SOUND DEMOCRATIC DOCTRINE

"No man who is financially connected with a corporation that is seeking privileges ought to act as a member of a political organization, because he cannot represent his corporation and the people at the same time. He cannot serve the party while he is seeking to promote the financial interests of the corporation with which he is connected."

BAILEY IN FORT WORTH

Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey was among his friends Tuesday night in Fort Worth and warmed by the encouragement of fully 2,000 persons, he responded with a speech which had much in it recalling the Joe Bailey of old, the Joe Bailey who counted no reward greater than the honor of his constituents, the Joe Bailey who went to Washington scorning the frivolities of silly capitol society, who wore a slouch hat and a frock coat, and who refused to go where he would have to change his garb for conventional evening dress.

It was a magnificent speech, viewed as men judge oratory. Its climaxes came at the right points, its similes were carefully chosen, its flowery language was blended in just the right proportion with blunt expressions which the most humble auditor could understand. As a speech it is the best of the four Senator Bailey has delivered during the past two weeks.

But interwoven among the flowers and dodging in and out among the rounded periods was a thread of sophistry which even Senator Bailey's most loyal friends, seated behind him on the same platform, could not, if they detected it, view with feelings other than uneasiness and regret.

It was typified in a single sentence, not accidental, for it has been used before during the past two weeks by Senator Bailey and published in the reports of his speeches. "I regard a man's duty as separate from his business," declared the senator, and amplifying the proposition he sought to draw the inference that a man's business affiliations ought to have no influence on his personal code. Senator Bailey did not explain what he meant by his use of the word "duty" in this connection. A liberal interpretation viewed from the connection in which it was used would seem to indicate that he meant "the duty of a man in public life to the people, the duty of a partisan to his party or organization. Or did Senator Bailey mean by "duty" a man's political faith?"

If he did, few will disagree with him. A man in private life may be a democratic lawyer and be the legal adviser of a firm, the members of which are republicans. In the course of his speech Senator Bailey took occasion to pay his respects to The Telegram and declare that one of its proprietors had been a republican, demanding of his hearers to believe that because of this, criticism of Senator Bailey which has appeared in these columns, was accordingly inspired. Senator Bailey did not tell his hearers that the editor of The Telegram is a democrat with a record of more than thirty years unswerving loyalty to his party, a native of Alabama, raised in Mississippi, the senator's own state, and that he was fighting battles for democracy when Joe Bailey was a young lawyer unheard of outside his own little town.

But where in the halls of congress or the cloakrooms of the senate did Senator J. W. Bailey get his theory that the relation of a man's duty to his business applies in the case of a man whose political existence lies wholly in the fact that he is a party champion? Is this Senator Bailey's answer to that peerless leader, William Jennings Bryan, when he said:

"No man who is financially connected with a corporation that is seeking privileges ought to act as a member of a political organization, because he cannot represent his corporation and the people at the same time. He cannot serve the party while he is seeking to promote the financial interests of the corporation with which he is connected."

And while dealing along this line, there is another portion of Senator Bailey's Fort Worth speech which is worthy of note. With all the emphasis at his command he declared, "I never forgive a liar," and his hearers cheered him to the echo.

Earlier in his address he said, referring to a six-year-old story about the Waters-Pierce Company's readmission to the state, a story which The Telegram has been continually contending has nothing to do with the present discussion, "I did not know then that Pierce had misrepresented things to me."

Has Senator Bailey not forgiven Pierce? Does the letter Pierce wrote to Senator Bailey within the last few weeks indicate that Pierce believes Bailey's attitude toward him is that of a man toward another who has done him an "unforgivable" wrong?

Stripped of all its garb of rhetoric, Senator Bailey's Fort Worth speech says simply this: "My record is distinguished and brilliant. I never have been influenced as between the rights of the people and the corporations I have served. I am above criticism and you must take my word for it."

Not a single democratic leader, past or present, does Senator Bailey quote to prove his doctrine. He calls all his critics his enemies, his enemies traducers, his traducers liars and slanderers. That is a privilege of debate, but it makes nothing for argument.

At the cheap melodrama, the rogue in the gallery cheers as loudly as anyone at the hero's bravery, weeps with the heroine's troubles, and hisses the villain as loudly as the rest. In real life the rogue would probably have the same role as the villain. Yet who will argue that because he hisses during the play his disapprobation is proof that all the honest people in the house who also hiss the villain and cheer the hero, are rogues?

Such is a sample of Senator Bailey's logic. The Telegram does not think he has proved anything by his Fort Worth speech except that he has many warm and loyal friends here.

OLD MEN AND YOUNG WIVES

The experience of Senator Platt, the venerable republican political boss of New York, upon a tempestuous matrimonial sea, should be a standing warning to those who are standing in the lengthening shadows of the evening of life to refrain from the too common practice of mating with youth and beauty.

As nature sets forth in her immutable law that like shall beget like, so it is in a case of January mating with the flowery month of May. The man who is standing with all the best years of life behind him and one foot faltering on the brink of the grave is a fool to believe that happiness for him lies in the acquisition of a young wife who will soon tire of such unnatural conditions.

And the woman in the case understands the situation far better than the man who hopes for better things. She knows that when she takes upon herself the solemn vows of wifehood that it is impossible for her to give to her choice all that pertains to perfect wifehood. Nine times out of ten she goes into the arrangement for financial considerations, flattering herself that it will not be for long and she can stand almost anything until death claims his owl.

Then with wealth and social position she will be in position to have and obtain that happiness denied her in the first experiment. But death does not bring the expected release in every instance as soon as hoped for, and the woman seeks congenial companionship in other quarters, which too often results in her downfall.

Marriage under such circumstances is but a mockery, and the divorced courts of the country fully attest the truth of the assertion. But there is no fool like an old fool, and the custom of old men taking young wives will continue just so long as woman is willing to barter herself for a consideration. The Chicago Chronicle contains the following very sensible and timely editorial on this subject:

Men differ greatly in their opinions concerning religion, politics, medicine, art, science and a multitude of other things, but there is a substantial agreement among them in regard to one thing and that is that the old man who takes a young wife is a fool. The only dissident is the old man himself.

How could it be otherwise? Even in regard to people who are by no means old it is almost proverbial that very youthful marriages are the happiest. That is partly because there is not apt to be much disparity of age and partly because assimilation is easier. If, then, there is a disadvantage in marrying at 25 instead of 25 there must be a proportionately greater disadvantage in marrying at 65 or 75, even when the woman is of corresponding age. The climax of unreason is reached when the man of 75 marries the woman of 25.

The most important condition of happiness in married life is similarity of taste. Differences in fortune, intelligence, in religion and in matters of opinion so far from producing marital dissensions simply give variety to married life. On the other hand, differences in regard to art, music, dress, furniture and manners are irreconcilable and lead to the fiercest sort of conflicts. It does not help the matter any, but makes it worse if these differences in taste are the result of age.

This is the rock on which the old man splits when he yokes himself up with a young wife. The tastes of youth are woolly and hopelessly different from the tastes of old age. Youth admires noise, excitement and display. Old age craves quiet, moderation and simplicity. Fire and water, light and darkness, life and death could not be more antipodal than these tastes and tendencies. How, then can an old man hope for happiness with a young wife?

Great wealth might be supposed to bridge over this dissimilarity, but the truth is it only aggravates it. The passion of the young wife for frivolity, inanity and display is immensely stimulated and the gulf between her and her aged companion is made wider than ever. How could any one but an insane person expect happiness from such a relation?

Whether he and his wife expect happiness or not they never get it. The inevitable disagreement and divorce are not long in arriving and when they arrive the world justifies the woman in marrying for money, but curses the man for being such a consummate fool.

It is perfectly true that old men should as far as possible surround themselves with things that are new and with companions that are young. This is a fine means of retaining a youthful and joyous spirit, but it does not apply to the married relation. That is an intimacy in which there must be unity of taste and inclination or—death.

Everybody knows which one it is that dies. When an octogenarian takes a young wife the undertaker gets the shroud ready and the world says: Amen!

MONUMENT FOR GENERAL TARRANT

There is a well defined movement shaping up for the erection of a suitable monument to mark the last resting place of General Edward Tarrant, who now sleeps in a neglected grave near Italy, in Ellis county. General Tarrant was an active and forceful figure in those stirring events which led to the present glorious development of this section of Texas, and while this county was named for the distinguished dead, it is a reflection upon our people that his last resting place should now be the scene of neglect. The Italy Surpriser says:

Some kind of a monument should be placed at the head of the grave of General Edward Tarrant, who lies in peaceful slumber in the Hughes' graveyard, three miles east of Italy. Tarrant was quite a noted general in his day and he and Captain Hughes gained quite a distinction for driving the Indians from this country and there opening it up to civilization. Tarrant county was named in honor of him, and if the historic spot of ground where he lies is allowed to go without a memorial it will soon be entirely forgotten. There are very few now who could point out his grave, a small sandstone slab without inscription, being the only identification. Hon. Howard Peak of Fort Worth has started the Tarrant memorial fund by subscribing $25. Who will be the next? The Surpriser will print the names and amounts of any who desire to contribute. A board of officers should be elected to look after the matter, more especially a secretary and treasurer to keep up the correspondence and take charge of the funds. Mr. Peak is interested in the matter and would be a suitable person to present the matter to the people of Fort Worth. A beginning must be made now if the plan is successfully carried out. The Telegram believes it will only be necessary to call the attention of the good people of Fort Worth and Tarrant county to the movement that has been started to mark General Tarrant's grave in a proper and suitable manner, and the necessary funds will be provided in short order. It is a movement that should command the indorsement and financial assistance of every patriotic and progressive citizen.

There will be a meeting of anti-Bailey men at Dallas Oct. 11, and it is probable some kind of permanent organization will be entered into. Cullen F. Thomas of Waco and F. M. Etheridge of Dallas appear to be at the head of the movement.

Colonel Tom Campbell has returned to Texas from a lengthy sojourn in the state of Arkansas, and those 30,000 original Campbell men should summarily prepare to move on Palestine.

The insurrection in Cuba is said to be over and quiet fully restored. When a bill is presented for the expenses of intervention it may be decided that annexation is the cheapest way out of it.

If Senator Beveridge of Indiana is to come to Texas to help in the republican campaign, he ought to prove a popular man, especially in the local option districts of the state.—Terrell Transcript.

The Indiana Beveridge is not the kind that finds favor even in the local option districts of Texas, for Texas democrats always take their democracy straight.

It is settled that there is no need of any rangers on the Rio Grande. In consequence of the reported troubles across the border, that so-called rebellion over the lines is more on paper than in any other thing and more socialistic than anything else. Mexico is found and satisfied.—San Antonio Light.

The Light should remember there are large American interests in Mexico, and a large number of Americans who would be delighted to have Uncle Sam give Mexico a "stable" form of government.

THE TEXAS PRESS

A question that will be up to the solons of Texas during the next few years is that of allowing only rich men to run for office. A law should be framed to place office, no matter how exalted, in the reach of the humblest citizen. As it is only a man with a considerable barrel can run for office.—Denton Record and Chronicle.

When it costs an average candidate for governor $10,000 to make the race for a position that pays him but $8,000 for the term, there is not much incentive for the man of small means to become a candidate.

A white man married a negro woman in Washington, D. C., last week. Such white men who practice and preach social equality with the negro race are the worst enemies the negro has, as well as a disgrace to the white race.—Venus Times.

The Times is mistaken. The Washington man was not white. He was blacker than the woman he married.

Don't be too quick to ascribe bad motives to the man who does not agree with you. It is always well to remember there are two sides to every question and that two men may differ widely and be equally honest.—McKinney Courier-Gazette.

There are some men who are so sensitive to criticism that they regard it as an unbearable interference and answer argument with abuse and logic with billingsgate. The man in public life who regards himself as above criticism has too lofty an estimate of himself and is destined sooner or later to be brought down to earth with much suddenness.

If the pure food law is enforced it will be a great thing for the health of the people. It means not only purer food but purer confectionaries and pure drugs, less adulteration and better health.—Crown News.

There are thousands of Texans today who are suffering the pangs of the damned from nervous indigestion as a result of the adulterated foods they are constantly compelled to take into their stomachs. No state in the union needs a pure food law worse than Texas.

Every friend of Mr. Crane's must regret, as the Post regrets, the sorry plight in which his own better judgment will reveal him as the result of his debate with Senator Bailey.—Houston Post.

Well, don't that jar you? For pure and unadulterated gall, the Post surpasses all others.

Both Fort Worth and Waco are considering the advisability of adopting the commission form of government, modeled after the systems which have proven so successful in Galveston and Houston.—San Antonio Express.

The commission form of government seems to be growing in popularity, but the greatest trouble with its continued advancement is that so few citizens are trying to acquaint themselves with its provisions.

Grayson county is the whole thing in republican politics this year of our Lord. Colonel Lyon is the recognized head of the regular organization in Texas, and now Dr. Acheson of Denison is the nominee of the "reorganized" wing for governor, Colonel E. H. R. Green of Kaufman county having declined the honor.—Sherman Register.

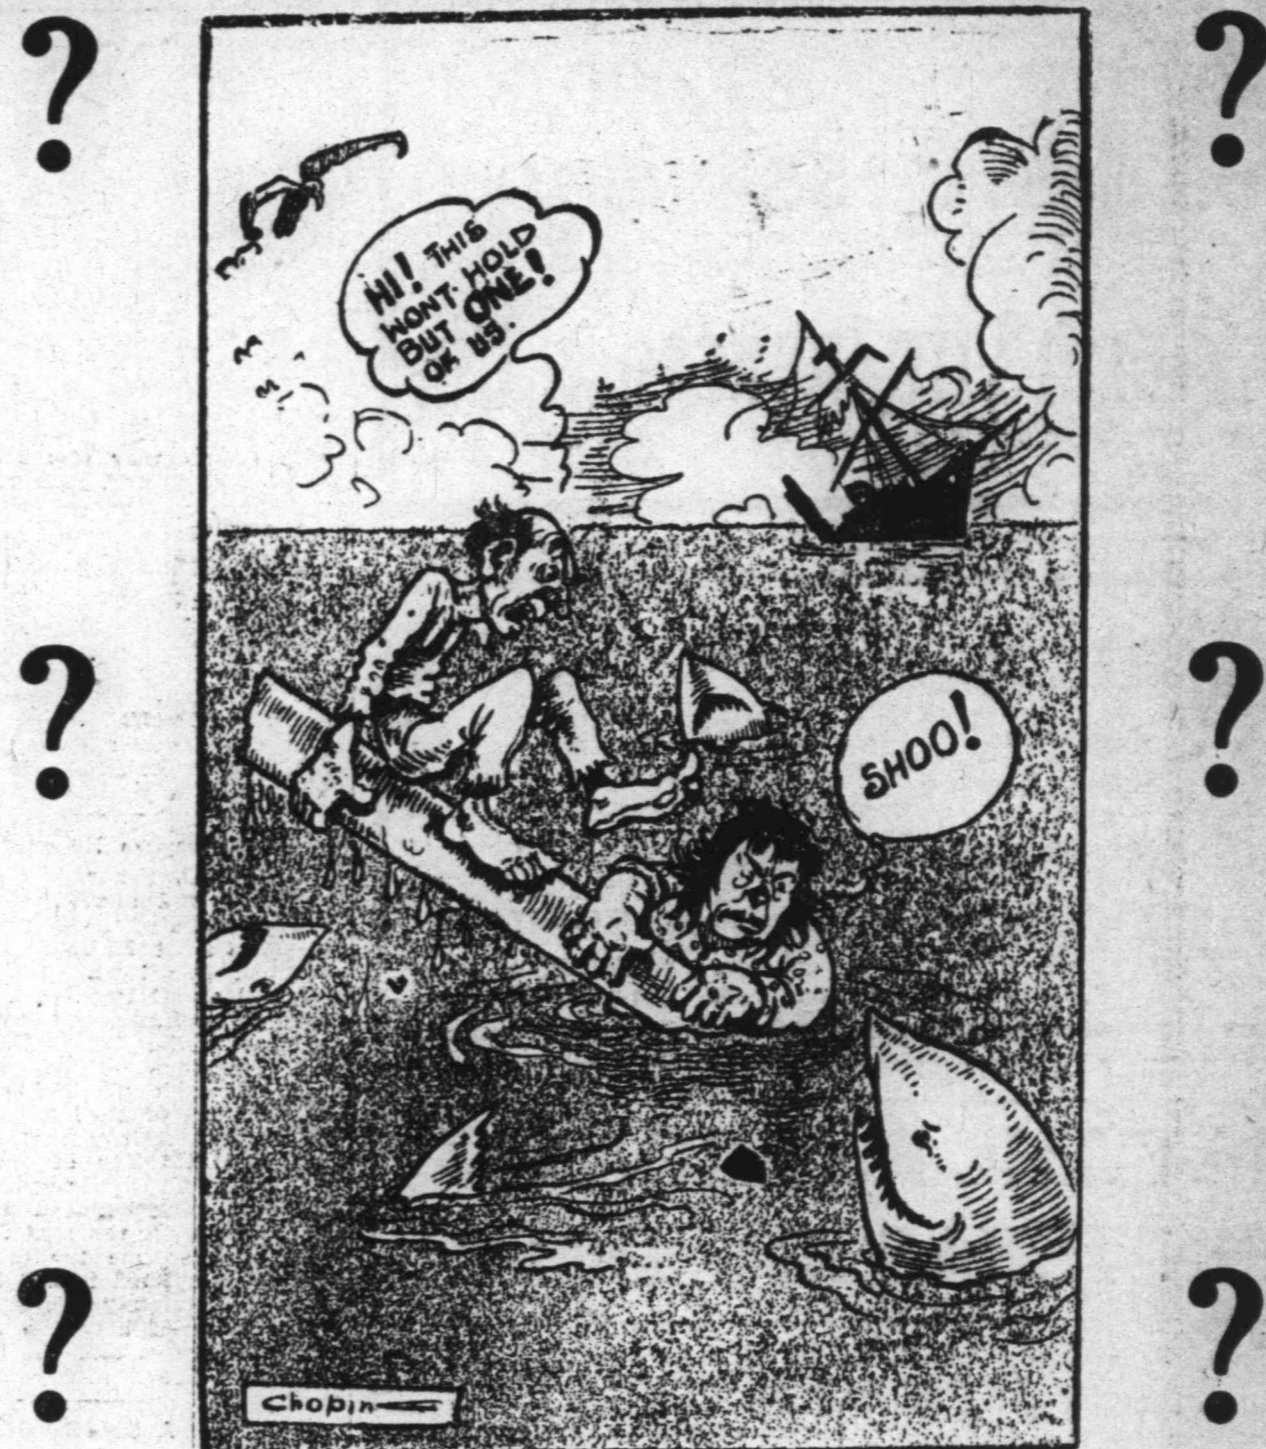

Colonel Cecil Lyon of Grayson county was the whole republican cheese without the Denison attachment. Colonel Lyon has more than once demonstrated that he is IT.

What newspapers in Texas does a representative of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company own stock in?—Austin Tribune.

That is a leading question, and like some others propounded lately, will probably remain unanswered.

VERY AWKWARD

WHAT WOULD YOU DO IN THIS SITUATION?

If, after being shipwrecked in midocean, you were lucky enough to reach a floating spar, (capable of bearing only one person, and were to discover your wife's mother trying to clamber on this same spar while the sharks and things were snapping around, what would you do? Would you gallantly drop into the briny, thereby assuring the lady's safety, or would you gently but firmly force her fingers from their mad clutch?

THAT REMINDS ME

LOOKS LIKE IT

A class in an uptown school was having a lesson on the mountains of South America. After speaking about the volcanoes and earthquake regions of the Andes, the teacher remarked, "By the way, children, what is a volcano?" A number of hands were instantly raised, and one tiny fellow waved his hand frantically in the air, very anxious to give his definition.

"Well, Johnnie," said the teacher, "what is a volcano?" Johnny, scarcely able to contain himself, rose proudly to his feet and answered, "A volcano is a sick mountain."

PRESENCE OF MIND

Speaking of rare presence of mind recently recalled to Secretary Taft the case of a handsome young lady of his acquaintance. The young lady, the secretary said, had gone to the depot to meet a gentleman friend of the family, and when he debarked from the train he lost his head and impulsively kissed her. The girl thought it wise to tell her mother of the affair and, naturally, the good lady was simply horrified.

"You don't mean to say that he had the impudence to kiss you?" she exclaimed. "And to think of the crowd at the station! What did you do?"

"Why, I kissed him back, of course," responded the young lady. "I wanted to give the people the impression that we were relatives."

ENOUGH SAID

Mrs. Dixon did not wish to offend her new cook, "John," she said to the man servant one morning, "can you find out without asking the cook, whether the canned salmon was all eaten last night? You see, I don't wish to ask her because she may have eaten it, and then she would feel uncomfortable," added the good soul.

"If you please, ma'am," replied the man, "the new cook has eaten the canned salmon, and if you was to say anything to her you couldn't make her feel any more uncomfortable than she is."

A FOOLOMETER

Some visitors who were being shown over a pauper lunatic asylum inquired of their guide what method was employed to discover when the inmates were sufficiently recovered to leave.

"Well," replied he, "you see, it's this way. We have a big trough of water and we turn on the tap. We leave it running and tell 'em to bail out the water with pails until they've emptied the trough."

"How does that prove it?" asked one of the visitors. "Well," said the guide, "them as ain't idiots turns off the tap."

THE COLONEL IN HISTORY

Colonel Blank, who later called himself general, received in a little skirmish of the civil war a slight scratch on the leg. In the days afterward he nursed his glorious wound with loving care and grew lazier year by year that the memory of his bravery might be ever fresh.

When grown old, as he sat one day caring for his leg and musing on the glorious past, a young man, a stranger visiting the family for a few days, approached him and inquired, sympathetically:

"Lame, general?" "Yes, young man, I am lame." "Been riding, sir?" "No, sir," sternly and rebukingly, "I have not been riding." "Ah, slipped on the ice, general?" "No, sir!" with actual ferocity. "Tean, perhaps, sir, you have sprained your ankle?" The old man slowly and carefully lifted his pet leg in both hands and tenderly set his foot upon the floor. Then he slowly rose from his seat and stood looking down with scornful pity at the unucky youth. At last, in the sublimity of rage, he burst out:

"Go and read the history of your country, you puppy!"

VERY THAT BING

THINGS YOU LEAVE UNDONE

It isn't the thing you do, dear; It's the thing you leave undone, Which gives you a bit of heartache At the setting of the sun. The tender word forgotten, The letter you did not write, The flower you might have sent, dear, Are your haunting ghosts tonight.

The stone you might have lifted Out of a brother's way, The bit of heartsome counsel You were hurried too much to say; The loving touch of the hand, dear, The gentle and winsome tone, That you had no time nor thought for, With troubles enough of your own.

The little acts of kindness So easily out of mind; Those chances to be angels Which everyone may find— They come in night and silence— Each chill, reproachful wraith— When hope is faint and nagging And a blight has dropped on faith.

For life is all too short, dear, And sorrow is all too great; So suffer our great compassion That tarries until too late; And it's not the thing you do, dear, It's the thing you leave undone, Which gives you the bit of heartache At the setting of the sun. —Margaret Sangster, in Philia. Inquirer.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

Fast men seldom win in the human race. Necessity knows more law than a lot of lawyers. Invisible patches are not used in fixing up quarrels. Some men look upon religion as a sort of moral fire escape.

When a man beholds his first baby boy his path of life looks sonny. Don't forget to laugh when your boss tells a joke with whiskers on it.

Some men are born poets, but most editors have poetry thrust upon them. The man who jumps at conclusions is apt to meet with a surprise when he lands.

And it sometimes happens that a rich bachelor makes a poor husband. In the various walks of life some people have a walkover and others gets a walk on.

The man who gets blue over trifles is apt to alter the color scheme by painting things red. If the success of lawyers were due to the gift of gab, women would soon crowd men out of the profession.

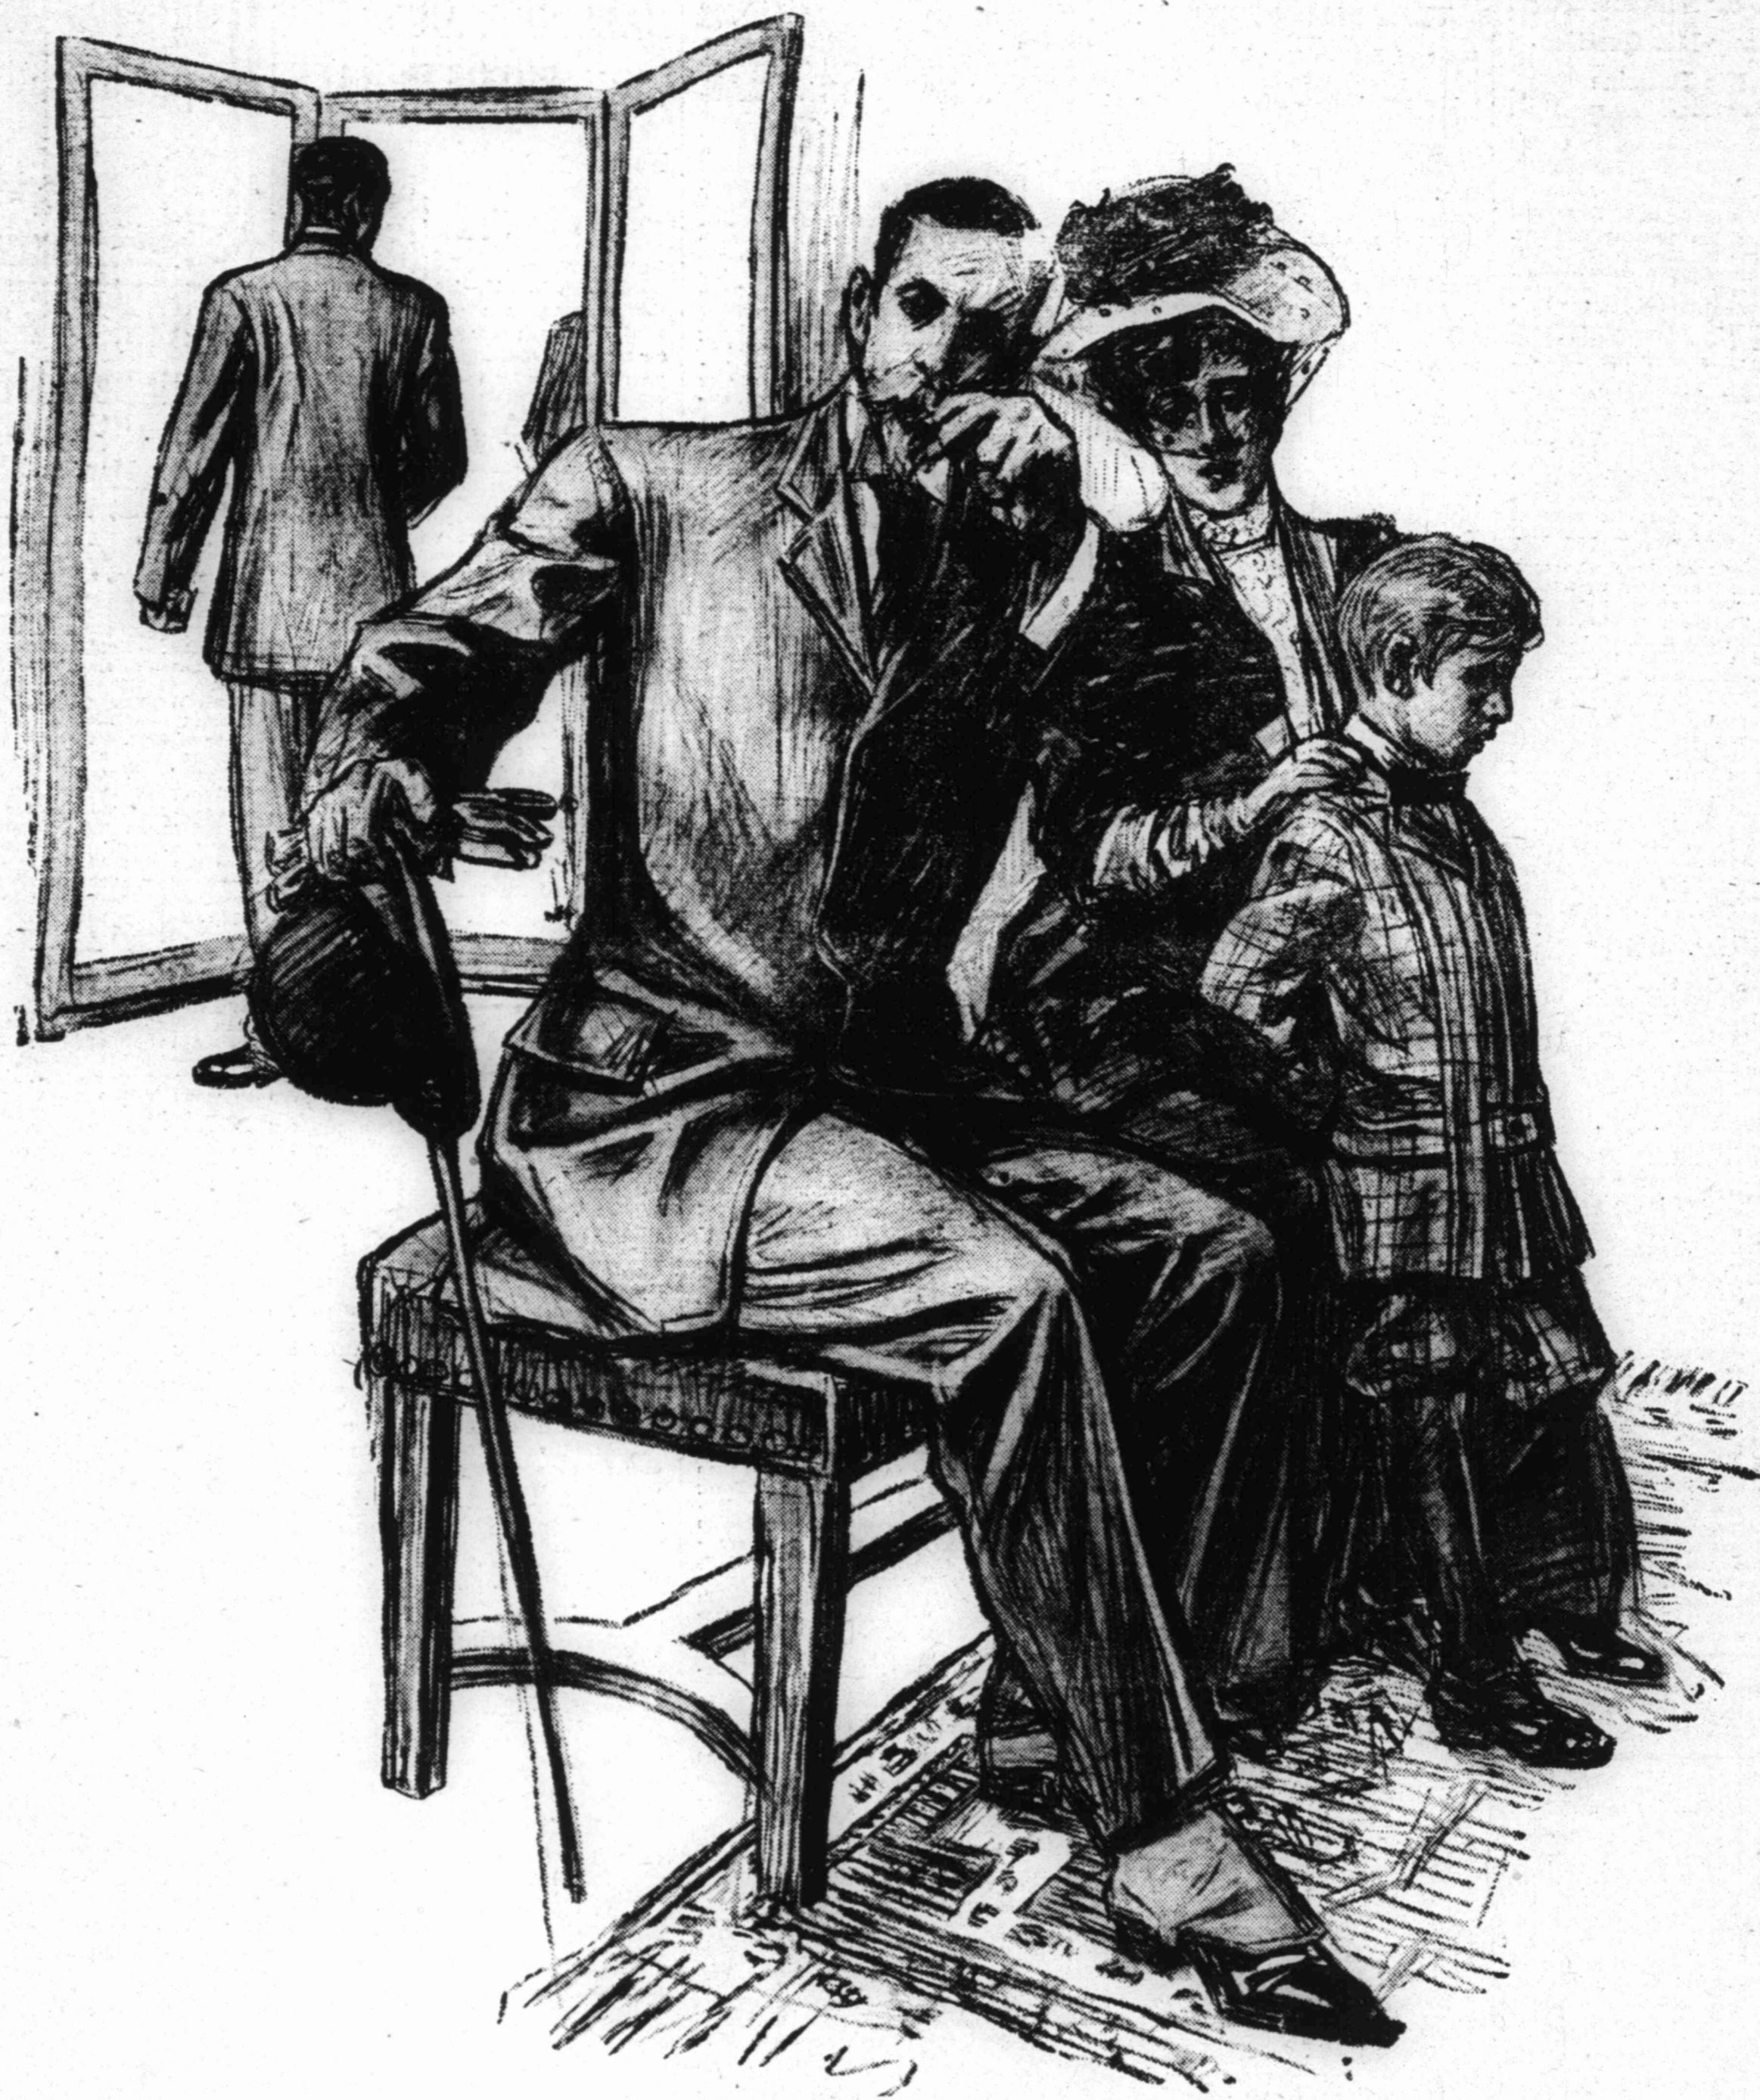

Instead of running away from your work try to find an easier way of doing it. That's one of the secrets of success. A woman's distrust of her husband is never really serious until she begins to refer to some other woman as "that brazen thing."

MIDDLE LIFE A Time When Women Are Susceptible to Many Dread Diseases—Intelligent Women Prepare for it. Two Relate their Experiences.

The "change of life" is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and the anxiety felt by women as it draws near is not without reason.

Mrs. A.E.G. Hyland

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headache, backaches, dizziness, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness, inquietude, and dizziness, are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life. It invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system.

For special advice regarding this important period women are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and it will be furnished absolutely free of charge.

Read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound did for Mrs. Hyland and Mrs. Hinkle:

"I wrote you for advice and commenced treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as you directed, and I am happy to say that all those distressing symptoms have left me and I have passed safely through the change of life, a free woman. I am recommending your medicine to all my friends."—Mrs. Annie E. G. Hyland, Chester, N.M.

"Another Woman's Case During change of life words cannot express what I suffered. My physician said I had a cancerous condition of the female organs. One day I read some of the testimonials of women who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I decided to try it and to write you for advice. Your medicine made me a well woman, and all my bad symptoms soon disappeared."—Mrs. Lizzie Hinkle, Salem, Ind.

"I advise every woman at this period of life to take your medicine and write you for advice."—Mrs. Lizzie Hinkle, Salem, Ind.

It has conquered pain, restored health, and prolonged life in cases that utterly baffled physicians.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

The House of a Thousand Candles

"So Miss Devereux was the other person who shared your confidence! Do you understand—do you appreciate the fact that she was Pickering's ally?"

"For God's sake—no!" pleaded Bates. He was deeply moved and turned his face away from us.

"But, like me," Larry went on, "he mixed in politics. One night he got at Dublin a constable was killed. No one knew who was guilty, but a youngster was suspected—the son of one of the richest and best-known men in Ireland, who happened to get mixed in the row. To draw attention from the boy, Creighton let suspicion attach to his own name, and to help the boy's case further, ran away. I had not heard from or of him until the night I came here and found him the defender of this house. By God! that was no servant's trick—it was the act of a royal gentleman."

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

The aches and pains of Rheumatism are only symptoms which may be scattered or relieved with liniments, plasters, blisters, etc., or quieted with opiates. As soon as the treatment is left off, however, or there is any exposure to dampness, or an attack of indigestion, the nagging pains, sore muscles and tender places on the flesh return, and the sufferer finds that he has merely checked the symptoms, while the real cause remains in the system.

The Remington Autoloading Shotgun uses its own "kick" to eject, cock and load. Having a single barrel, it is easy to handle. It is the triumph of the new system. Book on Rheumatism and medical advice free.

BOYHOOD FRIENDS MEET HERE AFTER 50 YEARS

Fifty years ago Nicholas Waggoner and Paul Rapp were schoolboys together in Germany and occupied seats together at school. In their schoolboy days he was in Fort Worth and at his boarding house entered into conversation with a fellow boarder, also a German. This man was Paul Rapp and it was but a short time until the two by their talk became known to each other. Then there followed a scene that baffles description, unless the understanders German. The men hugged and kissed each other like two women. Tears rolled down their cheeks and there would be more hugging, and their schoolboy days were lived over again.

HAS TWO WIVES ALL ARE HAPPY

Both Angry When Court Interferes With Them

Special to The Telegram. CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Madison, Wis., says: Charles R. Sager, 28 years of age; his wife, who is the mother of two small children, and another woman, to whom he was married unlawfully, have been living in the same house since last May, the lawful Mrs. Sager acting as servant in the home of which her rival is mistress. Sager, who is an insurance solicitor and custodian of the buildings of the University of Wisconsin, voluntarily made this confession in court yesterday. Everyone concerned is contented with this arrangement of their domestic affairs, both women resenting it when the court interfered. "Charles is a good, kind man and we shall stick by him thru thick and thin," said the second Mrs. Sager, after the man in the case had been sent to jail. "Shan't we, Bessie," she asked of the first Mrs. Sager. "We surely will stick by him," said the latter.

Arrangement Satisfactory "So long as the three persons concerned," Mrs. Sager No. 2 went on, "are satisfied with this arrangement, I don't think outsiders should interfere and try to make trouble." Judge Donovan of the municipal court said that the law must take its course and that Sager could not be released, at least until an investigation should have been made. Both of the women are young and attractive in appearance. The first Mrs. Sager is tall and a blond. The second is short and a brunette. While being examined in court on the charge of having assaulted a bartender, Sager astonished Judge Donovan by voluntarily telling his story.

GOOD YEAR FOR APPLES Good Prices and Large Crops Are Promised

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Mr. T. E. Dennis of W. Dennis & Son, commission merchants of London, has arrived in New York after an extended tour of the apple districts of New York and Canada. Mr. Dennis expresses the belief, based upon his observations during his American trip, that the present season will be a good apple year from the standpoint of the exporter. He does not believe there will be as many apples barreled in this country as early reports indicated, and he believes there will be good export request at higher prices than many of the exporters may expect. Mr. Dennis does not predict, however, that prices will be as high as last year and states that no one is expecting such figures as then prevailed. Mr. Dennis passed thru the apple districts of Nova Scotia, Ontario, the New England states, New York and the middle western states.

MOB SOUGHT AUTOISTS Car Struck Italian and Laborers Rush for Occupants

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—But for the prompt action of Edward Carroll, foreman of a gang of Italian laborers, who were at work at the Brooklyn end of the Brooklyn bridge early this morning, the occupants of an automobile would have been mobbed. The automobile struck one of the Italians and the rest rushed for the car, and Carroll, taking in the situation at a glance, ordered the men to resume work, which they did after much murmuring.

No formal application for clemency in Patrick's behalf is now pending before the governor.

CLAY RETURNS Superintendent of Insurance Attends Big Meeting in New York

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 10.—Superintendent of Insurance Clay returned this morning from New York, where he attended the meeting of the insurance committee from various states of the union to take action on the proposed insurance laws. Clay says the meeting was a big success and all the proposed bills were referred back to a committee of fifteen with power to act. This committee will send the proposed bills to all legislatures in the United States.

RUSSIANS TREAT TOURISTS HARSHLY

American Woman Is Dragged From Train by Soldiers

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Karekin Leon, an Americanized Armenian merchant who reached here today on the steamship La Bretagne after a trip thru Europe and Asia, makes the statement that American citizens traveling in Russia are given scant courtesy by the officials of that country and in some cases are harshly treated. He instances the case of Miss Wetslafer, a teacher of languages in Chicago, who, being invited to visit St. Petersburg by the daughter of a Russian general, was taken from a train at the Russian border town of Ballachink because of an alleged error in her passport. Leon asserts that Miss Wetslafer was dragged from the train by Russian officers and soldiers, despite the protests of himself and half a dozen other Americans. The last he saw of the American woman, she was tearfully appealing to the Russians on the station platform.

ADMITS HER IDENTITY New Orleans Authorities Still Hold Suzanne Carmeau

Special to The Telegram. NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 10.—The police here will not release Suzanne Carmeau, alias Ida Gillette, who is still held as a fugitive from Fort Worth. They expect the grand jury there to find an indictment. The woman admitted her identity and declared that the woman who told the police of her presence was none other than the person who advised her to leave Fort Worth and suggest to the police that she dye her hair and assume the name, and further that this said woman assisted her in dyeing her hair. She declared her innocence of the charge of murdering the boy found on her step.

PRIVATE COURSE FOR AUTO RACE Accidents at Contests to Be Avoided

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The directors of the American automobile association at a meeting yesterday adopted a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee of three to consider the subject of conducting a Vanderbilt cup race next year on a private course. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Jefferson de Mont Thompson and A. R. Hardington were appointed.

GIRL KIDNAPED Woman Makes Off with 3-Year-Old. Description Lacking

Special to The Telegram. BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Susie Becker, 3 years of age, daughter of Fred Becker, a saloon keeper, is believed to be in the hands of kidnapers. Yesterday afternoon the Susie and her brother were in Main street, about a block from their home, the girl was approached by a woman, who asked her to go with her. The child readily accompanied the woman, expecting the usual reward of candy. The only description the lad could give was that the woman was dressed in gray.

HUMOR COVERED HEAD AND SCALP Bothered With Itching for a Long Time--Found No Relief Until Cuticura Was Used--Kentucky Lady Now Completely Well.

WISHES SUCCESS TO CUTICURA REMEDIES "After using Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills, I am very glad to say I am entirely relieved of that itching humor of the head and scalp which I was bothered with quite a length of time. I did not use the Cuticura Remedies more than three times before I began to get better, and now I am completely well. I suffered with that humor on my head, and found no relief until I took the Cuticura Remedies. I think I used several cakes of Cuticura Soap, three boxes of Ointment, and two vials of Pills. I am doing all I can to publish the Cuticura Remedies, for they have done me good, and I know they will do others the same. With best wishes for your success." Mrs. Mattie Jackson, June 12, 1905. BEAUTIFUL ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

REASON FOR YOURSELF

SUCCESS OR FAILURE IN LIFE—GRASPING OPPORTUNITIES OR LETTING THEM PASS BY. MEN CALL THEIR OWN CARELESSNESS AND INACTIVITY FATE. THE "LUCKY" MAN IS THE MAN WHO GRASPS HIS OPPORTUNITY. TRULY GREAT FORTUNES, ALMOST WITHOUT EXCEPTION, HAVE BEEN MADE IN REAL ESTATE.

JOHN JACOB ASTOR, WHILE WORKING AT HIS DAILY TOIL, SAW THE OPPORTUNITY, AND WITH EACH DOLLAR SAVED CLINCHED SOME ONE OF THEM—RESULT THE ASTOR MILLIONS.

THE OPPORTUNITY OF TODAY LIES IN FORT WORTH SUBURBAN PROPERTY. THE UNPRECEDENTED AND CONTINUED INCREASE IN THE POPULATION HAS MADE IMPERATIVE THE GIGANTIC RAPID TRANSIT PLANS NOW UNDER WAY.

RUSSELL SAGE SAID: "YOUNG MAN, BUY REAL ESTATE, ESPECIALLY IN THE OUTLYING SUBURBS, AND THEN WORK HARD AT YOUR USUAL VOCATION. YOUR REAL ESTATE PURCHASES WILL MAKE YOUR OLD AGE COMFORTABLE." THE SUCCESSFUL MAN DETERMINES WHERE THE PEOPLE WILL GO, AND BUYS BEFORE THEY REACH THERE.

IT IS CLEAR THAT THE ONLY REAL AND INDESTRUCTIBLE POSSESSION OF THE HUMAN RACE IS THE EARTH UPON WHICH WE LIVE. WITH OUR BRAINS WE DEVELOP OUR PROPERTY. THE EARTH IS THE PROPERTY. WE ALL DEPEND UPON IT—WE ALL NEED IT FOR OUR FOOD, FOR OUR VERY EXISTENCE. WE ARE DEPENDENT UPON A HOUSE, A ROOF. LUCKY THE MAN WHO CAN POINT TO A HOME, HOWEVER HUMBLE, AND SAY, "THAT BELONGS TO ME."

THE CITY OF FORT WORTH, IN ITS SUBURBAN PROPERTY, LIKE THE OTHER GREAT CITIES OF THE NATION, WILL GIVE TO THE WISE INVESTOR

SUCH OPPORTUNITIES IN THE COURSE OF THE NEXT YEAR OR TWO AS MAY NEVER COME AGAIN. IN THE FIRST PLACE, SCIENCE IS ENTERING A STAGE IN RAPID TRANSIT—OR DISTRIBUTION OF POPULATION—SUCH AS THE WORLD HAS NEVER SEEN. ARLINGTON HEIGHTS IS ONLY 20 MINUTES' CAR RIDE FROM THE CENTER OF FORT WORTH.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS IS A TRACT OF OVER SEVEN HUNDRED ACRES, LYING JUST WEST OF THE CITY ON A HIGH, LEVEL PLATEAU, WITH A CLIMATE ALWAYS DRY AND INVIGORATING. BESIDES THE NATURAL ADVANTAGES, VAST SUMS HAVE BEEN SPENT IN LAYING OUT BOULEVARDS AND PARKS, TRANSPLANTING SHADE TREES AND IN MANY WAYS BEAUTIFYING AND IMPROVING THE PROPERTY.

REASONABLE BUILDING RESTRICTIONS HAVE BEEN PROVIDED, AND A MAINTENANCE SOCIETY ORGANIZED, THUS INSURING THE PRESERVATION OF THE ADVANTAGES WE INSTALL. ALL OF THE LOTS ARE NICE, LARGE, DEEP AND WELL DRAINED, MAGNIFICENTLY LOCATED AT AN ELEVATION OF 150 FEET ABOVE THE LEVEL OF FORT WORTH.

OUR TERMS ARE ONLY $10 DOWN, $10 PER MONTH FOR EACH LOT, EVERY CONVENIENCE OF WHICH BRAINS CAN CONCEIVE IS BEING RAPIDLY INSTALLED, AND IN NO OTHER SUBURB OF FORT WORTH CAN BE FOUND SO MANY FEATURES LOOKING TO THE COMFORT AND SERVICE OF THE PEOPLE. THE FACT THAT WE SELL LOTS FOR ONLY $100 TO $300 SHOULD NOT BE CONSTRUED TO MEAN THAT BECAUSE THEY ARE CHEAP THEY ARE NOT GOOD.

WE TRUST THAT OUR PROPOSITION WILL BE THOROUGHLY INVESTIGATED BY THOSE DESIRING A SAFE, SURE AND SOLID INVESTMENT OR A HOME. WE TRUST THAT THOSE INTERESTED WILL AVAIL THEMSELVES OF THE OPPORTUNITY TO VISIT OUR MAGNIFICENT PROPERTY.

Don't take our word for it! Investigate! Be satisfied! Ten dollars down buys a level lot. Electric light, water, macadam streets and shade trees. A small investment will lay the foundation of independence. Try it. Don't forget that these are all high level lots, fifty by one hundred and twenty-five feet. Our proposition is TEN DOLLARS CASH and TEN DOLLARS PER MONTH per Lot

BAILEY GIVES LETTER REPLY

Charges Made by Davidson Puts Senator in Huff

PETITION SCORED

Says Testimony Against Oil Co. Invaluable, But Attorney General Turns Down

Senator Bailey has given out the following reply to the correspondence published by the attorney general's department with reference to the Waters-Pierce Oil Company litigation:

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 9.—Hon. R. V. Davidson, Austin, Texas: Sir— I have just read in the public prints this morning your letter dated at Austin, Oct. 6, replying to my letter addressed to you on Oct. 5. My reason for marking my letter "Personal" was, that it contained a criticism of your official conduct, and I did not believe it proper for any democrat in my position to publicly criticize the democratic nominee for attorney general, and hence I did not give the letter to the public, but marked it "Personal."

If I had any doubt before about your animus in the matter the tone of your letter would remove that doubt; but even under this new provocation, I shall still refuse to engage in a controversy with a democratic nominee pending the election, and the responsibility for any friction which may grow out of this correspondence, so far as the public is concerned, must rest with you and not with me. There are one or two statements in your letter, however, to which I feel called upon to reply.

The allegation to which I objected in your petition, and which you say I failed to point out, was the statement that the control of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company was surrendered to H. C. Pierce because of his supposed political influence in Texas. I do not of course know your authority for that statement, but it is plain that if you have proof of it from anybody it must have been obtained from the Standard Oil Company, as they alone could know their reason for yielding the control of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company to a minority stockholder. It does not, however, concern me where you received the information on which you based that statement, and my objection to it proceeds entirely upon the ground that in view of all the innuendoes and allegations that have been made intelligent readers could only construe that Mr. Pierce's political influence in Texas was to be exerted thru me. If I had been alone in drawing this inference I would have written a different letter, but after waiting for several days to confer with my friends about it I found that every one of the center retained the same view, and without exception they resented that statement in your petition as not only irrelevant, but as intended to give aid and comfort to my enemies.

Replying to that part of your letter in which you say that I have had "every opportunity" to tender you my services in the prosecution of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company I can hardly believe you responsible for that statement. In the first place, it had been in your hands since you instituted the suit against the Waters-Pierce Company when I wrote you, and a part of that time I was not in the state. It is never a good practice to allow private conversations in public communications, but I feel justified in reminding you of what transpired between us at Washington. You will easily remember that when you were there, and the papers stated that your mission was to secure what information you could from the bureau of corporations with respect to the connection of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company and the Standard Oil Company, I called upon you at your hotel and you must have told me, and to my officers, all the information in its possession. We then talked further about the case, and I told you that when you were ready to begin your prosecution I was ready to help you.

In your letter you state that the Waters-Pierce Oil Company "was represented into this state by fraud," and the very ground upon which you expect to exclude it is that it made fraudulent representations as to its independence of trusts; and yet you say that the testimony which I offer to furnish you as to these very misrepresentations will be of no material value to the state's case. I can prove that the company's misrepresentations in order to win your case, and consequently it seems to me that no testimony could be more material.

The fact that you practically decline to accept my offer to testify convinces me beyond the shadow of a doubt that I and my friends were right in thinking that it would not have been agreeable to your feelings, or consistent with my self-respect, had I asked to be associated with you as an attorney in the conduct of the case. Indeed, with your own legal staff, and with the private counsel which has been employed, it seems to me that you need witnesses more than you do lawyers, and I have no doubt that the best and most effective service which I could render Texas in punishing the fraud that has been practiced upon her laws would be to furnish the evidence of that fraud. Of course I am aware that the fraudulent misrepresentations were not made to me at the time when the company's permit to do business in Texas was issued to it, but they were made to me, and to my officers, in my state in my presence a short while before that, and are not only competent, but are the most material.

As the chief law officer of the state, it is your privilege and your duty to conduct this litigation according to your best judgment, and I have neither the right nor the disposition to obtrude upon you my views or my assistance, but I have the satisfaction of knowing that I have done my duty to the people of Texas by offering, and that, too, without any effort to ally political excitement, testimony which you must have in order to make out your case. I am constrained to believe that if the defendant admits its misrepresentations, as you say it will, it will do so because it understands that I can, and will, testify to them. If, however, it does not please you to avail yourself of my testimony the people of Texas will understand your reasons. Very truly yours, J. W. BAILEY.

HOMEOPATHS MEET HERE

State Association Is Informal Tuesday Morning

The Texas Homeopathic Association had but little more than an informal meeting Tuesday morning, the first day of the annual session for the year 1906. Those who were new to the meetings spent the time getting acquainted. The examinations are still on and when that work was disposed of there was so little intervening time that the body adjourned. The afternoon session is to be in conjunction with the Texas Eclectics.

The latter body was to assemble in Confederate room at the court house Tuesday morning, but they did but little more than talk over the situation generally.

At 2 o'clock Mayor Harris delivered the address of welcome and then there was a joint meeting of the eclectics and the homeopaths.

Body of Man Killed at Amarillo Remains Unidentified

Special to The Telegram.

AMARILLO, Texas, Oct. 10.—Despite the fact that hundreds of people have visited the local undertaking establishment, many of whom come from a distance, thinking they knew the boy from the description given, up to a late hour no one had identified the young man whose murder was reported several days ago.

Mayor Miller received the following anonymous letter today thru the mail, and it may lead to some clue:

"Dutchman worked for private detective agency, Cincinnati, Ohio; done some work in Fort Worth; Chief Res. I think, knows him."

Every effort is being made by local detectives to solve the matter. One thousand dollars reward is offered by Amarillo citizens for the arrest of the guilty parties.

SUBURBAN NEWS

COUNCIL HOLDS REGULAR SESSION

Big Grist of Business Is Expectation

Regular semi-monthly session of the North Fort Worth city council was held Tuesday night. All councilmen were present except Tannisch and Kelly.

A petition from citizens residing on Lincoln avenue was presented asking that the council prohibit the putting in of culverts or in any way changing the present drainage of Lincoln avenue between Fourteenth and Center streets. Such change, the petition recites, would carry the water over adjoining property and would thus cause much damage to the same. This is the street that has given the street and alley committee so much trouble. At the last meeting of the council Councilmen Coffey and Blanke were appointed as a special committee to look after and submit plans to relieve the present condition of that street, and their report to the council was adopted, and the street will be graded as recommended in the report. This resulted in a favorable action on the petition.

City Marshal O. R. Montgomery recommended to the council that more police protection was necessary in North Fort Worth, and asked that a mounted officer be kept on duty all night. The council took favorable action on the matter.

A letter from Swift & Co., asking that a warrant for the amount of $9 be drawn in their favor as balance due on a lot of coal was referred to Councilman Daniels for adjustment. This is the amount deducted by the council at its last meeting as having been charged up as weighing and drays on the coal purchased, when it was contended that the coal was promised at cost. The city had exchanged water privileges for the coal and no drays were mentioned.

City Is Sued

L. J. Blackwell has brought suit against the city of North Fort Worth and the Frisco Railway for damages in the sum of $450, alleged to have been sustained by the plaintiff and his family by illness, which was directly caused by stagnant water on account of the improper drainage of the defendant company's right of way, and the improper drainage of the adjoining property owned by the city, which was also caused by the making of the railway company's roadbed, and which the city took no steps to relieve. The city, by the mayor and city secretary, is cited to appear at the November term of county court to answer the complaint.

Sewer Franchise

City Attorney Baskin presented the amended petition for a sewer franchise. It was completed from sewer franchises now in operation in other cities in the state and covers the objections made by some of the members of the council when a former petition was presented by Mr. Pritchard. The new franchise provides that within five years the city may, at its option, take over the sewerage system at a price to be appraised by competent authorities, or if not ready to take over the

West Coast Suffers From Disasters—Many Homeless

Special to The Telegram.

CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 10.—Recent floods in the southern part of the state of Jalisco and district of Colima resulted in great destruction of property and loss of life. The number of fatalities from drowning along the line of the Manzanillo extension of the Mexican Central Railway is 123. Thousands of tons of earth and rocks descended by floods in the mountains.

The new steel railway bridge below Tuxpan was destroyed and a steam shovel weighing twenty-six tons was borne by the torrent for a considerable distance. In one place the water rose sixty feet. Many houses were destroyed by floods in the towns of Tuxpan and Zapotillo.

Twenty-five lives were lost during the recent floods in the Santiago river. Fifteen were drowned by the captain of a boat while crossing the river. They were workmen engaged on the canal being constructed for the power plant. All were natives. It is a long time since there was such tremendous floods on the west coast.

POLYTECHNIC HEIGHTS

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Boaz are spending several days in San Antonio.

J. R. Thomas of Weatherford is erecting a six-room cottage in Pine addition and will locate his family there.

W. C. Stockton of Klondike, Texas, is the guest of his brother, W. T. Stockton. In a few days he will go to Western Texas on a prospecting trip.

Rev. J. T. Bloodworth, who is completing his work at Childress, was in Polytchnic Heights Saturday to visit his family, which have already moved.

Polytchnic Lodge No. 925, A. F. and A. M. held its regular meeting Monday night.

One of the most unique social events of the season was the "stunt theater party" given Friday night by Miss Lucy Leeman at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Leeman, on Polytchnic Heights. The entertainment was given in honor of Miss Leeman's guest, Miss Marguerite Howard of Merkel. It represented a stock theater with comical costumes, music and settings and situations, with the peanut and popcorn vendor between the acts. Tickets were sold to "the roost," "bald-head" row and "box seats," and also to luncheon resorts to be served at the principal resorts of the city. A large crowd of young people was present and greatly enjoyed the unique entertainment.

NEGROES LYNCH NEGRO

Colored Man Who Assaulted Girl Is Beaten to Death

Special to The Telegram.

TEXARKANA, Ark., Oct. 10.—Anthony Davis, a negro hack driver, was found dead near the Cotton Belt roundhouse at a secluded spot half a mile from the business center of the town, at daylight yesterday morning. It is believed he was lynched by members of his own race, a crowd numbering about fifty or a hundred of whom were seen in the vicinity about midnight. It is believed that the deceased was decouped out there by a pre-arranged plan, and killed. Indications are that he was beaten and strangled to death.

A week ago he was arrested on a charge of attempting to violate a 15-year-old mulatto girl who was on route from Baxter, Ark., to school at Crockett, Texas.

Davis was arrested and fined, but took an appeal. The negroes of the city expressed great indignation at the time. Davis was 40 years old and had a wife and three children.

If a man is sentenced to jail he can serve his term, but he has to die to get over being red-headed.

Many a true word is spoken in indignation.

RARE MINIATURES

Will Be Shown This Week at Carnegie Library

Visitors to the Carnegie public library this week will have the opportunity of seeing two very rare miniatures over 121 years old that have been placed on exhibition here. The frescoes, depicting coloring and beauty of expression well preserved after so many years in something wonderful and shows how well the old masters understood their work. The miniatures are the property of Miss Ernie Watermire of Honey Grove and will remain at the library all this week, after which they will be taken to New York.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—With the exception of the interest taken in a few of the prominent stocks on the exchange today, the market failed to respond in any great degree to the bull effort to advance the general list. However, the trend of Union Pacific was upward, while the success of the Pennsylvania tunnel perhaps was the cause of the bull advance in the general list. Outside of the fact that there is a large shortage in some of the leaders, there does not appear to be much ground for an especially bullish sentiment. Erie was selling some upon a bulls' tendency upon rumors of tips from the inside. Southern Pacific was purchased on reactions, but the offerings were very light. The total sales to noon per value, was $450,500. Money, 3 1/2 per cent.

FAIR AND WARMER IS THE FORECAST

FAIR AND WARMER IS THE FORECAST. Temperature at 2:30 p. m., 65 degrees. Wind, northeast; velocity, 12 to 15 miles. Barometer, falling. Forecast, fair and warmer.

TEXAS IS CLEAR AND COOL, THE NO FROST is reported Wednesday from any portion of the state. The forecast is for continued clear and warmer weather. The cold wave area is now centered over the valleys of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers, and killing frosts occurred Wednesday morning in Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Illinois, Missouri and Kansas. Kansas reports freezing temperatures. Wichita reports a minimum of 30 degrees. The skies and clear through the valley country resulting from high barometric pressure. The low barometer area, which Tuesday was centered over the Lake region, has moved to the east and on Wednesday is causing rain in Massachusetts.

Remarks on the Cotton Belt. In the report of conditions in the cotton belt, D. S. Landis, in charge of local office of the weather bureau, makes the following remarks: "The cotton region is clear; no rain has occurred in any portion. Heavy frost occurred in portions of Tennessee and Arkansas, and light frost was noted in Oklahoma."

Forecast. The forecast until 7 p. m. Thursday for Fort Worth and vicinity, issued at New Orleans today, indicated the following: "Tonight and Thursday—Fair and warmer. Indications, as predicted from the same station, for the week are as follows: East Texas (north)—Tonight and Thursday fair and warmer. East Texas (south)—Tonight fair; Thursday fair and warmer."

NEW YORK COTTON

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Reports of frost from Arkansas, Tennessee, Oklahoma, Mississippi and northern Louisiana have had a bullish effect on the market here today and there was a gain of 20 points over yesterday's close for that month. It is known thru advices to traders that the cotton plant throughout the south had a great quantity of sap in it even at this late season and that a frost at this time must necessarily check the further maturity of the season's crop. It is tall the yield of the boll, and thus curbing the crop for the present season does not exceed 12,000,000 bales, which is an estimate of crop statisticians. The bulls claim that the marketing demand will exceed the supply at that figure, and that further advances may be expected. Many of the professional traders are expressing a bullish belief that cotton will reach 12 cents within a short time. The bear crowd, however, are still hammering the market in their frantic effort to force a decline, but despite their efforts the market looks more bullish every day. Professionals are taking all offerings of the season's crop and are holding on to all they get in response to the strong bull sentiment. The scalping trade was the most active, buying on breaks and selling at a profit on the sharp spurts as they occur. The weather report was generally fair weather, with a low temperature throughout the south and frost in many sections, and favorable forecasts for tomorrow. Liverpool advices were bullish, f. o. b. men claiming they can get 5.35 for December for a turn, on the theory that frost damage will be light.

Table with columns: Open, High, Low, Close for various months: January, March, May, October, December.

New Orleans Cotton. NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 10.—The New Orleans market opened at an advance of from 15 to 18 points. At least five bales of spot cotton were sold soon after the opening, but with the hammering of the bears to prevent a further advance, the offerings became few and the frost warning began to lose its bullish influence, which it at first developed, and all the efforts of the bulls to boost prices failed to get much response. However, the market continued nervous and the fluctuations were not allowed to make sensational jumps either way. Spot cotton remained firm at an advance of 1-3/4, with good middling for 10-1/2.

Table with columns: Open, Close for various months: January, February, March, April, May, June, July, August, September, October, November, December.

Liverpool Cotton Cable. LIVERPOOL, Oct. 10.—Liverpool opened easy today, seven points lower than yesterday's close. Spot cotton was 7 points up on sales of 5,000, of which 4,000 bales were for the total receipts for the day were 6,000, tone steady at the close. F. o. b. men are in the market for good middling for October delivery, but are doing little for lack of offerings.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago Grain and Provisions. CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 10.—An advance of 1/2c in Liverpool wheat, and a slight advance in Liverpool corn, further improved by a fair cash export demand, enabled the grain market to hold a firm tone today. The market declined somewhat toward the close, and the bearish sentiment is increasing, though frost last night is aiding wheat conditions. Speculators were heavy sellers today on the high level, and commission brokers were advising the sale of any quantity. Corn trading was only moderate, but held a firm tone. Oats were in good demand, but comparatively small quantities seem to be on the market for sale. January pork and hog products were advanced over yesterday and closed steady. The government bureau report on wheat gave a total of 74,000,000 bushels of wheat with an average yield of 13.7 bushels per acre, and is considered a heavy yield. The corn condition is given at 90.1, against 89.1 at this time last year. The total oats crop is given at 84,000,000 bushels, with an average yield of 31.2 bushels per acre.

RIVAL RELIGIOUS BANDS IN FIGHT Salvation Army and Volunteers Have Real Battle. DENISON, Texas, Oct. 10.—A battle between rival bands of the Salvation Army and the American Volunteers at Ninth street and Third avenue caused great excitement and resulted in a smashing of a number of musical instruments, including a bass drum.

CHAMPIONSHIP WON BY CHICAGO. Players and Fans Suffer From Cold. CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 10.—The White Sox were the victors over the Cubs yesterday in the initial game of the series to decide the world's baseball championship by the score of 2 to 1. It was superior fielding and daring on bases that gave the contest to the Comisky aggregation.

Do you not think I have the right to do it?"

Senator Bailey said there were three kinds of liars—one made up of simple liars, another of the liars whom one describes with one dash, and another of the kind that were described with two dashes. Then he said all classes of these had been talking about his wealth and calling him a millionaire. He repeated his challenge to give them $500,000 if they would sell him out for a million, and declared that they could in that way "become richer than I am, richer than I ever expect to be, and richer than I want to be."

Then, prefacing what followed with the statement that he was going to tell his audience something about the men who are leading the crusade against him, he criticised two citizens of Fort Worth.

"I do not say that every man who hates me is a rascal," Senator Bailey continued, "but I do say that every rascal in the state does his duty. (Applause.) I sometimes believe that a man who betrays a public trust ought to be executed before all the people, and, at the same time, I have sometimes believed that the man who accuses him unjustly ought to be hung. For fifteen years I have served in congress. For ten years I have served in the legislature. I have represented the district which lies just to the north of you, the best one, God bless it, in all the world. It has the blackest land and the whitest people of any country in the world. Go ask them how faithfully I represented them."

"I want to say to my friends and to my enemies alike that there never was a case where there was so much noise and so few numbers as in this crusade. If they would stand out there and let me count them you would be surprised at the smallness of their number, and you would be still more surprised at the appearance of their countenances. Every socialist in Texas is standing on the street corners reviling me by day and night. Down there at Houston the other night I looked at the crowd they brought on the stage. There were at least a dozen who, on their countenances alone, would have been received without any examination whatever into any society of anarchists in Chicago. I do not like to fight, but sometimes I am forced to it, and then I fight with something of a zeal, and that is what I intend to do here and now, fellow citizens. It is just such occasions as this that test a man's friends and, God bless them, no man ever had such steadfast as I have had, and no man has ever had such enemies as I have had."

After he had finished Senator Bailey held a levee on the platform and nearly half the audience came up to shake hands with him.

heat and despite the hard and wonderful driving that Norman Audubon had she lost to Castlewood again. The heat was made in 2:11.4.

Bessie K. in the third heat showed more speed, and she'll be a good one to watch.

Third Event

In this race there were five horses and the event was for seven furlongs, purse $200 for all ages, winner to be sold to the highest bidder, 12 (Doves) even, won; Teddy Brookwood, 104 (Pletcher), 5 to 1, second; T. J. Powell, 104 (Cline), third. Time—1:33. Misses also ran. This race was rather tame, as Master Prim had the lead at the breakaway and held it. The horse passed under the wire fully sixty feet ahead of the runner-up, and T. J. Powell was favorite and opened at even money, but was soon backed to 7 to 10. Master Prim opened at 6 to 5 and closed at even money, while Teddy Brookwood ruled at 5 and as good as 10 to 1 was laid against Massacre. Massacre ran well for a while, but lost wind and fell back. Teddy Brookwood came second and third money went to T. J. Powell.

Fourth Event

Fourth race—Purse $250, one mile, selling; Durbar, 102 (Weinbold), 2 to 1, won; Lady Oakwood, 104 (Burns), 2 1/2 to 1, second; Thorna Lee, 102 (Finch), 3 1/2 to 1, third. Time—1:43 1/5. Thoroughly also ran. Durbar opened favorite in the mile dash at even money, with Florigy next fancied at 3 to 2, while 2 1/2 to 1 was laid against Lady Oakwood and 5 to 3 against Thorna Lee. The winning was easy for Durbar and Lady Oakwood closed second, running hard.

Fifth Event

This was for a purse of $250, five furlongs—Anardko, 109 (Brookwood), 5 to 2, won; Lou Merrill, 109 (Weinbold), 5 to 1, second; Taylor George, 109 (Finch), 5 to 1, third. Time—1:06. Joe Wise and Virginia Beach also ran. Anardko opened favorite at even money, going up in the betting to close at 2 1/2. Virginia Beach, opening at 3, was speed steady, her price being cut gradually until she closed an odds-on favorite at 2 to 3. The others were neglected on long bets.

Friday will be the biggest day at the fair, for it will be then that famous Dan Patch, king of trotters, will endeavor to lower the record now claimed by him—that of a mile in 1:55. Patch arrived in town on Wednesday morning and is now quartered at the track in the best possible condition. His driver, Harry Horay, promises to drive Dan Friday, when the wind fashion and says the horse will undoubtedly lower his record, as the local track is fast and in good condition.

Chat of the Course

The stiff northern that blew all Tuesday afternoon made those in the grandstand draw close their wraps and long for sunshine.

The messengers still continue to operate in the grandstand. It was announced they would be stopped, but were taking bets Tuesday night.

W. W. Sloan Jr., who owns Le Baron, was tickled to death over the victory of the horse in the 3-year-old pace. Mr. Sloan was congratulated on all sides and declared that Sloanhurst could produce as good a race horse as any stock farm in the country.

A number of society folk were out Tuesday and that they enjoyed the events was testified by their frequent applause.

When Le Baron romped to victory in the first heat Mrs. W. W. Sloan and several ladies with her cheered the horse to the echo.

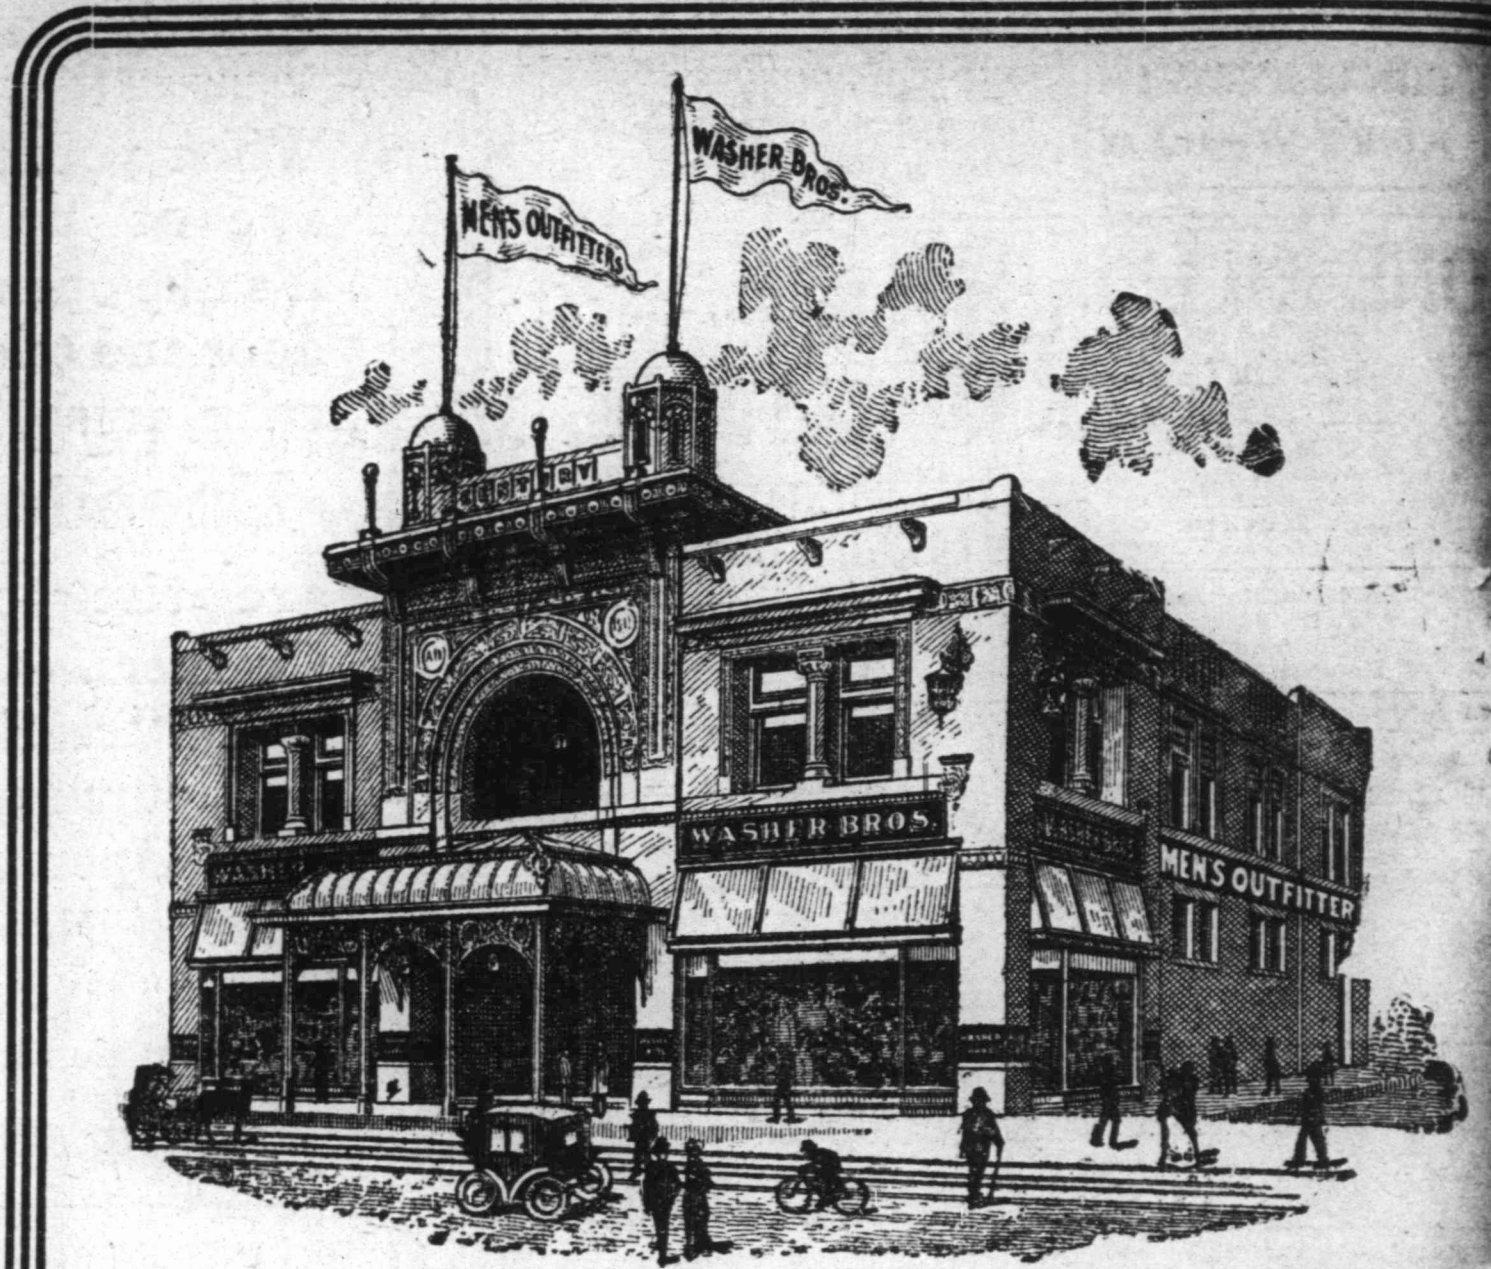

Starter Newton donned his linen duster and he looked as if he were ready for an automobile drive, instead of sending away race horses. He asked if Fort Worth was not a nice place in which to spend the winter. Mr. Newton may stay here during the cold period.

Chief of Detectives Al Ray called to land the day before. He and other officers were spying for "strangers," but "nary a one turned up."

The women who wore white dresses to the park sent in town after their wraps when they felt that northern breeze sweep by.

Bets were about thicker than tips, but failed to locate a winner.

Wednesday is Fort Worth day at the track, and all business houses closed at noon in order to give their employes a chance to see the ponies run.

For Boys' Wear
AN INNOVATION IN FORT WORTH

It is with keen pleasure we open to the public one of the handsomest and most complete Boys' and Children's departments in the entire Southwest. The magnificent salesroom on the second floor is elaborately furnished with modern fixtures of newest design, finished in dark mission oak—The richness of the fittings and the tastefulness of the decorations unite in making an attractive department which the ladies will welcome with real satisfaction.

We choose to disregard the usual custom of making the boys' section secondary to the men's wear. For this season we have not only enlarged this department, but our stocks of Boys' and Children's Suits, Overcoats, Hats, Shoes and Furnishings are larger and more comprehensive than ever before.

Short Talks on Tailoring

BIG FELLOWS who patronize some tailors have trouble securing comfortable fits in pants. When there is enough goods to reach around the "shapely" part, they stand away at the waist in front.

This is caused by failure of the tailor to properly "work in" the waist, and in many cases, error on the part of the cutter to properly "shape" the waistband.

Sometimes the tailor hasn't enough goods to do it right. Sometimes he just don't know how.

OUR big pants are great. Got your copy of "Short Talks on Tailoring"? It's an education on tailoring matters.

SOME TAILORS KNOW STYLE WELL enough, but can't embody it properly in their garments.

Here's where we excel.

Styles this Fall are difficult to make right. The deviation of a fraction of an inch in cutting or tailoring will cause a garment to wrinkle or sag.

The unerring accuracy with which OUR garments are made is a point worth considering.
