CORNERSTONE LAID

Red Cross Hospital Does Not Use Alcohol at All... NEW YORK, May 23.—Draped in the flag which declared the neutrality of the American Red Cross on the battlefields of Cuba, the cornerstone of the new Red Cross hospital on Central Park West, between Ninety-ninth and One Hundredth streets, was laid yesterday by the president, William T. Wardwell. Mr. Wardwell, in speaking of the fact that the hospital does not use alcohol in any form and Archdeacon George F. Nelson, who followed him, congratulated the institution on eliminating not only the beer ration, which was used by the regular part of hospital diet, but all alcoholic rations. It is expected that the new building which is to be of white brick faced with limestone, will be ready for occupancy in August. It will cost $120,000 exclusive of the site, and all but $50,000 of this amount has been raised.

ENTIRE ALASKA TOWN DESTROYED

Million Dollar Blaze Sweeps Fairbanks... SEATTLE, Wash., May 23.—A special to the Post-Intelligencer today states that the entire business section of the town of Fairbanks, Alaska, was destroyed by a fire which started in the Fairbanks building, a three-story frame structure, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Details of the disaster are very meager, but it is feared that the food supply of the town has been destroyed and great suffering may result. Nothing was left standing in the section lying between the water front and Third avenue and Story and Turner streets. The work of the fire fighters was centered on the block of warehouses owned by the Northern Commercial Company, in order to protect the food supply of the town, and the result is still in doubt. The loss is estimated at a million dollars, and it is announced that the heavy business interests of the town are already planning to rebuild. No lives were lost.

IDAHO PRISONERS BADLY TREATED

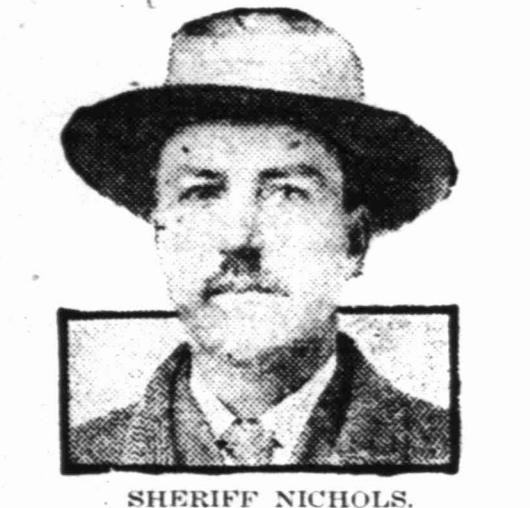

Handled as Convicts During First Part of Imprisonment

FARING BETTER NOW

Health Was Menaced by Harsh Measures During Time Spent in the State Penitentiary

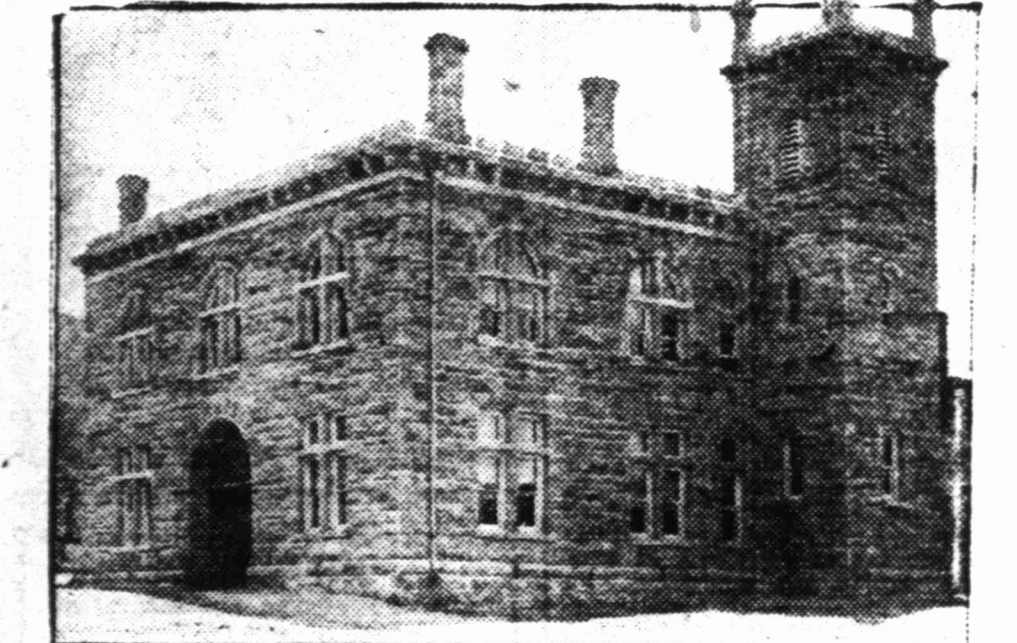

(Note.—The following is the second in the series of articles written by correspondent Waldeck, who went to Idaho for this newspaper to investigate the case of Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone, miners' officials charged with the murder of ex-Governor Steunenberg.—Editor.)

By Jacob Waldeck Special to The Telegram. BOISE, Idaho, May 23.—Inquiries as to the health and spirits of Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone, come in great numbers to representatives of the defense. They are prompted by the hardships endured by the trio for a time after their arrest. When the three men were arrested in Denver they were taken first to Caldwell, Canyon county, where the warrants were sworn out, but to the state penitentiary in this city. Their friends say that from February 19 to March 5, except during two trips to court, they were virtually in solitary confinement. They were given fewer privileges than were accorded convicts serving terms in the prison. They were allowed to talk to one another, but not to other prisoners. Cells intervening between those of the miners were occupied by convicts. They may have been detectives. The exercises permitted the prisoners was restricted. Prison rules as to letter writing were enforced for a time, but afterward relaxed. Moyer suffered from asthma and an attack was brought on by a cold contracted in the prison. He was compelled to wrap himself in a blanket to keep warm. The men were at first denied newspapers, but the warden afterward admitted them. He continued to bar socialist publications, however, on the ground that their teachings were dangerous to society and to admit them would be a serious violation of prison rules. Electric lights in the cells were replaced with candles.

PENITENTIARY AT BOISE, WHERE THE PRISONERS SUFFERED GREAT HARSHIPS.

The attorneys for the prisoners were permitted to see them in the presence of the warden. All the time the air was filled with stories of the desperate character of the prisoners and rumors of an attempted rescue. Elaborate tales were told of schemes to dynamite the jail at Caldwell or the penitentiary. At Caldwell a large force of guards was provided and the pen was a fortress. Then the attorneys for the prisoners got busy. They protested to Judge Smith at Caldwell against what they denounced as the inhuman treatment of the men at the penitentiary. Another week, they said, would probably kill Moyer. Judge Smith came over to Boise and held a conference with Governor Gooding, Attorney Hawley, counsel for the state, and others. He was told that the stories of suffering had been overdrawn to excite prejudice against the state. It was claimed that the electric lights had been removed because of reduced power. For a week from March 13 the men occupied the little county jail at Caldwell. It was crowded, but a great improvement over the penitentiary. Sheriff Nichols allowed them the privileges usually accorded in a prison to trustworthy prisoners. They slept in cells, but during the day occupied a graded room in common with other inmates. While the condition was satisfactory to the prisoners it was not so to the prosecution. On request of the later, Judge Smith notified them on March 21 that they would be obliged to return to the penitentiary or be confined and the three men are now in excellent health and spirits. Waldeck's next article will tell of the number of ex-governor Steunenberg and incidents that led up to it; of the arrest of Orchard and Adams and their "confessions"; and the arrest and kidnapping of Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone.

TO DIE OF OLD AGE

Jerome Sarcastic in Arguing Patrick Case. By Associated Press. NEW YORK, May 23.—Today ended the testimony and argument in Albert Patrick's hearing for a new trial. Recorder Goff reserved decision, giving to Friday for filing of briefs. Hearing closed with dramatic appeal by Mr. Jerome to the defense and the court for the privilege of permitting Frederick B. House, Patrick's lawyer during the trial, to read a letter to him and tell the court what had been said to him by Charles F. Jones, Rick's valet. William K. Oleott, Rick's counsel for rebuttal of testimony, objected to the reading of the letter. Recorder Goff denied the motion and sent them to the Ada county jail. He will finish with this case at that rate, and the defendant will probably die in the death house of old age.

SPECIAL SESSION OF COUNTY COURT

Judge Milam Convenes Body for New Cases. Judge Robert F. Milam convened the county court in special session Wednesday morning to dispose of a lot of business that was brought before him by the city police. When Judge Milam opened court there was lined up in front of him an even dozen negro men who had been arrested Tuesday night on vagrancy charges. A majority of them were arrested at the Shamrock saloon, a negro resort, and the others picked up at various places in the city.

School Census Case. A warrant has been issued from the county court for the arrest of Thomas M. Huff, against whom Deputy Sheriff T. W. Collins, advised because of charging a violation of the school law. The affidavit made by Deputy Sheriff Wren charges that on May 18 Huff, W. G. Lewis, and S. S. Medley, school trustee for school No. 8, Fort Worth independent school district, who was taking the school census, for certain information about children under his control, refused to give such information, which, it is alleged, is necessary in order to get a correct census of school children in that jurisdiction.

Another Roundhouse Suit. The Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad has been made defendant in another roundhouse suit, because of having built a roundhouse, turn table and water tank near lot No. 4, Alford & Neal's addition. The plaintiff has filed suit against the railroad seeking to recover $2,000 damages. The petition in the case alleges that plaintiff is owner of lot 4, Alford & Neal's addition, which is near the railroad track of defendant, and that plaintiff's home is on said lot; that when plaintiff built his home the defendant used its right of way only for running trains, but that on or about June 1, 1904, it erected and is still maintaining on said right of way a turntable, turn table and water tank where engines are kept, turned and watered, the waste water on the street creating a bog and breeding ground for mud and mosquitoes, which plaintiff's property and prevents rest at night.

Forty-Eighth District Court. Tony Lieto, charged with burglary at the store of J. A. Ellerbe & Son Sunday night, May 15, was arraigned in the forty-eighth district court Wednesday, entered a plea of guilty, and the jury assessed his punishment at two years in the penitentiary.

Seventeenth District Court. R. L. Rutherford vs. St. Louis and San Francisco railroad, damages on trial. Damages Awarded. The case of T. M. Terry et al. vs. the Fort Worth Light and Power Company, damages, second filing, $174, concluded in the Seventeenth district court Tuesday afternoon by the jury bringing in a verdict for plaintiffs in the sum of $1,400. The trial of the case began Thursday of the week previous.

Verdict Causes Jeat. Harry King, one of the three men charged with entering the store of J. A. Ellerbe & Son Sunday night, May 13, was tried in the forty-eighth district court Tuesday, May 22, found guilty by a jury and his punishment assessed at confinement in the penitentiary for a period of five years. When the verdict of the jury was read by Deputy District Clerk Lipscomb, King refused to stand with a nod of his head and a smile on his lips, said: "Thank you, keep the change."

Suits Filed. Laura Plumb vs. John H. Plumb, divorce. W. C. Dohy vs. Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad, damages. Information Filed. John Rains, Tom Evans, Grand Gray, Francis O'Malley, Leo Hunt, Will Paris, Sam Fossett, Olon Preston, William Washington and James Hones, all vagrancy.

In 1873 John D. Rockefeller wrote a letter to Charles Collins, chief engineer for the Lake Shore railroad, who after a series of accidents because of the Ashland wreck recommending W. G. If a school boy of 14 should make as many and as flagrant mistakes, his grade card would be marked in red ink and he would be sent to the foot of the class. He begins "gentleman" with a "G." He spells "whom" with a double "m." "Judgment" is spelled "j-u-d-g-m-e-n-t." He spells the importance of real estate by beginning the words with capital letters. "Advice" is spelled "a-d-v-i-s-e." F. M. ROGERS ELECTED. Becomes Board of Trade Director, Succeding Jacob Washer. The directory of the Fort Worth Board of Trade met in regular session Tuesday afternoon to elect a new director to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Jacob Washer in addition to the regular business. F. M. Rogers, general manager of the Medlin Mill Company of this city, was elected for the office. Captain B. E. Padlock and William Moniz were elected to represent the Fort Worth Board of Trade in Chicago, June 2. Some time ago the Chicago Merchants' Association and the Chicago Manufacturers' Association invited the Fort Worth board to visit the commercial enterprises in that city.

Advertisement for MAD DISPATCHER HELD THE KEY. Special to The Telegram. CHICAGO, May 23.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Huntington, Ind., says: An insane telegraph operator blocked the entire Washburn railroad system in this state for half an hour yesterday by sending out unintelligible messages to the various train dispatchers. Much confusion was caused and all trains had to be stopped in order to prevent accidents. When Chief Operator Beachamp went out to his luncheon, he left Everett Kellam in charge of the board, which controls all of the wires of the system. Having recently become overcome by the heat, Kellam, well known to his employers, was in an irresponsible condition, and as the room was vacated, he decided that the past grounds of train dispatching were all wrong. Smitten with an idea that it would be entertaining to the rural population to run passenger trains at a freight schedule and vice versa with a head on collision or two in every division to the wrecking crews practice, he started to put it into execution. Kellam sent message after message to the dispatchers, countermanding standing orders, then countermanding his own orders. He requested passenger trains to run backward and to turn to the right at every crossing. He also desired all tracks cleared for a special train of forty cabooses, which was running through the state at 140 miles an hour carrying the President of the United States and his cabinet. All attempts to break into his wire were fruitless, but at last one of the dispatchers grounded the line and when notified all operators to hold the various passenger and freight trains until intelligent orders could be given. When Beachamp returned to find Kellam playing checkers on a keyboard, he realized that the man was deranged and ordered him from the post. Kellam refused, and required three men to drag him away to jail. Then all misunderstandings were cleared up and the wheels began to move again. Kellam will be committed to an asylum.

A FERTILE IMAGINATION

There is a big fight brewing in Texas over the blanket primary issue and it cannot much longer be delayed—Fort Worth Telegram.

Your candidate for governor, Judge Bell, through his agent, A. W. Terrell, assassinated the blanket primary at Austin. The latter has fixed conventions and then when beaten in the conventions has resorted to an imaginary blanket primary to work their nefarious schemes. The man who will pretend to favor a blanket primary to defeat one candidate and then secretly work up a convention to be controlled by venal politicians is an enemy to the people. More than that, he is a political schemer and a demagogue. He would halt at no crime to carry out his selfish designs politically.—Georgetown Commercial.

The editor of the Commercial is among the number opposed to the candidacy of Judge Bell who seem capable of drawing very heavily on their imagination. There is no evidence to sustain the charge that he assassinated the blanket primary measure, except just such reckless and irresponsible charges as are made by the editor of the Commercial.

As a matter of fact, the blanket primary measure, as all sensible and unbiased people know, was defeated for the simple reason that it was not embraced in the governor's call for the extra session. A lot of designing politicians got together after the legislature had assembled at Austin and sought to have this amendment tacked on to the pending correction of the Terrell election law, regardless of the fact that such procedure was contrary to the constitution of the state. For the sake of gaining some real or fancied advantage in the pending campaign, they would have had the legislature do something it was utterly without authority to do, and when the scheme failed they immediately set up the howl that it was defeated in the interest of Judge Bell's candidacy.

Judge Terrell, the venerable and respected author of the law, was and is in favor of the blanket primary. But Judge Terrell was good enough lawyer to realize that such an amendment under the circumstances would be futile, from the fact that it could not be enacted in accordance with the law. He recognized the fact that if his pet measure was to be perfected it must be done at a regular session of the state legislature, or at a special session thereof called for that special purpose. He knew that the session having the matter under consideration was convened for the special purpose of correcting the error that had been perpetrated in section 120 of the original law, and when that correction was made the work of the legislature was finished. Doubtless it was a disappointment to him that the blanket primary provision could not be adopted, but he did not seek solace in abusing the leading candidate for governor and charge him with the defeat of the proposed amendment.

The Commercial misses the mark in its reference to the political schemer and demagogue. That individual was the one who suggested the blanket primary issue during the special session for the purpose of furthering personal ends, and the effort now to fasten responsibility for its defeat upon Judge Bell shows that the same political schemers and demagogues are at work that originally sprung the measure. But it is a scheme that will fall from the weight of its own iniquity. The sensible people of Texas are fully on to the situation, and cannot be misled by any such blatant misstatement of facts.

The editor of the Commercial should settle his personal grievances with Judge Terrell without resorting to an effort to law Judge Bell into the controversy. It is no fault of Judge Bell's that Terrell instead of the editor of the Commercial was elected to the state legislature and the father of the election law.

TIMELY POLITICAL CALENDAR

Some time ago The Telegram printed a political calendar containing a reminder of all the things necessary to be done in the pending state and county campaigns under the provisions of the Terrell election law. The publication attracted considerable attention at the time, from the fact it was quite valuable as a matter of reference. As the time is rapidly drawing near when there will be lots of things doing under the provisions of that measure, another reminder must be appropriate at this time. Following is the political calendar up to and including the state and county elections:

June 4—On or before this date candidates who desire their names to appear on the official ballot to be used by the primary election must make application to the chairman and the state executive committee of their party.

June 11—The state executive committee meets to certify to county committees the names of candidates for state offices and other business.

June 15—Candidates for county and precinct offices who desire their names to appear on the ballots to be used in the primaries of the party must, on or before this date, make application to the chairman of the executive committee of their party.

June 18—The county executive committees meet to arrange for primaries.

July 9—Primary committees meet in each county to arrange for primary election.

July 24—On or before this date voters who have removed to a precinct in a city of 10,000 or more inhabitants, after having received their poll receipts or exemption certificates, must apply to the tax collector for registration of such a change of residence, and the tax collector shall furnish to the election board supplemental lists, showing such removals as to each precinct.

July 28—Primary day. Aug. 7—Within ten days after primary election day (that is to say, after July 28 and before Aug. 8), candidates shall file a written itemized statement with the county judge of the county of their residence, showing all expenses incurred in the campaign.

Aug. 13—The state executive committee meets to canvass returns of the primary election, and to transact other business.

Aug. 21—State convention meets.

Aug. 25—District conventions meet—Judicial, congressional and senatorial.

Aug. 27—Independent candidates who desire their names placed upon the official ballot must make application, with indorsement of qualified voters, as prescribed within thirty days after primary election day. This application is to be made to the secretary of state, if a state or district office, or to the county judge, if a county or precinct office.

Nov. 2—Voters who have moved into a precinct in a city of 10,000 or more inhabitants after receiving poll tax receipts or exemption certificates must apply to the tax collector on or before this date for registration of such removal.

Nov. 6—General election.

Nov. 16—Candidates must file itemized statements of expense.

Chairman Andrews of the state democratic executive committee has already called that body to assemble in Austin on June 11, for the purpose of calling and locating the state nominating convention. The matter of most moment to all candidates at this time is the fact that they must arrange for having their names placed upon the official ballot, and the time when this must be done in county and precinct candidates must not be later than June 15.

TEXAS SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES

Texas schools, colleges and institutions all over the state are closing these days, after most prosperous terms. As the years go by the question remains more and more a riddle as to why it is that Texas boys and girls should be sent away from home when the schools in the state are each year becoming better. The very best advantages can be obtained right here in Texas, and to go away to institutions of learning located elsewhere is not at all necessary. Time was when the Texas schools were not what they should be by any means, but that time has long since passed, and Texas schools should be patronized by Texas youths.—Terrell Transcript.

The Telegram is pleased to note the growth of public sentiment all over Texas in the direction of a better support of our Texas schools and colleges. This paper has been a pioneer in the fight made for better recognition in this direction, and it is extremely gratifying to see other influential publications falling into line with the idea.

As the Transcript says, the time has passed when it is necessary to send one Texas child outside the state for the purpose of acquiring a finished education. There are good schools and colleges located in practically every portion of the state, and they are turning out a product that will not suffer through comparison with the educational institutions of any other state in the union.

And there is another feature of the situation that should be taken into consideration. No deaths have occurred at Texas colleges from the practice of hazing.

Leading Texans are awakening to the importance of the situation. Only last year Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey brought his son home from a Virginia institution of learning and placed him in the State university at Austin.

If Senator Bailey could afford to do this certainly others who have indulged in the practice of sending their children out of the state can well afford to emulate his example.

Texas schools and colleges for Texas children should be the general and unvarying rule.

The Texas grain dealers are with us again this week in annual convention, and they have received the proverbial Fort Worth welcome. This city is convention headquarters for the entire southwest, and our fame as such is so great there is nearly always a convention of some kind in sight. The grain dealers represent a very important organization, and one that is of much value to Fort Worth and all Texas.

The Texas oat crop is now being harvested in many portions of the state and the yield is reported unusually good. With a fine small grain crop this year and a good outlook for corn, Texas farmers have no reason for looking blue or giving away to any feeling of despondency. Texas crops are generally of the bumper variety.

Fort Worth extends a hearty grip to the Texas millers now in session in this city, and while thus holding on to their toll-takers, would remind them the gates of the city are ever ajar, and Fort Worth people extend a cordial greeting. May their deliberations be both pleasant and profitable.

Soon every legislative district in the state will be called upon to select legislative material for the next two years, and an invaluable rule should be that no warrant cashing member of the special session who violated his solemn obligation should again be trusted.

An Englishman who has been traveling considerably in this country says the best English spoken in the United States is to be heard in Kentucky. Perhaps the gentleman in question is partial to a well of English just a little bit affected with a strong mint flavor.

The sea level canal is the proper idea, and it is to be hoped that as this question has again been settled there will soon be plenty of work provided for the 25,000 men who are waiting to get their spades into the bosom of old mother earth.

THE TEXAS PRESS

Speculation in land is all right when properly conducted, but when any large amount of land in a community desirous of progress falls into the hands of genuine speculators the community is sure to suffer. As far as possible the sale of land to speculators other than local business men should be avoided as far as possible.—Childress Post.

When lands fall into the hands of speculators it generally results in a great impediment of proper development. The lands are held until the price offered comports with the idea of advanced value, and buyers are often compelled to wait several years for a satisfactory adjustment.

It is not strange that those who used to fear Mr. Bryan can now better appreciate the principles for which he stands. He no longer appears to them in the light of a demagogue or an anarchist, but as a patriotic, high-minded statesman, without guile and without selfishness.—Houston Post.

The Post is to be congratulated upon its ability to for once read the handwriting on the wall. And if it will promise to stick close to Bryan in the future the Parker fiasco will be forgotten.

Texas is proud of Senator Charles A. Culberson. He did some effective work yesterday in securing an amendment to the rate bill limiting the issuance of free passes.—Sherman Register.

Texas is always proud of Senator Culberson. He is a man who can be depended upon to do the right thing at the proper time, and is not always seeking opportunity to bring himself into the lime light.

The people of the United States are cursed with too much law and the present congress up to the first day of May instead of relieving the overburdened statute books and helping to clear the fog of legal technicalities from the minds of the men who pay the piper has passed three thousand additional laws to further confuse the confusion.—Denton Record and Chronicle.

Instead of enforcing existing laws, the cry of the people is continually for more legislation. There are plenty of laws on the statute books to cover every infraction, and a multiplicity of new laws only tends to add to confusion.

Captain H. W. Wade writes us that he will speak in Abilene in June, in advocacy of his own candidacy for governor. He is 72 years old and claims a strong following. He has been a resident of Hunt county for forty years, during which time he has lived on the same farm near the present site of Quinlan.—Abilene News.

The candidacy of Captain Wade is being neglected by the arduous organs of the opposition, but that fact will not prevent the gentleman from making an earnest appeal to the people. He is going to give them the opportunity.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Mrs. Fairbanks has been a regular occupant of the vice presidential seat in the reserved gallery this week, and is usually accompanied by several friends. Her first interest when she enters the gallery is to catch the eye of the vice president and exchange smiles. Then she devotes herself closely to the proceedings. She especially enjoys a parliamentary tangle, to which the vice president generally contributes in no small degree by some untoward ruling. There was such a tangle this week, and a bad one.

When Mrs. Fairbanks joined the vice president after the adjournment she rallied him on the fact that every day she has been to the capitol of late there has been a bad mix-up in the proceedings.

"Really, Charles," she remarked, "I think you should next year attend the meetings of the D. A. R. and brush up on parliamentary law."

In reading the President's letter in the senate, the assistant secretary, Mr. Rose, when he came to the sentence where the President tells of "meeting newspaper correspondents in a mass," had difficulty in making out the word "mass." He read it "in a mess." There was uproarious laughter for several minutes at the life-like humor of the mistake, and newspaper men, senators and galleries all appeared to enjoy the thing equally well.

The recently hard-worked point of order of "no quorum" was again doing duty in the house, and the chairman, having made his count, had announced that there was no quorum present. So the house marked time while the chairman waited for members to stroll in from the corridors and committee rooms. At last within one of the required number had appeared. The main doors swung open, and Representative Parker of New Jersey stalked in. He marched slowly down the center aisle, with lifted hand, and called out: "One more, Mr. Chairman."

"A quorum is present," declared the chairman, promptly.

At that Mr. Parker turned and strode majestically back through the doors. But the business went on.

The house was voting on the motion to go into committee of the whole, and John Sharp Williams was continuing his gentle, summer-day filibuster. There were perhaps a hundred members present, about half a quorum. Williams demanded a division, and the "ayes" stood up to be counted. With a rapid sweep of the gavel around the republican side, Uncle Joe went through the motion of counting.

"One hundred and forty-one" in the affirmative," he declared.

"He's worse than Tom Reed," said a laughing democrat, who was looking on from the gallery. "Reed used to count the hats in the cloak rooms, but Uncle Joe can imagine hats to count."

Senator Allison's coy reluctance to produce the letter the President sent him caused a good deal of talk around the cloak rooms. As hour after hour went on and Allison sat stolidly still there began to be humorous speculation about whether he had received it. It was suggested that he ought to introduce a resolution to investigate the efficiency of the postal service. Then some one inquired if Allison had answered the letter.

"I understand he has," said Senator Carmack. "His answer, I am informed, reads: 'Yours received. Contents noted. Very respectfully, W. B. Allison.'"

A HAZY JOKE

The cadet who graduates and goes to sea may be said to jump from the haze into the fog rather than from the frying pan into the fire.—Baltimore American.

TALL TALES FROM THE TALL TIMBER

A REMARKABLE RIFLE

AUSABLE, FORKS, Idaho, May 23.—Thebad Prime, of Carlton, who used to be a private soldier in Uncle Sam's army and who quit the service for the reason that he did not consider the rights and welfare of the private are held in sufficiently high esteem as compared with the officers, and who was fortunate enough to come into the unexpected possession of a large estate soon after he left the service, has since his discharge devoted much time and money to efforts having for their object the improvement of the conditions of army life surrounding the enlisted men.

With this purpose in view he commenced the study of the manufacture of army rifles, hoping to be able to invent one of such deadly and destructive nature that the man who carried it would, in a certain sense, lose his identity as a mere man and become a sort of institution, like a twelve-inch cannon on a battle ship, and furthermore that the weapon might be so highly effective that large armies would no longer be necessary, this bringing about the result that governments, instead of having armies of hundreds of thousands of poorly paid, ordinary men, would use, instead, trained specialists and athletes, drawing salaries of not less than $100 per month—something in the general nature of though perhaps more highly efficient than the best grade of policemen and firemen.

And he seems to have accomplished his purpose, for he has invented and patented a rifle of such deadly efficiency that it will, in all likelihood, either put an end to war entirely or give certain victory to the cause which depends upon it.

It is a breech-loader, .30 caliber weapon, with a three foot barrel, and extending for a further distance of three feet in front of the muzzle is a light, rigid projection or shaft, bearing on its outer end the front sight, so that the distance between sights is slightly more than six feet, going back, thus, in principle, to the deadly accuracy of marksmanship characteristic of the old, long, muzzle loading rifles of frontier days. The muzzle velocity is frightful. Where other rifles, such as the Mauser, Martini-Henry, Krag-Jorgensen and our new Springfield, have muzzle velocities of about 2,300 feet per second, that of Mr. Prime's is 5,400 feet per second, or a fraction more than one mile.

This phenomenal increase in speed is owing in part to the larger quantity of powder which the rifle is capable of using, but also to the greatly increased weight of the bullet, which is so constructed that it is as much heavier than a lead bullet as green wood is heavier than dry, this characteristic being acquired by intense hydraulic compression of the bullet during manufacture, and further by chemically saturating the pores of the metal in some manner, by secret process, in the same way, generally, that a large quantity of sugar can be added to water without increasing the bulk of the fluid.

The barrel of the rifle is lined throughout with a very thin tube of composite metal, which, although it has a very slight tensile strength of the discharge it is not protected by the outer portion of the barrels, on the other hand, completely immune from the corrosive effects of gases arising from the combustion of the powder entirely non-corrosive, and furthermore is of such flinty hardness and capable of such remarkable degree of enduring and indestructible polish that this feature adds in a very great degree to the efficiency of the weapon. The sights are telescopic; that is, the man who uses the gun takes aim through an excellent, high power telescope permanently affixed to the weapon, which brings the object that he desires to hit right before his eyes.

No effort has been made to have the gun an exceptionally rapid firer, it being considered that the ordinary speedy work of a common repeating rifle is all that would be of any use for practical purposes. At a test made yesterday by a committee of gentlemen selected by Mr. Prime, seven white sheep were placed on a hillside, scattered over a space of a thousand feet from one side to the other, and all of them a mile away across a valley a mile wide from where Mr. Prime was awaiting the order of the committee to commence his work of long distance shooting. At a given signal Mr. Prime, who had not been allowed to look at the sheep till the signal was given, arose to his feet, walked to the edge of the hill overlooking the valley, set his rifle down on the rests attached to it and, aiming at the tiny white specks far away on the distant hillside and barely discernible at all by the naked eye.

In just thirty-three seconds from the time the word was given he ceased firing, having in the interval set his gun and shot nine times and with the nine shots killed four of the sheep stone dead and fatally wounded the three others, which were immediately killed by men waiting near by for that purpose.

He claims that the gun does not need an expert to manage it, and that with earnest, honest, well paid soldiers in charge of such weapons the whole plan of warfare would be changed. It would cost about $250 apiece to manufacture such guns in large quantities.

LE SUEUR LYRE.

THE TELEGRAM AND THE TEXAS PRESS

The Fort Worth Telegram says: "It is a blessing to the nation when such men as Robert L. Taylor of Tennessee are elected to the United States senate, and it is a great pity that more of them do not succeed in their senatorial aspirations. Bob Taylor is the living disciple of laughter and sunshine, and his popularity is only measured by the mites and bounds of our common country. Three times governor of his native state, he is the idol of his people, and it may well be added that he deserves to be." By the way, Carmack's abuse of American soldiers in the Philippines caused his defeat. There are many Tennessee officers and many private soldiers in the Philippine army and the people of the old Volunteer state won't stand to see their soldiers traduced.—Austin Tribune.

The Fort Worth Telegram is filled with regret that Senator Bailey should have used the word liar on the floor of the senate. What would the Telegram have had him say. Would it have had him say that the gentlemen who have been associating with the honorable and most righteous Theodore Roosevelt, ruler and blessing of the American people, has conceived an erroneous idea as to my motives and character and I laughingly insist that he is deliberately incorrect in his surmises? The American people believe that a lie was told, and there isn't a fair, unprejudiced man in the country but is perfectly satisfied with the way Senator Bailey put it, and is wholly in harmony with his statement, and the language in which it was couched.—Sherman Register.

Members of congress allege that Uncle Sam is working a graft game in the alluring pictures pasted upon the walls to entice young America into the navy. Perhaps so, but so long as the system answers its purpose it is hardly probable that it will be changed on account of disappointment. The young men who join the navy know from common report that they are going up against something that will admit of no foolishness.—Fort Worth Telegram.

But some of them don't know what it really means to be bred out for a term of years. Some like it. Some will never. The training is good, however, and like getting married, it settles a fellow for a while, if not for a life-time.—Sherman Democrat.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Drunken men talk like $1.98 phonographs. The almighty dollar is the key to a man's heart. Builders of most air castles live next door to the roof.

Too many people feather their nests with borrowed plumes. Charity begins at home, but reform usually makes its debut elsewhere.

Every time some men marry they get paid for it—ministers, for example.

It has been observed that the homelier a girl is the less use she has for a chaperon.

The man behind the gun is all right—if he doesn't invite you to hold up your hands.

But the man who thinks he knows it all hasn't sense enough to know that he doesn't.

Too many so-called progressive people are always looking for an opportunity to butt in.

One never knows how foolish some men can act until they suddenly break out in the father class.

When a woman talks nothing but small talk she is almost as bad as the man who always talks big.

In this day and age the sooner the bride begins to cook the sooner the honeymoon will bump the bumps. Even matrimony has its advantages. A bachelor has to pay to attend lectures, but the married man gets his at home for nothing.

VERDICT THAT RING

TRUTH. What is truth that through the ages man should rife earth and star Seeking ever in the unknown where its mystic foun-holy light. For the law of righteous living, for the love that shall not die. While the soul has aspirations to be glorified on high

What is truth that in the distance it should blaze with tains are. Beating back the hosts of darkness in the world's e-folding night, Making man a noble creature, giving states a wis-aim. Giving virtue, knowledge, valor, each a bright, immor-tal name?

Lo, the world is ever changing, and the new is eve-old, And who fights with human progress is a warrior over-bold; And the truth is what we make it by the light of that great love Which forever lifts the planet toward the singing stars above.

Truth is simple as the sermons nature tells us on our way, Gentle as the thought of brothers who were parted yester-day; It is plain as honest faces that betoken hearts so kind, They are hands unto the weary, seeing eyes unto the blind;

It is beautiful as morning when the world awakes to Joy, And life's golden expectations thrill the eager heart of boy; It is lasting as the cliff rock that forever fronts the sea, Lasting as the ocean waters that shall wash the cliff rock free;

And although it wrings emotion from the life that suf-fers long, Though it girds the loins of labor for the battle fierce and strong; Truth is ever what we make it in the light of love and peace, Help and hope unto the toiling who would give the soul increase! —New York Sun.

It's no use to deny that a dimple tastes the sweet-est of all.

It's queer what awful small hats fit people with swelled heads.

It makes a man pretty cross to have his wife act as if he had a good temper.

CRISIS OF GIRLHOOD A TIME OF PAIN AND PERIL

Miss Emma Cole Says that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has Saved Her Life and Made Her Well.

A mother should come to her child's aid at this critical time and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will prepare the system for the coming change and start this trying period in a young girl's life without pain or irregularities.

Miss Emma Cole of Tullahoma, Tenn., writes: "I want to tell you that I am enjoying better health than I have for years, and I owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

When fourteen years of age I suffered almost constant pain, and for two or three years I had severe and painful headaches and was dizzy and nervous, and doctors all failed to help me.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended, and after taking it my health began to improve rapidly, and I think it saved my life.

If you know of any young girl who is sick and needs motherly advice, ask her to write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and she will receive free advice which will put her on the right road to a strong, healthy and happy womanhood.

THE MARATHON MYSTERY BY BURTON E. STEVENSON

An unknown man is killed at the Marathon, an apartment house. Godfrey, a reporter, and Simmons, his detective friend, find Grace Crofton, an acquaintance of the news-paper man, sitting in the room with a smoking pistol in her hand.

Part II Lester, an attorney who knows Godfrey, takes apartments at the Marathon, the two thinking that Tremaine, who lives there and who becomes acquainted with Lester, has some connection with the murder.

Part III Tremaine visits the Delroys. Grace Crofton is there, Tremaine makes love to her and Drysdale, to one of the house party, becomes enraged as he is engaged to Grace. It is proposed to immerse a pearl necklace belonging to Mrs. Delroy in sea water to restore its lost brilliancy, two men being engaged to guard it.

Continued from Yesterday. CHAPTER V. Counsel for the Defense When I opened the office door, twenty minutes later, I was surprised to find Godfrey in close conference with Mr. Royce.

"Here he is!" he said. "No, no; don't take off your coat; don't take off your hat! Come along; it's a mighty close place now, and he caught me by the arm."

"It's all right, Lester," said our junior, seeing my astonished countenance. "Mr. Godfrey will explain on the way out."

"James Slip," called Godfrey as we jumped into it. We crossed the ferryhouse at a jump, slammed our tickets into the chopper, and sprang aboard the boat just as it was casting loose.

"What's it all about?" I finally asked. "Well," began Godfrey, looking at me with a quizzical smile, "in the first place, the eminent firm of Graham & Royce has been called to defend him."

To Get More Strength from Your Food

LOTS of people are starving with a full stomach. You know, it's not how much we Eat, but how we Digest that makes us Strong, or Brainy, or Successful. When the Bowels are filled with undigested food we may be a great deal worse off than if we were half starved for want of Food. Because, food that stays too long in the Bowels decays there, just as if it stayed too long in the open air.

Well, when food decays in the Bowels, through delayed and overdue action, what happens? The millions of little Suction Pumps that line the Bowels and Intestines then draw Poison from the decayed Food, instead of the Nourishment they were intended to draw.

This Poison gets into the blood and, in time, spreads all over the body, unless the Cause of Constipation is promptly removed. That Cause of Constipation is Weak, or Lazy, Bowel Muscles.

When your Bowel-Muscles grow flabby they need Exercise to strengthen them—not "Physic" to pamper them. There's only one kind of Artificial Exercise for the Bowel-Muscles. Its name is "CASCARETS," and its price is Ten Cents a box. Cascarets act like Exercise on the Muscles of the Bowels, and make them stronger every time they force these Muscles to act naturally. The stronger these Muscles propel the food, the stronger does the friction of the food act on the flow of Digestive Juices. The more of these Juices that act on food, the more Nutrition does that food turn into, and the richer nourishment do the little Suction Pumps of the Intestines draw out of it.

FREE TO OUR FRIENDS!

We want to send to our friends a beautiful French-designed, GOLD-PLATED BONBON BOX, hard-enamelled in colors. It is a beauty for the dressing table. Ten cents in stamps is asked as a measure of good faith and to cover cost of Cascarets, with which this dainty trinket is loaded. 717 Seventh Street, Chicago, Ill. Address: Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago or New York.

GFROERER MAKES HIT

Uses Right Hand and Lands Home Run

Gfroerer's reversal of batting methods and its startling result was the feature of Tuesday's game at Temple, which the Panthers lost by a score of 5 to 2. Gfroerer usually bats left-handed, but to fool Pitcher Merkel Tuesday he changed over to his right. The result was a home run, which probably surprised Gfroerer as much as anybody. Clark was hit Tuesday at the Boll Weevils' will, while Merkel was unusually effective.

The score:

SOCIETY ROTTEN SAY BISHOPS

Unfit to Rule Itself, Declares Episcopal Prelate

Special to The Telegram.

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—Four of the great men of the Protestant Episcopal church arraigned in scathing terms the social conditions of the present day, at the concluding session of the 10th congress, in the Y. M. C. A. building.

Bishop McVicker, of Rhode Island; Bishop Burgess, of Long Island; the Rev. Dr. C. E. J. Wrigley, of Brooklyn, and Dr. Hamilton W. March, of Stamford, N. J., united in denouncing the conditions which are responsible for the rottenness permeating the social system of today.

"How shall society punish moral offenses?" "The question for discussion was 'How shall society punish moral offenses?'" Bishop McVicker was the first speaker, and almost his first sentence indicated his feeling of the matter.

"What is this society in the sense to which the topic refers?" said he. "What are its boundaries? By what authority should it speak? What is this vague creature that is spoken of with a kind of awe, yet with a half-concealed smile? It heredity the secret? Hardly!"

Is it High Moral Principle?

"Is it culture and refinement? No doubt there is culture, just the same as there is blue blood, but the scholar's gown and the philosopher's cloak do not seem to dominate its gay attire. Is it high moral principle? Lower in the present fashion, the smart set, the '40s,' the plutocracy that dashes about in magnificent equipages, the butt even of its own lackays?"

"We cannot look to such for social regeneration. How could this society be expected to punish moral offenses, which, upon close inspection, are seen to be in a large measure, the product of its own conditions. It can try into a passion at an unexpected violation or gross recollection in its midst, when the man who stood high on its list has been guilty of that which on a smaller scale would have landed the smaller culprit in jail."

"The same thing may happen when some man or woman of the elect, who has been a leader in their times and reveals at whose sumptuous table society has been a constant and congenial guest, oversteps the line of convention, and throwing decency to the winds, regardless of the laws of God and man, contracts a relation whose rightful name would smack the ears of decent people."

Outcome of Social Conditions

"This same society lifts up its voice in the rage of the wounded creature and punts in the hue and cry against the transgressor, just as if it had never heard or dreamt of anything so horrible. 'Methinks she doth protest too much.'"

"Then she is bitter and cruel in her denunciation of her betrayal, and makes haste to disown the person, lest she should be suspected of complicity, and well she may. These are not sinners above all that dwell in Jerusalem. They have gone a little farther than the others, and have been found out; yet, after all, they are only the product and outcome of social conditions."

SNEEZER ARRESTED

Harsh German Policeman Takes Man to Jail

Special to The Telegram.

BERLIN, May 23.—Great public interest is manifested in the predicament of a man who has been arrested for sneezing in public. The street sneezer is Johann Furtmann of Mulhausen, a small town in Prussian Saxony.

Furtmann, who is a highly respected citizen, sneezed loudly in the main street. A policeman arrested him on the charge of creating a disturbance, and made a passing tram car stop while he took the names and addresses of the passengers who had heard the sneeze.

Furtmann was prosecuted and acquitted of gross misdemeanor in sneezing disturbances in the past long. Many witnesses were heard, and there were eloquent speeches by the public prosecutor and the counsel for his defense.

Police authorities appealed the case, and a new trial at the higher court at Erfurt will be necessary. Furtmann has announced that he will produce medical evidence to prove that a poly-sneeze is hereditary and prevented him from sneezing less loudly.

Why Doctors Say Drink Pabst Beer

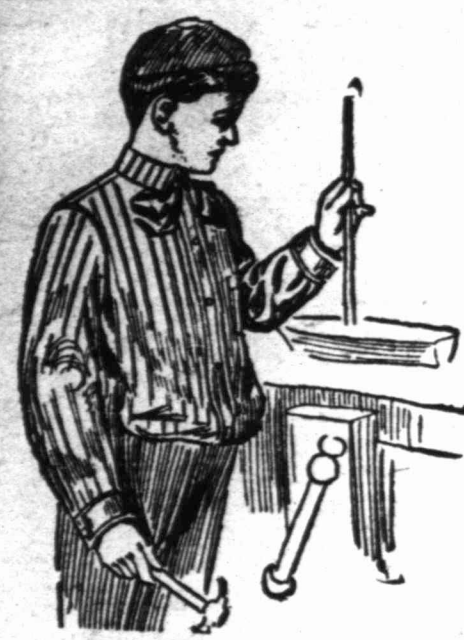

Because It Is Clean, and They Know the Importance of Clean Food and Drink

We have found by careful inquiry that doctors, in perhaps the large majority of cases, prescribe Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer because of its absolute purity and positive cleanliness. "It is the cleanest beer in the world," said one of Chicago's leading doctors the other day when asked about it. "What appeal to me," he said, "is the Pabst process, so very different from all the rest. We doctors appreciate sterilization and we are teaching the people in their homes the value of sterilization. On almost every visit we make we emphasize that. I have visited all the breweries of importance in the country, and I must say that for absolute cleanliness there is no beer to equal Pabst. I prescribe it in my practice and drink it myself."

In our own homes we insist most strenuously upon our food being clean. If we stop at a hotel or restaurant where the food for the dishes are unclean, we are quite likely to change boarding places next time. Are we as careful of what we drink? Purity is essential. We want the best always and especially do we insist that the purity or adulteration means harm. But is not cleanliness in the preparation of our food or drink of equal importance? We think so and we believe our readers agree with us that when we drink beer we must know it is not only absolutely pure and wholesome, but that it is absolutely clean. Pabst beer, as we said before, is recognized by doctors as the cleanest beer.

The aging of Pabst Beer is another point wherein the great Pabst brewery excels. Pabst is the perfectly aged beer. Not a bottle or a keg ever leaves the brewery until science and the test of time shows it fully aged and mellow.

STREET WORK FOR NORTH FT. WORTH

Bridges and Other Improve-ments Ordered
PHYSICIAN IS ELECTED

Dr. John R. Frazier Chosen for Ensu-ring Term—Board of Equalization of Taxes Also Named

North Worth city council met in reg-ular session Tuesday night in the city hall with all members present excepting Alderman Blanke, who was out of the city. Mayor Davis presided.

The fire committee suggested that no changes be made in the fire depart-ment; but recommended that the city furnish the fire chief with a house, and it is customary in larger cities to fur-nish the chief with a comfortable home, free of the city and the report was adopted.

Street Work
The report of the street and alley committee, which was adopted, recom-mended the appointment of J. W. Mur-phy as street foreman with wages as follows: Three dollars a day for each team and when working a gang of prisoners turned over by the city mar-shal for street work, $2 a day extra.

Alderman Conway next brought up the question of bridges for Main street, Central avenue and the city street, which were washed away during the recent heavy rains. Two bids were read, one from the Leversedge com-pany offering to furnish a complete steel bridge ready for use on Main street for $1,050 or delivered f. o. b. at the depot at North Fort Worth for $90, the city in connection with the contract to erect its own piers and furnish the flooring. The terms were 70 per cent cash on delivery of the material and the balance in one ninety-day note with 6 per cent interest. The other bid was from M. S. Asher Jr., covering a complete bridge at $1,150.

Alderman Conway announced that the county commissioners of Tarrant county had $50 at the disposal of the city of North Fort Worth as their share in the expense of the North Main street bridge. On motion of Alderman Conway the Leversedge company's offer was accepted at $1,050. The county and the city of North Fort Worth will build the stone abutments and furnish the flooring for the bridge. The Leversedge company shall furnish one eighty-foot span bridge of steel placed on the stone abutments and will lay the board flooring furnished by the city.

Alderman Kelly brought up the matter of drainage and culverts on the Frisco and Cotton Belt tracks, stating that the present culverts are inade-quate and that water is standing in pools. After a general discussion Alderman Daniel made a motion that the matter be referred to the streets and alleys committee with power to act. An amendment by Alderman Kelly that the committee be instructed to report on the railroads and all interested parties was also carried.

City Jail
The city secretary then read two bids received by the public improvement committee for the construction of a concrete building for use as a city jail. The bid from I. O. Henderson offered the building for $850, and W. H. Gra-ham for $900. By motion of Alderman Mulholland the question was referred back to the public improvements com-mittee, which was instructed to get more complete plans and specifications. The committee was given power to act.

Executive Session
A motion of the council go into executive session was then put and carried. At this session a discussion of the city jail proposition was had with the result that the public improve-ment and finance committees were in-structed to get the necessary informa-tion and bids, acting jointly, and report at the next session. The next matter to come up was the adoption of an ordinance creating the office of su-p-erintendent of dumping ground and scavenger, combining the two offices in one, and providing that the ordi-nance be published in the official or-gan of the city.

Board of Equalization
A board of equalization was then se-lected consisting of Messrs. H. A. Mul-holland, J. M. Skipper and J. W. Strain.

City Physician
The office of city physician was de-clared vacant, and Dr. John R. Frazier elected to fill the vacancy, his duties to begin today.

Notes and Personals
Professor William Trimble and fam-ily have returned after spending sev-eral days in the country.

Dr. M. E. Tadlock formerly resident physician in St. Joseph's infirmary of Fort Worth, was in North Fort Worth Tuesday.

tainment and musical on Wednesday night for this occasion in the audi-torium of the public school. A very pleasant program is certain as a num-ber of the state officials will be pres-ent. The official presentation of the Texas state prize banner will be made. J. W. Roberts, of Swift & Co., in North Fort Worth left Monday for his former home in Macon, Mo.

BIGGEST ENGINE ON FIRST TRIP

Largest Locomotive in Texas Being Given Trial

No. 339, the most powerful passen-ger engine ever built or used on any Texas railroad, has just been turned out of the Texas and Pacific shops at Marshall, where it was built, and today is being broken in between Marshall and Texarkana for regular work be-tween Marshall and Fort Worth.

The big engine has a seven-foot driving wheel, and combines all the latest improvements. It is the most up-to-date passenger engine now in the state. It will pull the Cannon Ball into Fort Worth Thursday or Friday, with the veteran engineer, Kate Ram-sey, at the throttle.

THE RAT WAS MUSICAL

Took Bite Out of Opera Singer's Ear

List to the hard luck tale of an opera singer, a high tenor, so high that he stops at nothing less than $3 per day hotels. The tenor is with the Beggar Prince Opera Company, sing-ing at the White City this week, but he refuses to give away his name. Persons desiring to verify the tale can do so by a piece of pink court-plaster which he wears on his left ear.

"I got into Fort Worth Sunday night," says the tenor, "found a room about 1 o'clock and went to bed. At 2 I woke up with a sharp pain in my left ear. I felt of the ear and found it moist. The moisture did not feel like perspiration and I was puzzled. I reached for the pocket of my trousers, which hung at the head of my bed, got a match, and struck it. At that moment a big rat jumped off the bed and ran into a corner. By the light of the match I found the mois-ture to be blood. The rat had bitten a piece out of my ear."

"Why did he do it? Every hear the story of the Piper or Hamelin? All animals, especially rodents, are pas-sionately fond of music. As near as I can figure out, this rat was not only musical but wise. He looked over the flysheet after I had gone to bed, fig-ured out that as I belonged to an opera company I must naturally have an ear for music, and what more could appeal to a rat?"

N. B.—This story is not told by the press agent, but by the tenor himself. He is seriously thinking of having ear muffs sewed on his night cap.

I Can Cure Cancer

At Home Without Pain, Plaster or Operation and I Tell You How, Free.

I Have Proven Cancer Can be Cured at Home. No Pain, No Plaster, No Knife.—Dr. Wells.

I have discovered a new and seem-ingly unerring cure for the deadly cancer. I have made some most aston-ishing cures. I believe every person with cancer should know of this mar-velous medicine and its wonderful cures, and I will be glad to give full information free to all who write me and tell me about their case.

Peter Keagan, Galesburg, Ill., had cancer of the mouth and throat. Doc-tors said, "no hope." Mr. Keagan wrote: "It is only a question of a short time—I must die." Today his cancer is healed up and he is well. My marvelous radiated fluid did it. It has other just such cures to its credit. It is saving people every day and re-storing them to health and strength. If you have cancer or any lump or sore that you believe is cancer, write today and learn how others have been cured quickly and safely and at very small expense. No matter what your condi-tion may be, do not hesitate to write and tell me about it. I will answer your letter promptly, giving you, ab-solutely free, full information and proof of many remarkable cures. Ad-dress Dr. Rupert Wells, 1502 Radiol Bldg., St. Louis, Mo.
