John Larsen, boatswain's mate, managed to make his escape from the yacht yesterday and telephone the police. Six officers later overpowered Neilsen, who was sent to a hospital for obser-

English Manufacturers Want New Field

LONDON, May 17.—A large and important deputation interested in the cotton industry of Lancashire interviewed Premier Campbell-Bannerman at the foreign office today, relative to the necessity for the opening of new sources of supply. Members of the deputation emphasized the fact that the cotton trade is in a dangerous position. They pointed out that Great Britain is dependent on America for 75 per cent of her supply of raw material and, therefore, it is absolutely necessary to broaden the sources of supply, The only possible salvation, it was declared, lay in North Nigeria, but railways were indispensable. The premier was very sympathetic, but said he could not commit the government to any promises. He was ready, however, to favorably consider any scheme for railroad construction involving reasonable governmental assistance.

Special to The Telegram. CHICAGO, May 17.-The Tribune this morning published the following from "Raymond," its Washington correspondent, in answer to the attack made upon his veracity by Senator

Washington, May 16.-When the Hon. Joseph W. Bailey, senator from Texas, struck at the President of the United States over my humble shoulder, for that is all he did on the floor of the senate today, he apparently was unaware that there was documentary evidence in existence both in the official Congressional Record and in the form of written memorandum by former Senator William E. Chandler, absolutely proving that he was not only an object of suspicton, but that his motives and his acts in the democratic conference, in the democratic caucus ,on the floor of the senate and in conference between Tillman and Moody and through Mr. Chandler with the President, gave rise to the suspicion that he was not true to the principle of railroad rate regulation, is clear from the Record itself, and can not be successfully denied. Mr. Bailey may be as innocent as a babe unborn, and he says he is, but the suspicions did exist, they have existed for weeks, they have been talked of in the cloakrooms of the senate, on the streets, at the White House and elsewhere. They have been mentioned in many newspapers, and if they have not been justified, Mr. Bailey is unfortunate and his character should be relieved from aspersions.

First of all, let me quote William E. Chandler, formerly a senator from New Hampshire, now the president of  the Spanish claims committee. He is the personal friend of Senator Tillman. He was the intermediary between Tillman and the President. Which ever of the two originated the negotiations, Chandler certainly conducted them. It was his evidence which has twice been cited by Mr. Tillman on the floor of the senate, and it is Chandler who in effect has given the lie direct to the President. In the dispatch sent by me on Monday to the Tribune, which aroused such a tempest in the senate this afternoon, and which provoked Senator Bailey to declare it to be a malicious lie and to insinuate it was directly inspired by the President himself. I stated facts on the authority of Mr. Chandler himself. It was he who conveyed to the White House the information that Bailey was a traitor, and if the Texas senator has anyone to blame it must be Tillman's friend, William E. Chandler.

"In the very outset of the negotiations he was conducting, Chandler prepared and left at the White House a written memorandum for the benefit of the President. I haven't the text of that memorandum before me, but quoting from memory, it says: 'The railroad senators want the Bailey amendment, but Tillman is for the President's court review amendment and will block their game.' "This is nearly a literal quotation, but no one could have the text probably without the permission of the Presi-

"The dispatch I sent to the Tribune was telegraphed on my own authority and without the knowledge or consent Bailey trained his batteries today and not against me. I have not seen the President since the dispatch was written and I have not asked him for the text of this memorandum of William E. Chandler, because the text could at best add only a few words to the quotation I have given. I know I am correct in the statement that during the course of the negotiations William E. Chandler, who since has accused the President of falsehood, made an oral reply either to the President himself | since last November.

or someone representing him, which was more specific. During the week Mr. Chandler in explaining the difficulties in securing unanimous action by the democrats, said in so many words that he and Tillman were suspicious of Bailey, believing he was in an alliance with Aldrich and associating with the Standard Oil and railroad crowd in the senate, but that Tillman was watching his maneuvers and expected to be able to prevent any evil effects.

"These were the suspicions to which alluded in the previous dispatch as having constantly existed and as having influenced the administration beyond all doubt in dropping the negotiations with Tillman, through Chandler, and renewing the efforts to unite the republicans on a reasonable compromise basis."

In NEW YORK TRIBUTE Correspondent Gives Text of Alleged Memoranda

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, May. 17 .- The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune, commenting in the Tribune on the senate incident, gives the memorandum mentioned by the correspondent of the Chicago Tribune. The text follows:

Mr. President: The game of the railroad senators is to support Bailey's amendment and induce him to agree to a broad right of review. What that is to be is not certain, but the principal object is to beat him (mentioning the President). Mr. Tillman, however; considers himself as acting with the President to pass the review clause with the minimum amount of court power, and will not enter into any such game. WM. E. CHANDLER.

The Tribune correspondent continues: "Mr. Bailey drew from the fact that the Chicago Tribune and the New York Tribune had published these rumors, the wholly erroneous conclusion that they emanated from the White House. "The fact is, the writer of this morning's dispatch had not seen nor communicated with the President or with anyone connected with the White House for more than a week. "The report of course was in circulation on the democratic side of the senate yesterday, precisely as was stated by the Tribune's correcpondent, and it surprising, to put it mildly, that Mr. Bailey did not hear it. It is noteworthy. however, that Mr. Bailey did not deny any part of the Tribune's dispatch, but contented himself with hurling the fearful epithet, 'cuckoo,' at the Tribune's correspondent. "It is a further fact that a copy of the memorandum alleged to have been signed by Mr. Chandler, which is printed above, has been circulated among democrats in the senate and it was on this copy that the Tribune correspondent's assertions were based.

"The attempt on the part of Mr. Bailey in his fulminations of today to convey the impression that the President or someone close to him was responsible for the rumors which reflect on the senator's good faith to Mr. Chandler's veracity is generally accepted in the senate as merely the ebullition of that bad temper which is the most unfortunate characteristic of the senator from Texas and an evidence of his chagrin over the fact that he failed utterly to obtain for himself any credit for rate legislation. It is probable, therefore, that republican senators will completely ignore it."

Many Italians and Irish Killed in New York

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, May 17 .- According to the coroner, Peter Acretelli, lawlessness has reigned for months in the excavation which the O'Rourke Construction Company is making for the new Grand Central station and the Italian government has demanded an investigation. The coroner yesterday caused the arrest of John Eldridge, general superintendent of the O'Rourke company and held him in $1,000 bail, on a charge of homicide, following the death of Angelo Bemesi, an Italian workman. He issued subpenas for the president of the corporation and all the general foremen.

"There has been an average of two deaths a day among the employes, ever since I took office," said Coroner Acretelli last night. "For two weeks I have been investigating at the request of the Italian government, made through Consul General Count A, Rehandi Massiglia.

"I have pretty good evidence in my possession that there has been a fend between the Irish and Italian laborers. It seems that an Italian did not know how to handle dynamite. It went off and killed an Irishman. Ever since then ledges of rock have had a way of falling upon Italians. Most of the drillers are Irishmen and the Italians do the laborers' work. SYMPTOMS OF A PARASITE

Vividly Described by Suffering Victims

Special to The Telegram. ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 16 .- Nothing has done so much to arouse the people in St. Louis as the immense number of parasites or tapeworms that are being removed from individuals by a preparation known as Cooper's New

This preparation is being introduced in this city for the first time by L. T. Cooper, the young philanthropist, who has made and is making a fortune by its sale. The medicine is prepared at Dayton, Ohio, and is sold for various forms of stomach trouble. It is now being sold in St. Louis in such enormous quantities as to have caused a general discussion by physicians throughout the city.

Cooper claims that much suffering is the result of tapeworms, and stated early during his visit that the creatures were responsible for fifty per cent of all stomach trouble. This claim seems to be verified, as fully one-half of the individuals who have taken this preparation have been relieved of one of these creatures.

A reporter who spent an hour at Cooper's headquarters, secured state-ments from a number of people, who brought one of the creatures to the young man, yesterday. The following are some of these statements and are similar to all the rest.

Mr. Chas. H. Muete, living at 4031 Easton Ave., who brought with him a tapeworm about fifty feet in length, when questioned, said: "I have been in poor health for eight years. I have attributed it to my stomach, although was not certain just what was the matter with me. I felt dull most of the time and the least exertion tired me. I had a very irregular appetite and always had a coated tongue. was troubled with shortness of breath. headaches, dizziness, sleeplessness and would see specks before my eyes if I stooped over and raised up quick-

"My worse trouble was that I seemed to lack all ambition and it was difficult to attend to my business, as I always felt tired even after a night's sleep. My mind seemed dull and sluggish most of the time and I had difficulty in remembering. I have had headache a great deal and have done everything possible, but could get no

"I heard so much of this man Cooper that last Wednesday I bought a bottle of his preparation. I did not use it till yesterday, when I took two doses of it and about two hours ago a parasite left my system. I know now what made me feel so badly all these years. I consider this the most remarkable preparation I ever heard of. It has made life worth living for me once more and I am very thankful. The statement of Mr. William Bracken, of 720 Morgan St., was as follows: "I had suffered with stomach trouble for three years. I was not sick enough to be in bed, but just felt bad all the time. My greatest trouble was that I always felt tired. I would get up in the morning feeling as tired as when I went to bed. "I had a very irregular appetite and was troubled with dizzy spells. If stood for any length of time I would have a dull pain in the lower part of my back." I was nervous and felt all the time as though something terrible was going to happen. My memory has been getting bad during the past year and my eyesight is not as keen as it was. I have tried many kinds of medicines, but nothing ever helped me. "I had about given up all hope of ever being in good health again, when heard so much of Cooper and deided to try his medicines. I bought one bottle of his New Discovery, as it is called. I took just three doses of the medicine and this tapeworm. which is over seventy feet in length. left my system. I never suspected that had this thing. I feel better already nd believe I will get back some of he flesh I had lost during the past few years. I would not have that thing in me again for a thousand dollars." These statements and others like hem go far toward accounting for Cooper's immense success here and elsewhere. So far every claim made

Purchase of Large Business Is Alleged by Plaintiff

Tandy Y. Casey of Reeves county, Texas, has filed suit in the district court against W. H. Yoakum et al of Fort Worth, for the specific performance of a contract involving the alleged purchase of the J. J. Langever business at Tenth and Throckmorton

The petition in the case alleges that on April 21, 1906, J. J. Langever, who was the sole owner of the J. J. Langever Company business, sold the same to W. H. Yoakum and delivered possession to him; that afterwards on May 7, W. H. Yoakum sold, contracted to sell, deliver and convey to Mr. Casey the same business he had purchased from Mr. Langever, the consideration being 440 acres of land in Ward county, valued at $35 per acre, or $15,400, Mr. Yoakum to assume $1.95 per acre on the land due the state.

Plaintiff alleges that he has made out the deed to the land which, with the abstract of title he has tendered defendant in payment for the property, as per contract, but that defendant refuses to accept and refuses to deliver possession of the property in question. Plaintiff asks for judgment compelling defendant to comply with the alleged contract and for an injunction restraining defendant from disposing of said business or property, or any part of it, and for a receiver. The petition was filed before Judge Irby Dunklin of the Forty-eighth district court and an order was entered granting the injunction asked the same to be issued upon the plaintiff giving a bond in the sum of $5,000 payable to the defendants as their interests may appear. The application for a receiver is set for hearing in the Fortyeighth district court on May 26.

Damage Suit Michael Martin has filed suit against the Northern Texas Traction Company seeking $5,000 damages for alleged personal injuries. The petition alleges that during the month of November, 1905, the plaintiff, who was nearly blind from an eye disease, attempted to board a car on Main street for the purpose of going to St. Joseph's Infirmary, and that the car ran into him, knocking him down and causing him to receive permanent

GARFIELD MAKES CHARGE STRONGER

Full Report on Standard Oil Delivered to Congress

Specia! to The Telegram. WASHINGTON, May 17.-Full report of Commissioner of Corporations Garfield regarding the Standard Oil Company and its relations to railways, of which a synopsis was sent to congress May 4, was made public today. It was delivered to congress with a formal letter of transmittal from the President without comment. The document consists of five hundred printed pages, about a quarter of a mile of words, and presents in detail evidence of rebating and secret rating by which, among other means, the Standard was able to crush competition and pile up inordinate profits. An interesting feature of the report is a letter from Garfield replying to the statement issued by H. H. Rogers and Mr. Archibold after the publication of the original summary. It takes up every point they make and presents additional evidence tending to make the case against the Standard even stronger than originally. Garfield, referring to their statement there had been no secret rates nor unlawful discrimination in the interests of the Standard, says: "Attention is called to their use in this connection of state rates for interstate commerce; of secret state rates from Olean, N. Y., on oil destined to Vermont, and from Whiting, Ind., on oil destined to St. Louis and East St. Louis, many of which shipments continued without reloading into southwest, also to secret rate combination by way of Alexandria, La., and by way of Grand Junction, Tenn., and secret rates and direct rebates in California.

"Regarding their statement of failure of the New England roads to prorate, perhaps was blamable on roads and not on the Standard," Garfield says, "a representative of the New York, New Haven and Hartford road stated the Standard wanted the road not to pro-rate and so advised it."

Whiting, Ind., Garfield says, taking up another point they made, was included in the Chicago switching district so the Standard could get state rates on interstate shipments. Garfield also replies to statements made by railway officials. Vice President Thayer of the Pennsylvania railway declares the special rate from Olean to Rochester, N. Y., was never secret. Garfield says: "This rate was approved by Thayer on March 10, 1902. At the top of this rate order were printed in capital letters and underscored the words 'Not to be Regarding Thayer's statement blind billing was not secret, Garfield says: "It is sufficient to say this practice was discontinued by the Pennsylvania immediately after its discovery by this

BOYS ARRESTED SELLING GOODS

Six Are Given Fines and Jail Sentences

Boy robbers were caught in a neatlylaid trap by the police Wednesday night while attempting to sell stolen goods at. a junk shop in East Fourth street. There were seven boys arrested, all negroes, the oldest of whom was 13 years of age and the youngest 10 years. They were lodged in the city jail and later, Thursday, taken into the county terian church. court before Judge R. F. Milam, where six of them pleaded guilty to the charge of theft and were not only fined, but received jail sentences. Their names and sentences are: Matt Brown, $1 and one day in jail; Peter Brown, $1 and one day; George Lindsley, $20 and twenty days; Willard Gray, $5 and one day; Burnesine Fraucell, $10 and one day; Curtis Green, $1 and one day. At the police headquarters it is stated that for some time past this gang of youthful bandits has terrorized several residence sections of the city by entering homes and stealing all the brass door knobs, door bells and lead and brass fixtures and selling them to different junk dealers. Though mere boys, they escaped each time, as no names or clews were given. It was arranged lately by Officer Maben that a certain junk dealer as soon as the gang visited the store for the purpose of selling stolen goods, should keep them at the store, arguing on the price to be paid, until officers should arrive to make the arrest. This was done, Officers Denny Lloyd and Sam McGlothlin

rounding up the gang. It is stated at headquarters that every case where boys enter homes for the purpose of stealing and selling fixtures will be punished to the full extent of the law in order to break up the small bands of youngsters who, not realizing at times what they are doing, commit grave offenses.

THE RAILWAY RATE BILL

In view of the fact that the rate bill pending before congress which assumes to regulate and control the great railway corporations of the country has brought about such strained conditions at Washington among the politicians of both parties, a little explanation of that measure is in order. The rate bill is in the form of a series of amendments to the existing interstate commerce law, the effect of which cannot be fully understood without reading the new law and the old one as a whole. The first section of the rate bill, by a definition of the word railroad, puts under the control of the interstate commerce commission all private cars, switches, terminal tracks and all instrumentalities and facilities of shipment or carriage, irrespective of ownership. It is made to include specifically sleeping cars and the express companies. Every rate for the transportation of persons or property which is not found to be just and reasonable is prohibited and de-

Under the existing law any shipper or person interested may complain to the interstate commerce commission, which body has the authority to declare the rate or the practice complained of unjust and unrea-The commission, however, cannot fix the reasonable rate. Under the new law the commission is empowered after the proper hearing to determine and prescribe just what will, in its judgment, be the just and reasonable rate to be thereafter observed as a maximum to be charged, and what regulation or practice in respect to such transportation is just, fair and reasonable. This order will go into effect at the discretion of the commission, if, in the meanwhile, it is not suspended by an injunction or interlocutory order of the federal circuit court, which is given jurisdiction to review the action of the commission.

It is provided, however, that an injunction to suspend a rate fixed by the commission shall be granted only after a full hearing of the case by not less than three of the regular circuit court judges. In order to prevent excessive litigation the new law provides specifically that the appeal shall lie direct from the circuit court to the supreme court. And these railway cases are given precedence over everything else but criminal cases. Furthermore, the commission is given authority, after a hearing, to establish through rates and joint rates prescribing a division of such rates between the different carriers so as to prevent the giving of rebates by the improper division of rates. The commission also is directed and authorized where the owner of property transported renders any service which connects with such transportation, to fix the maximum to be paid by the railroad for the service rendered, which will prevent undue allowances for refrigeration and similar services by subsidiary companies. If the commission determines that any person has been damaged, it may make an order directing the carrier to pay to the complainant the sum to which he is entitled on or before a day named. If a carrier refuses to comply, suit may be brought in a circuit court and an injunction may be issued to compel obedience. A fine of $5,000 is provided for, and each distinctive violation is made a separate offense, and, in case of a continuing violation, each day is deemed a separate offense. If a railroad refuses to put into effect an order of the commission fixing the rate, the courts are authorized, upon the application of the attorney general, to issue writs of mandamus compelling the carrier to comply with the provisions of the law, and the commission is authorized to employ special agents or examiners to administer oaths, examine witnesses and receive evidence. The execution of the law is put into the hands of an interstate commerce commission of seven members, holding office for seven years and receiving compensation of $10,000 each annually, not | Sparks to flying.

more than four commissioners to be appointed from the same political party.

The rate bill as it stands now has a stringent clause in it forbidding the issuance of passes. This section is likely to be modified before the bill is finally put upon its passage, as railroad men and others say that the pass amendment is much too stringent and should be modified so as to not prohibit free transportation for employes and their families.

There are a number of important amendments yet pending, originating in the senate. One of these is that oil pipa lines shall be made common carriers. Another prohibits the railways from engaging in interstate commerce with coal and other commodities owned by the carrier. They are required to give the same service in the matter of equal accommodation to all shippers, and the imprisonment clause, eliminated from the original Elkins bill, is restored.

BRYAN AND ROOSEVELT

The political situation of the country is getting to be quite an interesting problem. The Baltimore Sun is convinced that the American people have come to the conclusion that between the advanced economic theories of William J. Bryan and President Roosevelt's views on the regulation of corporations by the federal government, the control of railroad rates and an inheritance tax on wealth, to keep private fortunes within certain limits, there is no material difference except as regards the tariff, between Bryan and Roosevelt.

It will be remembered that it was charged in 1896 that Bryan's platform committed him to hostility to the courts. But within the past few weeks the country has seen President Roosevelt call a federal judge to account in the strongest terms for construing an act of congress according to his understanding of it. The country has seen the President significantly expressing the hope that no other member of the federal judiciary would follow the example of the judge when he felt constrained to thus rebuke. Would William J. Bryan have gone any further? they ask, and it is a most significant interrogation.

Dismissing the speculative phases of the question, it may be observed that the spirit which now animates President Roosevelt is more that of the democratic platform and candidate of 1896 and 1900 than the spirit of his own party platform during the past ten years. His condemnation of corporate injustice in his public addresses and his messages to congress may fairly be regarded as the result of the seed sown by William J. Bryan in 1896 and 1900. The attitude of the public toward the insurance revelation, its attitude whenever the great corporations have come in conflict with the interests of the people, has been determined largely by Bryan's utterances in two Presidential campaigns and the spirit which he aroused

William J. Bryan has good reason to feel flattered at the commendation which his economic theories have received from President Roosevelt. Imitation is well said to be the sincerest form of flattery, and the President is not only imitating, but he is making no secret of the fact that some of Bryan's principles suit him better than the policies of his own party. Colonel come home a much broader man in every respect than he was in even the last great Presidential campaign. He will be able, no doubt, to take a broad and philosophical view of the President's action in boldly arraying himself in democratic plumage. As Roosevelt thinks it is for the good of the country and Bryan is a true and tried patriot, he will no doubt acquiesce

But it is a peculiar combination, this action of President Roosevelt in so boldly appropriating to himself and his party the principles that party has so long been engaged in fighting. And while the President may be perfectly sincere in his action, it is clear it does not meet with the approval of the leaders of his party, who are using every means possible to thwart him in his undertakings. The masses all over the country look on with unqualified approval, but realizing that Roosevelt is hampered by the antagonism of his own party leaders, they are turning back to Bryan and the democracy as the only real hope of the people

Captain Wade of Quinlan, Hunt county, has taken the stump in the interest of his candidacy for governor, and The Telegram proclaims the fact in order that all Texas may be prepared for his coming. There has been a serious attempt on the part of the unnatural and depraved press of the state to make no mention of the aspirations of this favorite son of old Hunt. And there is method in The Telegram's announcement. The candidacy of Captain Wade gives Hunt county two candidates for state office, and relieves Tarrant of the appearance of being the only county in the state with nerve enough to go up against such a proposition. But old Hunt not only comes bravely to the front with two candidates, but each of them is striving for the same office. Tarrant county takes her chapeau off willingly to her sister. Hunt county is entitled to lead the procession.

The race for governor will soon narrow down to choice between Bell and Campbell, with the final choice in favor of Bell. The other candidates might as well begin to prepare for such action on the part of the people, for it is a dead sure proposition according to present indications. The Bell sentiment is already the biggest thing in Texas.

The penalty suits against Fort Worth institutions for alleged violation of the Texas anti-trust law, will not be called for trial until June 4, and in the meantime this will afford some opportunity for a little of the venom and rancor to work itself out of the Campbell of Palestine for a list of the subsidized newspapers of Texas, the names of the subsidizers, and why they were subsidized, and yet the answer of Colonel Campbell has not reached the Register office. Can it be possible that Colonel Campbell was merely speculating? Can it be possible that he suspects somebody has been subsidized, and is willing to slander the press of Texas by throwing out a hint of his suspicions? Is it possible?-Sherman Register.

Colonel Tom was not serious in that assertion. He only meant to make a noise like a candidate with a high and noble purpose in view with the odds greatly against him. He does not believe in his heart that any of the Texas papers have been subsidized.

A young man returning from the picnic and public peaking at Valley Mills last night had with him a small cow bell. He stated that a large number of these souvenirs had been given away to remind voters that Judge Bell was in the race to stay till the cows came home. They can't do it, you know. The Bell band wagon is the one thing the other candidates for governor cannot expect to keep up with. It is too swift for them.

On looking at the machine, one is impressed with its size and seemingly complicated parts, but its operation is simple. The steam cutter weighs at least fifteen tons and requires but two attendants. By an easy turn of a lever the big wheel is adjusted to cut any depth desired and will dig any depth. between one foot to seven and onehalf feet. Adjustment can be made as the macine is in motion. The cutter consists of a huge wheel, ten feet in diameter, upon which are placed fourteen scoops br buckets. As the wheel turns they not only cut. but lift the dirt to a conveyer, which in turn dumps it to the side. Small. razor-like scrapers, are fixed on the rin: of the wheel, which smooths the sides of the ditch. The work done is much neater than if dug by hand. The ing even an inch, and no loose dirt is left lying at the bottom of the cut. There are nearly 400 men engaged on the five jobs of construction, mostly Mexicans and negroes. The city is having the sewerage put in by the McQuatters Plumbing and Machine Company of Hillsboro, the contracting firm. The work of construction is superintended by W. F. Plummer and Fred A. Smith. The heavy rain Tuesday delayed the work about three days. The ground saturated by rain caused many cave-ins at several points along the ditches and excavation had to be repeated.

Every day that permitted the work has been pushed, and the Seventh and Eighth wards are now honey combed with sewers.

SYNOPSIS

Godfrey, a newspaper reporter, talking with a detective friend, Simmonds, is notified that murder has been done at an apartment house across the street. Arrived there, they find an acquaintance of Godfrey's, Miss Croydon, standing in a room with a pistol in her hand. She tells them that a second man fought with the dead one and struck him with an iron bar, escaping. Reason for her being there is stated by her to be that she had an engagement with the dead man for the purpose of learning about some papers he professed to possess, these being valuable to her family. Later Jimmy, called "The Dude," a well known crook, is arrested by Simmonds, and seems on the point of telling how it all occurred, when he learns that Miss Croydon is expected to be a witness against him, and suddenly requests to be locked up, appearing indifferent as to what fate may have for him. At the coroner's hearing Miss Croydon testifies that Jimmy is not the person who slew the dead man, but the look that passed between Miss Croydon and Jimmy, when her testimony set him free of the iniputation of murder, causes the detective and the newspaper man to arrive at the conclusion that they have an extraordinary case to deal with, and the pair vote that they are up against a mystery for fair. PART II. Lester, an attorney, being interested in the case and a friend to the newspaper reporter, takes apartments at the Marathon, the scene of the murder. He grows intimate with the Tremaines, who live there, and takes Cecily, the woman who lives with Tremaine, to the theater. She sees the reporter and inquires about him persistently. The next day Godfrey vis-Its Lester and they decide to investigate the Tremaines. Lester informs the newspaper man that Cecily has a most poisonous snake as a pet. It's name is Fe-Fe and she keeps it in a golden cage, giving it fine wine to drink. While Godfrey is in Lester's room, Tremaine taps on the door and is admitted—after Godfrey is hidden in an inner room to watch and see if Tremaine will make any endeavor to locate a certain small diamond found by Lester when he took the rooms. which were the scene of the murder of Thompson. Lester is called to the telephone, leaving Tremaine in his room, while Godfrey is concealed in the bedchamber.

Returning, Lester finds Tremaine smilingly smoking a cigarette and earns from Godfrey, after Tremaine has left, that Tremaine searched the carpet on hands and knees to find the diamond—they think. Discussion of the case between the two causes them to change this decision into the idea that Tremaine desired to recover certain newspaper clippings that were Princesse styles have become quita general for young girls as for their elders and such a skirt as this one makes an exceedingly desirable addition to the wardrobe. It can be made from serge, from mohair, linen or any similar material and will be found exceedingly satisfactory both with a little jacket to match and as a separate skirt to be worn with lingerie waists. In this instance white mohair is simply stitched with belding silk, but

Bulls Lose Opportunity-Healthy Foreign Conditions Make Advance Easy-Crowd Apathetic opecial to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, May 17-Liverpool news again furnished the incentive for an assault upon the shorts, there being a repetition of the large spot sales on that market and this time with prices 5 points hgher. Although the local market opened strong and fully as well as due with prices 3 to 5 points above yesterday's finals and every body bought some on the call, leaders of the bull crowd continued in their apathetic state and seemed to utterly ignore the opportunity presented to achieve a victory in the price movement today, as a consequence, after increasing the gain 2 points during the first half hour, the market turned dull and after that time the trading was featureless, a sagging tendency being in evidence and somewhat accelerated by liquidation from disappointed longs, who had hoped for a sharp upward movement and promiscuous short selling.

The low point was touched in the final trading, with prices 7 to 8 points from the best. The market closed steady with prices near the lowest, showing a net loss of 1 points. Spots were quiet at unchanged prices on a basis of 12c for middling.

New Orleans Cotton

Special to The Telegram, NEW ORLEANS, May 17 .- The cotton market moved along in the same dull monotone which has prevailed recently and is broken only upon reecipt of some startling deevlopments, of which there was a dearth today, the Liverpool advices regarding the spot demand being the only item worthy of note. However, this was encouraging, another sale of 15,000 bales being recorded. Contract prices were also some better than due at the hour of the local opening.

The market opened in line with the cable news, prices being 2 to 4 points higher in the first call. This gain was never increased and the dullness of the market was its only feature. Small longs began their week-end realizing today and the trend of prices was gradually downward, the decline culminating at the close of business with values 7 to 8 points from the early high level. Spots were firm at unchanged prices on a basis of 11 7-16c for middling. Sales, 1,800 bales, including 600 f. o. b.

Liverpool Cotton Calle Special to The Telegram.

LIVERPOOL, May 17.—Higher prices fail to check the enormous demand for actual cotton on this market. With American middling selling 5 points above yesterday's price at 6.26d, there was no decrease in sales, the aggregate being 15,000 bales, including 14,000 American, and the market ruled very firm. This brings the total for the past four days to 58,000 bales and a conservative estimate for tomorrow's business would make the total for the week ending Friday somewhere in the neighborhood of 80,000, which is considerably above the average. Receipts for the day were 32,000 bales, including 20,100 American. Despite the stability of the spot market, the contract market did not behave well, opening steady at slightly lower than due, prices being 2 points

During the middle of the session the market firmed up and prices advanced 2 to 5 points, but a reaction ensued and the close was easy with prices 3 points net higher for old and unchanged to 1 lower for new crop options. Following are the opening and clos-

Wheat Sells Almost 2 Cents Higher. Repetition of Yesterday's Price Movement in All Pits

Special to The Telegram, CHICAGO, Ill., May 17.—The wheat market not only maintained its strength and high prices of yesterday, but made substantial additions thereto during today's session. Crop damage reports were the stimulating influences and turned sentiment toward the long side, attracting good buying power and forcing shorts to cover. Although Liverpool opening prices failed to reflect the local advance of yesterday, our market was strong from the opening, prices on the first call being %c to %c above final figures of the previous session. Bears were in the minority and no attempt to depress prices was made, although scattered profit-taking was interspersed with the early buying it had little or no effect and eventually the July and September options sold 1%c above closing figures of yesterday. At this level quite a volume of long wheat was unloaded and a recession of almost a cent occurred, but the market quickly rallied on renewed buying and this time prices reached a net gain of 1%c. The market closed strong at the top level. Local receipts 2 cars vs. 1 car this day last year: 32 cars are expected

Corn again advanced in value, the trading being very active and similar to that of yesterday. Strength of the wheat market and advance crop news were stimulating influences. Final figures showed a gain of %c to %c. Local receipts 56 cars vs. 81 cars this day last year; 137 cars are expected

Oats prices moved in unison with the other cereal markets, and exhibted strength throughout. Closing figures showed gain of 1c to 11/2c. Local receipts 80 cars vs. 89 cars this day last year; 127 cars are expected tomorrow. Provisions but exhibited quiet strength throughout an dclosing prices were 12c to 13c higher for pork, 7c to 71/2c up for lard and 10c higher for ribs.

Provisions were somewhat neglected,

Moderate receipts of cattle featured the market today, these reaching 1,700 head, counting calves and drive-ins. Out of fifty-three cars of cattle, twenty-four were grass steers billed through with a Fort Worth privilege. Steers Selling was at a low ebb for the

The few early sales were steady, a load of heavy steers from a local feed lot bringing $4.50, and a bunch of cake-fed steers at $3.65. S. & S. were buyers to the extent of two loads. loaded at Weatherford, was on the market. As far as it is possible, manage to use the horses a little every day during the winter. Steady everyday work tends to keep them sound and in good health.

A. A. Everett, with a car of cattle

All horses should not be fed alike. A horse doing fast work, such as driving upon the road, should be given more grain than an animal used for farm or slow work. Do not hitch the colt up with an old slow horse. Put him beside an energetic, level-headed fellow that will give the colt enough to do to keep up with him. But put on light loads until he knows what he ought to do.

A Part of the Control of the Control

FORT WORTH, Texas, May 17 .-

New Orleans cotton was as dull as ever today. There seemed to be nothing in the situation to get the outside public up to the selling or the buying pitch. There is every indication that the present duliness will last until the June government reports are out of the way. A report on condition and an estimate of the acreage ought to contain a jolt for one side or the other, therefore the first week in June is the most important date in the minds of the talent just at present. Bullish features predominated today, but they had no effect on prices. Sales of 15,000 bales in the Liverpool spot market accompanied by private cablegrams telling of a large demand for the continent and Russia particularly, were passed unnoticed. It would seem, however, that these large sales are creating a dangerous short interest in the future market in Liverpool. Sales of spots mean buying in of hedges and the question is, who is supplying the contracts? Spot people are not replacing their cotton at the present American prices and are therefore not selling fresh hedges. It looks as if the selling was being done by speculators. This may cause strength in the Liverpool market later on. A few notices caused weakness in May and kept that option well below yesterday's closing all morning, except when local bulls bid for large lots, when the price steadied up temporarily. The issuing of notices in May caused uneasiness among the large long following in July. Continued unfavorable reports from the belt, coupled with the known large short interest in the new crop, made December look all the more attractive as a purchase. Sore shin and the dying out of plants were reported from several points in Louisiana. Practically no rain was reported. on the map and conditions were good for replanting, which is still necessary in many sections.

Vivion Commission Company

FORT WORTH, Texas, May 17 .-Cotton sales in Liverpool bid fair to crowd the record for a single week's business, at the week-end tomorrow. There was no let up in the demand today, 15,000 bales, including 14,000 American, being taken, with prices 5 points higher at 6.26d. The contract market also showed strength, although opening figures were hardly up to expectations. Before the hour of opening for the American markets prices were 4 to 5 points higher. The New York market opened strong in response to the favorable foreign news, prices being 3 to 5 points higher, with the greatest gain in the fall months. The buying was general during the initial trading and | *San Antonio. 84 came from all sources. Liverpool, New Orleans and commission houses all being well represented and purchasing both near and distant positions. Stimulated by this buying prices advanced a further 2 points, but Waxahachie . 86 weather conditions being favorable, as | Weatherford . 82 week-end. This caused a reaction and prices eventually receded to a level 2 points below yesterday's closing. Mr. Price issued a circular stating that he had been accused of manipulating the Liverpool market and denying that he had any holdings whatever selling as well as evening up for the

there. There is little advice to offer pending the acreage report in June, but on recessions I favor the long side. C. T. VIVION.

PANTHERS LOSE 6-4

Huddleston's Throw Blamed for Winning Runs

The Fort Worth Panthers went down in defeat before the Waco tailenders in the first of a four-game series there Wednesday. Huddleston's wild throw into right field with two men on bases during the eighth inning is blamed for the loss of the game. Huddleston was freely hit, Bero and Dawkins getting triples and Westlake a double. In the eighth, with Hickey on first and Murphy on second, Huddleston essayed to handle Hoffman's slow grounder. He got the ball all right, but could not decide what to do with it. First he started to catch Hickey going to third, and seeing it was too late, turned to second. Also too late to catch Murphy, he slung the ball toward first, but the throw was directed into right field, Hickey and Murphy both scoring. Cavender protested against the runs, claiming it was an overthrow of first and only one base should be the advance. Stewart would not see it that However, only one run was needed and Hickey made that. Bero's fielding and batting was the feature. He had ten chances in the field without an error, made a threebagger and a single and scored a run. The score:

way and Cavender protested the game.

Credit Men Meet at the Worth Hotel

The meeting of the Fort Worth Credit Men's association on Tuesday night in the Worth hotel was well attended by association members and hardware jobbers, who are now in annual convention in this city.

The purpose of the credit men's meeting was to elect four delegates to the National Association of Credit Men which convenes in Baltimore, Md., June 13, 14 and 15. The election resulted as follows:

Delegates, A. P. Foute, R. P. Smith and I. I. Paddock of Fort Worth and C. R. Baker of Weatherford. Alternates: J. L. Hill of Weatherford, G. W. Curtis, George Monnig and E. L. White of Fort Worth. The program for the evening was opened by an address of welcome by President H. E. Gardner, in which he assured the visitors of their welcome and said he was pleased that the two associations could meet in this city on the same night, making it possible to be together. The first speaker on the program, as arranged, was Judge O. E. Dunlap of Waxahachie, and in the absence of whom W. B. Paddock consented to speak on "The Bankruptcy Law and Its Repeal." Mr. Paddock in referring to Judge Dunlap's address to the bankers in convention at San Antonio recently, said: "I can concur with Judge Dunlap in saying that the bankruptcy law should not be repealed. It is true that the majority of lawyers are opposed to it and many are using all efforts for its repeal, possibly on account of the small fees involved; but, so far as I am personally concerned, I think it a very wise measure, because of its economy in the transaction of business and settlement of defunct estates. It has many other virtues. Under the uniform system of today a lawyer in Portland or Chicago or New York can frame a petition for you in Texas as well as your own counsel can here on the grounds.

"Recall your experience before 1898. You experienced fewer failures, in those years than are experienced today. It is probably because of the great prosperity of the country. The honest insolvent has no fear of the bankrupt law and its proceedings to-

"Its rules are fair and straight and the means of enforcing them are correct. Today all creditors receive the pro rata dividends. It used to be that the preferential class was served first. "I have learned that the large jobbers over the country are strong for its repeal, in view of the fact that they have been, and would again be, ahead in the crash, thus gaining a prefer-

Bulk Law Discussed

Being introduced by the chairman, Judge R. W. Flournoy, Fort Worth, spoke on the "Bulk Sales Law-Its Advantages." Judge Flournoy being the framer of the present law, was followed closely by the assembly. He said

"Personal relationship between the creditor and the debtor is the root of all in commercial life. The present statutes and laws are all based on an old statute enacted during the time of Queen Elizabeth, which stated that any transfer or sale made with intent to fraud is void, except where innocent purchasers are without knowledge of fraud. This statute of frauds would be good enough so far as defining the power of the law is concernedthe enforcement is the trouble. Sympathy is for the weaker man. The man who has paid his money for the Judge Flournoy intimated that the verdict was usually found in favor of defendant. He expressed himself as being strongly in favor of the bankruptcy law as it now stands.

Adjustment Bureaus "Adjustment and Information Bureaus" was discussed by W. P. Peters of Dallas. Mr. Peters spoke at length on the dissemination of information and said that there had been a great reduction in number of bad debts since the bureau was established and related some of its accomplishments and rigid economy in the service. The Credit Men's association is in better position to secure and furnish the information than the mercantile agency, he urged, as the association is in closer touch with the debtor than the agency. Fort Worth was the first city in Texas to organize an associa-

On account of the lateness of the hour and in view of the fact that some from Dallas would want to return that same night the program was closed at this point and the assembly adjourned to the dining room and were served luncheon

Toasts were offered by Felix Jackson, Brownwood; E. S. Hughes, Abilene; J. Hildreth, New Haven, Conn.; L. W. Richards, Dallas, and A. P. Foute of this city.

DOWD WINS RACE

Sixty-Six Lap Contest at Summit Avenue Rink Skated

The first of the series of skating races between Amateur Champion Dowd, representing the Summit Avenue Rink, and Professional Champion Eaton, representing the Fort Worth Skating Rink, was won by Dowd at the Summit Avenue Rink Wednesday night. The race was a pursuit of sixty-six laps. Dowd starting on one side and Eaton on the other. The series of races is being skated for $500 offered by the two rinks and for the championship of the southwest. In the race Wednesday night Eaton gained a little on the first few laps, but after the sixth Dowd began to gain through his ability to turn the corners and start fast on the stretch. He soon caught up with Eaton, gaining the half lap that separated them at the beginning. Toward the close of the race Eaton slipped a couple of times and Dowd took advantage of the opportunity and finished two laps ahead, the last half lap being gained when Eaton lost one of his skates just before the finish, and was unable to cross the line. Following the race Dowd gave an exhibition of his jumping abilities and leaped over ten chairs. In his first attempt he hit the last chair, so he tried it again and made the jump with lots of room to spare. The second race between the two men will be skated at the Fort Worth Rink Friday night at 9:15 o'clock and will be for four miles. W. C. Stripling was referee of the race Wednesday night. THE TEXAS WONDER.
