CRIME RULES IN CANANEA

City Filled with Vice and Corruption

MINES VALUABLE

Former President Tells of Conditions in Town Owned by Greene Interests

Special to The Telegram. HOUSTON, Texas, June 5.-Fresh from the scene of the race war now in progress between Americans and Mexicans in the mining town of Cananea, in Sonora, Mexico, J. Charles Dowling, manager of the real estate department of the Houston Land and Trust Company, is watching the trend of affairs as they develop with the interest of one almost intimately associated with the circumstances that led up to and have served to aggravate the difficulty now culminating in bloodshed, murder, riot and rapine.

Little more than a year ago he and the members of his family were the one survivors of a Yaqui Indian massacre in the same Mexican state. For three years he resided close to Cananea and has watched the racial hatred between Mexicans and Americans smoldering to the touch of flame that was bound to end in the outbreak as it has occurred.

Thinks Worst to Come

He has himself participated in bloody events in the state of Sonora and witnessed the terror of graft government as it has served to allign race against race in what promises to represent one of the most sensational of international episodes. In his belief the worst is yet to come. The real horror of what he expects to be a war of extermination between Americans and Mexicans has Cananea, the whirlpool of every vice known to a frontier and the center of every deplorable condition known to Spanish duplicity and thirst of blood. stands thirty miles across the border from Arizona. From a village of lazy and dirty greasers it has grown to be a city of 23,000 inhabitants, about onethird of whom are Americans, Situated in a state virtually paralyzed from a business standpoint by the ravages of war and graft, conditions are beyond description.

The city is virtually owned by the copper trust and but half governed by the Mexicans. Practically every acre of land belongs to W. C. Greene and his associates. The trade is controlled by his company and upon the hillside is one of the greatest smelters in the world.

On the mesa, or the plains, above stand the houses of the American representing the skilled labor and the controlling influence of the immense developing company. On the mountainside open the tunnels that reach far into the bowels of the earth and have produced millions and millions of pounds of copper ore and its attendant

In the vortex of vice, graft, gambling hells and mixed blood the Americans are defending themselves against the onslaughts of 12,000 Mexicans, maddened by oppression and poisonous drink, jealous of the inroads of the foreigners and stung to the idea that it is war to the extermination of one side or the other, by assassination, dynamite, force of arms and edged knives. Mexico Gets Taxes

From the American Copper Company is derived the greatest revenue of the state of Sonora. From W. C. Greene ...d his associates is collected a vast um in taxation and graft, that, with the destruction of the mine and the plant, will be lost to the official class. As a result they side with the foreigners, but are virtually helpless. The only troops at their command and available are represented in a handful of convicts who work out their sentence as soldiers under the flag of Mexico, cowardly in b ttle, and, like unpaid mercenaries, turned to fight against their own people. Now passion is uppermost and while the Mexican government by its oppressive methods against its own people is largely responsible for these conditions, the justice of either side is lost in the blood fever of desperate fighting. The prejudice of race has eclipsed all other considerations. It has been this prejudice of race that was at one time responsible for an apology to the American government to Mexico. From across the border in Arizona expressions of hatred have been voiced until the Americans, thoroughly disgusted at the racial frillings of the Mexicans, were continually showing their exaggerated contempt for the race in acts and by threats opening the way for a war of exter-

The latest demands and consequent strike brought to a culmination the long threatened clash.

At night in the grove below the mesa the Mexican laborers fought in their low dives, gambled away their pay and cursed the Americans. On the mesa the Americans lived as Americans do who are forced to an abandoned lot in a foreign and tropical clime, disdainful of the natives and with little thought of danger. The native laborers, in their worthlessness were getting poorer while the Americans and the Mexican governing class were growing richer.

No mining camp in America ever served as the magnet for more desperate character or was the scene of more crime. The city of Cananea was a veritable hell and was growing daily worse. Americans who invaded the precincts of the Mexicans were subjected to danger and took their lives in their hands. From Arizona the cry went up that heralded a war of extermination. In Mexico the noise was less but the feeling more intense.

Now the governor of Sonora has called upon the president of the United States to send troops into Mexico to save the lives of the American citizens who are in danger at the hands of the bloodthirsty, treacherous and maddened natives, armed and using dynamite. The copper trust, upon which the ruling class of the Mexican state has lived and waxed fat, is in the vortex with losses that cannot be estimated. Lives are marked down and no man walks except in the shadow of death.

There is something about reform that gives those who do it mighty mean dispositions. The needle in the haystack seems a good deal easier to find than the public official who is for the public.

Allotments of White Men Traded to Wives in Case the Division Is Against Them

Special to The Telegram. MUSKOGEE, I. T., June 5.—The case of the Cherokee Nation against the intermarried whites, in which the nation contests the intermarried whites' right to participate in the allotment of land in the Cherokee Nation, and which was passed on by the United States court of claims against the white, and which has been pending for some time before the supreme court, has been put off until the next term of the supreme court, next October. To those who are not posted, this is insignificant, but when the fact is taken into consideration that 75 per cent of the intermarried whites have taken their allotments in the proven oil field, and which is the most valuable land in the Indian Territory or the states for that matter, also that the Dawes commission is daily allowing these white men to trade their allotments to their wives, cousing or any one else of Indian blood, whom them can trust to do the square thing by them in the event that they lose their case ,it is nothing short of highway robbery. The Cherokee Nation takes the stand that the mere fact of a person marrying into a family does not give him the right to share in the division of his wife's people's property, individually, and they say that the "white man's case," as it is called, is the same prop-

In terror and confusion, he guests as well as the Kellars fled, all except Mrs. Kelly and Kilbright Kellar went to call an ambulance from the Norwegian hospital, which arrived very quickly and the surgeon said Kelly was dead. ## MUSIC AIDS CANAL

Tropical Workers at Isthmus Accomplish More When Singing

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 5 .- Music is playing an important part in the digging of the Isthmian canal. Laborers from the West Indies are accustomed to sing as they work, and the bosses who are capable of leading cheruses have much greater success than the men who don't have that faculty. Reports to the commission received from officials of the canal indicate that one boss developed songs which in-

Promoters Expect to Construct Between Brownsville, Tex., and Donaldsville, La.

Special to The Telegram.

AUSTIN, June 5.-As stated briefly n yesterday's dispatches, C. S. E. Holland, vice president of the First National bank of Victoria and C. R. Kitchell, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Galveston, were here yesterday and had a lengthy conference with the railroad commission regarding some information and statistics which they are trying to obtain in regard to the construction of the proposed intercostal canal which is to be constructed between Donaldville, La., and Brownsville, Texas. Mr. Holland expressed himself as being sanguine that the scheme will be carried out as he has been working himself on the project for some time, and when completed it will be equal if not better than a new line of railroad for Texas as the inland canal will touch at points which are now and probably never would be reached by a railroad. This inland canal is to cost between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 and Mr. Holland already has assurances of subscriptions from persons along the proposed route which will insure the beginning of the work.

After Statistics

The purpose of the visit here is to obtain from the railroad commission statistics which will show how much cen be saved by using the inland canal instead of the railroads in the transportation of freight. In this connection Mr. Holland wishes it understood that it is not the purpose of promoters of this inland canal to put the railroads out of business, but rather to aid them as the canal would furnish a great deal of freight, which could be handled by the railroads. The proposed canal will cause a great development of some cluding the different turns which will have to be taken, etc., it will prove about 2,700 miles. It is proposed to have the canal about nine feet deep. The only thing which now remains to be done is to get the approval of the government to the project. Those actively engaged in fostering the project are: C. S. E. Holland, Victoria; G. J. Palmer, Houston; John G. Willacy, Corpus Christi; C. A. Summers, Cuero; Hugh Jackson, Beaumont, and C. R. ## CHURCH INJURED BY OLD DOGMAS

Minister Declares Old Customs a Form of Idolatry

By Associated Press. CHICAGO, Ill., June 5.- Lively disension over the condition and power of the present day Christian church marked the opening session of the Congress of Religions at Abraham Lincoln center yesterday. The discussion was precipitated by Louis F. Post, editor of The Public and a representative of the Methodist church, who delivered the opening address on "Weaknesses.' "If I were asked to name in one word the weakness of the Christian church," said Mr. Post, "I should said crystallization.' And this holding fast to old forms, old customs and old dogmas is in the nature of idolatry." Nearly every minister present joined in the discussion which followed Mr. Post's address. Defects in methods of work were admitted and remedies urged by the various speakers, but all were unanimous in decrying Mr. Post's arraignment of the fundamental principles of the present day church. At the evening session of the congress the Rev. R. W. McLaughlin, pastor of the First congregational church of Grand Rapids, Mich., said he intends to place before the congress a set of resolutions recommending that the churches of San Francisco divide the city up geographically to prevent too many denominations building in the same localities. "Could this plan be carried out," he said. "it would be a world's monument to a fellowship of religion at the Golden Gate, as the heroic figure in New York harbor, enlightening the world, is to liberty."

FOUR FEET DAILY

Special to The Telegram. DENVER, Col., June 5.-Traffic on the Rio Grande Southern railroad, on the Telluride branch, has been partially suspended as a result of an immense section of the Keystone mountain, five miles from Telluride, moving some distance. Ever since the road was built the mountain side has been gradually moving down into the valley below at the rate of six inches a week. Section men have been compelled to work night and day to keep the track clear, and up to date the railroad has been unable to stop the course of the slide which moved two feet May 20 Since that date huge quantities of the mountainside have been displaced, covering the railroad track several feet dent of the Texas Real Estate Association, was in the city Tuesday. Mr. Lane owns real estate here and is looking after this and renewing old acquaintances.

In speaking of the real estate business in the state at present, Mr. Lane said conditions are most favorable for a prosperous season and that many changes are being made, especially in farming properties.

"Crops throughout the state," said Mr. Lane, "while a little backward, are more promising than for several years for fine crops. In the Brazos valley the outlook is especially fine. The boil weevil is leaving us and diversified farming is proving the farmers' boon. "Real estate is advancing all over the state. This is due largely to the great immigration, espcially to the western portion. These immigrants are of a splendid class and are prepared to buy their homes. They are almost invariably well-to-do and will be of much value to Texas. In the Brazos valley we no longer depend on cotton. We raise corn and alfalfa, fine cattle and hogs. These latter come to the Fort Worth packeries. We are doing very well without the cotton crop and, if we get a good crop of this staple and the markets are favorable, we count it States That Coal Company Gave Road Shares Without Consideration By Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 5.-E. V W. Rossiter, president of New York Central nd Hudson River Railroad Company, in charge of the financial department, was the first witness in the hearing of the interstate commerce commission on coal rates.

Mr Rossiter stated that he was director in the Beech Creek Coal and Coke Company, representing the interests of the railroad company on the board. While now a part of the Pennsylvania Coal and Coke Company, its business was conducted under its original title. The railroad, the witness said, owns 5,000 shares of preferred and 5,000 shares of common stock and $5,000,000 worth of 5 per cent bonds in the Pennsylvania Coai and Coke Company.

"How did the railroad acquire its stock in the original Beech Creek Coal and Coke Company?" inquired Commissioner Cockrell. "It was given to the railroad in 1891, when the coal company was organized," replied Mr. Rossiter. "The railroad paid no cash for it?"

"No, it was given for traffic reasons," was the response. Continuing Mr. Rossiter said the contract had been signed by the railroad and the coal company and the stock was given in consideration of the con-

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

THOUSANDS IN THE DUCK POND Not Altogether an Hallucination of Old Man Skite

Opinion, on the whole, condemned Richard Skite Jr. for putting his father, the elder Richard, into the county asylum, although the old man had grown very flighty in his talk. When his young son John came back from Ceylon he was grieved to hear his father say:

"My dear boy, I wish to tell you comething. You know the pool yonder. It's paved with gold. I never can understand why the ducks don't lay bank notes instead of eggs."

"Poor dear old chap!" said John. "You'd say poor to me, if you had as much of it to put up with as I have," remarked young Richard. Eighty thousand pounds gone, and not a clew to it. Dorsett hoped he'd come right with care, and then-"What do you think of Eva's choice

-this Dorsett-Dick?" John asked. "Pretty much the same as you, I expect," said Richard, "But Eva'll have as good time as Mrs. Dorsett: horses to ride, horses to drive, and everything

John shook his head. He did not like to think of his merry little sister transformed at 23 into a commonplace money-worshiping young woman. On the first occasion of meeting Dr. Dorset, John had felt as if that darkbrowed gentleman was trying to do something to him, and he certainly seemed to exercise a remarkable influence over Eva. At the end of the month John Skite said "good-bye" to England. But he did not steam straight east. A week after his departure his brother was persuaded by Dr. Dorsett that his father would be best in the county asylum.

The old gentleman had been in the asylum only a week when John returned, "I met a man in Naples," he said, "a brain specialist, and he gave me some tabloids of a new drug, urotropin, which has done some wonderful things. I shall have it tried on father."

Eva and Richard looked anxious. They were thinking of the ire of Dr. Dorsett. That evening John rode off to the asylum. At the lodge he met Ralph Hampson, the Chittenham curate, whom he would willingly hail as a brother-in-law. "I wish you were in Dorsett's place as regards my sister," he said, abruptly. 'I can't believe my sister really loves "Don't say such things, John," the curate remonstrated. John said no

That eeyning Dr. Dorsett was announced, "What's this about your seams allowing perfect fit, father, gentlemen?" he demanded "Do I understand you intend to practice some silly quackeries?"

John noticed the hangdog, cowed look of Richard. "I shall not permit my patient to be experimented upon," said Dr. Dorsett. You mind your own business and get out of here," said John. "Good night, gentlemen, I'll see myself out," said the doctor. He did so briskly. John Skite gave him no "good-night" in return; and when the brothers were alone he said: "I'll see that fellow dead before I let Eva marry him. Understand that, Dick. Dr. Dorsett called in the morning to find that Eva had gone to her aunt, and John with her. Richard took care to be away. When the doctor called in the evening John was there. "You may as well be informed at once. Dr. Dorsett," he said, "that my sister desires to have nothing more to do with you.'

"All right," sneered the doctor, "but you will hear from me.' John did hear from him by way of a threatening letter. It told him nothing that he did not know. Those prom-

In All Parts of the United States Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Effected Similar Cures.

Many wonderful cures of female ills are continually coming to light which have been brought about by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and through the advice of Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., which is given to sick women absolutely free of charge.

The present Mrs. Pinkham has for twenty-five years made a study of the ills of her sex; she has consulted with and advised thousands of suffering women, who to-day owe not only their health but even life to her helpful

Mrs. Fannie D. Fox, of 7 Chestnut Street, Bradford, Pa., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham "I suffered for a long time with female trouble, and finally was told by my physician that I had a tumor. I did not want to submit to an operation, so wrote you for advice. I received your letter and did as you told me, and to-day I am completely cured. My doctor says the tumor has disappeared, and I am once more a well woman. I believe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best medicine in the world." The testimonials which we are constantly publishing from grateful women establish beyond a doubt the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to conquer female diseases. Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. She asks nothing in return for her advice. It is absolutely free, and to thousands of women has proved to be more precious Unquestionably the Eton is the favorite coat of the season. Here is one that is jaunty in the extreme and that is combined with a shapely and well fitting girdle. In the illustration it is made of chiffon voile with the collar and cuffs of silk and trimming of banding and little frills of Valenciennes lace, but its usefulness is almost without limit. It can be made from any seasonable suiting, linen or silk, as well as wool, while again it makes a most satisfactory separate wrap of taffeta, pongee and the like. The collar and cuffs can be of lace, of the material trimmed, of silk, or, indeed, can be treated in almost any way that fancy may dictate.

The Eton is made with fronts, sidefronts and back. Both the fronts and back are laid in plaits that extend for full length and the outermost plaits at the fronts serve effectually to conceal the seams joining them to the sidefronts. There is a flat collar at the neck and the sleeves are moderately full, finished with shaped cuffs. The girdle is cut in five portions, the many Richard had in the last four years layed the fool, and lost large sums of money. His father had declined to nelp him, and Dr. Dorsett had come to is rescue, on conditions. Eva was one of the conditions. But only when pressed did Richard admit that the bulk of his losses were to the doctor himself.

John was at the asylum every day. he old gentleman still remembered he duck pond and the gold, but not confidently. The urotropin was working finely. The truth came out with startling suddenness one afternoon. "John, my boy," said the old gentleman, "that money must be in the duck pond. Dr. Dorsett will bear out my words. I was never to mention him in connection with it. I was afraid of things breaking, companies and mines, and that was why I collected all that gold. Dr. Dorsett agreed with me, and it is our secret, because-well, Richard had been foolish-yes, and one night, when I-I was very unwell, and Dorsett was with me. I asked him if the duck pond was a safe place for it and he said, 'Certainly.' John, it was a ridiculous thing to do, but I placed all those bags of gold in the pond that night. It took me hours and hours, and-I'm afraid my brain gave way afterward."

Wisely or not, John confronted Dr. Dorsett that very evening. He was prepared for the contemptuous retort. A madman's mad tale!"

"Very well." he said. "Wait till my father comes home, and he soon will now. You are an accomplished scoundrel, Dr. Dorsett, but I think you have run your course." Dr. Dorsett merely opened the door and echoed some earlier words of John Skite's. "Perhaps you will be good enough to leave my house."

On impulse John replied: "You will be well advised to leave it yourself also."

And that is what Dr. Dorsett did. The following day he left Chittenham, never to return. The pity was that he carried with him all the residue of the money of which he had so basely robbed the duck pond and the Skites. Still, as John said by-and-by, when his father was restored to his senses, and Eva and the curate were an affianced and loving couple, in the main ey had much to be thankful for.

Shower for Miss Norred

Mrs. H. W. Lusher and Mrs. Bowman gave a linen shower Monday afternoon for Miss Pearl Norred, whose marriage to Joseph Wylie Fincher takes place Thursday, June 14. The parlors were gorgeously rated with American beauties, while the dining room was given over to English daisies. The table was set with a miniature pond, bordered with ferns, while marguerites floated on its surface. At one side was an interrogation point, which was used to indicate the next bride.

Miss Mae Anderson of San Antonio tipped over the white umbrella with the presents upon Miss Norred. Punch was served and the health of the bride and groom drunk. Afterward there was a musical program, participated in by Misses Anderson of San Antonio, Riggs and Fugate of Ennis, Ferguson and Mrs. Bowman. The following were among the guests: Mesdames R. C. Armstrong, G. W. Armstrong, Mittle McCammon, R. E. Libbey, John Blakeney, Martha Norred, Colgan, Nellie La Cava, C. ### JUDGE BELL AT MOODY

Some of the newspapers of the state opposed to the candidacy of Judge Bell for governor, have declared that the recent speaking at Moody was stacked in his interest by his friends, and he was given the closing speech in order to have the advantage over Oblquitt and Moore, who preceded him. These allegations are on a par with the usual arguments advanced against Judge Bell-utterly without foundation. The time allotted to each candidate was fixed by a committee at thirty-five minutes, and the order in which the candidates should speak was fixed by lot. A. R. McCollum, editor of the Waco Tribune, and vice president of the Waco Campbell club, was the gentleman who took the names from a hat in which they had been placed, and in the last issue of his paper Editor McCollum says:

The three gubernatorial candidates present-Bell. Colquitt and Moore-were to speak immediately after dinner and there was some doubt in the minds of the local committee of arrangements how to allot timewho should speak first-for the committee desired and intended to be absodiutely fair, give no man, so far as they could shape matters, any advantage over another. So they asked A. R. McCollum of Waco, editor of the Tribune, to act with them in the adjustment. The names of Bell, Colquitt and Moore were written on three separate slips of paper; the slips folded and put in a hat and Mr. McCollum asked to draw them out one by onethe names as drawn to determine the order in which the three men should speak. He did so and Moore got first, Colquitt second and Bell third place. That is the way it was done and it was absolutely fair and impartial. As it turned out it proved a fortunate circumstance for Judge Bell, though. The first two speakers made some personal attacks on him, and the closing as it progresses. speech gave him opportunity to reply to the covert aspirations. So they spoke in the order named. Judge Sam R. Scott and Lud T. Williams of Waco introduced Monta J. Moore and O. B. Colquitt and William Hair of Belton introduced C. K. Bell The three gubernatorial candidates were requested to limit themselves to thirtyfive minutes each and we suppose they did. We know Judge Bell did. It is fair to say Bell got the biggest share of the applause. He may have had more adherents present, and we think he did, than either Moore or Colquitt. Again, the first speakers aroused him to a spirited and eloquent rejoinder and he had the sympathy of some men who are not his supporters-men who favor Campbell or Brooks. That we know to be a fact. Most men like fair play in these contests and many who will vote for Campbell or Brooks deprecated the manner of the attacks on Bell and cheered him when he made his eloquent and brave reply. Furthermore, he is a man of splendid presence, an eloquent speaker and commanded interest. It is the calm judgment of the writer that Moore and Colquitt lost votes as a result of their speeches and turned some men to Bell, or maybe to Tom Campbell. How many we cannot say, but there were some.

Colonel McCollum is the soul of newspaper honor and chivalry. In all the ranks of the journalistic profession in this state there are none fairer than this veteran of the press. He treats all men and all issues fairly and what he says about this celebrated Moody debate can be relied upon as absolutely correct.

Colonel McCollum, while an ardent supporter of Colonel Tom Campbell, says that Judge Bell was the here of the day at Moody and made many warm friends by the manly and eloquent speech he made in answer to his traducers. Judge Bell did not expect the attack that was made upon him first by Monta J. Moore, who, for the brief period of about three weeks, imagined himself a candidate for governor. But like the dying swan. Moore, who knew his gubernatorial fiasco was at an end, took advantage of the opportunity to snow his enmity toward the man the people have always delighted to honor and who stood between him and the satisfaction of an overwhelming ambition. With the accumulated venom of his great disappointment, he proceeded to turn the vials of his wrath loose, and only made a sorry specatcle of himself.

And then came O. B. Colquitt, the man who boasts. that he already has a better job than governor, and proceeded along the same lines as the sore-headed aspirant who had just preceded preceded him. In the | him to carry it.

display of his venom, the Kaufman county aspirant was more bitter than his predecessor, and made assertions that were utterly at variance with the facts. Realizing that he was also beaten and that the Democracy of Texas is lining up so strongly in the Bell column, Colquitt in his chagrin completely lost his head and laid down a gap in his defenses which Judge Bell was quick to see and at which he entered with a rush that almost carried his hearers off their feet.

Judge Bell did not seek this controversy, but has studiously avoided such things during all his brilliant campaign. The fact that he avoided personalities seems to have imbued Moore and Colquitt with the very foolish idea that he was deficient in moral courage and could be assailed with impunity. But they reckoned without their host. Judge Bell in a calm and dignified manner, but with burning eloquence answered every allegation of his traducers and in a few minutes had them completely on the run. The occasion at Moody was a veritable field day for Bell.

TEXAS NEEDS BELL AS GOVERNOR

Colonel C. W. Geers, editor of the Denton Monitor, one of the oldest newspaper men in Texas and one of the most gallant soldiers who followed in the wake of John H. Morgan, of Kentucky, has been taking a retrospective view of the gubernatorial situation and somes to the conclusion that Texas needs the services of Judge Charles K. Bell. In the last issue of his paper Colonel

As the time is drawing near for the primary election behooves our people to begin to cast about for the best man for governor of the Lone Star state. We have Joe Bailey in the senate of the United States; he has will re-elect him to that position without opposition. But the office of governor of Texas more directly concerns the people of Texas. We should make no mistake in selecting the Democratic nominee for governor. We want no man with a "hobby" for this exalted position. We want a level headed, wide reaching statesman, so that we may not incur the danger of going through the ordeal of a haphazard experiment. If we make a mistake in selecting our candidate the blunder cannot be rectified. We should therefore approach our duty without fear or favor and choose the pest man for the place. We have read the addresses of the candidates, and examined their records, and arrived at the conclusion that we would make no mistake by preferring C. K. Bell, of Fort Worth, above all his competitors in the field, for governor of Texas. We all know him, if not personally, at least by reputation. He was raised in Hamilton county, Texas, and the people of that section, without exception, are loud in their praise of him. He served as their county and district attorney and the people there still hold in grateful remembrance his fearless and efficient enforcement of the law. He served that district as state senator, and his constituents point with pride to his career as a legislator. He was elected district judge in 1888, and his constituents declare that they made no mistake in raising him to that dignified and responsible position. His election to congress in 1892 and again in 1894, was no mistake. He stood among the foremost representatives of that body and maintained his high standard of efficiency to the thorough satisfaction of his constituents. He ontributed successfully in congress to the defeat of a hundred and ten million dollar steal in the interest of the Union and Southern Pacific Railway Companies, though the committee on Pacific railways had already reported in favor of the steal. The companies had to pay that amount of debt to the government. As attorney general of Texas Judge Bell has never had a superior He was appointed to this position by Governor Sayers in 1901, and was elected by the people in 1902. As chairman of the Democratic state executive committee, his services were efficient and his labors were untiring to promote the welfare and success of the party. It must be that he is the best man in the field for governor. The light of his personal and political history sparkles with brilliant luster in the galaxy of the civic firmament above that of any other statesman offering for the place, and the Monitor hopes and believes that the people of Texas will make him their next governor.

All the things that Colonel Geers says concerning Judge Bell are true and are well known to the people of Texas, who honor him for the statesmanlike manner in which he has measured up to every requirement in the past. Judge Bell voluntarily retired from official life in order to make the race for governor in response to the popular demand, but his ambition did not meet with the approval of the small fry politicians. Some of these have thought they saw opportunity to make hay for themselves and have become candidates on platforms the like of which has never before been seen in Texas. They cover everything from the moral decalogue to the price of a bee course in Arkansas, but these politicians do not stay with their platforms. When they get upon the stump the fact is soon shown that the defeat of Bell is their main object, and they are only making themselves ludicrous.

The people of Texas know Judge Bell, and they realize he is just the opposite of what these people are painting him. They know it is the bitterness of certain defeat that is prompting his opponents to seek to traduce the man all Texas de ights to honor, and for these reasons the Bell boom is steadily gaining strength

Candidate Colquitt makes a vicious attack on the record of Judge Bell as attorney general, but it only serves to illustrate how hopeless Candidate Colquitt is becoming. For a man who is drawing a salary steadily for work he is not performing, Candidate Colquitt is making a great noise.

Members of the next state legislature will have come very important matters to consider, and it is up to the people of this state to put none but firstclass men on guard. The best available material in every district in Texas should be pressed into requi-

Warm weather is now at hand and special attention should be paid to the sanitary condition of the city.

Advices from Washington indicate the railway bill will become a law substantially as the senate passed it. The free conference committee only made some minor changes in the senate amendments.

North Texas is suffering from too much rain, and the grain crop is about to spoil in the fields from tae want of harvesting. The weather man will please proceed to get on his good behavior.

Work has not yet begun on that promised market house, and the people of Fort Worth are wondering if this great desire of the people must continue to go

$2,000 better off in consequence of the filing of the penalty against the Fort Worth Live Stock Exchange.

Monta J. Moore's withdrawal from the gubernatorial race occasioned no more of a ripple than the announcement of his candidacy.

Tom Campbell is heir to all of Monta J. Moore's gubernatorial strength, but it is not likely to humpback

A report comes from the San Angelo county which is very remarkable for this time of the year. A hot wind set in at Lipan Flat last Saturday and wilted cotton to the ground. Some fields were entirely destroyed and must be replanted .- Cisco Roundup.

Those hot winds sometimes do great injury to growng cotton out in the Western portion of the state, and are thought by some of the citizens of that section to be of electrical origin.

. . . . The Republican state convention has been called to meet in El Paso this summer, but the colored Republicans raised a howl over that place, and sought to have a change made. El Paso is a long way from home for the majority of the colored Republicans of Texas and they would be taking too much risk in getting that far away.

There is a big row pending in the Republican party in Texas, and there is a whisper that one of the Texas leaders is willing to put up the sum of $50,000 for 'hairman Lyon's scalp. And that ought to get it.

When a man, through industry, sobriety, a keen nsight and good business tact becomes a millionaire, foes it seem just for us to join the howling mob of anarchists who spend their evenings in underground saloons drinking, and then in maudlin terms abuse those who give them work? Judge Bell spoke yesterday to a tremendous audience at Moody, and we have seen quite a number of persons who were present, and all gave the same report, that he will sweep that section of country against everyone for governor, regardless of their money influence.-Bell County Democrat.

Judge Bell is gaining strength daily throughout Texas. The indications are that he will be our next governor. The Moody speech was a genuine corker.

. . . . Judge Bell is such a good citizen that the State of Texas will not be so mean as to deprive Fort Worth of him. Fort Worth needs all her good citizens .-

Judge Bell says Mr. Colquitt has charged him with having helped to defeat the blanket primary. Judge Bell used the wrong term. He should be proud to be credited with having helped to defeat a political scheme for the election of a minority candidate. Judge Bell would have profited by the plurality primary, as his friends advised him, but he refused to consider his personal advantage in a matter affecting the interests of the whole people. Mr. Colquitt might not have found the blanket primary of so much advantage to himself as he imagined, especially if South and West Texas had united on a candidate in opposition to the North Texas bunch.-San Antonio Express.

Judge Bell has sought no undue advantage over any of his competitors. He has taken no part in any kind of scheme, but is making the race for the governorship on his merits. Colquitt has made allegations he is utterly unable to substantiate and has greatly weakened himself by that action.

Ralroad Commissioner Colquitt boasts that his present job is better than that of governor. That's the truth, and the people are determined that he shall hold his present job until they get an opportunity to elect his successor.—Beaumont Journal.

If Colquitt now thinks he has a better job than the governorship, why is he consuming so much of the people's time in reaching after something that is not se good? The people of Texas believe he could make a good railroad commissioner if he would only pay attention to the duties of the position.

The Herald views with regret the action of the Texas rails at commission in ordering a reduction of the passenger rate on the Houston & Texas Central from 3 to 21/2 cents a mile. That the action of the commission will be tested in the courts is certain and the Herald very seriously questions whether the commission's order will be sustained. The great mass of the people are not affected by this order and there was no public temand for it. In the judgment of the Herald the action was not warranted. With abnormally high freight rates, it would seem that if any reduction was to be made in the revenues it should have been here rather than in passenger rates.-Denison Herald.

HE TAKES IT EASY NOW

Chicago has been making unusual efforts to clean up the city-thoroughly, throughout. The Chicago Tribune tells of one of the results thus:

A practical outcome of the recent movement for a clean city with its attendant enlistment of interest on the part of the school children is the organization of the "Clean City Club," with a button, such as a child dearly loves to wear, as its distinctive badge. It is a suggestion from the Hull house and seems to have | The folded hands, the awful calm, the cheek so me four simple rules as its constitution:

Pick up at least one piece of paper from the street

Clean your own back yard and porches and try to interest the boys and girls next door.

Keep at least one flower in the window. Be smiling and clean yourself.

The idea is reported to be so popular that the newly organized corps of workers hopes to have a membership of 1,000 by the end of its first week. In a friendly contest held under its auspices between groups each with its own captain, a good deal of interest on the part of older people was developed. In every attempt of this sort which appeals to the children the educational value is more important than the actual accomplishments in manual labor. For the boy who picks up one paper a day soon forms a habit of refraining from throwing any paper on the street, and, with the peculiar censure of children which is usually effective, he teaches his companions to take pride in the same cleanliness which he advocates and illustrates. For this reason the Clean City Club deserves the heartiest commendation and encouragement.

The Boston Herald says no fox chase was ever more devious in its course, no game of "hunt the button" ever more confusing, than the tortuous windings and backings and fillings on the rate bill, and it contesses its inability to understand just what the means of the amendments adopted are: It adds:

One thing, however, seems clear. Under the compromise the limited judicial review proposed by Senator Long in behalf of the radicals, which the President said he should like to see adopted, is abandoned, and if the bill shall pass according to this latest agreement, it will grant to the circuit courts the fullest power to review rates fixed by the commission. If the President is willing to accept this, he is ready to take less than the power asked for in his message and insisted upon ever since-"summarily and effectively" to prescribe rates through an administrative commission, without the intervention of the courts. Senator Bailey intimates that the President is one of those natural strategists who can always find a victory in a surrender.

Taking the ending of the anthracite trouble as a text, the Cleveland Leader speaks to the bituminous situation thus

The entire situation demands compromise. There are few signs of speedy and complete success for either side. The struggle looks doubtful in many places. It is vexatious, costly and injurious to general business everywhere. Why should it go on until the miners or the operators are reduced to abject surrender? If both are too strong to be beaten utterly, why not compromise now instead of later? The coal situation looks like an excellent field for the kind offices of outside interests. There ought to be friendly intervention in behalf of peace. It must be that many operators and rilners would be glad of a reasonable excuse for making concessions enough to work the mines.

corn belt during growing season for four years. Hansas and Missouri drouth along in June or July generally means a short corn yield for the country. The climate of the central west, perhaps, is changing; some believe that it is, especially in regard to the rainfall. Perhaps the planting and maturing of trees in the prairie districts has tended to increase the average of rainfall on the prairie corn and wheat lands. However this may be, it is certain that there has been heard no cry of distress from the Mississippi valley region because of a ruinous dry spell for many years.

Local political circles furnished two sensations Tuesday, but one of them was a false alarm, gotten up by County Judge Robert F. Milam, who gave a bogus order over the phone to a printing establishment, ordering 10,000 cards printed announcing him as a candidate for county judge. The apparent order was overheard and in a few minutes the news that Bob Milam was a candidate for re-election to the office of county judge was all over the court hourse, and spread capidly down town. In the meantime Judge Milam countermanded his order to the printer and afterwards said to a Telegram reporter that he was not a candidate and would not be-that the story that he was a candidate was simply a joke.

Jordan Cummings Out The sensation that stuck, however, was the announcement of Jordan Y. Cummings as a candidate for county attorney against Jeff D. McLean, the present encumbent. Mr. Cummings was at the Forest Hill meeting Monday night, and in a speech to the crowd made formal anno neement of his candidacy. Jeff D. M Lean was also at the meeting and answered Mr. Cumming's announcement speech. While the candidacy of Mr. Cummings created quite a stir in political circles, it was not wholly a surprise, as there has been rumors for some time that a strong influence was being used to induce him to make the race, as was published in The Telegram last week. Those who have been keeping the run of the political situation predict that this will be the hottest race in the county and that there will be an abundance of ginger injected into it. There is already talk of organizing Cummings campaign clubs, and it was, announced Tuesday by a prominent North Fort Worth man, that the democrats on the north side of the river would have one of the biggest Cummings clubs in the county. Mr. Cummings is a son of Judge Cummings of Fort Worth and was raised in this city. He is 33 years of age and was under age when admitted to the bar. For nine years Mr. Cummings was in the county attorney's office at Fort Worth, serving under both Swayne and Lattimore. He has not only had large experience as a criminal lawyer in the county attorney's office, but has devoted much attention to civil law. He is married, his wife being formerly Miss Kidd, a membe of a prominent Ellis county family.

But as soon as the five men saw what they were up against there was a general stampede, and a rush for the windows. One man jumped out on to the roof of an adjoining building and was endeavoring to get down a telephone pole when he was taken in by Tom Wren. Another man was swinging down from a window sill when Roark pulled him back into the room, while Roy caught one by the coat tail as he was darting through an open window. NEW PRESIDENT

F. N. Finney of St. Louis Is Chosen at Dallas

Special to The Telegram. DALLAS, Texas, June 5.—At a meeting of the directors of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad here this morning, to fill vacancies caused by the death of the late Henry C. Rouse, Adrian H. Joline of New York and F. M. Finney of St. Louis were elected directors. Mr. Finney was then elected president of the railroad in Texas. Memorial resolutions on the death of the late H. C. Rouse were adopted. Mr. Joline was elected chairman of the board of directors for the system. He is a prominent New York lawyer and his election to the chairmanship is considered something of a surprise, as it had been considered possible that the place would likely 5 to either Coalgate Hoyt of New York or Myron T. Herrick of Ohio. The prominence of Mr. Joline in legal and financial circles in New York gives color to the rumor that his election may have something to do with the proposed $25,000,000 bond issue of the system, application for which has been made with the railroad commission of Texas. After the meeting here the directors

A meeting of the Fort Worth Union Depot Company was held in Fort Worth Tuesday morning at the clearing house rooms in the First National Bank building, and attended by representatives of the two railways interested in the welfare of the company, which two railways use the passenger facilities afforded by the property in Fort Worth.

"So far as the public is concerned." said W. C. Nixon of the Santa Fe. "there was absolutely nothing done except to hold the annual election of officers as required by the charter and informally discuss the income and physical condition of the property." The following officers were elected: W. C. Nixon, president; M. B. Loyd vice president; H. A. Johnson, secretary; L. C. Demming, assistant secretary; A. C. Torbett, treasurer. Prior to the election of the officers these gentlemen were elected as directors: T. Fay, M. B. Loyd, G. L. Noble, C. K. Lee and W. C. Nixon. Mr. Nixon was specially asked if there was even a remote chance or probability of the Santa Fe and Houston and Texas Central going in with the Texas and Pacific, so they could all use the same passenger station, and thus avoid the, at times vexations, transfers. He replied: "We have a good property in good condition. We are satisfied with it and there is no reason for making any change and, so far as I know, no plated, especially such as has been rumored, as I was informed Tuesday morning after my arrival here, the abandonment of the present facilities enjoyed by the Santa Fe and the H. and T. C., which are ample for the purpose, convenient and will be fo some time to come."

The Great June Clearance Sale Commencing Wednesday Morning

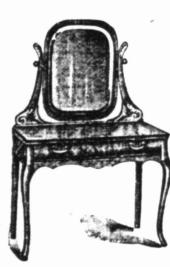

We have gone through our stock carefully and find that we have entirely too large a stock of goods on hand for this season of the year, and we are compelled to lower this stock during this month, as all our buyers will meet next month and go to the markets, and in order for us to put in a fresh stock of fall patterns we have got to get rid of this immense stock we now have on hand, and we know of no better way than to just simply cut the price on everything in our stock. Our stock must be lowered and if prices will do it by July 1 it ought to be cut to half what it now is. Now is the chance of a lifetime; you can buy here during this month cheaper on time than you can elsewhere for cash. Only a glance at our windows will prove just what we say is true, FOR PRICES WILL PROVE, and we have placed the price within everybody's reach. You can beautify your home at just one-half what you can elsewhere. Remember, this is no fake sale. Our stock must be lowered. Just stop in and ask one of the clerks to price you a few pieces and if you are not convinced we will not ask you to buy. Now is your chance—be wise and fill your house with beautiful goods at less than wholesale prices.

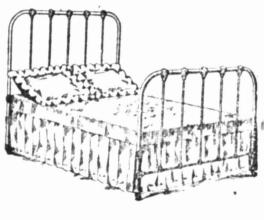

Below we show a few cuts of some real values and prices that can't be duplicated

VANCE WITH SPITBALL Hotel Kupper

Saves Game for Weevils

When in the third inning, with the core 3 to 2 in favor of Fort Worth, Simpson was taken from the box by Temple and Vance put in his place, the mettle of the youngest pitcher in the Texas League was given a thorough chance to make good and did so-Vance pulling his team out of the predicament bodily, striking out six men. and allowing only one poor little nit.
The final score was five to three in favor of the Boll Weevils.

Among the Panthers who fanned to Vance was Salm, who twice walked to the plate to hear the sonorous "You're-oot" of Umpire Collins, although it seemed that one time up the man with the indicator gave him every chance in the world to rap out at least a single, there being in the minds of many five strikes across the plate of which two were called balls. Vance handled the "spit ball." Three of them were wild, as this character of pitching must always develop, for not a pitcher in the diamond today can with accuracy foretell the course of Bears Lead Hostilities-Effort to Dislodge Stop Orders Meets Success-Prices Break Sharply Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, June 5 .- The cotton market was active today, but the price movement was somewhat surprising in view of the surrounding conditions. Liverpool advices stated that opinion as to the acreage report was mixed, but nevertheless that market celebrated its reopening by advancing values some five points, none of which was due according to yesterday's closing figures on the local market. Enthusiasm over the advance was tempered somewhat by the small business transacted in the spot department, sales of only 5,000 bales being reported, and the opening here was barely steady, with price unchanged to two points lower, the loss being in the December option.

Somebody whispered to the bears that the long interest was nervous and would run on any show of aggressive hostilities. They placed a good deal of credence in the rumor and their courage was bolstered up accordingly, so they concentrated their forces and attacked the market in an effort to shake out stop orders, being successful to a certain extent. The selling was simultaneous with the call, several prominent operators taking the initiative. The crowd soon joined in the movement and before an hour had passed the selling was general. There was almost an entire absence of buying and a great many stop orders were dislodged, prices breaking thirteen to seventeen points for summer months and thirteen to fourteen points for new crop options.

The weekly weather bulletins reported less favorable conditions than had been anticipated and around midday the decline was checked.

During the afternoon the market was rather dull. Scattered selling continued, but soon profit taking by scalpers offset this and prices worked up a few points from the lowest, the close being steady, with prices showing a net loss of seven to thirteen points for old and ten points for new crop options. The spot cotton market was quiet, prices being five points lower, at 11.25c for midday.

New Orleans Cotton Special to The Telegram.

NEW ORLEANS, June 5 .- The cotton market was not as active as might reasonably have been expected today. Opening prices were three to five points higher in response to the New York advance of yesterday, but the disappointing course of the foreign market had an ill effect here and the local crowd as a rule seemed inclined to believe that the acreage reported by the agricultural department would be sufficient to produce a crop large enough to fill all requirements. Reports of hammering in New York were not encouraging to holders of long cotton and during the early session selling orders predominated, the bulk of them being in the old crop months. Under this pressure prices for July and August broke fourteen and ten points respectively, while new crop options sold nine to twelve points under the

The lower levels attracted some short covering and during the afternoon there was quite a demand for this purpose. After the New York market closed, prices spurted upward rapidly, touching a level eight to ten points above the lowest. The close was steady, showing a net loss of two points for July and gains of two to three points for later months. Spot cotton market was quiet, prices being 1-8c lower at 10 7-8c for middling. Sales 1,450 bales, including Open. High. Low. Close

LIVERPOOL, June 5.-The cotton market after a three day holiday opened very steady and encountered a fair volume of business during the

According to yesterday's New York close prices on the first call should have been unchanged to one point higher, instead of which they were five points higher, the advance being attributed to the bullish construction which was placed upon the acreage report issued yesterday and the covering of shorts in response to the same. Opening prices, however, proved to be practically the best, as the advance attracted profit taking, which in connection with the disappointing business transacted in the market for the actual staple, and selling for local and American account, caused a sharp slump, carrying prices eight to ten points below the best. The close was easy, showing net losses of two to five

The spot cotton market ruled steady, with prices three points higher at 6.05d; sales were the smallest for a long time, being only 5,000 bales, including 4,600 American, 500 bales more for export. The lack of demand was attributed to the fact that the Lareanshire mills have not yet reopened for business. Receipts 1,000 bales.

The market opened firm prices being 1/8 to %c higher. Scattered selling was noted during the day, while there was little or no buying. Prices held around Saturday's closing level throughout, finally touching a net decline of 4c to %c during the last hour.

The close was steady with prices at the lowest. The visible statement showed a decrease of 1,152,000 bushels for the past week, the American visible is now 30,811,000 bushels. Local receipts, 15 cars against 4 cars this day last year; 21 cars expected tomorrow. Corn

Corn trading was somewhat more active than that noted in the wheat pit, but after the first balf hour, during which time prices declined 1/2c, fluctuations were on the same narrow scale. Despite a bearish visible statement, showing an increase of 1.061,000 bushels, prices during the afternoon recovered the early loss and the market closed easy at a net loss of 1/4 to 3/8c. The American visible is 3,370,000 bushels. Local receipts, 671 cars against 512 cars this day last year, Estimated receipts for tomorrow, 504 cars. Oats

Oats were in better demand and commanded better prices than any of the cereals. A report placing the condition of the Ohio crop at 73 per cent against 92 per cent a year ago was a bullish factor. Prices touched a net gain of 1/2c and the close was firm with prices near the best. The visible supply decreased 1,147,000 bushels last week. The American visible is now 8,976,000 bushels. ## RUSS HARVEST HEAVY

Crops Better Than Any Time During Last Twenty Years By Associated Press.

ODESSA, June 5 .- The South Russian harvest promises to be the most abundant in the last twenty years. There is some anxiety as to whether sufficient labor will be available in consequence of the precarious political situation. The garrison commanders have issued instructions that army reserve men shall not be allowed this year to hire themselves to farmers. In many districts great land owners are alarmed, as peasants threaten to strike as soon as the crops are ready to cut.

PLAY TO BE REPEATED Pupils of High School Will Appear in

"Esmerelda" The weather on the date fixed for the play given by some of the high school pupils, "Esmeralda," at the Majestic last Friday was of the character that marred the attendance greatly. So far as may be to offset that qualified failure due to the bad weather as stated, the play will be repeated this Tuesday night at the Majestic. The first rendition of the play was highly praised and as the pupils who take part are that much more familiar with the play, lines, business and all, the second performance should reasonably be better than the first.

Harry Bernard, who has directed the staging of the play, will again manage it tonight and will also give a number of humorous readings.

DRIVERS INJURED

Wagon and Runabout Meet in Colision

Monday evening a light wagon of the Consumer's Light and Power Company, driven by J. F. Ruffner, had a collision with a runabout being returned to the Exchange stables after use by the owner.

Ruffner was driving south in Rusk street and at the corner of Fifth, met the runabout, the latter vehicle being driven by a little negro carriage "rustler." The buggy was smashed, the saddle horse, on which the negro had gone after the buggy, was cut about the forelegs and shoulders, but both the drivers escaped with slight bruises. The buggy horse broke loose from the vehicle and was caught in lower Houston street uninjured.

DR. H. A. BOAZ TALKS

Polytechnic President Points Purpose, Preparedness and Pertinacity

as Elements of Success

Isabella Nation, Marguerite Hensley, Norma Moody and Norman Callens compose the first class ever graduated from the North Fort Worth high school. The commencement exercises in the high school auditorium held Monday night were attended by a large crowd of relatives and friends. Opening the exercises was a piano duet by the Misses Christian of North Fort Worth, followed by the invocatiion by Rev. W. M. Lane, pastor of the North Fort Worth Methodist

The salutatory was delivered by Miss Hensley, her theme, "Women's Sphere." Miss Moody used as the subject of her oration "Influence of the Beautiful." Mr. Callens in his oration defined the "Spirit of Commercialism." The valedictory theme, "School Friendships," was delivered by Miss Na-

"The Elements of Success." An Aim Needed Dr. Boaz said: "Every young man or woman should have a worthy aim in view. He or she who has no idea of the desire to accomplish any one thing in this life is going to have a most difficult time to attain any form of success. If you would accomplish much in this life set your heart and mind on some one thing, on one purpose, and it is then absolutely necessary to take aim, and in this connection I must impress on your minds that you take good aim and know what you are aiming at and then make everything else stand aside and wait

Dr. Boaz spoke as his second thought: "A man today in order to succeed must be prepared. The business world now is looking only for the prepared man, and there is a great demand for you if you will only set your mark, prepare yourself for that particular line. The leading men everywhere, in the pulpit, the lawyer's office, the doctor's office and the commercial positions, you will find are the men who have prepared themselves. Get wisdom above all and get until you have accomplished that pur-man of sterling integrity. This world is full of shams, frauds and cheats and there is a great need for men of merit on whom we can depend and in whom we can trust. Every one likes a boy who is truthful and in whom he can rely." In emphasizing this point Dr. Boaz told a story of long ago when there was a very bitter feeling between the English and the Scotch. One day an Old Scotch farmer saw in the distance a company of English soldiers approaching and he knew they were planning on crossing his farm. The Scotch at once manned each gate on the farm, sending a hand to force the company to turn for another route. After this had been done he noticed that the soldiers upon coming out of a valley had taken a sudden turn and were marching directly toward his favorite farm. The Scot had but his small lad left to send to the gate that would cut off this route. The lad assuring him that he could perform his duty, hurried to the gate and clasped his arms around the bar and the gate post, and held and waited for the advance of the army. The captain ordered that the lad open the gate and assured him that his soldiers would march close to the fence, not harming the lad's master's wheat. The lad locked his fingers all the tighter and said nothing. After several threats from the captain, all of which availed not the entrance, a new man from the rear of the company came forth and demanded that the lad open the gate. Why, you don't know who I am,' said the Duke of Wellington. 'You must not delay my soldiers.' The Scotch lad held still tighter to the gate and said: 'Surely the Duke of Wellington would not have me to disobey my master's

And now my friends, you are graduated, if you would rise to eminence and power, be sure that you have a high and noble aim in life's purpose and be young men and young women of courage and of noble heart."

Other numbers on the program were: A piano solo by Miss Grace Moore; a piano trio by the Misses Lulu Christian, Frank Walthall and Quay Moore. The diplomas were handed out by Mayor W. D. Davis, followed by the benediction by Rev. Lane.

DIZZINESS COMPELS MRS. GAG-NER TO QUIT WORK.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Restore Her

To Perfect Health and Strength. Mrs. Mary Gagner, of No. 576 South Summer street, Holyoke, Mass., has passed through an experience which proves that some of the greatest blessings of life may lie within easy reach and yet be found only by mere chance. A few years ago while she was employed in the mills she was suddenly seized with dizziness and great weakness. "I was so weak at times," she says, "that I could hardly stand, and my head became so dizzy that it seemed as if the floor was moving around. "My condition at last became so bad that I was obliged to give up work in the mill, and later still I became so feeble that I could not even attend to my household duties. After the slightest exertion I had to lie down and rest until

I regained strength. "A friend who had used Dr. Williams" Pink Pills for Pale People urged me to try them. I bought a box and began to take them. The benefit was so positive and so quickly evident that I continued to use the pills until I had taken altogether six boxes. By that time I was entirely cured, and for two years I have had no return of my trouble. I am now in the best of health and able to attend to all my duties. I am glad to acknowledge the benefit I received and I hope that my statement may be the means of inducing others who may suffer in this way to try this wonderful medicine."

The secret of the power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of debility, such as Mrs. Gagner's lies in the fact that they make new blood, and every organ and even every tiny nerve in the body feels the stir of a new tide of strength. The effect is not a brief stimulation, but a steady building up of | J. F. ## TALK OVER VETOES KEEPS COUNCIL LATE

Aldermen Grow Eloquent Discussing Mayor's Power

MUCH WORK DONE

Management of Schools Placed in Hands of Board-Market House Goes Over

The city council galloped through the routine business Monday night, and of it there was a great deal, and then became involved in discussions over vetoes until the session was prolonged until later than 10:30 o'clock before adjournment was had.

The mayor had filed his veto of the action of the city council granting an increase of eleven men on the police force, but it was a qualified veto, so to say, for the veto, as prepared by the mayor was made, as he last night contended he had the unquestioned right to do, to apply not to the whole increase of eleven men in the force, but to the six which he regarded as in excess of the requirements. His veto message sanctioned the increase of the police force by five men, but this was characterized as wrong by aldermen, a usurpation of the powers of the city council by the mayor and finally, while the veto was sustained, the aldermen got rid of the contention of the mayor that sustaining the veto sanctioned the increase of the police force by five men by voting that the city marshal be allowed no increase in the police force, there being but two dissenting votes as to the latter proposition, Aldermen Maddox and Harrold.

There were more fireworks over the motion of Alderman Waggoman to postpone further consideration of the market house veto until the next regu-

Mayor Was Ready

Anticipating such action, the mayor came with a veto for that motion, and as soon as the motion prevailed, the veto was read and then there was a long parliamentary wrangle as to the right of the mayor to file a veto in that way and, having been filed, how to dispose of the veto.

Some wanted it to go over to be considered with the other veto, but Mayor Harris held that this motion was out of order and that there was but one way to treat a veto under the charter and that was to take it up for consideration and sustain or reject as the judgment of the alderhement in his remarks, and when Alderman Waggoman moved that the veto be received and filed and the mayor ruled that out of order, he contended that the alderman from the Second ward should be heard, remarking to the mayor with some asperity, Your honor must remember that you are not the whole cheese. "Well, I am the judge of this matter, hough," said Mayor Harris.

"Yes, and you try to be the judge of everything else," said the alderman

The city attorney's report on the health ordinance was referred to the health committee. Provision was made for the opening of Bois d'Arc street and for the payment of the costs. Like Neill-Reynolds Report

The health committee reported on the alleged unsanitary condition of the city dumping grounds. It was a horrible picture which the report drew. A recommendation was that dead animals might be sold to any fertilizing company which would buy them. Another was that the night soil be emptied into one of the large sewers, but the statement of the city engineer that this could not be done without a series of law suits, the experiences of the packing house companies being cited, nutting a quietus on the recommendation.

There were several motions made looking to a settlement of the trouble and finally, none of the others being seconded, Alderman Lehane moved that the offices of dumping grounds keeper and of the sanitary officer who was stationed there be declared vacant. The dumping grounds keeper, Holland, asked to be heard, and it was also stated that the resignation of Sanitary Officer Cooper was on the secretary's

Mr. Holland denied that the grounds were in the condition stated and said that while they were not in perfect condition, sickness and the continued wet weather were chargeable with the blame for the conditions.

Alderman Cook said he was out two weeks ago and counted forty-eight dead dogs on the top of the ground, one dead horse skinned and one unskinned, and as for the night soil he thought that three inches of earth covering was the limit when the ordinances call for a two-foot covering. On motion of Alderman Waggoman Holland was given one week in which to place the grounds in good condition. The bill of sale from the street sprinkling company for the outfit sold the city was received and filed.

Offer of Compromise Winfield Scott made an offer to compromise the claims of the city against him for taxes alleged to be due. He states that some of the taxes claimed to be due by the city are. levied on property wholly outside of the state. He offers to pay $17,847 and 6 per cent interest. The petition was referred to the finance committee. A petition for sewering block 6, Alford & Veal addition, was granted. Sanitary Officer Ike Cooper's restgnation was accepted and later Rollo Matkin elected to the vacancy.

Petitions for fire hydrants on Lipscomb and other streets in the Eighth ward went to the water works com-mittee, and so did an application for a two-inch water main on Lipscomb Because of an existing ordinance.

Increase of Police Force The veto of the increase of the police force resolution was then read and Alderman Ward moved a reconsideration of the veto, by which the resolution was adopted. Carried.

The same alderman then moved that the resolution prevail, notwithstanding the mayor's veto. This was rejected, Alderman Lehane moved that the chief of police be allowed no additional

Mayor Harris ruled that the veto if sustained, and it had virtually been done by the voting down of the resolution for the increase of the force by the addition of eleven men, carried with it an increase of the force by five men, the veto being only applicable to the excess of six men. Alderman Waggoman did not think the mayor had the right to dictate to the council how many men should be granted. The chief had been elected by the people and was presumed to know his business. He said he needed eleven men additional and that number should be given him, The mayor contended for his right to make a "part veto," if the term be allowable, but Alderman Maddox said he wanted some light on the subject for he did not understand the fix it was now in. Alderman Cook said the action of the mayor was the most unheard of thing which had ever come to his knowledge in a matter of this kind and he did not think there was in the history of politics, public policy or statesmanship a case where the mayor or the vetoing power had assumed the right to trim down an estimate passed by the legislative body as this was, and he with some emphasis denied the right of the mayor to trim down the number of the men approved by the council to suit the mayor's fancy. After more debate of a more or less desultory character, Alderman Lehane moved that the chief be not allowed the five men additional sought to be added by the mayor's veto. Carried. Alderman Waggoman moved that the chief be allowed a night sergeant. Car-City Marshal Maddox was granted eave to attend the state meeting of the city marshals and chiefs of police association at Amarillo June 11. Market House Delay

The mayor's veto of the market house ordinance was called up and Alderman Waggoman moved that the veto go over to the next regular meeting. This was opposed by Alderman Maddox, who could see no reason for the continual delay. He wanted the matter settled. The Waggoman motion prevailed, and then the mayor at once read a veto of the action of the council in postponing action on the

A motion that the new veto go over to be acted on with the other as well as a motion to receive and file were declared out of order. The veto was not sustained and that went over to be considered with the other. Aldermen Lydon and Harrold opposing the motion to defer.

Alderman Maddox deprecated the vrangling over matters which came before the council. He could not see why the propositions should not be approached as business men would tackle any important matter referred to them. "This constant wrangling makes me tired," said the alderman from the Sixth ward. The sprinkling committee was granted more time in which to formulate a set of rules to govern street sprinkling, to fix prices, etc., and was directed to have the city attorney prepare an ordinance creating the office of sprinkling inspector.

Mayor Makes Statement Before the adjournment of the counil Monday evening the mayor took the occasion to say that he was willing to allow to all of the aldermen the tigated the matter they would find the present sessions of the couneil and believe that he could only act as he did. That he was absolutely levoid of any sensitiveness about the matters which came up before the council and only wanted done that which was the best for the city in his behalf and all of his actions were dictated by that thought alone.

R. H. Dial of Wise County Has Peculiar Affliction

Unable to speak his own name, which he declares is distinctly impressed in his mind, R. H. Dial, a white man of middle age, was examined by City Physician Lyman A. Barber Tuesday morning, the result being the decision by the doctor that the man is suffering from pressure about the speech center of the brain, caused by tumor or other local affection. Dial arrived in Fort Worth early Tuesday morning from the Indian Territory over the Santa Fe railway and the attention of Police Officer Algood being called to him, the officer recognized the man as a former resident of Wise county, who had known the officer when the latter was a boy in short trousers. Officer Algood took Dial in charge, and after a time the man recovered power of speech partly.- From the stray threads of his discourse it was learned that he has relatives living near Sulphur Springs, Texas, and is well known to W. H. North, deputy city marshal of that place, who formerly lived at Decatur, Texas. The police department arranged for he immediate transportation of Dial Sulphur Springs and notified Officer North there to be in waiting. The man's malady, while rather uncommon, is a condition well known to the medical profession as resulting, in most cases, from a tumor in the brain. At times the person affected makes vain attempts at speech, knowing full well what he wishes to say, yet unable to articulate. The body is also very weak following the mental exertions to pro-
