. It does not accomplish what it supposed to. The reason is simple, but it would take too much time to explain.

Q-11. Two years ago you predicted, "We soon shall hear ants talk."

A—A powerful microphone has been invented that almost does that. If ants do talk, it is a very easy matter to record the waves and make them audible by lowering the pitch.

Q-12. Can you tell us toward what great invention you are working today?

A—I am working on many.

Q-13. Are you still a two-shift man, working 16 hours and sleeping about four when you get the chance?

A—I still work two shifts to preserve my health and entice my subconscious mind to be interested in this world with no desire to quit.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

As the partridge sitteth on eggs, and hatcheth them not; so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leave them in the midst of his days, and at his end shall be a fool.—Jer. 17:11.

Poverty trends close upon the heels of greed and unexpected wealth.—Rivaroli.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR THE PEOPLE

Noting the announcement that Governor Neff intends to tour the state in behalf of legislation to strengthen law enforcement, the Vernon Record says that every good citizen must join with the governor in wishing for better enforcement of the laws but it believes we already have the machinery for such enforcement.

There are minor changes that might be made to advantage, it is true," says the Vernon paper, "but in the main our judicial machinery needs only to be put to its full use to enforce the law. A great many people complain at the courts and the peace officers for lax enforcement of the law, when as a matter of fact the complaint should be directed at ourselves—the average citizens who compose the juries.

The peace officers may arrest offenders and the prosecuting attorneys may try to enforce the law and exact the penalties, but the juries have the final decision. It is they, who, in most cases, decide whether the accused shall be acquitted or convicted. The number of criminals who escape justice because of technicalities or decisions of higher courts is negligible in comparison to the number set free by juries.

If the law is not enforced it is our fault. When the people determine that the law shall be strictly enforced, the officers and courts will do their part, for the simple reason that when the people become aroused those who stand charged with the duty of administering justice likewise become diligent.

Of course, Governor Neff's visit over the state will be appreciated by the people of the communities he visits, but any law enforcement program which does not have for its major plank an arousing of the people is destined to merely add to the confusion.

WITHIN THEIR RIGHTS

There are a great many folks who want the repeal of the prohibition amendment. There are many others who want a modification of the Volstead act by which this amendment is made effective. There are organizations devoted to the advocacy of repeal and modification. There are some in this country who believe that those who seek the repeal of the prohibition amendment or the modification of the Volstead act are in conspiracy against the government.

This paper favors neither the repeal of the prohibition amendment nor the substantial modification of the Volstead act. It does recognize, however, that those who seek repeal and modification are entirely within their rights. They are as much within their rights as those of us who sought the adoption of the prohibition amendment and the enactment of the Volstead act. Our constitution and our laws are subject to change at the will of the people.

We can believe that those who are seeking the repeal of the prohibition amendment or the modification of the Volstead act are wasting their time, but if they choose to do so that's their affair.

SELLING ARMS TO MEXICO

The United States government has sold a quantity of military supplies to the Oregon government in Mexico. These supplies are to be delivered immediately and will be used by the Mexican government in its campaign against the revolutionaries.

The first thought of most of us at this action of our government is one of criticism. It looks like a taking of sides in a Mexican quarrel. But there is another view. The United States has recognized the Oregon government in Mexico. It is a friendly government. Those who are fighting Oregon are revolutionaries without standing or responsibility. They have not been recognized by this government or any other. Their status is that of disturbers of the peace of a friendly nation. It is true that the American might have evaded the issue and have not purchased of arms but such evasion would have been a severer of the friendship which we must maintain with the two governments.

A NEW YEAR'S PLEA.

Lord, let me stand to the thick of the fight. Let me bear what I must without whining; Grant me the wisdom to do what is right. Though a thousand false beacons are shining.

Let me be true as the steel of a blade, Make me bigger than skillful or clever; Teach me to cling to my best, unafraid, And harken to false gospels, never.

Let me be brave when the burden is great, Faithful when wounded by sorrow; Teach me, when troubled, with patience to wait The better and brighter tomorrow.

Spare me from hatred and envy and shame, Open my eyes to life's beauty; Let not the glitter of fortune or fame Destroy the fair splendor of duty.

Let me be true to myself to the end, Let me stand to my task without whining; Let me be right as a man, as a friend, Though a thousand false beacons are shining.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

BED-TIME.

The last drapery of the day has now fallen to its place. The chamber is very still, wrapped and tied by the strings of silence. Even the winds outside have laid themselves to sleep. Not a rustle is heard through the open window from the fallen leaves below. Merely the tinkle of the spring beyond, beneath the rocks, is keeping time with the running milliner of the night.

Millions of eyes are already tightened by the darkness and fended into peacefulness by the invisible fingers of the Great Watcher. We are happily tired, for we hoped and thought and worked for a good day. One of the white-haired days of December, silvered by a beautiful sun—one of those special dying days that sleep to wake into a new and happy New Year.

No matter what has beset the day with petty irritations and worries, beyond-time somehow hopes to wipe them out, and so we reach for a leading hand to guide us through a night of rest and renewal of spirit.

We know we have thought and said many things that we now regret. In our tiredness our heart is softened, as the dying embers of an open fire, melting into the darkness, soften the light of a room. A prayer of love for those near and dear to us, as well as for those who need us most, is breathed as our body seeks its place beneath the warming covers. We are deeply mindful of all our failings, but somehow we hope that the kind Father will both forgive and forget as He smooths our brow into a happy unconsciousness and adventures with us through the dreams of the darkened hours.

It's bed-time—and so we say, Good Night! Copyright, 1923, by George Matthew Adams

Rippling Rhymes

By WALT MASON

GOSSIPING.

Old Mrs. Tungsmith comes along to gossip for an hour; her wind is good, her head is good, her disposition sour. She gathers up the evil news throughout our drowsy town, and then, as one would bootleg booze, she spreads it up and down. She journeys to my cottage door and camps upon the sill, and there relates, an hour or more, dire chronicles of ill. It seems that Jimpeon beats his wife, though vainly he pretends to lead a clean and godly life, with noble aims and ends. The Widow Bess was lost some hens, and there are clues to show that Dunkster burglarized her pen, and laid her chickens low. The Gold Brick store was lately burned and an insurance dick has whispered that the owner turned a little arson trick. So Mrs. Tungsmith jogs ahead with tales of crime and vice; and all the causal things she's said with me cut little ice. I gravely watch her shriveled jaws, and think of Macbeth's crones, and mutter sundry beams and haws in non-committal tones. I know that when she goes away she'll roast me like the rest; she'll claim I stole a neighbor's hay or robbed a rooster's nest. I cannot make the gossip quit, she'll slander till she's hoarse; but she can't lead me to admit that I endorse her course.

The Politician

By BERTON BRALEY.

Oh, he hates to take the snuff

Of the bonus, When the payer of the taxes has his say.

But he fears the fierce besneigh' Of the Legion

If he doesn't vote a bonus right away.

So the shifty politician With ambition

Lives a life that's not exactly light and gay.

He is strong for isolation

Of the nation, When the Anti-Leaguers howl about "intrigue."

But—"Some problems European

So he murmurs to supporters of the League, And a troubled politician

With ambition Has a job that often fills him with fatigue.

He must seek to be a charmer

To the farmer, With an eye upon the voters of the town;

He must show a friend progressive

(Not excessive) Giving no one any chance to pin him down;

So the wily politician With ambition

Must, in private, pretty often wear a crown.

For it makes a man like a doddle

Just to straddle On a half we must nurse in the day,

When he may find his sorrow

That cometh With ambition He must try to do a flop the other way;

So a shifty politician With ambition

Has a life that's nearly anything but gay.

Heifetz plays. Two kinds of crowds. Knowledge born in us. Heroes and hero worship.

By ARTHUR WEISSMAN (Copyright, 1923, The Star Co.)

In Russia, about twenty years ago, a precocious child played the violin. His father watched and corrected little Jascha, proud that the boy, still in his babyhood, knew almost all that the father knew of playing.

Neighbor said "It's a shame, that Heifetz spends the whole day Heifetz to the living, and some correcting him, when he ought to be working for his family."

But the father played his violin at night in the theater orchestra and kept his family that way.

Yesterday afternoon at Carnegie Hall in New York, little Jascha, grown to be a tall young man, played a better violin with every note in the great hall filled, every ticket for standing room sold.

His father from Russia sat close in front, still listening to his little boy playing.

In two hours that little boy earned more money than his father could have earned in Russia in a whole life-time.

So the neighbors were wrong. "Sometimes it pays to concentrate the time it pays to concentrate on your little boy with talent.

Far more important than money making, the boy with his talent, it is possible yesterday for thousands to begin the New Year in an atmosphere of beauty and inspiration.

Mr. Heifetz, the great violinist, is a man of music; earnest young students, grateful for a chance to stand through the afternoon unconscious of fatigue.

And then the prize ring crowds seemed less important. You know that intellect at the top of the brutality at the bottom in spite of itself.

When comes the power displayed by the Russian Jewish child in infancy, barely three years old? If acquired characteristics, the child who has not inherited, what talent that child to handle a violin, at ten years of age, marvelously that old and new players hearing him at a concert in Berlin said, "We might as well go home and break our violins. That child does now what we shall never be able to do."

Our race is almost one or two thousand years old. We are only infants in the stone age, when the only music was the hunter imitating the call of a wild animal, or perhaps the dull rhythmic croak of a hairy hand on a skin stretched tight.

The human brain has been storing up knowledge and intense feeling from generation to generation, children inheriting what the fathers and mothers gathered in their lives and handed on.

The boy handling a violin in infancy, as readily and naturally as his parents breathe, proves that the brain of man, as generations pass, will be born more and more fully equipped with knowledge acquired before birth.

In the millions of years ahead of us, children will come into the world with the knowledge as we foolishly call it—more than is known to "the great genius" of our day.

We have millions of years, hundreds of millions, to live on this earth. Common sense suggests it, science proves it, the power guaranteed it. What will be the power of the human mind after only a few million years of accumulated knowledge and feeling?

Consider what we do already, only 12,000 years from the stone age, and living still among the stone age crowd of the prize ring, the stock market, commercial competition, and "statesmanship" that declares war.

Leopold Ahar, who sat close to the platform yesterday listening and criticizing probably, was Heifetz's teacher in Russia, as he was a teacher of Mischae Elman, Zimbalist and others that have studied. Fortunately, he will find material for his teaching here, and the best of it among these new comers from the old world that our uncivilized immigration laws would keep out.

Crowds of people, old and young, wait outside the hall after the concert to see Heifetz close by, as he came out from his playing. So you see crowds wait outside the arena, to see the champion, step haughtily into his car, or outside the baseball park to see the great player.

There are many men and many minds, and something provided for all the kinds of work you can do. With a new year under way, do what you can to put the best part of your mind to work. We use about seven per cent of our brains. The rest remains idle through life; we do not know it is there. Good music will often awaken the unused areas, so have good music when you can. It makes the baser parents, making money, piling up for children that which will make them useless. It makes the baser parents, making money, piling up for children that which will make them useless. It makes the baser parents, making money, piling up for children that which will make them useless.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Mr. Charles Abington engaged Sir Harley, criminal investigator, to solve the mystery of constant burglaries of Sir Charles. While Sir Charles is dining at the Abington home, Sir Charles falls to the floor, his head striking a table leg. He is pronounced dead due to heart failure. Harley insists that Sir Charles was murdered by a person in the household.

Harley asks Brian to explain the meaning of "Fire-Tongue." Brian explains that it is a disease of the Himalayan region, one of the fighting tribes of Nepal, as the Bloom or Orchid of Sleep. It is found upon the lower Himalayan slopes, and bears a close resemblance to the white odontoglossum of commerce, except that the flower is much smaller. The perfume attracts insects and sometimes small animals and reptiles, although inhalation seems to induce instant death. It may be detected in its natural state by the presence of hundreds of dead flies and insects upon the ground surrounding the plant. It is especially fatal to nocturnal insects, its perfume being stronger at night.

Preparation of the oil is an art peculiar to members of an obscure sect established in that district, by whom it is said to be employed for the removal of enemies. An article is sprinkled with it, and while the perfume, which is reported to resemble that of cloves, remains perceptible, to inhale it results in immediate syncope, although by what physiological process it is effected is not known.

When at last the car was drawn up before the porch of Hillside, Ormus Kahn, stepping out, assisted the ladies to alight, for one moment Phil Abington hesitated, although the car was already too late to do so. They were greeted by Mr. Rama Dass, his excellency's courteous secretary, whom she had already met, and whom Ormus Kahn presented to Sir Charles. Almost immediately:

"You have missed Mr. Harley by only a few minutes," said Rama Dass. "What?" exclaimed Phil, her eyes opening very widely. "He is here in no occasion for alarm," explained the secretary in his urbane manner. "He has ventured as far as Lower Claybury station. The visit was unavoidable, he particularly requested that we should commence luncheon, but hoped to be back before we should have finished."

Phil Abington glanced rapidly from the face of the speaker to that of Ormus Kahn. But her scrutiny of those unobtrusive countenances availed her nothing. She was conscious of a great and growing uneasiness; and Mrs. McDermoch, misunderstanding the expression upon her face, squeezed her arm playfully.

"Over up, here," she whispered. "He will be here soon!" (Continued in Our Next Issue.)

Little Benny's Note Book

Reading keeps writing from going to waste. All printing is silent unless it is red out loud. Some people always want to read out loud while others never want to read out loud at the same time, especially if they want to read different things.

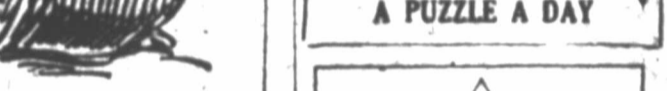

A book is only in the way unless you know how to read. One of the most useless things is a forty lady's wide book with no pictures in it. No matter how good of an education you have, you generally never know what it says on your Chinese laundry check. This proves there is always something more to learn.

If you stay in the house reading while the other fellows are out playing your mother thinks you are great while the other fellows think you are crazy. This proves you can please everybody so the best thing is to enjoy your book if possible.

Some people never look more nervous than when they are in a trolley car with no newspaper to read. If you lived to be 100 years old you are crazy. This proves you can't be anybody hardly ever tries, even the ladies that work there all the time.

The first thing you learn to read is the alphabet, the worst part about it being that the letters don't make sense in that position. Children think they are great when they know the alphabet and can count up to 10, the sad part being that their troubles are just beginning to start.

A PUZZLE A DAY

A man owned a triangular plot of ground, each side being equal in length. He sold the field to four brothers, and wished to divide it into four parts, each part to be exactly the same size and shape as every other part. How did they do it?

Yesterday's answer: The word "smiles" has been termed the loneliest word in the English language for the simple reason that there is a mile (mi-l-ee) between its first and its last letters.

SMH Mrs. Mae Nolan, the only woman member of congress, thinks postmen and other government employees should receive extra pay for overtime and night work.

"Uncle Sam," she urges, "should be a model employer."

Yes, and Uncle Sam should be a model employer in economy, fairness and speediness of business. Such troubles as we have in government are due to office holders, not the government itself. Uncle Sam is an ideal. His clothes are frequently worn by men they don't fit.

Undaunted, and with a three attempt Washington. It stood the part of the field.

It looked like a victory. The Navy backed the field with Washington's ball.

Navy officials were trying to get the admiral in the neck and it was 17 yards or so.

On their 17-yard line, the Navy's row was unopposed.

When the Navy's row was unopposed, the Navy's row was unopposed.

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES

Story by Hal Cochran Drawings by Leo Wright

Two or three times Jack felt sure that he was going to go right over the horse's head. The animal would stand up on his hind legs and then stretch forward on his front legs. Suddenly Jack leaned forward and grabbed hold of the animal's mane. Then the horse started to run.

With a whoop the cowboys took after Jack's horse. "Throw your arms around his neck," shouted one of them. Jack did, and at the same time he held his legs close to the animal's sides. Away they went, over hills and down into valleys. Jack had never traveled so fast. (Continued.)

There is milk and cream enough for everyone in the Chicago district. Farmers who began yesterday to refuse to ship milk into Chicago to the distributors state their numbers will be joined today by others who did not hear of the price disagreement yesterday until after they had shipped their milk.

There is no operating expense for district No. 1; this expense is paid by the people who irrigate. It is not anticipated that the tax will be more than $1 on a valuation of $100 in district No. 1, and it is probable that water rentals and other sources of income will cause the rate to be lowered within a few years.

Approximately $300,000 will have to be expended each year on interest on bonds and for the retirement of bonds.
