PAIN IN THE JOINTS

ONE OF THE TORTURES OF RHEUMATISM.

The first sign of rheumatism is frequently a pain and swelling in one of the joints. If not combated in the blood, which is the seat of the disease, the poison spreads, affecting other joints and tissues.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The one remedy that has cured rheumatism so that it stays cured is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills expel the poison from the blood and restore the system, so that the poisonous matter is passed off as nature intended.

These wonderful pills cured Mrs. Picheur by driving the rheumatic poison out of her blood. In the same way, they cure the rheumatism of men, women, children and build up the blood to carry health and strength to every part of the body.

FIGHT FOR CHAPLAINCY

With the prospect for a special session of the state legislature to be convened in the city of Austin during the month of March or April, there threatens to bob up quite serenely the same kind of fight that was witnessed before the last regular session over the question of who was to be chaplain of the house. It will be remembered that the fight referred to was between Dr. George C. Rankin, editor of the Texas Christian Advocate of Dallas, and a blind minister from east Texas.

As there is already a well defined effort being made to render the prohibition question an issue in the impending state campaign, and Dr. Rankin is looked upon as the real prohibition leader of the state, it is a pretty safe proposition that his candidacy is going to provoke a warmer fight even than that of the last session, and the early days of the approaching special session are going to be characterized by some pretty lurid political play in the capital city.

THE ABILENE COUNTRY

It is an interesting story of rapid enhancement in land values that is now coming from every portion of Texas. Even out in the Abilene country lands are selling at from $20 to $35 per acre, and it is said there are more people looking for homes than can be accommodated. All of which goes to prove that the era of cheap homes is rapidly passing from Texas, and the man who defers the acquirement of his home even for two years, is going to pay dearly for his procrastination.

Railroad talk has had nothing to do with this advance except in a few sections. A man can cultivate fifty acres of cotton here and grow enough grain and other feed crops to keep domestic animals and to make his meal. But good farming lands can still be had at figures much lower than those named by The Telegram, though some farms cannot be bought at $40 per acre.

The Reporter is a little too sensitive and too prone to take offense when none was intended. The expression "even in the Abilene country" was not intended to disparage that section of the state, but to illustrate the fact that even in west Texas—in that section of the state, where a prominent citizen of the live and progressive little city of Abilene once remarked nothing could be raised but "hull and cattle," the country is settling up so rapidly and the demand for land is so great that prices have reached a figure that would have heretofore been considered high in the older agricultural districts.

The editor of The Telegram is perfectly familiar with conditions in Abilene and the Abilene country, as he is also with conditions in west Texas generally, and can bear witness to the truth of the great majority of the Reporter's suggestions. West Texas is one of the best portions of this great and growing state, and deserves in the fullest degree the measure of prosperity that is now being enjoyed. It is a section of the state that has had to contend with much that would have discouraged a less brave and resolute people, and The Telegram rejoices at every report of prosperity that comes from west Texas and west Texas people. The Abilene country is fast developing, and the indications for the future are as rosy as the most exacting could desire.

The people of Fort Worth are getting together on the sidewalk proposition, and when that event is safely accomplished we are going to have some real sidewalk improvement.

The Texas press is taking up the factory idea in such manner as to insure Texas all kinds of factories if the admonitions of the newspaper men fall in fertile soil. And Texas has many openings for all kinds of factories.

There is a lingering and growing suspicion that there is a whole lot of politics behind this demand being made for fifteen cent cotton. And if this proves true the men behind the movement are going to suffer keenly from the recoil.

President Roosevelt says that the new governor of Oklahoma will be able to deliver the goods, and for that reason he probably received the appointment. He is a Rough Rider, and men of that class appeal very strongly to the Presidential heart.

Much of the range country of Texas is now suffering from rotting grass as a result of excessive moisture that has fallen this winter, but all kinds of live stock are reported in fine condition and going through the winter in fine shape.

It is reported from Washington that there is some probability of the Panama canal being dug by contract. It is to be hoped that a definite line of action can soon be agreed upon in this matter and the work pushed in accordance with the importance of this great enterprise.

The Kentucky legislature will pass a law prohibiting the hanging of women in that state, and every state in the union should enact a similar measure. Ample methods of punishment can be found for women who break the law, without resorting to the hangman's noose.

There is an active demand for land all over Texas, and a number of big companies are being formed for the purpose of bringing large bodies of farmers into this state. A big organization of the kind has just been perfected at San Angelo by Chicago men, and they will undertake the immediate settlement of 30,000 acres in that immediate section.

Dallas is making big preparations for the meeting of the cattlemen in March, and promises to give them the time of their lives. If Dallas imagines the cattlemen hold these annual meetings for the mere purpose of having a good time she is going to be disappointed. The Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas is a strictly business institution.

The last of the capitol syndicate lands are to be placed on the market at prices that will cause them to sell. An office has been opened in Hereford for that purpose, and sales will be pushed as fast as possible. The bulk of these lands are located in Deaf Smith and Farmer counties, and the plans of the owners are said to include the early organization of Farmer county, with Bovina as the county seat.

PERSONAL MENTION

It is announced that King Edward will go to Athens to attend the Olympian games.

Senator La Follette of Wisconsin is one of the closest students of Shakespeare in the senate and the only vegetarian in that body.

Bishop McCabe has delivered his lecture on the "Bright Side of Prison Life in Libby Prison" 1,500 times and $200,000 has been brought into the church treasury by the same.

Israel Zangwill has now taken up boxing and is said to be fast developing into an expert. He was advised to learn the art by his physician, who thought he needed exercise.

Sir Wilfred Laurier will be one of the guests at the Erie, Pa., chamber of commerce banquet, where he will meet Vice President Fairbanks and Senators Penrose and Knox, who will be the other guests.

George J. Copperton of Carleton, Mich., has lived to attain a distinction given to few men—the celebration of his golden wedding with his second wife. He is 85 years of age and has lived on the same farm sixty-nine years. He first married in 1845 and remarried in 1855. Both he and his wife are hale and hearty.

AMONG THE EXCHANGES

Rev. Granville McPherson of Ellis county concedes the bolt to Dallas county. Marriages, last year, 1,532; divorces, last year, 387. Dallas county has a population of 125,000 or more, and there is no valid excuse to offer why she should not lead in the number of marriages and divorces. Rev. Mr. McPherson's figures are as follows: Dallas county, marriages, 1,532; divorces, 387; Tarrant county, marriages 1,129, divorces 198; McLennan county, marriages 909, divorces 251; Collin county, marriages 455, divorces 52; Hill county, marriages 488, divorces 65; Hunt county, marriages 509, divorces 68; Ellis county, marriages 543, divorces 86; Grayson county, marriages 936, divorces 130. In the seven counties there were 5,535 marriages during the year and 1,257 divorces granted, or about one divorce to every five marriages. Dr. McPherson's Anti-Divorce Society appears to have given an impetus to the divorce court procession.—Dallas Times-Herald.

There has been a great deal of agitation against the existing divorce laws of Texas and strong efforts made to make them more drastically outlandish by the drift of public sentiment in that direction that gives divorce proceedings a new impetus, as those experiencing a galling yoke may desire relief before it becomes impossible.

And now comes the news that the Kentucky has been put into the dry dock. First thing you know the citizens of that state will rise up and demand that the disgrace be wiped off, or the name be removed from the ship. Whatever is done it is to be hoped that there will be no shooting over the matter, but that it will all pass off quietly and peaceably.—Greenback Transcript.

The Kentucky was put in dry dock on account of the Kentucky antipathy toward the liquid in which the vessel was compelled to float. She now rests peacefully on a big bed of fragrant mint and acres of corn still about her.

Nat M. Washer, now president of the Business Men's Club, is a public-spirited citizen whose wide experience, sound judgment and aggressive energy should enable him to render valuable service in his new field of activity.—San Antonio Express.

Nat Washer's long residence in Fort Worth, where he has a live and progressive business man, well qualifies him for the position he now fills as a leader in San Antonio's business circles. He is thoroughly imbued with the true Fort Worth spirit, and that is a winner everywhere.

That tragedy at Beaumont tells the story of the danger of a jury trifling with a case of outrage in this state, and rendering a verdict less than the extreme penalty of the laws allows. Had the outraged little Miss Holder been sentenced to death as he deserved, there would be no dead father to mourn over in the household so bitterly outraged by the brutal criminal now in state prison, and no deputy sheriff charged with murder, because he fired at the command of his superior officer to save a greater loss of life at the hands of the crazed and outraged father of the little victim. It is such justice in its miscarriages.—San Antonio Light.

And if the perpetrator of the outrage had been a negro he would never have been permitted to see the inside of a court room. The white culprit of this kind is no better than the black one, and public sentiment should draw no fine distinctions.

Quite a number of people in Texas, say some of the newspapers, hold that Judge Brooks, candidate for governor, should resign the office he now holds, so that the people and not the governor can say who will be judge of the state by ballot in the next three years in the event Judge Brooks is chosen for governor. He will hardly resign his present office with three years' salary yet to come to him, until he makes sure of the other one to which he aspires.—Tyler Courier.

There is a pretty strong demand going up for the resignation of both Brooks and Colquitt, but those who are in the habit of casting their political votes pay attention to the growing discontent among the people.

There was a historic meeting in Denton recently at a hotel, and all by accident, too. A son of Houston and a great nephew of Texas were registered at the same hotel one day last week. Each was representing a commercial house—in other words, they were drummers. Thus it is that one family furnishes workers in time of peace as well as in time of war.—Terrell Transcript.

The descendants of the men who gave Texas the blessing of a federal constitution as general thing very active and useful citizens. They realize that "it is not pride of birth nor state, but get up and get that makes men great."

It is said the Farmer-Union desires to control the next legislature. How "Methodist Jim" Davis jumped the game too early in the day. Should the farmers get control of the Weeping Willow of the Woods, the man who mastered the science of political economy in less than thirty-six hours, will find himself out in the cold. How "Methodist Jim" jumped too quick.—Dallas Times-Herald.

The Farmers' Union had best keep out of state politics, for there are breakers ahead almost sure to wreck the craft if it strikes them.

PUBLIC OPINION

In a paper in the Review of Reviews on the strikes and lockout of the year reference is made to the truth that a prosperous year is always a year of labor troubles, men taking risks on a rising market that they would not take on a falling one. We have had no year more prosperous than 1905, yet says the paper:

According to the report of the secretary of the American Federation of Labor, there were 1,157 strikes during the year ended Oct. 31. The record for the calendar year 1905 cannot be materially different. The figures are distinctly surprising at first sight, but one must bear in mind that the great majority of the strikes of any year wholly escape, not only general, but local notice. It has been ascertained reassuringly to learn that not more than 107,000 workmen, men and women were involved in the total number of strikes named. The inference from this item of information coincides with the general impression that, in a comparative sense, to repeat, the year has been tolerably prosperous. It has been an extraordinary one, nevertheless, in the fundamental truth it has brought home to organized labor. It has taught the public many lessons, though the important strikes—those that were more than local issues—may be counted on the fingers of one hand.

The Cleveland Leader sets out in a striking way some statistics gathered by an insurance publication on fires which constitute a comment on our manner of life as strong as could be made. It says:

During the year 1904, 7,000 people were burned to death in the United States and Canada, an average of nineteen a day. And this record is not an unusual one. The proportionate number of fatalities at fires has been steadily growing year after year. The property loss last year amounted to $25 for every family in the United States and Canada. In six years property worth one thousand million dollars has been consumed by fire. In the length and breadth of the two countries there are only 2,000 buildings which can rightly be called fireproof. If a plague of cholera or yellow fever, were to cause 7,000 deaths the country would rise up in alarm and stamp the contagion out, no matter at what cost. But nobody heeds the fires. People herd themselves into big, inflammable structures with little thought of the means of escape in time of danger. Buildings are put up with no attempt to make them nearly fireproof. The money available will allow. It is to be hoped that sometime this side of the millennium every building occupied by human beings will be noncombustible.

A demand for crisp new bills was said to have been a feature of the Christmas season just closed, but it was also noticeable that those which had been hard service were seldom refused.—Detroit Free Press.

THE KAISER—THOSE TERRIBLE AMERICANS.—New York Herald.

The Idler's Note Book

There have been professional wits whose familiarity with their sharp-edged tools has made them declare the original number of jokes in existence is limited. They cite the mother-in-law joke, the toothache joke, the inquisitive small boy joke, the seashore joke and a few others as the original thirteen in the jokers' category. Perhaps speaking professionally they are correct. Maybe wit is a limited article, and its variations run in small circles, but not so with humor. There is a down-east humor, a variety that flourishes in the middle west, a Hoosier humor, in fact a peculiar sort for every section of the country, to say nothing of the endless varieties imported by different nationalities along with their native dialects. That humor is a sense, just as is sight, hearing, taste and feeling, would probably be contradicted by the scientist, but the things scientists have been contradicting for centuries pass merely incidental to the possession of keenly developed senses. Occasional lapses are to be expected.

It is to be admitted that humor is one of the elusive senses. A sharp blow on the shins from a coal-bucket in a dark hallway may drive the sense entirely away from its owner and yet the same blow on the shins of some one else may induce the sense to assert itself over all the others. Just because it can be driven away easily is no proof humor is not a sense. The thought of meeting a bill collector frequently drives away the sense of taste and appetites have been known to vanish suddenly under the soothing influence of the billowy ocean waves. Men have been known to lose the sense of hearing when their wives suggested in conversational tones that a good show happened to be in town or that they, the wives, noticed some unusually pretty bonnets in a store window; but such accidents are merely incidental to the possession of keenly developed senses. Occasional lapses are to be expected.

There is a humor in this west of ours that has a flavor all its own for those who can appreciate flavors as well as substance. Humor by innuendo does not flourish in the West. The variety of small talk in which two persons conducting a dialogue manage to say things which can be construed in half a dozen different meanings is unpopular because it is foreign to the western ideal of frankness. The result is vividness of coloring to the western humor which makes it shine out brightly in pleasing contrast to the drab jokes which are forced to entertain the dry conversations where conventionality takes precedence over convenience, and yield in refreshing, hearty laughter, the benefit which the presence of the sixth sense of humor was evidently intended to bestow.

There is a bit of western humor, just as I heard it from the lips of a plainsman, lacking only his accents, gestures and personality:

"I was comin' into town the other day and I met a fellow I used to know a year or so ago, who looked as if he'd been chewed up by a bunch of mountain lions. He was ridin' as if it was hurdin' him to sit in the saddle and yet I could see he was plumb anxious to get away from town where I'ello he'd been."

"Hello, Hank," he says, "Hello, Ed. I says, 'what's the matter?'"

"I've been up to town," he says. "'Thought I'd have a good look at you.'"

"You've been having something," I says, "I could tell that by looking at you."

"Yes," he says, "You see it's like this: They've got two kinds of whiskey up in town. One kind'll make a jackrabbit fight a bear and whip him. I drank some of the kind that'll make a rabbit whip a bear."

The joke stops there. If you're not used to the variety, you probably would tell the narrator to tell what Ed did after he drank the whiskey. Probably a monologist would try it. Hank wasn't a monologist, but he appreciated the joke. I could see him laughing to himself as he left me, for a full blink, and then he turned the corner.

VERSES THAT RING

"NOT FOR TODAY"
"Not for today or tomorrow, but for all time," William Rainey Harper.
Men's lives are such scant things, forsooth, A blown breath in eternity— A backward glance from age to youth, And then the eyes no longer see. But this man had the farther sight, The inner vision, which looks on Until it cleaves the veil of night, And finds the silver of the dawn. His life is done? Ah, no! The shell That cased his soul shrinks to the dust, And muffled charts and tolling bell Tell of our grief—for grieve we must; But as we know each marching star Or fades or sends its light to earth, Yet holds its pathway, near or far, So do we know his work and worth.

"Not for today"—not for the time The dial binds in puny round— But for the years to come, sublimed, His firmer purpose he found. His dreams are waxing into deeds, His hope, with endless striving filled, To something higher, grander leads— So does a great life build and build, Can compass his life and his course, For it needs neither pulse nor breath, But surges on with glowing force, And now, though his white hands be cold, In God's great peace across his breast, Still do we know that now they hold More than before they have possessed. —Chicago Tribune.

WATER SYSTEM GIVEN TO CITY

North Fort Worth Accepts the New Plant

The North Fort Worth city council held a special meeting Thursday afternoon and accepted the waterworks system from the McQuatters Plumbing and Machine Company. All members of the council were present except Aldermen Shannon and Blanke. By reports of engineers and committees it was shown that the McQuatters Company had complied with every detail of the contract. The contract and plans and specifications were read and the engineers' report consulted to see if each part of the work had been done.

City Secretary Proctor read a list of extras, including all expenditures not provided for in the original contract, the amount being $3,286.56. In addition to the extras will have to be added the bills of the engineering company for $3,852.46, making the total cost of the plant $103,119.02. This amount will be paid for by the city, including all interest on the bonds.

Consulting Engineer John B. Hawley submitted his report, which showed proper fulfillment of the contract except as to the extension of the pump house walls, for which $100 is to be withheld, together with $20 to pay for filling some trenches.

The plant was to have been completed Sept. 1, 1929, unless weather or unavoidable things prevented. Before this time the McQuatters Company secured a forty-day extension of the time, but completed the plant in twenty-one days. Since completion of the plant there has been delay occasioned by the air compressor being delivered behind time by the manufacturers. By this the city profited to the extent of $300, because they waited until a recent date to test the system, and by so doing the contracting company saved the said amount by not having to extend one of the city water mains in order to make a test. This was given to the city.

Alderman Conway stated that he was not satisfied with the work of the engineers. He made a motion to the effect that the McQuatters Company be settled with, but that the engineers' bills be left for future consideration. The council voted to dispose of its remaining fourteen bonds, amounting to $500 each, and pay in addition there-to a balance of $641.51 due, the total amount being $7,641.51 due the McQuatters Company.

After the plant had been accepted and the McQuatters Company freed from all responsibility, Mr. McQuatters addressed the council. In the course of his remarks he assured them that they had the best waterworks of any small town in the country. To show his faith in the material and workmanship, Mr. McQuatters said, "Gentlemen, I will be in Fort Worth for at least eight months yet. If, at any time during those months, a break occurs because of poor material, I will repair the damage free of charge." This statement was applauded by the council.

The council was notified that parties owning the present jail site wished to erect a building thereon, and therefore requested that the jail be moved. It was decided to move the jail to a location near the pump house, and to build a rock wall around it. The matter was then referred to the public improvement committee.

HIS MACHINE IS SURE OF SUCCESS

H. O. Harding Talks of the Seabury Spraying Machine

H. C. Harding, superintendent of Texas of the Seabury Live Stock Spraying Machine, left Thursday evening for Amarillo, where he goes to install one of his machines for spraying animals for the mange.

Before leaving the city he gave the following interview pertaining to the results of the experiment made here upon the fever tick, and while for certain special reasons the experiment was not the success hoped for, still Mr. Harding was not at all discouraged, but was very optimistic with respect to the future of the machine and its operations. In giving his views Mr. Harding said:

"This experiment on the tick with the Seabury spraying machine, while it was not an entire success, goes to prove that the tick can be kept under control, and will do it in a quicker and more humane manner, and with no loss or damage to cattle. You see, we were working at great disadvantage on account of the approach to the machine, which was not built on correct lines and on account of the botch job which was made by the men after we had put the twenty-six head of cattle through; then we were unable to get more cattle with sufficient ticks to make a fair test. Yesterday and today we got the bottom sprays in good working order and they threw the liquid to the top of the machine.

"We expect to make another test during the fat stock show to be held here in April, perhaps sooner, but I am going to Amarillo to put a machine in operation at Fort Morgan, Colo., last June and they were afterward inspected and given a clean bill of health by the government inspectors. This machine is going to save the cattlemen who have to treat their cattle. It does the work in so much less time with practically no loss to the cattle. A week or two of cow havy with calf can walk right through it and take a shower bath and never be injured.

"I regard Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as a God-send, for it cured me of a terrible cough and throat trouble which threatened to kill me," she writes.

"I regard Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as a God-send. It certainly cured me of a terrible cough, lung and throat trouble, which threatened to kill me. I got so bad from bronchitis that I could scarcely breathe, and at times, was overcome with a weakness and fever. I had a bad cough most of the time.

"Since taking your medicine my cough has disappeared, I have no trouble with my throat and my general health is much improved. I give all the credit to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey."—MRS. SARAH MIEDEKING, 1329 Baymiller St., Cincinnati, O., Nov. 9, 1928.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

For more than fifty years has been the most successful health and strength builder, and gentle invigorator, stimulant and tonic known to medical science, as witnessed by the many thousands of cures to its credit. It is a sure preventive of distemper known to medical science, such as colds, influenza, pneumonia, consumption, grip and all lung, throat and stomach troubles. It is the most effective form of nourishment which enriches the blood, improves the complexion, and gives life to the entire system. It is a builder up the nerve tissues, strengthens the heart's action, and gives fresh vitality and life to the entire system. It is a builder up the nerve tissue and long life, and by its continued use thousands of men and women have been enabled to reach the century mark.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey contains no fusel oil and is absolutely the only whiskey recognized by the Government as a medicine. This is a guarantee. It is emphatically endorsed and recommended everywhere by clergymen, temperance advocates and doctors.

CAUTION—There is but one Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Sold in sealed bottles only; never in bulk. Insist on having the genuine and refuse substitutes and imitations, which are placed on the market for profit only and which are positively harmful to both the body and brain. Look for the "Old Chemist" trade-mark on the label and be sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. All reliable druggists and grocers, or direct, $1.00 a bottle. Doctors' advice and medical booklet free. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

HENDERSON TAX TO SAVE OWNERS

"I Aimed to Protect Proprietors," Says Alderman

"Why, I was trying to protect the merchants," said Alderman Henderson this morning, when shown yesterday evening's interviews with the merchants over the proposed sidewalk tax. "I don't think there's one of them who understands the situation.

"According to the city charter of 1900, in section 90, article 8, it's a public offense to erect or construct a show window or any other obstruction that extends over any part of the sidewalk on any part of Main, Houston, Rusk, Throckmorton, Weatherford or Oakknapp streets, and there's a fine of $5 for every day the show window or obstruction is allowed to remain. That penalty is assessable against the owners, and not against the merchants themselves.

"So in the six years, more or less, which have elapsed since that charter was passed, the accumulated penalties on those show windows have reached an enormous sum.

"That was called to my attention, and all I was trying to do was to find a way around it, in behalf of the store owners. The tax I proposed to assess would be purely nominal, and would not in any way touch the sidewalk for the public in return for the public property taken off the sidewalk by the projecting show window. There's no question that it's beyond question the most desired Italian work given at the Metropolitan with Caruso, Sombirich and Scott in the leading roles.

"It was not my original intention in introducing the bill to assess a tax on underground excavations, where the sidewalk is covered over, because the public is not interrupted in the free use of the sidewalk. But it is a fact that in all large cities it is found necessary to use the ground under the sidewalk for the laying of sewer and water mains.

"Merchants and brokers are allowed to use eighteen inches of the sidewalk adjoining their establishments to display their goods. But these goods are always taken in at night, so their display does not constitute an obstruction of the sidewalk. When they project over eighteen inches the policeman comes along and pushes them in. Butchers are specifically allowed to hang their meats on the outside of the sidewalk.

"Now don't think I am sore because these men have criticized the ordinance. I like criticism, whether just or unjust, because it shows that somebody is taking an interest in city affairs, which does not happen with alarming frequency. All I want to do is to set them right, and show the merchants that I am only trying to protect them from the enormous sums they have incurred, under the city charter.

AMUSEMENTS

The Klitties Band gave two entertainments at Greenwall's opera house Thursday afternoon and night. The attendance was hardly as large as the previous week, but the Klitties, who were present gave evidence of their enjoyment by frequent applause. The organization was here last year, and the comparison made by the Klitties was also rendered. The bagpipe solos of Pipe Major Albert Johnston were quite novel, and while there were few present who were capable of judging, it seemed that he was able to handle this instrument with an unusual degree of skill. The Scotch reel by the Clan Johnston troupe, the sword dance by Tom Johnston and the Irish jig were among the refreshing numbers of the program.

"There was enough variety to make the evening pass most pleasantly, and it was very apparent that the Klitties pleased their audience.

"At the Old Cross Roads"
In "At the Old Cross Roads," which will be presented here tonight at Greenwall's opera house by Arthur C. Alston's company of players, we are promised one of the most idyllic dramas of the always picturesque sunny south. The charming atmosphere allows of some pretty scenic embellishments which the management has taken full advantage of. The cast is an excellent one, and the play, as well known people as Estha Williams in her noted character of "Parepa," and James M. Brophy as "Doc Kerr," the gangster, supported by twenty-five others.

Verdi's Popular "Rigoletto" in English
Although Wagner's "The Valkyrie" has taken the place of "Parsifal" in the repertoire of the English Grand Opera Company this year, Henry W. Savage does not intend that Wagner should monopolize his efforts until next season, when it is designed to send out the famous English-singing company in a complete repertoire of German operas.

In the meantime the great popularity of the tuneful Italian and French operas will never permit them to be neglected. As shown by the enormous audiences that are being attracted to Verdi's fascinating "Rigoletto," Gounod's "Faust" with its melodious and sparkling "La Boheme," by the brilliant Puccini. An especially elaborate production has been made of "Rigoletto" this season. This well-loved Italian masterpiece, which will be sung at Fort Worth at the Saturday matinee, Jan. 20, with its exquisite melodies, became popular fifty years ago after the first uproar caused by the daring Verdi's diplomatic librettist. Once accepted its attractive power never waned. In recent years the most brilliant of the most desired Italian work given at the Metropolitan with Caruso, Sombirich and Scott in the leading roles.

The reservation sale of boxes and seats for this too brief season of grand opera, began Wednesday, Jan. 17, at 10 a. m., from the box office of Greenwall's opera house.

Saturday night Wagner's "Lohengrin" will be sung.

West and Vokes
Eddie Judge, one of the famous English Judge family of acrobats, has a decidedly novel character in West & Vokes and Margaret Daly Vokes' new edition of their big ten footer "A Pair of Pinkies," coming to Greenwall's opera house Monday and Tuesday nights, matinee Tuesday, Jan. 22 and 23.

Paul Gilmore
In "Captain Debonnaire," the romantic comedy which is to reintroduce the ever welcome Paul Gilmore at Greenwall's opera house Thursday and Friday nights, matinee Friday, Jan. 25 and 26, a young officer of the French army stationed at Quebec in 1675, who sets out on a moment's notice to New Amsterdam (New York) to woo and win a beautiful girl he has never seen and is betrothed to another man. Therefore it is natural that Debonnaire should not find his courtship unobscured with adventure. The play is a thrilling chronicle of the difficulties which he overcame—one by one and a dozen at a time.

Majestic Theater
Juvenile vaudeville players are scarce. There are not many on the vaudeville stage, but the Whitesides, Paul and his brother, have been appearing at many of the best playhouses on the northern circuits. Miss Whitesides is a pretty girl in her teens, and Johnny is a boy hardly large enough to be away from his mother's apron strings, yet he announces himself with the air of a grown person and asserts himself with authority. The Whitesides are merely a talking team with a stock of jokes, some dancing by the little fellow and songs by Miss Whitesides. Their act depends on the dash and go with which they invest the few minutes they try to please their audiences.

HEMPHILL STREET TO HAVE ASPHALT

Eighth Ward Citizens Begin Paving Movement

A meeting of the Eighth Ward Civic League will be held Monday night for the two fold purpose of considering the action of the joint sidewalk meeting of last Tuesday night and also for the purpose of taking up the Hemphill street paving proposition. The meeting will either be held in the old eighth ward school house or at Martin's drug store.

The question of a petition for paving Hemphill street from end to end has been agitated among the citizens of the ward for several weeks and it is asserted by residents along the street in favor of the movement that it will be a comparatively easy matter to get the property holders to agree to the paving of the street. A large number have already agreed to sign the petition as soon as it is prepared. The plan at present is to have the petition signed at night, and although the movement has been confined principally to the residents beyond Magnolia avenue, it is thought that the movement will be extended to the northern end of the street. An offer has been made by one of the women living on Hemphill street to personally canvass the street for signatures.

May Endorse Mayor
Members of the Civic League also hope that they may obtain an expression from the finance committee as to the proposition advanced by Mayor Powell Tuesday night concerning the appropriation of $10,000 for the building of residences. The citizens of the eighth ward are more enthusiastic probably than those of any other ward concerning the building of sidewalks and if the suggestion is carried through they have said that more walks will be built in that ward than in any other ward.

A committee appointed at the last meeting to take up the sidewalk and paving proposition is composed of F. E. Boyd, chairman; E. G. Scales, W. A. Boyd, J. N. Winters and Captain T. P. Dyess.

SURVEYORS' CAMP ROBBED
Dallas County Detachment Losses Money, Jewelry and Instruments Special to the Telegram.
DALLAS, Jan. 19.—The camp of a detachment of road surveyors, seven miles west of Dallas on the Grand Prairie road, was entered last night and robbed of money, jewelry, tools and various other articles of value. Officers have been sent to the scene by Sheriff Ledbetter. No arrests have been made.

Why Refer to Doctors

Because we make medicines for them. They know all about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, so they prescribe it for coughs, colds, bronchitis, weak lungs, consumption. They trust it. Then you can afford to trust it. Consult your doctor about it anyway. Sold 60 years. We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

BURNEY SECURES GOOD PROPERTY

Langever Building Opposite City Hall Changes Hands. Price Being $22,500

A sale was closed Thursday afternoon late for the Langever property, West Ninth and Throckmorton streets, opposite the Carnegie library. The sale was made for J. J. Langever to I. H. Burney, by Tempel & Modlin. The lot is occupied by a two-story brick building and is 50x84 feet. The price paid by Mr. Burney was $22,500. This building is in a position that bids fair to become very soon the center of a thriving business part of town. Throckmorton street has with in the past two years increased wonderfully in value as a business street, especially between Sixth and Eleventh streets. With the new telephone building being erected and the $25,000 that will probably be appropriated by congress to improve the federal building, an impetus will undoubtedly be given to business in that part of the city.

No Underground Tax

The reservation sale of boxes and seats for this too brief season of grand opera, began Wednesday, Jan. 17, at 10 a. m., from the box office of Greenwall's opera house.

Saturday night Wagner's "Lohengrin" will be sung.

Don't Dose the Stomach in Nasal Catarrh. Breathe Hyomei.

No dangerous drugs or alcoholic concoctions are taken into the stomach when Hyomei is used. Breathed through the inhaler, the balsamic healing of Hyomei penetrates to the most remote cells of the nose and throat, and thus kills the catarrhal germs, heals the irritated mucous membrane and gives complete and permanent cure.

Hyomei is the simplest, most pleasant and the only guaranteed cure for catarrh that has been discovered. Complete outfit, $1.00; extra bottle, 50 cents.

For sale by R. A. Anderson.

EX-PRESIDENT OF ARGENTINE DEAD
General Bartolome Mitre Had Record in South American Wars
Was 83 Years Old

BUENOS AYRES, Argentina, Jan. 15.—General Bartolome Mitre, former president of the Argentine Republic, died today.

General Mitre was 83 years of age. He was president from 1867 to 1871.

Your 5 cents buys 3 full-sized, perfect cheroots—"Five-cent cigars with the heads cut off."

It's the little useless head that takes more time to make than the clear (real)—and that's what makes 5 cents cost you 12 cents instead of 6 cents.

You can pay 15 cents for three cigars with the heads on,—but why should you when 5 cents will buy three cigars of substantially as good quality with the heads cut off? First thing you do is to clip the head off, anyway.

OLD VIRGINIA CHEROOTS

Package of 3 for 5c.

(A cheroot is a cigar made without the head)

The fragrant filler of the Old Virginia Cheroot is blended from short leaves and selected clippings, of fine domestic leaf,—developed and refined by a long process before they reach the factory.

There is only one way that such tobacco can be worked up into cheroots at the price of 5 cents for 3.

—And that one way is the modern systematic method which produces Old Virginia Cheroots—a million of them every day—under the perfect system of the biggest, best-equipped, cleanest cigar-factory in the world.

SLOCUM HORROR COMES TO TRIAL

Captain Charged With Great New York Disaster

Special to The Telegram.
NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Nearly twenty months after the terrible Slocum disaster, when the burning and drowning of 1,000 planktoners horrified the world, the tardy wheels of justice have at last begun to move in the prosecution of the captain of the ill-fated boat. The United States courts have taken up the case against William H. Van Schaick, commander of the General Jackson, whose mismanagement of the helm and whose gross neglect of obligatory legal precautions is by many held responsible for the terrible catastrophe.

Great difficulty was experienced in filling out the jury. Attorneys for the defense patriotically challenged all takersmen who had any acquaintances or relatives in the fire, and these were suitably numerous.

Talesman after talesman, on being examined, was found to have some friend, acquaintance or distant relation among the victims of the fire. Captain Van Schaick is old, feeble and is apparently overcome when finally brought face to face with the bar of justice.

The court room is crowded with spectators, whose tempers show that despite the time which has elapsed the not one frightful detail has escaped the public memory.

merly wrought havoc with all green stuff for market and table use.

Their solution is irrigation on a small but intensely practical scale, and for the few seasons the plan has been in operation it has been quite successful.

Several farmers east of Big Springs, who have irrigated more extensively than those in other parts—of the county—constructed large earthen tanks or reservoirs near their gardens, building the walls of the tanks up from the ground. They then bored wells nearby, connected windmills and pumped the tanks full. From the tanks were run ditches and from the ditches furrows through the gardens. This was the ditch and furrows by gravity. There is no expense for piping and the only cost is that of the well, the windmill and the tank.

Stock Tanks with Fish.

Some of the farmers have stocked their tanks with fish and make them serve a double purpose. So far, the tank system of irrigation has been tried only with vegetables, but it probably will be extended to fruit trees later. One farmer east of town had five acres under irrigation last year and made large profits from vegetables sold on the local market. In addition to those he raised for his own family use.

Susan B. Anthony Says World Will Grieve if Chicagoan Suffragists Fail

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—A campaign for woman suffrage in Chicago was started last night at a mass meeting at Abraham Lincoln Center. Addresses were made by Miss Jane Addams of Hull House, Jenkin Lloyd Jones of All Saints' independent church and others. Mayor Dunne sent a message expressing hearty sympathy with the movement.

Susan B. Anthony sent this message to the meeting:

"Oh, do what you can in Chicago now. It is your great opportunity. If you miss it, it will be grief to the whole world."

If the plans outlined go through Chicago will witness a strong campaign for woman suffrage. Petitions will be circulated and the co-operation of every woman's club in the city will be asked to aid a great central committee in the organizing of every ward and precinct. Delegates armed with facts and figures will descend upon the convention which is to evolve a new charter for Chicago.

BUFFALO HUNTING WHEN TEXAS WAS AN INFANT

supper. They looked as if they didn't want to believe me, but probably remembered the antelope, and said nothing.

"I unharmed my team, and putting the saddles on, told my brother-in-law if he wanted to see a buffalo hunt that he should do it. The boys were almost as green to the ways of the plains as the syndicate party, and he followed right behind me. I just happened to see the hunt. I asked him if he wanted a gun.

"He said, 'I just want to see you kill 'em.'"

"Well, we rode out on the plain, as level as a floor, and sure enough we soon saw a herd of buffalo. Not at some distance. I told the boy to do for me what I told him and let his horse follow right behind mine, which was an old rauger horse and used to the hunt.

On a Buffalo Hunt

"When we got near the buffalo I lowered my head and galloped off probably three-quarters of a mile. I knew I'd have to do some quick riding to overtake them, so, calling back to the boy to let his horse go, I started off on a gallop.

"I got up to the herd quickly, shot three of the buffaloes and stopped because we had use for no more. Then I turned to see what had become of the boy. I saw him and then I saw him. I had no idea what had become of him, as the plains was perfectly level and there was no place he could have disappeared.

"After a few minutes I looked back to the place whence I had started, and there he stood on the ground, holding his horse. I waived my hat to him to come on, but he refused to leave.

"I kept the horse in front of him, and that way, so I rode back and asked why he hadn't come when I started after the buffalo.

"Thought They Were Elephants

"Why those weren't buffaloes, Brother John," he said, "them was elephants."

The mirage of the plains had made the buffalo appear much larger than their natural size, and never having seen any before the boy was too badly frightened to do anything but jump off his horse and then wait for me to return.

FUNERAL OF FRANK CALLBACK

Prominent Traveling Man Will Be Buried at Dallas

Special to The Telegram.
DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 15.—Following the instructions received from his wife, who has been residing in Fort Worth for some time, and a telegram from his sister, Mrs. Emma Sinus of East Boston, Mass., the body of Frank Callback, the traveling man who died suddenly here Thursday, has been prepared for burial and interment will be made here today. Mrs. Callback arrived from Fort Worth this morning to attend the funeral of her husband. Mr. Callback was a member of the Masonic fraternity, the Shriners and the Traveler's Protective Association, with the members of which he was held in Dallas. He was a successful salesman at that time who made Texas points.

GAINESVILLE, Texas, Jan. 15.—Officers made a raid on a well known gambling resort in this city early this morning but failed to capture anything but a lot of gambling devices and gambling paraphernalia, which was taken to the sheriff's office and in due time will be destroyed according to law.

The officers stated this evening that several arrests will follow the finding of this paraphernalia, as it is known who are directly identified with it. A party who had gotten the worst of the raid reported to the officers, but when the place was raided the gamblers had made good their escape.

NEW GAS PLANT AT WACO

Special to The Telegram.
WACO, Texas, Jan. 15.—W. H. McCord, representing the Federal Gas Company of Washington, D. C., has been in the city for several days and states today that he will likely locate a plant in Waco. He claims that he has received a great deal of encouragement at the hands of the business men.

WHAT DO YOU CARE? YOU'VE GOT YOUR HEALTH.

Great Natures Do Not Despair at Disappointment—They Look for Something Else to Do.

The broad-shouldered man of today does not get blue just because things don't always come his way unless there is something wrong with him. If he "falls down" on one proposition he immediately starts to look up another. He always looks forward and keeps on hustling. A man with his health and faculties has plenty of opportunities and the man who gives up or even feels like he has either a small nature or some physical weakness.

Lyspepsia certainly puts the best of men out of condition for work of any kind. You cannot blame the dyspeptic for getting blue. The very nature of his disease is most depressing and calculated to deprive him of ambition, energy and hope. There is hope for him, however, certain and sure.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are recognized throughout the length and breadth of the land as the one cure that's safe and sure. Their unbounded popularity—resulting from the thousands and thousands of cures they have effected, prove beyond the shadow of a doubt their greatness as a cure. Where's the remedy? In the very fact that they are Nature's own simple remedy. They do the exact work in exactly the same way that the digestive fluids of the stomach do, because they are composed of exactly the same elements and possess the same properties. They relieve the weak and worn out stomach of its burden of digestion and permit it without let or hindrance to rest and grow sound and well. The stomach will get well quick enough in its own natural way if it is let alone. That's what Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do. They not only let it alone themselves, but make the food taken into the stomach do the same.

You can satisfy yourself of the truth of this statement by putting the food you would eat into a glass jar with sufficient water and one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. The process of digestion will be taken up and carried out just as the gastric juices and other digestive fluids would do it. Their action is natural and they cause no disturbance in the digestive organs. In fact, you can eat anything you want when they begin to do their work, so mild and natural is the operation. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50c a box.

WOMEN ORGANIZING

Big Springs Ladies Are Out After Streets

By a Staff Correspondent.
BIG SPRINGS, Texas, Jan. 15.—Women of this city have started a movement for improvement of sanitary conditions which promises to prove as effective as the stringent rules adopted at Bullfrog, Nev., the new mining town which is being developed in the cleanest town in the United States.

Big Springs is not an incorporated town and there are consequently no sanitary laws. Recently a civic improvement league was organized by a number of women, headed by Mrs. B. F. Williams. Mrs. J. E. Yule, Mrs. E. A. Happel and others, with the result that the league has now forty members and is rapidly growing. Men, as well as women, are being won to the membership, and it is expected by an appeal to the public spirit of the citizens to inaugurate a movement for the destruction of all trash and a general improvement in appearance of all homes and business houses.

Colds

A cold is always the result of undue exposure to low temperatures. The rapid cooling of the surface, when not balanced by proper reaction, produces the congestion and inflammation of the nasal and bronchial membranes, commonly called a cold. As the slightest cold predisposes the individual to attacks of the most severe and dangerous character, the necessity for its quick cure need not be emphasized. Take as soon as the first indication of the cold appears and all dangerous results will be avoided: It not only cures a cold quickly but counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia. This fact has been fully proven during the epidemics of colds and grip of the past few years. No case of either of these diseases having resulted in pneumonia when this remedy was used, has ever been reported to the manufacturers or come to their notice, which shows conclusively that it is not only the best and quickest cure for a cold, but a certain preventive of that dangerous disease—pneumonia.

There is no danger in giving this remedy to children as it contains no opium or other harmful drug. It is pleasant to take.

IN MANY GUISES A Story of an Exciting Dash for a Fortune by an Actor-Adventurer

AGAR Hume, a young, impoverished actor, finds employment as valet to Sir William Dagmar, who is member of a secret society of consumptives. Serving a banquet at one of the regular monthly meetings of the club, Brown, as Sir William has decided to call his valet, tells his master, in answer to a question, that he cannot understand French. The conversation being in French, Brown learns that the society sustains a hospital where, later, disguised as Sir William, he sees a wonderful surgical operation performed in which the blood of an ape is substituted for that of a man. The operation being the nineteenth and a failure, one of the members of the society present kills himself.

CHAPTER VI. A BATTLE OF WITS. At 10 o'clock on the next morning, as I approached my master's house, I saw Sir Charles Venner's brougham before the door. I thought it highly probable that Sir Charles would require me to give an account of my absence from duty, whether he suspected me or not. Nerving myself for the encounter, I assumed a dejected and lugubrious expression. The hall was deserted, but I heard a mutter of voices in the ante-room. The door was ajar, and peering through I perceived Mr. Setton, Dagmar and Sir Charles Venner in earnest conversation. "Ah, Brown!" exclaimed the younger man. "Back, I see." "Good morning, sir," I muttered, and

"He will recover, sir, I hope. You will surely save him, Sir Charles?" "I don't know." Mr. Setton Dagmar took up his hat and left the room. The surgeon waited until we heard the street door

CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON KING OF ALL DISEASES. To Contagious Blood Poison rightfully belongs the name King of all Diseases. It is the most powerful of all human ailments—corrupting every part of the body and wrecking and ruining the lives of those unfortunate enough to contract it. When the first sign appears in the form of an insignificant sore or ulcer, few persons realize that the deadly virus has entered the blood; but so potent is the poison that one drop will vitiate and pollute the purest and healthiest blood, and in a short time the degrading and horrible symptoms begin to appear. The mouth and throat ulcerate, the glands in the neck and groins swell, the hair and eye-brows fall out, copper-colored spots appear on the body, and in the latter stages of the disease the poison even works down and destroys the bones. No other disease is so highly contagious, and many have contracted it and suffered its awful consequences through a friendly hand-shake, handling the clothing of one afflicted with it, or drinking from the same vessel. S. S. S., The King of Blood Purifiers, is the only cure for Contagious Blood Poison. It is nature's antidote and forces out every particle of the virus. It is nature's antidote and cures the disease in all its stages, and cures it permanently. S. S. S. does not hide or cover up any of the poison to break out in future years, but so completely eradicates it from the blood that no signs are ever seen again. S. S. S. is purely vegetable, we offer $1.00 for proof that it contains a particle of mineral of any kind. Book with instructions for home treatment and any medical advice you desire will be furnished by our physicians without charge. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

might leave the house at once, in order to conduct my mother's funeral arrangements. My first thought as I stepped into the street was this: "Am I to be shadowed?" And if so, how shall I discover the spy? The pavement was dotted with pedestrians, who all appeared to be minding their own business. I walked briskly towards Piccadilly. Before long I felt that I was shadowed, felt it in my bones. I was thrilled, exhilarated! I considered what to do. I might easily have shaken off my pursuer had I wished, but to even display such a desire would inevitably convert Sir Charles Venner's suspicions into convictions. It was my ambition, on the other hand, to destroy his suspicions altogether. An inspiration came to me at Piccadilly Circus. I entered an Oxford street omnibus and gazed watchfully behind me. To even a trained observer like myself it was no easy task to pick out of the great moving throng that followed my conveyance the man whose business was wrapped up in my own. Among others that are interested in the building permits are Captain Paddock and City Engineer Hawley. To the Board of Trade the value of the building for the year, if backed up by the permits, would be of immense value as an advertising feature. Close Estimate Made. A day ago when City Engineer Hawley was in the Board of Trade an estimate was asked of both he and Captain Paddock concerning the value of the 1905 buildings erected, and both were asked to write an estimate. Cap-

YEAR'S BUILDING ESTIMATES VARY

Need of Permit Law Enforcement Shown. A steady demand for the enforcement of the building permit ordinance is being made in various parts of Fort Worth. The total value of the buildings erected, as shown by the permits, it is urged, would be one of the greatest advertisements that the city could have. Some time ago the fee that was attached to the building permits was taken off and all that one has to do now is to go to the city engineer and by giving the necessary information receive a permit. A heavy fine may be imposed upon anyone who erects a building without first getting the necessary permit. The police are the only ones that have the opportunity to report new buildings and the claim is made by Chief Maddox that with the present force it is impossible to make a complete round of the city to observe all new buildings. That the city of Fort Worth is probably the slickest city in the country about such matters was the opinion expressed Thursday to a Telegram reporter by a man well known and interested in the welfare of the city. In almost every other city of the country of this size or larger and in towns of half the size the building permit law is as tain Paddock sat down at one desk and City Engineer Hawley at another and wrote their estimates. That of Mr. Hawley was $1,500,000 and that of Captain Paddock $1,550,000. If these figures, which, if anything, are too low, were borne out by facts offered by a building permit law which is enforced, it is urged, there would be no greater advertisement of the growth of Fort Worth. The estimate of Mr. Pattison is higher than either that of Captain Paddock or Mr. Hawley. He states that the building here in 1905, according to the information that he has gathered from the architects, builders and contractors, is $1,751,000. His estimate is based upon the figures of the architects, increased by 25 per cent for buildings that were built without an architect's design. Because of the relish with which hogs eat new corn and the ease with which it is handled and fed, there is danger of over-feeding. The corn being soft and immature will soon throw them out of condition.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Jan. 12.—W. S. McCaull and his associates of Kansas City, Mo., who secured a charter for the Colorado, Oklahoma and New Orleans, evidently intended to cover all the ground occupied by the former lines, retaining the same name. The new road differs, however, from the Colorado, Oklahoma Central and New Orleans, the western division of the proposed "West Indian Short Line," in providing a possible route through southwestern Kansas instead of making it necessarily an east and west line through Beaver and Woodward counties, in Oklahoma.

The line, as projected, runs through Colorado from Denver to Pueblo, east to the Kansas state line.

The charter also authorizes by purchase or lease the acquisition of the Guthrie, Fairview and Western. The new road is to run through the following Texas counties: Fannin, Lamar, Red River, Hopkins, Franklin, Wood, Titus, Morris, Camp, Upton, Gregg, Marion and Morrison.

The company is capitalized at $20,000,000.

Passenger Agents to Meet

A meeting of the traveling passenger agents of all the railroads in Texas is being held here at the Hotel Hamilton. The meeting will be for the purpose of perfecting the organization of the Texas association of traveling passenger agents. The plans for the organization were submitted to the general passenger agents at their meeting recently in San Antonio, where they approved the formation of the association.

At the coming meeting the general plans will be put in execution and the election of officers and other matters of detail attendant upon perfecting the organization of the association will be reported that Arthur M. Hall, traveling passenger agent of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas, is slated for the presidency of the association.

REV. CARLISLE P. B. MARTIN,

L. D. of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing a medicine for throat or lung trouble." Sold by Covey & Martin, 810 Main Street, opposite Hotel Worth.

COWAN ISSUES STRONG APPEAL

Wants Cattlemen to Write Congressman Early and Often

An appeal for a concerted effort on the part of all cattlemen to aid the passage of the thirty-six hour amendment to the cattle-in-transit law has been issued by Judge S. H. Cowan, attorney for the National Live Stock Association. Every cattlemen is urged to write immediately and often to his representative in congress, requesting the strongest possible manner that all possible influence be used to secure the passage of the bill.

POSTUM

Let it be remembered that the great malady to be attacked in one case and the stomach in another, while in others it may be kidneys, heart, bowels or general nervous system, the remedy is obvious and should be adopted before too late.

Quit coffee, if you show incipient disease.

It is easy if one can have well-brewed Postum Food Coffee to serve for the hot morning beverage. The withdrawal of the old kind of coffee that is doing the harm and the supply of the elements in the Postum which nature uses to rebuild the broken down nerve cells, insures a quick return to the old joy of strength and health, and it's well worth while to be able again to "do things" and feel well. There's a reason for it.
