POLICE COMMITTEE SAYS "DISMISS TWO OFFICERS"

Captain Blanton and Officer Howard to Be Retired PRISONERS SHOT Report Will Be Made to City Council at Meeting Saturday Night

To be retired from the police department because of the shooting of two prisoners who were trying to escape from the city jail will be the verdict of the police committee and the mayor in their report and recommendation to the city council...

Captain Blanton was charged before the investigating committee and the mayor with having fired a pistol shot which penetrated the hand of a young negro prisoner who was endeavoring to escape through the ceiling of the city calaboose into the office of the city water works department...

Officer Howard was charged with having fired the shot that went through several fingers of the hand of a white boy whose hand was thrust into the same hole, later in the night, on the following morning after the shooting of the negro. Officer Howard said to the committee that he had fired at the wall of the water works office and had not intended to shoot any prisoner...

WILSON SCORES SMALL PACKERS

New Law Covers Only Interstate Business

WASHINGTON, July 21.—In a discussion of the new meat inspection law today, Secretary Wilson said there was considerable misapprehension regarding its scope. "It does not," he said, "apply to any but slaughtering and meat packing houses doing an interstate business. If the people of this country," continued the secretary, "want to be assured that meat that goes into their homes from those establishments doing purely state and local business is clean and wholesome, they should enter upon a crusade for a general cleaning up."

Wilson Powerless to Act "I am powerless myself to act. Quite recently I went through some of the houses embraced within the federal law and found them in a nasty, filthy condition, and in some cases using diseased animals. It is my one regret that the federal law does not reach them, but I earnestly hope the state and city officials will look after them as rigorously as we propose to look after others."

GOOD CROPS NEAR RYAN

J. E. Reed Says Ind. Ter. Conditions Were Never Better J. E. Reed is a partner in the firm of Hill and Reed, who have their range and feed beds up in the Indian Territory something like twenty miles east of Ryan on the Rock Island. There is always a lot of good humor around when either of the partners get inside of the Exchange building and the presence of the firm as a whole makes the fun more fast and furious. Mr. Reed said: "Yes, I am the identical partner of the famous Hill, who surprised you people by offering to treat to the dinner when the commission houses found they were not in condition to place the practice themselves. Hill is all right and will be down here soon. In fact, I look for him today, for he went over to Ardmore to buy some cows and I thought may be he would come this way with them."

"You can say that matters with us are unusually good. Corn is the best crop we have had for years, and with this in sight you may look for lots of fine fat hogs and cattle on this market this fall. Grass is good and could hardly be better and the man who makes a practice of cutting hay and putting it up for his winter feed can get all he wants and a surplus. It rained with Wednesday night and that is good. All are through thrashing. Cotton is as good as it ever was in the Territory. Our people raise a little of everything."

Ticks Troublesome

"The ticks are bad and I think they are caused by one thing. We have failed to burn off the prairie grass and this, I am convinced, is the reason the bugs and ticks get so thick. There is a pasture near us that by some accident got burned off in the spring, and everything in it, and today there is not a tick on any animal in that pasture. This is the stoutest and the best tick and tick evils, I think. Anyway, it might be well for more people to try it."

OKLAHOMA WHEAT GOOD

Other Small Grain Shows Big Yield, Says Ben Clear Ben Clear, a stock farmer from Faxon, O. T., showed up in his usual happy manner among his friends at lunch on Saturday and made a few good words to say for his section. "There is hardly a good thing that could be said that would not apply just now to the cattle and farming interests of Faxon and vicinity," said he. "Wheat, of course, was not so good as real estate men and speculators said it was, but it was not bad when compared with the yield of other sections."

Small Grain Fine

"Oats were a fair crop and corn was never better. I have some four or five hundred head of stock cattle which I have been running in the big Comanche pasture of 40,000 acres, but I am going to sell off my stock cattle and go into the steer business. There is no use trying to raise a five dollar calf on ten dollar land and above so the only thing to do is to go ahead and let the other fellow try his hand at it and buy his increase as fast as he wants to turn loose. Grass is really very fine and the cattle are in excellent shape."

$1,000,000 for Unemployed

LONDON, July 21.—In the house of commons today, John Burns, president of the local government board, announced that the government intended to appropriate $1,000,000 for the relief of the unemployed.

Philosophical

It often takes more time to make an acquaintance than it is to unmake it. A gift tongue does not at all times denote a superabundance of knowledge. It usually pays to attend more to your own affairs than to the affairs of others. A happy disposition needs no letter of recommendation to secure recognition. Say what you mean even if the other fellow insists on misunderstanding it. A lie is a lie, but a written one is most dangerous.

STATE'S EARW

DEAF TO MEN'S Overtures by Tarrant Citizens Ignored

In yesterday's issue you read Mr. Lightfoot's account of Mr. McLean, met Mr. Capps, Mr. "Bob" McNatt, "Bill" Davidson, San Antonio, Tex. The suits representing the defendants were violating the state legal department had up its official mind whether it was agreed that the defendants were violating the law should have the opportunity to see Mr. Davidson, a lawyer general, before any action taken; defendants were to be notified as the official, before the further notice dragged into miles from home, to new suits aggregating $15,000. It was agreed that the suits might just as well be filed in Tarrant county, Texas, as in Bexar county, to the expense of going 200 miles to answer a criminal case among strangers. A good reputation with his man, is it proper that he should be in a position to advise the state? It is not true that he fears not his neighbor who might quack a stranger whom he is in a position to advise the state's representatives were what hardships the institution suits would work upon the defendants, scattered all over the refusal of eastern banks loans which had been procured by the state, but he thought he was "the conservative welfare of the live stock industry." But it will be interesting to look upon anything which would have been filed there but one thing to do: The ascertain if the legal department had yet made up its mind. If it had, it should advise the defendants. In other words, the defendant to Austin, Mr. Cante, one of the lawyers, not to state officials, Mr. McNatt, Bill Marion Sanson and George, who were met there by various over the state who came to prove harmful to the interest live stock raisers of Texas. MOTHER'S FRIEND

STATE'S EAR WAS DEAF TO MEN'S PLEA

Overtures by Tarrant County Citizens Ignored

In yesterday's issue you learned how Mr. Lightfoot, accompanied by Mr. McLean, met Mr. Capps, Mr. Hanger, "Bob" McNatt, "Bill" Davis and Max-rim Sanson (the last named representing the defendants in the suits against the Fort Worth commission men), as a committee, how the defendants were notified as soon as the legal department had not made up its official mind whether the defendants were violating the law; how it was agreed that the defendants should have the opportunity to personally see Mr. Davidson, the attorney general, before the suits were filed, or any action taken; that the defendants were notified as soon as the official mind had made itself up; how the defendants were without further notice dragged into court, 200 miles from home, to answer penalty suits aggregating $17,000,000, when these suits might just as well have been filed in Tarrant county; how 100 of your law-abiding citizens, not favored with railroad passes, were put to the expense of going 200 hundred miles to answer a criminal prosecution among strangers! If a man by years of righteous living has acquired a good reputation with his neighbors, is it proper that he be deprived of it in the hour of his adversity? Is it not true that a man fears not his neighbor who knows him, though he be a stranger among strangers to whom he is introduced as a criminal?

Why was this done? Did the state embody in Mr. Lightfoot and Mr. McLean fear to have a Tarrant county jury know the truth? Was it thought that this would more incline the defendants to seek speedy place by a compromise regardless of their real names and intentions to keep sacred the law? You shall answer.

You have learned how it was the state's representatives were informed what hardships the institution of these suits would work upon live stock raisers scattered all over the state by the removal of eastern banks to renew suits which had been procured by the endorsement of the defendants, how it was the state's representative did not think he was "the conservator of the welfare of the live stock raisers of Texas." But it will accomplish nothing to look upon anything that preceded the filing of these suits. They have been filed! There remained but one thing to do: That was to ascertain if the legal department of the state had yet made up its official mind. If it had, it evidently forgot to advise the defendants. In order that they might know the defendants sent to Austin Mr. Cantey, one of their attorneys; Bob McNatt, Bill Davis, Marion Sanson and George Reynolds, who were met there by various others over the state who came voluntarily to help avert what they believed would prove harmful to the interests of the live stock raisers of Texas.

They were cordially received by Mr. Davidson but were informed that they would have to deal with Mr. Lightfoot and a Mr. Batts a lawyer of Austin, not a state officer. What Mr. Batts' interest in the matter is we are unable to surmise. Is it possible that the state's rights had been

PLAN TO DEVELOP TEXAS CITY PORT

New York Men Interested in Project Involving Millions

Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, July 21.—Announcement of the purchase by strong financial interests in New York, Pittsburgh, Chicago and the west of the properties controlled by the Texas City Transportation Company and the Texas City Terminal Company at Texas City, Texas, has aroused much interest in Wall street. This was not only because of the high character and standing of the men now in control of the companies mentioned, but also because of the possibilities for the future.

Control of the properties included in the companies in question is held by the Texas Investment Company, a corporation newly created and with but a nominal capital, but the latter in time will be increased to a requisite amount, $10,000,000 or more, as may be deemed necessary.

Capital Abundant

Whatever capital may be needed will be at hand when the time comes, for the directors of the new enterprise include such men as Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation; Vice President J. M. McGinley of the Columbia Trust Company, also one of the directors of the Chicago Pneumatic Tool Company; H. H. Westinghouse, vice president of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company, No. 111 Broadway; J. S. Keiff, one of the high officials of the American Steel Wire Company; John F. Miller of Pittsburgh, who also is connected with the Westinghouse companies, and A. B. Wolvin of Duluth. Mr. Wolvin has been largely interested in the building up and development of Texas City.

J. R. McGinley is the president of the Texas Investment Company, and the price paid for the properties at Texas City is said to have been about $1,500,000. The two companies included in the purchase, the Texas City Transportation company has a capital of $2,500,000, and the Texas City Terminal Company $200,000. The property consists of a railroad nine miles in length, with all equipment, and 1,200 acres of land. This latter is located on the water front at Texas City, the latter standing on the west shore of Galveston bay, northwest of Galveston.

Is Port of Entry

Texas City now is a port of entry, and with its fine shipping facilities will relieve much of the congestion now existing at Galveston. As a port of entry Galveston in 1905 was second only to New York, and much of the business that now goes to the Texas metropolis will be handled at the piers of Texas City.

The United States has made a deep water channel between Galveston and Texas City, the minimum depth of which is twenty-six feet. Two great piers have been built, upon which are located five great warehouses for cotton and other commodities, while the line of railroad belonging to the Texas City Terminal Company, running from these piers, connects with five different railroads—the Gould lines, the Missouri, Kansas and Texas, the Santa Fe, the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, and the Southern Pacific. The piers are 300 and 463 feet in breadth, respectively, the first extending 800 feet into Galveston bay and the other 1,200 feet.

Texas City has not only had a good, substantial growth, but there are many evidences that the future will have a great deal in store for it. Within a reasonably short time a large ship yard is to be located there. Steamship lines reach this port from everywhere—Tampa, Vera Cruz, Progreso and Havana, in the immediate vicinity, across the Gulf of Mexico, and through or by means of them to all parts of the world.

It is the intention of the backers of the Texas Investment Company to be liberal in expenditures in the way of improvements and extensions.

NEGRO ENDS LIFE ON THE GALLOWS

Bob Johnson Hanged for Murder at Stephenville

Special to The Telegram.

STEPHENVILLE, Texas, July 21.—At 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon Bob Johnson, the condemned negro, was brought from the county jail to the scaffold and asked by Sheriff Mack Creswell if he had any remarks to make before having the noose placed about his neck and Johnson replied that he had nothing to say, whereupon the trap was sprung and the body allowed to hang for twenty-five minutes, when Dr. Uelcher, the physician in attendance, pronounced death from strangulation.

There was a large but quiet crowd here to witness the scene. Johnson's remains were turned over to his wife, who will ship them to Belton for burial.

Story of the Crime

On or about Nov. 24, 1904, the body of Alfred Berry, a white man, was found in the cotton seed house of the Dublin oil mill by the hands working there at that time. From the condition of the body Berry was supposed to have been killed several days before he was found. Indications pointed to the fact that Berry was struck on the head and face with a shovel or some implement used in the handling of seed and Bob Johnson, a negro, who had from time to time been working around the mill, was immediately accused of the crime and placed under arrest. Johnson in the meantime had gone to Waco, where his wife and her parents lived, and had confessed to his father-in-law that he was in trouble of some kind, but whether or not he confessed to the murder of Berry to his father-in-law is not known. However, Jan. 10, 1905, he was given a trial and the evidence of the case showed that Berry had been hobnobbing with him in many instances and this, along with slight evidences in Johnson's favor, resulted in a hung jury. Again, Jan. 31, 1905, he was tried and the death sentence was imposed. The case was then appealed and reversed and sent back for a new trial. July 24, 1905, he was again tried and the same penalty imposed. The case was appealed again and finally confirmed by the court of appeals and the date of execution was set for July 20, 1906, by District Judge W. J. Oxford.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 20.—The National Live Stock Exchange today declared the enforcement of the postmortem examination of cattle which have been dressed and weighed will ruin the business of live stock commission dealers. A committee was appointed to protest against the enforcement of the rule.

THE OTHER SIDE OF IT

The unsavory Texas case has given the professional moralists their usual opportunity to preach long sermons about the lecherous rakes who prey on the innocence of young girls, but right here are a few words on the other side of the subject—the conduct of young girls whose innocence is taken for granted solely on account of their sex.

Really good and innocent girls are not so ready, much less eager, to fall at the first opportunity. On the contrary, it may be assumed that those young misses serving as artists' models and ready, on demand, to appear at any hours of night, in any pose, in any degree of undress before any sort of a company that will invite them, have no great distance to drop before they reach the depths. It does not make the Whites and Thaws better to admit that the girls are worse, but common justice demands that the truth be told.

The surprising fact in all these cases is the admirable complacency of the mothers, who appear in becoming tears when the escapades of their daughters find culmination in the criminal courts, but who, according to their own testimony, have been living in more or less luxury on the earnings of their girls.

In every tragedy of young womanhood the same story with insignificant variations is told. The mothers have considered their duties done when the children have been sent to Sunday school for a brief period in fine frocks and paper curls. Any other attempt to inculcate morals seems to be beyond their comprehension, and the children are virtually emancipated from control or guidance. They do as they please, form their own associates, and choose their own occupations. The parents know far less about their children than they do of the children next door on the next block.

head off such a state of affairs by taking the initiative and seeing that the children were grounded more firmly than in a parroting of the ten commandments and memorizing of the golden text.

The wicked wolf gobbled up innocent little Red Ridinghood, but if she had gone quietly about her business, and not stopped to gather flowers and peep with strangers on the road, selling her destination and listening to the pretty flatteries, the world would have passed her by. Hunters of big game say that half the success lies in the process of elimination, training their sight so that they will see the deer to the exclusion of all else. The same may be said of these girls who are so easily made victims of the wicked men—that they have their eyes taught to be on the look-out for the champagne sippers, the jewels and automobiles. Neither laws nor anything else will protect people who do not want to be protected.

CAMPBELL ORGANS AFTER BAILEY

The telegram has heretofore referred to the feeling that had been stirred up among followers of the different candidates for governor over the exposure of the Brooks case by the senatorial and judicial disapproval is daily growing more intense. So far the Campbell followers are the most outspoken in their denunciation of the senator and the following editorial from the Beaumont Journal, one of the most staunch Campbell organs in the state, well serves to show how the Campbell people feel about it:

Like some other great men, Senator Joe Bailey has been touched by the blighting influence of money and degenerated into a most pitiful specimen of the latter-day political coward. Senator Bailey is a man of more than ordinary ability, and while his rise to national greatness has been meteoric it was not unnatural. Upon his election to congress from Texas his brilliant oratory, eloquence and individualism attracted immediate attention, and before he had finished his first term he became recognized as one of the democratic leaders in national legislature.

In the earlier days of his public career he was always consistent, tough at times, and after the close of the Spanish war he became the most conspicuous opponent of the spirit of militarism and agrarianism which was sweeping the country, and in the halls of congress his oratory thundered against acquisition of the Philippines and the drift of the republic toward monarchial centralism. A man with convictions and the courage to express them consistently, though at times unpopular, he made the hearts of the people tremble at the thought of his political undoing.

This culminated in the state democratic convention at Galveston, when the assembly elected a platform committee which included United States Senator Horace Chilton, succeeded in incorporating in the platform a plank which indirectly indorsed the policy of imperialism as adopted by the republicans and along which lines President McKinley was to lead the nation.

When the thermometer reaches 100 degrees in the shade the sentence imposed on those Toledo ice dealers will be still more popular.—Omaha Bee.

It looks now as if, when the ice trust makes its plans for the summer, it must be the same as last year. The ice companies of Toledo, Ohio, combined to put up the price of ice from 75 to 100 per cent and in consequence the merchants have been put in jail under a court sentence. A wholesome example of justice.—Nashville Banner.

Quaker Reflections: Time is money, which is probably the reason some people spend it so foolishly. The successful man not only takes advantage of his opportunities; he originates them. Somehow or other the luxuries of life seem so much more important than the necessities. Few men appreciate their happiness until they reach the point where they have to look back on it. When a fellow elopes with a girl in his auto he shouldn't have any trouble raising the dough to get married. Youth is ambitious to write its name on the scroll of fame, but old age is satisfied with the bottom of a check. No woman can be said to be happily married unless she has had the pleasure of rejecting two or three previous offers.—Philadelphia Record.

Gleanings From The Exchanges

A little reading up on the Terrill election will be beneficial to the people. Some of them might learn some things by such a course of study.—Cleveland Enterprise.

It is long. Life is entirely too short for the average voter to ever hope to master the many intricacies of the Terrill election law.

The beef trust is trying to explain that the charge that while the price of beef has greatly increased, the price of cattle has declined is not based on facts. But the word of the trust is hardly to be relied upon as much as the word of the farmer, who are both up against the manipulations of the beef barons.—Austin Statesman.

The packers may not be able to see any disparity in the price of beef from the block and beef on the hoof, but it is painfully apparent to the producers. For several years the price paid for beef animals in this country has been barely above the cost of production.

Foundations are cracking down for seven large business structures in Fort Worth and three is not one going down in Cleburne. Can you figure out how this is? Do you see any difference in Fort Worth's manner of doing business and the general business practices in Cleburne? Fort Worth is doing the one thing that Cleburne is not doing, and that is, it is not growing at all. What do you think about it?—Cleburne Review.

Fort Worth has long ago reached the point where there is no bickering among her people, and no citizen of this city ever seeks to roll a stone in the path of the wheels of progress. The result is Fort Worth is growing all the time faster than any other Texas city, and there are many Texas cities and towns that might emulate Fort Worth methods with propriety and profit.

Candidate Bell's friends have stolen a march on the other candidates. They claim that Mr. Bell's visit to the drought-stricken west was followed by copious rains. Bell ringing is said to have a quieting effect on swarming bees, but this is not the case in this instance.

And the heavens are not the only institutions discharging tears over the progress of the Bell boom. There are several candidates who are also emitting a few glistening teardrops from the same cause.

Judge Bell is, apparently, the only candidate in the gubernatorial race who is gaining ground everywhere and losing ground nowhere. From present indications he will have a fair lead in the Democratic primaries, if not a majority over all, and he will inherit the strength of most of the candidates if they drop out of the list when the state convention is ready to make a nomination.—San Antonio Express.

Judge Bell will go into the state convention with enough support to insure his nomination. As the lesser candidates are dropped their former support will come to Bell.

The papers throughout the state, especially the floor papers, are displaying considerable attention to the make-up of the state legislature and insisting on brains and honesty being the basis of most of the appointments to be made.—San Antonio Light.

The telegram has striven to point out to the people the dangers of an incompetent state legislature. Taat is the branch of our state government charged with the making of our laws, and when there is failure in that direction it brings about a state of affairs that hurts every material interest in Texas.

Ice Men in the Cooler: When the thermometer reaches 100 degrees in the shade the sentence imposed on those Toledo ice dealers will be still more popular.—Omaha Bee.

Those Toledo ice trust men also would probably say, if they were asked, that they should have been given an opportunity to reform, before the law was invoked against them.—Albany Journal.

The ice companies of Toledo, Ohio, combined to put up the price of ice from 75 to 100 per cent and in consequence the merchants have been put in jail under a court sentence. A wholesome example of justice.—Nashville Banner.

Quaker Reflections: Time is money, which is probably the reason some people spend it so foolishly. The successful man not only takes advantage of his opportunities; he originates them. DO YOU KNOW WHAT WORKS IS?

Do you know what work is? Do you work 10, 12 or 14 hours a day and feel tired and worn and indignant at such a life? Do you get $1.50 a day for it or $3 a day or $10 a day, and think you are always because your wages are not more?

You don't know what work is when you compare your toil with this woman's. She is Mrs. Thoroughgood, a plain woman of England; whose testimony at a hearing before a public board at Lambeth has created a sensation throughout Britain.

She didn't go to complain. She was just a witness at an investigation. She had been her regular employment was in a factory where she earned a few shillings a week for working from 8 a. m. until late in the evening. Her wages were not sufficient to provide all the necessities of even a poor English working woman and so she sewed at home at "extra" hours for a firm or British reserves.

"Extra" hours? God pity her, she had extra hours. At 8 in the evening she hunched home, ate her crust, tidied her room and dropped into bed. At 3 a. m. she was up, and from that hour until it was time to go to the factory she sat and stitched trousers.

And her "extra" pay? It was 2 cents an hour. She testified that she received the shillings and 8 pence for 141 hours' work. That was 1 pence an hour, or 2 cents in American money.

A London Express reporter went to the lodgings of Mrs. Thoroughgood at 8:30 one evening. She had just returned from work and was eating the meager fare her pittance for food allowed her. He found a woman of 63 with haggard and wrinkled face, drooping body and trembling hands.

The poor old woman was also ill-clad, although it was evident that she tried to make as neat a show as possible. An old blouse and ragged skirt comprised practically the whole of her clothing. "What do I have for dinner?" she went on in reply to a question, "Anything I can get for a penny. Some times a bit of bread and some water, and a cup of tea at 11 o'clock. It is a very brightening. That was an untold luxury to her."

BELL TURNS LIGHT ON TEXAS POLITICS

Houston Rallies to Fort Worth Candidate's Banner ... Special to The Telegram. HOUSTON, Texas, July 21.—Judge C. K. Bell of Fort Worth, candidate for the democratic nomination for governor of Texas, made an address last night at Turner hall.

The speaking was under the auspices of the Harris County Bell Club, its president, Judge John G. Tod, presided at the meeting and presented Tom H. Bell, who introduced the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Bell reviewed Judge Bell's life and political career and paid an eloquent tribute to what he regarded as the candidate's public services.

When Judge Bell arose to speak he was greeted with prolonged applause. He began by saying that he was a stranger to many people, and that he had had played all day through the streets advertising the speaking, was in attendance.

He then pointed out that nineteen years ago in the state senate he registered his opposition to free passes. He touched upon the questions of prohibition and local option.

"I am earnestly in favor of the local option laws," he said. "I believe that they are right in principle and policy, and that they are the only way to solve the problem of alcohol."

"Texas is the only state in the world—the only place in the world—where trusts and monopolies cannot be formed and operated."

"To illustrate this, he said that while he was attorney general the cotton seed oil trust, which had bought up the mills in South Carolina, attempted to enter and operate in Texas, and that he met it, sued it, forfeited its charter and kicked it out of the state.

"That these laws have been fully or adequately enforced," he said, "no body claims. And it's nothing against the law to break them. We have laws against murder, burglary and other crimes, but the fact that these crimes are committed does not bring the law into disrepute."

NEW YORK STOCKS

Trading Confined to Few High-Class Stocks, but Market Has Gained

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, July 21.—As week-end sessions of the stock exchange go, today's was a fair sample. Although the volume of business transacted during the two hours was perhaps a little above the recent average for a half session, the activity noted was in fits and starts as compared with the animation which pervaded the market yesterday, trading being confined principally to a few issues among the better class of securities, rails being given the preference. However, the general list had a good undertone and all received fair support whenever there was an attempt to drive prices lower.

St. Paul, after an initial drop of 1/4, advanced in volume rapidly under the pressure of a good character, the upward movement culminating at 179, or a net gain of 1 1/2 points. Reading touched a high level, 1 1/2 above yesterday's closing figure, while the value of Union Pacific was enhanced 1/4, preferred and common steel gained 1/2 and 3/4 respectively and Amalgamated sold 1/2 above yesterday's closing level.

Prices Take Early Tumble But Recover and Finals Are Same as Yesterday

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, July 21.—The cotton market started the day with prices a little lower, a decline on the other side of the water being responsible for an initial slump of 1 to 3 points, but although the loss was increased during the first hour to a matter of 4 to 6 points under some scattered long liquidation which was caused by the more favorable weather conditions, as reflected by a map showing generally partly cloudy and clear weather for the belt, there was little or no real selling pressure and the shorts among the scalping crowd took advantage of the decline to even up their commitments for the holiday, resulting in a complete recovery and a steady close, with prices unchanged for new crop options and a point higher for July and August.

Spot cotton market ruled quiet, prices being unchanged at 11c for middling.

SMALL BOY IS LOST

Excitement Caused by Failure to Find Way

Considerable excitement was caused Friday evening in the neighborhood of Terrell and Sixth avenues by the straying of a 7-year-old boy from the home of Dr. S. A. Woodward, 1527 Pruitt street. The little fellow, a son of Dr. Woodward's sister, Mrs. Coke, who, with her mother, had just come to the city Friday from her home in Atlanta, Texas, to visit her brother's family, went on an errand to the grocery store of W. W. Perry, at the corner of Terrell avenue and South Lake street, with the son of Dr. Woodward, who reached the store shortly after 6 o'clock and as is natural in boys of their age, tarried to play a while and eat long loaves of candy in the show cases. boy wanted to go home, but the Woodward boy wished to stay longer, with the result that the former soon started alone in the direction he thought would lead him to his uncle's residence. No more thought was given him until his playmate reached home, as darkness was coming on and he learned that his cousin had not arrived. Mrs. Coke was at once alarmed and a search for the lost boy was started. Mrs. Woodward telephoned to the store a number of boys who were looting there started out in a hunt for the Coke boy. Will Coffey, who clerks in the store, also joined the search, taking a route by himself. After a short walk he came upon the little fellow on South Adams street, near Magnolia. The boy had not lost courage, but was inquiring at houses along the street for Dr. Woodward's residence. He was going, however, in the opposite direction from the store to Dr. Woodward's home. Mrs. Coke and her son left the city Saturday morning for the north, where they go to visit relatives.

BANKER COMING HERE

Big Springs Man Purchases Hutchison Residence

Chalmers W. Hutchison of Arlington Heights has sold his suburban residence at the Heights to S. W. Moore of Big Springs, and this adds another of the prominent cattlemen of the western part of Texas to the list of Fort Worth residents. Mr. Moore is a banker as well as a cattleman, long and successfully identified with the business.

Mr. Hutchison says that he had, in his opinion, one of the very best suburban residences in this part of the state and, if all things are considered, the location, its proximity to the city, the view from the galleries overlooking the beautiful Trinity river, it is not out of the way to say that the place was as fine as any of the kind in the state. The dwelling is a ten-room, two-story frame building and it stands on a tract of ground which is irregular in shape but amply large for the purposes. The frontage is 1,165 feet on Alta avenue and the lot extends back to the bluff with a depth of from 300 to 1,000 feet. Alta avenue is 100 feet wide.

Mr. Hutchison will leave about the first of August for a trip which will last until about the first of November. The first part of the trip will be spent in a cottage at Glenwood Springs, Colo. Mr. Moore is to have possession Jan. 1 next.

OUTDOOR LIFE

Will Not Offset the Ill Effects of Coffee When One Cannot Digest It.

A farmer says: "It was not from liquor nor tobacco that for ten years or more I suffered from dyspepsia and stomach trouble, they were caused by the use of coffee until I had so bad I had to give up coffee entirely and almost give up eating. There were times when I could only get boiled milk or bread and when I went to the field to work I had to take some bread and butter along to give me strength. I consulted with doctors and took almost everything I could get for my stomach in the way of medicine, but if I got any better it only lasted a little while until I was almost a walking skeleton. "One day I read an ad for Postum and told my wife I would try it, and as to the following facts I will make affidavit before any judge: "I quit coffee entirely and used Postum in its place. I have regained my health entirely and can eat anything that is cooked to eat. I have increased in weight until now I weigh more than I ever did. I have not taken any medicine for my stomach since I began using Postum. Why, I believe Postum will almost digest an iron wedge. "My family would stick to coffee at first, but they saw the effects it had on me and when they were feeling bad they began to use Postum, one at a time, until now we all use Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Place Creek, Mich. Ten days' trial of Postum in bottle of coffee proves the truth, an easy and pleasant way. "There's a reason." Look in pkg. for copy of the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville."

His statement that the state prohibition in 1887 has been challenged and he then modified his statement by saying that it made no difference how he stood there; that his present position was what counted—Gainesville Messenger.
