President's Order Spreads Joy in Unions' Camp

GOMPERS PLEASSED

Believed Party Can Now Make Great Progress in the Political Arena

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—

An impetus has been given to the labor movement in politics by President Roosevelt's order directing a rigid enforcement of the eight-hour law.

We are much gratified that the President has issued the order, although we conceive it to be a little late for the enforcement of the eight-hour law.

On March 22, 1906, the President suggested that the American Federation of Labor to bring to his attention specific instances of the violation of the law.

It certainly encourages labor to persevere in the work of organization in the campaign which has been mapped out in the hope that a larger degree of justice may be attained.

MAYORS END THEIR WORK

T. W. Perkins of McKinney Re-elected President

SPECIAL CHARTERS

Resolution Adopted and Committee Appointed to Petition Legislature

Friday morning the Texas Mayors' Association was called to order at 9:45. The first paper read was that of City Engineer John B. Hawley of Fort Worth.

The committee on president's address highly commended that document for its able and valuable character.

The committee on memorial reported eulogistically on the character of the late Dr. John E. Keating, an ex-president of the association, his term being while he was mayor of Cleburne.

The committee on resolutions reported in favor of endorsing the resolution of Mayor W. D. Harris on the shipment of paupers.

The president and secretary were directed to certify the action of the association on this subject to the members of the legislature.

A general resolution of thanks to the press, to the citizens for many courtesies and to the various corporations who had tendered courtesies.

The future annual meetings are to be held early in August.

Mayor Perkins of McKinney opened the discussion of the topic, "Small Municipalities own their utilities?"

He began with a succinct history of McKinney's experience with its water-works, now valuable and self-sustaining.

A similar experience was had with an electric light plant, which furnished the city lights and some commercial lighting as well.

The matter of sewers, building sidewalks and other phases of city improvements were also discussed by Mayor Perkins.

He thought that the laws now on the statute books were nearly all that could be desired by the cities, if their mayors were possessed of the proper will and energy to push things along.

Mayor Heyn and others thought that one of the stumbling blocks to city sidewalk building, etc., was the operation of the homestead law.

He strongly opposed use of wood for sidewalks. Incidentally, he let it be known he was one of the kind of home industry men who wanted everything made in the state to be raised here and the preference given to such products.

Mayor Highsmith is also a strong municipal ownership man. Several of the speakers got tangled up in the legal phases of the question.

For Special Charters Mayor Highsmith moved that a committee of five be appointed to submit a proposition to the legislature seeking to amend the state constitution allowing the smaller municipalities to apply for special charters.

It was adopted after being amended so as to make Mayor Highsmith chairman. His fellow-committeemen are J. W. Bull, Ballinger, Henry Miller, Weatherford, W. A. Miller, Amarillo; Perry S. Robertson, Waxahachie, and John Bonner of Tyler.

Mayor Miller of Amarillo is an earnest city league talker in connection with the utility ownership question.

Mayor Heyn gave details of the accounts expended for various city improvements. Among other things he said that they made their own sewer pipes now and they proved to be better and cheaper than the pipes they bought.

Officers Elected The next business was the election of officers.

Tom W. Perkins of McKinney and P. C. Highsmith of Mineral Wells were nominated and Perkins was elected president.

John H. Bonner of Tyler, first vice president, and Dr. W. G. Elliott of West, second vice president, were then elected.

J. T. Lacy of Farmersville was elected secretary-treasurer.

Mayor W. D. Davis wanted the secretary to be required to address a letter to each member of the organization to secure a better attendance and the incoming secretary was so ordered.

Mayor Miller suggested that a kind of experience meeting be held at the annual meetings on the little things which go to make up the important trifles in city government.

The following executive committee was named: F. C. Highsmith, Mineral Wells; Henry Miller, Weatherford; W. T. Davis, Fort Worth; W. A. Miller Jr., Amarillo, and J. T. Lacy, Farmersville.

Amarillo was selected for the next place of meeting.

This committee on transportation was named: W. A. Miller Jr., Amarillo; W. D. Davis, North Fort Worth, and the president and secretary.

The convention then adjourned. The delegates were photographed and then went to the brewery.

Among the mayors present were: Perry S. Robertson, Waxahachie; John H. Bonner, Tyler; Henry Miller, Weatherford; W. D. Harris, Fort Worth; F. C. Highsmith, Mineral Wells; J. D. Smith, Terrell; C. H. Eschelder, Bowie; J. W. Chancellor, Bowie; R. E. Ward, Georgetown; T. B. Nobie, Wichita Falls; J. T. Lacy, Farmersville; J. A. B. Miller, Coleman; Morgan Weaver, Abilene; J. C. Henderson, Hico; J. W. Powell, Ballinger; W. D. Davis, North Fort Worth; J. A. Hall, Commerce; W. A. Miller Jr., Amarillo; R. B. Spencer, Dublin; Dan Heyn, Marshall; Tom W. Perkins, McKinney; John H. Bonner, Tyler; Perry S. Robertson, Waxahachie; Dr. W. G. Elliott, West, and Messrs. John B. Hawley and John Adams, Fort Worth.

Thursday Afternoon Session The Thursday afternoon session of the Texas Mayors' Association began on time, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The report of the secretary-treasurer, properly amended, was approved. The balance on hand at the close of the report was $29.

In the enforced absence of John W. Mayors of Houston, because he is laid up with a broken leg, the secretary read his paper on "Purification of Sewage." The importance of this question, claimed the writer, increases in direct ratio to the increase in the population. He contended that one of the wrong ways to dispose of the sewage of a town is to let it stagnate in creeks or rivers.

He contended that one of the wrong ways to dispose of the sewage of a town is to let it stagnate in creeks or rivers stagnant in summer, when the waters were generally low and surroundings most favorable for the rapid development of the worst possible conditions. It soon created a nuisance which might subject the city to law

WANTED TO PLEAD GUILTY: IS FREED

Young Man Accused of Burglary Turned Loose in Court

Ed Moore, a young man confined in the county jail on a charge of burglary, intended to plead guilty Friday morning and accept a penitentiary sentence, but instead of getting that he is now free.

Moore telephoned to County Attorney Jeff D. McLean from the jail Friday morning that he wanted to be taken before the court and enter a plea of guilty. He was taken to the court room and asked by Judge M. R. Smith if he wanted to enter a plea of guilty to the charge of burglary. He said he did.

County Attorney McLean had a talk with the boy and from the statement made by the defendant he concluded that no conviction could be had in the case—in fact, he concluded that the defendant was not guilty of burglary. He at once filed a motion to dismiss the case against Moore, giving his reasons for so doing and Judge Smith entered the order of dismissal. Moore was told that he was a free man and left the court room hardly realizing his good fortune. He had come from the jail to plead guilty of a felony and left the court room a free man.

Moore's defense was that two men entered the store where he was night watchman and compelled him to help them rob the cash drawer.

GORE TO VISIT AMERICA Noted Lawn Tennis Player in Participation in Games Here

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—From the other side news got here yesterday that A. W. Gore, the Great Britain lawn tennis player, will be a visitor to the United States this fall. He will take part in tournaments on his side.

Mayor Talks on Paupers Mayor W. D. Harris of Fort Worth said he had prepared no paper on his topic, "How Shall Our City Paupers Be Cared For," but after making a few explanatory remarks, he had a resolution which he would offer and he hoped the association would consider it thoughtfully and adopt it. He believed that it would aid in the cure of the evil.

He gave some details of the way a city like Fort Worth was victimized by other communities shipping their paupers in here and directed attention to two men who had come into the meeting room during the session of the association, as they might have noticed. One of them was given a ticket to Fort Worth at Amarillo and the other a ticket to Fort Worth at Texarkana. These were typical cases, he believed, of the migratory pauper. One of the two had but recently gone from the southern part of the state to Hot Springs, Ark., and was shipped out from there to another city and from that one to another, and then to Texas. He now wanted to get back to San Antonio. The mayor believed that the proper way to do was to penalize the shipment of paupers in the way he had just described, and that was the subject of his resolution. He said that if the city, North Fort Worth and the county were left to themselves they could make proper provision for the care of their own paupers, where they would be better and less expensively cared for than under the present wrong system.

The general tenor of the resolution is that the county and individual who ships a pauper to another place than the one where he belongs shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor and punished accordingly on conviction.

Another resolution was presented by Mayor Harris to endeavor to provide against the desertion of the wife and children by such husband and father.

Both were heartily applauded. They went to the committee on resolutions. Legislative action is sought in each case.

An invitation from the Texas Brewing Company to visit the plant was accepted for 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Thanks were extended to District Manager Henderson for the free use of the long distance telephone, by the members of the association in communicating with their homes.

The association then adjourned to meet at the same place at 9:30 Friday morning.

In the evening the mayors were entertained at the Fort Worth Club by a smoker, and there met many of the prominent citizens of Fort Worth.

are almost empty, and crime, except that committed by strangers in the state, almost unknown; and as the result of experience, we urged every civilized community on earth to enfranchise its women without delay.

What Socialist Party is

"The socialist party of America is the political expression in this country of the international movement of the modern working class for freedom from the industrial slavery of capitalism. Its purpose is to capture the powers of government, take control of the machinery of production and distribution now in the hands of capitalists, who use them to exploit the worker, and run them for the benefit of all, for use instead of profit.

"Under the present system, society is fast dividing into two classes: the capitalist class and the proletariat; the rich and the poor. These two great forces drawn up in deadly conflict today are the last result to date of an age-long class struggle.

"Capitalist and wageworker are but a modified form of patrician and plebeian, master and slave.

"Modern machinery for production and transportation has separated the worker from his tools and means of existence, these under competition have fallen into the possession of a few, who do not use them.—Those who use them are dependent for life upon those who own them.

"The difference between chattel slavery and wage slavery is that the body of the chattel slave is owned by the master and lives only because it is to the economic interest of the master that he should live, while under the wage system of the present the means of life to the worker are owned by the master, who dictates to him upon what terms he shall maintain an existence on earth, and these terms are solely those of greatest economic interest to the master. Both are conditions of economic dependence and any sort of economic dependence is slavery.

"The genius and energy of man have made possible a wonderful civilization free from poverty, pauperism and crime, but the various inventions and devices for the welfare of the race have been perverted to the making of dollars, rather than to the making of men.

"The mighty portent of the machine in our midst has not yet been realized by the masses, and under capitalism has served to enslave while its mission is to free.

Public Ownership

"Modern socialism is engaged in the giant task of educating the workers of the world to knowledge of their own class interests and of organizing them into a political party, whose aim is to abolish the present system of private ownership of the industries, interest, rents and profits, and establish upon its ruins an industrial democracy or co-operative commonwealth, where there will be but one class, the working class, and where there will be an equitable distribution of the products of labor.

"Recognizing the above to be the ultimate aim of socialism, I would propose as immediate demands:

"First—The public ownership of the railroads, since privately owned railroads are sapping the life-blood of the nation's commerce and seriously affecting individually every farmer and stock raiser.

"Second—The public ownership of the packing houses. The private ownership of the packing plants is worse if possible than that of railroads, robbing the live stock producer of his means of livelihood and poisoning the workers who are employed in these industries, robbing and poisoning the general public with tainted meats, etc.

"If people owned their own packing plants and should run them with a view to profit-making, there would be no incentive to adulterate food. They would be the best of themselves. That little word 'profit' is the explanation of all food adulterations and other grafting schemes underlying our present social system.

"Third—I favor also, as already indicated, the equal ballot for men and women.

"Fourth—I would urge the importance of direct legislation, that all measures may first be submitted to the people before they can become law. Yours for the Revolution, Laura B. Payne.

OPEN CLOSETS HEALTH MENACE

Dr. I. C. Chase Talks to Mayors on Municipal Needs

Open closets as one of the greatest and most commonly neglected menaces to health of a city, was singled out for special condemnation by Dr. I. C. Chase of Fort Worth in an address to members of the Texas Mayors' Association in session in Fort Worth Thursday afternoon.

Proof that open closets are responsible for spread of such epidemics as typhoid fever, flux and dysentery, was furnished by the mayors were urged to devote their attention to remedying conditions allowed to become dangerous from sheer neglect.

"I had been hunting weeds to cut," said Dr. Chase to the mayors, "determine the presence of open vaults, belonging to the poor class of people, perhaps, but a common menace to all. Look out for the most convenient kept about good homes for the use of servants and exercise your authority and personal influence for the extension of a sewer system even to the poorest classes of your community."

Dr. Chase said:

"When I was to address you a short time ago, I accepted because I recognized an opportunity. I come before you with a distinct purpose. I hope for something that will save a human life. I wish to urge the necessity of the proper disposal of human excretions, using it as an illustration of the progress of preventive medicine and pointing out the most effective way of controlling city sanitation. I invite your thoughtful attention to it as a brief message of plain common sense."

Causes of Disease

"It is now generally known that the discharges of an infected and diseased organ contain the agent causing the disease, and that the body contains the causative germ, the discharge from a consumptive's lungs, the tubercle bacillus; the secretions of diseased throats and noses; the agent producing scarlet fever, measles and diphtheria; the pus from a small pox pustule, the contagion of small pox; so the discharges from the bowels and bladder contain the causative agents of most of the diseases of these tracts."

"I wish to speak of the disposal of fecal matter, and the danger of disease been emphasized. You know that to keep the community free of diseases caused by parasites in the blood, like malaria and yellow fever, mosquitoes must be exterminated. Three thousand people die annually in Texas from malaria; and the disease costs the people over $5,000,000 each year in loss of time, distress and medical treatment. You appreciate the necessity of isolating small pox, scarlet fever, measles and consumption. You may not know that the cause of these diseases, the greatest menace to municipalities arises from diseases transmitted through human excretions—typhoid fever, dysentery, epidemic jaundice, intestinal diseases, tuberculosis, cholera, tape worms and other intestinal parasites. For some years I examined water supplies, and passed on the chemical constituents and organic impurities of potable waters. My work, no matter how accurately done, from a practical standpoint, is of little value unless it is not dangerously unwholesome unless it has been contaminated by human excretions and contains the infective agents causing diseases of the digestive tract."

Flies to Blame for Typhoid

"To show the death-dealing terrors of open closets, take typhoid fever as an example. It is a disease which is a deadly readily preventable, a disease causing a tremendous loss of life and commercial inactivity. Its extermination is so important that it is almost a crime to allow its existence in a community. Three steps in the growth of medical knowledge concerning the transmission of this disease have been taken:

"Period 1. Up to 1882 typhoid fever was taught to be a filth disease, pestilential in nature, the result of putrid water, and the result of animal matter. It was supposed to be contracted by breathing moist, stagnant air and by the inhalation of sewer gas. With this theory, typhoid was not believed to be important.

"Period 2. The germ causing the disease was discovered in 1882 and until about three years ago typhoid fever was taught to be contracted by drinking water contaminated by the typhoid bacillus usually entering from drains, sewers, cess pools, privies and other sources. But this theory was not believed to be important.

"Period 3. We are now at the threshold of a new era in the understanding of the common means of the spread of such diseases. So recent is it that the medical text books have hardly been revised. It is now known, by using infected water, milk or oysters, but these are rare means of transmission, the disease being contracted at each service of the house or houses in the immediate neighborhood of typhoid patients. The family care for such patients and the infection from their hands. Flies above all are the direct cause of transmission. They become infected from excretions thrown upon the ground. The flies in open closets are the same flies upon the kitchen screens, in your milk can and on your food. You with theory, but pass by way of illustration, to one of the most terrible calamities of modern times, the epidemic of typhoid fever at Chamamela and other military camps during the Spanish-American war. This disaster was directly the result of defects in medical organization owing to a lack of appreciation of the services of army medical officers. After the war a commission of three was appointed to investigate and report on the origin and spread of typhoid in these camps, and the military authorities the lives of all but one of the commission and been but recently published. It has proved one of the most exhaustive and gigantic investigations ever undertaken by the United States government. Before this report the spread of typhoid was attributed to bad water supplied the soldiers."

Fort Worth's Experience

"Let us pass on to our own locality. Take, as another specific illustration of the spread of these diseases in communities, epidemic dysentery, better known to you as bloody flux, a disease that in war times proved more

Gained Ten Pounds in Two Weeks

Mr. J. B. Cooper of Scottsville, Ark., who wasted away from 180 pounds to 150 pounds in a few months, praises Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for restoring his health.

It required only two bottles to effect a cure and increase his weight 10 pounds, according to his own statement, written June 6, 1906, which follows:

"During my seventeen years as a salesman of general merchandise I have lost about six months' time only until recently, when I contracted a severe attack of bronchitis which made me feel as though I had consumption."

"I had been bothered with a slight cough for eight or nine months. Lost in weight, from 180 to 150 pounds. My doctor recommended Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as the best cure for consumption, so I decided to try it, and after using two bottles sweetened with rock candy, I gained ten pounds in two weeks."

"It certainly does all the doctor told me it would do, and is the most effective tonic and stimulant I have ever taken. The doctor had me order some of it for his patients, so you can see what he thinks of it."

Respectfully yours,
J. B. COOPER.

INTERESTING FACTS

For Nearly Every Man, Woman or Child

A short time ago we published an article recommending to our readers the new discovery for the cure of Dyspepsia, called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and the claim then made regarding the wonderful curative properties of the remedy have been abundantly sustained by the facts. People who were cautious about trying new remedies advertised in the newspapers, and were finally induced to give Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets a trial were surprised and delighted at the results. In many cases a single package costing but 60 cents at any drug store made a complete cure and every instance the most beneficial results were reported. From a hundred or more received we have space to publish only a few of the latest, but assure our readers we receive so many commendatory letters that we shall publish each week a fresh list of genuine, unsolicited testimonials and never publish the same one twice.

From James Yemmelier, LaCrosse, Wis.: Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are doing me more good than anything I ever tried and will not give me any results that I gave away several boxes to my friends who have also had the same benefits.

From Jacob Anthony, Portmurray, New Jersey: I have taken Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with the best results. I had Dyspepsia for 6 years, and had taken the most expensive medicines, but the Tablets seem to take right a hold and I feel good. I am a farmer and lime burner and I heartily recommend to everyone who has any trouble with his stomach to use these Tablets.

From Mrs. M. K. West, Preston, Minn.: I have received surprisingly good effects from using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I had one-half of a last box to a friend who also suffered from indigestion and she had the same good results.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a certain cure for all forms of indigestion. They are not claimed to be a cure-all, but are prepared for stomach troubles only, and physicians and druggists everywhere recommend them to all persons suffering from Nervous Dyspepsia, sour or acid stomach, heartburn, bloating or wind on stomach and similar disorders.

NEED OF MEDICAL BOARD

"It is plain that the advancement of sanitary knowledge is too rapid to allow the health of communities to wait for popular education to demand the enforcement of suitable health ordinances, city councils, police officers and lay inspectors are usually too poorly informed and too little interested to efficiently care for the municipal health. The time is at hand when every city should place the promulgation and enforcement of public health regulations in the hands of an efficient medical board. The State Medical Association now has plans for the establishment of a powerful and well-organized state board of health to supersede the present imperfect system. The plan contemplates the organization and co-operation of municipal and county boards of health, operating under and directed by a state board of health. Such a unified system has already been adopted by most progressive states and is worthy of receiving your endorsement."

SYNAGOGUE FILLED

Large Attendance at Jewish New Year Services

Friday was the second and last day of celebration of the Jewish New Year 5667. The capacity of the new synagogue has been tested at each service of the two holidays, the attendances being the largest in the history of the local organization. Prayer services will be held in the synagogue Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, conducted by Rabbi Gordon, assisted by the elders of the congregation. Friday afternoon's service will close a most impressive celebration in which all Jews of the orthodox faith have attended the meetings regularly.

Considerable money has been raised for charitable purposes, a part of which will defray the last expense on the new building Ahavath Shalom. A large sum for local organization will be sent to proper authorities for the benefit of the persecuted Jews in Russia.

dangerous than the enemy. The maldy is not contagious, and until very recently, has been considered a water-borne disease. Four years ago Fort Worth was using artesian water exclusively. No epidemic dysentery had been observed for some years. A railroad man introduced the disease at that time in the southeast part of the city, where there were no sewer connections. Within six months there were hundreds of cases of varying severity in that part of town, and the disease has gradually spread until from time to time a few cases are seen in almost every part of the city. It skips about in the most mysterious manner, and unquestionably comes from the chance contamination of files which have come in contact with infectious material.

"Similarly the bowel complaints of children are spread from exposed napkins and surface slops and sewage open to flies. Epidemic jaundice is similarly transmitted, the germ after introduction in the system causing an inflammation of the bile passages. Infection with tuberculosis may occur from files feeding upon consumptive stools. According to Lord's investigations a single fly speck, from an insect that has fed on infected material may contain as high as 5,000 tubercle bacilli. Erysipelas is also commonly introduced by the bites of infected flies and insects. Tape worms and intestinal parasites are the direct results of the exposure of human excreta. Even Asiatic cholera, a generation has invaded the Mississippi valley; conveyed, it was then thought by the water supply, but now known unquestionably to have been spread by direct food and drink infection through insects and personal contact.

"As the highest officials of your municipalities, the most important work you can do for your community is to see that during your official administration the open closet and the surface disposal of sewage is banished from your community. In place of hunting weeds to cut determine the presence of open vaults, belonging to the poor class of people, perhaps, but a common menace to all. Look for such crude conveniences kept about good homes for the use of servants and exat more than $1,000,000. The contract for the repairs to the Cabanas fortress, worth about $30,000, he said, was awarded in the same way. The liberals, who compose the bulk of the insurgents, were formerly friendly to the Americans, but owing to the statements of the moderates in Havana that insurrectionary business in Cuba and its negroes led by a few ignorant white men, the negroes on the island are flocking to the insurgent forces.

The gentleman stated in his interview that conditions in Cuba just now were terribly bad for American firms and that many wealthy Americans were selling out their interests and making for other sections of the country.

"I am on my way to California," he said, for the purpose of studying the conditions there. I was in the fruit exporting business in Havana, and it is possible that I will purchase property in southern California for the same purpose. Yes, I expect to return to the island within the next year, that is, if commercial conditions have been at all bettered."

A distinguished divine of the southern Methodist church was not many years ago traveling in East Tennessee, and during his trip happened to see at least one sight which caused him much amusement. In that section of the country, far from the sound of the train whistle, or even the lazy, dreamy life of a country village, lives a class of people who toil and exist in a poverty-stricken state from childhood until death without the advantage of even being able to read common English.

It was one of this class that the minister came upon. Clad in almost worn-out brogan shoes, a pair of dilapidated jeans pants and an old bark hat, he looked more like a scarecrow than a human being. As the minister rode up to where he was seated on a rail fence the gospel expounder could hardly repress a smile, and several times threatened to go off into a fit of laughter.

The inhabitant of the mountain region gazed at the preacher in a sort of mild curiosity and this tempted the minister to speak. He said: "Say, young man, there is one thing I want to know, to what species of the genus homo do you belong?"

The man on the fence shifted himself around for a moment or two, as if undecided what to say in reply. However, he finally blurted out: "Mister, I ain't one of them things. I'm an East Tennessean."

CRITICAL PERIOD FOR BAILEY

Judging from the tone of the Texas press, there is a storm of popular indignation sweeping through Texas and headed straight in the direction of Senator Joseph Weidon Bailey. The people have become so aroused over the disclosures made in the recent testimony given by H. Clay Pierce, head of the Waters-Pierce Oil company, that chairmen of county democratic executive committees are calling mass meetings of the democracy for the purpose of instructing members of the state legislature to vote against Bailey when the legislature meets in January. The Terrell Transcript, published in the home of Oscar B. Colquitt, says:

The disclosure in the Gruet case, involving Senator Bailey's connection with the Standard Oil trust, caused quite a sensation locally, and to say that the Texas senator has lost caste with those who have in the past been his staunchest friends, is putting it mildly. Many have dropped him entirely, and go so far as to say that he is unworthy to wear the senatorial toga from Texas and ought to be repudiated by the legislature of Texas when it meets in January to elect a United States senator. For the chosen representative of the people of Texas to do at the same time as the custodian of $13,000,000 worth of property for one of the greatest and most meretricious trusts of modern times, is considered reprehensible indeed and an act which can in no wise be tolerated by Texas in her public servants.

The Waco Evening Times-Herald, one of the staunchest and soundest democratic afternoon papers of the state, says:

We are awful sorry to find Joe Bailey mixed up with Pierce in the manner disclosed. He had been attacked by David Graham Phillips in the "Treason of the Senate" articles and the democracy of Texas came grandly to his defense. But here he is shown to be identified with interests that he has been threatening with horizontal stripes, and the position is one difficult to explain. We await his explanation. An explanation he must make and it should be full and ample. He must keep in mind the fact that he performed his initial service to the Waters-Pierce Oil company to oblige his good friend Dave Francis and later he turned up in the control of millions of property belonging to Mr. Pierce of the Waters-Pierce Oil company.

Leaving Bryan and Sullivan out of the consideration, and remembering only that Mr. Bailey has taken service at the hands of the people of Texas, we frankly tell him that a storm will suddenly beat upon his political house and that house will fall unless he can show conclusively that it is built upon the rock of absolute fidelity to the people's interests.

The critical moment in your career has arrived, Joseph Weidon Bailey.

And the revolt of the people against Bailey has extended to southwest Texas. The San Antonio Evening Gazette says:

Senator Bailey has said in defense of his action in intervening on behalf of the Waters-Pierce Oil company when it was driven out of Texas that he had a right as an attorney to perform such service, and that had he chosen to do so he could with perfect propriety have accepted a fee.

If Senator Bailey were merely an attorney and nothing else he would be correct in that position. But above and before his rights as an attorney stand the rights of the people of Texas and the United States whom he has sworn to serve as a senator, and it would be very hard for him to serve the Waters-Pierce Oil company as an attorney and the people of Texas as a senator at the same time, especially in view of the disclosures made in Pierce's testimony, which show that never for a moment since it was admitted to Texas on Senator Bailey's recommendation has the Waters-Pierce Oil company been free from connection with the Standard Oil company. At the time it was readmitted Mr. Pierce has testified that the Standard held several thousand of its shares of stock.

And now it appears that Senator Bailey had charge of Mr. Pierce's railway and coal properties in Tennessee, and that when a report was to be made on them in New York, it was necessary for Mr. Bailey to summon Senator Bailey from Washington to explain the reports. In other words, Senator Bailey was at Mr. Pierce's beck and call just like any other hired man.

The people of Texas cannot relish these disclosures, and they will welcome a satisfactory explanation from Senator Bailey.

CALLS COMPROMISE AN OUTRAGE

The attorney general's department at Austin is coming in for some very caustic criticism on account of the recent compromise of the anti-trust suits against the railways and express companies. The Houston Post says:

That express company suit over at Austin looks bad. The district attorney of Travis county instituted the suits against the companies and the railroads over which the companies operate their business, charging them with violating the anti-trust laws. The penalties asked for in the suits aggregated millions of dollars and now a compromise has about been reached by which the railroads and express companies agree to pay jointly a penalty of $40,000, in consideration of which the state will dismiss the suits.

The defendant companies have objected to entering a plea of guilty, because they claim they are innocent of any violation of law, but that they are willing to pay the $40,000 merely to end what is expensive and vexatious litigation.

If the companies are innocent, to hold them up for $40,000 is outrageous. If they are guilty, the officials of the state are derelict in their duty in agreeing to any compromise. The business looks bad from beginning to end, and it is to be hoped that this will be the last piece of litigation of this character to be undertaken in Texas.

The anti-trust laws of Texas must be enforced. Every good citizen is agreed on that point. When the law has been violated then the attorney general should proceed and vindicate the law and punish the offender, but this thing of bringing suits and compromising for a few thousand dollars ought not to be tolerated.

During the recent campaign for governor, this question was discussed vigorously by one of the candidates. He declared that such compromises were disgraceful and that the policy of the state should be the imprisonment of the individual who violates the law. It has been demonstrated that fines and penalties do not deter men from disregarding the law, but rather constitute their infractions, while they proceed to recoup their penalties from the public.

The next legislature should enact a law providing for an end to such suits as that brought by the district attorney at Austin. The people of Texas believe the corporations should be held to the letter and the spirit of the law, but they do not believe in the bleeding process at all.

If the state, after asking millions of dollars in penalties for the violation of the law, is willing to accept $40,000, a large portion of which must go to the energetic district attorney who brought the suits, it looks like the state had very little confidence in its case, and the claim of the defendants that they pay the sum merely to avoid expensive litigation seems to be well founded, especially when they accompany this assertion with a refusal to enter a plea of guilty.

If the companies are guilty, the sum of $40,000 is totally inadequate; if they are innocent, the payment of a single dollar is, we repeat, an outrage.

And the Post is exactly right in its contentions. If these corporations were guilty of overriding the law, then the majesty of the law cannot be appeased by a compromise verdict. If they are innocent, then it is robbery on the part of the state to mulch them out of $40,000.

And this brings to mind again the suggestion that the attorney general's department of the state of Texas is too much given to the filing of big suits for confiscatory sums and then compromising for a mere pittance. This gives the situation too much the appearance of seeking to scare the alleged offenders into some form of compromise. There is too much the semblance of forcing blood money to avoid long and costly litigation, and it is evident that some form of reformation would not be out of place in that department.

If a corporation disobeys the laws of this sovereign state, let suit be filed against that corporation for a just and reasonable penalty, and then let the suit be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. Let the majesty of the law or the fair name of the defendant, one or the other be vindicated. These compromise judgments are wrong in principle and demoralizing in effect.

FLEEING FROM HIS FRIENDS

The general impression in Texas has been that Colonel Tom Campbell, the Democratic nominee for governor, was spending some time in the state of Arkansas for the purpose of recuperating from the arduous labors of the late state campaign, as well as to escape the importunities of the 1,200 original Campbell men who are already trying to force their way to the pie counter. But it appears that Colonel Campbell has stolen a march on his anxious friends, for an item in the Dallas News of a few days ago says: "Colonel T. M. Campbell left Manitou two days ago and left no address."

Is it possible that the men who are making life a burden to the Democratic nominee for governor of Texas were able to penetrate the mountains of Colorado and locate their game, when it was stated so clearly and unequivocally that he had gone to Hot Springs, Ark.? It looks as if such has been the case, from the fact that Colonel Campbell has again fled in such haste that he forgot to leave his future address. Perhaps, he has hidden himself in some Colorado bear cave and will linger there until the election is over and his official state has been prepared. But there is still hope for the anxious. Senator Marshall Hicks, of San Antonio, is said to be in wireless communication with Colonel Campbell, and his recommendations for office are going to receive proper consideration. Captain Spiller, of Austin is an applicant for the position of state tax commissioner, and he has been to see Senator Hicks. A report from Austin says:

Captain Spiller said that Senator Hicks was probably the busiest man in San Antonio and his office is besieged with applicants for every office within the gift of the next administration. The applicants are so numerous, said Captain Spiller, that their names have to be taken and they are admitted into the presence of Senator Hicks in rotation. Senator Hicks informed Captain Spiller that all lukewarm Campbell supporters need not apply for position, as there are more than enough good, strong, ardent supporters from which to select an official family for the next governor of Texas. Competency and efficiency are going to play an important part in the selection of the officials who will conduct the state government for the next four years.

Now let the men who are hungry for office wait on Senator Hicks but ever bearing in mind that lukewarmness is an impediment that cannot be overcome. The man who obtains office under the Campbell administration must not only be an original Campbell man, but he must be so warm in his support that the earth smokes at his passage.

Colonel Campbell has been forced to flee far into the solitudes on account of the warmth of his friends, and these will no doubt soon make Senator Hicks long for a spell of coolness.

Down in Tom Green county farmers say they would rather their cotton would rot in the fields than be gathered by negro labor. And that is carrying matters to too much of an extreme. The picking of cotton by negro laborers would in no wise affect its quality or bring on a crop of boll weevils. The main idea should be to save and market the cotton.

The attorney general of Texas compromises important anti-trust suits pending against railways and express companies for $40,000, when there is evidence of combination that cannot be gone around. But he says the ends of the law have been attained and compromises the suits. In the meantime, there are no indications of compromise in the suits instituted against Fort Worth institutions, but the announcement was made recently they would be prosecuted to the bitter end. And this looks very much like unjust discrimination. The ends of the law ought to be attained as easily in dealing with Fort Worth institutions as any other.

The man who knows all about the weather is to the front with the usual prediction of an early fall, and a hard winter. And in the end it will be found that nature has regulated the situation according to her own laws in the usual manner. We have to take the weather as it is measured out to us in Texas.

THE TEXAS PRESS

If Texas papers will drop politics entirely and devote the same amount of space to an effort to induce the people to patronize home industries they will be of more benefit to the state.—Sherman Democrat.

The Texas newspapers as a whole are continually waging a campaign for the improvement of their respective communities and if the people will only follow the lead of the papers the result will be quite beneficial to the state as a whole.

The Denison cotton mill is busy introducing new machinery of the most approved pattern. A concentrated effort is being made to make the plant second to none in the southwest. No figures are obtainable, but it is known the mill is paying a handsome dividend.—Brynmwood Bulletin.

All the Texas cotton mills are making big improvements, and this is conclusive evidence they are making money. The only trouble with the cotton mill proposition in Texas is that there is not enough mills.

"It is rightly foolishness," says State Press, "to talk of dividing Texas." And that is a fact. Let no one imagine that the people favor a division of the mighty Lone Star state, with its past at once thrillingly romantic and illustriously historical, its magnificent present and its future glorious beyond the scope of imagination. None but disappointed politicians advocate division, and they only that their office holding chances may be increased.—Belton Journal.

There is no probability of Texas being divided, for the people of this state are too proud of the greatness and glory of the old commonwealth to permit it. Politicians encouraging such a procedure are working on a very cold trail.

Good roads are of great importance to the people of this country. They are more important to the people of the country than they are to the people of the towns, but both should be enthusiastically in favor of them.—Sherman Register.

Good roads are needed in every county in Texas. Tarrant county has the best roads of any county in Texas, but there are some roads in Tarrant county that could be materially improved.

It is estimated that the requirements of the state government will involve expenditures aggregating about $4,000,000 for the next fiscal year. It has also been estimated that the taxable values of the state total something like four billion dollars. It ought to be a very easy matter to get four million out of four billion without doing any particular hurt to anybody.—San Antonio Express.

The raising of the required revenue to place the state of Texas on a cash basis and keep it there is but a simple problem. The greatest trouble with the situation is that we have so many politicians who are endeavoring to make capital out of the adjustment of conditions.

One of the banners at the Jubilee at Dallas last Saturday by the Lyon branch of the republicans bore this inscription: "A republican nation; why not a republican state?" Too many democratic votes seem to be the most logical answer to that conundrum.—Terrell Transcript.

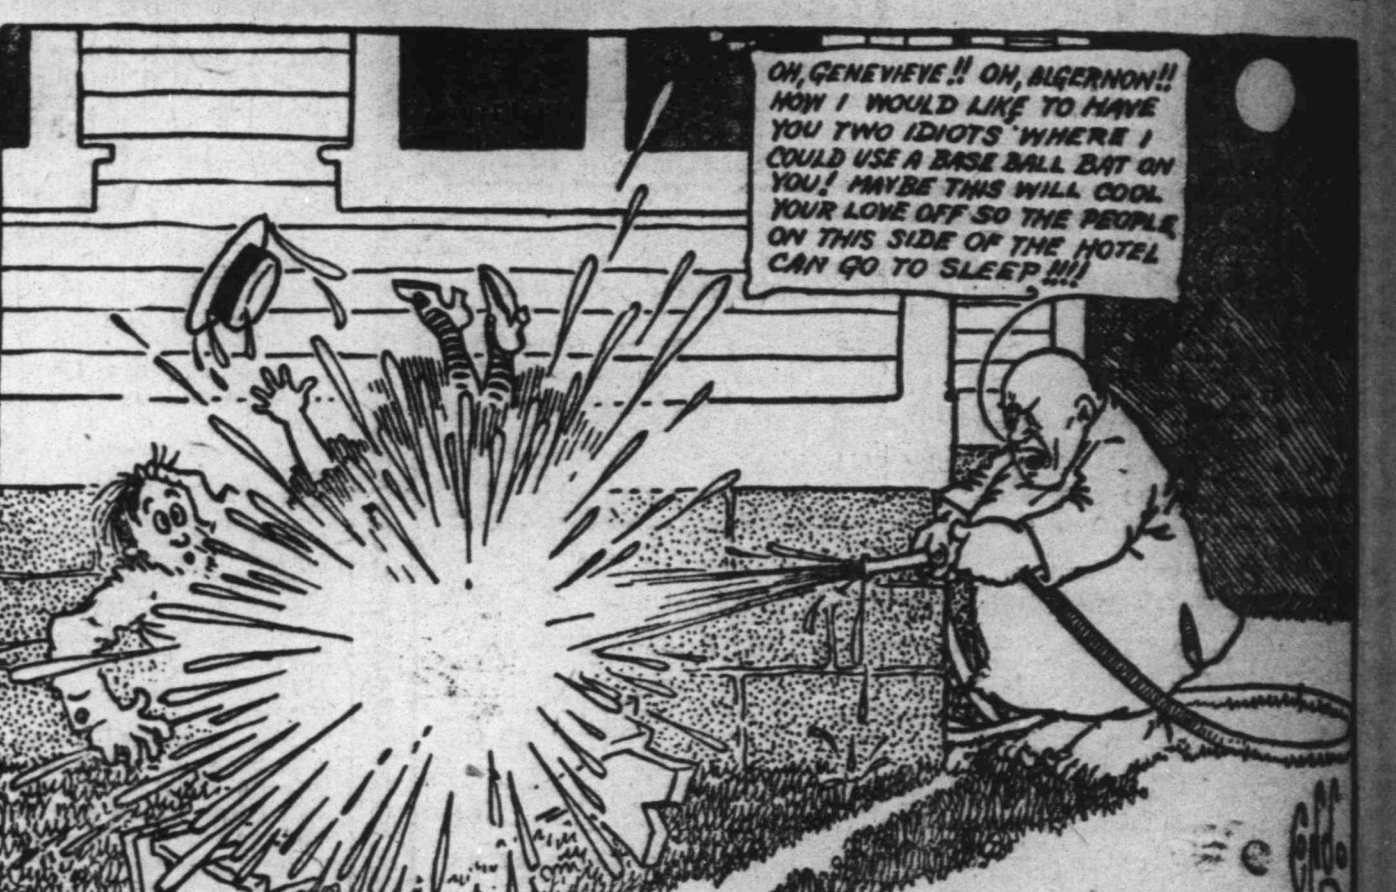

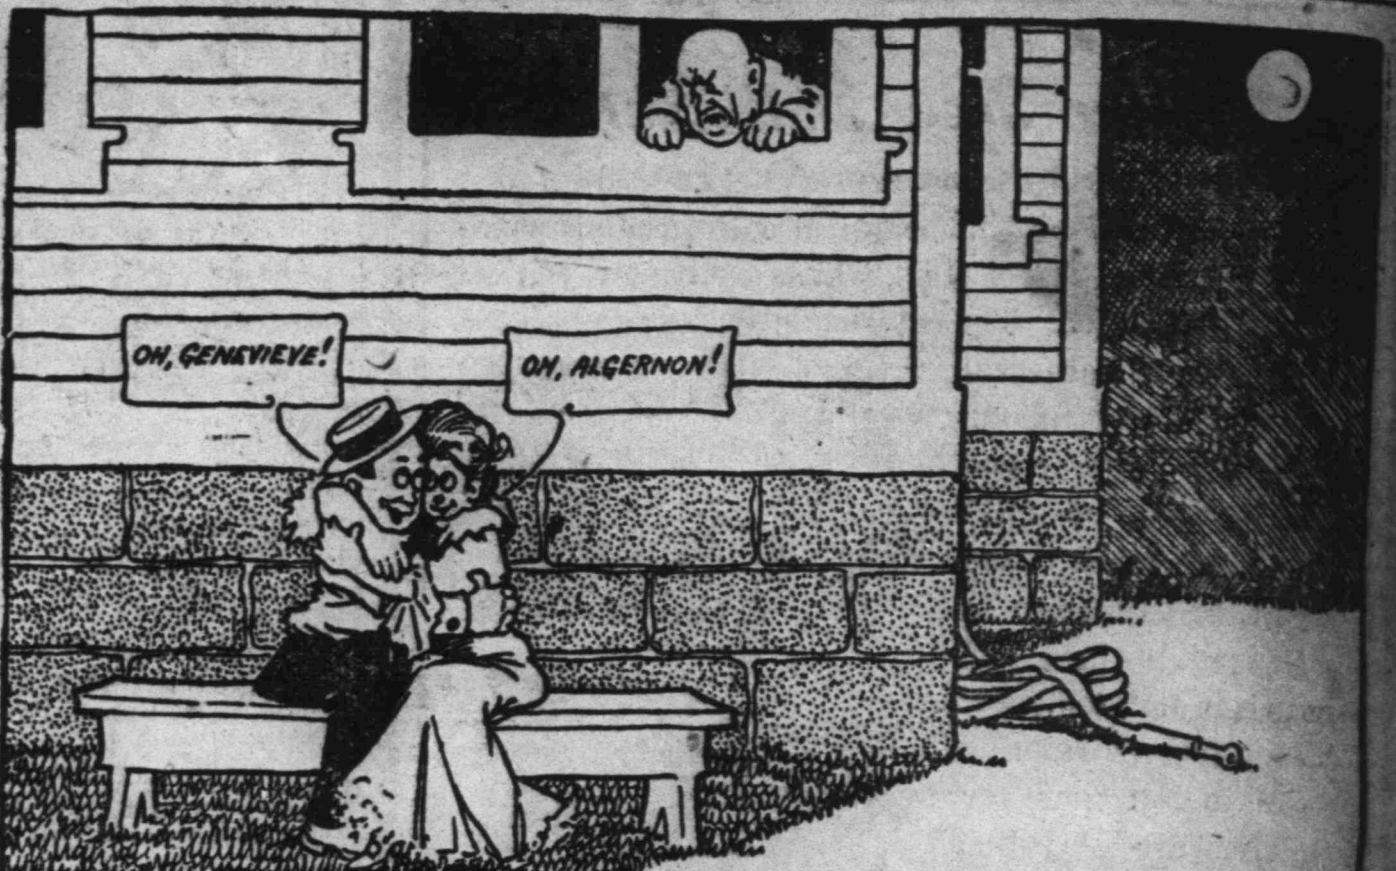

Another answer to Chairman Lyon is that republican campaign funds are not as potent in Texas as in some of the eastern states. The people of Texas, too, have had all the experience with the republican party that they will ever need in their business.

Texas never knows where her cotton crop will go in figure, until she gathers it and sells it. Texas is a great state, and produces great results when conditions are right, and the cotton crop is never known until it is picked. There is still hope here for a good crop of cotton.—Sherman Register.

The Texas cotton crop has a faculty of often surprising even the natives. While there has been some complaint of boll worms and boll weevils, the indications are that the crop this year will be just about all the people can conveniently handle.

It's all right for Maxim Gorky to denounce New York for its "horrible worship of the Golden Devil," but why does he not give his friends his discovery that we had no use for "the brazen serpent"?—New York Commercial.

COTTON MILLS IN TEXAS The capacity of the cotton mills at Sherman is to be considerably increased, and similar action has been taken by the other mills operating in the state. There is so much prosperity attached to the operation of these manufacturing institutions that it is surprising there is not a rush to build more mills in all parts of Texas.—Fort Worth Telegram.

The cotton mill proposition has proved uniformly successful in Texas when adequately financed, and properly managed. As yet, however, cotton spinning is only beginning in Texas and a big future development in the industry is sure to come.—San Antonio Express.

VERY REMOTE POSSIBILITY If Tarrant and Dallas counties have that joint local option election on the day we vote for state officers, there is no doubt they will top the state in bringing out the full vote of each county. Under a convention system they would have strength in the next gathering of the Democracy.—Houston Post.

Such an election will doubtless bring out every qualified voter in the two counties, and it will be a warm contest from start to finish.—Fort Worth Telegram.

That may have something to do with the idea behind the calling of the election. There is very little probability of either county going dry.—Denison Herald.

WE BOW TO DALLAS Fort Worth is not boasting of being the birthplace of Joe Gans. Mention was merely made of the fact that a Tarrant county negro claims to be the father of the negro pugilist. Fort Worth has plenty of other things to boast of without coming down to the level of a pugilistic coon center.—Fort Worth Telegram.

We thought as much, hence our surprise at the paragraph. We have been looking for the Times-Herald to move that Gans once lived in Dallas, and to that town was due some of the credit for his fame.—Athens Review.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE The great state of Texas is again upon a credit basis, with no money available to meet current expenses. And the shame of the situation is mortification to every progressive citizen of the state. And the pity of it is that such a situation is so entirely unnecessary.—Fort Worth Telegram.

That's so, but wait. When "the Campbells have come," as the convention so aptly put it, all of those things will be but as a vision in the night.—Terrell Transcript.

The man turned over and said, lazily, "Oh, I guess I'll let that train go and sleep till 7." "No, ye won't either!" shouted the landlord, and emphasized his remarks by bringing his fist down on the table. "I sat up all night to get you up on time and you're going to get up or I'll know the reason why!" There was an ample persuasiveness about the way he said it and the guest got up and caught his train.

The movement initiated in Wood county against the re-election of United States Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey, and which has already spread to Jefferson county, where a petition to the county executive committee to meet and take action against Bailey is being signed, appears to be catching, and there is a strong probability of the county executive committee of Tarrant county being requested to get together and take up the Bailey matter.

A conversation took place in a prominent lawyer's office in Fort Worth Friday morning and Senator Bailey was the subject, the prevailing sentiment being favorable to the circulation of a petition to the county executive committee to meet and pass upon a proposition to instruct members of the legislature from Tarrant county to vote against Bailey's re-election. CATTLE CONTRACT LEADS TO SUIT

Disagreement Over 1000 Calves Causes Action

W. F. Wilson has sued J. W. White and W. A. Scribner to recover $1,500 damages on an alleged cattle contract involving the sale and purchase of 1,000 head of heifer calves.

White says in his petition that June 25 the defendant, Scribner, entered into a contract with him by which White was to sell and did sell to Scribner 1,000 head of heifer calves, and to have said calves at the Saline pens in Kimball county on or about July 6, to be passed on by Scribner for an agreed price of $5.25 per head when delivered by White to Scribner at the stock pens at Brady, Scribner to have privilege of rejecting such heifers that did not come up to the agreed standard. Said contract was to be reduced to writing afterward. Said Scribner was then to pay White $1,000 and the balance of the agreed price of said cattle when delivered to Scribner at Brady; and it was further agreed that Scribner was to have an option to buy 1,000 more head of cattle from White when the first 1,000 were delivered at the same price.

That Scribner was always ready and willing to perform his part of the contract and to pay $1,000 in advance and to pay the balance for said cattle when they were delivered, but that White refused to reduce said contract to writing or to deliver the cattle; that Scribner is a valuable consideration transferred said contract with White to Plaintiff Wilson and all his rights under the same. Wherefore Plaintiff Wilson asks for $1,500 damages against both White and Scribner.

He Asks $10,000

R. C. Stanley has sued the St. Louis and Southwestern Railroad Company for $10,000 damages on account of alleged personal injuries.

Plaintiff alleges in his petition that Sept. 10, 1906, he was employed by defendant to load from cars a lot of lumber in the railroad yards at Fort Worth; that while so engaged an engine of defendant was bumped against the car of lumber he was unloading, causing the lumber to fall over and on plaintiff, wounding him in many parts of the body and inflicting permanent injuries.

Sues Traction Company

G. Tremble has filed suit against the Northern Texas Traction Company to recover $5,000 damages on account of alleged personal injuries.

The petition in the case alleges that March 20, 1906, a wagon owned and driven by plaintiff was struck by one of defendant's cars on Besse street and the plaintiff thrown violently to the ground, his left shoulder broken and dislocated, besides he was injured in the back and limbs.

TALK OF BAILEY

Petition May Be Presented to County Executive Committee

The movement initiated in Wood county against the re-election of United States Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey, and which has already spread to Jefferson county, where a petition to the county executive committee to meet and take action against Bailey is being signed, appears to be catching, and there is a strong probability of the county executive committee of Tarrant county being requested to get together and take up the Bailey matter.

A conversation took place in a prominent lawyer's office in Fort Worth Friday morning and Senator Bailey was the subject, the prevailing sentiment being favorable to the circulation of a petition to the county executive committee to meet and pass upon a proposition to instruct members of the legislature from Tarrant county to vote against Bailey's re-election. It is quite likely that the petition will be circulated for signatures shortly.

S.S.S. CURES CANCEROUS ULCERS

Whenever a sore or ulcer is slow in healing, and shows signs of eating into the surrounding flesh, it is safe to say that the blood is infected with cancerous germs. Some old taint or poison that has lain dormant awaiting a favorable opportunity to assert itself has found an outlet on the face, arms, legs or other part of the body, and the place has become inflamed and festered, and a chronic ulcer is the result.

to be chiefly uphill, through a region that was as strange to me as a trackless jungle in the wilds of Africa. And my heart began to perform strange antics on my ribs. I was going to the house of a gentleman who did not know of my existence, to see a girl who was his guest, to whom I had never, as the conventions go, been presented. It did not seem half so easy, now that I was well launched upon the adventure.

I stopped the cabman just as he was about to enter an iron gateway whose posts bore two great lamps, and said: "That is all right, sir. I can drive right in." "But you needn't," I said, jumping out. "Wait here."

Dr. Armstrong's residence was brilliantly lighted, and the strains of a waltz stole across the lawn cheerily. Several carriages swept past me as I followed the walk. I was arriving at a fashionable hour—it was nearly 12—and just how to effect an entrance without being thrown out as an interloper was a formidable problem, now that I had reached the house. I caught my train home, and this left no margin for explanation to an outraged host whose first impulse would very likely be to turn me over to the police.

I made a detour and studied the house, seeking a door by which I could enter without passing the unfriendly Gibraltar of a host and hostess on guard to welcome belated guests. A long conservatory filled with tropical plants gave me my opportunity. Promenaders went idly through and into another part of the house by an exit I could not see. A handsome, spectacled gentleman opened a glass door within a yard of where I stood, sniffed the air, and said to his companion, as he turned back with a shrug into the conservatory: "There's no sign of snow. It isn't Christmas weather at all."

He strolled away through the palms, and I instantly threw off my ulster and hat, cast them behind some bushes, and boldly opened the door and entered. The ball room was on the third floor, but the guests were struggling down to supper, and I took my stand at the foot of the broad staircase and glanced up carelessly, as though waiting for company and many a lovely face kissed him. It was a charming picture as I stood waiting. The very size of the gathering gave me security, and I smoothed my gloves complacently.

The spectacled gentleman whose breath of night air had given me a valuable hint, came now and stood beside me. He even put his hand on my arm with intimate friendliness. There was a sound of mirth and scampering feet in the hall above and "We're running into Cincinnati—ten minutes late," said the porter's voice; and in a moment I was in the vestibule and out, hurrying to a hotel. At the St. Botolph I ordered a carriage and broke all records changing my clothes. The time for the holidays, but that the northern express left at half-past one. There was no reason why I should not be safe at Glenarm House by my usual breakfast hour if all went well. To avoid loss of time in returning to the station I paid the hotel charge and carried my bag away with me.

name came from her chokingly. "Yes; what of him?" I inquired. "He is well on his way to California—and without you!" she spoke hurriedly, eagerly, bending toward me. "No—you don't know—you don't understand—he's here; he abandoned his California trip to Chicago; he telegraphed me to expect him here—tonight! You must go at once—at once!" "Ah, but you can't frighten me," I said, trying to realize just what a meeting with Pickering in that house might mean. "No—she looked anxiously about—"they were to arrive late, he and the Taylors; they know the Armstrongs quite well. They may come at any moment now. Please go!" "But I have only a few minutes myself—you wouldn't have me sit them out in the station down town? There are some things I have come to say, and Arthur Pickering and I are not afraid of each other!" "But you must not meet him here! Think what that would mean to me! You are very foolishly, Mr. Glenarm. I wish you would come to the house!" "But you wished to try me—you challenged me."

ALL IN THE NAME

Lyon Does Not Want Reorganized to Be Known as Republicans Special to The Telegram. SHERMAN, Texas, Sept. 21.—Cecil A. Lyon, chairman of the republican state executive committee, said of the probable outcome of the mandamus proceedings instituted by the reorganizers whose suit is now pending before the supreme court: "If the law is adhered to there is hardly any reason for them to hope to get on the state ticket. In their pleadings they say that they are a new party. If they are they should have nominated as provided by law. If they nominated that by the law says, 'No party shall be recognized as a pre-existing party.' So far as I am individually concerned I don't care whether they get on the ticket or not. The leaders perhaps might vote for themselves, but the vote they receive will be so small as to make their efforts ridiculous. My only objection is that they should not be permitted to use the name 'republican.'"

VANDALS ABOARD

Stones Thrown at Passenger Trains. Offender Jailed Special to The Telegram. TEXARKANA, Texas, Sept. 21.—For the past two or three months the Iron Mountain people have been very greatly annoyed by the acts of some unknown vandals, who at night would throw stones into their passing passenger trains out near Mandeville, seven miles north of here. On numerous occasions the offense was reported and several windows were broken, but fortunately nobody was seriously hurt. Although the company sent one of its detectives out to investigate, with the result that he arrested a negro as the offender and brought him here and lodged him in the county jail.

BUMPER CROP RAISED

One Hundred and Twenty-five Thousand Bales Raised in Ellis Special to The Telegram. WAXAHACHE, Texas, Sept. 21.—Taking the acreage into consideration, the present cotton crop of Ellis county is the greatest ever raised. The yield per acre will exceed that of the year 1900, when the country's crop was 138,000 bales. With a slight reduction in the acreage it is estimated that this year's crop will be in the neighborhood of 125,000 bales. There is every reason to believe that the county will this year take her place as the greatest cotton producing county in the south of this state, with 40,000 acres in the county that will yield

WOOD TRUST ALLEGED Price of Commodity Goes Up 50 Cents a Cord Special to The Telegram. SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 21.—It is alleged that a wood trust exists in San Antonio. Every wood dealer in the city has announced an advance of 50c a cord, effective Oct. 1. On Sept. 1 a 50c advance was also put on. This wood is advanced from 14.50 a cord to 15.00 a cord in 30 days with no appreciable decrease in supply, although there is an increase in the demand. As San Antonio uses about 20,000 cords of wood annually this puts just the many dollars in the pockets of the wood dealers.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—There is talk of the strongest kind on the Pacific on the preferred stock mentioned only a few days ago. Most of the technical positions are unchanged, showing a reaching out to the higher limit again when the stock may be met temporarily, such as 115 in A. C. P., 157 in Smelter, 52 in Colorado Fuel and Iron, 145 in United States Steel. Good buying seems to be taking place in Erie, and the information on Union Pacific is more bullish, which is to be expected, but the stock is not expected to rise to 185. According to a specialist, reading will likely continue rather wild between 150 and 157. It is expected that the railway will respond still further under the new leadership, though a reaction is much looked for in Southern Railway before the stock crosses 100, though it is expected to sell much higher. The decline in call money indicates that the stress in the money situation is of but temporary importance.

Present indications should bring about a fairly good movement in common stock later on. Brooklyn Rapid Transit is not very strong technically, and although information does not seem to correspond, it is thought that the public was doing absolutely nothing. The demand for spots not quite so strong, and exporters claim that September engagements are practically filled.

Notwithstanding the general belief that the near future will witness a relaxation in trade demand for actual cotton, the market is expected to make current operations. So the daily fluctuations seem to range in very narrow limits, with the sentiment against the market, and the consequence now seem inevitable, though the movement is yet small enough to disappoint many of the old time traders.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 21.—The cotton market opened quiet and for the greater part of the day continued stagnant. LIVERPOOL, Sept. 21.—The cotton market opened very quiet, with one point down on both near and late offerings. The market was inactive and dragged along all day, though it was steady. Spots were five points down, and futures expected about one-half point lower by the close of the day. There was no special feature.

TEXAS WEATHER CLEAR

Forecast is fair in East. Thunderstorms in West.

Texas is generally clear Friday, with but few reports of showers in the southwestern portion of the state. The Pacific coast is still experiencing low density weather, causing rain and low temperatures. The low pressure which was centered over Nebraska Thursday is slowly moving to the northeast and is resulting in cloudy weather over Minnesota, with considerable rain in the lake region. The cotton belt is again divided as concerns Friday's weather report. The east half is clear, caused by high barometer centered over Georgia. Some light showers are noted from the western half of the belt, especially over Oklahoma. Thunderstorms visited territory around Amarillo Thursday night, resulting in slightly higher temperatures. Galveston also had thunderstorms, with practically no rainfall. The forecast for Eastern Texas north, including Fort Worth and vicinity, is still fair weather. Thunderstorms are promised for West Texas Friday.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Special to The Telegram.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—It now looks as if the bullish features in wheat have been pretty well discounted by recent advances. Shorts have covered freely and new bullish features may be found. But it is hardly known just what to make of the market. Reports from various markets and shipping points indicate that farmers are holding up shipments that were delivered to the railway stations. This seems possible in Canada and the northwest, is brought about.

A leading grain man of Kansas City claims that Kansas City has the largest stock of grain in its history. Mills want the good hard winter wheat, and are paying good prices, but shorts are piling up in the elevators and are being hedged for future delivery. The fight seems to be between the producer and the European buyers. There is considerable demand reports to wheat in the stock market. In Minneapolis stock decreased 400,000 bushels for the week.

CATTLE AND HOGS

Light Run of Steers and Cows, All Selling Steady—Hogs Advance

Nickel on Outside Buying

Cattle receipts for Friday were well within the range of arrivals for the last market day of the week but one, 2,050 head being the estimate, calves also counted.

Steers

The run of steers reached ten loads, including stockers, and was all of grass quality, but containing nothing choice. The demand was good for everything showing flesh enough for the block, and the market ruled steady on a quick clearance, several loads of good grassers making $3.50.

Feeder buyers displayed activity, securing two loads around $3, with several scattering bunches, all at very steady figures.

Sales of steers:

No. Ave. Price	No. Ave. Price
26... 977 $3.00	44... 789 $2.60
25... 990 3.25	25... 1,083 3.50
23... 968 3.05

Butcher Cows

The supply of shee stuff for butcher purposes was likewise short of the market demand. Feeder buyers were not willing to pay better than steady prices for the supply, and on this basis an advance was made. Good to choice cows formed the bulk of the supply. Top prices were $2.50 for 850-pound cows, and the same price for 1,000-pound cows of 440-pound heifers. Sales of cows:

No. Ave. Price	No. Ave. Price
11... 881 $2.90	70... $2.50

Calves

The small run of bulls found no change in market quotations. Sales:

No. Ave. Price	No. Ave. Price
1... 1,050 $1.50

Hogs

The calf supply slightly exceeded the mature cattle run, and the quality was rather mixed, the supplying arriving in about equal volume from the north and south. Choice medium weight calves held the top of the market, $4.75 being paid for five loads. Common heavy calves were less active. Sales:

TEXAS WEATHER CLEAR

Forecast is fair in East. Thunderstorms in West.

Texas is generally clear Friday, with but few reports of showers in the southwestern portion of the state. The Pacific coast is still experiencing low density weather, causing rain and low temperatures. The low pressure which was centered over Nebraska Thursday is slowly moving to the northeast and is resulting in cloudy weather over Minnesota, with considerable rain in the lake region. The cotton belt is again divided as concerns Friday's weather report. The east half is clear, caused by high barometer centered over Georgia. Some light showers are noted from the western half of the belt, especially over Oklahoma. Thunderstorms visited territory around Amarillo Thursday night, resulting in slightly higher temperatures. Galveston also had thunderstorms, with practically no rainfall. The forecast for Eastern Texas north, including Fort Worth and vicinity, is still fair weather. Thunderstorms are promised for West Texas Friday.

TWO APPLICANTS FOR CLERKSHIP

Court of Civil Appeals to Resume Work Oct. 1

The court of civil appeals for the Second Judicial district at Fort Worth will resume the work of its fall term Oct. 1.

The first thing to be done is the election of a clerk to the court. The present clerk, W. C. Strong, is now ending his sixth year of service. He is an applicant for reappointment. J. A. Scott of Gainesville is an applicant for the position and has filed his application, and with that a number of endorsements. John R. Edwards of Denton has been endorsed in a number of letters received by the court, but he has not yet filed an application for the clerkship. The office is paid by fees, and it is said to be worth $2,500 to $4,000 a year.

Railroad Rumbings

H. H. Maloney has been appointed yardmaster for Armour & Co. at the North Fort Worth plant.

Officials of the Cotton Belt and of the Katy are making a tour of their lines in Texas, a trip of inspection. Fort Worth is included by either party in the announced itinerary.

Mike Sweeney, vice president of the Brazos Valley, stayed at a meeting of the Houston Belt Railway Company at the Brazos Valley Hotel in Houston by Oct. 15.

An arrangement has been effected by which the Cotton Belt and the Texas Midland will run a special train between Dallas and Paris daily, leaving Paris at 7 a. m. and returning to Dallas at 6:45 p. m. It will be one of the finest trains in the state in equipment.

The Texas and Pacific and the Abilene and Northern have reached an agreement in reference to the matter of a crossing at Abilene. The Texas and Pacific insisted that there should not be a string crossing and, at least, the matter was adjusted by the roads agreeing to divide the estimated expense, $200,000, between them, and to pay $120,000 of the total sum.

D. B. Keeler, vice president and general manager of the Denver, was in Austin Thursday, in consultation with the railroad commission about projected improvements on that road. There was nothing more in the statements made before the commission than has already been used in print here. The schedule of the improvements of the road was laid before by the commission and the explanation made that the road had been delayed by its failure to get material long since ordered, including rails, ties, etc.

PURSE RECOVERED

Child Threw Big Sum of Money Through Car Window

Special to The Telegram.

PARIS, Texas, Sept. 21.—Mrs. Danielson, a Chicago woman, who was on her way with her children to Ardmore, I. T., Monday on Frisco passenger train No. 6, lost her purse containing bank drafts amounting to $1,000, diamonds and other jewels, $25 in cash and a watch, in the hands of a young boy, who was seen by her. She had incautiously left the purse lying on the seat occupied by the boy in a Pullman car. A 3-year-old boy picked up the purse, and after toying with it awhile pitched it out of the window, childlike, to see it fall. The train had proceeded three or four miles before the loss was discovered.

It was somewhere between Cedars and Bonanza, Ark., that the purse was thrown out. The railway officials notified all of the section hands between the two points and had them search along the track. Mrs. Danielson got off the train at Jensen, Ark., to await the result of the search. The purse was finally found by the section men with the contents intact. Mrs. Danielson resumed her journey to Ardmore yesterday afternoon.

Texas Man Discovers Valuable Hog Feed in Plant

Special to The Telegram.

ALFALFA, Texas, Sept. 21.—Alfalfa has become one of the standard feeds of America, but it remains for W. J. Duffel of this place to discover that a tea from alfalfa was a much better feed, in fact, was the best hog feed that could be obtained. He has been experimenting with alfalfa tea for several months, and is perfectly satisfied with the results, claiming it is without a superior as a hog feed. His experiments have interested the officials in charge of the state experiment station at College Station and they are now giving it a thorough trial. Mr. Duffel has just shipped a four month old pig to a gentleman in Jefferson that weighed 185 pounds and was raised entirely on alfalfa tea.
