Chairman Shonts Visits Isthmus and Will Spend Month Inspecting Huge Ditch

WASHINGTON, July 20.-Admiral Endicott, a member of the isthmian canal commission, resumed his duties of chief of the bureau of yards and docks of the navy department after a trip to Panama, where he attended a meeting of the canal commission. Admiral Endicott says the work is progressing well, though at present it is largely preparatory work that is being done. He spoke in high terms of Colonel Gorgas, saying what he accomplished in the day of sanitation was wonderful, not only on account of the great difficulties which he encountered but especially because of the effectiveness of his work. He says there have been only a few cases of yellow fever there during the past year and none since last November.

Shonts Inspects Work Chairman Shonts expects to remain on the isthmus for about a month, during which time he will make a thorough inspection of every work be-Admiral Endicott says Governor Magoon has an office in the City of Panama within a few blocks of the president of the republic and there seems to be the most friendly relation existing between them and the people on the isthmus. General health conditions, the admiral considers, are very satisfactory.

BIG CROP PREDICTED

Predicted Southwest Texas Will Produce 120,000 Bales of Cotton Special to The Telegram.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 20.-A prominent cotton buyer of this city, who had just returned from a close inspection of the cotton territory contributory to San Antonio, says the cotton crop of southwestern Texas will be 120,000 bales, which at an average price of 10 cents would bring $6,000.-000 in to this city. The estimate is only for the cotton that will be marketed here. His estimate in detail is as follows:

On the International and Great Northern south, 40,000 bales; north, 5,000 bales; Aransas Pass, north 20, 000 bales, south 8,000 bales; Sunset, west 20,000 bales, east 5,000 bales; Gulf Shore, 12,000 bales; wagon receipts, 5,000 bales. He says the present prospects for the crop is fine and that uness worms come as a result of the recent rains this section will have the bumper crop of its history.

COURT TO PUNISH CITY OFFICIALS

Mayor and Chief of Police Are Charged With Contempt

By Associated Press. TOPEKA, Kan., July 20 .- W. W. Rose, mayor of Kansas City, Kan.; Vernon J. Rose, chief of police, and John W. Kelley, captain of the police of that city, were yesterday cited to appear before the state supreme court and show cause why they should not be punished for contempt in violation of the court's order prohibiting the city to exact revenue from saloons. Paid for Protection

The specific argument against these officers is that in May, 1906, they exacted from a large number of persons $50 each, "upon agreement, express or implied, that they should have the privilege of operating joints" without molestation from the police.

It is also alleged that in June, 1906, $100 was exacted from each of these persons for the same cause.

The woman directed the men of the gang in selecting the material to be taken. She accompanied them from the truck into the store and followed each bundle of clothing out to the street. There she superintended the packing of it on the wagon.

Robbery Seen by Many

Although the Continental patrols saw, not suspecting that the store was being robbed, they believed the concern was moving and that the woman was a saleswoman or floorwalker in charge of the work. The place was that of I. A. Harris & Bros. at No. 42 East Twentieth street.

The bright lights of Broadway illuminated the entrance to the buildng and it would not have been possible for the burglars to make the raid without being observed, for at all brains of the day and night persons fin the hotel across the street are

All Lights Turned On

At is evident that the burglars had taken this into consideration and planned accordingly. At 11 o'clock Wednesday night they drove to the building in the truck. A glass cutter and a jimmy were used to gain an entrance. Then the doors were thrown wide open and the men went leisurely about their work. They lighted every electric light in the rooms and began carrying out bundle after bundle. An inventory taken yesterday disclosed that about one thousand pieces were taken, among them 300 skirts and 250 rainceats, valued at $3,000.

When the woman chief thought everything worth taking had been loaded upon the wagon, the burglars drove away. The robbery was not discovered until yesterday.

to Be Inferior-Police Captain

Is Indicted

After being in session sixteen working days, the grand jury adjourned Thursday afternoon, returning eightysix bills of indictment in open court and submitting to Judge Dunklin a written report of the result of its investigation into certain matters.

Police Captain Indicted Among the indictments returned one was against Night Police Captain T. Blanton, who is charged with the offense of maiming in connection with the shooting of a prisoner confined in the county jail, who was making an attempt to escape at the time he was Among the felony indictments :eturned were the following, alleging the offenses named: W. H. Norris, forgery; Joe Wicks, murder; C. H. Green, assault to murder; J. M. McMahan, burglary; George Moore, burglary, and C. Welch, burglary. All of these parties are now in the county jail. Joe Wicks, against whom the indictment for murder was returned, is charged with killing a negro named Bill Johnson at the livery stable on the corner of Eighth and Rusk streets. George Moore, against whom a burgindictment was returned, is charged with breaking open the safe of the National Fruit and Produce Company and2 taking between $200 and $300 in cash. Moore claimed at the time he was arrested that he was forced by threats of death by two unknown men to open the safe and take out the money, the larker portion of which they kept themselves.

Report in Full Following is the report of the grand jury to Judge Dunklin of the Fortyeighth district court

Hon. Irby Dunklin, Judge of the Forty-eighth Judicial District: Sir-We, your grand jury, in closing our session, beg leave to make the following report: Delinquent Officials

Our body had a consultation with the county commissioners concerning delinquent county officers, looking to the employment of help for the county auditor in order to finish at an early date correct statements to enable the filing of suits, if necessary, against

Our information regarding the fee oill is that its constitutionality has been unquestioned for some time, and other suits decided by the highest courts have interpreted all, or practically all of its provisions. There is, therefore, in our opinion no reason why Tarrant county should not compe! all its delinquent officials to settle their arrearages as soon as the proper statements can be made. We are told that some of the officials will probably come forward and liquidate their indebtedness without allowing suits to be filed against them when notified of the amounts they owe. We are further told that some of the statements as long as three years-and suits have even been filed on same. It occurs to us that it would not consume very much time nor cause a very large outlay of money to have the remaining accounts prepared and then make an active and persistent effort to collect

Biscuits Criticized We visited the county jail and found it in an unsanitary condition, due, the officers claim, to the defective plumbing. The atmosphere was very offensive, although the windows were all open. A majority of the inmates told us that they were overrun with vermin, bed bugs and body lice, and the blankets were alive with them. We were further told that the blankets had not been boiled for months.

The biscuits examined were made of a very inferior quality of flour and burdened with an excessive quantity of soda. It was admitted that the flour bought was the cheapest to be had. The beef, too, seems to be of a very inferior quality. It seems to us that there are too few vegetables furnished to insure the health of the prisoners. We think that for the price-15 cents per meal-there should be better qualities of food and not such infrequent furnishing of vegetables. The sick receive the same food as the well prisoners, although the county pays 221/2 cents per meal. We are reliably informed that this prevails, although complaints have been made. Surely this should be

Sunday Law Although we cannot state that there s friction between the county and city officers, there seems, however, to be s lack of harmony to which, in our judgment is largely, if not wholly, attributable the infractions of the Sunday law, which has been so systematically, flagrantly and defiantly violated by some men. The law as we understand it is equally binding on the city and on the county officials and if it were known that the county and city authorities were working together we are of the opinion that further violations of this law would be of rare oc-

loons on Main street, taking all of them from Eighth street to Front. With a shorthand writer to accompany him, a representative of this paper went to the saloons on Main street and asked the proprietor or the bartender if, to his knowledge, the saloons of Fort Worth had been, as a whole, kept closed on Sunday for the last year, and whom he intended to vote for, McLean or Cummings. Their replies were taken down in shorthand and written out, and their statements in full are now on file in the Citizen office.

"A great many of the men so interrogated declined to talk, and some of those who would talk would not say who they were for, but the remarkable fact is that of those who were willing to be quoted, every one was for Mc-Lean for county attorney, and not one for Cummings.

"Twenty-two proprietors or bartenders of those visited were willing to talk. They were: J. A. Bennett of the Crystal bar, Mr. Weltman of Brann & Co., the Richelieu bar, Mr. Fox of the Pullman bar, Mr. Renfro of Renfro Bros., Mr. Robbins, P. P. Jones, Mr. Walker of Southern's saloon, Al Goss of Goss' bar, Sam A. Joseph of the Office saloon, Bob Durrett of the Johnson county saloon, Mr. Hendricks of the Alamo bar, Mr. Matthews of the Headlight saloon, Abe Levine of the Coney Island, the Cozy Corner saloon, Doc Carter of the Owl saloon, Mr. Lawrence of the White Front, Mr. Ramsey of the Arc Light, Mr. Sullivan of the Oriental and Ben McCullough. Of these men, Bennett, Weltman, Fox, Walker, Sam Joseph and Abe Levine declared themselves for McLean. The others either had not made up their minds or said they did not care to say whom they were for for any office. "None of the saloon men would admit that they had kept open on Sunday, except one, who said that he "had paid like hell for it." He was enthusiastic for McLean. Several of them admitted that from what they had seen they were of opinion that Sunday selling of whisky was going on all the time. A few expressed them selves as strongly in favor of having all the saloons closed on Sunday. "It is interesting to note here, apropos of the claim that the saloons in Fort Worth are kept closed, that the police force of Fort Worth arrested dealers for selling liquor last Sunday, and had fourteen cases on file against

Rival Candidates for County Attorney Hold Crowd at City Hall Despite Lateness of Hour

"I started raids on gambling houses n Fort Worth when it was a dangerous thing to do it; when a man going into a gambling house to make arrests was as likely as not to have a sixshooter thrust in his face; I raided was assistant county attorney and was the first man to ever do it here, but when I had made a raid I never thought it worth while to run around to the newspapers and have them print something about it," declared Jordan Cummings, candidate for county attorney, to the voters at the city hall Thursday night in the course of a speech on the issues of the campaign, and the statement was cheered to the

Prior to Mr. Cummings, Jeff D. Mo-Lean, the present county attorney, had spoken nearly an hour, devoting his time to a recital of his gambling crusades, efforts against saloon keepers violating the Sunday law and his position regarding the anti-trust suits recently filed against commission men of North Fort Worth.

"They are trying to defeat me because I did my duty," declared Mr. McLean. He charged that commission men's efforts were being used to assist Mr.

Cummings, a charge which Mr. Cummings later said was true, adding that he was proud of the support of such men who had done so much for the upbuilding of Fort Worth and Tarrant Mr. McLean repeated the statement made in former speeches that his part

He took up the commission suits almost at the outset, ridiculing the charge of trust methods by saying that previous to the organization of the Fort Worth Live Stock Exchange the charge for selling cattle had been $1 a head. Now the charge never exceeds 50 cents a head. "Did you ever hear of a trust organizing to reduce prices of its commodity?" asked Mr. Cum-for fully twenty years prior to his removal to Dallas, about two years ago. He was in business in his own behalf for a number of years and was afterward connected with the house of B. C. Evans & Co., during its existence one of the leading dry goods houses of Texas. Mr. Dryden was a brother-inlaw of B. C. Evans and held a responsible position in the house.

After the death of Mr. Evans the business was closed and, some years after, Mr. Dryden became one of the deputy United States marshals, stationed in Fort Worth, which position he left to go to Dallas, where he became the chief deputy under United States Marshal George H. Green.

After his retirement from the B. C. Evans house Mr. Dryden was for 7 or 8 years the secretary of the Commercial Club. Among Mr. Dryden's Fort Worth relatives are Mrs. Sam Canty and Mrs. Sam H. Fry, who were his sisters, and R. G. Johnson, who is more distantly related. Mr. Dryden is survived by a widow and two children, a boy of 15

Pleasant and Texarkana. Much of the work is finished, but enough remains to give employment to two big steam shovels and a large force of men. There are about twenty-five miles yet to be ballasted, between the named points, and the ballast used is the fine concrete gravel which the Cotton Belt gets in Arkansas. The grade reduction force is still busy, but it is expected their work on that division will be done by the last of July and all of the ballast work by Sept. 1. Then the work will be taken up on the part of the line west of Mt. Pleasant. When that is done the supplies of ballast will be drawn from the rock quarries near Sulphur Springs and the gravel pits near Coppell. The gravel in the latter pit is about the same quality as that being used on the east end. Crop prospects are reported as generally good and the road can confidently expect a fine business during the fall and winter.

The Lampert & Holt Steamship Line's exclusive contract with the Illinois Central, by which the latter line obtains a monoply of all the coffee carrying trade south of the Ohio river and tributary to New Orleans, has caused so much dissatisfaction on the part of other railroads that a general rate war is seriously threatened.

Alleging that it is a physical impossibility for the express companies to file their express rates with the interstate commerce commission, as is required by the new rate law, Aug. 27 next, six months more time is asked by the United States Express Company, which is taken to represent all of the express companies of the country. The new rate law requires the schedule of rates to be filed by the date named, but the petition of the 6,000,000 distinct rates to be transcribed and even putting all of the force possible at work it is impossible to comply with the law.

Man from Delaware Considering Establishing Canning Plant Charles W. Pancoast of Delaware

morning, talking with Captain Paddock and railroad men concerning the establishment of a large canning factory in Texas. Mr. Pancoast is one of the large canners of the east, controlling canneries at Delaware City and St. Georges, and desires to locate a plant in a new field, where he may be sure of plenty of raw material. He was induced to come to Texas by Captain Paddock of the Board of Trade. Mr. Pancoast has been traveling through South Texas for five or six weeks and is going from Fort Worth into East Texas, along the line of the Cotton Belt road, to look up the supply of tomatoes, peaches and pears. J. F. Lehane, general passenger and freight agent of the Cotton Belt, was talking with Mr. Pancoast in Captain Paddock's office Friday morning and assured Mr. Pancoast that there 's an enormous amount of fruit and truck raised in the fruit belt of East Texas. Mr. Lehane said that, under present conditions, he felt safe in saying that more tomatoes go to waste each year than are shipped from the farms and that he had been told by the manager of a canning plant in the district that orders were being refused all the time for canned products, indicating the need of more canneries. Mr. Pancoast lives at Delaware City, in the heart of region with a 100-mile radius, within which more than 75 per cent of the tomatoes of the country are canned. The region includes the great tomato fields of Maryland, as well as those of Delaware. Mr. Pancoast says he is impressed with Texas, but is not yet fully convinced that he would be able to get enough material to supply the demands of a plant such as he desires to

WEATHER MODERATE

Texas People Lucky Compared With Those in East

While Texans are enjoying moderate July weather people in the eastern states are sweltering under the heat of the warmest month in the year for them. Nearly all stations in the north and east report high temperatures with generally fair weather. There were many local storms of considerable proportions Thursday but the weather is generally pleasant over the entire country. The cotton belt is partly cloudy to clear with but little rain except in local areas. Texas is clear in the northern portion but heavy rains fell along the gulf Thursday night.

COLORED MASONS TO INCREASE FUND

Final Action Depends on Local Lodges

The colored Masons did business in a rush Thursday. The question of increasing the relief fund was referred to the local lodges for further action. Wm. M. McDonald read a very lengthy report on foreign correspondence. It showed a healthy growth of Masonry throughout the world. The correspondence covers every jurisdiction, except some in North America. The grand master addressed the Masons on the necessity of implicit observance of law and conspicuous service to their community and state. He frowned down upon the admission of gamblers, drunkards, unfaithfulness to family. He said if Masonry meant anything it meant the building up of protection and purifications of nomes and homelife.

"A man who will neglect his family for others should be immediately suspended from the benefits of Masonry." There seemed to be a desire on the part of the grand lodge to so increase the contributions to the relief fund as will enable the grand lodge to increase its aid to the widows and orphans of the state. Among those who delivered very interesting talks on this were Prof. Jesse Washington of Marlin, Wm. M. McDonald of Terrell, John W. McKinney of Sherman, J. J. Burnett of Ennis, Dr. J. M. Moseley of Fort Worth, L. D. Lyons of Austin and Prof. L. C. Anderson of Austin, Wm. Coleman of Fort Worth, W. H. Humphrey of Dallas. The matter was put off for further consideration Thursday morning. The grand master then appointed committee on necrology. L. C. Anderson, Austin; Dr. J. M. Moseley, Prof. Wm. Coleman, Fort Worth; R. L. Williams, Dr. S. W. Cook. Bonnam; Dr. Burford, Rev. B. D. Shivers, P. G. S., W. H. Mitchell, San Antonio: W. E. Miller, Houston; Prof. Jesse Washington, Marlin; J. A. Kirk,

In the grand lodge Wednesday afternoon a discussion of the relief laws was had and a number of interesting talks were made. Many expressions of sympathy for the recent affliction suffered by Mayor Harris were made in the grand lodge. Eastern Star Meets

The adoptive rite of the grand order of the Easten Star met at 8:30 o'clock a. m., at which time the grand secretary read her report, showing about 2,-500 members in the state and $3,000 raised this year. A model chapter exemplifying the secret works of the order was carried out by the Pride of Texas chapter of Fort Worth. A special committee was appointed to extend greetings to the grand lodge: Mrs. M. E. Moore, L. B Waite, Mrs. C. R. Mason, Mrs. E. E. Burnett, Mrs. R. C. Boughman, Mrs. S. G. Southern, Mrs. K. W. NECKWEAR

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 20 .- William K. Olcott, the lawyer who was dismissed by Harry K. Thaw, will have until Monday to decide whether he shall surrender all the papers in the Thaw case to Clifford W. Hartridge, Thaw's new counsel.

Although a large quantity of papers have been surrendered by Mr. Olcott, Mr. Hartridge asked Justice McLean today for an order directing the delivery of all those remaining in Mr. Olcott's possession. In the argument in court, T. J. Mc-Manus of the firm of which Mr. Olcott is a member, asked for a postponement. He said: "The only papers which we are not ready to deliver as once is the bundle of letters. We are in doubt whether we should deliver these. Until we can consult the writers of these letters, which we shall do as speedily as possible, we shall net be able to decide whether we ought to give them up."

WHY JUDGE BELL RETIRED

In a recent speech at San Marcos, Judge Charles K. Bell took the people into his confidence and told them much of his private life, together with an account of his stewardship of the different offices he has held. He also told them why he retired from the office of attorney general of Texas. In his San Marcos speech

"After my second term in congress, I had determined to retire to private life and devote myself to the practice of my profession. I had entered upon this when the democratic party in convention at Galveston summoned me to manage the campaign of Governor Sayers. After I had discharged that duty and had again retired to private life, the death of Attorney General Smith required the appointment of a new attorney general. This appointment Governor Sayers offer me without solicitation. I filled it as best I could for the unexpired term and was elected to it for another term. The attorney general, by virtue of his position, becomes versed in the needs of the state government. He comes into contact with the penal and eleemosynary institutions and the heads of departments and is in fact the legal adviser of the state officials. My service there familfarized me with certain needs of the state and led me to think that I could be of service to the people of Texas as governor, if they saw fit to so honor me. Therefore I come before you this morning asking the favor of your support. Hitherto I have asked this support from my friends and neighbors only, and it is particularly grateful to me now to know that almost without exception those old friends and neighbors whom I have served in the past are willing to honor me yet further, and have pledged their support with unanimity and cordiality. I say this, not in a boastful spirit, but because I think a man is justified in asking the benefit of the character he has established. This is the practice of the law courts and is only right and just. I will add further that when I decided to seek the office of governor, I declined to stand for re-election as attorney general because I felt that the necessities of compaigning would make me neglect my dueties as attorney general or the discharge of my duties would

It is a fact that Judge Bell's every retirement from public office has been wholly voluntary, and in that respect at least his experience has been decidedly unique. The general rule among Texas politicians is to hold on to an office just as long as the people will permit them to, but with Judge Bell it has been different. After serving the people to the very best of his ability he has been content to step aside and give place to some other patriot, and has never yet had to be scourged back to the walks of private life. He has voluntarily handed every position he has ever filled back to the people absolutely untarnished and but the better for his occupancy.

prevent me from presenting my claims to the people."

And when Judge Bell made up his mind that he wanted to be governor of the great state of Texas he laid down the honorable and important office of attorney general two years before the gubernatorial campaign and came before the people with clean hands and an open record. He did not say "give me the office of attorney general for another term, for I want to use It in my race for governor." He did not go up to the fuel. state treasury at Austin every month and draw a munificent salary he had not earned. He did not lay down the duties of official position to seek political preferment, but he did lay down official position and retire from the office of attorney general during the period he knew he could not do the people and the

He would not pretend that he was serving the people of Texas as their attorney general while he was making his campaign for governor. He made up his mind that he would be as honest with the people as he expects the people to be with him, and Charles K. Bell does not want to be governor of Texas bad enough of attorney general, and for that reason he relinquished the office of attorney general. His action affords a pleasing contrast with that of at least two of his opponents and the people of this state are not blind to the situation. They honor Charles K. Bell for the true and genuine manhood he has displayed at every point in his career. He is made out of the kind of material the people of this state have always Entered at the Postoffice as second-class mail matter. delighted to honor, and they will honor him again by conferring upon him the high position he seeks.

TAFT'S ATTACK ON BRYAN

One of the greatest mistakes made by Secretary Taft in his recent speech-making campaign was the palpable effort to belittle William J. Bryan. As a prospective candidate for the Presidency, Secretary Taft may feel it incumbent upon him to do what he can to discourage the growth of the Bryan sentiment in this country, which even at this early date threatens to play havoc with republicanism. But Secretary Taft should confine himself to facts in his criticism of the great democratic leader, and not resort to the too common course of misrepresentation. In his celebrated "keynote" speech delivered in North Carolina, Secretady Taft thus distorted and misrepresented Bryan's position on the trust question:

While Mr. Bryan has been most emphatic and eloquent in his description and denunciation of trusts and abuses of corporate organizations and wealth his suggested remedies for their prompt suppression have been very vague.

Secretary Taft has evidently overlooked the fact that Bryan has often reiterated the statement that he is standing today where he has always stood in the matter of dealing with the trusts. And he has also evidently forgotten the planks in the democratic national platform of 1900, to which Bryan and the entire democratic party still adheres. That platform declared as follows:

First. That the tariff be removed from all articles, manufactured and controlled by a trust.

Second. That all corporations before being permitted to engage in interstate commerce, be required to secure a federal license, to secure which they must first snow that there is no water in their stock and that they are not trying to monopolize any branch of business; if they fail to make such showing, shall not be permitted to engage in interstate commerce, and that they be denied the use of the mails.

Third. That the laws against trusts and monopolies be strictly enforced, particularly the criminal laws.

In his anxiety to spike the Bryan boom Secretary Taft has only made evident the desperate straits his party is reduced to in order to obtain campaign argument. William J. Bryan is today the greatest living forms. exponent of anti-trust legislation. He was advocating drastic laws for the curbing and control of trusts and combinations long before Secretary Taft and President Roosevelt had awakened to the fact that such things were in existence. He has not helped his cause or that of his party one particle by coming down among the people of the south with such misrepresentation upon. Houston Post. his lips. The great commoner is too well understood weight or effect. In a recent public statement William

"It is to the public interest that every dishonest man should be punished and exposed; otherwise the deserving are apt to suffer for the undeserving. If, however, by the word conservative they mean that I have changed my position on any public question or moderated my opposition to corporate aggrandizement, they have a surprise waiting for them."

It is clear from this that William J. Bryan stands today just where he has always stood in opposition to trusts and combinations of capital organized and maintained for the purpose of fleecing the masses, and Secretary Taft had best post himself just a little bit before he again seeks to thus misrepresent the champion of the masses. The American people know and appreclate the fact that it is to Bryan they must look for relief from the conditions of which they are now complaining. The party represented by Secretary Taft cannot be expected to turn upon the children of its own

The streets of Fort Worth are no more valuable today than they were this time last year, but it is very gratifying to note there is a general awakening to the realization that the streets are valuable and franchises should be granted to corporations only when the city and the people get value received. The Telegram has been consistently fighting for this great principle when recent converts were fighting it, and The Telegram is pleased with its early and complete vindication.

The Telegram some time ago called the attention of the people of Fort Worth to the fact that they were doing wrong in the matter of conferring valuable franchises without compensation. And some of the agencies actively at work to induce free franchises at that time are now beginning to come over to The Telegram's way of thinking. Better late than never.

That reported earthquake at El Paso is looked upon with more or less suspicion in certain quarters. The time is drawing near for the assemblage of the republican state convention in that city, and it is a fact that certain elements in that party are not going up against an earthquake proposition if they can possibly Candidates Colquitt and Brooks are now making speeches for the second time in different portions of the state, and their action is a high tribute to the growth of the Bell sentiment. But all the speeches they can make will not alter the situation one particle. The people of Texas want Judge Bell.

To give some idea of what the Lone Star state of Texas has been doing in the way of raising cotton during the past four years, according to the United States Crop Reporter for May, 1906, the total value in round numbers foots up the nice little sum of $583,907,653.17. To which may be added $70,683,717.04, the total value of the cotton seed during those four years.-Laredo Times.

Texas is the greatest cotton producing state in the union and will always occupy that proud position. But Texas is sadly behind in the matter of cotton manufacturing, and opportunities exist for the building of many big cotton mills in the state.

Fort Worth seems to be up against it good and strong on the street sprinkling proposition, nobody seems to want it. Some time ago the city got smart and thought they would do the sprinkling themselves; they soon found to their own sorrow that it wasn't such a soft snap as they thought; now they are as anxious to get rid of their elephant as they were to get it. They advertised that a street sprinkler was wanted and bids could be filed up until Thursday, but lo and behold only one bid was filed and that made the city dads so indignant that they refused to open that one, and decided to re-advertise. Next time they will probably be willing to let well enough alone.-Quanah Observer.

The trouble with a whole lot of people is that they do not realize when they are doing well. Fort Worth was doing well in the matter of street sprinkling, but there were those who favored a change and it was attempted. The net result has been conditions that were far from satisfactory to the public generally.

Texas ought to feel proud that not a single word reflecting on the character or standing of any of the four candidates for gubernatorial honors has been uttered during the six months' campaign in which they have been before the electors. What other state can truthfully make such an assertion? Don't all speak at once.-Texarkana Courier.

The Fort Worth Telegram calls attention to the fact that there are 600 young men less than 21 years of age who are now inmates of the state penitentiaries, and it adds. Those young men would doubtless be occupying about. by the southern people for such a thing to have any | more honorable positions in life if they had received the proper home training. There are too many parents in Texas letting their children grow up as recruits

FALLEN FROM GRACE

The Telegram very cheerfully subscribes to the principle that the people of Texas should be protected from railroad rapacity and mendacity, and believes that the Texas railroad commission as originally planned was a public necessity in this state. But The Telegram at the same time believes the railroad commission of Texas has fallen upon grievous ways and is not following the line of its plain duty.-Fort Worth Telegram.

The Telegram writes the railroad commission down a Methodist in faith, for, according to The Telegram, it has fallen from grace. The golden mean is as hard to find as the golden mien, and the railroad commission of this state is either grievously slandered by the press of Texas or it has fallen from that state of righteousness in which it was originally created. There is but one remedy, and that is the correction of the law under which that commission operates until it will be impossible to arbitrarily work the railroads to any extent to which the commission may incline. Regulation is needed, but the regulators themselves need regulation, and the legislature alone can regulate the commission, so plainly prescribing the limits to which it can go that there will be no possible mistake about that limit. The railroad commission is a good thing, but if the good that is in thee become evil, behold, now great is that

* * * * ANOTHER GOOD PAPER

The Fort Worth Telegram says, editorially, that the San Angelo Standard is the best weekly paper in west Texas, but lets the others down by admitting that "others are a close second." Now we are surprised that the usually up-to-date Telegram should show so much moss on its back, at one exposure. It is a well known fact that there are over one hundred "best papers" in west Texas, and you can not get off a railroad train, or a stage coach, without stumbling over one. But to prove its assertion, beyond a cavil, The Telegram follows its encomium of the Standard with a strong endorsement of the candidacy of Judge Bell, as it appeared in the Standard. This is pretty good evidence to a Bell man, but they are not all Bell men in west Texas, and paper headline. Didn't expect they would catch a sane we doubt the universal acceptance of the evidence.man there, did they?

NOBODY SINGS IT NOW

Popular songs are short-lived nowadays. A few years ago "Would You Like to Be the Ice Man?" was a general favorité and was to be heard on every side. Now there is not more than one man in a thousand who can do more than ask the question. And even he is beginning to be frowned upon by a novelty loving public.-Washington Star.

Plumbers understand the art of tapping pipes and pocketbooks.

MAN'S GREATEST NEED It matters not how well you plan

Or how you school yourself to say That if you try to smile you can, When woe arrives joy flits away. 'Tis easy when the skies are fair And all your ventures bring you gains To fling a merry jest at care And scorn life's little aches and pains. But when your troubles multiply And you are filled with futile spite, The merits of a smile seem few

To him who sings a cheerful song I own that I am deep in debt; I scorn, when little things go wrong, To sit in idleness and fret; I prize that sweet philosophy Which teacaes me to turn from care When all the ways in front of me Stretch onward smooth and wide and fall But when my ventures come to naught And disappointments make me sick Ah, how it serves to clear my mind

And ease my woe if I can find

Some hateful thing to madly kick.

And what you need is something you

May freely kick with all your might.

Let him sing on who gladly sings, The world still needs him and his song; But oh for some good, ready thing To fiercely kick when things go wrong. A fair and noble monument The grateful world will gladly raise To honor him who shall invent For use on gloomy, hopeless days A thing inanimate and limp Which always may be ready when We feel the need of letting loose, of mint by steeping a cupful of the leaves for an hour in a cupful of hot water. Press through a cheesecloth bag, add a teaspoonful of this extract to one cupful apple juice obtained by cooking green, unripe apples with a little water; then, straining, allow a pound of sugar to a pint of juice; cook twenty minutes, then pour into moulds or glasses. This is a clear, delicate green jelly, exceedngly pretty to look at and most ap-

Mint Julep-The julep, though born in the South, belongs no longer to any state or section; it has become national. The only bone of contention now is whether the mint should be crushed or not. Most Kentuckians insist that the fresh and fragrant mint should be allowed to stand in whisky an hour before using. Others prefer it to infuse for two hours, while some Virginians and all northerners stand for bruising the leaf to extract its subtle fragrance in the quickest possible

For a single glass bruise three or four sprigs of fresh mint, then mix with them a tablespoonful and a half sugar and two and a half teaspoonfuls water. Add a winglassful and a half of brandy, fill with fine shaved ice, pull out the sprigs of mint and put in again so that the leaves will stand above the ice. Drink through

Mint Julep for the Punch Bowl-In making a quantity for the punch bowl, make a syrup of a pound of sugar and a quart of water. Break up a dozen sprigs of mint, steep in a cupful and half boiling water in a covered bowl for fifteen minutes, strain and add to the sryup. Add the juice of eight oranges, eight lemons, a cup of strawberry juice and a pint of claret. Add ice water to dilute properly and pour in the punch bowl over a block of ice. Fresh berries and mint leaves should float on the top of the bowl and in the individual glasses.

A Temperance Mint Cordial-This made without spirits. Crush a bunch of mint, rubbing each leaf with wooden muller or masher, then soak for half an hour in the strained juice of two lemons with the carefully grated yellow rind of one. Cook together a pint of water and a pound of granulated sugar until the syrup spins a thread. Take from the fire and stirinto it the lemon and the mint, the juice of in orange and an equal quantity of pineappie juice, and when half frozen the whites of two eggs beaten stiff. A wineglass of any preferred wine may also be added if desired. Mint Used Medicinally-Medicinally there are few herbs that equal the pleasant mint. A cupful of mint tea taken morning and evening aids digestion and was claimed by our grandmothers to be an infallible rule for giving a fresh and healthy appearance. Prepared in a tea, with half water and half wine, a cupful taken daily will remove bad breath if its cause is of mint mixed with cream and sugar or cream de menthe, the French prep-aration of peppermint, with plenty of oracked ice, affords relief from the pain or lassitude caused by excessive heat or fatigue. In colle and summer complaints also, this preparation of mint proves a seething and invigorating remedy. In making any of the mint teas never boil. Pour boiling water over the leaves, then push where the tea will infuse.

Mint in Soups, Salads and Vegetables-Gucumber salad or an apple and celery salad are greatly improved by a sprinkle of fine chopped mint leaves. Just a suspicion of mint with cooked peas, or a cream of pea or potato soup, is a great addition also to a lamb or yeal salad.

Hardy Perennials

Hardy perennials have the advantage over annuals and tender plants in that they do not require planting each year. When once established in the ground they live on indefinitely; though the tops die to the ground the roots send forth new stems each year. The flowers of some kinds are very attractive as single blossoms and many other produce a profusion of blooms at one time, the mass giving a fine effect for a short time. By planting a dozen or so of different kinds it is possible to secure a continuance of blessoms throughout the year. Among the earliest plants to flower is the moss pink (phlox sublata) growing very low and forming a dense mat which is wholly covered in April and May with pink and white flowers. They last for several weeks, after which some of the plants may stop producing blooms for a short time; but they will blossom later in the season, though not so uniformly or attractively as earlier. Peonles bloom soon after phlox. They last but a short time, but during that period are most attractive. They are useful for cutting purposes. After they bloom the ground around them may be planted to some annual summer blooming plant, such as the nasturtiums, portulaca or verbena. The blanket flower (gaillardia grandiffora) comes into bloom in May and June and lasts until it is frozen. The flowers have a dark center with rays colored scarlet-yellow, and are useful for cutting. The plant has not a neat habit of growth, but the bloom is so continuous and showy that a striking effect is produced.

Roll plain paste one-fourth of an several times, using a fork; place on oven. Remove from the tins, arrange on a serving dish, place half a peach in each case, and garnish cavity with half of a blanched almond. Serve with peach syrup. Canned peaches are used for this dish. Turn the peaches from the can into a granite ware saucepan; add one-third of a cupful of sugar and a few grains of salt, and cook slowly and dry the peaches on a towel before putting into the crusts, and reserve syrup to serve over crusts at the table. In strawberry season this fruit may be used in crusts, and served with whipped cream.

Recipe for Ginger Beer To make a good ginger beer, pour s gallon of boiling water on one pound of loaf sugar, half an ounce of ginger and one ounce of cream of tartar. John Ringling, the avant courier of Ringling Bros.' big circus combination. arrived in Fort Worth in his private car Wisconsin Friday. This means that Ringling Bros. will tour Texas in 1906 with their mammoth aggregation, but the date of their coming has not yet been made public. When this car pulled into the railroad yards Thursday night, and when senger depot that the Ringling advance was here, it created more talk than the coming of some big public official would have caused. Quite a crowd of boys, black and white, surrounded the car early Friday morning and pelted the negro porter with questions as to when the big show would come whenever he appeared at the door, and when John Ringling himself showed up the boys intuitively identified him, and there went up a chorus

"That's him; that's Ringling, hissef!" John Ringling smiled and walked from the car to a carriage in waiting, followed by the gang of boys as long as they vould keep the vehicle in sight.

JULIET SCALDS ROMEO Uses Boiling Water When Request to Stop Singing Fails

CHICAGO, Ill., July 20.—Juliet lost her temper and Romeo lost his hair and one of his eyes. That is the tragic finale of an open-air drama, in which John Andrews and Josephine Lawrence played the stellar roles. Romeo was trying to sing his way into the affections of Juliet as he leaned against the trellis of Josephine's home, in Erie avenue, South Chicago, His aim was bad, and the notes struck Josephine's sensitive eardrums instead of the chords of her heart. Instantly there was revolt in her breast. Josephine did not like the key of the voice. She tried to ring down the curtain politely, but Romeo inthere are no more coyotes in his part sisted on delivering the last verse. Thereupon she retired within, brought out a pitcher of boiling water and poured it down on the bared head of the sentimental serenader. "It was too hot a reception for me," said Andrews today when he obtained

Emotional Insanity Will Be Made Defense Plea

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 20 .- A special to the Times from Allentown, Pa., says: In view of his extensive studies on the subject of emotional insanity, former District Attorney Edwin H. Lichtenwalner has been engaged by former Judge Olcott, attorney for Harry Thaw's family, to assist in the defense of Thaw. Mr. Lichtenwalner said yesterday he had received a letter from Judge Olcott asking him to go to New York on Saturday with the briefs which he prepared in the defense of James H. Wilson, whom Lichtenwalner saved from the gallows a year ago, when he was on trial for the murder of John H. Ebert, an aged

Wilson's plea of murder in the second degree was accepted after Lichtenwalner had been opposed by several of the best criminal lawyers in this section and a number of experts on insanity.

Brief Exhaustive

Mr. Lichtenwalner will remain in New York several weeks gathering material for the defense. In Wilson's case, Lichtenwalner prepated a brief consisting of several volumes of typewritten matter, showing that his defendant, who was about to be married and was practically without funds, had been a victim of "emotional insanity." The same plea will be used in the case of Thaw.

19 HAVE HYDROPHOBIA

Only One Out of 291 at State Institute Dies From Dog Bite Special to The Telegram.

AUSTIN, Texas, July 20.-Dr. B. M. Worsham, superintendent of the State Insane Asylum, and in charge of the State Pasteur Institute, reports that there are nineteen patients in the Pasteur Institute receiving the treatment to prevent hydrophobia. The doctor states that to date 291 patients have been treated at the institute and only one died-a man who had been fearfully lacerated by a mad dog, which bit him all over the face and tore one eye loose. This case was late in coming and died. All others were saved from the awful disease.

Dr. Worsham says that the institute not only does the great good indicated, but is not a financial burden to the state, it being more than self-sustaining. The small charge of $25 per patient is asked for the treatment, the payment of which is left to the honor of the patient, and if they are unable to pay it nothing is said. To date the institute has paid for its maintenance and has a cash surplus to its credit of a little more than $1,400.

GORMAN AFTER FATHER'S SHOES

Son of Late Senator a Likely Candidate

Special to The Telegram. BALTIMORE, Md., July 20.-It

sometimes happens that a young man who follows in the footsteps of his father proves to be a worthy successor because of his own force, vigor and intelligence. That this may be true in the case of Arthur Pue Gorman Jr. is the belief of his many admirers in this state, who are already counting on him to succeed to his father's place two years hence. Young Gorman first came into notice three years ago when his father was in Europe. The young man had wanted his party's support for the state senate, but his father had expressed the opinion that he had better be sent to the house of delegates. The son, in spite of this, took matters in his own hands and after a fight in the convention became the nominee for senator from Howard county and won the election by one of the largest majorities ever received by any democratic candidate.

During the session of 1904 he took no very active part on the floor of the senate, but he became prominent in the councils of his party and was hen marked as a coming man. His record during the next session, 906, exceeded the hopes of even his most sanguine friends. Having made a careful study of the legislative game, he at once assumed the leadership and held the place through some of the most bitter fights ever fought in Maryland's legislative halls. Although pitted against some of the brainlest men of the state his ability won out and he gained the confidence of his col-

The greatest service he rendered the state was the passage of a resolution, offered by himself, for the investigation of the affairs of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company. This resulted in a complete route of the corporation legislators and the gain by the state of $2,500,000 for its holdings in the property of the road and reduced the state taxes from 23 cents to 16 cents on the hundred dollars. When he introduced this resolution his critics intimated that he was not serious in the matter, but his strenuous defense of the measure on the floor of the senate and its final passage put them to shame. Today Marylanders speak of him as the stronges possibility for the toga among the younger men of the state. irrespective of politics or party. In the meantime young Gorman is quietly conducting his law office and seemingly pays little attention to the whisperings of his friends. But those who know say that two years hence. after a return to the state senate, he will yield to the popular demand and allow his name to be used as a candidate to succeed to his father's place now being temporarily filled by Sen-

Wool Crop for the Past Season Will Bring $70,454

In our estimate of the wool clip for this season, made some time ago, we were on the conservative side by a large majority. The actual number of pounds of wool shipped from Sanderson this season was 352,272 pounds and consisted of 1,665 bags! This wool if sold at only 20 cents per pound would bring $70,454.40. This, too, is conservative figures, as much of the wool rought as high as 23 cents, while none is reported sold for less than 20 cents. Then say Sanderson is not in a thriving condition, and, too, when one ranchman refused $32.50 per head for a car of steers and had several more cars which were better.

GOOD FOR YOUNG CHICK

Advice to City Breeders That Is of

Several years' experience ... as thoroughly convinced me that I have found remedy that will positively prevent bowel trouble in young chieks. It is within the reach of any one, and as precautionary methods are better than any other, you may demonstrate to your own satisfaction.

It is simply nothing more than feeding boiled sweet milk once a day from the day you begin feeding chicks and continue indefinitely, although after chicks are six weeks old I do not boil the milk, but feed it raw. But never feed raw milk to young chicks; boiled milk is a common sense remedy. Our grandmothers taught us to give it to our children for any bowel ailment, and its effects are equally satisfactory with chicks. The great difference lies in the fact that by proper care children recover, but a recovered chick is not of much value, therefore we must have precautionary methods. And I have never known bowel trouble in any form where this method of feeding existed. I always feed in the morning before they have access to water, so all will be sure to drink. The best drinking fountain of which I have any knowledge may be improvised from a gallon tin can or bucket, such as syrup comes in. Take nail and puncture several holes around the top, fill or partly fill with milk. Place a tiny pie plate unside down over the top of the bucket. Then invert and place in a convenient place for the little chicks. They will scramble over each other trying to fill up, but they can't upset the bucket or get their feet into the milk, and they will drink it up as fast as it comes from the bucket. Remember the secret of its success lies in thoroughly sterilizing the milk. Ten minutes is not too long to boil it, and a little water added prevents the milk from scorching so readily. I imagine that a pinch of salt makes it more palatable.

I always feel that I have done my duty better when I feed young chicks on corn bread baked and seasoned well with salt, soda, meat scraps, egg shells and a generous supply of clean sand, yet I fed dry meat with equally good results, but I never fail to feed oat meal and the boiled milk, and have more faith in the efficiency of the milk than anything else, and since the preventing disease that baffles so many and sends countless numbers of young chicks to premature death may be prevented in this manner, the experiment is at least worth a trial.—Ada B. MINERAL WELLS, Texas, July 20. -The board of equalization of the city of Mineral Wells was in session here yesterday and they stated that the growth of Mineral Wells was so great that the taxable valuation of city property was 75 per cent greater this year than that of last year. The total valuation of the property of the city of Mineral Wells last year came to $1,-250,000 and this year it will run to about $2,000,000. The property will be assessed by the board at 75 per cent of the actual value. An election was held in this city yesterday to determine whether the propertyholders were in favor of issuing bonds for the improvement of the waterworks, sewers, streets and sidewalks; also to add an increase of 10 per cent on the school tax for the betterment of the schools. All of the bond propositions were carried without a single dissenting vote, while the school tax assessment only got five dissenting votes.

Fatal Had Right Remedy Not Been Taken. That Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure neuralgia there is no room to doubt. So many severe cases of this painful disease have yielded to these pills that the sufferer who is prevented by prejudice from trying the remedy deserves little

Mrs. Charles Schultz, of 179 Thomas street, Newark, N. J., suffered for seven years with neuralgia which attacked her heart and which did not yield to the usual remedies. The story of the cure is best told in her own words. She says: "I had scarlet fever and it left me with a weak heart. Then I took cold and a severe pain settled in the region of my heart. My suffering was almost beyond description. I could not talk and the pain caught me at every breath. The awful pains would come on suddenly and I would have to sit right down. I could not walk and would get dizzy for a time. "I was confined to bed for four weeks at one time and nothing seemed to do me any good. I was under a physician's care for months. He pronounced my trouble neuralgia of the heart and prescribed for me. The capsules he gave me relieved me for a time but the pain came back again. "Finally Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended to me by a lady whose husband had been cured of paralysis by them and I decided to give the pills a good trial. While I was on the second box I began to see an improvement, the pains became less frequent and at last I was entirely cured. This was some time ago but I have had no relapse and have been in good health ever since. I think there is no medicine to equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

These pills actually make new blood which carries to the starved nerves the elements they need They contain not one particle of opiate, morphine, cocaine or anything "soothing." They cure troubled nerves by removing the cause of the trouble.

Dinner-Dance at the Country Club The Thursday nights at the Country Club are established for good. With each week they become more popular. Last Thursday night there were more guests than ever before. The night was ideal and the music unusually good.

The "al fresco" dinners are very popular and there is a great demand for tables. All the tables were artistic with tall vases of La France roses and in the reception suite and reading rooms were many jardinieres of sunflowers, attractively appropriate to the country life. Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Bomar had a little dinner with covers for seven, entertaining Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Bomar of Gainesville, Mr. and Mrs. N. Harding and W. C. Stripling. Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCant had as their guests Misses Georgie Deihl, Pattie Allison and their daughter, Miss Madeline McCart, Messrs. Hugo Robinson, Bert Honea and John Tarlton. Such cars cost about $20,000 each. It has a capacity of thirty; it has every appliance of a complete dining room. a pantry and a kitchen, squeezed into the least possible space, but complete in every respect.

There is a complete system of Bowen refrigerators installed in the car and as an indication of the attention paid to small things which go to make up he perfection of the whole, is the arcangement for lighting up the interforg of the refrigerators automatically with the opening of the refrigerator doors. In the kitchen there are separate cold storage compartments for the preservation of fish, milk, eggs, butter and ce cream or similar delicacies. The wine and beer coolers are ample to keep all of the liquids at the

The silver, all a special order for this car, is of the most celebrated manufacture in the east. The linen is of the holly pattern and is in full keeping with the rest of the furnishings.

The lighting of the car at night is lone from its own electric machinery and that is supplemented by storage batteries, which enable the lights to be used for twelve hours without running the car. When the car is in mo tion the electricity for the lights and the power for the fans is generated and the surplus stored for use at the time of the stops.

Electric fans are installed, so that here is a pleasant breeze through the car even when it is at rest. There are overhead lights, side lights behind, jeweled glass and electrollers for each table, with jeweled glass shades. The interior finish of the car is mahogany except in the pantry, kitchen and lockers, where solid oak is used All surfaces, with which cooled or cold air comes in contact, are enameled that absolute cleanliness may be irsured by necessary washings. There is an unusual style of over-

One of the special features, the first time seen here on any car, is the underbody water tanks, which can be emptied into the overhead water tanks so that the water carrying capacity of the car is doubled. If there is a single detail omitted that would add to the objects in view, in perfect dining car service, it is 'not apparent to the eyes of the observer. A crew of eight men is needed to run the car and C. R. Eisele, superintendent of the Denver road dining car service, says with such equipment left at Childress that meals may be served to passengers on other trains from there to Denver. The commissary headquarters are at Denver and only such things as milk, cream and such like ultra perishables are bought at Fort Worth or en route. The single special exception to this is the chicken supply, broilers and friers, and the dining car service has a contract with an Alvord, Texas, man for all such chickens as may be needed.

Rousing Rally Is Held in the City Hall

One of the largest political gatherings which has met in the city of Fort Worth for years was that which greeted the speakers in the interest of the candidacy of Judge Charles K Reil for the office of governor of

The meeting was in the auditorium of the city hall and the lower floor and gallery were both crowded to suffocation and at the entrances were many standing. It was essentially a Bell crowd and all of the fetching allusions to Judge Bell and the hits at the expense of the other candidates were hugely appreciated.

record of Judge Bell which could not stand the glaring light of the noonday sun; that there was never an act in his public life that called for explanations; that he had the courage that made his course so plain all could know where he stood on any question; that even if he was not a "mixer" in the turmoil of politics, he was a man who had filled many offices and his own people who elected him to office, with one exception, were his home people, who knew him best. The exception was his election as the attorney general of Texas, when he could not meet all who voted for him, but then he made a record which stands as one of the best ever made by an attorney general of any state of the United States, since the anti-trust and railway regulation agitations began. That record is an open book and all or any interested might read at his pleasure.

Mayor W. D. Harris was the first speaker and he spoke of the general high esteem in which the people of the city held Bell as a man, a citizen and a public official. F. E. Dycus followed Mayor Harris and much of his address was a plea to give the candidate of Fort Worth and Tarrant county a rousing vote. It was the best way in the world to show how Judge Bell stood with his home people. He said all of the candidates were good, but they favored Bell because he was better.

Union Man Talks

Lee Stephens of the Electrical Workers' Union spoke for Judge Bell from the standpoint of organized labor, which, he said, was disposed to take men, not on their promises to do certain things, but to judge them by their past, as shown by their records. They had relied on promises in the past and had been fooled. They were not going into politics as an organization but as individuals, and their influence would be felt, for they had over three proper temperature for use and these million votes in the country. Bell, he said, was not evasive. They knew where he stood, and for that reason and many others he favored his elec-

Ayres Takes Up Record

Ben P. Ayres devoted all of his forceful speech practically to exposing the claims of the friends of Campbell that he had never opposed any kind of legislation in favor of the working man. Using the legislative record, quoting from letters and newspaper interviews, never denied, he proved that Colonel Tom Campbell when the receiver of the International and as the general manager of that road, successfuly opposed the enactment of laws designed to relieve some of the burdens which fell on workmen under the operation of the old English law of the fellow servant. His argument seemed to be conclusive with the crowd, if the applause meant anything. Clarence Ousley thought if Bell was not nominated it would be simply because he was not known to the people of the state. He pleaded for an earnest effort on the part of all of the people of the county for Bell and hoped for great good from those efforts. He said Bell appealed to the intelligence of the people. He deprecated the introduction of the prohibition issue into the campaign and thought that the only result of that would be harmful. Captain Paddock said he could not make a political speech, but he could talk for Fort Worth and Texas. He talked for Fort Worth, when he spoke of a Fort Worth citizen, Judge Bell, as worthy to be governor of the state and he talked for Texas, when he advocated the election of a man like Bell, over the other candidates, for he was convinced that it was for the best interest of Texas that Bell should be elected. He eliminated two of the candidates for governor, saying in his opinion there were but two candidates-Bell and Campbell. Campbell's election, he said, would mean that the edict would go forth to the world that Texas was opposed to the era of prosperity which the state is now enjoying, to unprecedented degree. He regarded Campbell's success that was a possibility, as a decree of the people of the state that they would go back to the time of the ox cart and the dirt road. The idea that the mantle of Hogg had fallen on Campbell's shoulders was ridiculed as absurd. Captain Paddock said that it reminded him of hanging a good big shirt on a bean pole. He thought that this phase of the campaign was in bad taste. The speaker's experience as a railway "magnate" was the subject of some jocular but telling allusions in favor of the home candidate. Louis J. Wortham said that while he was a stranger, comparatively, in this community, he was not new in his Colquitt's course in the legislature claimed his attention and was roundly condemned by the speaker, as inimical to the true interest of the state. When he came to speak of Campbell as a gubernatorial quantity, he said he

* POLICE COURT

Peter Brown, a negro boy, who says he is but 11 years of age, charged with fast driving, appeared in police court Friday morning and told Judge Prewett that he was not guilty. He announced that he was ready for trial and the case was passed until Saturday, following a request by City Prosecutor Parker, who said the witnesses for the city could not be produced into court until that day.

Mary Harigan, a young white girl, charged with disturbing the peace and quietude of the east side, near the Rock Island track, by cursing a white man, mentioned to the court that she had not been at the place indicated in the complaint and remarked that the young white man who testified that she had cursed and swore in a loud manner was swearing falsely and that he was aware of the fact in so swearing; but the court believed the story told by complaining witness and the girl was fined $10 and costs.

in police court and had told the officer his name to facilitate justice. The case was not finally decided, being passed until July 23 for further consideration.

A slim, slender negro man of probably 25 years, was told that it had been whispered about the city occasionally that he had not a visible means of support and did not make efforts to gain bread, meat and protection from the wintry winds to come, by the sweat of his brow. He was asked to explain these persistent adverse rumors concerning his industrial character, and informed the court that he was a laboring man. He produced gloves to show that he worked and worked arduously and at any job possible for him to obtain. He talked volubly to the court asking to be turned out of custody and allowed to go to a number of different places. where he said he had been promised work. Different stories about promised employment at sundry places in Fort Worth, caused the court to take a different view of the case than the sight of the gloves had at first produced thereto. Some months since this land

-some 40,000 acres-was thrown upon the market, though it was suspected of bearing oil in paying quantity. Since then the Mound Oil Company (which is owned by the parties ramed in the petition) has developed it sufficiently to prove that it is an oil field of large proportions and one which will probably net millions to its growers. The petition in the suit is voluminous, but in substance it is alleged that the defendants, under contract with the plaintiffs, undertook to sell the land in question; that they found a purchaser in Nevins and reported to the plaintiffs that they had made the sale for $185,000, when, in truth, they had received in addition to such $185,-000 the further sum of $35,257 in cash and $123,000 of stock in the Mound Oil

Company, to which corporation conveyance of the property was made:

that such stock is now of the value of $1,000,000 and they are entitled to recover that sum and also the $95,000 alleged to have been wrongfully withheld from them in the first instance.

> ITALY, Texas, July 20 .- Rev. Angus Johnson, a Presbyterian minister 97 years of age and the oldest active preacher in the world today, is conducting a protracted meeting at Wood's chapel at Maloney, ten miles east of Italy. Rev. Mr. Johnson organized the church at Wood's chapel about twenty years ago and is still serving that congregation. Besides he s actively engaged as pastor of the church at Johnson, Slag and Mission Point at Rankin.

Seventy Years a Minister For over seventy years he has been actively engaged in ministerial work. He has been offered $100 each from two Presbyterian churches at Dallas and one at Fort Worth for three sermons, to be delivered on the same day, on the occasion of his 100th birthday, should he live to be that age. He is as active now as most men are at 50 to 60, and though his eyesight has failed him he still meets all of his

Mexican Wanted for Murder Is Held by Authorities in Monterey

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 20 .-Marcelina Lossana, wanted in Travis county for the murder of ex-Sheriff Hornsby about fourteen years ago, seems in a fair way to escape the gallows in Texas. But in case he does he will merely exchange the rope for a long term in the salt mines of Mexico. Lossana is now in jail in Monterey on a charge of murder and the government refused to turn him over to Sheriff Matthews when he went to that city a few days ago. The authorities want to try him on the robbery charge. The matter of his extradition will be taken up with the state department at Washington

After escaping from the Travis county jail, where he was held for the Hornsby murder, Lossana went to Mexico and joined the Garza band on the border. He was captured and served ten years in the salt mines. He again faces that or a hanging sentence in Texas.

POUNCE UPON MILKMEN

Sanitary Force Seize Dairymen Unawares to Examine Milk

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 20 .-Stationed at the cross roads on the outskirts of the city, the sanitary force lay in wait in the dead hour of midnight for the dairyman to make his appearance on his way to deliver milk to his customers. Before he was allowed to proceed he was ordered to give a sample of his milk and this was taken to the office of the board of health to be analyzed by City Physician Burg. Those whose milk is found to contain adulterations will be dealt with according to the provisions of the pure-food ordinances. This system of inspection is a new departure and the milkmen were caught at a time when they did not expect it. Some of the milk taken was found to be considerably diluted, while some of the milk appeared to be rich in its natural state. One dairyman admitted that he put water and salt in his milk.

HIGHLY RECOMMENDS CUTICURA SOAP"

"I had been troubled with a breaking out on my face and arms for almost a year and had the services of several physicians, but they didn't seem to do any good. Some time ago one of my friends recommended Cuticura to me. I secured some, and after using it several months I was completely cured. I can highly recommend Cuticura Soap as being the very best complexion Soap made. It creates a perfect complexion, leaving the skin soft, white, and velvety. I now use Cuticura Soap all the time and recommend its use all the time and recommend its use to my friends." Maud Loggins, R. F. D. No. 1,

Russian Situation Has Adverse Effect on Market-Heavy Selling Sends Prices Down

Special to The Telegram NEW YORK, July 20.—The extreme complicated condition of Russian affairs which, according to the day's advices, makes a civil war almost inevitable, caused a sharp slump in prices on the Liverpool cotton market, which in turn affected the local market seriously. Opening prices were at a decline of 5 eto 6 points. The weather map was also of a more favorable character than recently and this, added to the news from abroad, made it necessary for leading bulls to exert themselves considerably in order to prevent a serious decline. Some of the local crowd operated extensively on the bear side and New Orleans people were also heavy sellers. During the first hour the initial loss was increased to a matter of 9 points for new crop options and 15 points for July, the latter option selling at 10c. But the big interests offered good support and a recovery to the opening figures occurred before the second

Later, however, prices eased off again under a renewal of selling pressure, but the former low point was not touched on the last slump, as good support was accorded the market and the close was steady with prices at a net loss of 5 to 7 points. Spot cotton market ruled quiet,

NEW ORLEANS, July 20.-Important news from abroad added zest to the game in the cotton market today and for a time traders were reminded of old days of activity. After the first half hour, however, the market relapsed into its former dull state.

The foreign news, which was detrimental to bullish interests, related to the Russian situation and financial troubles in London, and although later advices stated that the latter had been satisfactorily settled, the market opened weak in response to a slump in Liverpool and first sales were made at a loss of 3 to 5 points from yesterday's finals. Improved weather conditions cut some figure and for a time sentiment was almost wholly bearish. Heavy selling by a few individuals brought about a further recession of displayed their abject fear of the New York bull crowd and were seemingly glad to cover at the decline, consequently the downward movement was checked.

But the recovery was not held for any length of time, as selling soon started afresh and this time prices were sent to a level 9 to 10 points below yesterday's finals. More short covering followed this slump and the market closed barely steady with prices at a net loss of 6 to 7 points. Spot cotton market ruled steady, but prices lost 1-16c on the day, middling being quoted at 10 15-16c. Sales, 375

LIVERPOOL, July 20.-The cotton market after opening quiet and steady with prices 3 to 4 points lower, which was about as due, turned decidedly weak on rumors of severe financial trouble in London and weakness of Russian securities. Although the market steadied later when early reports of a financial crisis were contradicted, closing figures showed a net loss of 5 to 6 points.

The spot market ruled easier, prices being 4 points lower at 6.07d for American middling. Sales, 5,000 bales, including 4,500 American. Imports, 6,-000 bales, 1,000 of which were Ameri-

CHICAGO, Ill., July 20.—The wheat market was fairly active today and rather nervous. The unfavorable character of the cables caused an initial slump of %c to %c on the local market, but owing to the builtsh advices from the northwest the crowd bought at the decline and a raily ensued, prices working up to a net gain of %c before midday. But there was less talk of black rust and crop accounts in general were very favorable, the summary of Modern Miller being especially so, as a result the afternoon found early buyers ready to dispose of their holdings. A goodly portion of the day's business was transacted during the last hour and slumped %c to 1%c from the early high point, the market closing weak with prices near the lowest. Local receipts 529 cars vs. 115 cars this day last year. Estimated for tothis day last morrow, 362 cars.

Corn prices again suffered from liquidation and neavy selling pressure. Overnight selling orders caused an initial break of 1/2c to %c in the near deliveries and although a recovery to yesterday's finals was effected during the early trading the market soon weakened again and prices eventually touched a level 1%c below yesterday's finals. The market closed weak with prices at the lowest Local receipts 212 cars vs. 226 cars this day last year. Estimated for tomorrow, 188 cars.

Oats shared in the general weakness. Trading was active and closing prices were at a net los of %e to lc. Local receipts 150 cars vs. 125 cars this day last year. Estimated for tomorrow 110 cars.

TRUCK SHIPMENTS SHOW LARGE GAIN

Cotton Belt Has Handled 1597 Cars During Season

The freight department of the Cotton Belt railway has just issued a statement of the shipments of fruit in carload lots over that road for the four years from 1903 to 1906 inclusive, the 1906 shipment including ail to and including July 14. The statement shows that shipments in 1904 were nearly double those for the preceeding year, and that while in 1905 total shipments were somewhat less than in 1904, the present year witnessed an increase of more than 100 cars over 1904. The detailed report, which General Freight and Passenger Agent John F. Lehane has sent to The Telegram, follows: 1905, 1904, 1903,

Total cars .1.597 1.393 1.475 887 The above statement shows graphically to what proportions the fruit and vegetable business has grown in Texas within the past few years. It should be born in mind that the Cotton Belt is but one of the roads penetrating the great truck and fruit dis-trict and if reports could be obtained from these other roads the total shipments would undoubtedly reach many times the number of cars carried by the Cotton Belt. These statements go to show that Texas is rapidly climbing to first place among the fruit and truck growing states of the union and that but a few more years will have passed before she is in the lead. Already her orchards are among the largest in the world and as to the quality of the fruit produced, it is sufficient to repeat that Texas peaches, pears and grapes won the first prize at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition

Crowd Rush Umpire

Ly Associated Press. MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 20. - In the first inning of the game between Shreveport and the locals here yesterday afternoon, Umpire Rudderham called Byrne safe on an attempted steal of second, Mullaney protested and was removed from the game. Displeased with the decision at second, which they regarded as unjust and the removal of Mullaney as arbitrary, the crowd made a rush for Umpire Rudderham and soon several hundred men were on the field. Governor W. D. Jelks succeeded in reaching the umpire and persuaded the crowd to return to the stands.

Butcher Stock More opinions were on top of the condition of the butcher cow market than cows in car lots, and they did not agree any more than the cows came together in quality. They varied from 10c higher to 10c lower, and all on account of the good market on Thursday. Sellers appeared to think that because a shipper received $2.75 @3.10 on Thursday he should receive the same on Friday, regardless of the quality of offerings. The trade was badly spotted and that is all that can be made out of it.

BED OF POLITICS

All Candidates Uncertain What Results Will Show

Special to The Telegram. WAXAHACHIE, Texas, July 20 .-Politics promises to be red hot in Ellis county next week. The spell binders will be out in full force and the people may expect to witness some highly interesting forensic displays. The Campbell and Brooks managers have announced appointments in almost every precinct in the county next week for local and state speakers. L. T. Dashiel has been engaged to deliver five speeches in the county for Campbell. It is understood that he will meet S. P. Skinner at Italy Monday afternoon and J. M. Alderdice at Maypearl Tuesday night, both of whom will sneak in the interest of Brooks. Alignments Made

A few speeches will also be made for Judge Bell while a quiet campaign will be conducted by Colquitt's followers. The development of a new feature in the gubernatorial situation in Ellis county is giving that contest more than ordinary interest just now. From surface indications the Brooks-Bell alignment is being quietly chrystallized for the purpose of controlling the county convention and sending a delegation to the state convention who will deliver Brooks' prorata of votes to Bell in the event that gentleman drops out, or vice versa. In opposition to this there are indications of a Campbell-Brooks pool of interests to control the county convention for the purpose of transferring the vote of the one dropping out, should such a thing occur, to the other.

YOUNG MAN IS JAILED

Joe Reinhardt Is Taken to Kerrville Prison

Special to The Telegram. SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 20.-Joe Reinhardt, the young man who killed his intended bride, Miss Ernestine Kutzer, on the eve of their marriage at Comfort several weeks ago, and then attempted suicide by shooting himself, was removed to Kerrville and placed in the new county jail yesterday afternoon on a charge of murder.

His attending physician announced that Reinhardt was about fully recovered from the self-inflicted wounds and Sheriff J. Moore and Deputy Sheriff Jim Rawlings came down to Comfort and took him back to Kerr-

Reinhardt looked very pale and was very weak from his long seige in bed, but he was non-commital as he was being taken to the train. It is expected that relatives of Reinhardt will make an effort to prove that he was insane when he did the shooting.

Mismanagemnt of Southwestern Telephone Company Charged in Suit Special to The Telegram.

AUSTIN, Texas, July 20.—Suit has been filed in the district court here by F. C. Smith of San Antonio against J. E. Boynton, J. B. Earle of Waco. J. A. Quisenberry of Danville, Ky., for damages and to remove defendants as members of the board of directors from offices held with the South Texas Telephone Company.

The petition, after setting out numerous allegations, avers that the defendants have not carried on the affairs of the South Texas Telephone Company in a business like manner, and claims that the defendants' rights have been forfeited as the officers of said company, and further became liable to the South Texas Telephone Company in the sum of $300,000. Quisenberry is president of the company.

CHICKENS DYING OFF

Fatal Disease Spreads Among Fowls in Waco

Special to The Telegram. WACO, Texas, July 20 .- Hundreds of chickens are dying in this section from what is known as "limber neck," caused by a worm in the craw of the fowls. It is stated by J. W. Weaver that one cause of the spread of the trouble is that chickens which die from this disease are not carried off, but that the other chickens peck them, catching the disease in that way. The chickens frequently fall from the roost and die immediately.

REPLACING HAYWOOD BRIDGE Lincoln Avenue Marine Structure Being Replaced

North Ft. Worth, for prices on lumber

The old bridge which once spanned the Haywood branch of Marine creek, but was wrecked by high waters, is now being replaced by a new one, which is to be a great improvement over the old. The bridge is located in Lincoln avenue between Sixteenth and Sevententh streets. Thursday the masons were working on the concrete abutments, upon which will rest the twenty-fourfoot wood span.

WALL IS COMPLETED

Built to Protect North Fort Worth Livery Stable The high water wall for protection of the North Side livery stable property and others on the south side of Marine creek in North Main street, North Fort Worth, has been completed. The wall, which is made of two-inch planks nailed to cedar posts the height of the floor level of the barn, is eighty feet long and connects with the concrete abutment, which will support the new steel bridges.

ERATH COUNTY ON BIG BOOM

Frisco Official Says "The Goose Hangs High"

W A. Tuley, for years connected with the railroads of the state, in the assenger departments and more lately the general passenger agent of the Frisco in Texas, now a resident of Stephenville, was in the city Friday and gave a most gratifying report of the crop conditions out in the Erath country.

Fresh vegetables, he says, are in abundance, the mainstays of the country, corn and cotton, both look at their best and forage crops are also good. Rain has been plentiful, in fact the rainfall has been greater than usually is the average. The result is the people of that county and those parts of the other counties near Erath are in the best spirits. Corn is made and the best spirits. Corn is made and the crop is a fine one both as to quantity and quality. As for cotton, Mr. Tuley says he thought that if the present prespects hold out there will be more money in that country when the crop is sold than the people know what to do with, which, he said, would be a good thing for he had found that be a good thing, for he had found that when those people had more money than they knew what to do with they loaned it and that would help in the development of the country. "But it is a fact," he added, "that there has not been brighter prospects for that country since I have known it, and that means for a number of years back."

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE

FOR SALE-Newspaper Opportunity! The Daily and Weekly Democrat will be sold to the highest bidder, half cash, balance on terms, on July 23. This paper sold two months ago for $6,500, $3.500 cash and balance in thirty days and the purchaser failing to borrow the money was forced to sell. The plant must bring $3,000. It is the most complete printing plant that can be found in a town of five thousand people and all is practically new. The plant could not be installed for less than five thousand dollars. It is the only Democratic paper in the county and is located at the county seat. Has all the city and county printing and you know what that means in Oklahoma. The equipment is new and complete and not a penny will have to be spent on any department. News press alone cost $1,450, and everything else in proportion. With statehood for Oklahoma, a state and county campaign on hand, some one is going to make a small fortune in a year. Don't write. Wire or come at once. Address L. T. Russell, Ardmore, O. T., or B. Miss Norma Munro Denies Re ported Engagement

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, July 20.-It now ap pears that Miss Norma Munro and Dudley Carter, the son of Mrs. Lesli-Carter, who was married last week to W. L. Payne, an actor, are not en-/ gaged and never were.

Miss Munro authorized a denial of the engagement today. Young Carter admits that he was mistaken when he announced at a dinner at the Hotel Brotzel on Sunday night that he was engaged to her. D. F. Goodspeed, manager of the

Munro Publishing Company, announced for Miss Munro early in the day that she was not engaged to young Carter. He said that Miss Munro had telephone to him from her mother's home, near Red Bank, N. J., that Mr. Carter was mistaken when he said he was engaged to her. Was in a Convival Moment

In the evening young Carter, who is

23 years old, and has been employed as a clerk by the Windsor Trust Company for two years, came around and stated that when he confided to his friends in a convivial moment that he was to marry Miss Munro he hadn't carefully thought over what he was going to say. Having assured his friends that it was all a mistake, he said he was going away for a rest That automobile trip of Mrs. Carter's, which resulted in her marriage to Payne, at Portsmouth, N. In former articles the writer has alty suits against the Fort Worth commission men, and you will each bear witness that these articles have been absolutely free from comment or conclusion. It is also just as certain that they have been truth. There has been no bitterness indulged in. If the truth has hurt, so be it. Thursday night in a public speaking Mr. McLean bitterly attacked the writer for what? Telling an untruth? No, for spending a sum of money to make known to the citizens of Tarrant "The half county the whole truth. had never yet been told." A Frank Explanation

I shall today drop the narrative of the facts relating to these suits long enough to explain to you frankly why they were not sooner undertaken and why they were first circulated outside of Fort Worth; the two chief complaints Mr. McLean has made.

first began the writer had no idea of taking any part. He has never at any time been concerned in politics and has not now any intention to meddle in politics. Mr. McLean in his canvass of the county outside Fort Worth was saying things concerning the mission men and the facts on which they were based, and his conduct in regard to them, which to say the least of it, were a sickening surprise. These statements came slowly to our ears and were of such a character as to make us slow to believe they had been

Some of the Men Attacked

Among the men who felt deeply hurt by these statements were Frank Hovenkamp, who was born at Birdville, his mother and father lie buried in Tarrant county; he has brothers and relatives in your midst; he has for years enjoyed the friendship and confidence of hundreds of Tarrant county's best citizens; he held this confidence more precious than money. Sterling Clark, who had been your

STRIPS BODY TO MAKE HER ESCAPE

Negro Woman Digs Out of the City Prison

Stripping her body of clothing in order to squeeze through a hole she had enlarged near the door of the women's department of the city prison, Ella Johnson, a negro woman 19 years of age, made good her escape from that jail some time during Thursday night, her delivery from prison being discovered at an early hour Friday morning.

She had been placed in the prison at 10:45 p. m. Thursday, the charge against her name being theft. It was charged that she secured clothing as a laundress and failed to return the same to its owners. Working more than half the night, according to belief of the officers, the negress is said by inmates of the same department of the prison to have taken off her clothing and, pushing the clothing through the aperture first, dragged herself after them and climbed through a window to liberty. At a late hour Friday afternoon she had not been arrested.

This First Week of Great

Has marked quite an epoch in the history of our business. It has been the greatest July week. we've ever experienced. If you haven't been in, there's yet time enough, and your business interests demand it.

We are determined not to have a thing left of spring or summer goods when the fall campaign opens, and have reduced the prices while there's yet two or three months in which the goods can be

So You Don't Believe Everything You See in the Newspapers?

"You bet I don't," answered Farmer Corntassel. Now be a man and look the situation squarely in the face. Do you think I can afford to carry over hundreds of dollars worth of summer merchandise until next season, and have this money tied up which I can use to a better advantage?

I Will Not Do It

I have marked down my entire stock of Gents' Trousers, Hats, Shirts, Underwear, Hosiery Night Robes, Fancy Vests, Neckwear, Suspenders, etc., to ALMOST HALF THE REGULAR PRICE in order to dispose of them quickly.
