PITTSBURGH, Sept. 7.—A queer suit over who shall pay for a wooden leg is in progress here, and the question as to whether a man who marries a girl with a wooden limb marries the limb too will be settled in court. McKenzie brought suit before Alderman Charles Anderson, alleging that the limb was furnished some years ago to a young lady, since Mrs. Gukert, and he wants the husband to pay for the limb. Gukert's defense was that a wooden limb was not part of any person, more than is a shoe or finger ring; that he should not be forced to pay for anything bought by his wife before their wedding. Alderman Anderson gave judgment for McKenzie, but Gukert has appealed the case.

WATER KEPT BUSY IN MAKING ICE

Same Liquid Used for Half a Dozen Purposes

IT MUST BE DISTILLED

Ammonia Does the Freezing, Which is the Simplest Part of Entire Operation Necessary

Artificial ice making is a science well understood by very few persons not engaged in the business. Many object to using ice manufactured in plants, fearing that a certain per cent of ammonia is lost and is frozen in the cake.

A model plant is that of the North Fort Worth Ice and Cold Storage company. And it is so called by manufacturers of ice in other cities, some of whom have copied the design and arrangement of machinery because of its extreme modernness and most satisfactory condition, in which every section of the process is kept.

The water comes from an artesian well. It is pumped to the surface by compressed air. A large pipe has been drilled to this depth and inside of it is another about two inches in diameter, in which is forced the air down below the water level and the compressed air escaping at the bottom of the pipe forces the water above it to the surface.

The company uses oil for fuel and has two boilers and two furnaces. Water Kept Busy The machinery has worked hard to carry the water through this number of different steps and now it is for the first time utilized in the form of steam and it takes its turn at running the big engine.

There is no open exhaust from the engine cylinder, but it is still confined and piped to the condensing coils, where cold water is kept dripping over the hot pipes of steam. This process cools the steam and it is turned back into water.

This water used in cooling the pipes is not allowed to mix with that which is used to be frozen and it is continually being cooled on the cooling tower. The tower is a series of board surfaces sloping at a low angle toward the center. The water is pumped over the steam pipes reaches the top of the tower by gravity, from where it is started down the steps cooling at each level until it reaches the bottom, when it is again carried to the condensing coils and the process repeated.

When the steam has been condensed the water is piped into the filter and later to another, giving it a double filtering. These two filtering tanks are filled with ground quartz. Even after the water is thoroughly filtered it is still moderately warm and it is necessary to reduce the temperature to about 34 degrees. This is done in a tank in which are coils carrying ammonia. This is the nearest that ammonia gets to the water in any of the different steps in the manufacture.

Gas Does the Work

At a temperature of about 34 degrees the water is then pumped into the ice cans. The filter is automatic in cutting off the flow of water just 200 pounds is in the cans. The cans are arranged below a walking surface and hang in a salt brine. Along each row of cans are several lengths of pipe containing ammonia gas, which does the freezing. Brine is used as the uniform temperature liquid because clear water would freeze, while the brine does not.

This is the most common way of manufacturing ice and in fact nearly every plant uses ammonia gas, as it is the cheapest. The principle of using ammonia gas as a temperature reducer is simple and is substantially as follows: When ammonia gas is compressed in a cylinder with sufficient force and quickness it is turned to liquid, but the process generates heat. This heat is a water jacket that covers the cylinder.

SUBSCRIPTIONS STILL COMING

Out-of-town Contributors to Stock Show Fund

The work on the fat stock show out-of-town subscription is proceeding apace and the recent additions to the list of those who are lending the helping hand includes some of the best known cattlemen in the state, and among them one of special interest is Oliver Loving of Jacksboro, one of the sons of the late J. C. Loving, the first secretary of the Texas Cattle Raisers' association, and secretary for twenty-seven years.

Another subscription which causes favorable comment is that of Prof. Marshall of the Agricultural and Mechanical college, Bryan, Texas. Prof. Marshall is one of the best judges of cattle in the country, has served most acceptably at the Fort Worth show, and elsewhere in United States for similar affairs and his willingness to help the cause along by giving up that sum is one of the very pleasing things which have come to encourage the promoters of the fat stock show in its efforts to properly house what is one of the most important events of the kind in the United States, the annual Fort Worth Fat Stock Show.

Among the latest subscriptions received to the guarantee fund for the fat stock show are those here named: The National Land and Cattle company, Trinidad, Colo. J. A. Robertson, Colorado, Texas. Oliver Loving, Jacksboro, Texas. D. D. Swearingen, Quanah, Texas. George W. Lantry, Austin, Texas. R. C. Sanderson, Big Springs, Texas. W. H. Myers, Blue Grove, Texas. W. R. Nash, Columbia, Texas. C. MAN ABOUT TOWN

"Almost every other traveling salesman visiting Fort Worth nowadays is carrying with him a sample trunk," said a prominent hotel manager of this city Wednesday night. "The dull summer season in the hotel business has passed for 1906 and travel is heavy by salesmen from jobbers of shoes, millinery and men's hats and some few clothing salesmen."

And this is the condition found today at all of the city hostelrys, every one of them enjoying a good early fall trade following the annual slump, during which time it is necessary to cater more especially to permanent trade.

Gas Boucher, an old time Fort Worth man, who left the city nine years ago, is back and says he has come to stay. "I have gone all around the circle since I left Fort Worth," he said, "but I haven't found any place so good as this. When I got back to my old home I hardly knew it, and standing on the corner of Seventh and Main Wednesday didn't know which way to go in order to get where I wanted to. The old time has grown beyond my recognition."

THE COMING CITY

San Antonio Man Likes Prospects in Fort Worth

D. E. Hirschfeld, an old time business man of Fort Worth, now residing in San Antonio, is in Fort Worth on a prospecting tour. He has been away from the city nearly ten years, living in the meantime at Waco, Beaumont and San Antonio. Speaking to a Telegram reporter Friday of the changes that have taken place here since he left he said:

"To satisfy myself by personal observation I have made a tour of the town. I have been up and down Main and Houston streets, have seen North Fort Worth, have been all over the South side and have gone through the West side and the East side of the city, and I hardly know the town that I used to know so well. Such growth—such expansion as there has been here since I left in 1898 is almost beyond comprehension; and on every hand I can see the work of still greater improvement going on.

"Fort Worth, always a community of town builders, and it looks as if the people here have gained knowledge in that line as the town grows older. It is very easy to forecast the future of Fort Worth. It is the coming great city of Texas."

"Should I decide to contemplate returning to make his home in Fort Worth, Mr. Hirschfeld said: "I should like to leave San Antonio. I will certainly come to Fort Worth. My observations here have been made with the view of informing myself on business conditions, and I

Movement Seems to Have Originated in Dallas—Enough Signatures Secured

There appears to be no doubt that Tarrant county is to go through another local option campaign with all the bitterness of feeling that these campaigns engender. For some time past the county has been the scene of a movement among the voters to have a referendum on the question of whether or not intoxicating liquor should be sold in Tarrant county. This petition up to Friday was circulated in the country precincts, but Friday it made its appearance in Fort Worth and was presented to several heads of business firms for their signatures. It met with a cold reception from many, but a number of city signatures have been secured to it.

The man who is circulating the petition is not known personally to those who have seen it, but it is known, nor is it known with whom the movement in this county originated. It is said by some, however, that it was initiated in Dallas and that the movement contemplates prohibition or local option elections being held in the two counties on the same date.

George Ditch, representing the Anheuser-Busch company, said to a Telegram reporter that there was no doubt that the prohibition election would be held.

"The petition that is being circulated," he said, "already has enough signatures to compel the commission to call a referendum. I don't know who is behind the movement in Tarrant county and have not found any one who does."

Two Campaigns in Past Tarrant county has gone through two prohibition campaigns in twenty years and both of them left their scars behind in the shape of bad feelings and friendships that have been broken for years. In 1887 the state prohibition campaign literally tore Tarrant county and Fort Worth all to pieces and friends and acquaintances were separated.

The San Antonio team was awarded the prize for the best drilled team. Omaha not competing, of course, for it merely came here to let the delegates to the district convention see how beautiful the secret work can be made. In the evening both of these crack teams will put on drills at the Lake Erie pavilion, after which the dance will follow.

A. & M. OFFICERS MEETING HERE

Dr. Blake Is Elected to Chair of Chemistry

The vacancy committee of the board of directors of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas met in the offices of Marion Sansom at the Exchange building in North Fort Worth Friday afternoon to select persons to fill vacancies on the faculty of the college. President H. H. Harrington, W. J. Clay, state commissioner of agriculture of Austin, and Marion Sansom comprise the committee. The most important position filled this afternoon is that of the chair of chemistry, which was left vacant when Dr. Harrington was promoted to the presidency of the college last year.

For this position the committee chose from a large number of applicants Dr. J. C. Blake of the bureau of standards at Washington, D. C. Dr. Blake is a graduate of the University of Colorado and afterward did graduate work at Yale University, where he took the degree of doctor of philosophy. His position at Washington has been one of responsibility.

For the position of assistant professor of mechanical engineering W. L. Thomason was chosen. Mr. Thomason is a graduate of Miller's Training School of Virginia, receiving the degree of B. S. there. A. L. King, A. B., University of Chicago, and A. M. Alabama Polytechnic, was elected to fill the vacancy in the position of assistant teacher of English. The committee has a number of other positions to fill, including one at the Prairie View school, which is under control of the same board as the Agricultural and Mechanical College.

STUDENTS INCREASE Large Number of Schools Erected in Texas This Year

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 7.—The state department of education is of the opinion that this will be the largest attended and best school year Texas has had for many years. The state is in a very prosperous condition in every section, and this is one of the reasons advanced as to why the attendance this scholastic year will exceed that of any previous year.

In the rural communities there is some apprehension as to the school buildings being overcrowded, and should this become a fact it will handicap many of the pupils.

A large number of new school buildings in the rural districts have been erected during the past vacation, and as it goes to show that the schools of the state are enjoying some of the prosperity.

Bonds have also been issued by quite a number of the common school districts for sums ranging from $500 to $5,000 and this money is being used to build new school buildings.

THROW OUT BIDS State Printing Board Says Prices Submitted Too High

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 7.—The state printing board today decided to throw out all bids for public printing and advertise for new bids. The following concerns bid: State Printing Company, Von Boeckman-Jones Company, Morgan Printing Company, Austin Printing Company and Maverick-Clarke of San Antonio. The cause for throwing out all bids by the board is attributed to the fact that they are too high. The State Printing Company was the lowest bidder on the first, second and third class printing, and the bid was 30 per cent higher than the bids of two years ago. This action of the board caused some surprise. It is reported the State Printing Company is not likely to offer another bid.

U. S. Buying Gold LONDON, Sept. 7.—The United States has purchased $3,020,000 worth of eagles from the Bank of England today, making nearly $7,500,000 in gold obtained from this source during this week.

BANK SCANDALS AIRED TO PUBLIC Three Investigations of Institution in Progress

By Associated Press. PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7.—Three separate investigations of the wrecking of the Real Estate Trust Company in this city are in progress, and it is expected by the time the examinations have been concluded every transaction of the company will be known to the public.

Receiver Earle is hard at work covering all the securities and other property to ascertain their value, with a view of an early resumption of business by the company.

District Attorney Bell, with a corps of assistants, is pursuing an investigation to learn whether any persons connected with the institution are liable for ruining the institution, and the state of Pennsylvania, through Banking Commissioner John Berkey, this afternoon began a thorough examination of the condition of the trust company.

District Attorney Bell said that until today he had only investigated the propriety of the receiver, but the complexity of Frank Hippie, the dead president, Adolph Segal, the promoter, and W. F. North and M. S. Collingwood, officers of the bank.

PREMIER CRITICISED Newspapers Open in Revolt Against His Program

By Associated Press. ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 7.—An open conflict between Premier Stolypin and the reactionists at court is due to the refusal of the premier to acquiesce to proposed reforms reflected by the comment of the reactionary newspapers on the premier's note of Sept. 7, which is now openly demanding the retirement of M. Stolypin.

The Russian Banner, the organ of the League of Russian People, and other reactionist organizations, demand the premier's resignation, presuming he is bidding for the support of the moderate elements of the Duma.

M. Stolypin's personal organ only, Professor Kovalovsky's Strana, has a few words of commendation for his program of reforms. The Strana, however, says was drafted by M. Stolypin in accordance with the best traditions of Russian liberalism. But the Strana finds fault with the establishment of the court martial for the trials of political offenders, and other measures for restoring order in the country, according to the Strana, embody the worst features of the policy of the old regime.

DYSENTERY CURED AT 88

Mr. Silas Dunton, who celebrated his 88th birthday on April 9th, last and who has been one of the most highly respected and best known merchants for the past 60 years in Millbury, Mass., thanks Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for his youth and vigor.

A friend of Mr. Dunton's says he looks so well that he is easily good for twenty years more.

Mr. Dunton visits his store almost every day. Last summer he had a severe attack of dysentery which was completely cured by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

"I am using Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and think it very valuable as a medicine. Last July I was taken sick with dysentery, and the doctor thought my case was almost hopeless. A good doctor and a very good nurse worked over me night and day for four or five months, giving me all sorts of medicines. Finally I insisted on two or three spoonfuls of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey a day, and I do believe it was the medicine that cured me. For a man of 88 years I am very well."

Silas Dunton, Millbury, Mass., May 18, '06.

A TEXAS ESTIMATE OF HEARST Dr. R. B. Sellers of Comanche is a Texan and a man of affairs who has been spending some time in New York, and while in the metropolis he spent some time studying the work and character of William R. Hearst. Following is his estimate of the great journalist:

"Three or four years he was laughed at and called the rich young fool, and it was said he was trying to buy his way into political power. He came to New York from San Francisco and began a daily paper, the American. For a few months he lost $3,000 a day, then $2,000, then $1,000, his losses decreasing each month until now, his paper last year netted him $5,000,000. What has he done to bring about this change of opinion as to his standing, which one hears on all sides? The clerks in stores talk about him, the street car conductors swear by Hearst and the daily laborer on the street thinks he is a great man. He is the poor man's friend. Jerome and the trusts hate him like sin. He was elected mayor last year and cart loads of ballots were thrown into the river and he was defrauded out of the office.

"This is what he is doing for New York: For three years he has kept a wagon on Fifth avenue and Broadway, in front of the Flatiron building; during the winter months each night this wagon is loaded with hot coffee and bread, which is distributed free to the hungry. Every hour all night long a new wagon is brought with a fresh supply, and thousands of poor, hungry, cold men, women, boys and girls take advantage of this great man's goodness and stand in line to be fed.

"Then, again, during the winter, hundreds of poor families who are not able to meet their rent are turned out into the street with no place to go. Last winter Hearst rented homes for 300 of these families and supplied them with food for three months. He has in his office a free employment bureau, where thousands are furnished work each year without cost. He stays in his office and works hard. There is no man in New York who works harder than Mr. Hearst, and the people as a mass, the poor people, the honest people, love him and he will be the next governor of New York, which is an important step in the direction of the Presidency.

"New York would like to give him that honor, for a man who has so much of the milk of human kindness in his heart together with his ability and wealth would make a good leader for the nation. No other millionaire is doing one-tenth as much as he is to alleviate the sorrows and suffering of the poor."

THE TROUBLES IN CUBA The latest information that comes from Cuba is far from reassuring. It is rather indefinite and probably considerably exaggerated, but it is clear that the government of President Palma is not making any appreciable progress in the matter of suppressing the insurrection. That movement is quietly spreading—not rapidly nor in an apparently formidable manner, but the government has already evinced its inability to properly cope with the situation. Its offer of general amnesty to those who would lay down their arms has met with but indifferent response, and insurrectionary bands seem to be spreading out in all directions, evidently preparing for a guerilla method of warfare which the government will find itself impotent to stamp out. Disorder, robbery, irregular fighting, annoying insecurity to property and persons are but the natural results to be expected and the situation is daily growing more trying. By the middle of this month the leading industries of the island will probably be seriously interrupted, and then the complaints of foreign investors and property owners will become loud and exceedingly glib. And right here is where the immediate interests of the United States will be visibly affected, since in our relations with the Cuban government there is an implied responsibility for the maintenance of order and safety of all the people who have homes and investments in the republic. And it is the duty of this government to watch the situation over there very carefully. If it is necessary to intervene for the proper protection of life and property the intervention should be made at the proper time. It should not come before it is absolutely necessary, and should not be delayed until it is too late. The occasion for our action should be made clear to the Cuban people and all other nations. It should not be delayed until we will have a miserable little civil war as a heritage from the present Cuban government. When it is necessary to strike the blow should be swift and entirely effective.

ROOSEVELT AND THE SOUTH In the September number of the Reader Magazine, Colonel Henry Watterson, the brilliant editor of the Courier-Journal, discusses Bryan and Roosevelt, and in connection therewith he also discusses the attitude of the south toward the President. As the foremost democratic editor in America and as a representative of the south, the views expressed by Colonel Watterson are extremely interesting. In discussing the possibility of President Roosevelt's renomination, he says: "Whoever is the republican nominee, the republicans cannot escape the record made for them by Theodore Roosevelt. It is the feeling that they cannot, and the belief that Roosevelt only can run on the platform which he has made for himself and them, which lends most color and gives greatest force to the idea of his own candidacy. There is a notion, too, that in the next Presidential election the republican party will need to piece out its losses at the north with some acquisitions at the south, and that Theodore Roosevelt is the only republican who can hope to carry any southern states."

There are indications that circumstances may compel the renomination of Roosevelt by the republicans, and there is no questioning the fact that he is today the strongest man in the republican party. In spite of his bad breaks in the matter of the Indianola post-office and the Fort Brown episode in Texas, the people of the south feel very kindly toward Theodore Roosevelt. But there is no danger of him carrying a single southern state. The people of the south always vote a straight democratic ticket and are loyal to the democratic nominee, regardless of the national democratic platform.

If Bryan should be the democratic nominee on a platform demanding government ownership of railroads, and Roosevelt should be the republican nominee on a platform demanding the government regulation and control of railroads, the contest would certainly result in the re-election of President Roosevelt. While the people of the south would probably remain loyal to Bryan as the democratic nominee, in other sections of the country where party loyalty does not cut so much, the odds would go to Roosevelt and he would literally sweep the country.

There is no danger of Roosevelt breaking the solid south, however. The south will remain loyal to its old traditions. The Telegram is frank to confess that it is not an extreme admirer of Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey, but unless Senator Bailey takes advantage of the opportunity to hand out a few hot ones on the subject of Bryan's government ownership of railroads proposition, The Telegram will be grievously disappointed in the man.

President Diaz says he cannot meet President Roosevelt at San Antonio, and the announcement will occasion great disappointment. It was hoped that a meeting between these two great men could be arranged on Texas soil, but the Mexican president cannot see his way clear to accept the invitation. He would have received a cordial welcome from the people of Texas.

Officeworkers at Austin are considerably perturbed over the report that Colonel Tom Campbell is going to make a clean sweep when he assumes the duties of governor. And there are officeworkers at Austin who will regard the election of Campbell as a great public calamity.

There is more than enough building already in sight to keep all mechanics in Fort Worth busy for the remainder of the year. And it is a very hot pace Fort Worth is setting other Texas towns and cities these beautiful September days.

The twelve hundred Texas patriots who are importuning Colonel Tom Campbell for the favor of the half hundred offices that will be his to dispose of, are evidently determined that our next governor shall not be hampered by a lack of good material.

Advices from Austin indicate that the attorney general is still preparing for his trust busting campaign, and if the war is as long as the time consumed in preparation, it is going to be an extremely wearisome process.

Colonel William J. Bryan is not manifesting any disposition to retract his government ownership proposition, in spite of the avalanche of adverse criticism that has been called down on his thorn-crowned head.

When Fort Worth gets that new $200,000 fine stock show building she will have something that is entirely commensurate with her dignity and importance as the live stock center of the southwest.

Late reports from the cotton crop indicate that it is in the bottom lands that the boll worm is doing the most damage. The hill farmers still speak quite encouragingly of their prospects.

Arkansas republicans are swearing Jeff Davis will never be seated as United States senator from that state, and are quietly hatching up a big scheme to prevent it if possible.

Defaulter Stensland declares that the other fellow is the real guilty one. And the surprising part of the situation is that he did not ascribe the real rascality to the woman.

Chairman Cecil Lyon is to open the republican state campaign in Dallas on Sept. 15. And Colonel Ned Green will open the side show as soon as he can procure the necessary state license.

THE TEXAS PRESS

If there is one thing in Texas that the Masons are proud of it is the Widows and Orphans' Home at Fort Worth. On Sunday last Mason Cleveland of this city went to Fort Worth on a mission, that mission being to present the home with a handsome Bible, the gift of the Cleburne and Burleson Masonic lodges. The gift was graciously received and both the widows and the children were happy for the remembrance. Mr. Cleveland came home feeling good. His mission had been a pleasant one and he was inspired to stronger achievements by witnessing the results of the Masonic beneficence at the home.—Cleburne Review.

All Texas should be proud of the Masonic Widows and Orphans' Home, located in this city. It is one of the best managed institutions in the state and a noble charity.

The man who lives only within himself, cares nothing for municipal improvement or progress, turns a deaf ear to all appeals for public enterprises, and devotes his whole time to the one object of getting money, is a failure in all that constitutes true manhood, no matter if his wealth is counted by the hundreds of thousands of dollars.—McKinney Courier-Gazette.

The man who lives only for himself and devotes his time to avaricious purposes is usually accorded the level he deserves. Such a man is worth but little to the community in which he resides.

Dr. F. Kiefer, who is in from Roby, says that in his more than fifty years' residence in Texas, during which time he has seen all the best farming sections of the state many times, he has not before seen such fine crops as are now growing in Fisher county. The worms have done but little damage so far, and he does not expect them to this season.—Abilene Reporter.

West Texas has made bountiful crops again this year, and is enjoying the prosperity so richly deserved by its enterprising people. When nature does her part west Texas can always be depended upon to do the rest.

There are two ideas of American intervention in Cuba, one by the government and another by the revolutionists, who claim that there are no honest elections. There is no necessity of intervention on the part of the American government at present, and it would be well for this country to keep hands off and allow the Cubans to settle their differences among themselves or demonstrate their utter inability to do so; that is, their inability to govern.—San Antonio Light.

There will be an American intervention in Cuba one of these days that will not be relished by some of the so-called patriots of that pseudo republic. The stars and stripes will be planted on the island to remain forever, and the dream of a Cuban republic will have faded into nothing.

As we understand Editor Johnson's exposition of the matter, the thickly settled north Texas could prevent any division of the state, due to dissatisfaction in the more sparsely settled section and bye-and-bye south Texas will be so thickly settled that it will not want to cut off from the section which it will then be able to control.—San Antonio Express.

This talk of dividing Texas is a dream of the politicians that will not know realization. The people of Texas are too proud of the magnitude and glories of their great state to ever permit dismemberment.

"The same old Bryan" was the verdict when the great commoner had finished his great speech recently in New York. If constancy is to be found anywhere, it is to be discovered nearer in the person of the great Nebraska than in any one else, and the coming generations will remember him and as one true to his convictions.—Terrell Transcript.

There can be no doubting the consistency of William J. Bryan. He is a man who fearlessly stands for his own convictions, regardless of all who may disagree with him. And that is one of the elements of true greatness.

Mr. Bryan did not in his remarks in Madison Square Garden pretend to give the country an issue. Government ownership is not a democratic policy and is not going to be until the democratic party itself advocates it, which it will never do until it abandons the fundamental principles which give it life, or until at least every legitimate effort to regulate railroads and protect the public has been exhausted.—Houston Post.

Of course not. Bryan does not constitute the entire democratic party, and will not be permitted to write the national platform. If he should decide to take his tea without sugar, it is not obligatory upon all democrats to adopt the same rule with regard to that beverage.

Colonel Campbell is busy receiving applications from parties desiring appointments at his hands. It is being given out by newspaper reporters that the colonel is promptly placing such documents in the waste basket, refusing to consider them until after he has been elected.—Corsicana Sun.

When Colonel Campbell takes the oath of office next January he will be compelled to swear that he has promised nothing that was calculated to insure his election. The officeseekers should not attempt to compel him to commit perjury.

Government ownership of railroads seems to be as unpalatable to some democrats as free silver, and many of those who were ready to endorse Bryan for the Presidency a week ago are now up in arms against him.—San Antonio Gazette.

All of which goes to prove that no democrat can become greater than his party. The people reserve to themselves the privilege of doing their own thinking.

WORLD'S DEEPEST SHAFTS

The Michigan copper country possesses the world's three deepest vertical mining shafts. The deepest of these is No. 3 at the North Tamarack property, its measurements being 5,200 feet. To the south, at a distance of 4,000 feet, is the No. 5 shaft of the same company. This ranks as the second deepest vertical shaft on the globe, its measurements being 5,080 feet from the collar to the bottom level. Second only to these great openings is the Red Jacket shaft of the Calumet and Hecla company, which is down 4,900 feet and in which the copper lode was not encountered until a depth of 3,200 feet had been attained. The deepest incline shaft in the world is the No. 4 of the Calumet and Hecla. This shaft itself, from the collar to the lowest level, is sunk on the plane of the lode for a distance of 8,100 feet, while from a drift at the bottom a winze extends downward 190 feet to the boundary of the property, giving a measurement of 8,290 feet from surface. No. 4 shaft passes by the Red Jacket shaft at the fifty-sixth level.—Boston Transcript.

We have never been able to figure out why the price of the stocks and bonds of a certain corporation as fixed in the open market does not establish the real value of the property for the purposes of taxation.—Indianapolis News.

AMUSEMENTS

About all of the "Dandy Dixie" minstrel show at Greenwall's opera house Thursday night worthy of any attention at all was John Rucker, a negro who, on the stage, was still a typical negro and one of the best negro comedians who has ever shown in Fort Worth. He can sing and act, both acceptably, and his turns were liberally applauded, as they deserved to be. The only other thing that was above mediocrity was the slack wire performance of Mack Allen, who, as the bills say, is a wonder on the wire. The first part setting of the stage was pretty and that, with the noted exceptions, is all that is worth even a reference.

The attendance of negroes was large, with a very liberal sprinkling of whites, the lower floor being fairly well filled, and the gallery and balcony crowded.

"The Sweetest Girl in Dixie" A bit of the old south carved out and set down as clear and fine as a cameo.

Freda Simons, the authoress, plays the title role. "The Sweetest Girl in Dixie" at Greenwall's opera house to-night, last performance.

TALK OF RAILROAD TO GEORGETOWN

Promoters of Project Expected in Fort Worth Sept. 25

At the meeting of the directors of the Factory Club Thursday afternoon it was decided to hold the annual meeting of the whole club Friday, Sept. 14, and to invite the Board of Trade, labor unions, city council and people in general to attend the meeting. John Van Vandt, Judge W. R. Booth and Dr. J. L. Cooper were appointed to make arrangements for the meeting and invite the guests. A committee consisting of Duff Purvis, L. C. Cole and A. N. Evans was appointed to meet a number of men who will be in the city Sept. 25 to discuss the matter of constructing a railroad from this city to Georgetown, Texas through which the proposed line would pass. Appointed delegates to meet here and endeavor to bring the matter to a head. There appeared before the directors a gentleman desiring to open a tourist line in Fort Worth and one wishing to establish a wholesale marble house here. Both propositions were referred to the investigating committee. Secretary A. N. Evans reported that he had secured since last meeting a wholesale commission house, a chemical company and the headquarters for an immigration publication dealing with the southwest. He had good prospects of landing a glass factory. He also asked that a man be secured for secretary who could give his whole time to the work. But this matter was not considered by the directors, as they think Mr. Evans is doing well and do not care to change.

TALK EXCURSION RATES

Texas Passenger Agents Hold Meeting in Dallas

The general passenger agents of the railway lines in Texas were in session at the Oriental hotel at Dallas Thursday to consider special rates for several future events to occur in the state. The new rate bill came in for a lot of discussion and no conclusion of course. At 5:40 in the afternoon the meeting took a recess until 9:30 Friday morning.

Rates parallel with those of last year were decided upon for the Dallas Fair, also similar rates for the No-Tsu-Oh carnival at Houston, and the Fort Worth race meeting of next month. The San Antonio fair rates were up and agreed upon, being about the same as last year, with a slight change regarding distances from which tickets could be sold.

Following the session the railroad men were entertained at Lake Cliff with supper and a theater performance, the management of the resort being host.

Those present at the meeting were: E. P. Turner, general passenger agent Texas and Pacific, chairman; George F. Lupton, general passenger agent Aransas Pass; F. B. McKay, general passenger agent Texas Midland; R. Daniels, chief clerk of the department; C. W. Strain, general passenger agent Frisco; L. M. Brown, chief clerk general passenger department; Cotton Belt; A. Auer, general passenger agent Rock Island; F. M. McClure, chief clerk general passenger department; George H. Hunter, assistant general passenger agent I. and G. N.; E. F. Adams, chief clerk general passenger office, Santa Fe; Joseph Hen, general passenger agent Texas and New Orleans; and A. G. Newsom, division passenger agent Houston and Texas Central. George Wetherby, private secretary to Mr. Turner, was secretary.

ROAD TO BE RESOLD

Velasco Railway to Again Go Under Hammer

The Velasco railway, which under court proceedings in Judge Dunklin's court was sold for over a quarter of a million of dollars July 3, last, is again to be sold, because the buyer in the other sale is said to have failed to comply with the conditions of the sale.

The next sale is to take place Oct. 2, by order of Master Commissioner V. M. Jones. The former sale was made to C. H. Alexander. Mr. Alexander was formerly the owner of the road and still owns the stock and bonds of same, or at least a majority thereof. Mr. Alexander being in North Texas at present nothing can be learned as to his reasons for allowing the road to be again sold under the hammer.

LOUISIANA RAILROADS

Trunk Line to Ohio River and Big Four Planned

The charter of the New Orleans and Northern Midland has revealed plans for another extensive railroad system to be constructed by the consolidation of several smaller roads and give New Orleans a trunk line to the Ohio river, which will connect with the Big Four, a Vanderbilt property. There have been many rumors to the effect that the Vanderbilts intended to get an outlet to the gulf through New Orleans, but not until now was the plan made clear. The new system will go from New Orleans to Natchez, thence to Pontotoc, Miss., to Jackson, Tenn., and over the Chicago and Gulf lines to Cairo. The New Orleans and Natchez and the New Orleans and Northern Midland will use the same tracks part of the way. They run through a virgin pine country in South Mississippi.

The much-talked of changes of time on the Frisco have resolved themselves into placing on a new train between Monett and Fort Smith, to relieve Nos. 1 and 6, through trains, of the local business. It has no effect on the Texas trains.

Because of a misunderstanding of the tonnage charges under the new rate bill the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway at Sherman are congested with coal, which the St. Louis Southwestern railway refuses to accept on the basis of charges claimed.

Unless another date is announced, which is improbable, it has been practically decided by the executive committee for the Hospital Association of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas of Texas that the convention of employees will be held in Denison, Saturday, Nov. 10.

All of the lines entering Memphis, represented generally by the highest officials of the operating or general management departments, have decided on the construction of a fine union passenger depot at Memphis, the estimated cost being about $500,000. The meeting was held in St. Louis.

The Frisco is rushing construction on the Oklahoma City and Texas railway, which is being built between Oklahoma City and Ardmore. Steel is now being laid and material is being sent to the line on perishable freight time. Fish, apples, and other light supplies are being sent in baggage cars on account of the rush to get the line completed.

Among the campers at the Confederate Park the past ten days were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Evans and party, their camp being better known as the "Jolly Inn."

Mr. and Mrs. Evans were a lovely host and hostess. They were invited to the finest cooking, baked in an old-fashioned Dutch oven, on an open wood fire.

High five and 200 prevailed during the afternoon and dancing at night, followed with cake, cream and popovers. Those who enjoyed their hospitality were Misses Boss Gaskell, Vic Barnes of Illinois and Mary Youngblood; Messrs. fine tucks and embroidery. All the lighter weight materials are, however, appropriate, figured as well as plain. The slightly open square neck and the short sleeves are both charming and becoming and the short waisted effect can be trusted to suit childish figures admirably well. The dress is made with the waist and skirt. The skirt is gathered at both upper and lower edges and is joined at its upper edge to the narrow square yoke, at its lower edge, to the belt. The sleeves are finished with straight bands and the skirt is quite straight, finished with hem and tucks at the lower edge, and gathered at the upper, where it is joined to the lower edge of the belt over which the sash is arranged. The quantity of material required for the medium (4 years) is 3 1/2 yards 27, 2 1/4 yards 36 or 1 1/2 yards 44 inches wide with 2 1/4 yards of insertion to trim as illustrated. The pattern 5392 is cut in sizes for girls of 2, 4 and 6 years of age.

A FRENCH GOWN

A French gown, which was made for the most elaborate occasions of day wear, is of soft pink clair de lune silk. It is trimmed with Irish guilpore and bands of velvet in a deeper pink. The under bodice, the sleeves and the odd little skirt yoke are of the lace. The skirt is trimmed with bands of the velvet, and the revers and girdle are also of this fabric. The yoke is of batiste, ecru in tone, and embroidered with its own shade of silk. A picture hat of burnt Leghorn is bent into graceful lines. Shaded pink roses are scattered upon the brim and crown, while tips of the pink as the gown are placed upon the highly turned up left side.

A New Sandwich A novel sandwich filling is of cucumber and nut meats in sour cream salad dressing. Allow the cucumbers to remain in ice water for an hour or two before serving; then peel and slice, cutting then into minute cubes; add half the quantity of finely chopped nut meats and blend with a dressing, made by beating hard for five minutes a cupful of rich sour cream, gradually stirring in half a teaspoonful of lemon juice and a tablespoonful of powdered sugar. Spread upon thin slices of buttered whole-wheat bread, and stamp with a cutter into neat circles.

Don't Blame the Flies Don't blame the flies for acting like flies. Don't blame them for flocking about the crumbs of bread left on the kitchen table, the scraps of food on the pantry shelf, the bits of vegetables in the sink. Flies subsist on refuse. If you like flies, if you don't mind having them swarm about the kitchen, and plunging into the milk pans, clinging to the butter and swimming in the ice-water pitcher, keep on leaving scraps of food about the room. The flies will come; they take it for granted you want them.

About the Scalp Massaging the scalp is useful for promoting the hair growth and getting rid of headache due to rheumatism. Two hands should be used. One hand is to be placed on each side of the head and then shifted from point to point, the scalp being moved to and fro beneath the fingers. Painless pinching of the scalp between the fingers is also of service. This massage has a great influence over the scalp nutrition, and if carefully practiced hair foods are used at the same time hair growth is a certainty, provided the roots are alive.

The Business Woman and Social Duties The rigidity governing the code of manners has had to be considerably altered since the advent of the business woman, for, despite her long hours of work, she often holds a certain position in society, but she is exempt from certain formalities.

The business woman is not entirely freed from social duties, as is the American business man, and some few observances of the ceremonies of convention still are severe rules, as is the case with her idle sister.

The business woman who is at work all day long must of necessity be exempt from formal social calls, such as should be paid between the hours of 3 and 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon, for it is always assumed that she is busy during these hours, excepting on Sunday.

She reserves Sunday for calls of pleasure rather than ceremony. The business woman invited to dinner cannot always pay her dinner call on her hostess within the prescribed time. She therefore sends a note of thanks within a couple of days after the dinner.

Notes are frequently substituted by the woman for personal calls, and it is necessary for her to have her daily stationery free from the slightest traces of suggestion of her profession. Great punctuality in the matter of her notes of appreciation excuses the business woman from calls and visits that she has not time to attend.

She can keep in touch with her world through these graceful missives and at the same time courteously furnish excuses for seeming delinquency. There are many occasions when the business woman can only send cards instead of leaving them in person.

The business woman also sends cards

How She Keeps Her Umbrella

"How do you manage to keep your umbrella from being spirited away?" asked a girl who was a frequent "Lost" advertiser. On this occasion she was exulting in the surprise of seeing an answer to her entreaty for the return of her rain-shedder. "When you sit in a car," said her companion, "place the umbrella on the outside, between yourself and the aisle. Thus the umbrella is a fence. It bars you in. When you jump up hastily to get off at your station, you will fall over the umbrella. You cannot forget it."

About Millinery

There should be discretion in all things. Even hats are not immune. Macawish tendencies too glowing for utterance, adorn some heads. Brilliant blue horsehair, with violet plumes may be well enough, but a geometrical proposition in grass-green, is "the limit." Likewise a creation in brilliant green and mandarin yellow. Yes, these strong colors may be blended in transparent fabrics like tulle without being so desperately striking.

MAYORS TO MEET HERE SEPT. 20TH

The program for the state convention of the Mayors' Association of Texas, which will be held in Fort Worth Thursday and Friday, Sept. 20 and 21, was outlined Friday afternoon by the president and secretary of the association, Mayor Harris of Fort Worth and Captain Paddock of the Board of Trade. President P. C. Highsmith of Mineral Wells and Secretary Tom W. Perkins of McKinney, were here to make arrangements for the meeting. The meeting will be held at the conference Friday to ask the aid of the city engineers of the cities of the state to attend and participate in the meeting.

UNDER LOAD OF WOOD

Negro Thrown from Wagon and Arm Broken Henry Wilson, a negro, driving a wagon loaded with cordwood, was seriously injured in South Main street Friday morning, his right arm being broken between the elbow and shoulder and his head badly cut.

The Souvenir Craze

The negro was seated on top of his load when one front wheel of the wagon dropped into a rut, causing the load of wood to topple over, carrying the negro with it. The negro struck the ground first and was nearly covered with the load of wood. He was removed to his home and his injuries given proper attention.

PRESIDENTS TOLD IN VERSE

List in Rhyme Brought Up to Date for School Children

In an old scrap book in the possession of Dr. Blackman, Dr. D. T. Andrews some time ago found a mnemonic rhyme devised to aid in the memorizing of the Presidents of the United States. The scrap book bore the name of Lew Royston and, the rhyme ended with the nineteenth president, Hayes. It was evident that the writer did his work during Hayes' administration, as the last line reads thus: "The nineteenth now is R. B. Hayes."

George Washington first to the White House came. And next on the list John Adams' Tom Jefferson then filled the honored place. The name of James Madison next we find. The fifth in succession was James Monroe. And John Quincy Adams the next before the war. Then Andrew Jackson was placed in the chair. And next we find Martin Van Buren. Then William H. Harrison's name we meet. Whose death gave John Tyler the office. Then James K. Polk was the nation's choice. Next Zachary Taylor she gave her. Whose premature death brought in Millard Fillmore. And next Franklin Pierce the distinction wore. The fifteenth was James Buchanan, they say. Then Abraham Lincoln appeared in the way. Whose martyrdom gave Andrew Johnson a chance. The eighteenth man was U. S. Grant. By means of various and sundry ways. The nineteenth now is R. B. Hayes. Then Garfield fell by the assassin's foul shot. And Arthur sprang forward as result of the plot. And Cleveland was next, as the people willed. After which Benjamin Harrison the great office filled. Then again old Grover appeared on whom One of the well known farmers of Kaufman county was out on the Pecos a few days ago, looking for an irrigated farm to buy the cotton looked immense, but he found upon examination that the forms and small bolts were affected just as they were in Kaufman county by the rail. The forms were all over the ground and they had been pierced just as they are by the weevil. He gathered a lot and took them home to compare with the iron pure in his home county and on his farm. He was convinced that it was the weevil.

FARMERS MOVING FURTHER WEST

Even El Paso County Being Rapidly Settled Up

The movement of the agricultural population seems to be still directed toward the west of Texas, from all reports and information gained, and it has now reached El Paso county, and people seem to be equally as eager to get the lands out there as they were the seemingly better lands back east. "I am now in Colorado City," said G. W. Crawford, "but have had my eye on the lands further west for some time. I bought something over a year ago three sections near Midland, but they were not connected and were not suited to my purpose. I made no improvements, but was simply living in a tent when a party offered me $1,500 bonus for the property and I let him have it. My sons remonstrated and said I had better live on, as I was, and it would bring me in more money that way in the end than to sell now; but our daughter had died and my wife was not satisfied to live away from her other children.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 7.—General McCaskey, commanding the department of Texas, has issued an order for the abandonment of Fort Brown near Brownsville, where the negro soldiers were stationed at the time of the recent outrages.

Company H, Twenty-sixth infantry, which has been doing temporary duty there since the negro troops were sent to Fort Reno, Okla., have been ordered to return to Fort Sam Houston.

It is stated that the abandonment of Fort Brown was decided upon a year ago, and the action has nothing to do with the outrages. At that time General Chaffee visited the outpost along the Texas border and recom- mended that Fort Brown be abandoned and Fort Sam Houston made a brigade post.

TEXANS COMING HOME

Cars Crowded with Tourists Returning from North

Texans who have been spending the summer in Colorado are returning home in droves. Every southern route from Fort Worth and Denver, Rock Island and Santa Fe train that pulls into Fort Worth brings more or less of these people, and they are all glad to get back into the land of promise and fulfillment, notwithstanding they have had an enjoyable outing. Returned tourists from Boulder say there were an unusual number of Texans at that resort this summer. Miss Birdie Todd of Corsicana, who is just back from that resort and who is visiting in Fort Worth, talked to a Telegram reporter about the mountain's ozone and mountain streams of Colorado, and said:

"While I enjoyed my trip to and sojourn in the mountains and feel that I have been benefited, I never was so glad to get back to any place as I am to get back to Texas. There is only one Texas on the face of the globe, and that here I want to live. I don't like Colorado, but it isn't like Texas to me. The people there are nice enough people, and exert themselves to be pleasant, especially to Texas people, because so many Texans go to Colorado every year and spend their money. It's a matter of business for them to be pleasant, but let me tell you, no matter how much they may try the Colorado people can't be quite so nice, so sociable, as the people of Texas. It isn't their fault, though; it's their nature. They are lacking spontaneity in their nature and while they may gush over one the rush don't seem natural. Let me tell you there isn't any place in the world better than Texas, and there are no people in the world better than Texas people, according to my view. If there is a better state than Texas or a better people than Texas, I will have to be shown before believing. I was born in Missouri, you know."

FREED FROM CRIME

Man Charged with Murder Thirty-Nine Years Ago Wins at Trial

BONHAM, Texas, Sept. 7.—In the district court yesterday Newt Bohannon was given his liberty and he now returns to his home in Bonham, charged with murder lifted from his name.

March 1, 1867, a Mr. Echols was killed on Bohannon's home, north of Bonham several miles. It appears that Echols had a quarrel the day before, and when he came along that way the murderer met him in the road, pulled him off his horse, then taking his pocket knife, cut his throat from ear to ear, nearly severing his head. The accused made good his escape, followed by a few men who sought to arrest him, but failed to catch him. Years have come and the story now has the appearance of a novel. It appears that the wife of the man who committed the crime has always been quarreled. She claimed her part of the property in another state. A divorce followed and she then told on him.

All the older people of the county, some one or two eyewitnesses of the crime, were brought here, but they failed to identify the man on trial that day. The case is the strangest one ever tried in this county.

Orthodox Jews Will Observe Sept. 20 and 21

Orthodox Jews of the city are preparing for the celebration of the new year, Rosh Hashono, on Sept. 20 and 21. The two days are observed in this celebration because of confusion in Jewish legends. Both days are accordingly celebrated in order to make certain that the correct day is observed. All places of business of orthodox Jews will be closed on these days, and the people enjoy a holiday similar to the common celebration of New Year. Tomorrow is the Day of Atonement, called by the Jews Yom Kippur. This day is observed by fasting for twenty-four hours. This year the day lasts from 6 o'clock in the evening of Sept. 29 to the same hour on the 30th.

BLOCKED WALKS CAUSE COMPLAINT

No Remedy Apparently in Sight for Annoyance

Serious complaint is made that the sidewalks of the city are unnecessarily obstructed at times and additionally there are places where the obstruction exists all of the time.

The matter was the subject of an earnest discussion at the late city council meeting and there was finally shown a disposition to shelve the whole thing, but the plea of Mayor Harris that the subject was worthy of careful consideration and the desire of the council to grant it they are forced to be led to the reference of the ordinance, which, being presented, precipitated the debate, to the street and alley committee.

There were no exceptions in the ordinance as presented to the operations of the ordinance, except such as might be made by the judge in the exercise of the discretion left to him by the terms of ordinance wherein he is permitted if a case is brought before him to rule, if it was a necessary obstruction of the sidewalk or not.

The great trouble is to arrange so there shall be no obstruction of the sidewalks and yet not interfere with the work of the fuel, lumber and wholesale concerns.

They are compelled to have wharfs or platforms to facilitate the loading and unloading of cars or for the delivery of the produce of goods otherwise than directly from the cars. In the transaction of the wholesale business some obstruction of the sidewalks is unavoidable, if they are forced to remove the platforms they will have to do business under restrictions that handicapped them almost to the extent of suppression as business houses.

Take the wholesale houses using Front street, some of them are important in the city, and it is out of the question for them to reasonably transact their business without the use of the wharfs or platforms which extend out over where the sidewalk should be, but where it is not. That is equally true of some of the sidewalks which, like the Front street sidewalks, exist in name only, in the lower part of Rusk street and others of the streets down near the Texas and Pacific reservation.

Take Rusk street for example: A franchise has been granted for the laying of tracks by the Texas and Pacific Railway Company up the street, so that the wholesale houses fronting on Main street may have a better shipping facilities. There is a right of use which has been exercised for years and it is a legal question if that right could be summarily vacated. The same is true of the places along Fifteenth streets, extending back to Front street, west of Houston. The sidewalks are there on the plate of the city, is true, and that is about all so far as they are or have been for a long time of any use to the public, as a matter of fact they were never used as sidewalks.

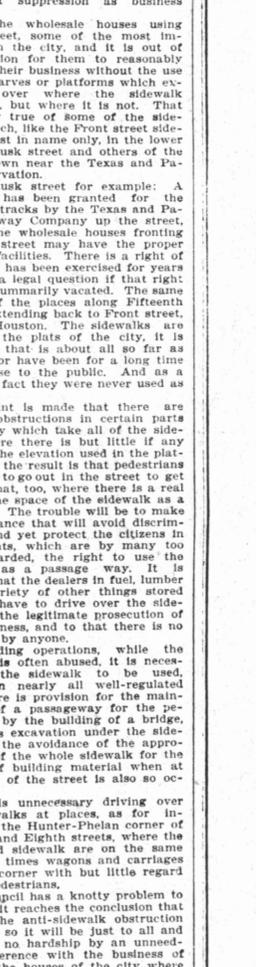

Complaint is made that there are built-up obstructions in certain parts of the city which take all of the sidewalk where there is but little if any need for the elevation used in the platform, and the result is that pedestrians are forced to go out in the street to get by, and that, too, where there is a real use for the space of the sidewalk as a sidewalk. The trouble will be to make the ordinance that will avoid discrimination and yet protect the citizens in their rights, which are made many a little regarded, the right to use the sidewalk as a passage way. It is granted that the dealers in fuel, lumber and a variety of other things stored in yards have to drive over the sidewalks in the legitimate prosecution of their business, and to that there is no objection by anyone.

In building operations, while the privilege is often abused, it is necessary for the sidewalk to be used, though in nearly all well-regulated cities there is provision for the maintenance of a passageway for the pedestrians by the building of a bridge, if there is excavation under the sidewalks or the avoidance of the appropriation of the whole sidewalk for the storage of building material when at least half of the street is also so occupied.

There is unnecessary driving over the sidewalks at places, as for instance at the Hunter-Phelan corner of Houston and Eighth streets, where the street and sidewalk are on the same level. At times wagons and carriages cut that corner with but little regard for the pedestrians.

The council has a knotty problem to solve ere it reaches the conclusion that will fix the anti-sidewalk obstruction ordinance so it will be just to all and yet work no hardship by the business of unnecessary interference with the business of some of the houses of the city where there is no hardship done to the people.

HE IS THANKFUL

I am glad to say that a cure for Eczema has really been found, and this cure is Imperial Remedy. It is exactly what it is recommended to be. When my trouble broke out upon me it went to Martin, Texas, and spent three months there under treatment of three of the best physicians, but became worse under their treatment. I then returned to Houston and consulted my family physician, and it is to him indeed I should be thankful. He saw he could not cure me and recommended Imperial Remedy. I had always been skeptical in regard to patent medicines, but when this prominent Houston doctor recommended the remedy, I began to think there must surely be something in it and decided to use it thoroughly, carefully and conscientiously.

The result is that I am now cured, not a blemish or a scar of any kind left from the eczema.

I am thankful for what Imperial Remedy has done for me. I feel that I would be doing other sufferers with eczema an injustice if I did not tell them about it.

I hope that many a person that is looking for a cure for eczema will see this remedy, and if they have any doubts about it they can write me. I solemnly swear that the above testimonial is genuine and was given by my own free will.

STOMACH PAINS

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Brought Relief and Cure for Stomach Headaches as Well.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a remedy which has been before the American people for a generation, is still accomplishing wonderful results as is evidenced by the following interview with Mrs. Rachael Gardner, of Winslow, Kans.

"It was very strange," she says, "I never could tell what caused it and neither could anybody else. For a long time I had had spells with my stomach. The pain would commence about my heart and was so deadly agonizing that I would have to scream aloud. Sometimes it would last several hours and I would have to take laudanum to stop it. Besides this I had a headache almost constantly, day and night, that nearly crazed me, so you see I was in a great deal of pain when I think of the agony I endured it still makes me shudder."

"Doctors," she says, "try their medicine made me sicker. I couldn't take it and I kept growing worse until a friend advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I did. I began to feel better and was soon wholly converted to this wonderful medicine. It did me more good than I had ever hoped for. I kept on with the pills and now I recommend them to all who suffer."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured severe cases of indigestion, bloodlessness, influenza, headache, backaches, lumbago, sciatica, neuritis, nervousness and spinal weakness. The genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are guaranteed to be free from opiates or any harmful drugs and cannot injure the most delicate system. At all druggists, or from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Southend, N. Y., postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50.

I had always been skeptical in regard to patent medicines, but when this prominent Houston doctor recommended the remedy, I began to think there must surely be something in it and decided to use it thoroughly, carefully and conscientiously.

The result is that I am now cured, not a blemish or a scar of any kind left from the eczema.

I am thankful for what Imperial Remedy has done for me. I feel that I would be doing other sufferers with eczema an injustice if I did not tell them about it.

I hope that many a person that is looking for a cure for eczema will see this remedy, and if they have any doubts about it they can write me. I solemnly swear that the above testimonial is genuine and was given by my own free will.

SHAW GIVES BROKERS RAP

Orders Banks Not to Loan Cash to Speculators

HITS WALL STREET
Secretary Says the Government Money Is Intended Only for Public Welfare

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Secretary Shaw made public a circular letter, dated today, to all national banks and depositors, in which he says in effect he expects public moneys in depository banks to be used in communities where deposited and not loaned through brokers and other agents in New York for speculative purposes.

The letter follows:
"I am advised many banks scattered throughout the country are loaning surplus funds through brokers and other agents in New York on call at high rates of interest. Money loaned on call is wellnigh universal for speculative purposes. I recognize the right of any individual to speculate in stocks or in lands, and the legal right of any bank to loan money at an appropriate rate of interest at home or abroad on ample security, even with the knowledge that it is being used for speculative purposes.

"I am not willing, however, that government money be enticed from the locality where it has been deposited for the purpose of being used in this way. Public deposits are made to aid legitimate business, as distinguished from speculation of whatever nature. The depository and city banks are expected to loan at regular rates or not at all, and they must not be tempted to act as agents instead of correspondents for other depository banks making call loans at high rates.

"If you have more money than the community can appropriately absorb, please return it to the treasury, for it can be promptly placed where it is of most good. This does not apply to banks with large reserves regularly on deposit with city correspondents."
