Thousands fled to the open streets and alleys and passed the night there. Porches and fire escapes on the tenements were crowded by sleeping women and children and the roofs provided resting places for groups of sweltering humanity. Many also spent the night in the parks.

A serious result of the prolonged heat wave under which Chicago has been suffering has been a marked increase in the crime record. Chief of Police Collins said yesterday that the increase in crime was due principally to the enormous increase in drinking.

It is believed that the next few days will demonstrate whether the present uprisings may be dignified with the term "rebellion" or are to be classed with the sporadic outlawry with which the government has already successfully coped. The active loyalty of many Cubans of influence is admittedly in doubt. To what extent, if any, the sentiment for annexation to the United States figures in the unrest and what stand the Americans in the Isle of Pines will take has awakened considerable speculation.

Wish Bloodless Victory

Unofficial efforts to quiet the disturbers are told of yesterday in a dispatch cabled early today to the Associated Press. The dispatch says that eighty veterans of the revolution met last night and in a resolution pledged themselves to use their personal influence to bring the matter to a blood-less termination. John S. Fiske of C. M. Ceballos & Co., Cuban-American bankers, last night said that the cable dispatches received by his firm from Havana indicate that there was no need for alarm at present. He added:

That would mean pacific first, and then annexation. any country governed by white men It is a natural consequence that the colored men will be to a certain extent kept in the background. That is what has happened in Cuba and is at the bottom of the insurrection."

Among the press-advices received here from Havana are the following: A special correspondent has sent a signed interview with Pino Guererra, from his headquarters, in which the revolutionary leader says the uprising is a protest against the violation of the constitution and illegal elections which must be annulled and others held. He said he had kept from the offensive in order to give the government time to consider the question. He also says that the government must pay for everything consumed by his forces which number 2,600 men. Government Forces Few

SMALL MONEY IS VERY SCARCE

Bills of Lesser Denominations Hard to Find

Special to The Telegram.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.-A famine of small currency has struck the United States, and it is no longer possible for the United States treasury to supply the demands of business for any of the denominations below $10.

The monetary condition is without a precedent in the history of the republic. It has been foreseen and made the subject of various warnings by aticers of the mints and treasury, but congress did nothing.

For some days the treasury has been refusing requests from banks for $1, $2 and $5 silver certificates in exchange for gold certificates of larger denominations. Within the past week a Chicago banker sent three gold certificates for $10,000 each, with request that he be sent fives, twos and ones. He was told that the treasury could not furnish them.

This does not mean that money is scarce. It means simply that there is not enough money of the small denominations to carry on the enormous trade which prosperity has brought. It means that our money system does not expand to meet the needs of flush

The renewed purchases of silver on, the announced determination to do which came as a surprise a few days ago, do not help the situation materially. This bullion can be used only for coining half and quarter dollars and dimes. It cannot be coined into dollars, as this was forbidden in the law passed in 1893 repealing the purchasing clause of the Sherman act. The law permitted the secretary to coin into silver dollars the bullion purchased between 1890 and 1893, and the government has been working on that bullion until a year ago, when, the end of it being clearly in sight, the coinage of dollars was stopped, and the rest was devoted to halves, quarters and dimes. Now it is all gone, together with the silver from battered coins turned in.

There remains in the treasury a small margin of about 6,000,000 "free dollars" (that is, silver dollars against which there are no silver certificates outstanding); and this-and it is only a drop in the bucket-is all there is to supply future demands for $1, $2 and

How about all those silver dollars piled up in the basement of the treasury department?

This question naturally occurs to the tourist who has visited Washing. ton and had these dollars pointed out as an object of interest. How can there be any scarcity of dollars when all these are lying idle?

The answer is that all those dollars are theoretically in circulation already. There are 483,000,000 of those dollars, and for everyone there is a silver certificate in somebody's pocket-

Anybody who will take the trouble to read what it says on his dollar, his two or five-dollar bills (unless they are bank notes), will find that it reads: This certifies that there have been deposited in the treasury of the United States of America one (or two or five) silver dollars, payable to the bearer on demand." The law requires that the silver dollar stay in the treasury ready to redeem that promise. So all that vast bulk of 483,000,000 silver dollars is mortgaged" and cannot be issued.

ury, but that does not help the scarcity of small bills. Gold certificates are not issued for anything smaller

If worse comes to worst it is the plan of Secretary Shaw to call in as many of the $5 silver certificates as e can get and to issue twos and ones place of them. That is about all hat can be done to relieve the earcity.

At other cities in Illinois and Iowa temperatures were high. The eastern states are enjoying moderately warm weather with light rains. Bismarck, N. Wednesday the highest temperature at Bismarck was 58 degrees and Thursday morning the mercury was standing at 54 degrees when the observer climbed out on top of the Federal building, clad in his overcoat, to make his readings. Boise City. Idaho, is likewise doing stunts in lightning temperature changes. At that place temperatures well up in the 90s were being recorded only a short time ago and Wednesday the maximum was 74 degrees, while Thursday morn-

The St. Louis conference of the Gould line officials, with those of the Mexican National fixed the date for the resumption of the St. Louis-Mexico through service for Nov. 20, about two months earlier than usual. The trains run over the Iron Mountain, the Texas and Pacific, the International and the Mexican National, and the schedule time is sixty hours. The Gulf port lines announce that they will, Sept. 1, put into effect a reduction on grain from Missouri river points to the gulf, to meet the reduction made by the Wabash on the seaboard rates from Missouri river points. The reduction is about 1 cent on the through business.

TOMATOES FROM NORTH Fort Worth Now Getting Supply From

Kansas Nearly 200 baskets of tomatoes were received in this city Thursday morning from Kansas. They were consigned to local produce firms and were of exceptional fine quality, being well rounded and firm. The Texas crop of tematoes has about played out and the vegetable is now being shipped into this section from Kansas and Colorado. The Kansas tomato is large and dealers say that better ones were never produced anywhere. Colorado is also shipping out some very fine tomatoes, but the bulk of that crop is going to the eastern markets. Local wholesale fruit and produce handlers assert that the trade this summer has kept up exceptionally well and that the call for vegetables just

Santa Fe Will Run Excursion to Sulphur I. T. Next Saturday the Santa Fe will open its new Indian Territory line from Davis, on the main line, to Sulphur, a distance of nine miles. The federal government has reserved the hot springs at the latter place for the use of the public. The springs have the same value, it is claimed, as the Arkansas hot springs and, additionally, such value as comes with the sulphur water. It is the expectation of those concerned that Sulphur will become the hot springs of this part of the southwest, the rivals of Hot Springs, Ark. In about two weeks a Sunday excursion, at popular prices, will be run to Sulphur from Fort Worth, giving long enough time at the place to see all there is to be seen and to enjoy the baths and sulphur water, if one can enjoy that. There is said to be ample hotel accommodation even for a arge excursion. At the city ticket office of the Santa Fe there are exhibited some beautiful views of the fine scenery of that part of the territory. The distance from Fort Worth to Sulphur is 141 miles, about a five-hour run.

Tells of Methods

U. S. department of agriculture sues the following bulletin:

Washington, D. C., July 31, 1906 .-Sir In view of the widespread interst taken in the cattle tick question at this time and its importance bearing on the cattle industry of the South, it is sidered timely to issue the following brief directions on the subject of ng cattle and premises of the exas fever tick, and I recommend their cation as a circular of this bureau. If the Southern farmers will but make a united effort along the lines inicated and thus co-operate with the al officials and this bureau in atsking the tick problem, much headway will be made, and our ultimate -namely, the entire eradication of the tick and its direful consequence to outhern agriculture - will be within seasurable distance of accomplish-

"This circular is especially applicable from midsummer until the following April to localities where but few cattle are kept, and it is intended as a handy supplement to the former publications of this bureau on the subject of Texas ever and the cattle tick, the most reant of which are Bulletin No. 78 and farmers Bulletins Nos. 258 and 261. A. D. MELVIN, "Chief of Bureau." ectfully, destruction of ticks which are on attle and premises is the first step in procuring a free cattle traffic. The fol-lowing suggestions are therefore made for the purpose of assisting owners of small numbers of ticky cattle to get rid of the fever ticks:

term "ticks" as here used is ally applied to the fever tick. ese ticks are the more abundant in he latter part of summer and fall, the ther kinds being rarely present after the month of July. All ticks are harmtal however, and should be destroyed. The term "cattle" should be undertood to include all cows, steers, bulls, beffers, yearlings, calves and oxen.
Tick-free premises are those in which there have been no ticky animals for ttle and premises may nitted on the premises. The method of hand picking and greasing is most table in cases where there are but few animals, or for small herds where be conditions for grazing can not be red. The method consists in careamining all the cattle daily and or scraping off the ticks. In nection it must be remembered orses and mules sometimes carry and therefore these animals must be thoroughly and frequently eximined and the ticks removed. The est care must be exercised to collect and destroy all of the ticks re-moved. It is true that while this process is going on the animals will get more ticks on them if the premises are ticky, but by diligently destroying all the larger ticks the supply gives out on account of the seed ticks have perished. Arrange to examine all the cattle and pick the ticks at least every other day. All parts of the animals, especially the insides and back parts of the thighs, should be examined for ticks. If any of the cattle are difficult to handle, they should be driven into a chute or narrow pen made for the purpose and where good light is afforded. Ticks can be seen best in sunlight. Ticks must not be thrown on the ground, but uld be placed in tin cans or other convenient vessels and carried to a suitable place and burned or otherwise totally destroyed, or they will lay eggs, and seed ticks will hatch in countless numbers. Begin now to pick and be sure that not a single tick matures on your cattle after September 1. As a result of your trouble in observing the precautions herein indicated during this summer and fall, the cattle and ises should be free from ticks by To assist in preventing ticks from getting on cattle the cattle may be greased at the time of picking or as ften as may seem to be necessary. The reasy solution is obnoxious to the ticks and if the legs and sides of the animals are treated in this manner, the ticks will be less apt to crawl on them.

In greasing cattle, use Beaumont petroleum or any crude oil, coted oil, fish oil, or lard. The folowing mixture will be found useful for this purpose: One gallon of kerosene, on of cottonseed oil, and one ound of flowers of sulphur. Any of he above may be applied with sponge, swab, or brush, and should be ighly rubbed on all the lower parts of the cattle and at least halfway

The Tie-Rope or Picketing Method method is practicable where ere are a few head of cattle. It consts merely in picketing the cattle out on tick-free pasturage. The cattle must occasionally moved and the places here they have been must be carefully ed for some nine months there-

On or before September 1 re.nove all cattle (including young stock and caives) from the pasture or range where they are to be kept after March 15 of the following year. Do not permit any cattle, horses, or mules on such re or range during the period indicated. If the premises in which the cattle are placed during this period adoins the pasture or range where they are to be kept after March 15 it will be ary to set the dividing fence over some ten or twenty feet on the pasture at the time of changing the cattle in March. Be sure to examine every head of cattle carefully for ticks before hanging them in March. If ticks are on the cattle at this time and are not destroyed the pasture will become infected and the work will have to be done over again. If the ticks are ently removed by picking and the cattle are greased immediately after taken from the pasture er, the danger of future infection

STILL COTTON LEADER

Ellis County Man Talks of Agricultural Conditions

W. A. Satchell resides in the biggest cotton growing country in the United States, Ellis, and gets his mail in Waxanachie. "We are all right down our way," said he, "and we hope to again lead the world in raising cotton. Crops were never in better condition and grass is a wonder. Corn is good, but we are scared of the boll weevil and if it don't stop raining I don't well see how then can manage to keep out. A great deal depends on the cotton crop even more than most ordinary people. who only think of the cotton as baled, suppose. With a good crop, the feed proposition is a certainty and the byproducts of cotton seed have become so absolutely essential to the feeding of cattle that the feeding proposition has become a question of now much seed is raised. It has become the main question in the feeding proposition, as is corn in Iowa and other northern states, and it all depends here on cotton as it does up there on corn. "Some day I expect to see the farmer drive to mill with his seed, have it crushed for him and then return home with his load of feed for his own cattle. This is sure to come as the lessons that are being taught to the farmers by the colleges and experiment stations become more and more disseminated among the people.

Praises Farming

"The young men who are from year to year being taught at the Agricultural and Mechanical college of Texas will soon become heads of families of their own and then the knowledge that they have gained theoretically will be put to practical use. As the years pass this will grow until at last agriculture will become the leading, and as it ought to be, the most sought after pursuit by the young men of the state.'

IN UVALDE COUNTRY

Cattle Are in a Very Flourishing Condition.

John Dyer has returned from a trip down in the Uvalde country and is much enthused, almost as much as he was over the election of Tom Campbell. "I went down to San Antonio and then out to Seguin and then to Uvalde county, Around San Antonio now that they have had rains, things are looking up and grass is fine, but corn is very short east of the Guadalupe river. Out Uvalde way, however, things are as fine as anywhere on earth. The whole country out there is just as green as a patch of Bermuda and the cattle are fat. There will be many fat cattle brought out of the Uvalde country sure. Grass could not be finer and the stock and pastures will go into the winter in famous shape. The country brushed up and got pretty thick for a while, but now that farmers have bought in the land is being cleared of brush and you never saw the country look prettier than it is even in the early days, when you were out there and it was at its best, From the foothills looking south and southwest, the land is as the land of Canaan must have looked to the Israelites, and is truly as that land was pronounced, "a land of milk and honey.

"Texas seems to be all right," said he, "and from what I have seen stripped of the talk I have heard from interested parties. I should say that everything this year points to a fine year. I have been along the line of the Texas & Pacific spending a day or two here and there and giving my attention personally to matters in hand, and my conclusions are formed from personal observation. There has been plenty of rain and all crops are certainly in good shape. Where all are good it is hard to pick, but the country around Merkel seemed to my notion about the best I saw and the hotel proprietress fed me so well with chicken and other good things that it was hard to leave and chance other places. BACK FROM VACATION

Miss Carrie Lowe Prefers Texas to the Eastern Summer Resorts.

Miss Carrie Lowe, who is a member of the Stock Exchange, returned from her vacation trip to the summer resorts on the Atlantic coast near New York, Sunday, and was welcomed by all connected with the big building. "I am delighted to get back to Fort Worth and Texas," she said, "although of course it was pleasant to be with my relatives for a time. Everything was crowded with visitors, but the heat was so intense that it was almost unbearable. You have no idea how one suffers up there during the hot spell that came upon the land. While the thermometer registered at the highest only 96 degrees at any time, still the humidity of the atmosphere made the heat just awful. It seemed as if a person could not breathe and would suffocate. Some of my relatives who were going to Massachusetts to spend the summer asked me what I wanted to go back to Texas for, it being so hot, and I replied 1 wanted to get back where I could breathe pure air once more. Yes, I am happy to get back and this air is simply delicious after that which I have had to take into my lungs."

PAUPER DIVORCE FEES DEMANDED

District Clerk Says Hereafter He Will Contest Cases

District Clerk John A. Martin is up in arms against divorce suits with pauper oath attachments, and says that the alleged niusance has assume! such proportions that he proposes to make a fight to put an end to present conditions.

"From this time on," he said to a Telegram reporter, "I will contest issuing citations in divorce cases that are accompanied with a pauper's oath. I see no justice in working my clerical force to death issuing citations in these cases when there is not one cent of remuneration, and so far as the morality involved is concerned, it doesn't matter whether the parties are divorced or not. "There were five divorce suits filed by one law firm in one day this week and there were filed pauper oaths with them, which means that all the clerical work will have to be done free of harge. This appears to me to be rubbing it in, and I am not going to stand it any longer without a protest. will issue no more citations on pauper oath divorce suits unless this office is protected in court costs by the attorneys who file the suits. They get their fees in advance and if the plaintiff cannot pay court costs the attorneys should do something to relieve the clerk's office. If there is a genuine pauper suit-a suit in which the lawyer filing it does not get his fee in advance, then I will issue on that suit, but I am tired of working for a lot of people for nothing, who should be made to pay for what they

As stated in The Telegram yesterday none of the largest property holders along Wheeler street want the car line and intend to keep it out if possible. Wheeler street is a very narrow thoroughfare and should a car line be laid it would practically ruin the street. Residents of the street have only one or two blocks to walk until they can get a car into the cfty and they are opposed to a line being put down in front of their residences.

LONG AUTO RIDE TO ENTER SCHOOL

Lubbeck Girls Ride Ninety Miles to Catch Train

In order that they might be registered early and be assured rooms in the college dormitory the three daughters of J. A. Alley rode all the way from their father's ranch near Lubbock to the railway station at Quanah in an automobile. The distance if ninety miles and when the young ladies have returned to their home they will have made a journey of 180 miles in an auto. The Misses Alley came to Fort Worth Wednesday and registered at Polytechnic college, where they will be in school during the coming year. J. A. Alley is a wealthy ranch owner living on his ranch near Lubbock. Lubbock is the county seat of Lubbock county and is further removed from a railway station than any other county seat in the United States. Before that advent of the automobile Mr. Alley used to make the trip to Quanah, the nearest station, by stage or horseback. But the auto has proven its serviceableness on the plains of Texas and now it is not an uncommon sight to see a car spinning across the prairie leaving a cloud of dust in its wake.

FOUND BRICK CLAY Farmer Near Riverside Has Excellent

Specimen The investigations being made at the instance of the Factory Club and others interested, generally the property owners, in the latter class, are bringing to light more and more the mineral resources of Tarrant county. Many, or it probably is but just to say, most of the discoveries, are of clays of various kinds, cement, building brick, fire brick and in much more limited quantities, kaolin or porcelain clay. One of the latest discoveries of seeming marked value is that made by R. B. Christensen, about two and a half miles east of Riverside. His place is on Dry Branch and there is found on it a bed of the clay four or five feet thick and many acres in superficial extent. Mr. Christensen made a small and very rough adobe brick of some of the clay and dried it in the shade. It is now hard enough to use in a wall of the 'dobe kind and has a fine texture, on fracture, that even the uninitiated can note. It is said by those who have seen the 'dobe that it is a superior quality of fire brick clay and, for that reason, has a decided value. If it is developed there is an easy way of getting the clay or the brick, if the clay is manufactured on the ground, to market or to a shipping

A. V. Mabry's Cotton Matures Very Early Tarrant county's first bale of cotton of the 1906 crop was on the market

Thursday morning. It was raised by A. V. Mabry, seven miles west of the city, near Benbrook, on black land, and weighed 440 pounds. The cotton in the seed was hauled to the city Wednesday afternoon and taken to the oil mill at North Fort Worth, where it was ginned, giving 440 pounds of lint cotton and 993 pounds of seed. Mabry raised and marketed the first bale of cotton in Parker county in 1905 and several years ago, when living in Tarrant county, near Mansfield, raised the first bale put on the Fort Worth market. He says he has fifty acres in cotton this year that will yield threefourths of a bale to the acre if the worms and weevil do not eat it down. The bale was not sold Thursday, but will be held off the market until Friday in order that there may be raised a premium for the man who brought it in. There has been a first-bale premium given every year in Fort Worth and there will no doubt be a liberal premium subscribed for the first bale this year. The bale brought in by Mabry classes as good middling.

NEGROES DEMAND SOCIAL EQUALITY

The negroes of the country would do well to turn a deaf ear to the teachings of the doctrine just promulgated at Harper's Ferry by the leaders in what is designated as the Niagara movement, for it is a doctrine that will certainly lead to many future complications and disasters if it is persisted in. We quote from the general address delivered to the country:

"In the past year the work of the negro hater has flourished in the land. Stripped of verbiage and subterfuge, and in its naked nastiness the new American creed says: 'Fear to let black men even try to rise, lest they become the equals of the white.'

"In detail our demands are clear and unequivocal. First, we would vote; with the right to vote goes. everything. We want full manhood suffrage and we

"Second, we want discrimination in public accommodations to cease. Separation in railway and street cars, based simply on race and color, is un-American, undemocratic and silly. We protest against all such

"Third, we claim the right of freedom to walk, talk and be with them that wish to be with us. No man has a right to choose another man's friends, and to attempt to do so is an impudent interference with the most fundamental human privilege.

"Fourth, we want the laws enforced against rich as well as poor; against capitalist as well as laborers; less than the white race, but we are more often arrested, convicted and mobbed.

"We want the fourteenth amendment carried out to the letter and every state disfranchised in congress which attempts to disfranchise its rightful voters. We want the fifteenth amendment enforced and no state allowed to base its franchise simply on color.

"The failure of the republican party in congress at the session just closed to redeem its pledge of 1904 wita reference to suffrage conditions at the south seems a plain, deliberate and premeditated breach of promise, and stamps that party guilty of obtaining votes under

"Fifth we want the national government to wipe out illiteracy in the south. We want our children trained as intelligent human beings should be, and we will fight for all time against any proposition to educate black boys and girls simply as servants and underlings, or simply for the use of other people.

"These are some of the chief things which we want, How shall we get them? By voting where we may vote; by persistent, unceasing agitation; by hammering at the truth; by sacrifice and work. We do not Lelieve in violence, but we do believe in John Brown, and here on the scene of John Brown's martyrdom we reconsecrate ourselves, our honor, and our property to the final emancipation of the race which John Brown

It is evident from even a casual study of these demands that our negro friends are suffering themselves to be led from the straight and narrow way by those who will ultimately prove to be the greatest enemies of the race. There is nothing in the way of the rise of worthy members of the negro race except the foolish creams of those who would incite them to attempt the impossible. There was a negro in Fort Worth recently bearing a letter from his banker saying he was good for anything he wanted. That negro was worth a cool $100,000-more perhaps than all those concerned In the Niagara movement put together, and he was satisfied with the position he occupied and the treatment generally accorded. He did not make that $100,-000 while sitting around and dreaming of social equality with white people and protesting against Jim Crow car lag a useful and industrious citizen. All the laws that can be enacted and all the amendments that could be tacked on the Federal constitution will not make black skins white, or take the crinkle out of the negro's wool. Since God first made this world there has been caste-there has been the supetior and the inferior, and the inferior has always had to take the second position. The same conditions ex-1st in the animal world, and even among the birds of the buzzard. Neither does the lion live on terms of social equality with the field mouse. - Each has its station in life to fill, and each finds the world large enough so long as he remains in his proper sphere.

The laws of the country apply with equal force to both white and black and the fact that the black race is mobbed oftener than the white race is owing to the fact that crimes are committed which the white race simply will not tolerate. There is an unwritten lawbut none the less an immutable law-that transgression in this direction means death, and there has never been a violation of this unwritten law in which the transgressor did not realize that he was deliberately taking his life in his own hands. It is a terrible form of death, but it is an unspeakable crime. Instead of demanding the turning of these culprits loose, our negro friends should be endeavoring to impress upon their race the certainty of the fate that lies ahead of such

The failure of the republican party to do justice to the negro is monumental-that forty acres and a mule is still an unredeemed pledge and should no longer be charged up against the party leaders. It is a dream, and the forty acres and mule will only come to those who are able to pay for them. The people of the south are educating the negro, and all they ask in return is that he keep his place and try and make a useful and honest citizen.

COLQUITT IS AGAINST BAILEY

Gradually there are some things coming to light with regard to the recent state democratic convention at Dallas that afford some very interesting reading. Railroad Commissioner Colquitt has been doing some talking since his return to Austin, and it develops he escribes the defeat of his gubernatorial aspirations to Senator Bailey. The Austin Tribune says: Hon, O. B. Colquitt has his political knife snarpened for United States Senator J. W. Bailey. The fact is not generally known that Mr. Colquitt lays his defeat for the nomination of governor at the Dallas convention at the door of Senator Bailey. Mr. Colquitt makes no secret of his attitude and feeling in the matter. He has told many of his friends here of the circumstances which makes him convinced that Senator Bailey was largely instrumental in preventing his nomination. He says that Senator Bailey was at heart a Pell man when Brooks got out of the race: that the Lucknow speech and the "Campbells are coming" incident was effective and increased Campbell's strength. Mr. Colquitt states that a friend of his who was at the platform committee meeting sat near Senator Bailey at that meeting and heard the latter say to Judge M. A. Spoonts of Fort Worth, general attorney for the Fort Worth and Denver City railroad, that it was arranged that Campbell should receive a big vote on the second ballot, but on the third ballot the vote would go to Eell and nominate him. Judge Spoonts was an ardent Reil supporter When this friend reported the Railey-Spoonts conversation to Mr. Colquitt the latter determined to withdraw from the race for governor. He was firmly decided that the nomination should not go to Bell if he could help it. This is some inside political history from the Colquitt side that may well be worth remembering, for if signs count for anything Mr. Colquitt will oppose Mr. Bailey for the United States senate six years from now.

If Commissioner Colquitt is going to try to defeat Failey for United States senator simply because he going to find the people of Texas are not given to paying any kind of political debts for their public servants. The experience of Bailey in supporting Judge Erooks is sufficient evidence of that fact. But if Commissioner Colquitt has an idea of running for the senate strictly on his merits it might be possible that he could make the situation just a little bit interesting for the gentleman from Gainesville.

There is no sort of doubt that the politicians prevented the nomination of Judge Bell at Dallas, and it is probable that Oscar B. Colquitt had as much to do with it as any other member of the combine. But the statement that Bailey was for Bell will generally he taken with a grain of salt. Senator Bailey was a member of the combination that succeeded in nomi-

COST OF RUNNING FOR OFFICE

Commenting on the fact that the campaign for governor in Texas cost aspirants from ten to fifteen thousand dollars each, the Chattanooga News says:

That is nothing compared to the expense of the campaign now drawing to a close in Georgia. Colonel J. H. Estill, one of the minor candidates, but not a small man by any means, said in this city the other day that his campaign would cost him $40,000. It is our understanding that Hoke Smith and Clark Howell have aircady spent fully $100,000 each, and the last days of a campaign are always the most expensive. In plain words, the candidates for governor in Georgia will spend all told probably $300,000 before the convention

The Telegram is firmly of the opinion that something is radically wrong with the political situation when candidates for public office are compelled to stand such expenditures as this. There is no reason in the world why the gubernatorial campaign in the state of Georgia should have cost the enormous sum of $300,000, and if it has gone to that figure it is pretty conclusive evidence that the purity of the ballot in that section has degenerated into an iridescent dream. There is such a strong hint of graft and corruption that no matter who wins there must always exist a belief that the goal was reached through the potency

And when we come closer home, it is apparent that money was needlessly squandered in the Texas campaign. James S. Hogg made his last campaign for governor of this state at a cost not in excess of $500, and Texas has never seen a warmer political fight than that in which James S. Hogg was the storm center. It may be that the situation has materially changed since Hogg was a candidate, but if it has changed in the manner indicated it can be regarded as little short of a public calamity. Under such conditions the time must soon come when we will be compelled to let the governorship go to the highest bidder.

A NEW ESTIMATE OF ROOSEVELT

The Baltimore Sun is a paper that has heretofore xpressed some very extravagant admiration for President Roosevelt, but of late a change has come over the spirit of the Sun's dreams. It says:

"President Roosevelt, as the originator of policies, as the guide of public opinion, as the arbiter of legislation by congress, has been often inconsistent, has sometimes sacrificed the substance for the shadow-for something much less than the public expected. He has ridden roughshod over the constitution and tradition. and has aroused the fear among a very large element of the American people that he is not afraid or unwilling to carry his innovations far beyond the danger mingo was not the policy of a President guided by a scrupulous regard for the constitution. Mr. Roosevell, therefore, has only himself to blame, if many of his fellow citizens question the sincerity of its profession of reverence for the law. "It may be that personally he detests politicians with low and cunning methods of influencing elections and legislation, yet Mr. Roosevelt has never wholly detached himself from such influences. Regardless of the fact that Mr. Roosevelt's sincerity in private life is not questioned by his political opponents, his official acts, contrasted with his professions as a civil service reformer, the air. The eagle does not play in the back yard of as a respecter of the law and the constitution, raise more than a reasonable doubt as to his absolute sincerity as a public official. "There is often a method in Mr. Roosevelt's seeming impetuosity-a calculating shrewdness in what baseball people would call plays to the grand stand. "Mr. Roosevelt respects the laws and the constitution so long as they do not stand in way of a pet project, but tries to look over them, corboy fashion,

"Mr. Rocsevelt prefers jumping over a fence, if he can; but he will creep through, if he must."

The Telegram believes this estimate of President koosevelt would have been just as complete if it had simply stated that he is intensely human. Like all of humanity, he is made up of the good and the bad, and being human, his judgment is not infallible. Lately he has given evidence of development into a pretty shrewd politician, and in his dealings with other politicians he has taken advantage of all the things that were calculated to bring things around his way. He is bold, fearless and very aggressive, and such men often make blunders that are almost pitiful from their very weakness. Roosevelt has done the best he could and deserves credit for what he has been able to accomplish with the odds so heavily against him. He has made numerous mistakes, but the man's honesty and integrity of purpose are absolutely beyond question. He always intends to do right.

The information that Fort Brown is to be abandoned on account of the objection of the people of Brownsville to the presence of rioting negro soldiers, is an exhibition of government asininity just about on a par with that which closed the postoffice at Indianola, Miss., because the people objected to a negro postmistress. If the people of Texas had asked the presence of these negro soldiers and then treated them with incivility there would be some reason or justification for the threatened action. But they were sent into this state of the government's own volition and in defiance of public sentiment, and it will take a little more than this small bit of government recrimination to compel the people of any portion of Texas to submit to any form of negro domination.

The beginning of the end of "Cuba Libre" is in sight. The old revolutionary spirit is still rife among the people, and the dream of autonomy must soon come to an end. There can come no peaceful and permanent form of government to the Cubans until that country is a part of the United States, and the sooner annexation is accomplished the better it will be for all

The Dallas Times-Herald intimates pretty broadly that delegates to state conventions are disposed to expect too much in the matter of entertainment, and from the Dallas standpoint there is no question as to the soundness of the Times-Herald logic.

Of course, Fort Worth will come up with that required subscription to the fat stock show. Fort Worth was never known to lie down on any proposition that ad genuine merit.

ville are not the first that the people of Texas have been subjected to at the hands of this portion of the Federal army. Patience has ceased to be a virtue in this case and if the officials of the state do not push to the fullest extent a demand that the culprits in this case be punished and that such steps be taken as will prevent all chance of a repetition of the outrages, they will be remiss in their duty.—Austin Tribune.

President Roosevelt should promptly order the removal of those negro troops from Texas, for their presence in the state can but produce continued friction and trouble. There is no reason on earth why negro troops should be stationed in Texas, and if there is no other place to send them they should be disbanded.

The senatorial bosses were unhorsed on the 28th day of July; they were pounded good and hard, and their grand and lofty tumbling and acrobatic work since they were swatted at the polls has furnished rich amusement for the thinking people of Texas.-Dallas

The people of Texas will not submit to senatorial interference in the election of their state ticket, and there were some things that happened at Dallas that will prove something of an embarrassment in the fu-

It is a peculiar law that tried to provide for a state nomination by a primary election and then so arranges the outworking of that law that the man with the second largest vote in the primary is rated fourth in the convention and dropped from the contest as ineligible. If there ever was something that was worse than nothing as a law for political government in Texas than this the Terrell election law is it.—San Antonio Light.

The Terrell election law is peculiar-very peculiar. And the next legislature, it is hoped, will remove some

The men who figured upon occupying the seats of the present senators, if such there be, did not find much comfort at the Dallas convention. In the language of the umpire to the Abilene base runners, Texas says to Bailey and Culberson, "stay there."-Abilene

Culberson and Bailey seem to have a cinch on the senatorial seats from Texas, and constitute a team it would be very hard to improve on. Still, that does not prevent other aspirants from figuring.

The last convention will go down in history as typical of what these so-called deliberative bodies have been. The insult heaped on Governor Lanham in his old age was only a repetition of what was given Hogg, Reagan and others in their lifetime.—Denton News.

There are some elements within the o nocratic party in Texas that should learn the principles of decency. Hoodlumism as displayed at Dallas is a serious reflection on the entire party organization.

. . . . The democrats of Texas have declared for the blanket primary and majority nominations. The legislature should obey in letter and spirit.-Waco Times-Herald.

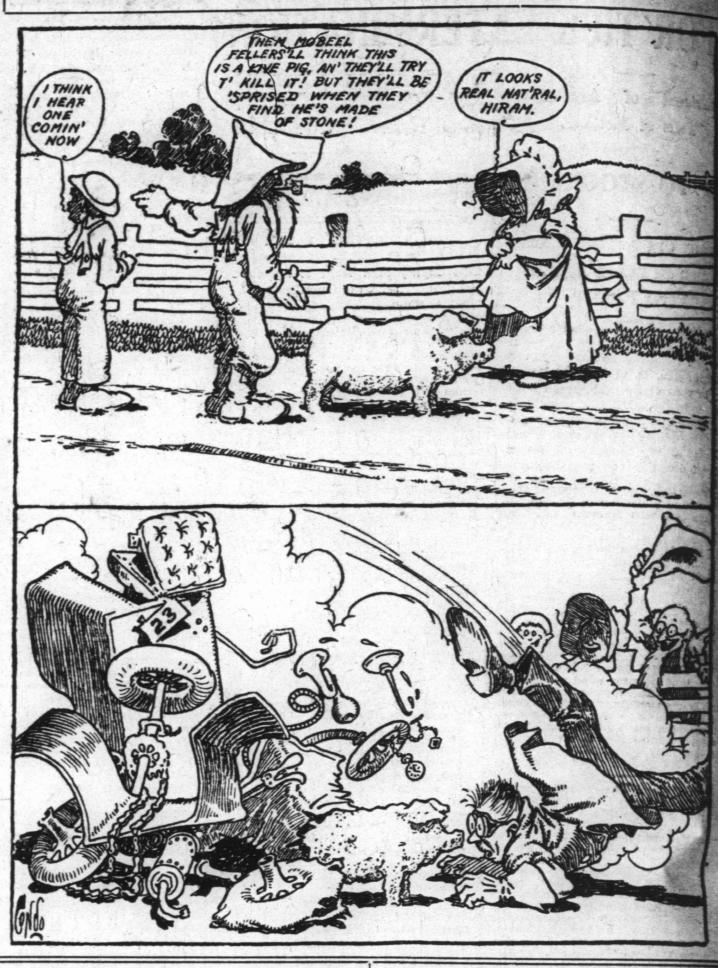

The next legislature will be compelled to obey the platform demands, according to Colonel Thomas M. Campbell, who says he will be on hand to see that the will of the people is respected.

West Texas will furnish employment for thousands of cotton pickers this fall, in fact it looks now like the mand will far exceed the supply of such. Negroes will have to be imported by the wholesale or else the farmers will suffer the loss of much of the fleecy staple.-Abilene News.

West Texas has never taken kindly to the negro proposition, and the negro knows it. The injunction to not let the going down of the sun catch him in certain west Texas counties has not been altogether lost upon the son of Ham.

Really, the Fort Worth Telegram is in a bad way. It contends that every vote cast for other candidates for governor was cast against Tom Campbell. The Telegram isn't willing to concede that Mr. Colquitt, Judge Brooks or Judge Bell had any strength of his own-they only received votes that were opposed to Campbell. The logician who prepares The Telegram's editorial thunder would doubtless contend that the earth is flat, if he lived on a prairie, or round if he lived on a knoll. The Telegram is the only newspaper in Texas that contends that more people do not favor Colonel Campbell than favor any other candidate for governor.-Sherman Register.

. . . . CAMPAIGN FOR FACTORIES

A campaign for factories conducted with half the fervor of a political campaign would bring millions of dollars to this state for permanent investment. And the crying need of all Texas at this time is more manufacturing enterprises.-Fort Worth Telegram. And if the people of Texas will keep up the agitation for factories, they will have an immense additional amount of money invested in manufacturing enterprises before the next political campaign.-McKinney Courier-

STANDING STIFF AND STRAIGHT

The Fort Worth Telegram says: "It will be noticed that none of the real friends of Judge Charles K. Bell have yet manifested any disposition to lie down. They remember the assertion of their leader made often during the campaign, that the nomination for governor would have to be made by the state democratic convention." That is true, but have you noticed the other fellows have some pretty rigid backbones and stand up stiff and straight.-Austin Tribune.

. . . . TEXAS COTTON MILLS SUCCEED

More cotton mills are needed all over Texas, and if the papers will begin as active campaign for cotton mills as they have just waged for governor the mills will be built.-Fort Worth Telegram.

Point to the success of the Denison mill, the Sherman mill, the Bonham mill, the Dallas mill, the Waxahachie mill. These are more powerful arguments than glittering generalities.-Denison Herald. * * * *

WHAT WAS IT THEY SHOWED?

The Fort Worth Telegram grows very yellow and disclaims in big headlines that Governor Lanham was snubbed by the convention because the cries for Culberson drove him from the platform before he had conciuded his speech. The Telegram insults Texans when it says they would show disrespect to Governor Lan-

. . . . THE EAST TEXAS VIEW

The Fort Worth Telegram suggests that Railroad Commissioner Colquitt will now resume the earning of his official salary. Of course he will earn it by doing his work so well that the people of Texas will insist, four years hence, that he serves them as governor. Colquitt is the most popular man in Texas today, Campbell not excepted .- Texarkana Courier.

Cotton mills in Texas are paying proposition, and building as in all other things. Work is soon to begin in this city on the constructoon of two big cotton factories.-Fort Worth Telegram.

THE AVERAGE MAN

The average man is the man of the mill, The man in the valley, or the man of the hill. The man at the throttle, the man at the plow-The man with the sweat of his toil on his brow, Who brings into being the dreams of the few, Who works for himself, and for me and for you. There is not a purpose, a project of plan, But rests on the strength of the average man.

The growth of a city, the might of a land. Depend on the fruit of the toil of his hand. The road or the wall, or the mill or the mart, Call daily to him that he furnish his part; The pride of the great and the hope of the low. The toil of the tide as it ebbs to and fro, The reach of the rails and the countries they span Tell what is the trust in the average man.

The man who, perchance, thinks he labors alone, The man who stands out between hovel and throne, The man who gives freely his brain and his brawn Is the man that the world has been builded upon. The clang of the hammer, the sweep of the saw, The flash of the forge-they have strengthened the law They have rebuilt the realms that the wars overran, They have shown us the worth of the average man

So here's to the average man-to the one

Who has labored unknown on the tasks he has done Who has met as they came all the problems of life, Who has helped us to win in the stress and the strife He has bent to his toil, thinking neither of fame Nor of tribute, nor honor, nor prize, nor acclain-In the forefront of progress, since progress began-Here's a health and a hail to the average man!

questions I think we should think Now I want to call attention to some questions and facts I think these people who favor the Northern Texas Traction Company should consider. If any of our families living in South Fort Worth by chance should want to go to a picnic at Lake Erie, what do they have to pay for the round trip? Thirty-five cents is the cost, and mind you, the Northern Texas Traction Company owns and operates the line all of the way. Now, if you want to go to Lake Como or White City, it is 20 cents fare, and you have to go over two different lines. The Arlington Height Company is asking for streets through South Fort Worth, too, and will reduce the fare to 10 cents for the round trip. Then, all of the people can have the benefit of the cheaper rate to these places, and to make the Northern Texas Traction Company give the people better service on the South Main, Hemphill and Henderson street lines. I will stop by saying that the key of the street car competition lies in another line in South Fort Worth, and without this line competion will never amount to a snap, an 1 the Northern Texas Traction Company knows it; hence they ask for the same streets the Arlington people ask for, in order to choke out competition, so the people can kick to them about

Final Effort to Raise Fat Stock Show Funds

WILL REPORT FRIDAY

Question of Diverting $2500 Auditorium

Money Will Be Referred to the Contributors

The committee of the Board of Trade soliciting subscriptions for the fat stock show auditorium was not ready to report Wednesday afternoon and the meeting was adjourned until Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

All of the lists are to be called in and a complete record of those who have subscribed thus obtained. That work will be done by Mr. Hortenstein, who also has the clerical charge of the out-of-town campaign.

A couple of interesting letters were read. One was from Stanton Palmer, who came here to confer with the people about the possibilities of the guarantee fund for the fat stock show. He has been advised that the question of changing the date of the show is being considered. He asks if it is not a fact that the fat stock shows are about the chief attractions, apart from the business features of the meetings, of the cattlemen's conventions.

Until all of the lists have been called in and the result cast up, it is out of the question for an exact statement of the number of subscriptions to be

It is certain that Fort Worth is still short on her quota and to close up the matter, Judge Armstrong, O. P. Haney of the Hotel Worth and one or two others will go out Thursday afternoon, make a strong canvass and close up the matter, so a report can be made to the Friday afternoon meet-

Out-of-Town Subscriber

The first out of town subscription received in response to a solicitation, was that Stuart Harrison received yesterday from John E. Brown of Granbury, cashier of the Hood County State Bank. He adds to the letter this on the proposed change of date for the holding of the fat stock shows:

"The fall is the only time to make a fat stock show, for it is impossible to give your animals the finishing touch in the spring that you can in the winter, for they are wanting to shed their winter coat and grow in size, and don't take on flesh like they do in the winter time. You know animals, both domestic and wild, take on tallow in the fall and winter, and do most of their growing in the spring and early summer, therefore, I think the fall showing so much better, and then all other shows are in the fall.

"Yes, I will take the one share of stock and have been watching with a great lot of interest the progress of the fat stock show proposition, and have never doubted for a moment that Fort Worth would succeed, she can't afford to with such prospects in view."

Auditorium Committee Meets

At 5 o'clock the auditorium committee met at the Board of Trade rooms with Judge Armstrong and Stuart Harrison representing the fat

The members of the auditorium committee present were: Judge N. B. Moore, Brown Harwood, Mrs. L. K. Stanbery, J. W. Spencer, J. E. Weeden, Mrs. B. B. Paddock, Mrs. H. Brann, W. D. Ladd and Miss Margaret Mc-

Judge Armstrong presented the idea of the fat stock show company, the statement being in substance that the fat stock show really wanted the use of the money, say about $2,500, for ten years, to be returned with interest at the end of that period.

J. W. Spencer, for the committee, said that he held that they were trustees for the fund and while he favored the diversion of the funds, as the best use that could be made of it, he was doubtful if they had the power to do so without the consent of the contributors to the fund. It was raised for the purpose of building an auditorium in the city of Fort Worth and not for the construction of a convention hall in North Fort Worth. This view was shared by Mrs. Paddock, Mr. Harwood, Mr. Ladd and Mr. Weeden. Mrs. Stanbery favored the diversion of the fund; she believed it was an actual compliance with the purpose of those who raised the fund. Judge Armstrong agreed to indemnify the trustees, if they can be so termed, against any legal responsibility, and offered to execute a bond for ten times the amount of the fund to indemnify the trustees. To Learn Sentiment

After further objections by Messrs. Spencer and Moore, it was decided that a public canvass should be made to elicit the sentiments of the citizens on the subject. Mr. Spencer was solicitous that it should be clearly understood that he was not opposed to the fat stock show, but favors it, but as a matter of justice to those who had subscribed to the fund, they should be consulted and, if as many as 90 per cent of those who expressed opinions on the subject favored the diversion, he would withdraw all opposition so far as he was concerned. This resolution offered by Mr. Spencer was finally adopted: "It is the sense of the trustees that the fund of about $2,500 raised to construct an auditorium for Fort Worth be invested in twenty-five shares of the stock of the National Feeders and Breeders' Association of Fort Worth and that the expressions of the contributors of the fund and the members of the Board of Trade is desired by the trustees before any action is taken. The resolution will be immediately circulated for signatures and if 90 per cent of the parties signing favor the diversion and if the Board of Trade is of the same opinion, the money will be invested in the stock of the association. It is hoped that this will be arranged by the next Friday meeting at which time it is confidently expected, with the auditorium fund, Fort Worth will have subscribed 250 shares and the workers will then be ready to turn to the outlying sections. stock show list include: C. W. Childress & Co. Tempel & Modlin Johnson Bros. & J. W. Gilvin. Jack Burke. Nobby Harness Co. E. D. Farmer. J. T. Anderson. John E. Brown of Granbury.

"VARMINT" ONLY BABE

Man Came Nearly Shooting Infant Thinking it an Animal

Special to The Telegram. ADA, I. T., Aug. 23.—An infant boy about 10 days old was found yesterday afternoon near the residence of Abe Crow, about six miles south of here. A stranger went to the house of Mr. Crow and Mr. Woods and reported that there was a "varmint" of some kind in a clump of bushes on the prairie. The gentlemen got their guns and went to the scene with him. to them and insisted that they shoot it, but the party declined, saying that they had better investigate and see what it was.

One of the men went up to it and found the baby wrapped in a white wool blanket. It is reported to be a nice looking little fellow and was well dressed. Mr. Crow took charge of the child. No one seems to know the

Special to The Telegram. TULSA, I. T., Aug. 23.-Harry L. Parks, alias Blackey, who escaped from jail in Tulsa several weeks ago while under commitment to the federal grand jury on the charge of highway robbery here, has been recaptured and is now in the Muskogee federal jail. En route from Pawhuska to Muskogee, via the Midland Valley, Parks made a desperate effort to regain his iberty while the train was approaching Tulsa, by throwing himself out of the car window, the train being in rapid motion.

In this he was frustrated by Deputy United States Marshal Wooten, who grabbed his prisoner by one leg and, in spite of repeated kicks in the face and stomach, succeeded in getting his man back into the car. Officer Wooten is painfully injured.

Special to The Telegram. DENVER, Colo., Aug. 23.-The Colorado railroads, by recent estimates on their earnings for the last twelve months, show that they have made a decided advance over the previous year in earnings. The Denver and Rio Grande receipts show a gain of 15.58 per cent, the total earnings for the last year being $19,256,565, an increase of $2,649,528 over the same period last year. The showing of the Colorado and Southern is also a big gain, about the same as the Rio Grande.

$200,000 Improved Road Found Too Narrow for Autos

Special to The Telegram. VIENNA, Aug. 23.—Automobiles may travel on a certain road in Tyrol only when drawn by horses. This absurdity was discovered by a motoring party with a forty-horsepower car when they attempted to reach Bruneck through the Gader valley. They came to a road, which, although newly constructed at a cost of $200,000, was so parrow that it is closed to automobiles. In their dilemma the motorists had to locate police headquarters for special permission to take their automobile over the forbidden road, but this was refused. At last the official consent was given, provided the automobile was drawn by horses. A farm wagon team was accordingly hitched to the car and dragged it at a snail's pace over the prohibited stretch of nineteen miles.

BARSTOW REGION GREAT FOR FRUIT

Grape Crop Is Largest Ever Known in That Section

"The Barstow grape crop this year is the largest ever known in that section," said Walter Hussey, "and the fruit equals the finest in the world. I have just returned from that section where I went looking for a location, and I was surprised at what I saw. Such vineyards and such grapes I never saw in my life, and I can but believe that west Texas, on the plains that were once deemed worthless, will vet be the vineyard of America. "The muscat grape raised in the Barstow vineyards cannot be beat by the grapes of any part of the world: it does a man's heart good to look at them. They are good shippers, good Money in Wine Making "Wine making as an industry does not amount to much in Texas now, but before many years it will be of importance not now dreamed of: and there is no doubt that Texas will, after awhile, make wine equal to the best that is shipped in from California or other American states. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are paid out in Texas annually for wines shipped in from California and other states that could fust as well be kept at home, and will be kept at home later on. The wine business of California is worth millions to that state, and the Texas grape is just as good as the California product for wine. Orchards Also Flourishing "Besides the Barstow vineyards, there are the Barstow orchards; and I don't remember that I ever saw finer peaches, apricots and plums than I saw there. That entire section of Texas can be made into a vast peach orchard and vineyard and the crop yielded will be worth three times as much to Texas as so many acres in Texas. I shall go to Barstow and locate, for in it I see the garden spot of the world, the grapery of America. There is one crop at Barstow that I must not overlook, the sweetest cantaloupes I ever tasted I found at that place. The celebrated Rocky Ford melon does just as well on the plains of Texas as in Colorado, and they have the advantage of the Colorado crop in getting on the market about a month earlier. Everything is in its infancy at Barstow now, but the future of that section is limited; it can be made the Italy of America." MONEY IN OIL FIELD

> CHAPTER II. A Face at Sherry's

"Don't mention my name an thou lovest me!" said Laurance Donovan, and he drew me aside, ignored my hand and otherwise threw into our meeting a casual quality that was somewhat amazing in view of the fact that we had met last at Cairo. "Allah il Allah!

It was undoubtedly Larry. I felt the neat of the desert and heard the camel drivers cursing and our Sudanese guides plotting mischief under a winlow far away. "Well!" we both exclaimed interro-gatively. He rocked gently back and forth, with his hands in his pockets, on the tile floor of the banking house. I had seen him stand thus once on a time when we had eaten nothing in four days-it was in Abyssinia, and our guides had lost us in the worst possible place-with the same un-troubled look in his eyes. "Please don't appear surprised, or scared or anything, Jack," he said, with his delicious intonation. "I saw a fellow looking for me an hour or so ago. He's been at it for several months; hence my presence on these shores of the brave and free. He's probably still looking, as he's a persistent devil. I'm here, as we may say, quite incog. ipon Broadway and turned toward the Battery. I waited until he disappeared, then took an uptown car. My first meeting with Laurence Donan was in Constantinople, at a cafe where I was dining. He got into a row with an Englishman and knocked him down. It was not my affair, but I liked the ease and definiteness with which Larry put his foe out of commission. I learned later that it was a way he had. The Englishman meant well enough but he could not, of course, know the intensity of Larry's feeling about the unhappy lot of Ireland. In the beginning of my own acquaintance with Donovan I sometimes argued with him, but I soon learned better manners. He guite converted me to his own notion of Irish affairs, and I was as hot an advocate as he of head-smashing as a means of restoring

Ireland's lost prestige. My friend, the American consul general at Constantipole, was not without a sense of humor, and I easily enlisted him in Larry's behalf. The Englishman thirsted for vengeance and invoked all the powers. He insisted with reason, that Lerry was a British subject and that the American consul had no right to give him asylum-a point that was, I understand, thoroughly well grounded in law and fact. Larry maintained, on the other hand that he was not English but Irish, and that, as his country maintained no representative in Turkey, it was his privilege to find refuge wherever it was offered. Larry was always the most plausible of human beings, and between us-he, the American consul and -we made an impression, and got him

I did not realize until later that the real joke lay in the fact that Larry was English-born, and that his devotion to Ireland was purely sentimental and quixotic. His family had, to be sure, come out of Ireland some time in the dim past, and settled in England; but when Larry reached years of knowledge, if not of discretion, he cut Oxford and isisted on taking his degree at Dublin. He even thought he believed-in banshees. He allied himself during his university days with the most radical and turbulent advocates of a separate national existence for Ireland, and occasionally spent a month in fail for rioting. But Larry's instincts were scholarly; he made a brilliant record at the university; then, at 22, he came forth to look at the world, and liked it exceedingly well. His father was a busy man, and he had other sons; he granted Larry an allowance and told him

He returned to England and later to his beloved Ireland, for he had blithey sung the wildest Gaelic songs in the darkest days of our adventures, and never lost his love for The Sod, as he apostrophized-and capitalizedhis adopted country.

Larry had the habit of immaculateness. He emerged from his east side lodging house that night clothed properly, and wearing the gentlemanly air of peace and reserve that is so wholly incompatible with his disposition to breed discord and indulge in riot. When we sat down for a leisurely dinner at Sherry's we were not. Larry had never been in America before, and the scene had for both of us the charm of a gay and novel spectacle. I have always maintained, in talking to Larry of nations and races, that the Americans are the handsomest and best put-up people in the world, and I believe he was persuaded of it that night as we gazed with eves long unaccustomed to splendor upon the great company assembled in the restaurant. The lights, the music, the variety and richness of the costumes of the women, the many unmistakably foreign faces, wrought a welcome spat on senses inured to hardship in the waste and dreary places of the earth. "You were certainly born to be hanged, Larry. You'd better stay in America. There's more room here than anywhere else, and it's not easy to kidnap a man in America and carry him off."

"Possibly not; and yet the situation isn't wholly tranquil," he said, transfixing a bit of pompano with his fork. "Kindly note the florid gentleman at your right-at the table with fourhe's next the lady in pink. It may interest you to know that he's the Brit-"Interesting, but not important, You

COLORADO CITY GROWING RAPIDLY

Oil Mill. Compress and Ice Plant New Industries

BY TAYLOR M'RAE COLORADO, Texas, Aug. 23.-When

any one makes a visit to Colorado City he should be sure and carry an introduction to Ed A. Henry of the firm of Henry & Sons. He is a young man who takes an interest in things and is willing to assure any visitor to his home that it is a good place, and nothing will delight him more than to show the visitor around and explain to him what is being done to improve the business prospects of Colorado. He certainly courteous and entertaining nd shows such genuine pleasure in he work that even a chronic fault finder would have to restrain his impulses while in his company. "When you hear myself and others," said he, talking up our town, do not for an nstant judge us by the appearance of the business part. Of course, to you at first there is no apparent improvement, that is no new buildings that would indicate improvement and you would be correct in your conclusions.

"Colorado was built fifteen or twenty rears ago, when she was a cow town par excellence,' and what business ouses were built were good ones of brick, for there was plenty of money and the cowman believed in his city, Many of them, as you will observe, were three stories and well built. The two hotel buildings, as you have seen, are good buildings, of brick and one three-story. Now, the fact was that he town outgrew the country by many years, and when the boom halted and imes failed to respond to the ardor of the citizens there was but one result and that was a lack of occupants for the buildings. For several years and up twelve or fifteen months ago most of these brick houses that you see were shut up and closed for business. Times became more stringent and it looked as if the bottom had been reached. Now, while there have been no new buildings erected, there being no need of them, still at the present time there is not a single business house in the town that is not occupied by some business or other. "I call your attention especially to his so that you can see that the claims made by us are true and that our business has increased to such an extent that it will be but a short time before other buildings will have to be erected to accommodate the accumulating calls business. Of course, it all means that the country has at last caught up with the city and that the progress of both will hereafter be steady and together. There will be no falling back now. Our country has proven itself to be a good agricultural producer and no town that has such surroundings can do otherwise than prosper. Last year we received 18,000 bales of cotton hauled in by wagons and shipped in from the west. Turning again to the city, we can assure you that as many as 100 new residences have been added to the city's buildings and still the

Compress Being Built.

"There is in the course of construction at this time an oil and compress that will cost $75,000, that will be completed in time for this fall's crop. This is a great stride forward for Colorado, as this will bring cotton and cotton seed from all the counties north of here for 100 miles and divide with the towns east and south of here. The town of Colorado gave the promoters of this mill $2,500 as a bonus to buy a site for a mill. "One of our citizens headed the list with a donation of one-tenth of the amount. The location selected is on the south of the Texas & Pacific tracks. 'A high school building is also being built to cost $18,000, which will be a very welcome addition to the school system of the town, as the schools have been very much crowded in the past.

This building is the result of the untiring energy and efforts of our school superintendent, Professor T. J. Zoe. "At the site of the Radford medicated salt works a mile east of the city, a new ice plant has been established, which will enable the citizens to have a constant supply of ice. Just south of the point where the oil mill is a plant has been established that manufactures concrete bricks and in other forms and its output is being appreciated more and more by builders and the demand is increasing steadily. At the point where this plant is established or near it, in the days of the former prosperity of the town lots were sold for as much as $2,000 a lot and people were frantic to get them at those prices. "This is a story that is told of all boom towns and many such have never recovered from the shock. but Colorado has lived through her troubles and is now safe over the river and on the up grade. Country Settling Rapidly.

"The country tributary to Colorado is building up very fast and lands are jumping up every few days and are now selling rapidly for from $15 to $25 per acre. The class of farmers who are now buying and settling up the country are well to do and have means to improve their holdings, which will make it all the better for town and

The initial investment in advertising can, in most cases be small. After the start there is no "expense" to advertise - ing. Because good advertising pays for itself.

TATHERE do the tremendous advertising appropriations come from, Mr. Business Man? Certainly NOT out of capital.

Making Advertising Pay for Itself

No, they are made up by reducing the cost of selling, by eliminating concessions and extra discounts to the trade, by maintaining prices on a firmer-or even higher basis.

Because by advertising you create demand from the consumer for your goods.

It's easier to sell goods for which there is consumer demand—hence less expensive. Jobbers and Retailers MUST sell goods for which there is consumer demandhence no need for concessions or extra discounts to the trade. When Jobbers and Retailers MUST sell your goods, they buy at your price, and you can make it, and keep it, a safely profitable price. But you must get what you pay forconsumer demand.

Prices Slump Sensationally on Opening-Losses Range From 12 to 20 Points Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The reaction theory was temporarily exploded this morning and cotton prices went scurrying down to new low levels, a break of 18 to 21 points occurring before the second call. Liverpool was the malefactor reversing yesterday's action and allowing contract prices to slump sensationally in response to favorable crop reports and heavy Texas offerings of actual cotton, A drop of 10 points in spot prices also played an important part. Initial losses on the local market ranged from 12 to 20 points, the extreme decline being for the January option.

After an hour of fairly active trading during which some sharp hammering occurred, the market developed a steady tone under covering by shorts who were actuated to take profits on account of the forecast for general rains tomorrow, and a partial recovery was effected before mid-day.

One good feature was the more liberal southern buying which was noted, but the buying as a whole lacked snap and after working up a few points, heavy selling was again encountered and prices dropped off again, final fig-ures being at a net loss of 17 to 20 points with the market steady.

Spot cotton market ruled quiet, prices being 20 points lower at 9.90c for middling. Sales, 900 bales. New York Cotton

Special to The Telegram. NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 23.-The only feature of today's session at the Cotton Exchange was a spectacular slump in values on the first call, amounting to 17 to 21 points. Heavy offerings of actual cotton from Texas was indirectly responsible for this condition of affairs, as their weight broke prices sensation-ally in both the spot and future departments of the Liverpool market and the local weakness was but a response to the foreign slump. The effect was all the more pronounced because of the fact that hopes of a reaction had received a new lease of life yesterday and were dispelled by the early developments, consequently longs vented their disappointment by unloading liberally during the initial trading. Although small buying by shorts was practically the only early session. Prices moved within a narrow range during the afternoon and the market closed steady, finals being at a net loss of 16 to 17 points, The spot market ruled quiet, prices

Russian Wheat Exports May Be Dis-Good Run of Cattle-All Sell Steady continued-Rumor Arrests Down-Except Cows-Hogs Decline ward Price Movement Special to The Telegram. Cattle receipts for Thursday, count-

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.-Wheat prices were arrested in their downward course today by good buying by the pit crowd in response to rumors that Russian exports would be discontinued. This was the saving grace of the market, for foreign weakness had caused a lower opening and during the early hours sagging tendency was in evidence, prices dropping %c shortly after the call. The buying effected a sharp rally and prices worked up a cent, touching the best level during the final hour. The market closed firm with prices at a net gain of %c to %c. Local receipts 92 cars as compared with 58 this day last year. Estimated receipts for tomorrow, 137 cars. Corn movement continues light, local receipts today being 125 cars, as compared with 459 this day last year. Estimated for temorrow, 175 cars. The contract market displayed weakness around the opening, prices losing %c to 1/2c, under long liquidation. But the light receipts and upward movement in the wheat market eventually lent a firm tone to the market and prices not only recovered the loss but gained 4c to 4c additional, the close being firm with prices at the best.

Oats Oats did not share in the firmness of the other markets; in fact, showed pronounced weakness at times, but finally steadied and closing prices were %c higher to %c lower. Local receipts 215 cars as compared with 268 this day last year. Estimated for tomorrow, 252 cars. Provisions Provisions were under the ban of traders owing to a heavy hog movement and a drop in prices at the yards. Closing prices, however, showed only comparatively small losses.

GOOD CROPS ON CONVICT FARM

Profit in Employing Prisoners on Contract

W. A. Golliher is the steward at the farm worked by state covicts which is in Hill county, near Fowler. He came in with a car of prime hogs, which were raised on the farm. In conversation with a reporter, Mr. Golliher said:

"The farm, or rather plantation, for it contains in cultivated lands some 3,200 acres, is owned jointly by Congressman Albert Burleson and C. D. Johns of Austin, and is worked by convicts of the state of Texas. These convicts are all white men, however. The plantation is devoted to the cultivetion of cotton, corn, alfalfa, Bermuda grass, sorghum, cow peas, Spanish peanuts, all kinds of vegetables and some fruit. The corn and cotton are the main crops that are cultivated by the state labor, but the stock that is also made a part of the products is entirely worked by the owners of the

"It is a fine body of land, located in Hill county, divided from Bosque by the Brazos river, and near old Fort Graham, and only a short distance from the old mill site of that old-time citizen, Captain Dyer. The land is situated on the second bank of the river and is thus entirely above overflow. It is very productive and produces, I suppose ,a fine revenue for the owners.

"The state is under contract furnish the required number of convicts, feeds and guards them, and in return gets 60 per cent of the cotton produced, and for the corn worked gets in cash 60c a day for each convict.

"Of course on some farms it costs the proprietors more for the work done, but that is because the class of convicts is better. I mean by this that on this farm there are a good many old men, who are old or crippled, and not being able to make a living, or being disinclined in that way, stole something and were sent to the penitentiary. There are also some who for some cause or other don't seem to be able to do much. All of these classes are classed as second-class laborers and, of course, the state does not get the same pay for them as they would for the better classes. However, the crops are worked well and with seasons bring good results.

Crops Are Good

"Corn and cotton are good this year, and I suppose we must have as much as 20,000 bushels of corn. The hogs that are raised are the Duroc-Jerseys, and they are certainly a fine breed. We try to have them ready for market at 9 and 10 months. The load I brought in Wednesday were a very smooth car, averaging 170 pounds and bringing on the market $6.35. Alfalfa is a fine feed for hogs, but we have found that Bermuda grass is just as good, if not better. We have had hogs on alfalfa, and the same number on Bermuda grass, and one did just as well as the other. The cattle on the farm are whitefaced and thoroughbreds. Grass of all kinds is very good and cattle are all in good condition. "Congressman Burleson comes up and spends his vacation, or part of it, on the plantation with his family, and when he is gone Mr. Johns comes up with his family and spends some time. They married sisters. Colonel Burleson is very anxious to establish some Mongolian pheasants, but the pole cats seem to be a deadly enemy to them, and they are numerous on the place. We have been very busy with my dogs hunting them out and have had quite an oderiferous time doing so."

RAIN TOO HEAVY Cotton Crop in Clay County Has Heavy Foliage

H. C. Young of Clay county came on the market Wednesday with something to sell, as he always does, "My stock is in good shape and fat," he said, "and grass is as good as could be. The ticks were very bad for a time in the early spring and summer. but the cattle have been shedding them off and they are not nearly so bad as they were. "I suppose as the animal fattens the ticks fail to connect with the blood

the want and drop off in disgust. I know that the tick can pull a moderately fair conditioned cow down and make her poor and a poor one at the start has no chance at all. We have been having too much rain for the cotton and many fear the boll worm, especially in the river bottom lands, where the cotton is very rank. The cotton there is so large and thick that do not think the ground has been dry for some time, and the weeds continue to grow and do not fruit as well as they ough, although there is a lot of cotton on them now. Back on the uplands things are better and cotton is well fruited and doing well. Our corn erop is fine and in the river bottoms I think it is probably as good as in the Territory. Altogether, however, we can congratulate ourselves that we have as good conditions as we have.

FEED WILL BE CHEAPER

According to Captain Jack Larry o Hill County

Captain Jack Larry, the big feeder from Hill county, was looking over the yards to see what was on that he might like, and was his usual genial

"Nothing doing at present in ever that feed will be cheaper this year than last, if indications count for anything, and of course in that event. there will be a good many feeders on the market to supply their demand. I can't say what effect this will have on the steer market, but it would seem that things should brighten up when a demand like that should enter the market. Corn is made with us and a very good crop, but the rains have put the farmers to predicting boll weevils and boll worms. If it does not stop raining there is no question but that this will be the result and the crop materially injured."

TEXAS OYSTER TRADE GROWING

Replant Beds at Corpus Christi Impetus to Industry

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 23.-Captain B. Kibbe, fish and oyster commissioner of the state, with headquarters at Port Lavaca, who is here on business at the state house, stated yesterday that the new fish and oyster law was working very satisfactorily

It will be remembered that an effort was made some time ago to have the law declared unconstitutional, but the courts upheld the law and now it is in full operation. Captain Kibbe is of the opinion with proper protection, the fish and oyster industry of the state will rapidly increase and develop. He said the oyster shipments during the present year have shown a decrease as compared with last year. He explained that this is due principally to the exhaustion of the oyster beds. At Corpus Christi the beds have been exhausted for the past ten years, but they have been replanted and as a result the shipments were good during the present year. It is expected that the production will now increase from that point with each year.

APPLE THIRTEEN INCHES ROUND

D. M. Morgan Brings Back Large

Sample D. M. Morgan, traveling passenger agent of the Cotton Belt, is back at his office in Fort Worth, after a ten days' vacation. He spent the time at his old home at Owensville, Gasconade county, Mo., his first return for thirty years. He says he found things wonderfully familiar and, as he went about the old haunts of his boyhood, he knew every path and even some of the pig tracks of a generation ago. Mr. Morgan commented on the fruit raised in that part of the state, and singled out for his admiration the apples. He brought a sample back with him, variety unknown to him, large, sweet and juicy. He says the one he brought is only an average in size, but that one is thirteen and threefourth inches in circumference. Mr. Morgan states that he thoroughly enjoyed the trip and the rest.

TELEPHONE MAN HERE C. E. Wells of Kansas Making Tour of

State C. E. Wells of Marion, Kan., formerly secretary of the Kansas Independent Telephone Association, is in Fort Worth on a tour of the southwest. The association with which he has been until very recently connected has been in existence for about five years and represents all the independent companies in the state of Kansas. Its pur pose is to further their mutual interests and to furnish a medium for joint action when needed, Mr. Wells is enjoying his trip very much and is much impressed with the active evidence of push, enterprise and every hand. He leaves today for Dallas, and thence on a tour of the southern part of the state, and says he may decide to cast his lot with the citizens of the greatest state in the union.

Ragsdale had but a few steps to take before touching Boles out and then he threw the ball to Maag and Rogers was run down between bases. The play saved the day for Dallas and lost it for Fort Worth. Man Falls Upon Meat Hook and Goes Into Deliriums

SHERMAN, Texas, Aug. 23,-A message was received here yesterday morning by Mrs. J. A. Domke, informing her of a serious accident that happened to her son, Buren Howland, at Gainesville. The young man, 21 years of age, was employed in a butcher shop. He was hanging meat from a ladder and was a considerable distance from the floor when he fell from the ladder. As he fell he was caught by one of the large hooks used for holding meat. The hook first caught him between the shoulder blades and then, tearing out, caught his head at the base of the brain. The skull was fractured and young Howland is today in a raving delirium. His mother and

REMOVAL NOTICE. The Geo. B. Pennock Realty Co. has removed from room 21, Scott-Harrold Chew What You Know About and Know What You Are Chewing

There is real pleasure in chewing the best tobacco grown-where the best tobacco grows-in the famous Piedmont Country.

Only choice selections of this well-matured and thoroughly cured tobacco is used in making SCHNAPPS. That's why SCHNAPPS and others of the Reynold's brands, as shown by the Internal Revenue statistics for a fiscal year, made the wonderful growth of six and onequarter million pounds, or a net gain of one-third of the entire increased consumption of chewing and smoking tobaccos in the United States.

Evidently, chewers cannot resis the flavor and they cheer SCHNAPPS because SCHNAPPS cheers them more than any other chewing tobacco, and every man that chews SCHNAPPS passes the good thing along—one chewer makes other chewers-until the fact is now established that there are many more chewers and pounds of tobacco chewed, to the population, in those States where SCHNAPPS tobacco was first sold than there are in the States where SCHNAPPS has not yet been offered to the trade

SCHNAPPS is like a cup of fine Java coffee, sweetened just enough to bring out its natural, stimulating qualities. SCHNAPPS pleases all classes of chewers: the rich, because they do not find a chew that really pleases them better at any price; the poor, because it is more economical than the large 10c. or 15c. plugs and they get their money's worth of the real snappy, stimulating flavor so appreciated by tobacco lovers. All imitations contain much more sweetening than SCHNAPPS. They are made that way to hide noor tobacco improperly cured.

For the man who chews tobacco for tobacco's sake, there is no che like SCHNAPPS.

Sold at 50c. per pound in 5c. Cuts. Strictly 10c. and 15c. Plug.

STILL SEEKING SAND

Perfect Material for Glass Not Yet

Found Here William Linden, who is in the city nvestigating available sand beds with a view to the establishment of a glass factory, went with A. N. Evans, secretary of the Factory Club, Wednesday to visit another sand deposit near the city. They found sand in abundance on the land of Mr. Burton, southeast of the city. There is a forty-acre tract covered with sand to a depth of about twenty feet, and Mr. Linden found the sand of but a fair grade. The considerable quantity of iron in it makes t undesirable for glass making as the iron colors the glass. Mr. Linden is expecting samples of sand today from a point on the Fort Worth and Denver Road. This sand is said to be of an excellent grade and Mr. Linden says if proves to be as reputed the establishment of a glass factory here is assured. The sand can be obtained loaded on the car at a sufficiently low rate to insure the financial success of a plant at this point.
