PATROL TOWNS TO CATCH BURGLARS

Robbers Spread Terror But Escape Capture

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—No one can enter the village of Nyack now after dark without being held up by an armed officer and compelled to explain his business. Every outlet of the town is being guarded in an effort to capture the burglars who have been spreading terror in this and other villages of Rockland county.

In Spring Valley the streets are patrolled nightly by a self-appointed vigilance committee. The same condition of affairs prevails in Talmans, Suffern, Pearl River and Piermont. Over seventy-five houses have been robbed since last August and in every instance the burglars have escaped.

Robbers Use Autos
 It is the opinion that the robberies in Rockland county are the work of Yeggen. There have been many evidences of professional work. In some cases an automobile was undoubtedly used by the burglars. It is estimated that burglaries in Rockland county recently have resulted in the loss of $20,000 in money and valuables.

WOMEN IN TEARS

Says Home Life Was Harmonious and Audience Shows Its Sympathy

By Associated Press.
TOMS RIVER, N. J., Oct. 16.—Now that the trial of Dr. Frank Brouwer, charged with the murder of his wife, is drawing to a close, speculation is rife as to the outcome. As in all such cases, opinions differ, but Dr. Brouwer has many friends in town who firmly believe he will be speedily acquitted, once the case gets into the jury's hands. Dr. Brouwer's testimony on the stand yesterday is generally regarded as having aided his cause.

Sympathy for Prisoner

He seemed sincere when he declared that he loved his wife and that he did all he could for her during her last illness. A number of women in court were moved to tears by the prisoner's impressive declarations that he loved his wife and could not have killed her, and also when he told of the devotion to his two motherless boys.

Mrs. Althen Calverly, the prisoner's mother, will go on the stand today and will confirm her son's story that he was a gentle, pleasant and harmonious. A few neighbors will be called to testify in a similar vein, and then will come the summing up. It is now expected that the trial will reach the jury Wednesday afternoon.

BANKER MAY BE CAPTURED

Silveira's Hiding Place May Be Disclosed

STILL A MYSTERY

D'Farrell, Cuban Leader, Acquainted With Fugitives' Plans and Whereabouts

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—A conference which had led to the announcement in a short time of the whereabouts of Manuel Silveira, was held yesterday by state of Cuba, and Juan M. Ceballos at the latter's office. Senator O'Farrell was legal counsel for Silveira in some recent litigation and arrived in this city last Tuesday from Havana.

While the Cuban lawyer could not, without laying himself open to the charge of unprofessional conduct, divulge what he knows about the hiding place of Silveira or the condition of his affairs, it was said that if anybody in this country had knowledge of them it was Senator O'Farrell.

Nothing Yet Certain
 There was not even the certainty that, possessing this information, he imparted it even to Mr. Ceballos, but there was a strong impression that the conference held between the two men yesterday had to do with Silveira and possibly with producing him in this city. As to the whereabouts of the steamer Carmela, which was reported by Silveira away from Havana, there was no news to solve the thirteen-day mystery.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Eighty-five per cent of the people of Chicago are insane, according to Dr. Adolph G. Vogeler, and the other 15 per cent are on the verge of mental breakdown, says Dr. T. B. Wiggin.

Before the Anthropological Society, presided over by a woman in blue, the two men shook their heads and expressed the gravest apprehension for the sanity of the city.

If they have the facts in hand, it is lunacy to be excited over baseball, it is lunacy to get a haircut, it is dancing is but a form of the nervousness that leads to the insane asylum. Strenuous application to business is another sign of coming mental illness. Lack of appreciation of poetry is a symptom that cannot be ignored.

Dr. Wiggin, in responding to his critics, said that the chief card of dancing is but a form of the nervousness that leads to the insane asylum. Strenuous application to business is another sign of coming mental illness. Lack of appreciation of poetry is a symptom that cannot be ignored.

ABILENE, Kan., Oct. 16.—Joseph Ralph Burton, former United States senator from Kansas, when seen at his home by an Associated Press representative regarding the action of the supreme court of the United States in refusing him a rehearing, said:

"This is not my time to talk."
 Mr. Burton absolutely declined to talk on an authoritative source that he has already communicated with his attorneys and that his term of imprisonment had arranged to begin at the earliest possible moment.

Some time ago Mr. Burton caused an affidavit to be made by his attorneys that if the supreme court denied him a rehearing he would neither apply for a pardon nor accept one if it were tendered.

ASKS ROAD FOR $3,000,000 TAXES

State Claims Big Sum From Illinois Central

By Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The Tribune today says:

Governor Deneen will present to the directors of the Illinois Central Railroad tomorrow the claim of the state for unpaid compensation, running back for varying periods from six to ten years and amounting to a total of approximately $3,000,000.

It is explained that the issue between the state and the company is at a point where arbitration may make a law suit unnecessary. For this reason the state officials decline to make more the exact nature of their demands.

Distribution of Earnings
 The issue between the state and the company is said to be mainly a question of distribution of earnings. It is explained that the question of distribution arises where some shipments are made partly over the carrier lines and partly over those free from the compensation requirement.

From what the state officials say the company is acquitted of "any intentional wrong doing." The question of distribution arose early in the company's dealings with the state, as soon as additional lines came into the system, and gradually the company solved it more and more to its own benefit. This is accepted as an usual procedure, but it soon began to concern a sum of considerable proportions.

LARGE SUM ASKED

$500,000,000 Will Be Needed to Push Proposition—Will Take 25 Years

Special to The Telegram.
CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The control of the commerce of the Panama canal and of the whole Mississippi valley is the incentive for the creation of a deep waterway, which Congressman Joseph Ransdell of Louisiana proposed to Chicago business interests last night in an address at the Press Club. Incidentally the congressman expressed the hope that the Niagara Falls commission, which meets here today, will take no action tending to interfere with the waterway project.

The speaker voiced a strong plea for an annual national appropriation of $100,000 for the improvement of rivers in place of the $13,000,000 now being expended. He said the property development of the waterways of the country will cost $500,000,000, but that take twenty-five years to accomplish the result.

The animal's chain caught in the third rail and the monkey was electrocuted along the chain and electrocuted the monkey.

Chas. A. Peabody Asked to Explain Dismissal of Agent

CASE IMPORTANT

Commissioner Has Right to Revoke Company's Charter

Crowds Attend Trial

By Associated Press.
FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 16.—Great interest is centered in the hearing today of Charles A. Peabody, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, before Commissioner of Insurance Henry L. Brewitt. Mr. Brewitt some time ago cited Mr. Peabody to appear before him and explain the dismissal of Colonel Blasco Hindman, of Louisville, general manager of the Mutual Life of Kentucky and Tennessee. Mr. Hindman's name was on the "Selected Fusion ticket" with thirty-five other names, for election as trustee, against a similar number of names on the "Administration" ticket, and the united committee's ticket, and Mr. Brewitt wants to know why Mr. Hindman, who is supposed to represent the policy holders, was removed from office.

Hindman Not Only One
 When the fusion ticket was made up the Mutual Life Insurance Company notified agents the duties of trustees were considered incompatible with the duties of employes and called upon all employes to support the administration ticket fully and unreservedly. Mr. Hindman was not the first agent to be removed from office, as several of the company's men in similar positions in the New England states and in Michigan were dismissed.

Interest in Case
 But this is the first time an insurance commissioner of any state called upon the company to account for the removal of an officer and the case therefore is of far reaching importance. Mr. Brewitt has power to revoke the charter of the insurance company doing business. The hearing is held in the historic old capitol and the attendance of picture and pleasure seekers of the former to join in the movement.

AMERICAN NAVY BREAKS RECORD

Jackies Put Up Remarkable Target Practice

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—A dispatch to the Herald from Barnstable, Mass., tells of some remarkable shooting on the battleship Maine, the flag ship of Rear Admiral Evans.

The Maine's forward turret, commanded by Lieutenant Roger Williams, planted eleven 12-inch shots in a space 15 by 20 feet at 4,000 yards, unmeasured range. A six-inch battery, commanded by Ensign Leachy, firing volleys at 4,000 yards, made the center of the target look like a pepper sieve.

Evans Well Pleased
 Rear Admiral Evans expressed himself as much pleased with the general results of the autumn practice, much of which is of the nature of battle practice. He said short range shooting had established the American fleet as leaders in that practice and that after watching the long range shooting he felt sure no enemy could hit his ships as surely as they could hit the enemy.

SALOONKEEPER GIVES SERMON ON INTEMPERANCE QUESTION

Special to The Telegram.
NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Strange things happen in New Jersey. Rev. John L. Scudder of Jersey City was holding a temperance meeting in his church, the First Congregational. The "demon rum" was getting about all that was coming to it when Rudolph Deut, a saloonkeeper, asked for the privilege of the floor, which was granted. Among other things Mr. Deut said:

"The spirit of intemperance has never brought good to any cause and no church should try to wipe out a legalized business.

"In Germany, where I was born, there is no liquor question. You cannot stop men from drinking. The thing to do is to better the conditions under which liquor is sold.

"The church must teach men not to drink to excess. The church must preach against the drinking habit, which is an evil one.

"Saloonkeepers should not sell to any man who is intoxicated.

"There was a good deal more said in the same vein."

THE OFFICIAL SLATE
There are thousands of Democratic eyes turned hungrily and longingly in the direction of Palestine, from which point it is expected the few offices to be filled by the next governor of Texas will be distributed. There is not one office for one original Campbell man out of a thousand; and the pity of it is that so many of these must be disappointed. Colonel Tom Campbell would gladly gather every faithful and competent bosom friend to his heart and award him a great big juicy piece of pie, but the pie has already been made and cut and Colonel Campbell can only give out the few pieces that are his to command. The thousands of original Campbell men all over the state must now show their patriotism and remember that Colonel Campbell has not been called to the gubernatorial chair for the express purpose of rewarding his personal and true-hearted friends. He will be elected governor of the greatest state in the union and will strive to give the people of this state such an administration as they are expecting at his hands. In making the few appointments that are to be filled he must be governed by a proper regard for the public service and select men who can and will properly discharge the duties of their respective positions. The Campbell administration must be a business administration from start to finish, and without any incompetent material. The following is given out at Austin as some of the probable appointments that will be made by Colonel Campbell: Secretary of state-Former State Senator W. P. Seastin of Brockenridge, Stephens county. Superintendent of penitentiaries-E. G. Douglass of Grayson county. Mr. Douglass has been connected with the state penitentiaries for many years. Commissioner of insurance, statistics and history-J. H. Bonner of Smith county. Financial agent of penitentiaries-J. H. Boyd of Johnson county. Superintendent of deaf and dumb institute-L. A. Wastley of Huntsville. Judge N. A. Cravens, the present incumbent is also an applicant for reappointment and is said to stand in high favor with the incoming administration. Fish and oyster commissioner-J. C. Haynes of Karnes county.

THE NOVEMBER ELECTIONS
With the renomination of Governor Uter by the Republicans of Rhode Island, the list of nominations was completed for the November election. There will be elections in forty-two states November 6, Maine, Oregon and Vermont having already held their elections including congressmen. In twenty-three states a party convention is chosen, and in nine states only congressmen are to be elected. The principal state officers are to be chosen in Alabama, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New York, North Dakota, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Wisconsin and Wyoming. New Hampshire elects only a governor; Tennessee a governor and railroad commissioner, and Pennsylvania a governor, lieutenant governor, auditor general and secretary of internal affairs. Minor state officers or justices of the supreme court are to be voted for in Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Ohio, Florida, North Carolina, Delaware, Utah, Washington and Montana. Congressmen only are to be selected in Arkansas, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana, Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky and New Jersey and delegates in Arizona, New Mexico, Hawaii and Porto Rico. The terms of thirty United States senators expire March 4, 1907. The legislatures of Maine, Oregon, Arkansas and Georgia, which elect senators, have already been chosen. In the following states the legislatures will be elected next month: Michigan, Delaware, Texas, Kentucky, New Hampshire, Kansas, Tennessee, Montana, Massachusetts, Illinois, Iowa, New Jersey, Idaho, West Virginia, Louisiana, South Dakota, Mississippi, Virginia, Nebraska, Alabama, Minnesota, Colorado, North Carolina, South Carolina, Wyoming and Rhode Island.

Aside from the two principal political parties, a dozen others have tickets in the field. The prohibitionists and socialists have tickets in nearly every state. In less than half a dozen states have the populists put up candidates. In California Hearst's Independent League has put up a separate ticket. In New York and Massachusetts the candidates of the Independent League are the same as those on the Democratic ticket. In New York the municipal ownership party has a ticket in the field. In Texas the Republicans are split into factions and each has nominated a state ticket. In Colorado there is an independent candidate for governor in addition to the tickets put up by the Republican, Democratic and socialist organizations. In several states the independent labor party has put up candidates.

ALCOHOL ON FREE LIST
Commissioner Yerkes, who is at the head of the internal revenue department at Washington, with the approval of the secretary of the treasury, has issued the departmental regulations controlling the making of denatured alcohol, its handling and uses.

These regulations follow and render effective a law enacted by congress at its last session, which provides for the withdrawal from bond, tax free, of domestic alcohol when same is rendered unfit for beverage or liquid medicinal uses by the admixture of suitable denaturing materials, and for the use of the denatured article in the arts and industries, and for fuel, light and power. The law becomes effective Jan. 1, 1907.

This legislation is in harmony with similar legislation adopted by nearly all foreign countries. Great Britain in 1855 legislated on this subject along the same line as our own law, and France, Germany, Austria and virtually all the continental powers now furnish their subjects alcohol free of tax for the uses above stated. In discussing the new regulations, Commissioner Yerkes said:

"The prime object to be attained by this type of legislation is to furnish for purely domestic uses and also for what might be called industrial domestic purposes, heat, light and power cheap alcohol with the hope thereby there will be a reduction of expenses in these departments.

"This denatured alcohol will be a competitor with illuminating oil, gasoline and coal. "It will also be furnished to manufacturers who use alcohol in the products of their factories free of the heavy internal revenue tax now levied on the same. This tax amounts to about $2 per wine gallon on alcohol at 180 degrees proof. It is believed great benefit will be derived by the people by this legislation and this certainly was in the mind of congress, for few public measures received such hearty and unanimous support as did this."

Texas is vitally interested in this alcohol proposition, as out in the western portion of the state preparations are already being made to begin the manufacture of alcohol from cactus, sotol and other products of that section, which are to be had in great abundance for the mere trouble of the gathering.

THE INSPIRATION OF LOVE

A little story comes from Geneva, Switzerland, that brings out the thought that human love and devotion, yes, and self sacrifice, know no race boundaries. You have a right to look for fine deeds in the homes of the poor as well as the rich; among savages and civilized-everywhere where souls exist and love develops the best in humanity.

There was Berthe Gallard, 19, an orphan. In this country she would be known as a hired girl. She worked for kind people and cared for three children. She loved them like a mother. A fire broke out in the house, and the parents rushed into the street in search of help, leaving the three little ones in an upper room. Berthe Gallard passed thru the flames, wrapped two children in sheets and carried them to safety.

The roof was falling in, but she went back for the third child. She found it, and as the stairs were gone she appeared at a window, wreathed in flames, and tossed the baby into willing hands. She then leaped from the window herself, and was rushed to a hospital. She was burned from head to foot.

She whispered: "Please bring the children," kissed them, then turning to her employers, said: "Don't cry. It is all right. I only did my duty" and died. In the southern part of Ohio a home burned. There was a paralyzed woman, known and loved as "Aunt Polly," and a mother and two children. The flames spread so rapidly that it was impossible to save all. And the last words heard from the sick bed of a noble woman were, "Never mind me; save the dear children."

And those were the beautiful words that a woman carried right into the presence of her Maker. She was burned to death and the children were saved. The inspiration for the greatest courage is human love. It may be love for children, for men or for women, but the fact remains that there is no finer emotion. It brings the greatest joy. It turns self sacrifice into happiness, and the mere giving up of life, with all its attractions, seems a little thing where the love is true.

Fort Worth business men are enjoying a lively fall trade, and say they find the people not only have money, but are spending it for what they need.

Secretary Taft stopped the pay of all the Cuban statesmen while on the island, and that step no doubt took some of the feeling of belligerency out of them.

Texas is getting the best class of immigration now that has ever come into the state. Those Iowa, Illinois and Missouri fellows now making homes in the state appear to have money to burn.

There are hints being given out that Kansas may reasonably be expected to go Democratic in the state election next month, but it will not do to bank much Democratic hope on Kansas. That state is hopelessly Republican.

The new state capital building of Pennsylvania that was to cost $4,000,000 has been completed at a cost of $13,000,000, and the people of the Keystone state have just begun to awaken to the fact that somebody has been buncoed.

Nine-tenths of the Democratic press of the state of New York are supporting William R. Hearst for governor. The so-called Democratic papers of New York who are fighting the Democratic nominee do not represent the Democratic party in that state.

What does Uncle Sam intend to do about those negro soldiers who committed murder at Brownsville? The grand jury was unable to return indictments because the criminals could not be identified. Will Uncle Sam let the matter drop there, and allow the uniform of his army to be disgraced by permitting murderers to wear it? Is the war department to do nothing to search out and punish the malefactors? Is it willing that the army shall rest under this stigma?—San Antonio Gazette.

Uncle Sam's policy has seemingly been to extend those negro soldiers every protection possible, altho an investigation is now in progress by the military authorities, which, it is claimed, will be very sweeping in character.

It has been rumored that a new law will be enacted at the next legislature as follows: Every couple contemplating matrimony will be compelled to notify the county clerk six months before the license will be issued them. This is a scheme to do away with hasty marriages. Of course this would do in some cases, but it would go hard with some of the fair sex—you know men are noticably creatures.—Beeville Pityune.

There are some couples that could not endure the proposed period of probation. Love on the spot very often demands an immediate marriage ceremony.

A vagrant is not always covered by a ragged coat. One of the worst varieties is the well dressed loafer who draws his clothes from a hard working father and mother and stands upon the street corners to disgust decent people by his actions toward young ladies who are forced to pass him on the street.—Denton News.

There are vagrants and vagrants and genteel vagabonds that belong in the same category. The officers of the law should draw no fine distinction in dealing with this class, but should treat them with absolute impartiality.

Refusal of the political wavers in Texas to become calm at the request of State Chairman Carden may have surprised that gentleman, but then Mr. Carden is now in the role of political dictator. Eventually the gentleman will learn there are limitations to his power.—Beaumont Journal.

Chairman Carden is new to his present position, and perhaps has yet to learn that Texas Democracy is unprepared to acknowledge any kind of a boss.

The trouble with some people is, that they are trying to reform others, when they should have some one reform them. Pull the boll weevil out of your own eye, before you try to pull him out of some of your neighbor's cotton patch. This is plain, but will work good.—McKinney Courier-Gazette.

The trouble with some people is that they cannot attend to their own business and let that of other people alone. We are all too much given to the practice of trying to run our neighbor's affairs.

Senator Tillman is going to be in Dallas next Saturday and more than one Texas newspaper man will get his first glimpse of him. It is a 100 to 1 shot that a good many of them will be disappointed, for they are going to find Senator Tillman much like other men.—Denton Herald.

The people of Texas do not expect to find Senator Tillman different from other men. They are going to Dallas simply to test the sharpness of his pitchfork.

Mrs. Platt says the aged and senile senator purchased her beauty and appears to despise him for his having done so. In the South the female who sells her beauty is not very highly regarded.—Houston Post.

There could not have been a sale of Mrs. Platt's beauty without her consent. If the senator's conduct is reprehensible, she should be willing to assume her share of the responsibility.

Talk of President Roosevelt succeeding Senator Platt has again been revived in the East. There is one thing certain should the President go to the senate he will prove an interesting figure in that body and help to enlighten things very materially.—Denton Herald.

If President Roosevelt should ultimately land in the United States senate it would result in such a shaking up of the dry bones in that locality as has not been witnessed for many a long year.

ADDRESS OF S. H. COWAN AT FOREIGN TRADE CONVENTION

The following address was delivered by S. H. Cowan before the stockman's foreign trade conference in Kansas City, October 9.

I want to tell you what makes this the most prosperous country in the world. It is what we produce out of the ground. That is the primary source of wealth. The utilization and manufacture thereof and the various kinds of commerce and trade therein are secondary sources of wealth and depend upon this primary source for existence.

As a nation what we get for the surplus trade adds to our wealth while it fixes, to a large measure, the piece of what we sell at home. It is manifest, therefore, that the more extensive our trade with foreign countries, the greater the opportunities for increasing that wealth, and the better will be the market at home. It is the object of this meeting to bring the livestock producers and farmers to a realization of these important facts in order to stimulate their activity to secure the greatest possible extension of our trade in live stock and the products of live stock, in order that they may enjoy a fair share of that prosperity.

We should come to a realization of the fact that a curtailment of our foreign trade means not only a loss of that trade but the stagnation of business at home, while an extension of it means an increase of our wealth. The anxiety of individuals and corporations engaged in this commerce to make money may of course be depended upon to search out the avenues of consumption, but we must depend upon the government to keep those avenues open and to remove the obstacles in the way. Since the extent to which we may enter the channels of trade with our live stock and the products thereof, are limited by the laws and trade regulations of the foreign countries, which we own our products, we must depend mainly upon our own government to deal with such foreign countries as to open those avenues of trade. Therefore our appeal must be to our own government in the first instance.

There has been a most marvelous development in the trade in this country with foreign nations, but the relative increase in our exports of other than farm products would seem to indicate that far less attention has been given to securing a more extensive commerce in our farm products than in manufactures and other than farm products.

FARM EXPORT VALUES

Our total exports of other than farm products in 1890 was $210,437,959, while the farm products were $834,855,869, farm products being 75 per cent of the total export. This per cent was the average for five years—1890 to 1894 inclusive. But for the past ten years, while there was a great increase up to 1901 in the export of farm products, there was a much greater proportion of increase in the export of other than farm products, so that for the five years ending with 1904 the per cent of exports of farm products to the total exports was 62 per cent; for the year 1905, 55 per cent. Since 1901 the exports of farm products has decreased. That year it reached a total of $951,628,321, and for 1902 amounted to $826,904,777, which was only a little more than $200,000,000 increase above 1890. Whereas the other than farm products had increased to $644,529,864, an increase of over $450,000,000 in the export of other than farm products. Our exports of farm products show a marked decrease for the year 1905 and the balance of trade in farm products for the year is less than at any time during the previous five years, being a total of $285,370,088 against an average for the five years next preceding of $461,309,023, the decrease being due to the falling off of our exports to Europe principally.

In the year 1905 the value of the export of live stock and its products amounted to $224,000,796 and $322,034,209 for the preceding year, equal to 27 per cent of the entire export of farm products, exceeding only by the item of cotton and more than double that of grain and grain products. Yet meat and live stock were practically excluded from France and Germany.

In the report of the agricultural department of exports of farm and forest products (1905) it is significantly said: "The three countries to which are consigned the largest amount of packing house products from the United States, are the United Kingdom, Germany and Belgium. To the United Kingdom is shipped nearly the entire amount of exports of fresh beef, bacon, ham and fresh pork and the larger part of the exports of canned beef, tallow, canned pork and salted and pickled pork. The principal items in the consignment to Germany and the Netherlands are lard and oleo oil."

The value of the total exports to Belgium, France, Germany and the Netherlands of canned beef for 1905 was $245,632, whereas in 1896 the total was $1,337,077; in 1898 Germany took of canned beef $616,540, and in 1905, $99,114; in 1896 France took $448,070, and in 1905 $58,618; while the United Kingdom took $4,008,338 worth in 1905. The total exports of pickled and salted beef in 1896 to European countries amounted to $2,936,506, while in 1905 it amounted to only $1,819,091, of which latter amount the United Kingdom took $997,787. Of our salted and pickled pork the total exports to European countries for 1905 was $7,222,668, of which the United Kingdom took $5,815,929; France took $2,000 worth. We exported to United Kingdom for 1905, $20,532,002 worth of bacon, and to all of Europe $24,339,310, of which France took $4,289 worth. We exported to all of Europe in 1905 $20,248,353 worth of hams, of which the United Kingdom took $19,421,184, Germany took $33,425, and France took $885 worth. For the year 1905 we exported $52,503 worth of mutton, of which the United Kingdom took $32,553.

These figures are illustrative of the condition of our foreign trade in meat and meat food products, and bear out the statements in the foregoing quotation.

EXPORTS OF CATTLE

Our total exports of cattle to European countries for the year 1905 were 399,061 head, of which the United Kingdom took 291,715 head; Belgium took the remaining 7,391 head. There were exported to all other countries from this country that year 169,790 head, of which Cuba took 125,421 head. In 1905 we exported to the United Kingdom 185,365 sheep of the total value of $1,687,321, of which 68,611 head were exported to British North America and only 14,649 head to all other countries.

The balance of trade which has so materially added to the prosperity of this country, has been produced in the main by the balance of trade in farm products. In 1905 our total exports amounted to $1,518,561,668; our total imports to $1,117,513,071, leaving a balance in our favor of $401,048,597, of which the balance of trade in favor of farm products was $285,370,088; and the other than farm products $115,678,507. The average balance of trade in farm products for the ten years ending with 1904 was $400,000,000.

It has been the boast of the people of this country that it is the granary of the world, yet our exports of grain show a remarkable decrease in the last few years, arising from various sources unnecessary to discuss. While this country is entitled to hold that rank, yet it is more certainly in the front rank in the production of meat and meat food products. But can we sell it?

Heretofore the farmer has been led to rely upon necessity of the trade in foreign countries to demand the output of the farm and the ranch, for we believed that we could feed all countries of the world because they had to have it, but now since restrictions are thrown around the trade in our meat and meat food products, as they have been in Germany, and France, as well as in other continental countries of Europe, we find it to be beyond the power, however much demanded or desired, of the people of those countries to buy our meats, and it results that we find ourselves without a market which we ought to have. If we can produce in this country meat and meat food products with which we can supply the populous cities and towns of Germany, France and other European countries cheaper and better than they can obtain at home, in fact with that which they cannot obtain at home, it stands to reason that except for some arbitrary and unreasonable barrier that we ought to be allowed to enter those markets. If we can not do it, why is it so? The answer lies in the facts; and it is quite well known that by reason of restrictions, rules, and regulations by reason of tariff duties, our meat and meat food products and our live stock are discriminated against to such an extent that it renders it impossible to sell the same in the countries to which I have reference.

We sell a large amount of other things in those countries; for example, our exports to Germany during 1905 amounted to $194,230,472, and to France $76,337,471, while to the United Kingdom our exports amounted to $232,396,852. The value of the imports from the United Kingdom to this country amounted to $175,811,918, from Germany $118,368,356, and from France $89,330,467. There is nothing in the condition surrounding the people of the character of their business or their wants, which ought to prevent us from having an extensive trade in live stock which is subject to export, or meat and meat food products thereof. But we have not got it. Now what are we going to do about it.

We produce the only corn fed and cotton seed cake fed cattle; the only corn fed pork, as well as the finest mutton, and in the absence of some arbitrary regulations proceeding from abnormal and artificial causes, ought to sell to the world.

MEAT SUPPLY INSUFFICIENT

That there is an insufficient meat supply produced or obtainable at reasonable prices in Germany, France, and other continental countries of Europe can not be questioned. Now let us go after that trade and sell them what they want which we produce and have to sell. No one doubts the desirability of securing better trade relations. The difficulty is what considerations can we give in order to get it, and what are we going to do to bring our government to do it.

The difficulty now is that we cannot give any consideration, for the reason that the law of this country has established such a high schedule of tariff duties on certain manufactured articles made in Germany, France and other continental countries of Europe, that we prohibit them from trading with us, or place such a heavy burden upon that trade that it produces such an embarrassment that in retaliation therefore they have seen fit to exclude certain of the trade of this country from finding a market there. Now what have they excluded. I have quoted the foregoing figures in order to show that they have practically excluded the second largest article of export from this country, and the one which is more universally produced and in which more persons are interested than any other commodity produced in this country. This is not because we have levied a high tariff upon the imports into this country of live stock and the products of live stock, because they have none to send us, but it is because we have placed too high a tariff upon certain manufactured articles to permit them to trade advantageously with us and they will not do it until we reduce these duties enough to afford a consideration for their mutual advantage and we to ours. It might seem strange that in a country whose laws are made by representatives chosen by the people like this, that laws would have been so enacted as to produce this result which affects such a large proportion of the producers of this country. Theoretically that could hardly be answered, but practically it is easy of solution. The fact is that the manufacturer sit up with congress day and night to see to it that laws and tariffs are made for the purpose of giving them whatever they want, and let the producers of the country, who are absent, take what they can get. You have not had anybody about congress looking after the making of these tariff schedules. You have not had representatives who have gone into it analytically and sat up with it at night and nursed the proposition so as to get the best results for you. Your representatives have listened to the honeyed, sugar-coated, specious arguments made by the manufacturing interests to show what the farmer was going to get out of the manufacturers' protection until they have been lulled to sleep; while the manufacturer has built up around his business such a tariff wall that you are prevented from shipping your products into foreign countries and finding a market, which manifestly you ought to have. Now what you want is to have your representatives undo the wrong that has been perpetrated, while yet doing all that is right in the manufacturer.

There isn't any necessity for such reduction in tariffs as to throw wage earners out of employment, and thereby lessen our home consumption, because these highly protected articles can stand in most instances a material reduction and leave such fair margin of profit guaranteed that there will be little or no falling off of the production, though there would be of export profits.

You are to be congratulated on having a President who knows your circumstances and conditions, knows your wants and who knows what is best for the people of this country as a whole, and whom I am proud to say, is dead anxious to make such trade arrangements with Germany, France, and other countries of Europe as will enable you to have the best possible outlet for your product, while yet preserving all of the protection which the manufacturer can reasonably expect and keep the labor of this country employed. In other words, in his language, he is in favor of a "square deal," and that means that you should have a reasonable share in the protection while it is going round, and the manufacturer is entitled to protection, arising from the law, in order to increase his trade, you are entitled to it for a like reason, but your protection lies not in giving him so much protection as to deprive you of the liberty of your trade. There is no principle but a sense which could induce the argument that the manufacturer is to be protected to that extent that deprive you of the opportunity to do business in those countries which most need what you produce.

MAN-CARROLLTONS

It was a rainy morning and all the passengers on a north-bound Henderson car were moist, but good natured. One elderly man was especially jolly, bubbling over with good nature. A broad hooked matron occupied the seat in front of him. After observing her carefully for some time, he leaned forward and sticking a plump forefinger in her fat side, said in a hoarse whisper, "Well, old girl, did you get your socks wet?"

The woman turned and ejaculated one word—"SIR!"

The good natured old man's face turned even more crimson and he got up mumbling an explanation that he "thought it was my wife." He left the car at the viaduct and walked the rest of the way to his office on Fifth street.

"A unique feature of Montreal is that there is a mountain within or almost within the city," said L. B. Carroll of the Canadian city, at the Delaware hotel. "Mount Royal, from which the city takes its name may be said to be a natural park, placed within easy access of the inhabitants of the Canadian metropolis. The mountain is ascended by means of a winding road, which takes the tourist to the top, from which a magnificent view of the St. Lawrence river, the surrounding country and the town itself can be obtained."

"The Notre Dame cathedral, the pride of the city, is modeled after the church of the same name in Paris. Another unusual feature is the combined hotel and depot, which enjoys great popularity. It is especially convenient for those coming in on the late trains."

Diamonds 20% Higher

The following from The Telegram of Oct. 15 should explain itself to prospective diamond purchasers:

DIAMONDS ON RISE

Inferior Stones Will Make Cost Twenty Per Cent Higher

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Wholesale dealers in diamonds have sent notices to the retailers that diamonds will cost 20 per cent more this season than they did last year. The reasons given are that the rough stones received from South Africa are inferior to those of other years, and do not yield on cutting as high grade gems. The commercial sizes as formerly. Again, the cost of cutting and polishing stones is greater, because cutters and polishers are getting higher wages than ever before.

We have at present a stock of $365,000 worth of loose stones.

CITY FATHERS HOLD MEETING

Approve Paving Plans for Hemphill Street

THE MARKET HOUSE

Pass Market House Proposition and Then Reconsider It in Executive Session

There were two matters of importance before the city council Monday evening, one of general interest and one that has some general character and yet is of more immediate interest to one part of the community than to the whole city.

The first matter is that of establishing a market square and the ultimate building of a market house, and the other matter is the settlement of the character of the pavement which is to be laid on Hemphill street.

On a favorable committee report the proposition of the Fort Worth Market Company was approved and the proper committee authorized to buy the adjacent land, condemn and close streets and attend to all the preliminaries necessary to bring the whole question up to the point where the enactment of ordinance regulating the market and all that pertains to it will be necessary.

A large amount, in payment of outstanding bills, interest on the sinking fund, etc., was ordered to be paid. Some of this sum, nearly $28,000, is evidenced by notes running two years, in instances, and now maturing.

A Bond Tangle

There was another subject brought to the attention of the council, on the motion of Alderman Waggoner, that may be of vital interest to the city when the water works bonds were issued they were made a charge on the water works plant and accepted by the purchasers with the understanding that there would be added to the present understanding. Afterwards the legislature added them to the total debt of the city and that addition raised the total of the city indebtedness, so that there was an excess over the bonds which the city could legally issue, but there was in his judgment no right to add the water works indebtedness to the general city debt.

His motion was that the next legislature be asked to remedy this, and then the city could legally issue from $300,000 to $1,000,000 more worth of bonds and the proceeds could be used for street paving.

A very complete hack regulation ordinance, which had seemingly been lost in the Kelly and Adams codification of the city ordinances, was dug up by the city attorney and laid before the council. A motion was made that the ordinance be enforced it brought the protest from that official that the motion was needless for now that he knew that there was such an ordinance in effect. This report was by Alderman Lehane at the last meeting, directing the city attorney to prepare a hack regulation ordinance.

It was 7:38 p. m. when the city council was called to order Monday night in regular session with all of the officers and officials required to attend the meetings present.

The Hemphill street citizens committee, who are charged with the duty of looking after the interests of the property owners in the matter of paving that street, were also in attendance.

The finance committee reported favorably on the report of the clerk to the corporation court, showing the fines collected for the month of September to have been $1,933.10.

The ordinance providing for the establishment of a grade on either side of Chambers branch, where it is crossed by Ninth street, and for the building of a bridge over the branch, was granted. It is demanded by the fire department and for the convenience of the citizens. There will be a 6 per cent grade on the one side and a 10 per cent grade on the other. The total cost is estimated at $1,000.

A number of claims for damages, in which the city denied any liability, were filed on the reports of the finance committee.

The Proposition Accepted

The Fort Worth Market Company proposition was accepted. The location to be on Hemphill street and Belknap streets. The proposition is:

The city agrees to purchase a lot adjoining the market square, 100x125 feet, and pass an ordinance prohibiting the sale of vegetables and fruits by peddlers between the hours of midnight and 10 o'clock each morning, the produce on sale, as well as meats, to be subject to inspection, the city to pay the salary of the inspector and to pave the northern, eastern and southern exposures of the square. The market house to be erected on the corner of a market house of the dimensions of 100x150 feet.

The Market House Company agrees to build the first story with a minimum thickness of 22 inches and, further, that if any person or association, acceptable to the city council, will agree to build an addition, one or more stories, to be used as an auditorium, it can be done without any liability of any kind, except the obligation to keep the auditorium in good repair.

A motion was made that the matter be referred to the public grounds committee, that they might buy the additional ground necessary.

City Attorney Orick called attention to the amount of detail to be incorporated in the ordinance and asked that some committee be selected to aid him in the matter. It was stated that that part of the work would come up later.

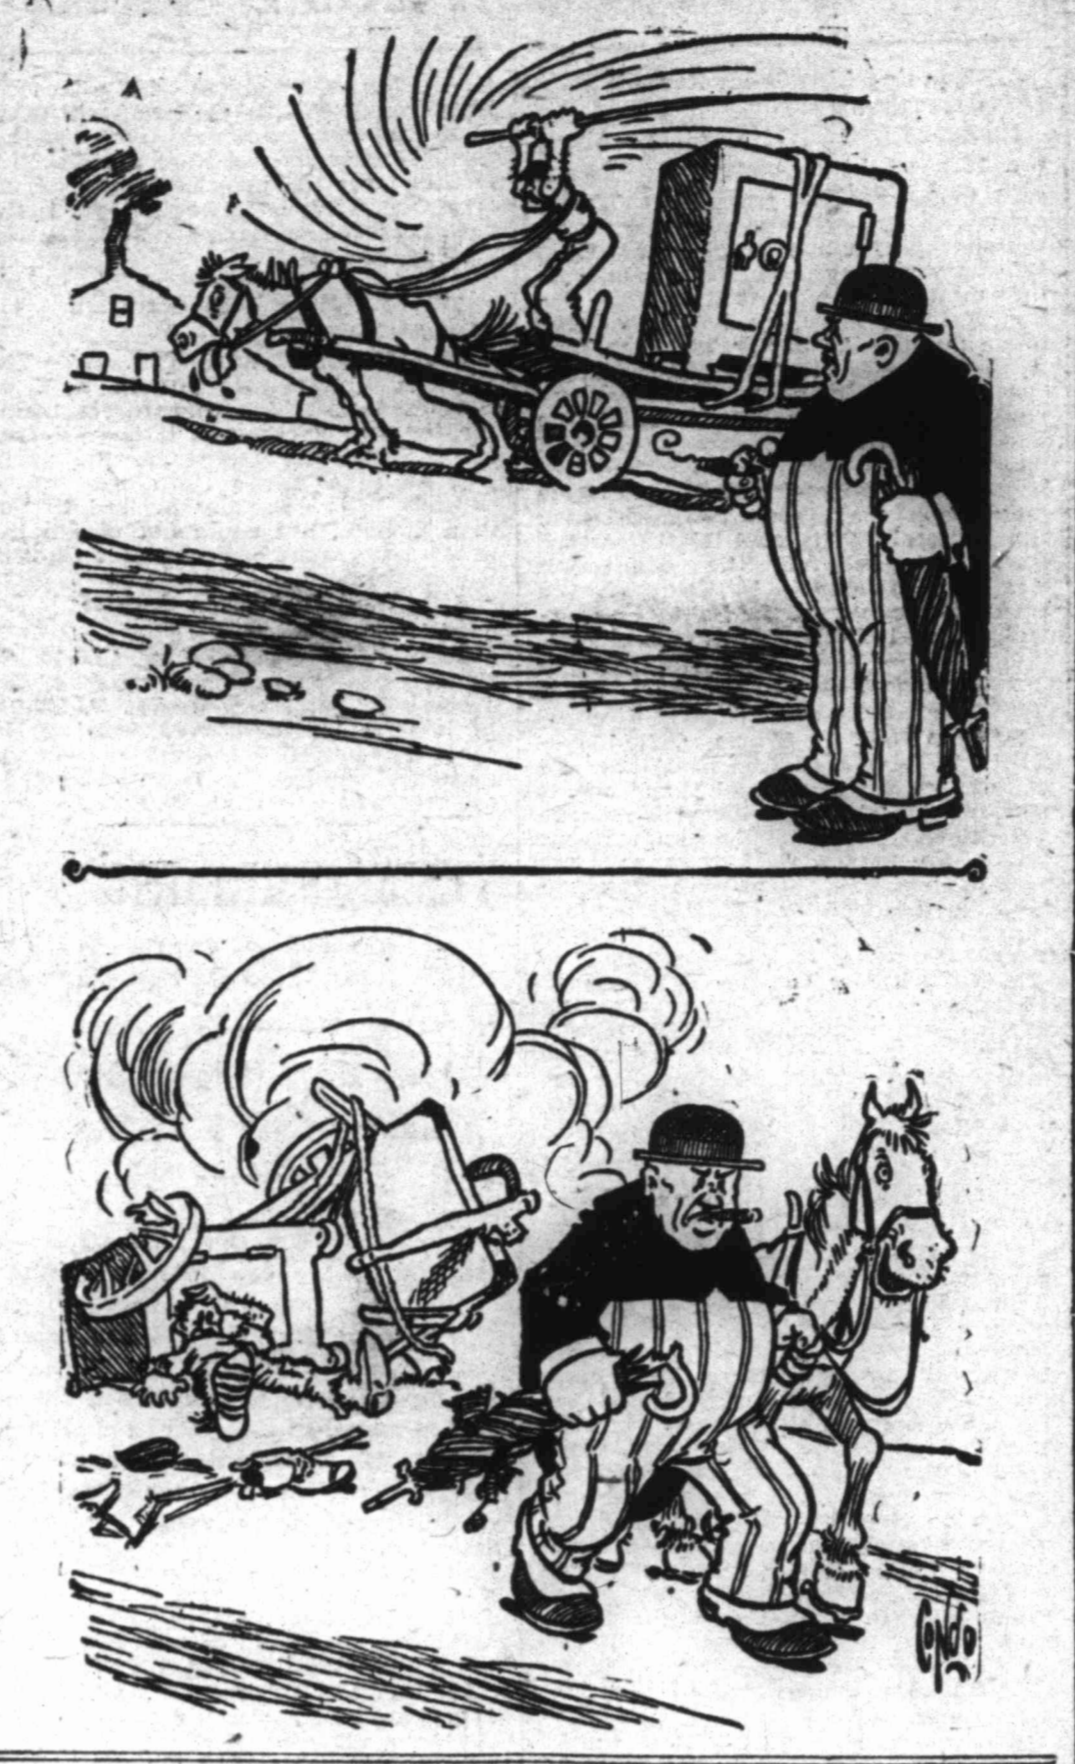

Alderman Maddox asked if an ordinance could be passed which would prevent a man from selling stuff of his own raising. The city attorney said it was a doubtful question, which he would not care to answer offhand. The motion to refer was approved.

An Executive Session

Later in the session, when the council chamber had been cleared of all persons not authorized to remain during an executive session, the vote on the market house proposition was reconsidered and the matter will come up again at the next meeting of the city council.

The laying of an 18-inch cast iron conduit to connect the substations 1 and 2 of the water supply was authorized. The purchase of a wagon and team for the waterworks was authorized. The matter of fire protection for the Third ward negro school came up and it was held that as the Denver railroad agreed, when the permission was granted to remove the schoolhouse, that it should be set down on the new location in as good condition as at the old, the Denver was liable for the cost of providing fire protection, for there was good fire protection
