

FORT WORTH'S BIG DEPARTMENT STORE

The Big Store Will Open Wide Tomorrow With Bargains

89c—A Bargain Table of Underwear—89c

MAKES INTERESTING NEWS Giving dollar for dollar values, as this store does, you know what it means when we offer you dollar undermuslins at 89c.

Adding Two More Large Stores, Making Nine Big Stores in One

Making one of the greatest stores of the South, occupying more actual floor space on the ground floor than any store in the State of Texas that is devoted exclusively to the retail business, giving customers a chance to do all of their shopping without the inconveniences of climbing stairs or use of elevators.

Men's $1.00 Shirts at 69c

TELLS ITS OWN TALE Still there's more to tell. Compare them with any dollar shirt and you will say they are what we claim.

10c Vests for 5c

Here's an extra good bargain—Vests that sell for more than this at wholesale. Well made, tape neck and sleeves, long body. Just the thing for summer wear.

W. G. Stripling THE PRICE IS THE THING

10c Corset Covers, 5c

These are made of plain white muslin; were good values even at 10c, but they are slightly soiled. The material is worth more than the price.

Great Bargains Will Fill the New Ready-to-Wear Dept.

Suit Special No. 1

$7.50 Lingerie Suit $4.98 One of our good sellers—picked out for the occasion. A Stripling special; no need of a cut in the price. Get your choice before the sizes are gone.

Shirt Waists EXCEPTIONAL VALUES—EXCEPTIONALLY PRICED

$1.25 and $1.50 Shirt Waists at 95c. That's the way they have sold. Might describe a few, but we give you so many that you'll make yourself if you made it to wear at home.

Suit Special No. 2

$13.50 Suits at $9.50 Sold at $13.50 a suit, elsewhere at $15.00 and $16.50—made of light weight tropical panama with short bolero jackets in the newest shades only; for you to choose from—four shades of gray, old rose and two shades of blue; your chance for a stylish suit

Monday We Place on Sale $1.00 Corsets, Specially Priced at 69c THESE ARE ALL NEW CORSETS, CORSETS OF THE CELEBRATED W. B. MAKE

And Now for a Sale of Fine Silks and Dress Goods

We needed more room—we have taken the Dress Goods and Silks where you can make your choosing in the most perfect light in town. To celebrate the event we have made these wonderfully low prices, anticipating the greatest sales of the year.

- Only 200 Yards of This Silk mull worth 15c, 18c and 20c at 10c. One of the greatest bargains we have picked up this season. In black only. Don't wait if you want some. It will go very quickly at this price. 10c

Big Towels; Table Linens

At a Suggestive Low Price The way this store sells Linens for table use, and the values given in Towels, easily convinces the careful buyer that this store's big trade is induced by the better goods at the lesser price.

Lawns and Persian Lawns

What Would Women Do Without Them? Each week thousands and thousands of yards of these beautiful goods find new owners, who grow enthusiastic over the values given. It is every yard sold brings new customers. We enlarge the counters so we can accommodate the crowds tomorrow.

35c Fine Bleached Lawn, 25c

And Only 500 Yards Of It Quick selling will be the result of this great offer. Values like these are not picked up every day; nicknamed the rag finish by some, as it is pure linen and has none of the artificial finishing so commonly found in linens sold at this price. Don't miss it—it is so nice for shirt waists and summer dresses.

No Wonder a Woman Buys Laces Here

IT'S THE ASSORTMENT SHE WANTS And she finds it here—direct from the lace counters of Europe, each week seeing new arrivals. This store, carrying larger stocks than many wholesale stores, gives her an opportunity to choose that is rare in the ordinary stores.

White Linen Belts

Here are dozens upon dozens of pretty Embroidered Wash Belts that have an adjustable buckle in gilt, makes belt any length you want it. Just snap it and it stays there. A 25c value for 15c

White Linen Purses

A new feature in these White Purses. They are made to wash, which removes the objection that people, although admiring them, have refrained from using them, 25c to 75c

FANCY HOSE

FOR THE WOMAN IN WHITE Dainty tints, colors of gray, pink, blues and lavender. In fine Imported lace lists, and in the shoe room we have Oxfords to match these Hoses. The Hoses are 50c, the Oxfords are $1.50 and $2.00

A Pretty Kimono

NOBODY DENIES THE BEAUTY OF A KIMONO Its charms is irresistible. Rich in colorings, yet fascinating, its matter who wears it. Comfortable, perfect negligee, yet handy at all times and dressy. Each year we have increased our stock. New arrivals this week offers you Long Silk Kimonos in high grade fancy Jap silks, satin faced, at $12.50 to $18.50 Short Kimonos in fancy figured lawns, 49c to $1.98

WEATHER AIDS WINTER WHEAT

Traders Show Satisfaction by Offering Wheat

RAIN ABUNDANT

Rain Supplies Long Felt Want in Ohio Valley and the Eastern States

Special to The Telegram. CHICAGO, June 9.—Traders in wheat gave vent to their satisfaction on the weather for the last twenty-four hours as affecting the growth of the article of commerce when they are chiefly interested, by offering the latter with great freedom at the opening at about half a cent lower than it was being sold at the close of the day before.

Rain Abundant

In the winter wheat country where harvest is in progress there was no rain and in the Ohio valley and eastward, as well as in Southern Missouri, Illinois and Indiana, rain in generous abundance was supplying a long-felt want.

Kansas Report

The market was very heavy till the receipt of the Kansas report after which it took an upward course that soon wiped out the early loss.

NO MAN IS STRONGER THAN HIS STOMACH. Let the greatest athlete have a proper diet and his muscles would soon fall. Strength is derived from food. If a man has insufficient food he loses strength, vertigo into nutrition through the stomach, each and bowels. It depends upon the strength of the stomach to what extent food eaten is digested and assimilated. Its associate organs of digestion, the liver, stomach, and bowels, perform their duty. Thus the stomach is really the vital organ of the body. If the stomach is weak upon the stomach the body relies for strength. And as the body is composed of a whole, is made up of its several parts and organs, so the weakness of each will be distributed among the other parts which compose the body. If the body is weak because of the weakness of the stomach, the weakness of the other parts will be distributed among the other parts which compose the body. "Parker-Lowe's Is The Place"

ST. IGNATIUS' TERM CLOSED

Commencement Exercises Display Unusual Merit

Last Thursday night at the Majestic Theater the pupils of St. Ignatius Academy held their commencement exercises and presented a program which has been unsurpassed by any similar program given throughout the history of the school.

HOLLISTER'S Rocky Mountain Tea Nuggots
A Busy Medicine for Busy People.
Relieves Constipation, Indigestion, Liver Troubles, Pimples, Eczema, Impure Blood, Brims, Stomach Bowls, Headaches, etc. Its Rocky Mountain Tea is tobacco-free. It comes a box. Genuine made by HOLLISTER'S DRUG COMPANY, Mpls., Minn.

There were fifteen numbers on the program all of which were excellently rendered, showing not only conscientious and skillful training on the part of the sisters but also a wonderful susceptibility to training on the part of the young girls.

At the time appointed the curtain rose, displaying to a crowded audience some 350 girls who made a very charming picture in their simple gowns of white. The audience experienced an intermission between the acts as the well-disciplined students were ever ready at their respective places when summoned on the stage.

Merchant of Venice
One of the best delivered numbers on the program was the court scene from "The Merchant of Venice," played by six talented young ladies who were evidently at home in the delivery of dramatic art. The characters were taken as follows:

"Duke"..... Miss B. Smith	"Antonio"..... Miss B. Murrin
"Shylock"..... Miss F. Palmer	"Merchant"..... Miss L. Dickson
"Bassanio"..... Miss M. Boland	"Portia"..... Miss K. McKinney
"Graciano"..... Miss M. Lavin	"Grand Jury"..... Miss K. Willis
..... Miss Z. Tyson Miss K. Pugh
..... Miss M. Crabtree Miss M. L. Hurley
..... Miss R. Smith

"The Palace of the King," another very interesting feature of the evening, was greeted with enthusiastic applause and encored. In this number Miss Mary F. Coyle played the part of the king and Miss Helen Hindman was the winning young signorina.

The music, both vocal and instrumental, was of the highest order and reflected great credit on the teachers in this department of St. Ignatius' academy.

The juniors were well represented and displayed the results of their training to good advantage in the doll, mountaineer and castanet drills. Miss B. Knight was the captain in the mountaineer drill.

Comic Opera
The most elaborate number on the program was the rendition of the comic operetta "Miss Doremifasolasin's First Experience of American Talent." The performance was very much enjoyed by the audience. The cast of characters follows:

..... Miss N. Sangunt Miss R. Hayes
..... Miss C. Mattison Miss B. McElwee
..... Miss L. Buzick Miss M. L. Hurley
..... Miss R. Smith

Clover

Honors For Miss McElwee

In the recent examinations at the St. Ignatius academy for the closing of the year's work the highest average in the sub-graduating class was obtained by Miss Beniti McElwee. In the tenth grade Miss L. Buzick won first prize. Prizes for composition were awarded to Misses Mary Boland and F. Palmer. Myrtle Dunne delivered an interesting address and the students are rapidly leaving for their homes.

NEW SUMMER DRINK

Jersey Cream is Proving Unusually Popular

Among the companies recently organized and doing business in Fort Worth one which has experienced remarkable growth is the Jersey Cream Company, W. G. Newby president and treasurer, J. N. Day vice president and C. J. Howell secretary. The purpose of this concern is the manufacture and sale of "Jersey Cream," a soft drink served at local soda fountains, and on sale generally throughout Texas, Oklahoma, Indian Territory, Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico and Kansas. Jersey Cream is put up in syrup form for fountain use and is also carbonated and bottled for domestic use. The firm erected a building for its own use and an enlargement of the plant is already threatened. Mr. M. A. Benton and C. J. Howell are in charge of the advertising and sales departments. They have placed Jersey Cream in all the jobbing centers of the state.

State Democratic Committee Meets Monday

LIST CANDIDATES

Place to Be Selected for Coming Convention, and Many Cities Seek Honor

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, June 9.—Meeting of the democratic state executive committee will be held here Monday for the purpose of selecting the meeting place for the democratic convention and listing the candidates who have qualified by filing their application with the secretary of state.

Chairman Andrews last week appointed subcommittees to arrange the work to come before the whole committee and sent out the following letter to members of the state committee: To the Members of the State Democratic Executive Committee of Texas. Houston, Texas, May 28, 1896.—In order to facilitate the business of the committee at its Austin meeting on the 11th day of June, I have taken the liberty of appointing the following committees:

1. On state ticket: Q. T. Moreland, Gordon Gaither, L. D. Guinn, J. A. Garrison and A. N. Justiss.

Section 109 of the Terrell election law provides that the state committee shall, by resolution, direct its chairman to certify to each county chairman in the state the names of such candidates and county of residence of each as shown by the request filed by the state chairman. So far as I have been able to ascertain, there is no provision made with reference to the order in which the names of the state candidates shall appear on the ballot.

Section 111 seems to indicate that each county committee shall determine by lot the order in which the names of state and district candidates shall be printed on the ballot, as well as the order of the county candidates. I beg to request this committee to make a thorough investigation of this question and report to the full committee its conclusions. If the state committee has anything to do with the order in which the candidates shall be placed upon the ballot in the various counties, then I request that the state committee submit some plan to the state committee that will cover this question, and that such plan be accompanied by appropriate resolutions.

Resolutions Committee 2. As a committee on resolutions and general suggestions of rules under the present law, and ways and means generally for the good of the party, and for the purpose of presenting such resolutions to the committee as may be deemed necessary, I have appointed the following committee: J. W. Fitzgerald, J. G. Griner, C. E. Lane, R. E. Carswell, R. A. Greer, R. J. Alexander and A. A. Peoples.

I should like for this committee to take into consideration generally all subjects upon which, in their judgment, the state committee should take action, or undertake to give direction, or establish a rule, if any may be, for the general conduct and government of primary elections, and such matters generally affecting the good of the party as may be considered proper for the state committee to act upon.

3. On ways and means for holding primary elections in counties, if any such there be, where the regularly organized local authorities refuse to hold primary elections for any purpose, or where they refuse to hold primaries for the purpose of nominating county officers, I have appointed a committee composed of Howard Tompkins, W. B. Moses, C. S. Pearson, C. C. Thomas, William Masterson, Rube S. Wells and George A. Robertson.

To Examine Law In this connection I beg to say that suggestions made to me from different sources indicate that at least in some counties the question is being seriously discussed as to whether local party authorities will hold primary elections for the purpose of nominating county Democratic ticket, and I beg to request of this committee that the law be examined and report made to the full committee.

(a) As to whether or not the law requires county nominations by primary election; and, if so

(b) Whether said law is mandatory; and, if so

(c) Whether there is any means by which county candidates may be nominated in accordance with the law, if the executive committee refuses to act; and, if there is

(d) Recommend a course of procedure in such cases. 4. On prescribing uniform test of qualification as to candidates and participants in primaries, if the state committee has any power on that subject, and the presentation of proper resolutions in connection therewith, I have appointed the following committee: S. I. Robinson, C. B. Potter, E. B. Seay, A. E. Masterson, Charles Schreiner, G. H. Goodson and George H. Boynton.

I call attention in this connection to section 103 of the law which provides that the executive committee in any part for any county may prescribe additional qualifications for voters. Whether this includes the state committee from prescribing any test, or whether it merely prescribes a test which is merely advisory, are questions to be considered, and it is concluded that the committee should take the committee herein appointed will bring in a proper resolution in that respect; also consider and advise the full committee whether or not either the state committee or a county committee may prescribe any party test as to the qualifications of candidates who desire their names placed on the primary election ballot, and if so, make such recommendations as may properly come before the committee by resolution or otherwise. As heretofore advised, I trust as many members of the committee as can conveniently do will be present in Austin on the morning of the 10th for general conferences on matters indicated in this letter and all other matters which may properly come before the committee for its consideration. And, in the meantime, I trust that the committee herein appointed will individually look into these matters so that when each committee on the morning of the 11th reports, there will be less difficulty in formulating action upon matters herein suggested.

Of course, all of this is entirely informal in the sense that it has not been authorized by the committee, but it is so arranged that it will be of great value to the committee in the handling of the business which may be considered by

Railroaders' Joint Board Asks Pointed Questions

The joint legislative board (railroaders) have formulated the following demands and are sending to legislative candidates blanks on which the candidates are requested to state their positions on each of the measures: A bill providing for the health and safety of persons employed in and around mines, and requiring periodic inspection of mines to enforce compliance with the law. It is asserted that practically every state in the union that has a mining industry except Texas has such a law. More than 5,000 men are engaged in this hazardous occupation in Texas, and the legislative board takes the stand that they are entitled to protection. A bill to provide for the safety of the public and the employees of rail-

CLEBURNE 9, FT. WORTH 8

That's the Story of the Saturday Game 7 IN 1 INNING Jarvis Goes in During Fourth, But Visitors Leave the Grounds in Triumph

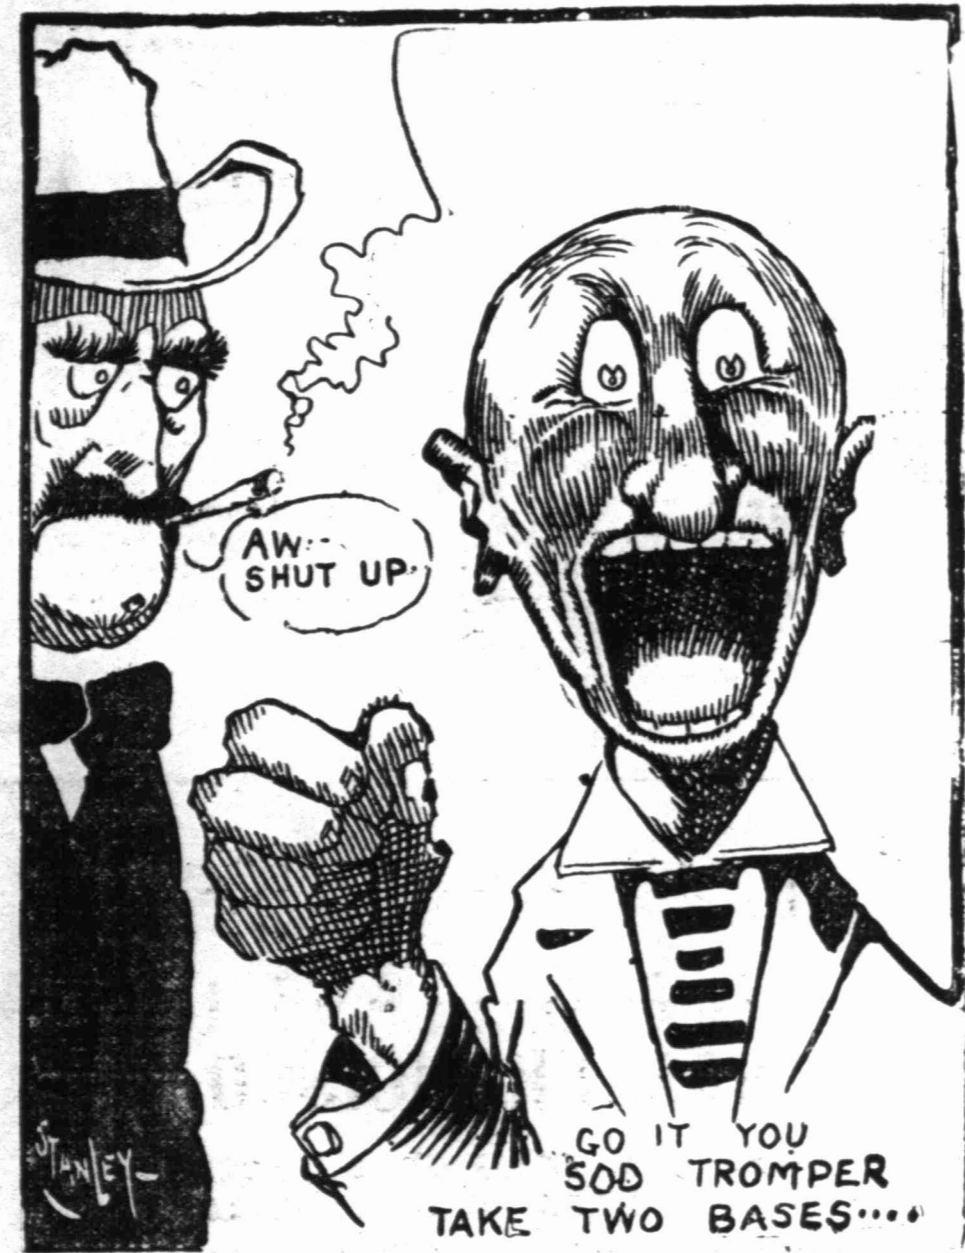

If Clayton, in the ninth inning, with two men out, three on bases, the score being 8 to 9 in favor of Cleburne, had put the other English on the short hit he lined down infield to Wright, the visitors' shortstop, then the game might have been different, the ball might have passed a few feet to one side of Wright and Boles could have been depended upon to make good at running in the tie—but the "if" is now but a "sawdust word of tongue or pen" and Fort Worth lost to Cleburne, after a memorable fourth inning, in which the visitors saw seven runs chalked up as a sort of tonic to their batting averages and general skill at the game.

In the fourth, after five men had approached the slab, two men being out, Jarvis was put in Clark's place in the box. The next man up landed safe at first, filling the bases, but Jack was not warmed up; the next two men walked, forcing in two scores, while the Cleburne contingent in the grandstand, of whom there were quite a number, went wild with joy at the entertainment afforded, whereby they walked over the Panthers and on the Fort Worth grounds.

Eleven men batted for Cleburne in the memorable fourth.

Jarvis did the best he could, under the circumstances—but, what's the use to kick? We can't win every day in the week.

Wright rendered some rather questionable decisions Saturday—did you ever notice that the person having the least chance to see clearly never agrees with the "Imp of the Indicator"?

Ollie bunts and runs for first—even in his sleep, so they say.

Boles still does sensational stunts in the pick-up line.

Special to The Telegram. TEMPLE, Texas, June 9.—White, the Temple pitcher, became sick in the third inning today, when his team was one run to the good. For some reason he was relieved by Captain Moore, who has no pitching reputation. The change was costly. Moore walked seven men, forcing two runs, which cost his team the game. Doyle, for Greenville, was given good support and he was batted all over the lot, yet the locals could not win. The score:

NATIONAL LEAGUE New York 7, Cincinnati 1 NEW YORK, June 9.—Rain delayed the opening of the game and darkness ended it in the seventh. It ran long enough for the Giants to sweep the Reds.

Pirates Awarded Game PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—The Pirates were awarded the game with the Phillies today by a score of nine to nothing. The home team refused to abide by a decision of the umpire. After warning the men to return to play he declared the game forfeited in the eighth inning. The score at that time was one to nothing in favor of Philadelphia.

Boston 6, St. Louis 3 BOSTON, June 9.—The tallenders added one more to their small string of victories by defeating St. Louis.

Chicago 2, Brooklyn 0 BROOKLYN, June 9.—The all-conquering Chicago team, who found Reulbach's pitching a problem they could not solve.

American League Detroit 7, Boston 6 DETROIT, Mich., June 9.—By knocking Donovan out of the box in the ninth, Boston tied the score and went ahead in the first half of the tenth. Detroit in a little batting rally won the game after one man was out.

Philadelphia 2, St. Louis 0 ST. LOUIS, June 9.—Philadelphia, favored by luck, won out in a closely contested game that was marked by brilliant playing in all departments.

New York 2, Chicago 1 CHICAGO, June 9.—Two passes given by Altrick blossomed into runs for the Highlanders and won them the game in the Chicago game.

Washington 1, Cleveland 3 CLEVELAND, June 9.—Washington was saved from a shut out by Hickman, who batted out a home run in the seventh. Cleveland made three runs on Washington's errors.

Memphis 7, Atlanta 3 MEMPHIS, June 9.—Atlanta was held to a scoreless tie in the seventh. Memphis won in the eighth.

Shreveport 3, Birmingham 2 BIRMINGHAM, June 9.—Shreveport won in the seventh. Birmingham was held to a scoreless tie in the seventh.

COLLEGE MEN RANK HIGH IN PROFESSIONAL BASEBALL

Since the advent of the college graduates into professional baseball, the moral standard of the national game has been increased and the sport today is on a higher plane than ever before.

Several college graduates refuse to play Sunday baseball, the most notable example being Roy Thomas, the University of Pennsylvania graduate, member of the Philadelphia Nationals.

It is a matter of record that nearly every college player who has entered the professional ranks has risen to the top of the baseball ladder, thereby proving that brains, training and associations have been important factors in his success.

New Orleans 3, Montgomery 2 MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 9.—New Orleans won in the seventh. Montgomery was held to a scoreless tie in the seventh.

Nashville 3, Little Rock 0 LITTLE ROCK, June 9.—Nashville won in the seventh. Little Rock was held to a scoreless tie in the seventh.

Galveston 3, Houston 1 HOUSTON, Texas, June 9.—Galveston won in the seventh. Houston was held to a scoreless tie in the seventh.

Beaumont 10, Lake Charles 0 LAKE CHARLES, La., June 9.—Beaumont won in the seventh. Lake Charles was held to a scoreless tie in the seventh.

San Antonio 5, Austin 4 AUSTIN, Texas, June 9.—San Antonio won in the seventh. Austin was held to a scoreless tie in the seventh.

Tulsa 3, South McAlester 0 SOUTH McALESTER, Okla., June 9.—Tulsa won in the seventh. South McAlester was held to a scoreless tie in the seventh.

NEW AUTHORS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

Theodore Roosevelt and Carnegie Represented

Among the authors represented in recent additions to the shelves of the Carnegie Library are Theodore Roosevelt, Captain B. B. Paddock, Bishop Potter, Andrew Carnegie, Sienkiewicz and several other favorably known writers. The President has added to the already long list of books on life out of doors a volume on "Outdoor Pastimes of An American Hunter." Captain Paddock has edited a "Twentieth Century History and Biographical Record of North and West Texas." Mr. Carnegie has a book on James Watt and Bishop Potter deals with the drink problem. A number of strong novels are added, including "On the Field of Glory" by Sienkiewicz, and "Spiders" by R. E. Beach. Several scientific subjects, mostly of a popular nature, are included in the list. The list follows:

BURTON HAS ANOTHER SIDE

Convicted Senator Beloved by Townspeople

STILL HAS FRIENDS

Reached Senate After Long Uphill Fight and has Kept Admiration of Supporters

THE HISTORY OF BURTON'S CASE
Jan. 23, 1904.—Indicted by federal grand jury in St. Louis on charge of acting as attorney before a government department to prevent a fraud order against Rialto Grain Company, while he was senator.
March 28, 1904.—Found guilty in St. Louis.
April 6, 1904.—Sentenced by Judge Adams to fine of $5,000 and six months' imprisonment.
July 20, 1904.—Justice Brewer of the United States supreme court grants writ of error.
Jan. 15, 1905.—United States supreme court reversed and remanded case for new trial.
Nov. 21, 1905.—Second trial commenced. Found guilty Nov. 26.
Nov. 26, 1905.—Sentenced a second time to same fine and imprisonment as before.
May 21, 1906.—Verdict sustained by United States supreme court, justices standing six to three.
May 22, 1906.—Given sixty days to file appeal for new hearing.

LAHEY GIVEN $500

Appraisal Committee Decides on Damage Award

William Lahey has been awarded $500 to be paid by the city of Fort Worth for his gravel bed in the Clear Fork above dam No. 1, and the city has been adjudged to pay all the cost in the proceedings.

Lahey owned a small tract of land above dam No. 1 in the Clear Fork, the land extending across the bed of the stream and from where he sold gravel that was washed down to that point from up stream. When the dam was built the accumulation of gravel ceased and Lahey's source of revenue was gone. He sued the city for damages and was given a verdict, but the case was appealed.

Pending the appeal condemnation proceedings were instituted by the city in the county court and Judge Milam appointed J. F. Henderson, Sam M. Fry and K. M. Van Zandt commissioners to investigate the contention and make report of their findings. The commissioners held a meeting at the city hall, which was attended by Lahey and representatives of the city and after hearing all the evidence submitted, condemned the property involved and awarded Lahey $500 as compensation. The award and condemnation applies only to the land and gravel, there and on either side of the river remaining his fee. The finding and award of the commissioners was filed in the county clerk's office Friday afternoon.

Colonel Harold, the well known stockman was watching the small boys fish in Marine creek where Exchange avenue crosses it.

SENATOR JOSEPH RALPH BURTON.

gully of violating an important federal statute and sentenced to fine and imprisonment.

Here it was he lived and prospered and by sheer force of determination made the name for himself which is now dragged in the muck the country over.

Burton was born in Indiana in 1852, worked his way through school as a boy and through college as a young man, married and came to Kansas in 1879. In Abilene he has lived ever since.

In the "boom times" of the 80's he joined his townsmen in an effort to make Abilene a metropolis. The bursting of the bubble took all the fortune he had gathered—and more. But he never whimpered, his speeches were denunciations of the repudiation of debts, then a fashionable idea in Kansas; he fought for business integrity and was the leader on the stump against populism.

Famous As Orator

Slender, black-haired, straight as an Indian, he ranked as the best orator in Kansas. He swayed crowds, and what was remarkable in a state so quick to resent, never enraged his opponents. He persuaded, he never abused. He attacked principles, not individuals.

He dressed better than any politician in the state, nor did he lessen his appearance's respect when out in the farming sections. Somehow the farmers liked it. They were his strongest backing for the senate. For twelve years he tried to win the place. In 1901 he attained to what is known in Kansas as "the fatal succession," because so many tragedies have marked the history of the senators who followed the disgraced John Lane, its first member.

The rest is familiar—in less than two years he was arrested, charged with being an attorney for a St. Louis firm in a government case before the post-office department in violation of a statute adopted forty years before, but never until then brought into court. Its violation meant fine, imprisonment and incapacity for holding a government office. His conviction and failure on appeal means that he must pay the penalty.

Every paper in the country outside his home has harshly denounced Senator Burton. It is, of course, no excuse under the law that he did not know of the existence of the statute under which he was convicted—yet that is probably true; it does not help that four out of nine United States associate justices said he had committed no wrong—five thought otherwise; it does not extenuate that he has received offers of assistance from scores of able attorneys in the country who believed him unjustly prosecuted, or that the company he was charged with favoring was after all never prosecuted by the post-office department and no fraud order was ever issued against it. The machinery of the courts has found him technically guilty.

Has Changed With Years

These two and a half years of such strain as comes to but few men in a lifetime have been the real test of Burton's nature. In his earlier days he was thought by some arrogant; as he grew older he became more suave and generous; today he has a philosophy that makes him less excited over the events of his prosecution than are his friends.

Once an opposing attorney in court called Burton a hard name. Quick as a flash Burton threw a heavy inkstand at the lawyer's head, barely missing the mark. He would not do that now. He waited the coming of a messenger the other day and though he supposed the yellow envelope contained news of the supreme court's decision, the most critical moment of his life, his hand was as steady as a rifleman's.

His townspeople make no difference toward him. Not since the day of his arrest has he entered the senate, nor save on two occasions has he made a public address, but he is barred from no social recognition. At the town parties, at the impromptu gatherings, he is a guest as before. For twenty years they have heard him as the most popular orator who could enter the "opera house." No big bills were needed—the announcement that Burton would speak filled the auditorium to the doors. Their sympathies are with him, even his political enemies do not rejoice. It is felt that his punishment has been out of all proportion to his transgression.

Some have real reason to be sorry. There are plenty of stories of his generosity. One's enough. For years a Western Union messenger boy, a widow's son, has been able to go to school because of monthly checks sent him by Mr. Burton.

In a small town a man hides little—and Senator Burton has in the quarter century past won the respect of his neighbors. He has not mingled in their local quarrels. His politics were on the big stage, and they are sincerely sorry for him.

Senator Burton is, of course, not an "issue" in Kansas politics now. He is not a candidate for the fatal succession. But the wheel of fate takes many turns in a life time, and it may not always be the downfallen side for Burton.

THE DUEL AT THE WESTERN STAR

(By E. Hough, Chicago, Author of "The Story of the Cowboy.")

Not apology but affectionate pride was the mental attitude of the community which supported the Western Star in the old skin-hunting days of the upper range. The resplendent saloon itself was the obvious apology for the straggling town which clung about its sturdy individuality. The Western Star could have done without Dickinsonville, but without the Western Star there could have been no Dickinsonville at all. Drawn to this central attraction there came at fitful intervals bands of buffalo hunters, trappers, early cow men, now and then a party of soldiers, or a bunch of migratory Indians already beginning to feel the pinch of the awful departure of the buffalo. Big wagons with bales of brown hides sometimes stood in rows along the streets of Dickinsonville, and greasy citizens dropped down from such wagons, carrying in their butcher knives dulled by hundreds of prime robes of the best northern dark. Lean and soft-walking men stalked along the streets, each carrying a heavy barreled rifle with a long firing sticks clutched to the barrel. All these different varieties of wild and sturdy men were in immediate need of whisky, or at least were firm in the conviction that such was the case. At no season of the year was this conviction more unshaken than on Christmas day, and on no Christmas day was it ever more unassailable certain than on that of the year of 1881, the same winter that Billy the half-breed was temporarily honoring Dickinsonville with his presence.

If in the society of Dickinsonville there were many sorts of men; some of them at least were men of experience in the world; men who had been down the river to St. Joe, even to St. Louis; men who had perhaps even fought at St. Paul, far across the prairies, where the Red river carts went with hides from the Saskatchewan herd. One such traveled man came back from some eastern point apparently much affected in his mind. He remonstrated of the opulence of the east. Whisky, so he said, was half the price that it was at Dickinsonville, and although it was of less searching sort, it was sometimes dispensed with the gratuitous addition of a real oyster or an actual fried egg. This man was ostracized, as there must be a limit to all things; but his vaporous talk on Billy's brain as pollen on a flower, before it ripened into fruitfulness of thought. Humor is at best a dangerous thing, and among citizens like those of Dickinsonville doubly dangerous. In the case of this liar from the east, Billy the half-breed was not humorist but judge. He conceived himself to be a sort of censor of morals. He had in view a merited rebuke, which should be conveyed in subtle sarcasm. It is true, but in such unmistakable form that this man must quell before the public reproach of his egotistical mendacity should receive. In furtherance of his plan Billy cloaked himself with Hank Peterson, proprietor of the Western Star. It took some time to explain the merits of the enterprise, but at last a sudden smile smote Hank.

Three days later a wondering constituency saw blazoned on the outer wall of the Western Star the following enigmatical legend: "A Ring With Every Drink." No one knew what that meant, but all men were aware that it had something to do with the egg and oyster story brought back from St. Louis by the returned liar. Trade was petrified, and Hank saw ruin impending, for although custom was ranged outside, it gazed and did not purchase. He reviled Billy, who leaned against the bar, tall, dark and smiling.

Curly, from the Three X outfit, was the first to investigate. He laid his four bits on the bar and got his drink. "An' where's my ring?" he asked with supercilious sarcasm. Hank laid hold of a rope which hung down the wall, and as he jerked it a solemn jangle from a suspended cow bell smote upon the air. Hank grinned at first broadly, then deprecatingly. Curly grew red and reached for his gun. "D-n you, you goin' to play funny with me, are you?" he said. But Billy smiled and caught his hand. "An' don't, Curly," he said. "Keep still now, we'll have plenty of fun." Curly all at once saw it in that light, and grinned as he went out the door, though the color was still in his hair. "Did ye git yer ring?" asked the public, as he carelessly walked by.

"I shore did," said Curly, "an' she's a bute."

"Less see her, Curly," said the public. "I'm goin' to give it to my girl, an' you all kin see it then. Go in an' git yourself one, you fellers."

And so they did, one of them, two of them, many of them, emerging with expressions various and not unanimously happy, but each man wrapped in reticence and asserting only that he had gotten his ring. The whole town was thus ultimately initiated, including the liar from St. Louis, who, publicly rebuked, mounted his horse and rode away from the scene of his discomfiture.

Just as he had been done and the wisdom of Billy's plan was fully vindicated. The bell hung idle for some days, until later on a little influx of foreign travel again brought it into a remembrance which forgot the loftiness of its original purpose. Thus are many noble ideas debased by those average men who make up the public. Great paintings are sometimes used for patriotic advertisements, the gross and the material lending always to draw down the delicate, the high and the refined. The bell must speak now, not of justice, but of laughter alone.

Living-ratting Johnson's wagon train pulled into Dickinsonville the day before Christmas with a heavy freight of hides and half a score of hard-faced, greasy, thirsty men. Old Bill Pendleton, former sheriff of the county, came in the same day from his trading up the Musselshell, and as it chanced, Curly, of the Three X, happened that day to blow across the range toward Partridge, commonly called "Tuesday" on the range, because it once took him until Tuesday to sober off. Lord Purinton had come over from England and was ready to rance a florid, solemn-faced man, who loved dearly to hunt and drink and who in his time did his share toward the extermination both of the buffalo and the whisky of the far northwest.

Living-ratting Johnson took his initiation first, and it must be said he completed himself like a man, simply exchanging the whisky for the gun. "Well, I'll be a Old Bill Pendleton, an' after refractory, but was at deleton after many rings, and finally went to sleep in the back room with his head in the wood box. It was Tuesday on Tuesday, and he was later in the evening when Curly, his fully led having first been called to attention by a public proclamation which a ring was offered with every drink purchased over the counter of the Western Star.

"A ring with every drink, man!" said Tuesday. "Extra'nary, most ex'tra'nary! You don't mean to say that the fellow will actually give me a ring if I buy a drink of him?"

"He shore will," said Curly. "I got one here the other day my own sweet self, an' yore money's as good as mine, I reckon." So, wondering very much at the strange customs of this strange country, Tuesday laid down a dollar, country, Tuesday laid down a dollar, drank, Tuesday drank and picked up his change.

"But, I say, where's me ring?" he asked, looking somewhat triumphantly at Curly.

"Single-angle-angle!" said the cowboy, pointing to the wall, and except Hank Peterson, all men there present broke into laughter, which was Tuesday's silence. It was a unwinking, bore no face, solemn and dignified for many a trace of appreciation of the joke. "I say, where's me ring?" he began again. "Billy, by this time smiling and a bit glassy-eyed, took him by the shoulder and silently pointed to the bell that hung on the wall.

"Single-angle-angle!" said the bell.

"Oh, I know, me good fellow! I see the cowbell, to be sure. But where's the ring you advertised with each drink the fellow bought?"

"Oh, the bon Dieu!" said Billy. "This is the awfulest thing that ever got west of the Ro' Jaune. Git out!" And he laid hands on Tuesday, late that he could not see fine wit.

Lord Purinton was in a transition stage between insular tradition and American progressiveness. He did not

TAX COMPROMISE HANGING FIRE

There has not yet been a meeting of the finance committee of the city council to consider the Winfield Scott tax compromise proposition. His attorney has manifested a desire to have the matter settled as speedily as possible and this is also the wish of the two members of the committee who are here. Alderman Lehane was appointed on this important committee, but resigned and, if that resignation holds, no successor has been appointed and the two members of the committee are loathe to take up a question of such importance alone.

The mayor has not appointed Mr. Lehane's successor.

GIRL'S ARM BROKEN

Alfred, the 10-year-old daughter of James S. Sanders, is confined to her room in Magnolia avenue with a broken arm and it will be several weeks before she will be able to use the injured member.

POST PICNIC PLANNED

At a meeting of the committee it was decided to hold the second annual picnic of Post J. T. P. A. at Herman's park Saturday evening, June 30. Invitations will be out shortly and the "Knights of the Grip" and their friends are looking forward to this even with great expectations of a glorious time.

COL. J. T. BONNER HERE

Reports interest in Uniform Rank increasing.

Col. John T. Bonner of Tyler, an aide on the staff of Major General Arthur Stobbs of St. Paul, Minn., commanding the uniform rank, Knights of Pythias, was here Saturday morning and reports that the interest manifested in the uniform rank in Texas was as great or even greater than he had ever known before. He regards the outlook for the uniform rank as bright indeed in Texas.

MACCABEES MEMORIAL

Services will be held here Sunday, June 17.

Memorial day will be observed by the Knights and Ladies of the Macabees of the World Sunday, June 17, in commemoration of departed members of the order. Fort Worth have No. 4 which has extended a cordial invitation to Bina M. West live No. 28, Floral and Worth tents and all Macabees to the service for this occasion, which will be conducted by the Rev. A. E. Dubber at the Christian Tabernacle at 7:30 p. m.

LEHANE'S RESIGNATION AFFECTS WINFIELD SCOTT PROPOSITION

There has not yet been a meeting of the finance committee of the city council to consider the Winfield Scott tax compromise proposition. BOOTH-REED WEDDINGS

Justice Rowland at 4:12 o'clock Saturday afternoon married Walter Reed and Miss Maud Booth, both of Fort Worth. One of the features for a justice of the peace wedding was the unusually large number of friends who were present at the ceremony.

HARVESTING WHEAT

The farmers in Tarrant and adjoining counties are harvesting the wheat crop not only in day time, but at night by moonlight.

The necessity for quick work is so urgent that reapers are being run both night and day, the moon giving sufficient light to operate the reaping machines.

It is a picturesque scene in the big wheat fields near Fort Worth and a number of people have left the city to witness the operation of the reapers and the men shocking the grain behind the reapers. The night work is being done for fear of another rainy spell, which would, if it came, put an end to harvesting and cause a heavy loss to the crop.

TO TALK ON SOUL

English Scientist Will Address Sunday Club Today

At the Sunday Club meeting at the First Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon, Dr. Chalmers Prentiss of London, England, will deliver his new lecture on "Scientific Proof of the Immortality of the Soul Without the Aid of the Bible."

Dr. Prentiss is a gentleman of pleasing manner and talks interestingly of his studies in the search for a definition of "Life." He was for many years a practicing physician, but lately has given his time to the evolution of ideas on the soul's existence.

Paxton & Evans Win Honors

They Are Awarded Second Place in Texas Press Association Job Printing Contest

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, June 7, 1906.—Paxton & Evans, 707 Main Street, Fort Worth, Texas—Gentlemen: We beg to announce that your samples were awarded second place in the state job contest of Texas Press Association. It was quite a task to choose between yours and the first place man, which place you were a very close second to. Certificate suitable for framing will be mailed to you in a few days, together with the order for award of $20 prize. Yours truly, T. E. STREIGHT, H. F. MAYES, E. M. BIGGERS.

This contest was open to all printing offices in the state and the winning of this award by this new firm of Fort Worth young men, they feel, is quite a compliment to their efforts in the production of good printing—the kind that both pleases and pays their customers.

There are many sheep in our country, but as most of the land is now cut up into farms and the people have not yet become accustomed to the new dispensation, Stock raising in so far as the market is concerned, is in a state of trouble and expense, for whatever people may say, 'the automobile may come and the automobile may go, but the horse and mule will be here forever, and no mistake. Prices are high for this branch of stock and it does not look as if there will be any chance soon."

OFFICER ELECTED

North Fort Worth Rathbone Sisters Have Meeting. North Fort Worth and Marine office of the Telegram, 1410 Rusk street, W. S. Holland, circulator. Classified advertising and subscriptions received there.

The North Fort Worth lodge of Rathbone Sisters met in business session Friday afternoon and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Mrs. Lottie Jordan, most excellent chief; Mrs. Mary Claypool, excellent senior; Mrs. Edith Treason, excellent junior; Mrs. Florence Daniel, manager; Mrs. Susie Landis, mistress of records and correspondence; Mrs. Pearl Outlaw, mistress of finance; Mrs. Mary Galloway, past chief; Mrs. Lizzie Colwell, protector of chapel, and Mrs. Pearl Valentine, outer guard.

It is the desire of the lodge to excite more interest in the work and to have better attendances at the meetings and to accomplish this a rather clever method was chosen. Two captains were elected, after which the lodge members were divided, one captain taking all occasional attendants, the other all regular attendants. The penalty is a supper treat to the regular attendants by the opposite side.

After the other business of a routine nature the meeting adjourned.

LAUNDRY TO BE IMPROVED

North Fort Worth Industry Will Be Enlarged. Word was received here Saturday from Austin to the effect that a charter has been granted to the Palace Steam Laundry Company of North Fort Worth. The incorporators are W. D. Davis and O. R. Sanders of North Fort Worth and W. H. Abernathy of Fort Worth. Capital stock $10,000.

It was announced Saturday by W. D. Davis, president of the Palace Company, that the Palace Steam Laundry Company is the incorporation of the old North Fort Worth Steam Laundry and that business will be operated in the same building in North Main street.

Mr. Davis recently purchased the interest owned by Mr. Jones of Houston, who was a half owner of the North Fort Worth Laundry Company, and that the interests of the new concern might be better protected, incorporation was planned in shape of an addition to the old building, together with some new and more modern machinery.

Officers to the new company are W. D. Davis, president; W. H. Abernathy, vice president; O. R. Sanders, secretary-treasurer and general manager.

North Fort Worth Notes

The building committee on the new building for the North Fort Worth Exchange National bank met last Thursday at which meeting they passed on the work and accepted the buildings as ready to be occupied. Plans and specifications. Opening of the bank for business is still delayed on account of non-arrival of office fixtures, though it is hoped that the opening would take place this week.

ELEVEN KILLED IN EXPLOSION

Hundreds of Tons of Dynamite Blown Up Plant ROAR DEAFENING

Building Disappears in Cloud of Smoke—Many Killed by Explosion

Special to The Telegram. LANCASTER, Pa., June 9.—In a blast of hundreds of tons of dynamite this afternoon eleven men were blown to atoms. Women working close to the scene of the explosion were marvelously saved. It was due to the blowing up of the dynamite factory of the G. B. McCabe Company or Pittsburg, near Piqua, that caused the tragedy. The dead are: GEORGE RINER, FRED RICE, GEORGE PARKER, PHILARET COLLINS, WILLIAM F. FUNK, JOHN BOATMAN, ERNEST TUCKER, EDWARD HOLMES, EDWARD MEYERS, BENJAMIN RINER.

The injured are: Henry Boat, Abram Swartz, Frank Cricksboggan, James Johnson, George Gray, David Dickinson, Walter Brown, Martin Riner, Charles Cramer, Jacob Schoff.

Plant Disappears. Hundreds of tons of the explosive were stored away in several buildings and in one of the work of dynamite making was going on. Eleven men were busy here in a room that was in the other structures. In another close to the factory proper were forty working girls. Suddenly there came a terrific roar and all the plant disappeared in a heavy cloud of mingled smoke and dust. Through this cloud dropped fragments of bodies. When the terror-stricken people from the town appeared, they found the girls hysterical. All were temporarily deaf and some were blinded by the terrible concussion, but none were fatally hurt. It will be days before they recover. Windows in houses a mile away were shattered.

BELL DENIES R. R. SUPPORT

Tells Temple Voter He is Not Candidate of Corporations

Special to The Telegram. TEMPLE, Texas, June 9.—C. K. Bell addressed the largest political audience of the campaign here. In his speech delivered here tonight he made a most favorable impression. He took occasion to emphatically deny that he was the favored candidate of corporations, or had been picked out for their support. He also disclaimed the organized support of the railway attorneys and cited the case of Colonel Campbell, who is being supported by such influential railway lawyers as Marshall Hillgrove, Ramsey of Cleburne, and Shropshire of Weatherford; all representatives of the Gould lines and whom he believed to be supporting Campbell.

Brooks at Corsicana. CORNICANA, Texas, June 9.—Judge M. M. Brooks, candidate for governor, was here today and spoke to a large and favorable audience. He favored putting the school facilities; discussed the lobby and would do nothing to put the school out of work on the roads, opposed the free pass; favored the home for Confederate soldiers; favored local option for which he had voted for thirty years; favored the occupation tax; opposed the tax commission as proposed by one of the candidates and believed in the enforcement of all laws. Colonel C. E. Gilbert was the only other speaker in present and after Judge Brooks had closed announced his candidacy for land commissioner in a brief talk.

Colquitt at Paris. PARIS, Texas, June 9.—O. B. Colquitt delivered two addresses to the voters in Paris and that vicinity today, appearing first in Honey Grove before a large audience. He favored putting the same. Both speeches were practically the same. The candidate declared the only real trust in Texas is the office holders trust, whereby one-third of the state is controlled in hereditary order; asserted that Bell was not responsible for securing fines from corporations to the amount of $71,000; brought the suits and contented that after the legislature placed the duty of enforcing the anti trust laws exclusively in hands of Attorney General Bell not a suit was filed, not a judgment secured and no fines collected. He defended his vote on the cotton differential in Galveston freight rate.

SCHOOL YEAR ENDS

Theresa Institute Closes Sessions for Summer

Special to The Telegram. TULSA, I. T., June 9.—St. Theresa Institute, a Catholic school, this week closed for the present school year after finishing one of the most successful years in the history of the school. The final exercises showed careful preparation. The students have gone to their homes for the summer vacation and the superior and sisters of the school will leave for San Antonio, where they will remain until the opening of school next fall.

13,000 DEEDS SIGNED

Papers Will Be Delivered by Commissioner Upon Application

Special to The Telegram. MUSKOGEE, I. T., June 9.—The commissioner to the five civilized tribes has announced that the commissioner will deliver Cherokee deeds upon application. All the deeds will be delivered by way of registered mail. At present there are about 7,500 deeds ready. W. C. Rogers, chief of Cherokee, has just finished signing 13,000 deeds and as soon as these are received they will also be delivered.

CINCINNATI IS WITHOUT WATER

People Suffer and Street Cars Stop Running

Special to The Telegram. CINCINNATI, Ohio, June 9.—Cincinnati is in the midst of a water famine that began in a lack of water supply on the hill tops of the suburbs yesterday afternoon and extended to the downtown districts today. For the greater part of the afternoon street cars were unable to run because of the need of water to keep up steam in the company's power plants. Residents in many sections of the city are obliged to carry water from wells and cisterns to meet the ordinary household needs.

Despite Loss of Eyesight Girl Wins Fame as Musical Composer

MISS PATTIE RANDLE OF CLEBURNE.

Special to The Telegram. CLEBURNE, Texas, June 9.—Although handicapped by falling eyesight, which for several years has prevented her from reading the notes of the compositions she plays, Miss Pattie Randle of this city is winning fame for herself as a musical composer, not only in Texas, but in the north and east.

Recently Miss Randle received an order from a large phonograph establishment in New York for one of her compositions, "La Rosa," a Mexican intermezzo, to be arranged for a full orchestra, the purpose being to make a phonograph record of it. This work of arrangement was done by Professor Phil Epstein of Fort Worth, who transcribed the air as Miss Randle played.

Unlike many composers, Miss Randle is the author of selections both simple and difficult. Besides "La Rosa," an unusually pretty intermezzo, she has written "Bambina," another Mexican air; "The Dance of the Blue Bonnets," "Fascination," a waltz; "Tell Me Why," a song, and a large number of other selections.

The story of her life is quite interesting. At the age of 5 she began the study of music in Rockdale, Texas, spending most of her time at the piano she was soon far in advance of her playmates and at the age of 12 could play the most difficult pieces, giving them an expression that was equaled by few. After leaving Rockdale she studied two years in Cleburne on both the piano and violin. She gave up the study of music at the age of 17, as the strain on her eyes was too much and it was then that she began composing.

Miss Randle has traveled a great deal and her delightful character and grace of manners has won for her many friends throughout this country and Mexico.

WILL HOLD RALLY
Von Ogden Vogt to Stop in Fort Worth En Route East

Von Ogden Vogt of Boston, Mass., who is a guest of the Worth, is the general secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor and is on his way back from the Houston meeting of the state organization. Mr. Vogt will hold a general rally of the Endeavorers of Fort Worth and their friends at the Christian Tabernacle this afternoon at 3 o'clock. But few of the more prominent of the active workers in the ranks of the Christian Endeavor Society of the United States have done better or more effective work than Mr. Vogt. The last meeting of the International was one of the greatest successes of any of the International Endeavor meetings, and that result is largely attributed to the ability displayed by Mr. Vogt in the preparation of the program, for that was almost entirely his work. Of the man and his methods the Baltimore American has this to say: "Success met his efforts upon every side, and the results have been fully set forth through the press over the entire country. "Doubtless the key to the splendid success attained by Mr. Vogt is the fact that he is a young man with remarkably matured and sincere ideas. Many persons will scarcely believe that Mr. Vogt is only 26 years of age. In this respect the typifies the real endeavor of the great society—that of securing and holding young men."

PICNIC JULY 4
Uniform Rank Knights of Pythias to Give Annual Outing

July 4 is the date chosen by the Uniform Rank Knights of Pythias for their annual picnic. It will be given at Lake Como and from fifty to one hundred persons are expected to participate in the exhibition drills, sham battle and other features of the day. An invitation has been extended to the Polytechnic college Uniform Rank to be present and also invitations have been made to the Grand Army of the Republic and the United Confederate Veterans to participate in the sham battle that day.

There will be a meeting in Castle hall this afternoon at 2 o'clock for the purpose of arranging for further supplying of uniforms to all members who have not been measured for their suits. It is expected that all members who have not been measured will be present.

Prominent Democrats Would See Him Head State Ticket

Special to The Telegram.
WATERGOWN, N. Y., June 19.—Prominent Democrats throughout Northern New York say that they are beginning to see a vast sentiment arising for William Randolph Hearst for governor and that they believe he not only will be the regular nominee of his party but will sweep the state on election. Fred Stowell, a prominent Democratic attorney of Cape Vincent, a few days ago declared that the Democrats who heretofore had been against Hearst, were rallying to his support. "He is the man we must nominate," he said. "The time has come when the people demand a man in whom they can have confidence and one who will not be dictated to by the trusts. William R. Hearst just fills the bill and if we nominate him on the regular ticket, I have no doubt that he will be swept into office by a tremendous vote."

Republicans of Pennsylvania Nominate Candidates

By Associated Press.
HARRISBURG, Pa., June 9.—The republican state convention today nominated the following candidates: Governor, Edwin S. Stewart, Philadelphia; lieutenant governor, Robert S. Murphy, Cambria county; auditor, General Robert K. Young, Tioga county; secretary of internal affairs, Henry Houck, Lebanon.

Little Opposition
There was apparently no organized opposition to the ticket. The platform after congratulating the state on the rule of the national and state republican administration heartily commended the administration of President Roosevelt and his stand on the anti-trust law.

The platform declared continued belief in the doctrine of protection to American industries and urged amendment of the immigration and naturalization laws. The platform declares opposition to the ownership of coal mines and the mining of coal by railroads or transportation companies and pledged the party to the enactment of such legislation as may be necessary to make effective the constitutional provision on that subject.

DODGED BY FIELD

Chicago Citizens So Declare in Open Letter

Special to The Telegram.
CHICAGO, June 9.—The city of Chicago and Cook county are losers to the amount of $3,000,000 through the tax-dodging of Marshall Field.

This was revealed in an open letter by E. E. Prussing, president of the Citizens' Association to the Cook county board of review.

In the letter Mr. Prussing shows that Mr. Field for many years paid taxes on only $1,000,000 personally; that finally, ten years ago, the board of review increased his assessment to $2,500,000, that Mr. Field threatened to withdraw his residence from Chicago entirely and thereby avoid paying 1 cent of taxes here if the assessment were increased beyond this sum.

That this sworn returns of the Field estate show that the assessment should have been $17,500,000—$15,000,000 more than the assessment. In all Mr. Field dodged paying $3,000,000 in taxes to the community.

SENATE PASSES
TILLMAN BILL

Measure Prohibits Contributions by Corporations

Special to The Telegram.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 9.—The senate this afternoon passed the Tillman bill prohibiting certain classes of corporations from contributing money for political campaigns.

The bill as originally drawn by Mr. Tillman included railroads and all other corporations engaged in interstate commerce, in addition to National banks. It was referred to a sub-committee comprising Senators Foraker, Knox and Bailey. The sub-committee held that congress cannot control railroads operating under state charters and has no authority over certain classes of local elections.

They agreed that congress has full power to forbid National banks making contributions for political purposes. This belief also applied to all railroads under Federal charters, such as the trans-continental subsidized lines and all others organizations with Federal charters.

Special to The Telegram.
BRUNSWICK, Ga., June 9.—The advance guard of the squads of foreign laborers whom it is proposed to bring into this section has arrived and consists of eighteen Germans. These men are now at work at the mill of the Taylor Cook company and have quarters in the small houses near the mill. Another squad of German and Swedes is scheduled to reach here about June 25, and still other squads will follow until the 200 men have been given employment. If the work is satisfactory others will be brought.

THE MODERN KITCHEN IS ONE OF COMFORT

The hair and the hat are so interdependent in the new spring styles that it behooves the average woman to pay what may be an unwonted attention to her wavy locks and their dressing.

While shapes are small, decidedly small, even to the point of coquishness, it must be confessed that many of the freakish airs and outlines that characterized the autumn millinery and that of the early winter is delightfully lacking. A more sober mood seems to have struck the designers. The woman who has passed her quarter century milestone will not find the selection of a spring chaparran nearly so difficult as her winter one proved to be; while as for the dowager, there are some decidedly modish models that are sensible and quiet in tone withal.

The coiffeurs of Paris have decided that the big, overhanging pompadour is already a thing of the past; and its successor is quite a moderately-sized affair, seldom or never built up with a "rat" or pad underneath; just the natural hair waved and trained to just the right angle of becomingness. Whether the hair be dressed high or low—and one is equally as modish as the other nowadays—there is supposed to be some fullness over the forehead and ears, wherewith to fill out the sometimes awkward angles that the milliner has left in her design.

Those dear little turbans are taking to themselves quite an amount of fashionable attention; and while there are many of quite a respectable size, quite the most stylish ones are those of abbreviated proportions. The little sailor, too, has submitted itself to the same cutting-down process; and the high-crowned and stiff-brimmed sailor which has come back again—those that the English princesses are so much attached to, if reproductions of photographs are to be believed—displays a narrowness of brim which nothing but a cleverly constructed coiffure can make at all becoming to the average wearer.

One point that those amateur milliners who are oftentimes so successful are bound to welcome is that the pressed straw shape is the one that really leads the mode at present. The made hat, constructed from straight lengths of straw braid manipulated

FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN.

A new school bag, or, rather, box, has superseded the one of cloth which the school-going youngster swung across his shoulder as well as the leather hand satchel in which his elder sister preferred to carry her text-books.

The novelty is nothing more nor less than a small size of dress suit case, which all of the children are now clamoring for and which is being turned out in large quantities to meet the demand.

The little cases come in a variety of styles, notably imitation leather and cloth with leather corners. There are, of course, many of real hide, made in every way like the well-built suit case, but the cheaper grades, retailing from one dollar down, are naturally more popular with the youngsters. They are carried this season by both boys and girls from primary grade to college preparatory.

TROUBLE AHEAD.

The father of a large family in Giffertville took his fourteenth child to the church to be christened. On entering the church, and while preparations were being made, the priest asked him by what name he would like to call the child.

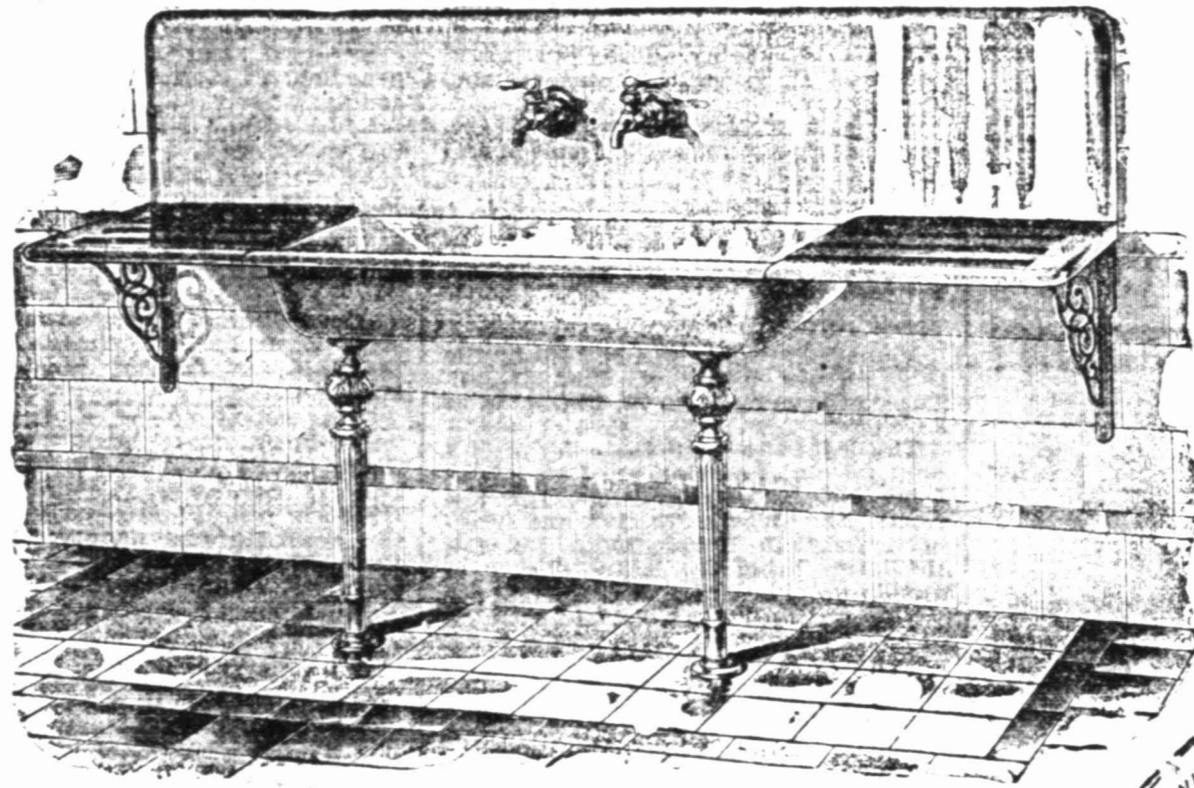

The father said he had forgotten the name the family had chosen, so the priest mentioned several, which were not the right ones. At last the father agreed to call it Michael, so when the ceremony was finished and the people were leaving he turned to the priest and said: "I don't know what my wife will say, for we have not had time to choose a name."

over a wire frame offered difficulties that few without professional instruction could overcome. But with the pressed shape on view in the shops in such delightful variety, the fact that bandeaux and cachepeignes are to be purchased already covered in velvet or satin, and that trimmings are supposed to follow the simple mode, all those facts combine to make the spring millinery a thing of easy achievement to the home milliner. She who is gifted with what the French so expressively term "the knack of the fingers," can have chapaux galore, for all of the style is expressed in the shape, with perhaps just a note of emphasis in the thrusting of a quill, or the trend of a feather. The models that are illustrated upon this page have all been selected with their reproduction by the home milliner kept clearly in view.

HOME NOTES.

The use of nuts as everyday food is increasing. One of the newest ways of baking apples is to core them and fill the centers with sugar and chopped almonds. They are really very much better than ordinary apples, and possess a higher food value.

If you have a pan or bottle of soured milk, let it stand until it is thick. Put tarnished silver forks, spoons and small pieces into a shallow pan and pour the milk over them. Let them remain in the milk half an hour or longer, then wash them and rejoice in their brightness.

SINK FITTED WITH DRAIN BOARD

WITH THE MILLINER AND THE HAIR DRESSER

The architect and furniture maker have effected more changes in the kitchen than in any part of the modern home. The culinary department of the present day bears little resemblance to the great, roomy kitchen of our grandmothers, which not infrequently served as a living as well as a dining room. The modern kitchen is simply a place in which to prepare meals; nothing more. There is not an inch of space wasted.

The housewife who worked in the old-time kitchen walked miles in the course of one day's duties. Her successor works in a more restricted space, but she works more conveniently, and she takes no steps at all, where her mother took hundreds in performing the same work.

The model kitchen of today "has a place for everything and everything in its place."

It is no longer necessary to make numberless trips to the cupboard in the far corner for the sugar and the unwieldy "four board," to the sink closet for cooking utensils, and to the cellar for things to cook.

All of these articles are now to be found in the cabinet that stands within reaching distance of the kitchen range. The only steps necessary are to procure the articles that must be kept in the refrigerator and to the kitchen sink. And in the best regulated kitchens the sink is also placed within easy access of the stove and cabinet.

The model kitchen of today contains just three articles, besides the chair or two of substantial design—the stove, the cabinet and the white enameled sink. With these three articles of furniture, however, the housewife can accomplish her work more quickly and with less fuss than did her predecessor, who had a great big kitchen all cluttered up with things that had to be cared for, besides the cleaning of the large kitchen was itself a task of formidable proportions.

Nowadays she works on a zinc-covered table and a white enameled drain board.

A WOMAN.

When it saw her hair, Day said: "I come too soon! Night has not gone, although There is no moon."

LEGHORN, ROSES AND QUILLS.

The natural color leghorn shape is wired and piped with a milliner's fold of black satin on the upper brim. The back brim is then turned up sharply in a series of flutes, these filled in with delicate pink and rich, red roses. On the right side, the shape is bent so as to lay in close to the head. The left side is drawn one of those invisible hair nets which covers the coiffure so perfectly, and at this point is posed a huge bunch of shaded pink roses which hold in place the smart, black quills that shoot

SAVE THE OLD NEWSPAPERS.

For polishing windows and mirrors there is nothing that does the work quite so well as newspaper, owing, it is said, to some quality of the printers' ink.

To make a thin light crust on bread put a piece of brown paper over the top and cover it with a sheet of newspaper when baking.

When cleaning silver spread a newspaper on the table so that the dry powder may fall on it and be easily taken up.

The illustrated pages will furnish unlimited amusement for children, for where is there a child that does not delight in cutting and pasting? If papers are spread on the floor to catch the scraps it need not be a pastime that requires a lot of cleaning up afterward.

Cut newspaper sheets into four pieces, put a string through one corner and hang near the sink. If a sheet of paper is placed under any cooking utensil that is set in the sink after being taken off the stove much scrubbing and cleaning will be saved.

Time and labor will be saved if newspapers are placed on the kitchen table when vegetables are being cut up and cleaned.

All In.

"Ah, Lammchen, how goes it since you're married?"

"Badly, very badly! I'm not allowed to smoke, and I can't drink wine or beer, and I can't leave the house evenings."

"I suppose then you're sorry you married?"

"O, no! I'm not allowed to be sorry for anything!"

BRIEF HINTS.

The accepted dress for the nurse maid when traveling is all black. If the house she may wear a print gown with large white apron, plain white collar and cuffs and white muslin cap. Print gown dresses are preferred to dark woolen ones, as I must be laundered frequently, and can not be worn when soiled. Any one taking care of small children can not be too careful in the neatness and cleanliness of her dress.

No luncheon or dinner table is complete nowadays without its favors, and to one who entertains frequently these little gifts count up to a good round sum. It is quite possible for the clever woman to invent many artistic ideas for her own use. The favors bought in the shops are costly because they are novelties, not because of the cost of production.

It is a good plan to buy a model and fashion the required number from it.

For general use fine French embroidery continues popular, a preference being shown for corner designs instead of those bordering the handkerchief all around. Monograms are also seen, the newest framed in geometrical designs or in chains formed of plain links.

OVER POLITE.

The gentleman of the east feels bound out of politeness to give one the answer that will prove most agreeable. An English motor car enthusiast who attempted recently to tour through northern India gives this as an example of the difficulty of obtaining route information from intelligent natives by repeated inquiries:

"Is it far to Ghigit?"
"Not so far, your highness."
"One or two kos?"
"Yes, your highness."
"Isn't it three?"
"It may be, your highness."
"Is that what it is?"
"It may be five or six, your highness."

"Then why did you say it was one or two?"
"To please your highness."
"Now, what is the real distance?"
"Whatever your highness please."

UNKNOWN NEGRO SLASHES WOMAN
Bleeding Colored Woman Is Brought to Police Station

While Emma Richards, aged 24 years, sat at police headquarters bleeding from a slash she said had been inflicted by an unknown negro man on the Jennings avenue viaduct about 10:30 o'clock Saturday night, police officers quizzed her as to the description of her assailant, a representative of the city physician arriving at the city hall at 21, that a medical attention to her injured condition.

The woman said to newspaper men who were present that she was employed as a cook by Mrs. C. J. Murray in Hemphill street, that she had been in attendance at a session of the negro skating rink at the corner of Fourteenth and Houston streets and that she was returning to her home from the rink in company with others, when a quarrel occurred between a negro man and a woman in the party. She said she was near the couple quarreling and that the man made some motion toward the woman. About the same time, according to her statement, she felt a sharp sting in her right arm, above the elbow and in a moment she found that she had been cut by a knife. The man who had held the knife fled across the viaduct toward the south and others also left.

The woman was discovered crying, walking down the avenue north from the viaduct, by negro men in Jennings avenue, the men finding her bringing her to police headquarters, where an hour and a half later, she received medical attention.

No arrests have been made.

PHILADELPHIA JUNE 17
Republican Jubilee to Meet in Original Convention Hall

Postmaster Barkley does not think it likely he will attend the golden jubilee convention of the National Republican League to be held in Philadelphia June 17.

The first republican national convention was held in the Musical Fund hall, Philadelphia, just fifty years ago next Saturday. The jubilee, which will be celebrated in the same hall.

At the first convention the platform adopted declared for the enforcement of the federal constitution, the preservation of the union of the states and the maintenance of human rights.

John C. Fremont of California was nominated for President, and William L. Dayton of New Jersey for vice president. Abraham Lincoln received 110 votes for the nomination for vice president at this convention.

Living survivors of the campaigns Garfield, Arthur, Blaine, Harrison, McClellan, Lincoln, Grant, Hayes, McKinley and Roosevelt will be present at the jubilee.

WHO WOULD GO TO WASHINGTON?
College Scholarship Goes Begging in Fort Worth

There have been no applications for the scholarship offered by Washington college, Washington, D. C., to any graduate of the Fort Worth high school whom the superintendent and the principal might recommend.

There are other expenses attached to the scholarship than the mere tuition, which is the extent of the offer of the institution, and it may be that the additional expense, and the fact that the offer is for but one year specifically, though it is expected that if a high school graduate accepted the offer would be continued, contributed to the failure of any of this year's graduates to apply for the scholarship. There will be no examination needed, if the application is made, and the recommendation will determine the matter finally.

ZURN ATTENDING MASONIC MEETING
Fort Worth Shriner Leaves for Chicago

J. F. Zurn, Texas and Pacific agent here, left Saturday morning for Chicago to attend the meeting of the Shriners and other Masonic bodies. These meetings were to have been held in San Francisco but that plan was destroyed by the earthquake. Then it was thought that Los Angeles would be the most suitable place, but that city felt that, in view of the disaster which had befallen her sister city, it could not enter into such festivities and usually accompanies these gatherings and did not encourage the suggestion. Hence the meeting in Chicago. Mr. Zurn will be away about three weeks.

WORK PROGRESSING ON MARINE BRIDGE
New Steel Structure Soon to Be Complete

John M. Hall, city engineer of North Fort Worth, is making rapid progress in clearing away the debris in Marine creek at North Main street, where the old frame bridge was wrecked some two weeks ago. It has been quite a job to tear down the old stone work, it being found necessary to make eight blasts to accomplish this. Saturday the stone work on the south side of the stream disappeared. The one abutment or stone wall on the north bank is left remaining and will be used for the new steel bridge.

Mr. Hall is planning an improvement in the new bridge over the old one. He will put the steel structure in line with the road as it crosses the creek, thus leaving space for another span, should a track bridge be necessary later. The stone masons will begin work in about a week.

It will be remembered that the steel span is to be eighty feet long and sixteen feet wide. The steel of this superstructure is to be furnished and put in place by a local company at a cost of $1,050. The county of Tarrant will contribute to the entire cost $250.

ATTORNEYS RETURN
Status of Live Stock Cases Remains Same at Austin

Messrs. Capps, Hanger, Miller and Canteley, who for several days have been at Austin, representing the interests of those members of the Texas Live Stock Exchange and the cattle commission men, against whose proceedings have been instituted the alleged violations of the Texas anti-laws, are in Fort Worth, and there is no special change in the status of the cases.

After the trial the judge at Austin had directed the prosecution to introduce its witness the attorney general drew out a paper which he asked to have filed, in the nature of a mental information or series of allegations in reference to the case.

Using the advantage the law afforded in such cases, the defendants continued the cases until the October term of the grounds of surprise.

There is no real alteration in the status of the cases, which are yet to be tried on their merits.

Come Up Where You Belong

Perhaps you know why you fail in the plans for money, fame and position.

Some Don't.

Just why the brain does not produce practical money making results is a puzzle to many men.

Strong, healthy, natural brains can be made from food, and good brains can work keenly when they have their proper food.

Unsuccessful brains often come from improperly selected food.

A distinct improvement in mental power will follow in a week or ten days, when the brain-building food is used twice a day.

Grape-Nuts

There are well established and very clearly understood reasons for these sure results from the change in food. You can make Money, Position, Fame if you have the kind of Brain that works that way.
