Mr. Strippling THE PRICE IS THE THING.

of hogs which are raised. Hogs are now being butchered for the use of the colony which at fifteen months of age weigh from 450 to 500 pounds. A 600-pound hog at fifteen months would be the pride of many a state agricultural college, and the dairyman at the epileptic colony, who has direct charge of the hog raising, thinks he has good cause for pride.

The hogs raised are a cross between thoroughbred Berkshires and Poland Chinas. From farrowing pens to the final feed lots before slaughtering, the hogs are raised in the open air. In the summer time they are given cool pools of water in which to lie. The growing pigs receive all the slops from the colony, and they are given no milk. There are small wheat fields in which pigs not being fattened for immediate slaughter are allowed to run. The pigs being prepared for slaughter are fed milo maize and cotton seed hulls. The milo maize is also fed to the colony horses, which seem to thrive on the diet. Dr. Preston hopes to be able soon to secure a crusher for preparing the milo and Kaffir corn.

None But the Best

Most of the colony cows are Jerseys. They are fed cotton seed hulls, turnips, pumpkins, millet and maize fodder. The record of each cow's yield of milk is carefully kept, and none but desirable animals are retained.

All of the colony's farm implements and vehicles are kept in sheds. The last legislature refused to appropriate enough money to buy a barn so a shed for the cattle was built by the farm hands. The sheds for the implements and for storing the milo maize and Kaffir corn are the buildings left by the colony contractors when they finished work on the buildings. They were purchased at a small cost and made to serve a second duty.

The colony's farm is not far from the grounds of the West Texas Fair Association and is frequently visited by farmers during the fair meetings. The success of the colony farm has furnished a graphic object lesson in the amount of west Texas land which can be profitably cultivated with a few men.

TEXAS IS GREAT STATE

New Woman Rooms at Will Over Lone Star Plains

Big Springs, Texas, Jan. 26.—The realm of the Texas club woman has grown rapidly within the past few years. From the largest cities of the state the movement has spread among the smaller towns, until scarcely one of them is without its representative in the state federation.

Big Springs has one woman's literary club which affiliated with the state club, the club of the Hyperion. The club has seventeen members and the work for 1906 is the study of English literature. The club meets twice a month, and its officers are as follows: Mrs. H. T. Willis, president; Mrs. Frank Tomlinson, first vice president; Mrs. A. D. Alderman, second vice president; Mrs. J. D. Birdwell, secretary; Mrs. W. Van Gieson, treasurer; Mrs. J. B. Young, corresponding secretary. The club has prepared an attractive year book for 1906, done in white and gold, and the club colors, and its members anticipate making a stronger showing than ever before at the next meeting of the federation.

Has a Book Club

In addition to the Hyperion Club, Big Springs has a book club not affiliated with the state federation. It has twenty members, each of whom pays $1.25 annual dues. The fund thus secured is given to a committee appointed by the members, which committee purchases twenty books from some publishing house each year. The price of these books must not be less than $1, nor more than $2.50, and the selection is based on the requests submitted by individual members. The books include fiction, biography, history and travel. They are circulated alternately among the members, so that each has an opportunity to read all. It has been found that nine months are required for all the books to be circulated, and at the end of this time, the members draw for the ownership of the books, each securing one. By this plan, each member has an opportunity of reading twenty new books each year and owning one at the end of that time, at a total cost of $12.50. In addition to this advantage, each member has the privilege of buying other books from the publishing company with which the club deals, at reduced prices. The book club plan is being found unusually successful, and the members are enthusiastic in recommending it to other towns where enough members can be secured to maintain such a system.

Also Church Societies

Besides the Hyperion and Book Clubs, there are the usual number of church societies. Members of the Episcopal church had a ladies' guild, and the other churches are represented by various aid societies. There is also a whist club, a purely social organization.

There are no musical clubs, but six young women are members of a popular glee club, and there is also a young men's glee club, organized at the Y. M. C. A., which alternately sings at the different churches and for various entertainments throughout the winter season.

TO CHANGE METHODS

Texas Railroad Freight Claim Agents Evolve New Plans

Special to The Telegram.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Jan. 26.—As a result of a meeting of the representatives of freight claim departments of various Texas railroad systems held today at the Meinger hotel, an effort will be made on the part of Texas freight men to bring into general usage in railroad circles in this country the various amendments and changes which they have evolved, in the rules now in force generally governing the settlement of freight claims.

A committee of five members was appointed to place these amendments and propositions before the meeting of the Freight Claim Association of American Railroads to convene in May in St. Louis. This committee will ask the adoption of these rules by the national body. The general adoption of the Texas system would be of much value, Texas roads under the method in use within the boundaries of this state expedite to a great extent claim payments. The road making the delivery of the goods is satisfied that any damages which may be asked on them pays the claim within thirty days after presentation, or decides to fight the case in the courts.

MINOR RECOVERING

Man Injured in Jump from Dallas Fire Improving

Special to The Telegram.

DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 26.—Reports from St. Paul's Sanitarium at noon today are to the effect that John R. Minor, who was injured in a jump from the Gaston National Bank building in a fire here, is now considered by the attendant physicians to be out of danger. He has been placed in a plaster paris cast and is resting easily.

Contrary to expectation, the young man who was shot through the right lung here last Saturday afternoon, Roker G. Mills, formerly of San Antonio, Texas, is improving and it is now thought that he will finally recover. His condition is very grave, but the wonderful vitality displayed is such as to leave cause for strong hope by the doctors.

SCHOOL SYSTEM IS EXCELLENT

Pupils of Colorado Taught to Know Greatness of Texas

Special Correspondence.

COLORADO, Texas, Jan. 27.—Colorado has one of the best public school systems in West Texas and the interest of the town, aside from that shown in public improvements, is largely devoted to improving and encouraging its development. There are two schools at present, one for whites and the other for negroes. The enrollment in the white school is 520. Of these 120 pupils are in the high school. Only last week citizens of the Colorado Independent school district voted to issue $15,000 bonds for the erection of a high school building. The present school building cost $10,000, is large and modern in every respect, but it is not big enough to meet the demands made upon it.

Thomas J. Yoe, a comparatively young man, is superintendent of the schools. The work covers eleven grades. A number of students in the high school are now being prepared to enter the state university next fall. The higher branches taught in the high school include Latin, German, physics and mathematics. There are seventeen pupils in the German class. Superintendent Yoe has ten teachers on his staff for the detail work of the school, but the whole town helps.

School Spirit is Intense

The town's interest and an intense "school spirit" among the pupils are the most striking features of the school system. The pupils of the school get out a paper, the high school has literary societies, between which there is a keen rivalry, there are class emblems, class yells, an athletic team, and in fact all the conditions of school life to be found in a live small college, rather than to be expected in a public school.

The town's interest in the school is manifested in various ways. Women of the town show especial desire to help foster the school spirit. There are three federated women's clubs in Colorado—The Standard, the Hesperian and the Women's. These women's clubs do regular literary work and are conducted along the same lines as the federated women's clubs of Fort Worth, but they do an additional work for the school children. An iron fence about the school grounds, costing several hundred dollars, a $350 set of physical apparatus, a flag and flag staff, scholarship medals for various classes—these are some of the gifts which women of the town have bestowed on the school. The Women's Club has taken an especial interest in the school work. It is the largest club of Colorado.

Superintendent Yoe hopes to be able to arrange for a course of lectures next season, which pupils of the schools may attend. It is regarded as probable that the high school will be affiliated with the state university before another year. At the present time the high school of Sweetwater is the only one so affiliated between Abilene and El Paso.

The school system provides for the population of an independent district covering five square miles. It is governed by a board of trustees and is independent of county government.

Court of Appeals Has Matter Under Advisement

Special to The Telegram.

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 26.—The tax cases on the part of the state against the railroads to collect taxes under the provisions of the Love law were submitted to the Third court of civil appeals yesterday. The railroad attorneys had five hours for argument, while the state had three. Attorney General Davidson did not appear in the case, although he was present. His office was represented by Judge Hawkins, first assistant; Mr. Lightfoot and T. B. Love of Dallas, the author of the law.

Among those present at the hearing was N. H. Lassiter for Fort Worth, general attorney for the Rock Island Texas lines.

WILL FIGHT BE HAD IN SENATE?

Separate Staters Likely to Try Upper House

Special to The Telegram.

TULSA, I. T., Jan. 26.—Now that the insurgent movement in the house failed to materialize sufficiently to cause disruption of forces in such quantity that the resolution or bill proposed by Representative Hamilton should be further delayed, the advocates of single statehood in this section of the country now feel called upon to carry the fight into the senate.

Because two months passed away with no crisis in the statehood question and because advocates were assured further delay by the house from sources that were thought reliable, separate staters throughout the Indian Territory have procrastinated until the first struggle is over and the administration victory appears in sight.

—If the senate is "good," Congressmen Murphy of Missouri introduced a bill into the house providing for separate statehood. In this he was ably assisted by Chairman Baker and the members of the Senate executive committee at Washington, which is composed of Colonel R. L. Owens, W. W. Hastings, C. N. Haskell, George W. George and Captain George W. Grayson.

The attitude of separate staters here, those who want one state of the Indian Territory and that to be called Sequoyah, is "better no statehood now than joint statehood." In this they are joined by the Anti-Slavery League. Whether the fight to be taken into the senate will be waged with a confidence of support from an unknown quarter is not known, and the action of the leaders of the separate state movement is now awaited with no small interest throughout the territory.

Judge Lawrence did not commit himself to the delegations, but assured his visitors that their prayers and charges would receive his careful consideration.

LEMP'S TAKE APPEAL

Special to The Telegram.

LAWTON, Okla., Jan. 26.—An appeal to the supreme court has been filed in the case of the Lemp Brewing Company of St. Louis, against M. S. Simpson, J. E. Dyche and others.

These men were on the bond of S. A. Secor, an early-day agent of the Lemp company, for $5,000. Secor disappeared and the company brought suit to recover the amount of the bond. During the last term of the district court the case was tried and decided against the company. Their attorneys now take an appeal.

PLANS NEGRO EXODUS

Booker T. Washington Wants to Take 5,000 Blacks to Central America

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—A dispatch to the Inter Ocean from New Orleans, La., says:

A fruit company, which owns and operates extensive plantations in Honduras has just completed arrangements with Booker T. Washington by which the company agrees to transport to their plantations in Honduras 5,000 southern negroes. This statement was made yesterday by William H. Coe, a leading New York capitalist and president of the fruit and company concerned.

"The southern negro has been raised to plantation work," said Mr. Coe. "We may have some little trouble in drilling the men into the special character of work expected of them, but once they are set to work I think they will soon accustom themselves to surroundings."

MYSTERIOUS STRANGER

Russian Immigrant Center of "Third Section" Plot

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Unusual features in the arrest Wednesday of Felix Galdiss, a Russian, at the request of the secret police of St. Petersburg, when Galdiss was about to disembark from the steamer Moltke, caused an investigation today by the United States immigration authorities. It was reported to this department that the Russian was wanted for political reasons and that the charge that he embezzled 40,000 roubles which the secret police professed to be the New York police commissioner's was only a pretext to get him into custody. Yesterday he told Immigration Commissioner Watchorn that he was a butler in the family of a retired Russian general until two months ago when all the servants were discharged and the general's family left France. The immigration authorities believe that Galdiss is wanted as a witness against some Russian army officers and Commissioner Watchorn called to St. Petersburg for more facts about him.

Noted Chicago Physician and Chemist Commends Duffy's

Dr. Eidherr, a leading consulting and analytical chemist, states that he finds Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey perfectly pure and entirely free of coloring matter, wood spirits and fusel oil.

"I pronounce Duffy's an excellent tonic-stimulant, tissue builder and invigorator, which can be used by young and old for wasting diseases, nervous debility, loss of appetite and, in short, in all cases where an effective tonic is required."

In his original report he says: "The samples of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey submitted to my laboratory for chemical examination were found perfectly pure and entirely free of coloring matter, wood spirits, and also devoid of coloring matter. Comparative tests have been made with samples of Duffy's Malt Whiskey, bought from different stores in this city, with the same result. On basis of these examinations, I pronounce your preparation as an excellent tonic-stimulant, tissue builder and invigorator, which can be used by young and old for wasting diseases, nervous debility, loss of appetite and, in short, in all cases where an effective tonic is required." Dr. E. M. Eidherr, Chicago, Ill., July 3, 1905.

RUSSELL SAGE ON THE SIMPLE LIFE

Russell Sage has been telling the New York World what he would do if he had his life to live over again. This multi-millionaire, who has attained the ripe age of 90 years, believes that a man makes more mistakes the longer he is permitted to live, and for himself thinks that real joys are to be found in the Simple Life.

"I think if I had my life to live over again it would be as honest, as simple, as home-loving as I could make it," he said. "I would try with all my power to surround myself in my home with everything that could be useful. Home life is best. Clubs are only places for idle old men and wasteful young men."

"I would be more earnest in advising all young persons to keep out of Wall street. The ordinary young man had better go into some other kind of business—the shoe business, the merchandise commission business—anything but Wall street."

"In my younger days I devoted much of my time to affairs in Washington and Albany, and I am glad of it. In those days every young man thought for himself and took an early interest in politics. If the young men of today would do likewise, existing conditions would be avoided."

There is much in the remarks of Russell Sage to be commended to the careful consideration of the young men of today, who are starting out in life with ideas that will bring them up against the seamy side of life if they are not materially modified. If he had his life to live over again he would make it as honest, as simple and as home-loving as possible. Home life, he declares, is best.

Here is the testimony of a man who has lived far beyond the allotted time—a man whose life has been given wholly to an unrelenting chase for the almighty and elusive dollar, and with the knowledge that only a few more steps will be required to land him in the grave, he says it has all been a mistake, and he should have led the Simple Life.

Standing on the threshold of eternity, Russell Sage realizes that his life has been sadly misspent. He must soon render an accounting for the long time he has been permitted to spend here, and must confess that he was not the man he should have been. He realizes as he stands on the brink of eternity that the mass of shining dollars that he has been able to accumulate during all the years he has devoted to Mammon is but so much dross. They will not purchase him entrance into the better world, nor afford him one day's longer lease on life.

The men who are talking the reduction of cotton acreage in Texas should change their program so as to include the building of cotton mills. Texas needs enthusiasm on this subject much more than in the matter of annually curtailing her cotton crop. As it is morally certain that Texas will continue to produce cotton, then logic would suggest that the proper thing to do is to devise methods for handling that cotton to the very best possible advantage.

The Isle of Pines is to be ceded to Cuba, according to late Washington advices, and the revolution down there will amount to nothing. There is some consolation, however, in realizing that we are paring with our friends on the little island but temporarily. The time is not far distant when they can come into the union along with the balance of Cuba.

The statehood bill has passed the lower house of congress, and it is believed it will experience smooth sailing in the senate. It is thus two new stars will be added to Old Glory and the people of Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma and the Indian Territory will become real citizens of these glorious United States.

It makes no real difference to the dead bank robber buried in this city a few days ago whether his name is Patsy Flannigan or Jim Devine. He has paid the price of his daring with his life, and should be permitted to sleep in peace.

We must have better sidewalks and more sidewalks in Fort Worth, if we expect the city to sustain her reputation as the leading and most progressive city in all Texas.

There will be few congressmen now left to deny the potency of the Big Stick. Too many of them are acquainted now with its heftiness.

Commissioner Colquitt has not yet joined Judge Brooks in a refusal to resign, but it is morally certain he will do so.

AMONG THE EXCHANGES

"Texas has some stringent anti-trust laws, but what do they amount to?" asks the Denison Herald. Now, Enterprise not being a limb of the law, can't answer for certain, but the common supposition is that they amount to a mighty good living for the corporation lawyers who sell advice as to their evasion at so much per—(Cleburne Enterprise).

The Texas anti-trust law seems to have been created more for ornamental purposes than for the protection of the people. And it will remain this way until the people rise up and sweat the officers who are falling in their duty in properly enforcing the law.

The tax system of Texas is sadly in need of a thorough overhauling. There is absolutely no excuse for a state with the resources of Texas being on any other than a good, sound cash basis. The revenues ought very easily to be made to take care of the expenditures and show a surplus at the end of each year rather than a deficit. This can be done, too, without being burdensome on any individual or any interest, private or corporate. A square deal for all is what is needed.—Denison Herald.

What Texas needs above all things else at this time is tax equalization. There are sufficient taxable values in the state to justify a marked reduction in the existing tax rate, if the matter of assessing and collecting taxes could be properly equalized.

The assurance from several sources that Tom Watson is trying to break up the solid south is nothing particular new. The republican party has been trying to do that for to these many days and is merely getting Tom to help them.—Austin Statesman.

Tom Watson is entitled to respectful consideration now by virtue of the fact that he is the only remaining living populist. The balance of the party is dead, but that does not deter Tom from fighting just as hard as if the woods were full of 'em.

The state supreme court of Kansas recently handed down a decision that makes separate schools in that state a fact. The court decided that the law passed by the last Kansas legislature providing separate high schools for the whites and blacks at Kansas City, Kan., is valid. This decision paves the way for the legislature to pass an act separating the whites from the negroes in all the schools of the state. But who would have predicted such a thing ten years ago?—Vernon Call.

Kansas is a state that has done more to encourage the idea of social equality on the part of the negro than any other state in the union, but it seems that even Kansas white blood can be worked up to the point where it seeks a change from existing conditions. Separate schools for the races in Kansas means the beginning of the end.

Here's hoping that General Luke Wright may find a way to dispose of the Philippines to Japan, the first thing after he gets located as American ambassador to the Florentine Kingdom. It was Governor Dick Hubbard of Texas who made the first progress for a great and growing commerce between Japan and this country, and now it is up to General Wright, another distinguished southerner to make arrangement with Japan that will be worth a great deal more to the Japanese and to the American people than the treaty which Governor Hubbard made—Sherman Register.

There is a strong and growing suspicion that the Wright appointment is preliminary to some arrangement looking to the transfer of the islands to Japan. But when the proposition materializes it will be surprising to note the number of people who will oppose the plan. There is a strong sentiment in America against relinquishing one foot of territory over which we once acquire control.

SALOON KEEPERS PAYING FOR THEIR PART Five young children were awarded $17,500 damages by a jury in Judge Tutbill's court yesterday. In a suit brought against three saloon keepers. It was shown that these men had persisted in selling liquor to the father of the children in the face of warnings that he was going to ruin in consequence. This was an indication of a family dragged down by drink within a comparatively short period, his children in consequence being deprived of his protection and support. The jury having been convinced that the defendant saloon keepers were guilty of the charge of supplying the father with liquor despite their knowledge of the results they were bringing about, in justice could do no less than fix heavy damages against them.—Chicago News.

HARD FOR ANYBODY TO UNDERSTAND The British find considerable difficulty in understanding certain American institutions. For instance, in London they are objecting just now to the street car strap.—Chicago Record-Herald.

KEAN FIT DELEGATE FROM CRADLE STATE OF TRUSTS

This is another article dealing with the ruling spirit of the "Milk-Bonaires' club," as it is known, the United States senate, Senator John Kean's connections and his attitude upon public questions, as dissected by Marlen E. Pew in an endeavor to determine whether he represents the people or corporate interests.

BY MARLEN E. PEW.

Elizabeth, N. J., Jan. 24.—John Kean, senior senator of New Jersey, is a product of the form of misgovernment which has made this state the cradle of the trusts and refuge of corruptionists in business and affairs of state.

John Kean is as much a representative of vested interests and inherited wealth in the halls of congress as Dewey, Clark or Clegg, and he differs from them mainly in his frank and open allegiance to the money power. He is one of the richest men in the senate and in the son of Wall street, last and forever.

The sordid political history of New Jersey, which, as Mr. Lincoln Steffens has been bought and sold by high finance and is now engaged in selling the rest of us, is a fitting preface to the senatorial history of John Kean. He, with Aldrich, is possibly the best type of the commercial statesman of the day. He is the railroad man in particular and a public utility man in the interest of a few. He is without the saving quality of a pretense to represent the great majority.

Well entrenched The railroads do not want much more in New Jersey. They have halved and quartered the state until they have left almost to the perfect satisfaction of even the Pennsylvania railroad company, so that Senator Kean is a soldier for defense. He has a little side line of dollar breeding public utilities in and about this town. Then he is a director of the Chicago Junction railway and Union Stock Yards company, the Twin City Rapid Transit company, the Securities company, the Pacific Coast company, and the Manhattan Trust company, the largest trust company in New York.

It is only necessary to scan the history and the present management of these concerns to find Kean's real affiliations. The Twin City Rapid Transit company controls the nitre street railway system of Minneapolis, St. Paul and Stillwater. It is a Jersey corporation with $2,000,000 stock. Mr. Kean obviously appreciates the value of the corporation laws of his state, which were conceived of political corruption in alliance with the commercial corruption of Wall street.

The Chicago Junction Railways and the Union Stock Yards company is also a New Jersey corporation with $13,000,000 capital stock. The "general offices" of the concern are at 15 Exchange place, Jersey City, which is the great asylum for dummy directors and kindred forms of modern commercial enterprise. The concern is better known to the public as a wing of the infamous "beef trust."

The Pacific Coast company, which owns great coal properties, timber lands, railway interests and general improvement enterprises in the northwest, has offered to the public $6,561,800 of its securities.

The Securities company is the one that absorbed the Equitable Securities company in 1899 and capitalized itself for $2,000,000.

It is through the Manhattan Trust company ($1,000,000 capital, $10,000,000 deposits), that Senator Kean is most directly connected with the power of the financial system. He is vice president and director of that great corporation and is associated with such well known gentlemen in the world of finance as James J. Hill, August Belmont and E. H. Harriman.

Kean is closely associated with the interests that control the Pennsylvania Railroad company, and United States Senator John F. Dryden's public service corporation of New Jersey.

In the senate it is generally accepted that Kean is for the railroads every time. His official record is a snapshot of his active disposition to serve the money powers.

Senator Kean inherited a vast fortune from his father. He was born at the old homestead where he now lives, which was the original Liberty hall, built in 1772. Hessian sword marks scar the mahogany staircase in this fine old mansion and it was there that Alexander Hamilton studied law and George Washington held many important conferences.

Kean has put his stamp on the city of Elizabeth, where he likes to call himself a farmer. He owns the largest farms in the vicinity of any of its inhabitants. He is the president of the National Bank of Elizabeth, the water-works are his, the gas the people burn comes from his tanks, street car fares fall into his pockets and it is no exaggeration to say that he is a "great man" in this little city.

His father, Colonel John Kean, was the president of the Central railroad of New Jersey at one time. Inherited wealth soon carried Kean to Wall street. There he fell in with the rising generation of money princes, descendants like himself of moneyed kings. His personal friends and associates are the men whose names daily appear in the financial columns of the newspapers. He is a trip hammer at his desk and confessor that his greatest pleasure in life is handling his business affairs. He is a bachelor. He has heavy shoulders, bristling eyebrows, deep set brown eyes, a protruding forehead, a topping red mustache and walks with a queer stoop. In Washington Senator Kean lives modestly and associates with fellow congressmen, mainly of the class under discussion in this series of articles. So urgent are the demands of business upon him that during the session of congress he leaves every few days to visit his offices here or at 29 Wall street. The people of Elizabeth declare that Kean is an excellent citizen and local pride in him runs high. He is kind to the office boy and is easily approached.

LITTLE TALES WELL TOLD

DRAWING FINE DISTINCTIONS

"I will never forget my first experience in hospital work," said Chief Surgeon Miller of the Central Emergency hospital. "There was a green nurse in the detention ward and we had a very violent case in there—a man in the worst stage of delirium tremens. I was awakened in the middle of the night by the head nurse, who requested me to come at once to the patient. When I got there I found him raving and very violent, with the new nurse scared out of her wits. I said: 'Why did you let him go so far? I left you some medicine to give him as soon as he got delirious.' 'Yes, doctor,' she replied, 'but you told me to give that to him if he saw any more snakes, and this time he was seeing blue dogs with pink tails.'"

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, according to the Dundee Advertiser, seems to be the first prime minister of purely Celtic strain. Although his mother was a Bannerman of Manchester, her father settled there from Scotland and up in Aberdeenshire, where the Bannermans had long been little but the Celtic element. Paternally Sir Henry is out and out a Celt, his grandfather, a father being fresh to Glasgow from the heathery Highland hills. Both his father and uncle, who built up the great business in the Second City, which still bears their name, were, when freed from the conventionalities of commercial life, enthusiastic Highlanders. ## The Finest Clothing The American Gentlemen Wear is Selling at Sale Prices

This sale is a sale with a purpose—to clear out the balance of a season's stock of the finest clothing American gentlemen wear—at prices that must effect the desired result. Prices argue for it—values argue for it—the goods themselves climax all arguments. It's a great sale in many ways. Like everything else we undertake, we've undertaken it with whole-souled purpose to accomplish our object. In this case it's a clearance. The daily crowds show clearly that you approve of our way of reduction. We've made a uniform reduction of one-third to apply to every single or double-breasted suit, to every overcoat and to all youths' and boys' suits and overcoats in the house. We're letting them all go on the one-third off scale of reduction. You may come, look through the departments of clothing, and when you see a $10 garment, pay us $6.66, or a $15.00 garment you like, pay us $10.00, or a $20.00 garment, pay us $13.34, and so on through the whole line. We haven't made the reduction on the price tickets—it's easier to make them as you buy, because we haven't left out any clothing from the sacrifice, and the original price tickets themselves tell their own story of how low you're buying. Again we say, take

One-Third Off! Great Sacrifice Sale of Men's Shoes

Nettleton Shoes $3.75

Mighty few men but who know the Nettleton Shoe—it's a standard $5.00 and $6.00 shoe—the kind we are proud of, and take pleasure in placing them in our show windows, that you may see the styles which are all new shape and color, this season's favorites—$3.00 in our regular price and not another shoe but what asks $3.50 for like quality; choice, while they last, $1.98.

Bostonian Shoes $2.90

Bostonian Shoes are known as the leading $3.50 and $4.00 shoes. They are made for service, of choice leather. Many prefer these to the higher priced shoes. We have gathered all the odd pairs broken lines and placed them in one lot, to make a clean sweep of the heavy weights; choice, per pair, $2.90.

29c Mens Heavy Ribbed Winter Underwear

Several hundred garments, jersey ribbed, fleece lined—the regular 50c grades, various colors; the lot will be closed out tomorrow, per garment

Soft & Derby Hats $1.98 Wright's Underwear 69c

We want to impress upon your mind that these hats offered you are worthy suits—the kind we are proud of, and take pleasure in placing them in our show windows, that you may see the styles which are all new shape and color, this season's favorites—$3.00 in our regular price and not another shoe but what asks $3.50 for like quality; choice, while they last, $1.98.

Dr. Wright's Hygienic Silk Fleece Health Underwear. The price per garment you all know is $1.00. We shall let out what we have, not because they are unworthy or unsaleable, but for the reason we have a big lot—heavy garments, and season is well advanced, and room is now wanted for the lighter weights. You'll surely carry away this lot tomorrow at the price per garment, 69c.

The New Store Meacham's Cor. Second and Houston This New Store

Has made the mistake of stocking a lot of Men's Pants. Not having the room to properly care for or store them, nor a ready sale for them at regular prices, decides us to offer the entire lot at a reduction of from a third to a half off clothes' prices. There are possibly a hundred and fifty pairs in the lot; about a dozen different patterns; all new and correct, every pair of this season's manufacture. Cassimeres, Chevots and Worsted, every regular size, and some few Worsted in slouts—waists as large as 50 inches. Not a pair in the lot worth less than $3.00 anywhere; some are $3.50 and $4.00 values. YOUR CHOICE SATURDAY AND UNTIL ALL ARE SOLD... $2.10 Your money back if you want it.

CITY AGENTS TO HOLD MEETING

Railroad Officials to Have Annual Election

The annual meeting of the Fort Worth city passenger agents will be held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning at the offices of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe in this city. The date for the meeting was fixed Friday. The session will be important by reason of the fact that the election of officers for the current year will be held and the annual reports of the organization will be received. The present officers are J. F. Zurn, general agent of the Texas and Pacific, president; T. E. Cincinnati, city passenger agent of the Santa Fe, vice president, and T. F. McDonald, city passenger agent of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas, secretary. The city passenger association was formed here about four years ago. Its purpose being to bring the representatives of the various railroads in closer touch with each other and to straighten out any misunderstandings that might arise between them. There was a further object of a social nature. Every passenger agent in the city has become a member of the association and it has been found a great help to them in the way of forwarding their mutual welfare and settling differences which might arise through misunderstandings. The agents take an annual excursion to some point which is agreed upon at the annual meetings and they have found a warm welcome everywhere they have gone. Just where they will go this year has not yet been decided upon but there are several places under consideration. The association has made two trips to Galveston, one to Houston and one to San Antonio.

A. B. Curtis is auctioneer. The program is: Miss Helen Pendry, Mr. Clarence Pendry, piano and violin duet. Miss Celia Compton, recitation. Miss Arnie and Willie Boyd, guitar duet. Miss Star Redford, recitation. Mr. Bass and Mr. Resacker, mandolin and guitar. Miss Fay Tucker, recitation. Mrs. H. A. Smith, piano solo.

FIVE DAYS TO PAY POLL TAXES

Time Limit for Qualification Is Growing Short

Five days, including Friday, remain for the payment of poll taxes. Announcement has been made by W. J. Glavin, city assessor and collector, that deputies will not be sent out as last year to collect such taxes, their services being utilized instead in keeping the office open at nights for the accommodation of those wishing to pay. From records at closing of offices Thursday night the city had a total qualified voting population of 4,386, and the county one of 4,218. The county vote, however, will likely be much larger, no exemptions being required.

Blind Actress Dying

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 26.—Mrs. John E. Drew, known on the stage as England and the United States as Addie Collins, sightless from disease, is lying in Mercy Hospital. Her husband, a cousin of John Drew, has been told that the Actors' Fund cannot support her any longer.

WINTER WEAKNESS

LACK OF OXYGEN WEAKENS MUSCLES AND NERVES.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. In winter the air of the close rooms in which we spend so much of the time does not furnish enough oxygen to the lungs to burn out the fuel matter in the blood. Everyone knows the uncomfortable feelings that follow the breathing of bad air and that are cured by simply opening a window for a short time. The worst effects, however, are those which are stored up and do not appear at once. In the cold season we do not exercise as much and the skin and kidneys do not throw off the waste matter as freely as usual. The whole system gets clogged just as a machine does when it is not cleaned with frequency. The stomach does its work feebly and gets less nourishment out of the food. So there is weakness everywhere; weak organs, weak muscles, weak nerves. The system becomes overloaded with poisonous matter, and too feeble to throw it off. Relief can be had only through the use of a remedy that will promptly and thoroughly purify and strengthen the blood, and the one best adapted for this purpose is the great blood tonic known as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"They acted like magic in my case," said Mrs. Clara L. Wilde, of No. 377 Farnsworth avenue, Detroit, Mich. "I was weak and thin and could not sleep. My stomach and nerves were out of order. I can't describe how miserable I was. I dragged through six months of feebleness, growing weaker all the time until I finally had strength enough to leave my bed. Then a glad day came, the day when I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They made me feel strong right away. My appetite came back, I took on flesh and the color returned to my cheeks. People wonder that these pills did for me what the doctors couldn't do. I took only six boxes and then I was perfectly well. If I had not found this wonderful remedy I surely think that I must have wasted to death. Believing firmly that these pills saved my life by the strength which they gave me at a critical moment, I unhesitatingly recommend them to others."

BOX SUPPER ARRANGED

Entertainment For Indigent Veteran Fund to Be Given

A box supper and musical and literary program will be given Friday night at the R. E. Lee camp room in the county court house. Money raised will go to swell the indigent fund for needy veterans. A large attendance is expected, as all sons and associate members have been made a committee on invitation. Members of the reception committee are Mrs. David Evans, Mrs. John A. Kee and Miss Alice Eve Robinson. E. M. Daggert, David Evans and W. S. Jazetti form the floor committee, and

WOMEN FIND BODY OF MAN

Howard Geer Is Seriously Wounded at Night

Howard Geer was assaulted and probably fatally injured Thursday night at the corner of St. Louis and Tucker avenues. He was struck three times with a heavy iron rod, a few inches longer and slightly larger than a coupling pin used by the railroads. Three blows were struck with this instrument. One of the wounds is on the back of the head, fracturing the skull, and the other two are on the back sides of the head, one being on the left side and the other on the right.

Instrument Secured

Captain Blanton and Officer Bibb went to the scene of the assault and secured the iron rod with which the assault was committed, but failed to secure any further clues. The injured man had been robbed of his watch and also his sister's watch, which he had been carrying. It is believed that he was paid off for the month on Wednesday. He had only 85 cents in money when found Thursday night and it is believed that he must have had more than that sum. Detectives have been put to work on the case and everything possible will be done to locate the perpetrators of the brutal assault. The indications point to robbery, but the fact that three blows were struck when one would have been sufficient to render the victim unconscious makes it appear that murder might have been intended and that the robbery may have been for the purpose of misleading the officers.

NEGRO DIES OF BULLET WOUND

Man Shot by Officer Fails to Recover

James Middleton, the negro who was shot Tuesday night, near 1101 Louisiana street, died at 10 o'clock Tuesday night at St. Joseph's infirmary. As has been mentioned in The Telegram, the negro is alleged to have made a move to his hip pocket, when called upon to submit to arrest, and this movement was followed by Officers D. E. Loyd and C. L. Waller, who were endeavoring to arrest him, firing upon him.

Officers Give Bond

Chief of Police J. H. Maddox appeared in Justice Rowland's court Friday, accompanied by Sid Waller and the wounded man, then taken to the police station and searched, and a large rock was found in his pocket, but no pistol. He was later taken to St. Joseph's infirmary for treatment. The two defendants were turned over to the county authorities and on arraignment before Justice Rowland waived examination. Their bond was fixed by the court at $1,000 each. Bond in each case was made at once.

FREE STONE FOR THE CROSSINGS

The joint committee of the Board of Trade and the Factory Club will meet at the Board of Trade room next Tuesday afternoon, when the report of the result of the conference with the city officials on better streets and sidewalks will be read. The reports have already been agreed on by the Factory Club committee, and it will make one recommendation that it is believed will result in much good and, if adopted, will give new impetus to sidewalk building. The Factory Club committee will recommend at the joint committee meeting Tuesday that the joint committee recommend to the council that the city construct good rock street crossings at the intersection of all streets where the property owners have already or shall build continuous sidewalks in front of their property. The material for the street crossings will cost the city nothing except for the hauling of it. The stone can be quarried in broad slabs two inches thick, and all that the city will be out for sidewalk constructed of this stone will be the cost for hauling it down between blocks. A. N. Evans of the joint committee has control of the land on which this stone is to be had, and offers all that the city will need free of cost.

POLICE MUST PAY POLL TAXES

Maddox Can't Use Non-Voters as Officers

Police officers must pay their poll taxes. This is the order of Chief Maddox, posted in the central police station. The order, worded in no uncertain terms, declares that failure to pay poll tax will be considered grounds for requesting the resignation of any officer. The order is based upon the assumption that no man is qualified to hold a city position who does not meet his obligations as a citizen, has not been registered in other city departments, but it is understood, poll taxes have been paid by each man on the Fort Worth city payroll. A number of leading business men are urging the duty of poll tax paying upon their employees, though they are not in position to enforce orders of the sort given above.

THE LITTLE WIDOW

A Mighty Good Sort of Neighbor to Have. "A little widow, a neighbor of mine, persuaded me to try Grape-Nuts when my stomach was so weak that it would not retain food of any other kind," writes a grateful woman, from San Bernardino, Cal. "I had been ill and confined to my bed with fever and nervous prostration for three long months after the birth of my second child, when I received the little widow's advice brought relief. "I liked Grape-Nuts food from the beginning, and in an incredibly short time it gave me such strength that I was able to leave my bed and enjoy my life good once a day. In 2 months my weight increased from 55 to 113 pounds, my nerves had steadied down and I felt ready for anything. My neighbors were amazed to see me gain so rapidly and still more so when they heard that Grape-Nuts alone had brought the change." "My 4-year-old boy had eczema, very bad, last spring and lost his appetite entirely, which made him cross and peevish. I put him on a diet of Grape-Nuts, which he relished at once. He improved from the beginning, the eczema disappeared and now he is fat and rosy, with a delightfully soft, clear skin. The Grape-Nuts diet did it. I will willingly answer all inquiries." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. There's a reason. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in page.

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The following cablegram has been received by the secretary of war from Governor Ide at Manila: "Natives are much disturbed by cable stating that Ambassador Wright has been authorized to negotiate the sale of the islands to Japan. Authentic denial from you might be useful." Secretary Taft replied to the cablegram as follows: "The cable statement referred to in your cablegram has not the slightest vestige of truth. It is not only untrue, but absurdly so."

RETAIL GROCERS TO MEET IN TEXAS

Dallas Gets National Convention of Next Year

Special to The Telegram. NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Jan. 26.—Dallas succeeded in capturing the 1907 convention of the National Retail Grocers' Association to be held in January next. The contest between Dallas and New Orleans was spirited, and for a time the result was in doubt, but when the states having the large delegations were reached and it was found that Texas had their support it was apparent that it would be an easy winner, the final vote showing a majority of 75 for Dallas. Julian Capers of Dallas placed his city in nomination, seconded by Ellwood Hanson of Brooklyn, N. Y.; H. B. Terrell of West Texas; T. P. Sullivan of Chicago and G. W. Sawkins of Toledo, Ohio. The members of the Texas delegation, consisting of twenty-two delegates and three ladies, were extremely popular with the members of the convention and were given an ovation when the vote was announced. They were presented with a handsome picture of Niagara Falls, and were tendered a reception in the evening by the New York delegation. The Texans were highly elated by their success. A number of the party will leave tomorrow for New York City and Washington.

EXPRESS TRAIN HITS FREIGHT

Passengers Bruised; None Seriously Injured

By Associated Press. JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 26.—A Missouri Pacific express train west-bound crashed into a freight train standing on the main track early today and nearly two hundred passengers were bruised, but none were seriously hurt. The freight train caught fire and ten derailed cars were burned. The express train was running at full speed, rounded a curve and plowed through ten of the fifteen cars composing the freight train. Only one truck car of the passenger train left the rails and only the engine was damaged. Responsibility for the wreck has not yet been officially placed.

MAN SEVERELY HURT

H. Taunton Treated at City Hall Emergency Hospital

H. Taunton, a packing house employe, is in the hospital department at the police station, and Edward Williams is in the city jail, on a charge of aggravated assault, following a fight which occurred Thursday night in the vicinity of the Anchor saloon on the corner of Twelfth and Rusk streets. Taunton is badly cut about the face and head and Williams also has a slight cut on his hand. A French was also placed under arrest. A physician was summoned to attend the injuries of Taunton, and his wounds have been bandaged. Williams declined to make any statement about the affair when seen by a Telegram reporter in the jail Friday morning, and the injured man also declined to talk of the trouble.

MANY FIRE ALARMS

City Department Responds to Numerous Calls A number of fires were reported Thursday afternoon. At 2:30 a clock, sparks from a fire at 1004 East West street set fire to the roof; that blaze was extinguished before any damage was done. At 7 o'clock a trash pile on East Sixth street began to blaze, causing an alarm to be given. The moving picture machine in the Star theater started a blaze at 11 o'clock Thursday night, which was extinguished without damage, and at 11:25 o'clock the department was called to 501 Rusk street, where a blaze was started by wood rolling against a stove.

He was placed on a temporary bond of $500 and held for an examination to take place before Commissioner Dodge on Jan. 31.

CITY MAINS FLUSHEHD

Effort Made to Clear River Water From Service The fire plugs on Houston street were opened Friday afternoon and the river water which was in the mains was allowed to flow entirely out of the downtown mains so that the city could again be supplied with the clear artesian water. The plugs were opened wide and the water was sent in a stream clear across the street, which washed clean every vehicle that passed by. Each plug along the street was taken, one at a time, until a large amount of water had flowed.

"NO SECESSION" SAYS MITCHELL

Mine Workers' President Believes in Loyalty of Men

By Associated Press. INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 26.—The convention of the United Mine Workers of America reconvened today for the purpose of deciding upon what course the miners will take following the refusal of the operators to admit the Southwest delegates to joint conference. This territory includes the states of Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Indian Territory. President Mitchell stated the object of the meeting, and Delegate McCuskey of the Southwest territory took the floor. He said if the mine workers could not force recognition of their demand, defeat would fan the flames of secession, which he said, are smoldering in the Southwest. President Mitchell said he did not believe there was much secessionist spirit in the Southwest, he said he had too much confidence in the miners of that district to believe it. They had too much good sense to take part in such steps, he said. "On account of their becoming part of us," said Mr. Mitchell, "they have secured an eight-hour day at a greater advance in wages than we in the competitive district have secured, and secession for them would be suicide."

Mr. McCuskey replied that he had not the slightest facts. He stated that the spirit of secession is rife in the West. "I don't believe it," replied President Mitchell. "I ask all delegates from west of the Mississippi whose people favor secession to stand up." Peter Hanrahy, president of Indian Territory and Kansas, made the statement that he had never heard of secession until he came to Indianapolis.

MONTANA HOPS ON PACKERS

Suit for $65,000 License Money Has Been Brought

BUTTE, Mont., Jan. 26.—County Attorney James Healy, representing the state of Montana, has begun suits against Scott, Armour's, and the Hammond packing interests to recover $65,000 alleged due as license money for the sale of oleomargarine, butter, lard and imitation cheese in the last year. It is alleged that the packing interests have shown no regard whatever for the statutes exacting the payment of license for the sale of such food articles.

BURGLARS ROB SOUTH SIDE HOME

Back Door Gives Entrance to Sneak Thief

The residence of Oscar C. Foshee, 202 Beesie street, was entered Thursday night by burglars and $15 in cash was stolen. The thief made his entrance through the back door and the theft occurred during the early part of the evening. Mr. Foshee says that he returned home from work rather late and that he found the back door of his house open. He then examined the interior and discovered that $15 in money had been stolen. Mr. Foshee is employed as a repair man by the Northern Texas Traction Company.

Colds

A cold is always the result of undue exposure to low temperatures. The rapid cooling of the surface, when not balanced by proper reaction, produces the congestion and inflammation of the nasal and bronchial membranes, commonly called a cold. As the slightest cold predisposes the individual to attacks of the most severe and dangerous character, the necessity for its quick cure need not be emphasized. Take as soon as the first indication of the cold appears and all dangerous results will be avoided. It not only cures a cold quickly but counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia. This fact has been fully proven during the epidemics of colds and grip of the past few years. No case of either of these diseases having resulted in pneumonia when this remedy was used, has ever been reported to the manufacturers or come to their notice, which shows conclusively that it is not only the best and quickest cure for a cold, but a certain preventive of that dangerous disease—pneumonia.

There is no danger in giving this remedy to children as it contains no opium or other harmful drug. It is pleasant to take.

SOUTHERN CATTLE MARKETED EARLY

Mild Winter Causes Favorable Outlook

Cattle from the southern part of the state are beginning to come in and it is surmised that there will be a lot shipped from now on and the cattle show up in good fix, their condition indicating that grass, weeds and other truck are at their best. The cattle coming are all grass fed. Blocker and Ford had on the market from their ranch on the Texas-Mexican railroad, forty-five miles from Laredo eleven cars, all fine steers, three and four, which brought $2.80. J. J. Wilder of Sinton had four cars which the Cassidy Southwestern company sold for $2.85, steers averaging 1,400 pounds. Ford the men in charge of the cattle it was learned that range and cattle are extra good and shipment are earlier than usual this year. Everything that stock feed on down there is in abundance, and in addition the "tallow weed," which has never been there heretofore, is flourishing this year. In fact, this weed that cattle love so well has made its appearance this year in a larger number of localities and spread over a greater territory than ever before. Water is plentiful, all "water holes" being full at this time. In the immediate vicinity it is estimated that cattle for market are short, compared to last year, about 20 or 25 per cent.

The Abilene Country
J. F. Drane, who hails from Abilene, the stirring capital of Taylor county, was in the city this week and like all the inhabitants of that grass land country was willing to speak a good word for his country. What has been said by others in the column heretofore relative to the prosperous condition of the west, the fine condition of the grass and the good crops raised by the stock farmers of Taylor county, were repeated by Mr. Drane with emphasis, and as the Deanna's creek country was given its meed of praise, he did not forget to add a good word for the Lytle creek and Elm Fork localities. In fact, he said they were all so good that seeing one it would be believed impossible for another to be its equal until the other was in its turn visited. Mr. Drane had cattle on the market, and from all appearances he was a rustler and a hustler in addition. Such men always have something good to tell and are willing that the papers shall impart this to others.

Feeding in Territory
Cap. Hampton is feeding 400 head of steers at Wynnewood, L. T. He passed through Fort Worth Wednesday from his home in Gateville, Coryell county, to his feeding grounds and said: "We had a cold rain in Coryell Sunday and Monday instead of the snow that seems to have fallen upon you, and it chilled and hurt the cattle considerably. Everything was going along nicely before and it is hoped that the shortness of the spell will tend to do only the minimum amount of harm and that cattle will soon recover the lost ground."

Feeding at Houston
"Yes, I am from Houston," said J. B. De Moss, "the 'Bayou City,' and am a stock raiser, feeder and commission man. I am feeling a good string at the Merchants and Planters Oil mill in Houston and will have them in fine condition for your market a little later, I am only up here looking over the market and to see if my friends, Evans-Montague, can interest me to the extent of selling me some stock. My partner is H. B. Rice, the present mayor of Houston, whom you know well when he was a boy. My ranch is down on Clear creek in the border lands of Harris county, for you know that creek is the dividing line between Harris and Galveston counties.

"Rice's ranch is west of Houston between Brays and Buffalo bayous, both ranches being out on the big prairie. Not having had our usual amount of rain, the grass, which is all sage, is better than usual and cattle are in fair condition in consequence. The cattle which have been ranging in the bottom land have done better, and are in very good fix. The range is being cut up and is being turned into rice farming, for you know we have become a rice producing people of late years. There is plenty of land left, however, and there are plenty of cattle yet, but hardly so much shipping stuff as last year.

Travis County Stock Farmer
R. M. Castleman, who is a resident of Travis county, and makes his habit in the city of Austin, is paying a visit to J. J. Wilder, J. J. Mitchell, a well known and popular salesman at the Live Stock Exchange, at his residence in Belknap street. He will remain in the city a thousand days. Mr. Castleman is an old resident of Travis county and is at present engaged in stock raising, raising cattle, mules and horses. He has several places, one near Manor and one of 2,000 acres on the Colorado below Austin. He has 1,000 acres in cultivation and gives strict attention to the business. The country was never in better fix, he says, in his experience than it is now, and money matters are easy. Plenty of eastern capital is seeking investment, but the show is on the other foot, stock farmers are doing well and everybody to borrow instead of somebody looking them up to ask a loan. Stock of all kinds are doing well and everything promises an abundant and prosperous year ahead. Have had plenty of rain.

Some Territory Toppers
Silverstein & Cockrell, the well known stock raisers, have a large string of feeders at Rush Springs, L. T., and in addition have a thousand head of hogs following their feeders, were on the market Wednesday, with a car of toppers which were sold for $5.00. While this firm are cattlemen straight they realize the benefits of economic handling of stock and by utilizing the droppings of the steers at feed in the manner they do, make certain a profit whatever the market may be. Everything is in very good shape up at Rush Springs and cattle are doing well now, and every indication points to an early spring and a brisk business in cattle country than usual. E. Cockrell attends to the ranch interests of the firm.

The Indian Territory
Louis G. Barefoot of Chickasha was rounded up in the office of Campbell Brothers & Rosson and requested to state what he knew of conditions in his bailiwick, to which he cheerfully replied:
"There is nothing new or startling but there are some things that might interest the readers of your paper. The Washita river valley is one of the finest in the country and at one time was the cowman's paradise, but now it has all been turned into stock farms and only the uplands are left with grass for cows. The valley grass was mesquite and the upland that rank sage that you have seen. This sage grass is good for stock up to June, and they do well on it. This is the way cowmen manage it to get the best

Alum baking powders are detrimental to health. In most foreign countries their sale is prohibited. Robbery Cases Remanded to Jail by Judge Muse at Dallas

DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 25.—The habeas corpus hearings of Ed Truelove, George Warren and Bob Wyatt (white), Mattie Hamilton, a white woman, and Clint Lee, a negro man, charged by indictment with robbery by force of arms, were heard this morning by Judge Muse of the district criminal court, and the prisoners remanded to jail without bond.

These cases were made in connection with the robbery of J. W. Lackey of Holly Springs, Miss., as was reported in The Telegram. The man reported to the police that he had been relieved of $400 in money in the reservation district of this city and dragged, after which he recovered consciousness lying on an embankment. A portion of the money was restored to Mr. Lackey through the police department.

Under the law as passed by the last legislature the death penalty may be inflicted for robbery by force of firearms upon conviction.

ON LECTURE TOUR

President Boaz of Polytechnic Off to Baird and Godley
President H. A. Boaz of Polytechnic College is in Abilene, Friday morning he delivered a lecture before the Callahan County Teachers' Association. Friday night he will lecture at Baird and Saturday at Godley.

When you pay 15 cents for 3 five-cent cigars, you pay just 5 cents for the 3 cigars and 10 cents for the three useless heads:

And it's just like dropping that extra dime in the street. For it's that little head you clip off and throw away which takes the time and skill and costs the money in the making of a cigar.

OLD VIRGINIA CHEROOTS

Package of 3 for 5 Cents
(A cheroot is a cigar made without the head)

The Old Virginia Cheroot is an extra-good, clean, satisfying smoke. But it's more: It's a bargain. Simply because you don't have that useless head to pay for. The filler is the same tobacco used in good 5-cent cigars, but the small leaves and perfect clippings—a uniform blend of five different selected grades of fine domestic tobacco, combining the rich, definite strength of one grade with the sweet, mellow mildness of another to produce the quality which characterizes every one of the 1,000,000 Old Virginia Cheroots smoked every day.

results for their cattle. One-half the pasture is set aside about the 1st or 15th of March, owing to conditions, and burned over. When the young grass comes on the stock are turned on and on the 1st of May or thereabout the other half of the pasture is burned over. The grass on the first burn by June 1st is in the best shape for the cattle and the cattle move over onto the new burn, where the grass is young and tender. Thus stock get the benefit of tender grass and fatten easily. After June the grass is so rank and tough that it does stock no good. There is no doubt among stock men that in a short time stock farmers will have disposed of their cattle and will come back to buy steers to feed and will devote their whole energies to raising a sufficient amount of food for their purposes. In fact, while I was coming down one stock farmer told me that he was going to ship all his stock to market and buy 200 head of feeders, and instructed me to look up about one hundred for him while I was here in Fort Worth. The Indians have had their allotments, of course, and as a rule selected the valley lands, but it is believed that it will only be a short time before they will be allowed to dispose of them to whom they please. "What about steehead? Well, we all believe that it will come about the end of this term of congress, say June or July, and will be joint steehead."

Merkel Section Needs Rain
O. A. Smith, who hails from the thriving little city of Merkel, Taylor county, was a visitor at the stock yards Wednesday with a couple of cars of cows. He was getting a little dry with them and that while some were breaking up land, others were waiting on rain—depended on the character of the soil. Grass was very good, indeed, and cattle were getting along nicely. None of the snow that fell heavy on the hills north of Abilene, but it was cold, with strong wind. His place is northwest of Merkel, near Front, and is in a fine section for cattle. Land is fast passing into the hands of the farmer, who will be the cattle producer of the future.

Stock Interests Dead
D. W. Dupre, an officer in the First National Bank of Marshall, Texas, was in the city Monday, visiting his brother, who is connected with the Cassidy Southwestern Commission Company. Mr. Dupre when requested to state what were the conditions in his county generally and in particular relative to stock, said: "I am not, of course, what you would call a stockman per se, but as you know everybody in Texas who is in business is from the condition of things more or less interested in any product of our state that tends to the upbuilding of the legitimate industries and especially is this the case with the bankers, who generally have to finance most of them. The stock interests in our county are practically dead. This year we made a failure in crops, not harvesting more than one-third the usual yield. This, with respect to cotton, was caused by the attacks of the boll weevil, which first attacked us last year. We have nothing to feed stock on and they are all being shipped out of the county, even the mules and horses. You must realize that because of the conditions surrounding our farming interests there are not any stock farmers nor until these conditions are removed can we expect to have any."

Breeding Angora Goats
R. L. Witte & Sons of Kinney county are among the well-known and most extensive breeders of Angora goats in the state, their ranch being situated eight miles northeast from Brackett, five miles from the town of Kinney. The hills and mountains and affords a fine range of such vegetation as goats are peculiarly fascinated with. They have 2,500 head in their herd, which gives them a handsome income every year. To add to the purity and reputation of their herd, they have just imported from South Africa a bill of the purest strain, which cost them $1,700, and have installed him safely in the central headquarters of their ranch. This would seem to the uninitiated an enormous price to pay for a single goat, but to one acquainted with the value of the Angora goat, both as a meat producer and a shearer, the price paid will not seem excessive.

R. C. Sanderson, who has a large and well-stocked ranch in Howard county, eight miles from Big Springs, has been visiting the city and questioned as to matters and things out his way, said: "What The Telegram's correspondent says is perfectly true about that country. Stock of every kind is doing well—better than usual at this time of the year, and the range is as fine as good grass can make it; never was better. Howard county and the counties lying to the south of us have fine bodies of land that are suitable for stock farming and are being sold rapidly to a good class of people and with the ability of the country to produce enormous crops of grain and roughness, together with cotton, the prospects are bright for this being among the best parts of Texas. Along the North Concho and its tributaries there is water sufficient for considerable irrigation, as has been already demonstrated by actual application, and the truck produced is something wonderful and most all of it is marketed in Big Springs.

"The people of our county are determined to have railroad connection with San Angelo, ninety miles away, and are pressing the matter to a conclusion. The country is filling up rapidly and to get stock and other things to market rapidly a railroad is a necessity. A road built through Howard county from Big Springs southeast to Glasscock county and through the northeast part of that county to the North Concho in Sterling county would from there into San Angelo have an easy route, with few heavy grades and in sight of the Concho every mile and through as beautiful and productive a valley as can be found in Texas, and as a health resort cannot be surpassed. We will have the road, you may be sure, for committees have been appointed to raise bonuses and obtain rights of way and there is no doubt as to the success of the plan. We expect to have the road within the next two years and it will be another feeder to Fort Worth and its great live stock market."

Cattle Are Scarc
M. H. Young, a stockman from Bastrop county, came in Monday with several cars of feeders in good condition, which brought fair prices. Nothing of importance, he said, could be reported from his section except that cattle were scarce and feed high. There are no big pastures left down there and cattle are either shipped in to be fed or are bought from the farmers and small stockmen. The winter has been comparatively mild, but with plenty of rain; grass has been hurt to some extent by this.

In Southwest Texas
Mark W. Hovenkamp, a well-known Tarrant county stockman, recently returned from Southwest Texas, where he had gone as far as Laredo, looking after the condition of marketable cattle. He says that everything down along the route he went, at Cotulla, Envinial, etc., was very fine and grass and cattle everything that the most capricious could wish for. Cattle have already begun to move to market and although there is a scarcity of stock still there will be fairly good shipments. Lands are being rapidly disposed of at good prices and the one-time ranch country is rapidly taking on the appearance of all agricultural communities. Mr. Hovenkamp will return south in a day or two.

Refused to Shave Man He Thought a Negro—Courts Sustain Act

MUSKOGEE, I. T., Jan. 26.—The jury in the Southern district sitting at Eufula returned a verdict for the defendant in the suit of Leonard Hall against George Mays, a Dustin barber.

Mays, in his answer admitted everything charged but declared he at the time believed Hall to be a negro, a belief he had not varied even at the time of the trial.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

BENJAMIN R. TILLMAN.

Age 58; born South Carolina. Enlisted in Confederate army, but saw no service, because of fever, from which he lost one eye.

Planter until 1856, when he entered public life.

Elected democratic governor in 1850 and 1852.

In United States senate since 1857.

Author of the South Carolina dispensary system under which the state sold liquor.

Named "Pitchfork" Tillman for his fierce attack on President Cleveland in the senate.

In 1902 struck his colleague, Senator McLaughlin, for giving him the lie during a senate debate.

This incident caused President Roosevelt to formally withdraw an invitation previously extended to Tillman to attend a White House dinner to Prince Henry of Prussia.

Brilliant orator and very popular in the south.

BULL FIGHTER IS IN MONASTERY

Grief Drives Spanish Toreador Into Seclusion

MADRID, Jan. 26.—Louis Mazzantini, the most famous bull fighter in Spain, intends to enter the cloister of the Augustine friars of the Escorial, Mazzantini is heartbroken over the death of his wife, which occurred recently in Mexico.

Mazzantini began life as a country railway porter, and for a long time he had a hard struggle with poverty. One day some of the youths of the village organized a Novillada, a fight with very young bulls, which is a popular sport in the small towns.

a village belle, at first objected. Mazzantini entered a traveling troupe of Novilleros, as a banderillero, the person who throws gayly colored darts into the bulls' sides before they are killed.

From that time his real triumphs began. He has won from $1,000 to $1,200 for each appearance in the ring, and repeatedly audience, driven to a frenzy of admiration by his skill, threw into the ring for him purses of money and jewels.

Mazzantini took part in 1,200 fights, and during his career has killed over 2,000 bulls. Eleven times he has been injured, on six occasions seriously. He has rescued many of his fellow bull fighters from death.

Mazzantini has cleared about $3,000,000 in salary and presents by his career in the ring. He is a favorite in Madrid society, where he is always a guest of honor. He is a favorite among them as the "aristocrat of the bull ring." He was always devoted to his wife.

of the governor to secure an order supporting an order of the interstate commerce commission making it incumbent upon the defendant railroads to change their rates on live stock and dressed meats from Missouri river points to Chicago. Among the grounds alleged in the proceedings are the following:

That the court erred in deciding that the bill or petition of the interstate commerce commission should be dismissed.

In not rendering a decree in favor of the enforcement of the commission's order.

In holding that the rates on live stock involved in the case are reasonable.

In holding that the cost of carrying live stock from the points alleged to be carrying dressed meats and packing house products.

In holding that the rates in question were the result of bona fide competition.

In holding that the evidence shows in substantially all cases that the fact of competition alone controls the rate.

The assignment is signed by District Attorney Morrison and Attorney L. A. Shaver, and S. H. Cox, of the interstate commerce commission.—Chicago Drivers' Journal.

Cattlemen Are Pleased

While city folk grumble at the muddy crossings, the cattlemen of El Paso county and southern New Mexico are wearing broad and ecstatic grins.

Moisture such as this is working wonders for the range.

The abundant moisture which will follow the melting snow will irrigate the range and insure an abundance of early vegetation. The cattle are already taking on a prosperous appearance as a result of the prospects of abundant grazing facilities at no distant day.

With the storms prevailing in this county and adjoining counties on the east there has not been a sufficient amount of cold weather to injure the stock in the least.

"This is fine weather," declared W. M. Turney, one of the largest ranchmen of Brewster county and president of the state cattle growers' association. "It continues for a month, and I won't care."

For the sheep growers of New Mexico, two or three hundred miles north of this city, the effect of the storm has been less beneficial.

From all districts in central New Mexico comes reports of heavy losses of sheep. The losses have been heaviest along the line of the Rock Island-Northwestern, where the snows have been deepest, and where storms have been raging at intervals for several weeks.

Because of the excellent condition of the range in some of the storm-bound regions, the losses have been much less than they would otherwise have been. Good grazing throughout the summer and fall had placed the stock in a better condition and they were prepared to weather a severe winter. The loss of grass, from the drifting snow, has been a serious problem, however, and has in several districts been forced to a prohibitive price, making it difficult for the ranchmen to feed their flocks.

From a point N. M., for a distance of 200 miles north, the snow has been deepest and the deaths in that district have reached a serious total. Near Corona, Ancho and other points all the efforts of the sheepmen have been of no avail in warding off losses.

Near Alamogordo there have also been some losses. Efforts which have been made to move the sheep farther south have been unsuccessful, because of the condition of the range and the branches of small trees have been cut to serve as fodder for the sheep.—El Paso Herald.

Make Rapid Progress

The stock raisers of Mexico are making rapid advancement in the improvement of their herds. The importation of fine blooded stock, both horses and cattle, is improving the stock of the republic very materially. The country is soon to be a competitor of the United States in the foreign market.

The climate in the foreign market is in the winter the best for the cattle and horses and very fine for the cattle and horses and in the winter they are grazed in the low lands and, consequently, are not retarded in developing by the colds of winter. The cattle of the country, also, are exceptionally free from fever and ticks. They are grown up with cheap care and attention, and with cheap transportation will soon be found in abundance in the foreign markets.

A recent purchase of 50 head of the Lyke Bros. of Havana, Cuba, found the Lyke Bros. for the prices in the state better than on the plains of the west. Our sister republic is coming to the front in the live stock trade.—Eagle Pass Guide.

Royal in October

The following directors were elected at the annual meeting of the American Royal Live Stock association, Kansas City: C. R. Thomas, Eugene Rust and William McLaughlin, Kansas City; Clayton Harris, Mo.; T. J. Worsey, formerly in charge of seab work in the Dakotas and Montana, has been appointed to the new place, with headquarters in Denver. He will have general supervision of field work in the west, and questions arising between those in charge in the various sections of the west, between inspectors of the two inspectors and stock owners, railroads and sanitary boards, will be referred to him. These questions and others which may arise and which require the attention of some one other than the inspector or agent in charge of a district, will be taken up by Dr. Ramsey, and decided once. It must be consulted before any new work or the extension of any work on hand is undertaken.

The appointment of Dr. Ramsey is said to be the result of the request of long standing for a special representative of the bureau in the west.

Lease Price High

CHAMBERLAIN, S. D., Jan. 26.—The lease price on lands west of the Missouri river in this state is from 10 to 15 cents per acre in Gregory county, according to location; in Lawrence 10 cents, in Stanley and Lyman 8 and 7 cents in all the rest of that part of the state. East of the Missouri river the rate runs from $1 in Union county to 8 cents in the northern tier of counties. The terms of lease are three years in the southern and eastern parts of the state and five years in the western. The cattle men say that at this very small per cent per acre they have never in a normal year for what they get from the lands. In the eastern part of the state where farming is carried on the leased lands prove very much more profitable and are eagerly sought after. The sale of much public school lands this year has diminished the tract in the state greatly. In five years it is estimated there will be no more public leasing of lands.

Appealed the Case

The United States supreme court will pass judgment on United States Circuit Judge Betha's recent decision in the case of the interstate commerce commission against the Chicago Great Western Railway Company and sixteen similar corporations. Judge Betha yesterday granted District Attorney Morrison's petition for an appeal. The case went to trial on a motion

YOUNG MOTHER IS TO HANG

Mary Ann Legg Is the Law's Next Victim

KILLED HER HUSBAND

"Women Make No Difference to Me," Says Attorney General

Special to The Telegram.

CLAY, W. Va., Jan. 27.—A mountain child of nature, Mary Ann Legg, is about to furnish another "hangman's holiday." West Virginia is preparing to follow the example set by Vermont and legally slay a young mother, bequeathing a heritage of shame to her innocent children. She has been convicted of murdering her husband.

Waiting in an agony of impatience the final decision of the supreme court on March 6, Mary Ann Legg is eating her heart out in a filthy little log jail.

Passionately Fond of Life

Sarah Ann Legg grew up in God's outdoors, untaught. She was a mother, although unweaned, at 15. She married Jay Legg, a plain, hardworking lumberman, who took her and her fatherless child to his home. By him she was also a mother. She was 25. She went to school just long enough to learn to spell out words.

Slim and awkward, with wind-roughened skin, and dark, she looks more like an ungainly school girl than a woman held for the gravest of crimes. Yet she chews tobacco. She "trabs" snuff. She would laugh at a woman who believed in marital faithfulness. Her oaths are appalling.

The Tragedy

With her husband and two little children Mrs. Legg lived at Log Shoals on the Elk river when Jay Legg was killed. On Feb. 10, 1904, Jay Legg came home from work in the afternoon and found his wife sitting by the hearth, the fire almost out and nothing to eat.

George Dickey, a younger brother of Mrs. Legg, was in the house. He had some meal from a neighbor and on her return found Mrs. Legg supporting her husband, who was dead from a gunshot wound in the breast. The boy Dickey had been awakened by the report of the gun and had run for help.

Mrs. Legg accused her son's wife of firing the fatal shot.

Claims Accident

"Yes, yes! I did it; it was an accident!" Sarah Ann Legg answered as she wiped the torrent of blood from her husband's breast.

There had been two men at the house the night before, in Legg's absence, and they, with young Dickey, were playing the banjo and violin.

Sarah Ann Legg was arrested and taken to jail before her husband's body was cold. The mother-in-law, Mrs. Susan Legg, took the boy Dickey, Sherman—whom she had tried to get before—and Sarah Ann Legg has never seen her child since. Her sister, Pebecca Dickey, took the little girl Donna.

Standing in her dark cell with her eyes fixed wistfully on the mountain tops, Sarah Ann Legg declares:

"Before God, I didn't kill Jay!"

Waiting on the Court

Sarah Ann Legg was sentenced to hang on July 7, 1905. Judge Samuel Burdette pronounced the sentence with tears streaming down his face. Mrs. Legg's little girl stood at her knee and heard the words that meant an ignominious death for her young mother. Mrs. Legg's counsel, A. J. Horan and T. O. Horan, secured a writ of error which acts as a stay of execution until the supreme court can pass on the case.

There is very little feeling about the case in West Virginia. Poor Sarah Ann Legg, who has "never been out of Clay county" in her bright life, is forgotten like a rat in a trap.

"Too Many Criminals"

"There are too many criminals—we need to exterminate a few of them," said David W. May, attorney general of West Virginia, who will represent the state in this supreme court. "It doesn't make any difference to me whether they are men or women, either."

Governor W. M. O. Dawson, a gentle, kindly man, whose home life is happily, shrinks from even thinking of the part he may be called on to play in Mrs. Legg's execution.

"I believe in upholding the law, of course," he said hesitatingly, when asked if he would allow this blot on the honor of West Virginia, "but—but"—he frowned and answered earnestly—"I hope it will never be my duty to say whether this woman shall live or die! I hope it will never come to me!"

KENOSHA, Wis., Jan. 25.—Despite the recent contributions of thirty square inches of cuticle offered up on a recent Sunday night by the members of the Pleasant Prairie Methodist church, Fred Augustus, the hero who was burned while rescuing men from the Laffin-Rand Powder works, is in a very poor condition, and his physicians have sent out notice that unless 200 square inches more is immediately forthcoming to cover his burned legs he must die. At a meeting held today he must die. At a meeting held today he must die.

blended with lace and touches of velvet but there is almost no limit to be set to the possibilities of the model. The lines of the front give the becoming tapering effect while there is also a deep girle that can be of the material or of some soft silk in the same shade as may be preferred. Radium silk, chiffon, messaline, crepe de Chine and silk all are suitable and in every way wool materials of the season is used for the separate waist or for the entire gown.
The foundation is a fitted lining and on this lining are arranged the chest, the full fronts and the full back, the closing being made invisibly at the back. The blouse is in three-quarter length, shirred in a decidedly novel and most effective manner, and are finished with frills of the material.
The quantity of material required for the medium size is 3 1/2 yards 21, 3 1/2 yards 27 or 1 1/2 yards 44 inches wide with 1 yard of all-over lace, 3 1/2 yards of banding and 4 yards of lace for frills.
The pattern 5264 is cut in sizes for a 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inch bust measure.

so they say. And there I shall lead you by the hand into a little marble, many pillared temple, open to the world within a pool, a wishing well. And you shall look therein and I, and we shall see fresh mirrored on its surface—the faces of our loves. Shall we do all this, monsieur?
I could but bend my head, for her stern voice had woven round my faculties a spell of charmed silence, and not one of Circe's victims were ever more powerless than then was I. It was early in the morning of an absolutely perfect day. Of the river, the wistful scenery, I knew but noted little, for I looked only upon her face. This I knew she seemed to love me, and her mood was yielding and submissive to the point of tenderness. As I roved, she sang to me the sweetest songs of France and Italy, and love songs all.
We came at noon to the pretty little island she foretold. We both ate heartily, and we pledged each other often in champagne. Afterward we found her resting on a bench, and she and I were our journeying that twilight had already fallen as we passed by Staines. About that time I noticed that Marion maintained a longer silence than her wont.
Soon at her word I shipped the scull and allowed the craft to drift. The silence afterward was full of brooding melancholy. It was a miserable ending to so glorious a day.
The absence of her command to seek the shore. We landed upon a long green sloping bank. She laid her hand upon mine and drew me then into a very gloomy little dell entirely girt with trees. I wondered vaguely at her action and her cautious silence. Yes, she said, I obeyed her wish, and waited on her mood.
For a moment she kept very still, and then she put her hands upon my breast.
"You love me," she said simply. I clasped my hands on hers and answered, "Yes."
"How much?" she whispered—very low.
"More, Marion, than life."
"And you respect me?"
"More reverently than death."
"What do you wish of me?"
"Your love."
"What will you give for it?"
"All that I can."
"And you suffer for it? What?"
"All that you ask."
"Then kiss me, Agnes."
I bent my head and pressed my lips to hers. Her lips were cool. But the contact set my blood on fire and I caught her in my arms, and strained her to my breast. She shivered in my clasp and deeply sighed, but I rained hot kisses on her cheeks, and eyes, and lips passionately, striving to warm her with my passion, for I knew that she was cold, and unresponsive too, in spite of her surrender.
So another week elapsed, and a third began. My master's life no longer stood in any danger. It seemed also that his suspicions had long ago been utterly eradicated. Sometimes I wondered if his penetrating insight had remarked my love for Marion.
One morning Marion came to me and said: "Monsieur, Sir Charles Venner, who has just departed, has ordered me to take a holiday tomorrow."
"I trust, mademoiselle, that you will enjoy yourself," I murmured in a trembling voice.
She gave me a swift, shy glance, that cast down her eyes, folding and unfolding her hands before her.
"How could I enjoy myself—do you think—alone?" she whispered.
"Let me go with you," I blurted out. "I am not needed here. Ah! I am mad to dream that you would condescend so far. Forgive me of your city, and forget the insolence of my presumption!"
But she clasped her hands and laughed as blithely as a child. "Will you come?" she cried.
"Then, listen. We shall go by train to Hampton, and there we shall take boat. The river is most lovely thereabouts, and you shall slowly row me up the stream toward Staines and Windsor through the hottest hours. And as you row I'll sing. And we'll forget our cares and open wide our hearts to the sunshine and to happiness without an afterthought. And when the noon comes we shall eat our lunch upon an island. And when twilight falls we shall land at the loveliest place of all. I know it well. It is an old, old park. A private park but lonely, for the house is haunted.

IN MANY GUISES

A Story of an Exciting Dash for a Fortune by an Actor-Adventurer
Copyright, 1905, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association.

SYNOPSIS
Agar Hume, a young, impoverished actor, takes employment as valet to Sir William Dagmar, who is member of a secret society of conspirators. Serving a banquet at one of the regular monthly meetings of the club, Brown, as Sir William has decided to call his valet, tells his master, in answer to a question, that he cannot understand French. The conversation being in French, Brown learns that the society sustains a hospital where, later, disguised as Sir William, he sees a wonderful surgical operation performed in which the blood of an ape is substituted for that of a man. The operation being the nineteenth and a failure, one of the members of the society present kills himself.
Venner makes an unsuccessful attempt to trap Brown in blackmailing him by the threat to reveal the facts connected with the death of the last patient and, when Venner has paid him, Brown being disguised as an old German, changes his disguise, but is followed by a private detective as he leaves the hotel where he met Venner.

"My friend," she said, and she extended me her hand. I thank you for your company, but, alas! the hours speed, and I have much to do. Good night!"
I tried to reply, but I could not. She permitted me to kiss her hand, however, and even smiled again. I left the room in a delirious of happiness, poor fool, and not one of my entranced dreams that night disclosed to me the precept upon whose brink I stood.
The days that followed were over full of strange, untried experiences for me to properly describe. Marion was by my side whenever chance allowed. But every hour she showed to me a different mood, a varied and elusive distortion of her inmost self. One moment she was sad and steeped in cold unbending gloom. Again she was both grave and friendly at a time. Sometimes, yet more infrequently, she forced upon me quarrels in caprice, to give her opportunity to scorch me with her scorn.

So another week elapsed, and a third began. My master's life no longer stood in any danger. It seemed also that his suspicions had long ago been utterly eradicated. Sometimes I wondered if his penetrating insight had remarked my love for Marion.
One morning Marion came to me and said: "Monsieur, Sir Charles Venner, who has just departed, has ordered me to take a holiday tomorrow."
"I trust, mademoiselle, that you will enjoy yourself," I murmured in a trembling voice.
She gave me a swift, shy glance, that cast down her eyes, folding and unfolding her hands before her.

"Let me go with you," I blurted out. "I am not needed here. Ah! I am mad to dream that you would condescend so far. Forgive me of your city, and forget the insolence of my presumption!"
But she clasped her hands and laughed as blithely as a child. "Will you come?" she cried.

UGLY HABITS THAT RUIN BEAUTY

(Posed by Miss Marie Nordstrom of the "Man on the Box" Company at Madison Square theater, New York.) Miss Nordstrom is an unusually pretty young woman, and in this series of photographs she has shown the result of beauty-destroying tricks in which many a girl unconsciously indulges.

BY KATHERINE LECKIE
Do you bite your lips when thinking seriously?
Do you turn up your nose with a sneer?
Do you twist your eye out of shape?
Many a really beautiful girl defaces her physical attractions by some hideous mannerism. Usually she is perfectly unconscious of it, and that does not make it any the less disgusting to onlookers.
The girl who is constantly lifting her eyebrows should overcome the habit. It isn't pretty to stick your tongue against your upper lip. Any habit can be overcome with a bit of care and thought. Each time you realize that you are resorting to an ugly mannerism, quickly remember that you are making yourself hideous. If you forsake the first time, don't let that discourage you, but the next time that you catch yourself stop it short.

No. 1—The young girl, who, in a moment of thought or abstraction, rests her face down on her hand, drawing the skin out of shape, is developing wrinkles in that face that cannot be smoothed out by years of massage or restorative care.
No. 2—Very few girls have a really beautiful nose, but it is only the foolish ones who don't make the most of the one Dame Nature bestowed upon them. The truly wise girl doesn't sniff, sneeze or twist her nose, for the very reason she understands that by such a habit she is ruining her natural beauty.
No. 3—Distorting your mouth and your eyes while meditating is as unattractive as it is harmful. A common practice consists of drawing the mouth to one side. This forces the eyelids out of natural position, wrinkles the face and makes the mouth pudgy and ugly.

No. 4—A girl may be a goddess of loveliness, but it won't stand being disfigured by the tongue habit. The tongue would not be abused by pressing the upper lip down or by moistening the lips. The result is chapped or cracked lips, which, aside from being painful, are homely in the extreme. It also disfigures the natural beauty lines of the mouth.
No. 5—The coquette's mannerisms among women, and one which is a sure beauty-destroyer, is biting the lips. This is especially the habit of the nervous woman.
The woman lip-biter develops an uneven mouth with color unduly red and freckled. Lip-biting induces wrinkles around the mouth as age increases.
A cure suggested for this disastrous and vulgar habit is nine hours regular sleep each day, regular meals and a lessening to the minimum of the nerve-racking habits of life.

SORES-ULCERS THE BLOOD DISEASED SYSTEM DISORDERED

When a Sore or Ulcer is slow in healing it is the best evidence of a diseased condition of the blood and a disordered system. They show that the bodily impurities, which should pass off through the natural channels of nature, are being retained in the system from some cause. The blood absorbing the waste matters becomes steeped in poison which finds an outlet through the Sore or Ulcer, keeping it inflamed, painful and festering. As the blood constantly discharges its poison into these places, they eat deeper into the surrounding flesh and tissues, growing larger and more offensive in spite of all the sufferer can do, until the entire health is affected. Washes, salves, powders and such treatment are desirable for the reason that they are cleansing and also help to relieve the pain, but they are in no way curative. The blood is filled with poison, and until it is removed the sore cannot heal. S. S. S. is the only cure for these evidences of impure blood. It goes down to the root of the trouble and cleanses the circulation of all poisons and impurities. S. S. S. enriches the blood and reinvigorates the different members of the body so that the impurities and waste matters can pass off as nature intended. Then the discharge ceases, the sore scabs over, new flesh is formed, and the place heals permanently. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice you need without charge.

Subject to the action of the Democratic primaries.

FOR SHERIFF
The Telegram is authorized to announce JOHN T. HONEA as a candidate for sheriff of Tarrant county for a third term; subject to the action of the democratic party.

LEGAL NOTICE
The State of Texas, in the District Court, Tarrant County, Texas, February Term, A. D. 1926. To the Sheriff or Any Constable of Tarrant County, Greeting:

You are Herby Comanded, That, by making publication of this citation in some newspaper published in the county of Tarrant four weeks previous to the return day hereof, you summon Bug Gaines, whose residence is unknown, to be and appear before the district court, to be held in and for the county of Tarrant, at the court house thereof, in the city of Fort Worth, on the second Monday in February, A. D. 1926, the same being the 12th day of said month, then and there to answer the petition of Lucy Gaines, as plaintiff, filed in said court on the 11th day of July, A. D. 1925, against Bug Gaines as defendant, said suit numbered 2437, the nature of which demand is as follows, to-wit: Plaintiff sues for divorce, alleging three years' abandonment and cruel treatment on defendant's part; that about three years ago (after said abandonment) defendant met plaintiff and without cause on plaintiff's part, struck her a severe blow across the eye and head, all rendering their father living together as husband and wife insupportable.

Wherefore, plaintiff prays for citation by publication to defendant for a decree dissolving said marriage, judgment for all costs and $25 attorney's fees and general and special relief. Herein fail not, but have you then and there before said court this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness, JNO. A. MARTIN, Clerk of the District Court of Tarrant County.

Given under my hand and seal of said court in the city of Fort Worth, Texas, this 15th day of January, A. D. 1926.

(Seal) JNO. A. MARTIN, Clerk District Court, Tarrant County, Texas.

By C. N. HIETT, Deputy.
