New York Convention Decides to Endorse Bryan... Special to The Telegram. YONKERS, N. Y., Sept. 25.—W. Erwin, who owns a half interest in a barber shop here, is the victim of a peculiar affliction. White working at his barber chair he noticed that one of his eyes persisted in closing, and the next morning the eye was entirely closed, but there was no pain. Erwin can pull the lids apart and see as well as ever, but there appears to be total paralysis of the muscles that control the lids, and when released they immediately close.

Leaders Have Difficult Time Untangling Situation—May Nominate by Acclamation

By Associated Press. SARATOGA, Sept. 25.—Republican leaders who were in conference at 3 o'clock this morning were among the first to appear today and by 8 o'clock had again taken hold of the tangled political situation with the intention of bringing about an understanding before the Republican state convention was ready for balloting today. Among confident predictions made was that the convention would name a ticket and conclude its business today. There will be two sessions. At the first permanent organization will be perfected. Chairman W. W. Armstrong of Rochester will deliver his address and probably the platform will be cut out of straw.

Hearst Forbids Indorsement of Nebraska by Democrats... BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 25.—After spending several hours at work upon the platform to be adopted at today's convention, W. Bourke Cockran, chairman of the committee on platforms, declared he could not predict what the platform would be, but he asserted it would be a good one. Mr. Hearst has forbidden any indorsement of W. J. Bryan as the candidate in 1908. Mr. Cockran was chosen chairman of the committee at a meeting held late this afternoon. It had been known he was picked by Mr. Murphy for the place and that he would be elected without serious opposition.

CAUGHT IN QUICKSAND

Farmer and Team Narrowly Escape Death While Crossing Stream... PARIS, Texas, Sept. 25.—While C. P. Stubblefield, a farmer near Chilcota, was trying to cross Red river from the territory side, opposite Garrett's bluff, Thursday, the wagon and team were caught in quicksand. The river was up, the water covering the sandbar. It was necessary to drive fifty yards in the water to reach the ferryboat landing. When he had driven about half way to the ferryboat the wagon and team sank in the quicksand nearly out of sight. It required several hours of hard work, with the assistance of the ferryman, to save them.

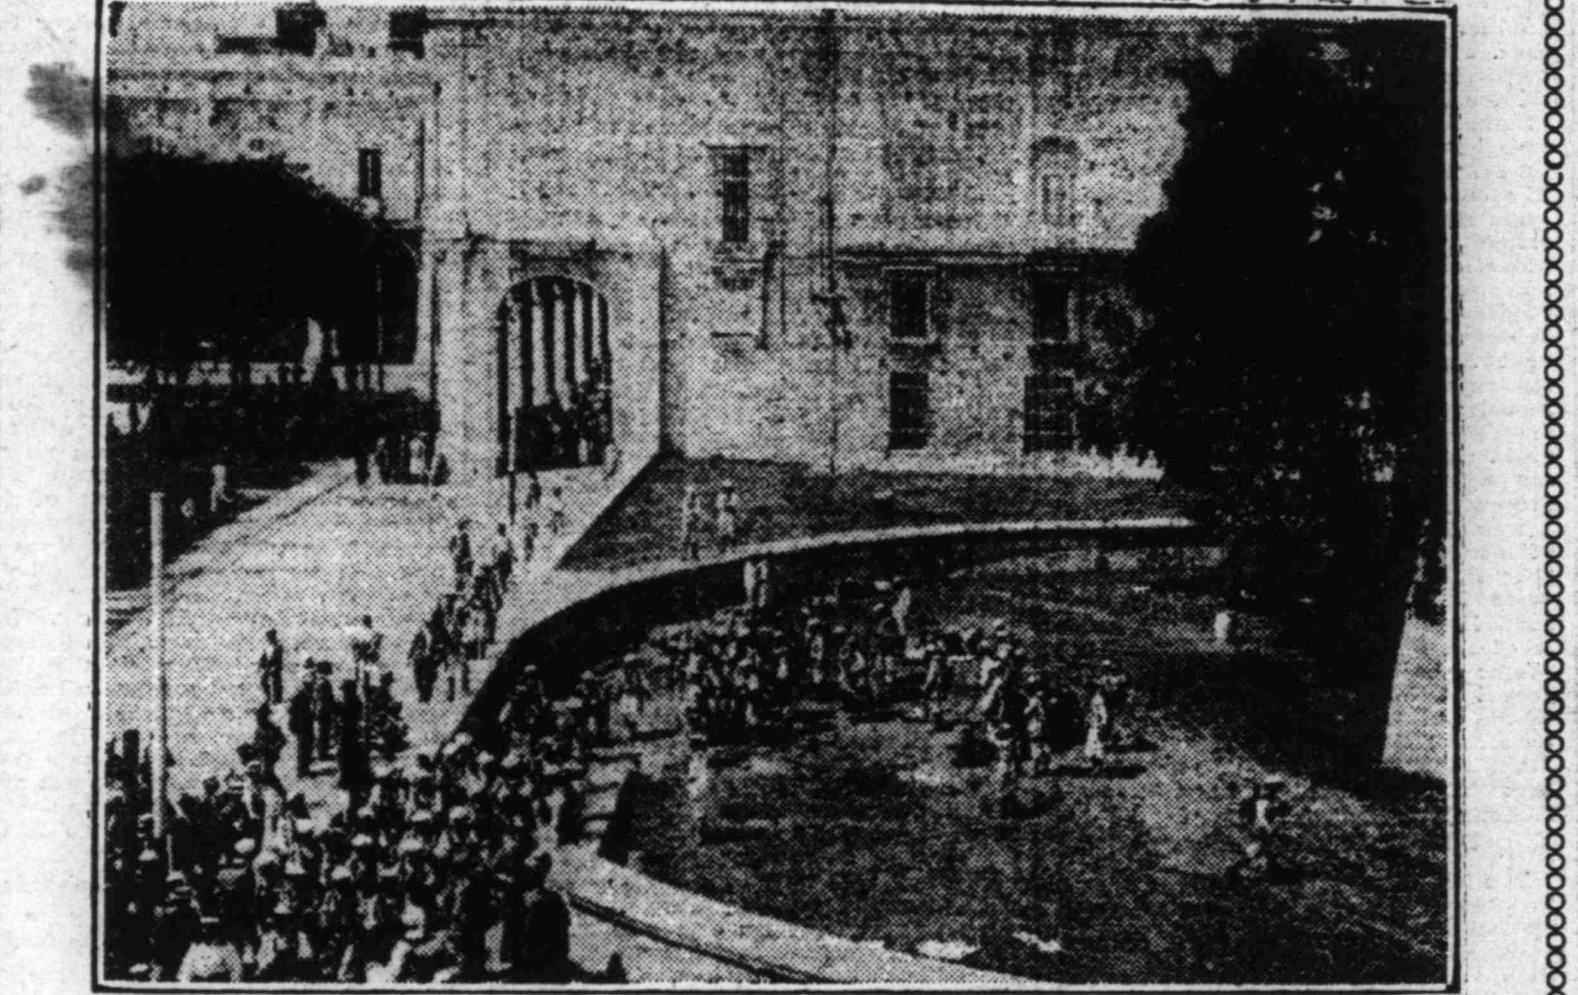

SHOT BY GIRL WHOSE BROTHER WAS NURSING THRU SICKNESS

'Miss Spears' brother was in an adjoining room, sick, and Bough had come over to nurse him and had gone into the kitchen to wash some dishes. The girl entered the kitchen and seemed to be concealing something in the folds of her dress. Bough asked what it was, but she made no answer. He then caught her by the arm and she quickly responded by shooting him. The young woman is mentally unbalanced and is now confined in the county jail in Linden.

COUNTY OFFICERS ARE INDICTED

Coleman County Grand Jury Springs Sensation... COLEMAN, N. Y., Sept. 25.—The grand jury in session here has indicted the county judge, sheriff and county commissioners of Coleman county, on a charge of misapplying the county funds. The case was charged by a candidate for county judge that gross irregularities existed in the county government. When district court convened a few days ago the district judge directed the grand jury to look into the matter and find bills against all who had violated the law. As a result of the investigation indictments have been returned against the county commissioners for misapplication of public funds, against the sheriff for receiving misapplied funds, and against the county judge for alleged charging of illegal fees. It is charged that the commissioners allowed the sheriff $45 per month for a jail guard, when it is alleged, no jail guard was employed; also that the sheriff was allowed excessive fees for feeding prisoners. As companion cases the sheriff was indicted for receiving the misapplied funds. The charges against the commissioners and sheriff are punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary, if sustained. The case against the county judge is a misdemeanor.

TROOPS READY FOR SERVICE

Hundreds of Marines Ordered to Cuban Shoals... NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Orders were received yesterday by Captain Reeder, acting commandant of the navy yard, to send a battalion of marines from the barracks and receiving shipping yard to League Island, where they will board the armored cruiser Tennessee to go to Cuba. One hundred and eighty blue-jackets were sent at 8 o'clock this evening to League Island. Two hundred and eighty marines will be sent to Philadelphia today.

ROOSEVELT TO KNIFE OCTOPUS

Dissolution of Standard Oil Trust Aimed At... WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Milton D. Purdy, assistant to the attorney general, and who has been placed in charge of the government prosecution of the Standard Oil Company, has returned to Washington from a vacation spent in Europe. Attorney General Moody will be back the latter part of this week, then Special Assistant Attorney General C. B. Morrison of Chicago and F. B. Kellogg of St. Paul will be summoned to Washington and an unremitting campaign against the oil octopus will be outlined. The pending criminal cases against the Standard Oil Company at Jameson, N. Y., where the government indictments have been returned or rebates, are secondary in importance to a contemplated suit for dissolution of the Standard Oil Company which will be brought this fall. President Roosevelt has given the word to prosecute the petroleum corporation with every weapon to be found in the statutes. The keenest blade of all is the Sherman anti-trust law, which prohibits combination in restraint of trade, and imposes dissolution of such combination as a penalty. If the government wins the rebate suit the judges will have it in their power to impose fines of more than $100,000,000.

DEATH A MYSTERY

Postmaster Found With Gunshot Wound in Stomach... EASTLAND, Texas, Sept. 25.—B. F. Kelly, about 30 years of age, and postmaster here, is dead under peculiar circumstances. He was found in an outhouse with a large hole in the pit of his stomach, where the entire charge of one barrel of a shotgun had entered. His clothes had ignited from the shot and were burning when discovered.

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 25.—Senator Bailey's reply to the circular issued by the Houston Good Government Club is the chief topic of interest here today. Opponents say it is merely a resuscitation of views made public in his speech in the senate replying to the Cosmopolitan.

ment had been reiterated by the state convention these men now appeal to the legislature to overrule the decision of the Democratic voters. They do not expect to prevent my re-election or to discredit me in Texas, where all of the facts and circumstances are known, but they hope to injure me in the estimation of the country at large and to impair my usefulness in the senate.

The Sullivan Interview
The first step in this campaign of malevolence and detraction was to have a purported interview with Hon. Roger Sullivan of Illinois assailing me sent broadcast over the country.

Mr. Sullivan promptly denounced that interview as a falsehood made out of whole cloth. The next step was to circulate the story that the Tennessee properties for which I was the attorney belonged to the Standard Oil Company, and they sought to impose this falsehood upon the fair-minded and justice-loving Democrats of Texas. Some of the men who are now circulating that story know, and all of them could have learned with very little inquiry that the Standard Oil Company has no interest in or connection with those properties, and that they are owned by H. C. Pierce and J. C. Van Blarcom, W. H. Thompson and many other leading business men of St. Louis. The municipality of Nashville itself, in order to provide for people additional and competing railroad facilities, had subscribed for $1,000,000 of the stock of the railroad. The vice president of the railroad was Mr. Goltra, who is not only a prominent business man of St. Louis, but a close personal friend of Mr. Bryan. In fact, Mr. Goltra entertained Mr. Bryan on his yacht in the harbor of New York while Mr. Bryan was waiting for the great reception which was tendered him there on the 30th of August.

That $13,000,000 The railroad had passed through one of the most important and high-profile cases in my life. I was called into the case. I accepted the employment and performed exactly the same kind of service that would have been expected of any other reputable lawyer. The statement so industriously circulated by some that I "took $13,000,000 worth of securities in my pockets to do with them as I pleased" is little less than a ridiculous lie. I did not have $13,000,000 worth of securities in my pockets. Every dollar worth of the bonds of that railroad company were pledged for its indebtedness and were in the hands of those who held them from enforcing their liens and sacrificing the securities of the railroad. If I succeeded in doing this it is a matter of great satisfaction to me, as it was to my clients. I not only managed the securities committed to my charge in a way to save my clients a large sum of money, but also managed it in a way that gave about $1,000,000 worth of three important and competing railroad lines where before it had suffered from the grasp of the property of the people of that city. I justified their approval of the disposition which I made of the railroad by public meetings and speeches. It would be difficult to convince them that I had delivered them over to the apollonian of a gigantic monopoly.

Defends "Oil" Employment
The third step in the process was to pretend that the testimony given by Mr. Pierce disclosed a secret employment of me in connection with these properties. Some of the very men engaged in this movement have been complaining for months that I was the attorney of the properties, and they knew all about it years ago. The employment was a perfectly proper one and such as any reputable lawyer could have undertaken without the slightest hesitation. Not only that, but the newspapers of this state, together with those of St. Louis, have contained repeated references to those properties and to my connection with them. When I first went to Nashville to look over the properties, the newspapers of that city contained notices of my presence there and of the purpose which brought me there. In the summer and fall I was called to St. Louis four or five different times and on each occasion the St. Louis papers made mention of the fact that I was there to confer with those interested in the Tennessee properties. The Tennessee papers contained statements of the same kind, as appears by the following item printed in a Dallas paper July 8, 1901: "Nashville, Tenn., July 7.—Senator J. W. Bailey of Texas is spending a few days in Nashville and today stated that he had been here to inspect the properties of St. Louis and New York capitalists which own the Tennessee Central Railroad. The St. Louis papers interested in the syndicate are H. C. Pierce of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, D. R. Francis, Adolphus Busch of the St. Louis Brewery and other members of the St. Louis Log Cabin club. Senator Bailey stated tonight that he was representing the syndicate and making recommendations on things necessary in the Tennessee Central. He is in company with President J. C. Van Blarcom and announced that the Tennessee Central would at once liquidate all its indebtedness, rebuild its present lines, of which there are 365 miles, and extend the several branches to about 550 miles of new road. Senator Bailey will go from here to New York to attend the meeting of the stockholders, at which money will be appropriated for the improvement he recommends."

Defends His Record
Although I have been pursued with a bitterness unparalleled in the political history of this state, the most reckless and malicious of my enemies has never ventured to tell the people of Texas where I have been employed, or to bid me to give up my office or to resign my position as a senator. I shall continue to give up as I have given—my time to my private business when my duties are required by my public duties. I have never brought my client in my life who has attempted to influence my official actions, and I shall continue to do so. My important affairs have too much confidence in my integrity to suppose for a moment that I would be influenced by a senator. Of course, I know there are men of low character and intellect who would be glad to bid the bidding of any man or corporation who might employ their services and pay them a fee, but such men seldom obtain important employment as lawyers, and such men can never secure an election as senator from the state of Texas. The upright and high-minded lawyer gives to his clients the best of his legal learning and ability, but he does not let them drive him from his presence. I do not presume to think that in retaining him as a lawyer he had secured the right to bid me to give up my office or to resign my position as a senator. Since the foundation of this republic no great lawyer has ever commanded clients, have practiced their profession without scruple or without honor. Some great lawyers have not practiced law while in the public service because they have been men of independent mind and high character. Some great lawyers have not practiced law while in the public service because they have been men of independent mind and high character. Some great lawyers have not practiced law while in the public service because they have been men of independent mind and high character.

Houston Good Government Club
I have carefully read the circular issued by the Good Government Club of Houston, and I am impressed when reading it with the striking similarity between it and the Cosmopolitan Magazine article. In fact, it appears to be a special effort to copy that scurrilous and infamous attack on me. It would seem that when men set themselves up as the champions of good government and correct living, they would be scrupulously careful to tell the truth as they see it in any way. But I have seldom seen a formal document which contained more gross misrepresentations than are in this circular. In the first place, extracts from the report of the country with reference to the membership of the club. In the communication sent from Houston to the St. Louis Republic, it was stated that the membership of the club of Sept. 21 the organization is described as "The Harris County Good Government Club, of which H. F. Ring is the president, with 1,000 members. Of course it might be that the statement as to the membership of that club was a falsehood of the St. Louis Republic reporter, but as exactly the same misstatement appears in the New York Cosmopolitan, it is not probable how such articles are circulated have a right to believe that the men who are responsible for the publication are also responsible for the circulation. After stating the membership of the club as 1,000 in the St. Louis Republic of Friday, it was stated in a Texas paper son why it should be concealed. The objection to my employment as attorney for these properties must proceed from the fact that the man in public office has no right to pursue any private business; and such a doctrine, if applied to men in public office, would reduce the public life of this country to a point where only rich men or rascals could afford to accept an office. It is found that my time and strength would not permit me to serve as a senator and to practice law at the same time. I would have abandoned the law without the slightest hesitation, because I have always believed and acted upon the belief that the public service holds the highest claim upon every man who undertakes any constant business. My duty to my clients and my duty to my constituents, I would have declined all employment as a lawyer, because either has been a constant in my attendance on the sessions of the house and the senate during my fifteen years in congress as any man who has served with me through that period. Certainly, never in the history of this state has there been a public duty in the pursuit of my private duties which I have neglected. The record will also show that during my fifteen years—first in the house and then in the senate—I have spoken and acted there on many important questions, and my most malignant enemy cannot point to single speech or a vote in the interest of any individual or in the interest of my constituents. Certainly no man could ask for a higher proof than this that my private business has never influenced my official conduct.

Denies Selling Road
The first criticism against my business dealings is with reference to my attorneyship for the Hon. John H. Kirby and the Kirby Lumber Company, which, in substance, merely a restatement of the same matter from the Cosmopolitan Magazine. The Cosmopolitan Magazine article is not, however, as I recall it, include the statement now made for the first time in this circular, that I helped Mr. Kirby sell an "East Texas railroad to the Santa Fe system." This is in addition and it seems strange that such an admission should have been made by any man at Houston, because all the Houston people who know anything about Mr. Kirby's affairs know that the railroad which he built and sold to the Santa Fe system was built and sold before I had any connection with Kirby. I have never had any connection with Mr. Kirby. So far from having helped Mr. Kirby sell anything to the Santa Fe system no employment of mine has ever brought me in contact with the officers of that railroad. I do not even know the president of it and I have never discussed a business proposition of any kind with any officer, agent or attorney of it.

Says Circular Full of Falsehoods
It is, however, unnecessary to occupy space in pointing out the various falsehoods of this circular, because the attack is based entirely upon misstatements which were made on June 27. As that speech was printed in full by some and in extended synopsis by all the daily papers in Texas thirty days before the democratic primaries, the voters of this state were fully advised of what I had said and done. I would seem to waste my time to enter into an argument with these creatures on that point. Not only was that speech before the voters when they nominated me at their primaries, but it was before the delegates to the state convention who repeated the people's indorsement, and to contend that it disqualifies me for a seat in the senate is to insult the patriotism, intelligence and integrity of the voters of Texas.

Letter from Pierce
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 20.—Hon. J. W. Bailey, Gainesville, Texas.—Dear Sir: In view of the attacks being made upon you with reference to the membership of the Water-Pierce Oil Company in Texas, I think it due to you that I should say that when I sought your assistance in that matter I represented to you that if permitted to continue its business in Texas, the new company would be an independent enterprise and absolutely free from the ownership or control of the Standard Oil Company. Yours very truly, H. C. PIERCE

Will Continue Course
Certainly, if I believed at the time of the redemption of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company into Texas, that was not connected with the Standard Oil Company, it could not have been improper for me, while still believing that, to accept legitimate professional employment from Mr. Pierce and the other gentlemen interested in the Tennessee properties. I have given to the service of the people of Texas fifteen of the best years of my life, and in all that long time I have been actuated by the single purpose of promoting their happiness and their welfare. I would like to continue in their confidence and affection, but I will not suffer even them to deny me the right to provide, in my own time and in a proper way, for my family and my family in our old age. Wholly apart from the question of a competence, I will never admit that I am in any way connected with the Standard Oil Company. HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 26.—An anti-Bailey petition was circulated here yesterday and signers were readily secured. The petition alleges that the people had a right to protest against men of measure who are doing so much detriment to their interests or who give aid and succor to the enemies of the people. The petition set forth that Senator Bailey is aiding the trusts and corporations, was acting against the interests of the people, and the county precinct chairmen were asked to call mass meetings or conventions and to have a representative in the legislature might be instructed to vote against Senator Bailey's re-election. The petition was signed by fifty-four democrats, including several county officials and the mayor of Bryan.

CLARENDOON, Texas, Sept. 26.—Sheriff Patman has returned from Henrietta with Leslie Saunders, a young man, formerly of this county, in custody, on a very serious charge. He found Saunders working as a telegraph operator, and brought him here and placed him in jail. Some two weeks ago S. L. Adamson of Rowe came to town and filed complaint against Saunders, alleging he had seduced his daughter, a well-to-do, well-known woman, and was a poisoned candy. The candy is said to have been sent from Bowie, where Saunders was at work at the time, and was accompanied by a letter informing the girl the package had been sent and instructing her to eat it all herself and not give any of it away. Tasting the candy and finding it bitter, the young lady did not eat it, but younger brother, who was not so particular, ate several pieces, and was so sick soon after that a physician had to be called in to save his life. An analysis of the remainder showed it to be heavily impregnated with strychnine. The case presents several peculiar features. Saunders stoutly denies guilt.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 26.—Authorities have established positively that General Trepoff died of cocaine poisoning. The drug was bought Aug. 30 in the suburb of St. Petersburg, between Viborg and St. Petersburg, by an alleged physician, who purchased fifteen grams. Traces of cocaine, sufficient to cause death, were found in the intestines of General Trepoff, according to the analysts which was returned today. In the kitchen of General Trepoff's house was found a pamphlet treating on cocaine and how to administer it. These discoveries show that the terrorists are making good their threat to use poison instead of the bomb or the knife made immediately following the government's announcement of a policy of repression.

CLARENDOON, Texas, Sept. 26.—Sheriff Patman has returned from Henrietta with Leslie Saunders, a young man, formerly of this county, in custody, on a very serious charge. He found Saunders working as a telegraph operator, and brought him here and placed him in jail. Some two weeks ago S. L. Adamson of Rowe came to town and filed complaint against Saunders, alleging he had seduced his daughter, a well-to-do, well-known woman, and was a poisoned candy. The candy is said to have been sent from Bowie, where Saunders was at work at the time, and was accompanied by a letter informing the girl the package had been sent and instructing her to eat it all herself and not give any of it away. Tasting the candy and finding it bitter, the young lady did not eat it, but younger brother, who was not so particular, ate several pieces, and was so sick soon after that a physician had to be called in to save his life. An analysis of the remainder showed it to be heavily impregnated with strychnine. The case presents several peculiar features. Saunders stoutly denies guilt.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 26.—Authorities have established positively that General Trepoff died of cocaine poisoning. The drug was bought Aug. 30 in the suburb of St. Petersburg, between Viborg and St. Petersburg, by an alleged physician, who purchased fifteen grams. Traces of cocaine, sufficient to cause death, were found in the intestines of General Trepoff, according to the analysts which was returned today. In the kitchen of General Trepoff's house was found a pamphlet treating on cocaine and how to administer it. These discoveries show that the terrorists are making good their threat to use poison instead of the bomb or the knife made immediately following the government's announcement of a policy of repression.

More Beer, Less Drunkenness Positive Proof That Beer is a Remedy to Temperance. An interesting and practical lesson may be drawn by our people from the increased consumption of beer in this country and a corresponding decrease in drunkenness. Sincere temperance workers are urged to differentiate between the moderate use of beer and the excessive use of liquor. The substitution of beer for stronger liquors as the real means of temperance and sobriety. In some of the states where the progressive temperance work is strongest we find the people are considering a law that makes the license much less for selling beer than for selling liquor. This shows the tendency of the temperance movement to favor the moderate use of beer. The recent report of the Internal Revenue department shows 160,000,000 more gallons of beer drunk than in any previous year. Statistics are quoted showing a decrease in drunkenness in the city that is very satisfactory to those who are not yet earnest, but practicing the temperance habit. As a distinct aid to temperance, well as a wholesome refreshment, Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer is recommended. One reason for its great popularity is the fact that doctors and scientists are unanimous in their praise. It is pure, light, and refreshing. It is the most nutritious beer produced in the world. It is the only day that retains its original green color and its original freshness. My heart was so bad I was afraid to lie down at night, and I suffered terribly with female complaint. I have now taken $1.00 worth of Cardui and 50 cents worth of Theodor's Black-Draught, and have no more trouble with my heart. My periods are regular, my other female troubles are gone, and I sleep like a 16-year old girl." Cardui is a most valuable remedy for most women's diseases. Try it.

Think, Ladies, whether you ought not to take better care of your health, before it is too late and the dragon of disease has left you nothing but the husk of your former vitality and beauty. You should understand that womanly diseases can nearly always be cured—that they lead to dangerous complications if neglected. A reliable, scientific treatment, for this condition, is

PALMA TO RETIRE

American Troops Alone Can Insure Peace on Island. Congress to Meet

HAVANA, Cuba, Sept. 26.—Cuba is today practically without a government and the landing of American forces to restore order in the island is believed to be the necessary outcome. The moderate or government party declared to abdicate everything in the nature of a national provincial and municipal government and thus force the hands of the American peace commissioners, and so compel the United States to intervene for a second time in Cuba.

Palma to Resign
Government officials admit that they prefer American intervention to seeing the liberal party in power. President Palma, at a special session of congress called for Friday, will formally present his resignation himself and Vice President Mendez Capote, but it is not certain that a quorum will be present, as the moderates decided yesterday that they will not have any further relations with the government of Cuba, also alleged an unfair treatment at the hands of the American commissioners.

Movement to Have Him Make Senatorial Race Active
CORNICANA, Texas, Sept. 26.—The movement to bring out former Senator Roger Q. Mills as a candidate for United States senator against Joseph W. Bailey is attracting a great deal of attention here. Colonel Mills is said to look upon the suggestion with disapproval, but his friends believe, however, that he would readily accept the nomination if it were tendered him by the state legislature when it meets in January. He is prosperous and happy, but it is believed he often sighs for a return of the old stirring political life.

QUARREL OVER ICE

Drivers Cause Arrest of Saloon Proprietor
Wednesday morning R. T. Smith and Fred Pearl, driving an ice wagon for Willford, went to Moore and Nineteenth streets to deliver some ice to John Cropper, who conducts a saloon at that place. A quarrel started about the alleged failure of the icemen to deliver some ice yesterday when it was ordered, as Cropper alleged, and they swear Cropper tried to argue his side of the question with a pistol. They did not stop for the argument, but declared Cropper took a shot at each of the two men. They complained to the police and Officer Loyd arrested Cropper.

Big Crowd of Depositors Try to Get Hold of Man Who Caused Losses

Special to The Telegram.
CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Stensland pleaded guilty in court this afternoon upon charges growing out of the wrecked bank. He was given an indeterminate sentence with a maximum of ten years in one count. On the second count he was charged with altering and forging checks. He was fined $120.

A howling mob of two thousand men, among them Poles and Scandinavians, depositors in Stensland's bank, greeted the defaulting banker at the depot this morning. Stensland was hustled by a detective thru a rear door of the depot into a freight elevator and into a carriage. The crowd located the party below the cab. The foreigners shouted scolding epithets and surrounded the vehicles, which were guarded by a score of officers. Fearing violence the detectives picked up the banker and threw him bodily into the cab. Stensland was ashy pale and agitated.

Stensland Indignant
Stensland was indignant at his treatment in New York. He considered himself treated as a common felon, compelled to undergo the "degrading" process of the Bertillon system, and generally abused.

Stensland placed the blame on Herlihy and former Teller Praxen and their partner, Sylvester Kitutsky, who committed suicide today, hanging himself in a barn over the loss of $400 in the Stensland bank failure.

J. B. Markham Convicted of Robbing Metropolitan Bar

J. B. Markham, whose trial for assault to rob was begun in the Seventeenth district court Tuesday, was convicted and his punishment assessed at five years in the penitentiary, the jury bringing in their verdict Tuesday afternoon.

Markham went on the stand in his own defense and testified that he was not at the saloon on the night the alleged attempt was made and denied that he was dressed as described by the state's witnesses, saying he wore a white coat and straw hat on that night instead of a black coat and black hat as testified by the state's witnesses. Other witnesses of the defense testified that Markham wore a white coat and straw hat on the night of the robbery.

GRAYSON TITLES BADLY TANGLED

$2,000,000 Worth of Property Involved in Litigation

WHITESBORO, Texas, Sept. 26.—Mrs. J. L. Cozens of Lawton, Okla., is one of six heirs who are to receive an estate in Grayson and Cooke counties, Texas, valued at over $2,000,000. The number of acres of land in the big estate has not yet been ascertained, owing to the vagueness of titles thus far in the investigation, but it is known that a portion of the territory of Whitesboro is involved. The will of R. H. Hollis, the grandfather of Mrs. Cozens, who came to Texas from Virginia in the early sixties, has been found on the records of Grayson county, having been filed many years ago. This will provided the estate should not be segregated to the heirs until after the death of his wife. Recently the purchaser of a town lot in Whitesboro made an examination of the title and discovered that it remained in Hollis or his heirs. This brought to light the fact that nearly all of the entire original estate of Hol-

Mr. Hampton was a member in good standing in three local lodges at the time of his death, the Woodmen of the World, Knights of Honor and the American Guild, also the Order of Railroad Engineers. He had been in poor health for the last five years, prior to which time he had served for a number of years as engineer on the Fort Worth and Denver City railroad. Mr. Hampton was well known in this city, having been a resident for over twenty years.

Funeral services over the remains of J. W. Dickinson, who died Tuesday morning at the home of his son, C. I. Dickinson, corner Lake and Cooper streets, were held Wednesday afternoon from St. Andrew's Parish house. The body will be shipped to Temple, Texas, Mr. Dickinson's former home, for interment.

GRAYSON TITLES BADLY TANGLED

$2,000,000 Worth of Property Involved in Litigation

Special to The Telegram.
WHITESBORO, Texas, Sept. 26.—Mrs. J. L. Cozens of Lawton, Okla., is one of six heirs who are to receive an estate in Grayson and Cooke counties, Texas, valued at over $2,000,000. The number of acres of land in the big estate has not yet been ascertained, owing to the vagueness of titles thus far in the investigation, but it is known that a portion of the territory of Whitesboro is involved. The will of R. H. Hollis, the grandfather of Mrs. Cozens, who came to Texas from Virginia in the early sixties, has been found on the records of Grayson county, having been filed many years ago. This will provided the estate should not be segregated to the heirs until after the death of his wife. Recently the purchaser of a town lot in Whitesboro made an examination of the title and discovered that it remained in Hollis or his heirs. This brought to light the fact that nearly all of the entire original estate of Hol-

THE SHAME OF TEXAS

Houston has an organization known as the Harris County Good Government Club that has just issued an address to the people of the state of Texas with Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey as its subject. The address opens up in the following terse and vigorous manner:

Joseph W. Bailey, by his own admissions, is a traitor senator. He tells the people of Texas that he has been hounded by scandal mongers, and he talks of the malice of his personal enemies. We are not personal enemies of Mr. Bailey, and nothing has ever occurred to make us such. Few, if any, of us are even acquainted with him. Our estimate of Mr. Bailey's character is based solely, not on what others say of him, but on what he says of himself. By his own word of mouth we denounce him as a self-confessed traitor to the people. We simply ask that he be judged by his own utterances.

All over this broad state there are mutterings of disapproval and disgust at the idea of returning Mr. Bailey to the United States senate. Few, if any, in private conversation attempt to defend him. From our observation and inquiries we firmly believe that an overwhelming majority of the people who have read Mr. Bailey's speech, delivered June 27 in the United States senate, in defense of the charges against him, agree with us that he can no longer represent the people of Texas. If any one doubts this, let him inquire among his friends and acquaintances who have read that speech and find out what they privately think of Mr. Bailey.

Speaking of Senator Bailey's contention that he is privileged to engage in the practice of law while serving as United States senator, the address says:

During his brilliant career in congress Mr. Bailey has become a wealthy man, as wealth is estimated in Texas. But that is not the point. A statesman may often acquire wealth by fair means. How has he acquired his? He does not deny the statements that he made $225,000 of it in negotiating, as a lawyer, deals with Wall street magnates. When he made his speech June 27 Mr. Bailey attempted no denial or explanation of this episode, although it had already been called to public attention in the May number of the Cosmopolitan Magazine. Neither Mr. Bailey nor his friends can face a Texas audience and explain Mr. Bailey's part in this transaction to the satisfaction of an honest minded man.

When a prominent Texas financier desired to realize on some of his investments to whom did he go? To a broker in New York? Oh, no! Did he himself go to Harriman or Ryan, or to any other great railroad operator and endeavor to interest them in the matter without the aid of a United States senator? No. He went to Joseph W. Bailey, who posed as a disinterested friend of the people. He went to a man whose vote and influence in the senate could largely assist in the making or in the marrying of the very men to whom he was trying to sell—men who are a part of "The System," powerful financiers who fatten on special privilege, or extortion, or prices paid by the postal department for hauling the mails, on rebates, on every species of monopoly created and maintained by governmental aid. Men of this class looked with favor upon an opportunity to place Mr. Bailey under obligations to them. They were only too glad of the chance to help Mr. Bailey earn his fee, his lawyer's fee of $225,000, for assisting in the sale of some $2,000,000 worth of property. Was Mr. Bailey paid $225,000 for his services as a lawyer, or was it paid for his influence as a United States senator? Does Mr. Bailey claim that he has a right to sell this influence, which the people who put him in the senate have given him, and collect pay for it under the form of enormous lawyer's fees?

Concerning the defense of himself Senator Bailey offered in the United States senate, the address says:

In Mr. Bailey's speech in the senate on June 27, which was eagerly anticipated, the people who have so honored him had a right to look for a positive denial. They found what? A confession, with a lame attempt at an avoidance. Such being the case, what matter if he who made the charges, or the motives which prompted them, why waste his words in abuse of Mr. Hearst and the Cosmopolitan magazine? Why out of his way to defend the methods of the late senator Gorman? Mr. Bailey said he was asked to intercede in 1906, in behalf of the Waters-Pierce Oil company, which had been convicted of violating the anti-trust laws of Texas. His "intercession" was successful, and the Waters-Pierce Oil company, after paying a nominal fine and changing its coat, was permitted to resume operations in Texas. Who sent Mr. Bailey to Texas to "intercede" for the Standard Oil company before the department of state at Austin? Who made it enough of an object to induce a famous United States senator to travel from Washington to Texas and bring to bear upon the secretary of state the tremendous force of his personal and political influence? In his speech he claims that he did not know that the Waters-Pierce Oil company was a branch of the Standard Oil. He says he interceded "upon the distinct and positive assurance that the company was an independent one and not controlled by any trust." In other words, not controlled by the Standard Oil company. That statement may go in the United States senate, but will Mr. Bailey have the face to stand before a Texas audience and tell them that he really believed what he claims to have been assured? From whom did he get this assurance? Was it from his friend, Congressman Joe Sibley of Pennsylvania, the openly avowed representative of Standard Oil?

In the matter of Senator Bailey being the nominee of the democratic party for renomination, the address says:

Mr. Bailey is not the nominee of the democracy of Texas. He was never legally declared such. The negative of the resolution endorsing him for the senatorship at the Dallas convention was never put to a vote; and when the chairman, without warrant of parliamentary law declared it carried, a vast howl of disapproval swept over that vast assembly. But, aside from this, the legislature alone can elect the United States senator, and under the circumstances of this case, its members are neither morally nor legally bound by the failure of any one to run against Mr. Bailey in the primaries. It will be their duty to heed the wishes of the people, and the people can and will yet speak to them in no uncertain terms.

And these sentiments are rapidly growing all over the great state of Texas. Senator Bailey says if the people do not like the way he conducts the office of United States senator, they should elect some one else. And that is just exactly what the next legislature should proceed to do.

OUTSIDE ESTIMATES OF BAILEY

The Telegram has been printing a considerable number of extracts from Texas newspapers concerning Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey during the past few days, but the Texas papers are not the only ones that are paying their respects to the "peerless one." The St. Louis Post-Dispatch says:

Senator Bailey will not talk about his recently uncovered connection with H. Clay Pierce's Tennessee properties—he only snorts. In the Grout case Mr. Pierce testified that after his company was reorganized and reinstated in the state of Texas with the efficient aid of Senator Bailey, he turned over to the senator the control of Tennessee properties worth $13,000,000 to manage as he pleased.

Senator Bailey explains that all of this was legitimate legal work. The obtaining for a company ousted from a state as a monopoly guilty of illegal practices, of a new license on a reorganization which proved to be a sham and which a slight inquiry would have shown to be a sham, may be legitimate legal work, but it strains the old-fashioned code of legitimacy. It required not only legal advice, which could easily have been obtained without going to a United States senator, but political influence. That the senator was greatly appreciated by Mr. Pierce and that he highly valued Mr. Bailey's connection with his company as a legal and business adviser is indicated by his placing millions of dollars' worth of property in his hands.

In his senate speech on this subject, in which, by the way, he did not mention the Tennessee work for Mr. Pierce, Senator Bailey frankly admitted that he wanted wealth and did not propose to live or die a poor man. He has the wealth, but at what a cost? He has already impaired his influence and handicapped his talents in public life. How far his great talents for public service will be smothered by legal work for a lawless monopoly time and his own future conduct will determine.

The New Orleans States thinks something more than platitudes will be required of Bailey now. It says:

It will hardly do for the Texas senator to fall back on the well-worn plea that he was merely serving the oil company as an attorney, because he has denied most emphatically and specifically that he has ever been employed by the company in such a capacity. Aside from this it is a well-known fact that only two or three years ago his people engaged in a bitter struggle to drive the oil monopoly out of their state, and it is the same monopoly that has turned over to Senator Bailey the management of interests valued at $13,000,000, together with his power of attorney. All things considered this has been a year pregnant with embarrassment for the servants of the predatory combines. Events have conspired to thrust them into the limelight in spite of their studious efforts to keep out of it.

Of course, the republican press of the country is pleased with the developments of the situation. The St. Louis Globe-Democrat says:

If we do not misunderstand the lawyers of the Stone and Bailey sort, their contention is that they are such great lawyers as to be in constant demand on all sides of all questions; that they are capable of appearing on both sides of great causes, representing the people, part of the time, the enemies of the people another part of the time, and themselves all of the time; that their superior talents entitle them to take fees from the people who make the laws and fees from the corporations which violate them, and that these high talents make it possible for them to earn their fees from both sides. None of the greatest lawyers of congress ever felt himself equal to such dual performances.

And the Chicago Record-Herald says: Et tu, Bailey!

THE SHAME OF TEXAS

While the press of the state is being filled with what it is pleased to term the shame of Texas, The Telegram cannot refrain from adding another chapter to the political lore that has already been given to the public. In the telegraphic news columns of The Telegram a few days ago there appeared the following:

CHILDREN PICK COTTON

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, Sept. 22.—Five children of J. B. Aday, a farmer living near the city, are picking on an average one bale of cotton a day. Yesterday they made their highest record by picking 1,662 pounds. The amount picked by each is shown as follows: Felix, age 17, 401 pounds; Sam P., age 15, 402 pounds; May, age 13, 379 pounds; Ross, age 11, 301 pounds; Wheeler, age 9, 179 pounds.

Citizens of Texas, there is the real, burning shame of your great and glorious state—the employment of the children of Texas in the cotton-patches when they should be in the school room, learning those things so necessary to qualify them for their future duties and responsibilities as citizens of Texas.

Farmer Aday is not picked out as an object lesson by The Telegram, for he is no doubt proud of the industry of his children, who can gather so much cotton per day. There are thousands of his prototypes all over this great state, who in their mistaken devotion to the production of cotton are robbing their posterity of the benefits to be derived from that great and magnificent public school fund.

Farmer Aday and his prototypes thrust Texas should learn that Texas soil can and will produce something else besides cotton. They should ever remember that the production of cotton is making slaves of their wives and children for about eleven months out of every year, and they should begin to think seriously of that process of diversification that will at last permit emancipation during the months the public schools are in session. And it is bad enough to see the sturdy boys of this land in the cotton patches when they should be in school, but when the little girls are also compelled to take up the same kind of a burden it is a genuine shame upon imperial Texas.

There are other features of the situation involved, including the demoralizing effect upon the children—the tendency toward crime, the result of growing up in ignorance, but it is not necessary to speak of them here, for they are generally understood. But while we are talking about the shame of Texas, let us not forget the most crying shame that exists within the confines of our great and glorious state.

Senator Bailey expressed the opinion that Oscar B. Colquitt is behind the opposition that has developed toward him for re-election to the United States senate. And there is where the senator-betrays how little he really knows concerning public sentiment in Texas.

The movement against Bailey promises to be abortive, largely from the fact that it is unorganized and without a recognized leader. If the intention is to fight Bailey for all there is in sight there should speedily be a permanent organization effected for the purpose.

The attorney general of Texas should remember that Senator Joseph W. Bailey ought to make a star witness in the case of the state of Texas vs. the Waters-Pierce Oil company.

Secretary Taft thinks he will be able to bring order out of chaos down in Cuba, but it will only be after Uncle Sam has lifted the scap of the so-called Cuban republic.

When Senator Bailey said he did not intend to die poor, he was speaking strictly by the card.

Yes, the people of Texas sent Bailey to Washington believing in his honesty and they are hoping that he will be able to completely vindicate himself. But there is no getting around the fact that they are face to face with a novel situation. Old Dave Culbertson was a great lawyer, but old Dave never had great corporations for his clients. Nor did Coke nor Flaxey nor Keesan nor Mills; none of these ever had any explaining to do. Mr. Bailey has said that he despises those public men who think they must remain poor in order to be considered honest. But his constituents have had forced on their consideration the "how" of his considerable wealth, and that's the direct issue now presented.—Waco Times-Herald.

Senator Bailey has publicly stated that if the people of Texas do not like his conduct as United States senator they can proceed to elect someone else. And that is just exactly what they should do.

Congressman Gillespie, it seems, is not to have smooth sledding after all. A woman—Mrs. Laura B. Payne, has announced her candidacy for congress in opposition to him. Mr. Gillespie can outrun, but it is a moral certainty that he cannot outtalk a woman—and a socialist at that. Talking, however, is cheap. It is all in the running.—El Paso Times.

Congressman Gillespie has nothing to fear from the lady candidate who is seeking his place at Washington. The voters of this district are gallant, but they are also democratic. Mrs. Payne will be no nearer Washington at the close of the campaign than at the beginning.

Senator Bailey says he had a right to practice law even if he is a senator. That is also what Senator Burton claimed a couple of years ago.—Memphis Herald.

Burton claimed the right to practice his profession and proceeded to practice. Today he has a successor in the United States senate and Senator Bailey was one of the most ardent advocates of that procedure.

Join H. Kirby says that he did not employ Joseph Weldon Bailey "because of his influence as a United States senator." Of course, he didn't. He employed Senator Bailey because there are no first class lawyers in Houston. Mr. Kirby was in need of first class talent—legal talent—and he went to Gainesville, on the border of the Indian Territory. He knows his own business and engages his own employees, which is eminently proper at all times. There is a splendid opening in Houston for a first class lawyer.—Dallas Times-Herald.

The trouble with the Houston lawyers was that they did not possess the necessary influence. They were just as Joe Bailey was before the people of Texas clothed him with his present greatness.

Chief of Police Maddox of Fort Worth has joined the grand army of benefactors. General Bell started the ball, and all the old bachelors are breaking away. Maddox will wear a more subdued look in the future.—Dallas Times-Herald.

Fort Worth always sets the pace. This truism applies to things matrimonial as well as to other things.

Senator Skinner of Waxahachie is reported to have a comprehensive tax bill in course of preparation for submission to the legislature at its next session. It is to be hoped the senator will make known the features of the bill in time for those who are to be his associate law makers to consider and at least partially digest it before they reach the state capitol. The taxation problem will claim a great deal of the attention of the law makers at the coming session and they ought to begin the study of it at once so that they will be able to grapple with it when the occasion demands.—San Antonio Express.

There is no necessity for any elaborate scheme of taxation, for the taxable values of the state are great enough to insure ample revenue without placing a burden on any interest. What Texas needs more than anything else is a system of just and proper equalization in the matter of taxation.

The candidacy of a lady for congress in the Fort Worth district is making the campaign up there spicy. Fort Worth failed to nominate a Bell for governor, but she may yet have a chance to be represented by a belle in congress.—Houston Post.

No danger of that. The Fort Worth district will never be represented in that manner. It thinks too much of its belles to elect any of them to congress.

Dallas and Fort Worth had no more to start on than Cleburne. The people in these two places hustled and got results. Cleburne hustled for a while, but got sleepy and decided to take a nap—and is still sleeping.—Cleburne Review.

Cleburne should wake up and get busy. While she sleeps other towns and cities will leave her. So far behind she will never catch up.

EVERETT TRUE'S VACATION OUTBURSTS

No. 5

TEXAS PRESS AND SENATOR BAILEY

WHOM HE WILL SERVE

The sensation of the week is the testimony of H. Clay Pierce, president of the Waters-Pierce Oil company, at St. Louis last Saturday, wherein he testified that he had at one time during the last few months appointed Senator Joseph W. Bailey with his power of attorney to manage as he (Senator Bailey) saw fit, certain corporation interests amounting to $13,000,000.

The whole country is aroused. In Texas, the senator's friends are surprised and indignant. They feel that he has placed them very much on the defensive and given the republicans a club with which to maul the democratic party in its coming fight on the trusts. They do not see how the party leaders can make much headway against the party in power when the minority leader of the democratic party has been so closely connected with the big Standard Oil officials—even in the capacity, as Senator Bailey, as attorney. Here in McKinney the senator's friends are not feeling good. They say it looks dark for him. They can't say much—just shake their heads. The senator's connection with the Waters-Pierce company in this state in 1900 was not liked by the people. But their confidence in him was so great that it had died out perceptibly. But this new role of attorney for the same set, H. Clay Pierce and others, has set the people on fire. Mineola has called a mass meeting to see about rescinding the instruction of their representative to vote for Mr. Bailey for the senate at the coming session of the legislature. The Examiner does not wish to be too previous in this matter, but one thing we can see, and that is—Senator Bailey is going to have to choose, sooner or later, between the love and confidence of the people and the fat fees he is receiving as attorney for these big corporations, for the people are fast coming to the conclusion that if they are ever to rid themselves of corporation domination they will have to get men who are in no manner under obligation to the trusts.—McKinney Examiner.

WILL KEEP BAILEY BUSY

Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey is going to be kept most too busy trying to rid himself of the charge of aiding the Standard Oil monopoly to create much sentiment against Bryan because of the latter's advocacy of government ownership of railroads. For double dealing, Mr. Bailey has made off with the whole bakery.—Cleburne Chronicle.

IN HIS TRUE LIGHT

Senator Bailey has shown up in his true light, and the ignominy heaped upon him is even greater than the applause elicited a few weeks ago. The very scourge he piled so vigorously to another is being laid upon his own back.—Timpson Times.

DOES NOT LOOK RIGHT

Take it for granted that Joe Bailey's accepting the attorneyship for H. Clay Pierce was legitimate—the state of Texas, right or wrong had been fighting the corporation of which he is the head for years, and it does not look right for a Texas United States senator to act as attorney for that kind of a corporation.—Corcia Couriers-Light.

MILLS AS A CANDIDATE

The friends of Colonel R. Q. Mills want him to beat Bailey for the senate before the legislature in January. Colonel Mills, of course, would not make a scramble for the place, nor would his friends be willing for him to do so.—Corcia Couriers-Light.

DREW A ROYAL FLUSH

Dame Fortune played a smooth game of poker with United States Senator Joseph W. Bailey and the latter drew a "royal flush."—Cleburne Review.

THE UNANSWERED PRAYER

She asked to be made like her Savior; He took her right then and her word And sent her a heart-crushing burden Till the depths of her soul was stirred.

She asked for a faith strong, yet simple; He permitted the dark clouds to come, And she staggered by faith through the darkness For the storm had quite obscured the sun.

She prayed to be filled with a passion Of love for lost souls and for God, And again in response to her longings, She sank 'neath the chastening rod.

She wanted a place in His vineyard, He took her away from her home, And placed her among hardened sinners Where she—humanly—stood all alone.

She saw she must give up ambitions Which had been her "air castles" for years; But as she knelt in consecration She whispered "Amen" through her tears.

She wanted a meek, lowly spirit— The work He gave answered that cry, Till some who had once been companions, With a pitying smile passed her by.

She asked to lean hard on her Savior; He took human props quite away, Till no earthly friend could give comfort, And she could do nothing but pray.

I saw her go out in the vineyard, To harvest the ripening grain; Her eyes were still moistened with weeping, Her heart was throbbing with pain.

But many a heart that was broken, And many a wrecked, blighted life Was made to thank God for her coming, And rejoiced in the midst of the strife.

She had prayed to be made like the Savior And the burdens He gave her to bear Had been but the great Saviour's teaching To help answer her earnest prayer.

Riverside Methodists Planning to Move and Improve

The people of the Riverside Methodist church are negotiating for a lot on Sycamore street in the vicinity of the school building. In the event the deal is closed, the church will be moved from its present location on First street near Baker Brothers' nurseries.

If the church is moved considerable improvements are contemplated. A large alcove will be added, which will give much more room, and the old straight-back seats removed and modern circular seats put in. The building will also receive other remodeling.

PAY BRINGS MEXICANS

Railroads Hit Upon New Plan to Secure Laborers

Special to The Telegram.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 25.—Railroads in Texas have adopted different means of securing Mexican laborers for their lines since the decision of the attorney general of the United States in regard to the importation of contract laborers. By that decision many Texas lines were compelled to deport hundreds of Mexican laborers who had been imported under contract to work.

To cope with the situation and yet avoid the charge of importing men under contract, the railways have raised the wages paid to common Mexican laborers and have announced that all men applying will be given permanent positions. This announcement spread broadcast over Northern Mexico is having the effect of bringing over hundreds of needed laborers.

After the Torrey-Alexander mission closed in Philadelphia a number of Christian men and women banded themselves together to hold seven services a week. They go about in a gospel wagon, never take up a collection, sing the Torrey-Alexander hymns, and are all personal workers.

Synopsis of Previous Installments

John Glenarm, a roving young engineer, is willed an estate near Annandale, Ind. by his grandfather, on condition that he live there a year, else it will revert to Marian Devereux of New York, niece of the elder Glenarm's friend. Young Glenarm, returning to New York from Africa, is informed of the terms of his grandfather's will by Pickering, a lawyer, his former schoolmate, whom he greatly dislikes.

He accepts the terms of his grandfather's will and, starting for Indiana, accidentally meets his chum Lawrence Donovan. The two dine at Sher-ry's, and see there Pickering, accompanied by a young woman whose face impresses Glenarm.

While Glenarm is seated in his grandfather's house, the first evening of his arrival, a bullet whizzes by his head and flattens itself against the wall.

He accepts the terms of his grandfather's will and goes to Indiana. On the night of his first stay he is shot at while seated by the fireplace, but fails to discover his mysterious assailant. Next morning he takes a walk to the nearby village and encounters a fight between his lone servant, Bates, and Morgan, a villager.

Twice, returning to the house, Glenarm hears voices and once while walking in the woods at night he hears across Morgan sounding the wall of his grandfather's estate with a hammer. After a parley, Morgan flings his hammer at the window and the latter fires his revolver, but both miss. Glenarm becomes convinced that Morgan and Bates are rogues in league and that it was Morgan who fired at him through the window the first night of his stay at his grandfather's house.

His belief is further strengthened when he, after a tour of his grandfather's house late at night, comes across Morgan and the two have a fierce revolver battle. Morgan is wounded and Glenarm learns next day, through Rev. Paul Stoddard, chaplain of St. Agatha's school nearby, that Morgan wishes word of his condition sent to Pickering.

Adjoining Glenarm's place is a fashionable school, conducted by Sister Theresa, of whom Marian Devereux is a niece. At various times passing through the woods and about the place Glenarm falls in with Olivia Armstrong, a mischievous school girl, who is finally expelled from the school for her pranks. Glenarm is at the station the day he leaves and confuses her, unconsciously, with Marian Devereux. The latter, carrying out the part of Olivia, challenges Glenarm to find her and visit her. Glenarm learns from the chaplain the identity of Marian Devereux, that she has gone to Cincinnati to visit at the Armstrong home, and after going to his room and pleading illness to his servant, drops out of the window, catches a train for Cincinnati and finds Miss Devereux at the Armstrong home.

we stepped out into the crypt Stoddard whistled and Larry swore softly. "It must be for something!" exclaimed the chaplain. "You don't suppose Mr. Glenarm built a secret passage just for the fun of it, do you? He must have had some purpose. Why, I sleep out here within forty yards of where we stand and I never had the slightest idea of this."

"But other people seem to know of it," observed Larry.

"To be sure, the curiosity of the whole countryside were, in doubtlessly piqued by the building of Glenarm House. The fact that workmen were brought from a distance was in itself enough to arouse interest. Morgan seems to have discovered the passage without any trouble."

"More likely it was Ferguson. He was the sexton of the church and had a chance to investigate," said Stoddard. "And now, gentlemen, I must go to my service. Till see you again before the day is over."

"And we make no confidences!" I admonished.

"Death!—I believe that is the proper expression under all the circumstances." And the Rev. Paul Stoddard laughed, clasped my hand and went up into the chapel vestry.

I closed the door in the wainscoting and hung the map back in place.

We went upon into the little chapel and found a small company of workmen assembled—a few people from the surrounding farms, half a dozen Sisters sitting solemnly near the chancel.

Stoddard came out into the chancel, lighted the altar tapers and began the Anglican communion office. I had forgotten what a church service was like, and Larry, I felt sure, had not attended church since the last time his family had dragged him to choral vesper.

It was comforting to know that here was, at least, one place of peace within reach of Glenarm house. But I may be forgiven, if my mind wandered that morning, and my thoughts played hide-and-seek with memory. For it was here, in the winter twilight, that Marian Devereux had poured out her girl's heart in a great flood of melody. It was glad that the organ was closed; it would have wrung my heart to hear a note from it that her hands did not evoke.

When we came out upon the church porch and I stood on the steps to allow Larry to study the grounds, one of the brown-robed Sisterhood spoke my name.

"Can you come in for a moment?" she asked.

"I will follow at once," I said.

She met me in the reception room where I had seen her before.

"I'm sorry to trouble you on Christmas Day with my affairs, but I have had a letter from Mr. Pickering, saying that he will be obliged to bring suit for settlement of my account with Mr. Glenarm's estate. I needn't say that this troubles me greatly. In my position a lawsuit is uncomfortable; it would do a real harm to the school. Mr. Pickering implies in a very disagreeable way that I exercised an undue influence over Mr. Glenarm. You can readily understand that that is not a pleasant accusation."

"He is going pretty far," I said.

"He gives me credit for a degree of power over others that I regret to say I do not possess. He is, for instance, that I am responsible for Miss Devereux's attitude toward him—something that I have had nothing whatever to do with."

"No, of course not."

"I'm glad you have no harsh feeling toward her. It was unfortunate that Glenarm saw that to mention her in his will. It has given her a great deal of notoriety, and has doubtless strengthened the impression in some minds that she and I really plotted to get as much as possible of your grandfather's estate."

"No one would regret all this more than my sister. I am sure of that. There are many inexpressible things about his affairs. It seems hardly possible that a man so shrewd as he, and so thoughtful of the feelings of others, should have left so many loose ends behind him. But I assure you I am giving my whole attention to these matters, and know wholly at your service in anything I can do to help you."

"I sincerely hope that nothing may interfere to prevent your meeting Mr. Glenarm's wish that you remain through the year. That was a curious and whimsical provision, but it is not, I imagine, so difficult to fulfill."

She spoke in a kindly tone of encouragement that made me feel uneasy and almost as good as having already forfeited my claim under the will. Her beautiful gray eyes disconcerted me; I had not the heart to declare my feelings.

"I have already made it impossible for me to inherit under the will," I said.

"The disappointment in her face rebuked me sharply.

"I am sorry, very sorry, indeed," she said coldly. "But how, may I ask?"

"I ran away last night, like you went to Cincinnati to see Miss Devereux."

She rose, staring in dumb astonishment, and after a full minute in which I tried vainly to think of something to say, I left the house.

There is nothing in the world so tiresome as long expiations, and I have never in my life tried to make them without flundering into seas of trouble.

CHAPTER XXI

Pickering Serves Notice

The next morning Bates placed a letter postmarked Cincinnati at my plate. I opened and read it aloud to Larry:

On Board the Heloise,
 December 25, 1901.

John Glenarm, Esq.,
 Glenarm House,
 Annandale, Whabana Co., Ind.:

Dear Sir:—I have just learned from what I believe to be a trustworthy source that you have already violated the terms of the agreement under which I hold the lease of the property near Annandale, known as Glenarm House. The provisions of the will of John Marshall Glenarm are hereby understood when you accepted them, and your absence, not only from the estate itself, but from Wabana county, beyond question your right to inherit.

I, as executor, therefore demand that you at once vacate said property, leaving it in the condition in which when received by you. Very truly yours,
 ARTHUR PICKERING,
 Executor of the Estate of John Marshall Glenarm.

SHORT WEIGHTS

WORRY GROCERS

Specific Instances Cited at Association Meeting

Bad weather had a deterrent effect on the attendance of the regular meeting of the Fort Worth Grocers' and Butchers' Association Tuesday evening and there were not over twenty present during the evening.

Mr. Luther of the wholesalers committee reported that a list was being prepared of those jobbers who shipped cracker weights to grocers or wholesalers and not as retailers.

Mr. Adams of the special committee on the petition reported that the association should be represented before the city council committee, who will consider the sidewalk obstruction ordinance, and such relief needed, if any there was to be had, could be got in that way. It was decided if the attorney of the association had not returned to the city, the matter the committee is to have the authority to employ some one who has the time.

The committee on the revision of the constitution and by-laws was directed to prepare its report so it could be submitted at the next regular meeting.

Short Weights Reported

Harry Palmer of the committee on short weights and measures again urged on the association the need for weighing and measuring all of the stuff they received by purchase. He said it was the mackerel season and his firm had received some mackerel already. He had counted one package and it was fourteen fish short out of 160, or fourteen pounds short in weight. He had engaged a barrel of vinegar and it was five and one-half gallons short. For once he had found, in the last few days, a shortage of cracker weights. He believed that it was a mistake of the packer, for, as a rule, the cracker weights held out well. Cheese was nearly always short in weight and he had not weighed a single one which was full weight, the shortage running from one to one and a half pounds.

This led to discussion that resulted in the passage of a resolution to buy a standard gauge and have the committee gauge all of the liquids bought by the members in barrels, when requested to do so. An Oklahoma cereal, with the reversed name of one of the most popular breakfast foods of that kind in use, as the title of the new food, was mentioned, professedly two pounds full weight, that was invariably short in weight, and was condemned for short weight.

It was stated by several that there had been a shortage of goods in the packing house weights; indeed, every one who spoke on that subject stated that he had found an overweight whenever he had weighed the goods.

Stewart & Levy, fuel and grain dealers, located on West Weatherford street, and J. L. Pummerly, butcher, located on the corner of the kind are prohibited from giving to non-members any information of the kind which is the special province of the association to furnish the members. This applies generally but particularly to those interested in other or credit associations, and steps were taken to prevent the use of the information the association has accumulated, by such unauthorized persons.

Hardware Men Apply

Some of the members stated they had been approached by hardware dealers, who wanted to become mem-

Catarrh

Whether it is of the nose, throat, stomach, bowels, or more delicate organs, catarrh is always debilitating and should never fall in abatement.

It is a discharge from the mucous membrane when kept in a state of inflammation by an impure, commonly scrofulous, condition of the blood.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cures all forms of catarrh, radically and permanently—it removes the cause and overcomes all the effects. Get Hood's.

"Very truly the devil's!" growled Larry, snapping his cigarette case viciously.

"How did he find out?" I asked lamely, but my heart sank like lead. Had Marian Devereux told him! How else could he know?

"Probably from the stars—the whole universe undoubtedly saw you skipping off to meet your lady-love. Bah, these women!"

"But I don't all marry the sons of brewers," I retorted. "You assured me once, while your affair with that Irish girl was on, that the short upper lip made heaven seem possible, but unnecessary; then the next thing I knew she had shaken you for the bloated masquerade. Take that for your impudence. But perhaps it was Bates?"

"I did not wait for an answer. I was not in a mood for reflection or nice distinctions. Heaven came in just then with a fresh plate of toast."

"Bates, Mr. Pickering has learned that I was away from the house on the night of the attack, and I'm ordered off for having broken my agreement to stay here. How do you suppose he heard of it so promptly?"

"From Morgan, quite possibly. I have a letter from Mr. Pickering myself this morning. Just a moment, sir."

He placed before me a note bearing the same date as my own. It was a sharp rebuke of Bates for his failure to report my absence, and he was ordered to prepare to leave on the first of February. "Close your accounts at the shopkeepers' and I will audit your bills on my arrival."

The tone was peremptory and contemptuous. Bates had failed to satisfy Pickering and was flung off like a smoked-out cigar.

"How much had he allowed you for expenses, Bates?"

He met my gaze imperturbably. "He paid me fifty dollars a month as wages, sir, and I was allowed seventy-five for other expenses."

"But you didn't buy English pheasants and champagne on that allowance?"

He was carrying away the coffee tray and his eyes wandered to the window.

"Not quite, sir. You see—"

"But I don't see!"

"It had occurred to me that as Mr. Pickering's allowance wasn't what you might call generous it was better to augment it.—Well, sir, I took the liberty of advancing a trifle as you might say to the estate. Your grandfather would not have had you starve, sir."

He left hurriedly, as though to escape from the consequences of his words, and when I came to myself Larry was gloomily invoking his strange Irish gods.

Railroad Rumbblings

The tremendous demand for new equipment for railways now in successful business and in a developing country, where the present supply of cars is inadequate for the service of the road, is well illustrated by this statement of the needs of the Rock Island:

The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific in the market for 400 passenger cars, 300 flat cars, 250 stock cars, 900 self-clearing coal cars, 100 ballast box cars, 50 cabooses, 2,000 box cars, 10 baggage cars, 10 combine flat baggers, and smoking cars, 5 dining cars, 5 observation cars, 5 cafe cars, 5 postal cars and 5 combination baggage and mail cars.

The Missouri, Kansas & Texas during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1906, treated its rolling stock to a plant at Greenville, 649,922 cross ties and 359 sets of switch ties. Experience has shown that there is a better method than the zinc chloride process which is now in use at the Greenville plant and changes are now being made so that in the future ties will be treated by the zinc chloride process. It is expected by this change to double the life of ties as compared with ties treated by the zinc chloride process.

General Manager W. C. Nixon of the Frisco has directed the division superintendent to bring up their part of the track to standard conditions, and the intimation is conveyed that there is no limit to the use of a reasonable amount of money to accomplish what is the purpose of the company, but that the expenditure of money will be judged by the results.

The railway switchmen of the country want shorter time and longer pay and something like a general demand looking to the accomplishment of that end is made at this time.

The Santa Fe has just received some circulars, about the sleeper service between Fort Worth and the City of Mexico, in which the reference to the service begins "Thru sleepers to the City of Mexico." This is the first instance wherein that style of spelling is used for railroad advertising in Fort Worth.

The roads out of Fort Worth announce the last cheap Galveston excursion for the season will be run on Saturday. The fare from Fort Worth is $4.85.

The Railway Age has this: Roscoe, Snyder & Pacific—F. W. James, president, Abilene, Texas, writes that this company, recently formed, proposes to build a railway from Roscoe, Texas, to Portales, N. M., 250 miles, of which 200 miles will be in Texas and fifty miles in New Mexico. The contract for building three miles of the line from Roscoe has been let and work is to begin within sixty days. The road is intended to be a feeder for the Texas & Pacific and will be laid with 56-pound rails. Martin Duval, chief engineer, Roscoe, Texas.

Scarcity of labor and the rains have retarded the progress of the Trinity & Brazos Valley, says General Manager Sweeney. The difficulty of getting the labor and the impossibility of controlling the rain make prophecies about the ending of the trouble out of the question.

The International is to make extensive improvements at Bryan, among them a shop for minor repairs, new sidings and other yard improvements.

The Gould freight and passenger traffic officials is to meet in Denver Wednesday to discuss traffic matters generally.

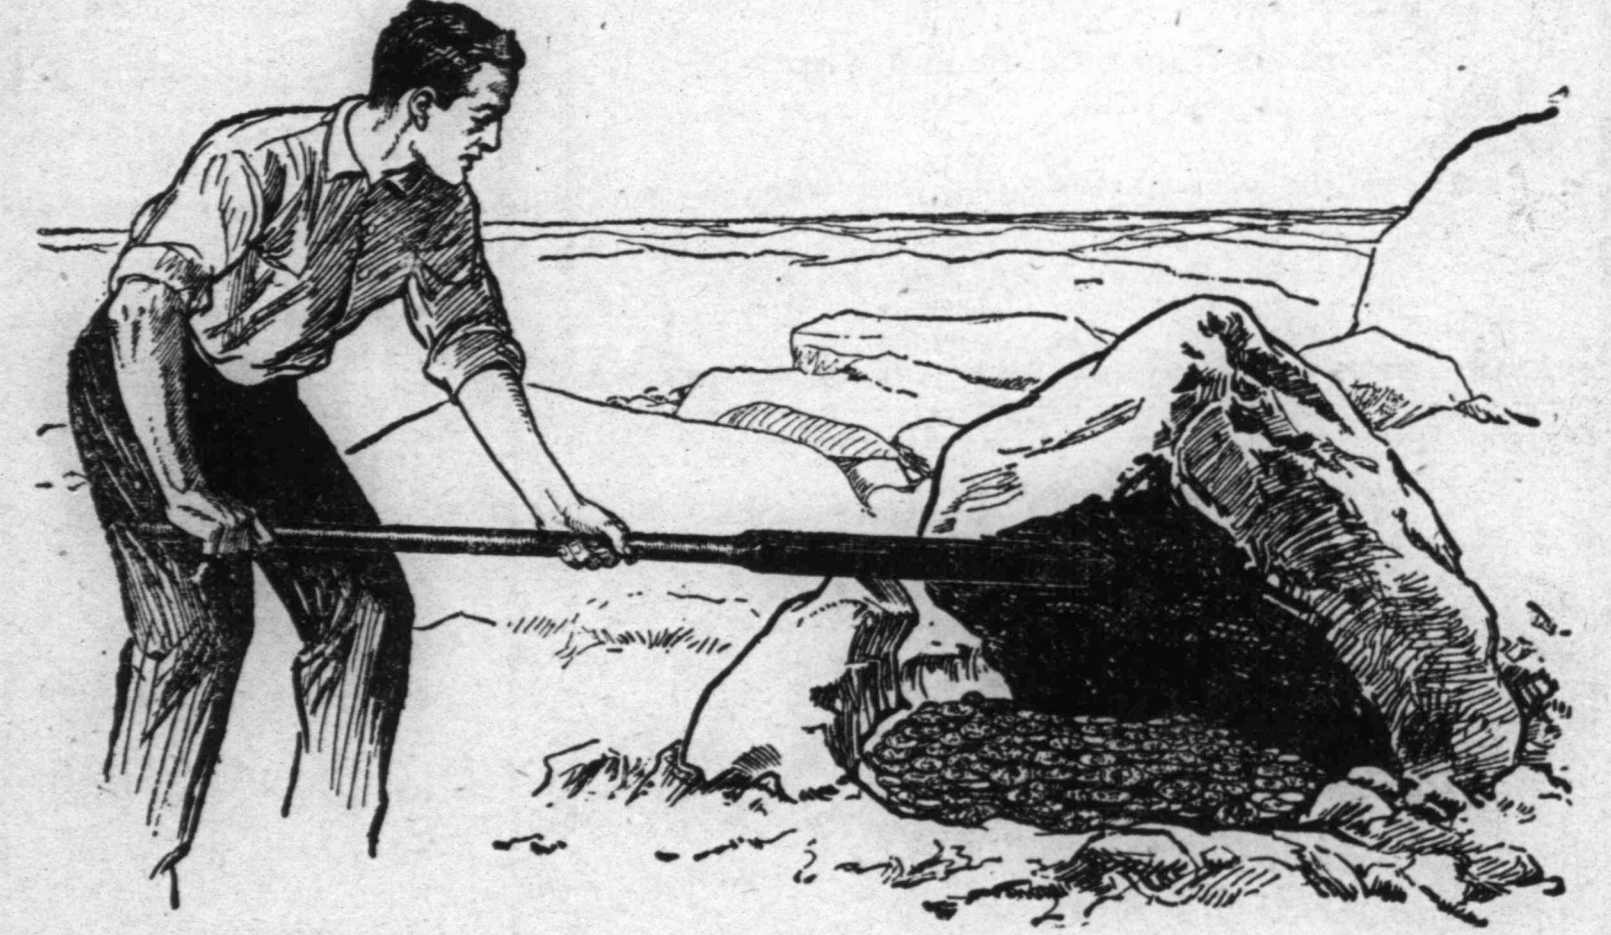

An interurban line between El Paso and Yeleta, a former county seat of El Paso county, and down the river from El Paso about ten miles, has been granted a franchise by the county commissioners of that county.

The recent visit of the higher officials of the Katy to Texas has resulted in the further approval of the "gumbo" or burnt ballast, in use to a limited extent on the road and orders have been given for the more general use of that style of ballast.

FOUGHT BURGLAR

Three Women Hurt While Resisting Intruder—One in Bad Condition

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 25.—Mrs. Michael O'Rourke, wife of a millionaire traction contractor, and two maids were injured in a fight with a burglar at her Oak Lane residence. Mrs. O'Rourke is in a critical condition with heart affection due to the shock. Mr. O'Rourke tried to kill the burglar, Joseph Holdsworth, at the hearing this morning. The women frightened the thief off before he could get any loot.

Hidden Treasure
The Gold is There

Lift the Rock.

Many a man and woman has yet to find the hidden flavor and value of Postum Food Coffee because it was served before being boiled long enough.

When Father, Mother, Sister, or Brother feels the hurt of coffee and seeks to be well again and able to do things in this world, do your share, Mr. and Mrs. Cook and see that the Postum is made right, and that's easy. Either put it in the pot and let it soak over night and then boil 10 or 12 minutes, or put it on fresh, a piece of butter the size of a pea in the pot to keep it from boiling over and then let it actually boil at the bubbling point for 15 minutes. Then you have Postum and not the common weak stuff too often prepared by a careless cook.

You, man, who have been poorly served, read this to your "wimmen folks," and ask for a Square Deal. If coffee congests your liver, ruins nerves and stomach and handicaps you in the race of life, quit it entirely and start on Postum.

The little stored-away elements that nature uses for the sure rebuilding of the lost gray matter in the nerve cells are in Postum.

A call has been issued to members of the Fort Worth Credit Men's Association by Secretary George Q. McGown for a meeting to be held on Thursday night, Sept. 27, in the office of the secretary to perfect plans for the entertainment of the national executive committee and all Texas members who will be in attendance upon Credit Men's day, Friday, Oct. 25, during the time of the state fair in Dallas. The Fort Worth association will entertain the visitors Saturday, the day following in this city. Several entertainment features have been suggested, including a barbecue dinner, followed by addresses by several members of the national committee, visiting Texas credit men and Senator Joseph W. Bailey.

FAIR TO SUCCEED FOUL WEATHER

New Orleans Says Rain—Local Office Fair
A rainy weather map and a cold wave following, and with light frosts and low temperatures in the north-east, are the factors in the cotton markets today. The weekly weather report was considered generally favorable, the tropical storm which has been moving thru the cotton belt last night and the approaching gulf disturbance, which is expected to produce high winds and heavy rains over a wide area, materially strengthened the markets, and both New York and New Orleans were higher. The upward tendency, however, is not of a sensational nature, and it is generally conceded that the bullish sentiment is expected to bring about a decline.

CAPTAIN LYLE RECOVERING
Health Improving During His Vacation Trip
A letter received at the office of the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas brings the pleasant information that Captain John T. Lyle is much better and is rapidly regaining his former health. The captain says that he is now able to eat three square meals a day, which is just what many men think he could not do to the time he departed in company with Colonel Burke Burnett. He has spent for his winter clothes and he says he will spend some time on his vacation. He repudiates all newspapers and other reading matter and says he came for rest and proposed to have it. His many friends are delighted to hear the good news and many wishes for good go with him on his road to recovery.

J. W. MONTAGUE HERE
Comes in From Ranch on His Way to St. Louis
J. W. Montague is in the city from his ranch in Crockett county and will go to St. Louis in a few days before returning to the ranch. "Everything is good down our way. Grass good and ready for the winter. It has not rained down there for more than a week and grass is getting in good shape for the first frost that may come early or late. Cattle are as good as could be and my crop is turning out well. Where everything is in such shape it is hard to have anything to talk about, so what I have said will have to do this time."

S.S.S. 40 YEARS OF CURES

There is a familiar saying, and a true one, that "Time proves all things." When a medicine has stood this test for a period of forty years and is then more in popular favor than ever, there is no doubt as to its merits. This is the standard by which S.S.S. has been measured, and its record of forty years of cures fully justifies its popularity as a blood medicine. For nearly half a century this great remedy has been used in the treatment of blood and skin diseases of every character, and so satisfactory have been the results that it is now the best known and most widely used blood medicine in the world. The success of S.S.S. is based upon the fact that it has always done everything claimed for it; it has maintained the confidence of the people because it deserved it. The constantly increasing demand for S.S.S. is the result of the good words spoken of it by those who have been cured of disease by its use, and know from experience that it is the greatest of all blood purifiers.

ITS FORTY YEARS OF EXISTENCE HAVE BEEN FORTY YEARS OF CURE. For Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Chronic Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison, and all other diseases due to an impure or poisoned condition of the blood, there is nothing that equals S.S.S. It counteracts and drives out the germs and poisons, cleanses the system of all unhealthy matter, cures the disease permanently and restores strong, robust health. Where the blood is weak or anaemic and unable to nourish the body as it should, S.S.S. supplies it with the healthful properties needed, and being a bracing, invigorating tonic it builds up the entire system. It goes down to the very bottom of all blood disorders and in this way reaches deep-seated and inherited cases on which the ordinary sarsaparillas and tonics have no effect. S.S.S. is also an ideal old people's remedy, relieving the diseases and discomforts of old age and giving strength and vigor to their declining constitutions. Not only is S.S.S. certain in its results, but it is safe. Being made entirely from roots, herbs and barks of the forests and fields, chosen for their cleansing, healing and building-up properties, it acts gently and pleasantly on the delicate members and tissues of the body. S.S.S. enjoys the distinction of being the only blood medicine on the market that does not contain a mineral ingredient of some kind. If you are in need of a blood remedy do not experiment with unproved medicines, but get S.S.S., the remedy that has the endorsement of millions of people, and one that has proved its worth by its forty years of cures. All sufferers from blood or skin diseases are invited to write our Medical Department, stating their case, and our physicians will take pleasure in giving any medical advice needed, and will send our books on the different diseases. We make no charge for the advice or the books.

Gentlemen—For several years I was a sick man, just what was the matter I do not know, but I do know I was indeed a sick man and could get nothing that would bring me out. I tried local doctors, specialists, highly advertised tonics, pills, compounds, and everything that was recommended to me. Last winter my trouble was at its worst. I was unable to work for several months, lost in flesh, had no ambition or energy whatever, and was extremely nervous. I became alarmed as to my condition, I asked a friend of mine what I should do, telling him if I didn't get something shortly to build me up that I would not last much longer. He told me S.S.S. had done him a world of good in some chronic trouble and strongly advised me to begin it. I did so, but must admit with little faith, as I had tried so many things without benefit. To my glad surprise to find I was actually improving after using a few bottles of the medicine. Of course I continued on with the medicine with the result that it put me on my feet again and made me a well man. I believe my blood had been very weak and impure, and as a result my general system became so run down and debilitated that I would have given way under it had I not fortunately gotten hold of your S.S.S., the greatest of all medicinal preparations, in my humble opinion. Wooster, Ohio. L. Y. McCLURE.

Cuts the Fuel Bill in Half

For Soft Coal, Lignite or Hard Coal

As you know fully one-half the carbon available for heat in soft coal is gas, the entire gas supply used for fuel and illumination in many cities and towns being made from common soft coal. The ordinary stove in burning soft coal allows this gas half of the fuel to pass up the chimney unburned, thus wasting it as a heat producer.

Cole's Original Hot Blast Stove, by means of the patented Hot Blast draft and other patented features, distills this gas from the upper surface of the coal, utilizing it as a heat producer along with the fixed carbon or coke in the coal, thus burning all the coal. This is why

Cole's Original Hot Blast

Saves the Dollars and makes a ton of common $3.00 soft coal or lignite do the work of $9.00 worth of hard coal.

Your old stove and imitation Hot Blast are not air tight, do not save the escaping gases and do not give you a warm house at night. You cannot afford to say to yourself "My old stove will have to do this winter." The old stove is eating up the price of a new stove every year. Not only that, but on top of the cost is the unsatisfactory result it gives. It is always out the coldest morning.

Even Heat Day and Night—Fire Never Out

Cole's Hot Blast is so perfect in construction that fire keeps all night, and when the draft is opened in the morning will burn two or three hours with the fuel put in the night before. No other stove does this. Fire, therefore, never goes out, and the rooms are kept at an even temperature all the time.

OUR GUARANTEE

- 1—We guarantee a saving of one-third in fuel over any lower draft stove of the same size, with soft coal.
 - 2—We guarantee Cole's Hot Blast to use less hard coal for heating a given space than any stove burner made with same heating surface.
 - 3—We guarantee that the rooms can be heated from one to two hours each morning with the soft coal or hard coal put in the stove the evening before.
 - 4—We guarantee that the stove will hold fire with soft coal 30 hours without attention.
 - 5—We guarantee a uniform heat day and night, with soft coal, hard coal or lignite.
 - 6—We guarantee every stove to remain absolutely airtight as long as used.
 - 7—We guarantee the feed door to be smoke and dust proof.
- The above guarantee is made with the understanding that the stove be operated according to directions, and set up with a good fuel.

For Hard Coal—Saves Half

The perfect control over the drafts, the slow economical combustion and the large positive radiating surface make Cole's Original Hot Blast the most economical and the best Hard Coal stove made.

Cole's Hot Blast is the modern heater and will save its cost in fuel every winter. Buy one for your home now.

Would You Lose $50.00 in Fuel to Save $1.00 on the Cost of Your Stove?

That is what you do when you buy a cheaply constructed, putty jointed, showy made imitation stove. Like all successful inventions, Cole's Original Hot Blast has many inferior imitations, avoid them.

They all lack the patented devices and careful construction, which make the Original Hot Blast a great success. They do not stay tight and soon open seams and cracks which render them worthless as fire keepers. See the name "Cole's Hot Blast from Chicago" on the feed door. None genuine without it.

As sole agent for this wonderful stove we wish you, who expect to buy a heating stove this fall to consider now—don't wait until everybody wants one at the same time and then expect prompt delivery. Let us put the stove up now, you can pay for it later. Buy the best, and buy now.

BOY CRIMINALS Baffle Police

Fort Worth's Share Larger Than Other Texas Cities

PROBLEM IS TWO-FOLD

Catching Youthful Depredators Only Half of Difficulty—Need of Reformatory is Apparent

Fort Worth police declare that this city has more juvenile criminals within its confines than any other town of similar size in the United States!

This statement is made only after a careful investigation of criminal records in other cities and after a rigid search for corresponding conditions in places having the population of Fort Worth.

It is asserted by those who know that Chicago or New York never produced a tougher or a more criminally wise set of boys than are now at liberty in the city.

Notwithstanding the fact that time after time they have been arrested and made to stay in jail for weeks they have not changed their ways and have become so hardened that all the tears of a broken-hearted mother fail to arouse their emotional feelings.

"Two-thirds of the boys which have occurred in Fort Worth in the past year can be laid at the door of the youngsters who have strayed from the narrow path."

Just now, when a boy commits a theft, if it is his first offense, it is dollars to cents that when he is brought to the city or county jail he comes forth again in a few days.

Do Your Meals Fit?

Do You Feel Snug and Comfortable Around Your Waist Line After a Hearty Meal?

Did your last meal taste deliciously good to you, and did you eat all you wanted? Could you have patting your rotundity in glee and felt proud of your appetite and of your good strong stomach? Do you feel rosy now because your last meal was so convenient whatever? If not, you have dyspepsia in some form and probably never realized it.

If you have the least trouble in your stomach after eating, no matter how little or how much you eat, there is trouble brewing and you must correct it at once.

Most all stomach troubles come from poor weak, scanty gastric juice, that your food into rich, red blood.

If you have nausea, your gastric juice is weak. If you have sour risings or belchings, your food is fermenting; your gastric juice is weak. If you have loss of appetite, your gastric juice is weak. If you have a bloaty feeling of aversion to food your gastric juice is weak.

You need something in your stomach to supply the gastric juice which is scanty, and to give power to the weak gastric juice. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do this very thing.

Now think—one grain of one of the ingredients of these dyspepsia tablets digests 3,000 grains of food. They are several times more powerful than the gastric juice in a good, strong stomach. They stymie your digestion, your food for you. Besides they increase the flow of gastric juice, just what you need to get the good possible out of everything you eat. You will never have that "lump of lead" in your stomach nor any other stomach trouble after taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Then everything you eat will be digested, it will give you strength, vim and energy and every disposition. You'll feel good all around your waist line after every meal and it will make you feel good all over.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will make you feel happy after eating a good, hearty meal. Take one or two after eating. You'll feel fine—then your meals will fit, no matter what or when you eat.

We want to send you a sample packet of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets free of charge, so you can test them yourself and be convinced. After you have tried the sample, you will be so satisfied that you will go to the nearest drug store and get a 50c box.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample packet, free of charge. F. A. Stuart Co., 52 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

region of the country has drifted to the southeast, carrying with it clear cool weather.

Light frost is reported from Oregon, Wyoming and South Dakota, with killing frosts in Northwest Montana. Portland reports 66 and 60 and Helena 62 and 32 degrees. At the First Christian Church.

At 7 o'clock this evening the marriage of Miss Ophelia Withers to George W. Ross will take place at the First Christian church. A large number of invitations have been issued and it will be one of the important of the early season weddings. The bride is a beautiful girl who has lived here since early childhood and has many friends to wish her every happiness. The ceremony will be conducted by Rev. A. E. Dubber of the Tabernacle Christian church.

The matron of honor will be Mrs. R. J. Newton, the groomsmen, Mr. Whiteley, and the flower girls Mary Alice Withers and Pansy Withers.

The bridegroom will be of Brussels net over a white taffeta slip and embroidered taffeta drop skirt. The matron of honor's gown will be Paris muslin trimmed with ruby val and medallions over pale blue taffeta silk.

The bride's going away gown will be of shadow plaid cloth with hat of green shaded velvet and coque feathers.

A bridal tour of Colorado and the Rockies will occupy a month and on their return Mr. and Mrs. Ross will reside at 405 Weatherford.

Your Liver

You cannot possibly enjoy good health when the liver is inactive and the bowels constipated. You must keep the liver active. You must have daily action of the bowels. Ask your doctor if this is not true. Ask him at the same time if he knows a better laxative than Ayer's Pills. All vegetable, sugar-coated. Dose, only one pill.
