

E. H. HARRIMAN GENIUS OF MODERN BUSINESS

Revelation of Methods Made Commissioners Gasp

TRAPPED GOULD

Denver & Rio Grande Properties Hemmed in by Great Manipulator

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The lightning-like rapidity with which he acted, the courage that marked every move in his campaign of financial and railroad aggrandizement and the far-flung area of operation of Edward H. Harriman as revealed by the investigation of his methods now being conducted by the interstate commerce commission has fairly made the commission and its attorneys gasp.

The second day of the investigation teemed with evidence as to the mobility and the business genius of the great railroad manipulator. Three distinct facts stood out with cameo-like clearness at the conclusion of the session today. By his control of the Union, Central and Southern Pacific, Oregon and affiliated properties, Harriman hemmed George Gould's properties with his Denver Rio Grande properties, and it is costing Gould millions to blaze a path from the trap in which he finds himself.

Harriman withheld the news of the 10 per cent dividend on Union Pacific stock for two days after the dividend was declared. At that period the heaviest dealings ever known in these securities took place on the floor of the stock exchange and the prices went soaring. By a mystifying stock operation, Harriman turned over 300,000 shares of Southern Pacific stock, property of the Oregon Short Line, to William Rockefeller, and eight months later bought it back. The cause of this transaction is shrouded in mystery.

Harriman was still too ill to appear before the interstate commerce commission, but he will be called next week when the commission returns to New York. It is said that subpoena servers who have been searching for William Rockefeller to explain the Oregon Short Line Southern Pacific deal have been unable to reach him. It is said he is ill. The United States marshal was instructed to redouble his efforts to find Rockefeller.

The first day's proceedings before the commission revealed the financial methods of Harriman in obtaining cash for his operations. It was shown that so soon as he secured a property he mortgaged it to the bill to secure funds to buy in other properties and once in control he again mortgaged the newly acquired property and moved on.

The developments of today revealed the methods of Harriman in shifting suspicion and driving antagonistic interests to the wall. Frank B. Kellogg, who is attorney for the interstate commerce commission, hinted at Vice-President Corbin of the Harriman companies on the stand this question: "It is not true that the $100,000,000 raised by a bond issue of Union Pacific was used by Harriman as a fund for stock speculation?"

R. S. Lovett and John G. Millburn, counsel for the Harriman roads, promptly objected to the question. They modified his question and asked if the money was not used to "buy and sell" securities.

But Corbin did not know. Two Sessions Held The commission held two sessions today. The morning session convened at 10 o'clock under Chairman Kellogg and Commissioners Harland and Lane. The first witness called was E. T. Jeffrey, president of the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad and allied properties. This is the Gould system. Mr. Jeffrey who is fighting the Harriman interests, is a rugged type of the western rail-roader and allied properties. He gave some exceptionally illuminating testimony. He decidedly declared that the Gould roads had suffered much as a result of the Harriman invasion. He added that the Western Pacific was being built by Mr. Gould as a defensive property. He said that ever since Harriman got control of the Southern Pacific the Gould system had been badly crippled in its terminal connections and thru traffic. The witness read from a recent annual report he had submitted to the Rio Grande stockholders, in which it was stated that Union Pacific control of Southern Pacific lines has resulted in "unexpected difficulties and unlooked for impediments, in getting business thru to the coast, and therefore the building of a competitive line from Salt Lake to San Francisco had been undertaken to protect the Rio Grande interests."

Davey Wilcox, president of the Delaware & Hudson, followed Mr. Jeffrey. Mr. Wilcox said that he had become a director in the Harriman lines at the request of Mr. Harriman. He said he owned stock of the Union and Southern Pacific. W. D. Cornish, vice president of the Union Pacific Southern Pacific and other Harriman properties, was the next witness. He is a director of Clarke San Pedro road. He told of the operation of the various Harriman roads, confirming what has already been brought out, that the officials of one road were the officials of others. This extended to heads of operating departments. He was also questioned as to the ownership of steamship lines by the Harriman lines, stating substantially what Secretary Miller had testified to in this respect.

After recess W. V. S. Thome, who holds the office of director of purchases for the Harriman lines, testified that he bought all supplies for all roads. He said that contracts were made ahead for what the properties needed and that when it came to deliveries, Vice President Kruttschnitt decided where they should go. He added that Mr. Harriman first passed upon Mr. Kruttschnitt's plans. His testimony was along the line to prove the inter-dependable parts of the Harriman system. He said that he was appointed by Mr. Harriman, and he was paid by check from the Union Pacific, but he acted for all the roads. It was here that the matter of 20,000 shares of stock in the Southern Pacific came up. Secretary Miller had been recalled and he was expected to read the minutes of a meeting of the executive committee of the Oregon Short Line held March 31, 1903. In this meeting Mr. Harriman said that he had arranged to sell 200,000 shares of Southern Pacific stock, owned by the Oregon Short Line, at a price of $57.50 per share. He said that $5,000,000 was to be paid on cash and the remaining $11,300,000 was to be secured by notes carrying 6 per cent interest. In all that time, according to the records, the Oregon Short Line owned 200,000 shares of the Southern Pacific. This sale was ratified by the board.

Jumping right to a meeting on April 15 following Mr. Kellogg brought out the fact that on that date the Oregon Short Line, although it had ostensibly sold 200,000 shares of Southern Pacific, still owned 200,000 shares.

Miller Couldn't Explain He asked Mr. Miller to explain that, but Miller could not. Miller was busy on the whole matter. Mr. Kellogg put in evidence a letter from William Rockefeller to Harriman, which proved that Rockefeller was the mysterious purchaser of the 200,000 shares.

After the testimony of Mr. Mahl, the commission adjourned until Tuesday morning in Chicago, where the interview with the Harriman lines will return. It is expected that the star witnesses will be J. C. Stubbs, traffic manager of the Harriman lines, and Julius Kruttschnitt, director of maintenance and way.

After two days hearing in Chicago it is expected that the commission will return to the Harriman lines, and that Harriman, William Rockefeller and others.

COREY MUST LOSE ACTRESS OR JOB

Head of Steel Trust Must Choose Between Them

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—"Give up this actress or your $100,000 job." This was the choice in so many words, that was offered to William E. Corey, president of the United States steel corporation just before he sailed for Europe to join Mabelle Gilman, according to a dispatch from Pittsburgh today.

And Corey replied by telling the officials of the steel trust to do as they saw fit—he was sailing for France to see Miss Gilman. Corey, it was said today, intends to marry Mabelle Gilman and then live a life of seclusion with her, chiefly in Europe. He was reported today as having told his intimates that he had made enough money to take things easy for the rest of his life and that was what he was going to do.

From an authoritative source in Pittsburgh it was learned that the man at whose instigation Corey was forced to choose between the steel trust and all that that meant, and the woman he loved was Charles M. Schwab.

It was Schwab, according to the Pittsburgh reports, who, in spite of his past friendships for the man who succeeded him in the great position at the head of one of the largest steel industries in the world, was the first to resent the scandal that Corey was linking to the steel trust because of Mabelle Gilman.

It was said today that there would be no undue haste about dropping Corey. It is understood that Corey's retirement will occur with little comment in the course of the regular meeting of the corporation's directors April 15 next.

Additional sources of information, both in Pittsburgh and in New York tend to confirm the report that Corey's successor would be Alva G. Dinkley, now president of the Carnegie Steel Company, the largest of the subsidiary concerns of the trust.

BAILEY GOES TO WACO

Senator Does Not Like McLennan County Arrangement Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 5.—Senator Bailey left today for Waco to attend the proposed special election which was to be held in McLennan county next Saturday. He was accompanied by Judge H. C. Blair, Russell Kingsbury Esq. and several others. There is considerable dissatisfaction with the arrangement over the calling off of the posse for next Saturday and it is possible the executive committee which decided the matter by a vote of 19 to 12, may yet decide to have the election, having previously ordered the same.

Senator Bailey at West Special to The Telegram. WACO, Texas, Jan. 5.—Senator Bailey passed thru here to West on the afternoon Missouri, Kansas and Texas, where he spent tonight. He was accompanied by West by Judge H. C. Blair, O. L. Stripling, Captain T. A. Blair, Russell Kingsbury Esq. and several others. There is considerable dissatisfaction with the arrangement over the calling off of the posse for next Saturday and it is possible the executive committee which decided the matter by a vote of 19 to 12, may yet decide to have the election, having previously ordered the same.

Fatal Dynamite Explosion Special to The Telegram. DENVER, Colo., Jan. 5.—An explosion of dynamite in a mine at Idaho Springs blew off the head of John Anderson and seriously injured William McClean.

A MESSAGE FROM THE FIRING LINE

This issue of The Telegram has been prepared for you, patient reader, under conditions which most people would agree in calling difficulties. As this paragraph is being written a cold wind is blowing thru The Telegram building's pane-less windows (no pun intended), the air is damp from water-soaked woodwork, and there is a pungent smell of smoke, gasoline, kerosene and other odorous liquids used in cleaning rusty and grimy machinery. The electric lights are such as are installed only for emergencies, the linotype machines are working as badly as only delicate pieces of machinery can when they have been thru heat, water and smoke.

Some of the men who have gotten out this twenty-page issue have had but five hours' sleep or rest in the last forty-eight hours. Others have worked on a total of three meals for the same period. They have had the experience of working in a strange office with unfamiliar material, of hauling sections of type thru the streets and replacing them again in wrecked pages; of trying to find advertisements, cuts, news type, and other articles which go to make up each page, from here and there out of the chaos which followed a hasty and enforced moving last Friday morning, a chaos into which was thrown the carefully arranged product of nearly three years' work.

And being men and not wizards, the work has been hard. They have not been able to do everything with the ease which comes from having all necessary material at hand. Not being of superhuman disposition, they have grumbled at the disadvantages under which they worked, but they took comfort out of complaint and kept on working without respite or slackening speed in order that you, kind reader, might not miss your usual Sunday morning copy of The Telegram, that the children who look forward every week to The Telegram's comic supplement might not be disappointed, and that the pride of the office in being able to keep the record of continuous daily issues perfect in spite of any difficulties, might be maintained.

An after-estimate of The Telegram's loss from Friday morning's fire shows that first beliefs were not over-optimistic. The battery of linotype machines will require many days before it is able to turn out type with the same speed it did before. Machinery of the stereotyping room must all be overhauled, while long and tedious work will be necessary before The Telegram's perfecting press can again grind out its quota of 14,000 complete papers every hour.

But the fire did not damage The Telegram's working ability; it did not affect the determination to go ahead and work for Fort Worth by giving it a newspaper of which all North Texas may be proud; and better still, it did not affect the loyalty of subscribers and advertisers, who, after all, are the real life of any newspaper.

And this has been brought out during the past two days by the kind expressions from unexpected sources, which came to The Telegram offering sympathy and material aid. It was almost worth a fire to know that The Telegram has so many friends in Fort Worth. Other papers, keen business rivals when the race is equal, generously tendered the use of their plants, material and even working forces that The Telegram might not miss a single issue. Such offers came from The Record, The Star and the Fort Worth Live Stock Reporter before the charred woodwork of The Telegram building had ceased smoking. For two days The Record has placed its plant at The Telegram's disposal and this issue is being printed on The Record's press, though the type has all been set and the pages prepared in The Telegram office.

Next week The Telegram hopes to be able to begin again working entirely with its own plant. The paper will necessarily be small for several days until the requisite material can be secured from northern and eastern points. Typographically it will be far from perfect and probably many items which may appeal to you as important will be left out. But the GROW WITH FORT WORTH SPIRIT will be in every issue, and in a few weeks The Telegram hopes to be printing the best paper of its history.

Additional men already have been secured for various departments. There will be improved telegraphic service and a larger number of pages daily. The date for these improvements cannot be told this morning, but be assured they will come as quickly as means for accomplishing them can be secured.

The Telegram Company wishes to thank readers who have not complained at the past week's delays and who will suffer annoyance during the first part of this week. We believe its patrons have as much faith in it as the employees who are working for its success.

So here's to new records of accomplishment for 1907. Keep your eye on The Telegram, and WATCH IT GROW.

Appreciatively yours,

R. P. Powers, Publisher.

SAYS DOCUMENTS ARE ORIGINALS

Attorney General Answers Senator Bailey's Charges

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 5.—Attorney General Davidson tonight gave out a statement in which he answers the charges which have been made by Senator Bailey and his supporters pressed them into the developments of the Standard Oil interests.

1. That I have not in my possession to be used in the trial of the Waters-Pierce oil case forged documents.

2. That I have had these documents prepared for my proper purposes.

3. That in the prosecution of the Waters-Pierce oil case I have not been connected with any Standard Oil interests.

4. That I secured the postponement of the Waters-Pierce oil case to prevent the case at this time.

5. That I have agreed to settlements of certain anti-trust suits wherein the state was plaintiff and money to which it was entitled.

BAILEY LOSES TRAVIS CO.

Majority of Voters Declare Against Re-election

BY 90 MAJORITY

Friends of Senator After Predicting Victory Are Surprised at Result

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 5.—Contrary to general expectations, Senator Bailey was defeated in Travis county in the election held here today on the proposition as to whether Travis county representatives shall be instructed to vote for or against him. All during the day it was claimed that Senator Bailey was carrying the county overwhelmingly, but when the votes were counted it was found that the senator had been defeated by a close margin of ninety votes in the county and city.

The total votes cast in the city and county was 1962, of which 986 were for and 1026 against Bailey. In the city the vote was 653 for and 796 against Bailey, making a majority of 113 against Bailey.

The anti-Bailey people are in jubilation tonight and are celebrating. There is considerable speculation tonight as to what effect Senator Bailey's defeat in this county will have on his re-election in the legislature. Considerable interest was taken in the election throughout the county and in the city.

This is the first far setback that Bailey has thus far received from the people.

Sturdevant plunged a pitchfork into Smith's head, killing him. Sturdevant was arrested. The men had an old grudge.

After the meeting a cable was sent to the Holy Father, expressing the sentiments of the Catholics of Galveston. "CARDINAL MERRY DEL VAL."

Three Persons Are Killed and Thirteen Injured

IS BLOWN TO BITS

Bomb-thrower's Demand Similar to That of Norcross on Russell Sage

Special to The Telegram. PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5.—Three persons were killed and thirteen injured by a bomb-thrower today by a crank in the Fourth Street National Bank. The men killed were: WILLIAM Z. M'LEAR, cashier of the institution. WILLIAM CRUMP, a messenger who was trying to grasp the man. The bomb thrower himself. The latter, who is supposed to have been Robert Steele, formerly of Garner, good was blown to pieces. The identification is doubtful, as it was made by a bunch of keys he carried.

The attack followed a refusal of the president of the bank, Richard H. Rushton, to give the man $5,000. In many respects it was identical to the demand made by the bomb thrower, Norcross, who attempted to end the life of Russell Sage and who was himself killed.

The greatest excitement followed the explosion. The bank building was partly demolished, and at first it was thought the list of dead would reach ten or twelve. The awful detonation was felt for blocks, and it was believed that the building had blown up or that a boiler had exploded.

Clerks and Customers Injured L. A. Bold, 21, bank clerk; slightly hurt. H. Meyer, 26, slightly hurt. Harry Beck, bank clerk; slightly hurt.

A. S. Domino, bank clerk; shock and concussion. William Wright, 16, skull fractured. C. L. Horton, clerk in loan department; head cut.

Eugene McElhenny, assistant to Mr. McLear, severely cut, head driven thru plate glass in a partition. J. H. Holban, an assistant to second vice president; cut about face and head.

H. Albert Smith, 14, employee of the bank; severely cut. Thomas E. Rutter, Lansdale, Pa., skull fractured and cuts on body. J. H. Barnholtz, clerk in foreign exchange department; about face. Harper Morfan, residence not yet learned.

William A. McCanney, 24, Germantown, scalp cut, broken arm. That the president of the bank was not killed was due to the fact that when the man came in he saw that he was a crank and assured him the cashier will never be known. The cashier was instantly killed. The man who was near him, has never recovered consciousness sufficiently to say whether any talk took place between McLear and the bomb thrower.

Story of the Tragedy Piecing together the disconnected versions of the tragedy given by the survivors it appears that at 11:45 a. m. a man about six feet tall with dark hair and beard, the latter somewhat shaggy, wearing clothes of fairly good appearance, entered the bank, strode past the teller's window, escaped the notice of the special officer and marched boldly into the room set apart for the accommodation of those who are waiting to see the president, whose offices lead out of it. There he rather strange looking visitor was stopped by William Crump, a porter on duty at the entrance to the president's room. To Crump the man handed a slip of paper on which he had written the name G. F. Williams and said he desired to see President Rushton. He was told that the president was busy. He seated himself for two or three seconds, then jumped to his feet and paced the room as one under great nervous strain.

Three times within six minutes he sent Crump into the president's room with a request for an interview. Importuned, Mr. Rushton at last said: "Oh, well, show him in."

The man's appearance somewhat astonished the president of the largest bank in the state, with deposits of $40,000,000 and resources aggregating $50,000,000, according to its last statement.

"I asked him his business," said Mr. Rushton, late tonight, "and he said he wanted to borrow $5,000. "What's your name," I asked. "G. E. Williams," he replied. "Where do you live?" I asked. "In the suburbs," he said. "The man's appearance was very strange. He seemed highly nervous and kept fumbling at something in his coat pocket. I thought at first he was a Russian. At any rate I concluded he was not a person to whom the bank could lend money unless he had exceptional security. I questioned him with respect to the latter, and he produced a document which, from a cursory glance, I believe was a life insurance policy."

It is that the collateral you possess? I asked. "In response he drew from his pocket a photograph of a woman. Opening it and exhibiting the photographs of a rather good looking woman and a pretty little girl, he asked: "Don't they look honest enough?" "By that time," he had concluded he was some harmless crank and decided to get rid of him. I told him I could not let him have money on any such security and added that at any rate I was too busy to talk to him any longer and he would have to see Mr. McLear.

May Not Call Mrs. Holman Mrs. Holman, of Pittsburg, lies at her home there a nervous wreck. Her husband has telephoned to the police, to every newspaper in the city and to their friends imploring them to keep away from the house, so serious is his wife's illness.

Old Mrs. Thaw, the accused man's mother, too, is in a pitiable condition. She never goes out except to visit her son in the Tombs, and her visits, which were daily up to a month ago, have been shortened to one, or possibly two a week.

Young Mrs. Thaw also shows signs of giving away under the strain tho she tries to bear up bravely. To visit her son in the Tombs, and her visits, which were daily up to a month ago, have been shortened to one, or possibly two a week.

"I am not insane," he declared. "Why do they misrepresent me? I have no fear of going to trial, and I know that when my name is told I am going to be set free."

THAW IS URGED TO PLEAD INSANITY

Attorneys for Thaw Make Use of Woman in Case

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Driven to unusual measures by the obstinacy of their client, the lawyers for Harry K. Thaw are today reduced to the pitiable condition of three women chiefly interested in his case to force him into making an insanity plea at his coming trial for the killing of Stanford White.

The three women thus made a sort of club in a desperate effort to compel Thaw to save himself from the danger of death in the electric chair are his wife, Evelyn Nesbit-Thaw, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Charles T. Holman, of Pittsburg.

Mrs. Holman, according to dispatches from Pittsburg, lies at her home there a nervous wreck. Her husband has telephoned to the police, to every newspaper in the city and to their friends imploring them to keep away from the house, so serious is his wife's illness.

Old Mrs. Thaw, the accused man's mother, too, is in a pitiable condition. She never goes out except to visit her son in the Tombs, and her visits, which were daily up to a month ago, have been shortened to one, or possibly two a week.

Young Mrs. Thaw also shows signs of giving away under the strain tho she tries to bear up bravely. To visit her son in the Tombs, and her visits, which were daily up to a month ago, have been shortened to one, or possibly two a week.

"I am not insane," he declared. "Why do they misrepresent me? I have no fear of going to trial, and I know that when my name is told I am going to be set free."

It is contended in the district attorney's office that it is no part of the state's case against Thaw to prove that he ever treated Evelyn Nesbit brutally, as has been alleged by Mrs. Holman and other witnesses before and since her marriage to him. The district attorney is not anxious to be placed in the position of arraying mother against daughter unless it becomes absolutely necessary.

If Thaw is declared sane when his trial begins, he will be allowed to tell the motive for the killing of White, but the district attorney will object strenuously to the introduction of testimony to show that the motive was anything else than self-defense, the only justification allowed by the statutes and decisions of the court of appeals in this state.

All the power of the district attorney's office will be exerted to prevent Thaw from being benefited by any plea of insanity which will enable him to obtain his liberty.

LIVESTOCK SHOW WILL BE SUCCESS

Arrangements for Poultry and Horse Exhibits

Arrangements for the livestock show, which is to be held at the stockyards in North Fort Worth the coming spring, are progressing satisfactorily, and present indications are that it will be the most successful livestock exhibition ever held in the southwest.

The exhibition will be held under the auspices of the National Poultry and Breeders association, which is an organization that is in close touch with all the livestock interests in the entire southwest.

The cash premiums this season will be much larger than last year, and it is thought that there will also be a large number of special premiums offered in the various classes.

The committee have been at work for the past several days preparing a list of the exhibits, and classifying the various exhibits and classes, amounting to $10,000, and this is exclusive of the cash offerings in the Angus cattle classes. It is expected that there will be a large number of exhibitors, and that the show will be one of the most successful ever held in the southwest.

The committee in charge of the premium offerings has decided to also offer premiums on horses during the show, and horse owners are requested to communicate with the secretary for information concerning this department. The classification will be made by a committee of horsemen.

The management will also make an effort to have a poultry exhibit in connection with the other exhibits. Sufficient premiums will be provided to induce a large number of exhibitors as well as those in Texas to exhibit. Texas has many fanciers and breeders of fancy poultry, and some of the largest shows in the country have been held in various portions of the state. Show records of past years will show that in Fort Worth a large percentage of the fanciest fanciers and breeders of the state. Some of these old breeders have passed out of the show arena, but to those who love the feathered tribe, it only requires a very little argument to again bring back the old-time enthusiasm.

A QUAKER

Tells How They Do in Philadelphia

Doubtless Heaven will be full of surprise at what simple things had formerly made us happy or unhappy. If a man insisted on taking salisoda dissolved in his drinking water day after day and wondered why his stomach was irritated, people would think he was crazy. It's about as bad to take the drug that's in coffee, into your stomach, although it's an old time-honored habit to do so.

"I used to be a great coffee drinker and thought there was nothing so nourishing as coffee except milk. But I was sickly, with hollow cheeks and headache about all the time," said a Phila. man the other day. "Still I kept on drinking coffee, never suspecting it may had done my life, and one day I was done, and I was sick all the time, and never enjoyed life like other folks. It was as if I was taking poison. I was sick every day and wondering why I was sick. Many times I read about Postum Food Coffee, but thought it was one of the false promises that come every day and wondering why I was sick. I wouldn't try it at first, but left off coffee to see if the Postum people were right about its being injurious. "You may well guess I was surprised when my headaches were few and far between and I felt as if a load had been taken off my stomach."

"When I was thus half convinced that coffee had done me harm, I thought I'd try a package of Postum. I made it carefully according to directions and it was simply great! "It is delicious when made right, and beats coffee all hollow in taste, let alone wholesomeness. Leaving off coffee after it has become a fixed habit is hard, but Postum makes it an easy matter. There's no greater lover of Postum than I am for I have learned how to be well." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. ### Rumor That Edna May Will Wed Oscar Lewisohn, a Wealthy New Yorker

By PAUL LAMBETH. Special Cable to The Telegram.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Messrs. Armour & Co., the Chicago packers and negotiators for a five-acre tract of land near Finchley, a North London suburb, for the erection of warehouses. In consequence of the heavy decrease in sales of canned goods in Great Britain since the outbreak of the war on this side of the Atlantic in order to convince British consumers that their goods are prepared properly, the Chicago packers have lately suffered from misplaced confidence in home industries. A few days ago ten tons of canned meats of various kinds were seized and condemned by the sanitary authorities, and at the present time some of the London papers are publishing unpleasant revelations regarding the method of preparing Kent-grown strawberries for breakfast jam.

Will Join Liberals. If the political prophecies regarding the earl of Dudley are verified, the duke of Manchester will lose the distinction of being the only liberal duke in the near future. It is stated on good authority that Lord Dudley is about to cast his lot with the liberals, and that in return for such an acquisition a graceful premier will recommend him for a dukedom, or at least a marquise.

Spoke Foul Tobacco. The corps of oil painters who are engaged at St. James' palace, London, in painting copy after copy of Luke Fildes' great portrait of Queen Alexandra in readiness for the sending of these paintings all over the courts of Europe and the British embassies in various parts of the world, have adopted a new plan. They are men somewhat of the house painter order and do their work on most or mechanical lines. So they have gone in for division of labor. They have several canvases going at a time, and one man goes round the queen's neck and puts in the pearls, and then spreads himself over folds of her majesty's dress, while another not only puts the pearls on, but puts her into pearl necklaces, is an expert in copying the face.

Says Theory is Wrong. Dr. Behring says that the theory of Dr. Koch that human beings are not liable to infectious tuberculosis bacilli in cow's milk is a dangerous and misleading one. Dr. Koch's belief is that the disinfection and removal of the spout of the milk can prevent it from reaching the final stamping of its final disease. Dr. Behring says that this is impossible as the real cause of the disease is not reached.

Refused the Order. An amusing incident resulted from the czar's attempt to put a stop to his vassal, the emir of Bokhara, who is now visiting St. Petersburg. Nicholas II decided to invest the emir with the highest order in the empire, the Order of St. Andrew, which has been granted to no non-Christian rulers except the sultan and the shah. The insignia of the Longfellow Daily Telegram, which has often entertained his majesty. The king will have some shooting on Lord Burgham's estate.

Visit From King. King Edward is shortly to visit the beautiful garden Milton is said to have written the greater part of "Paradise Regained." A modern feature of the house is the most perfect Turkish bath in England, which is fitted up in a magnificent and luxurious style.

Edna May to Marry. When the run of "Nelly Nell" is finished, Miss Edna May will, the Rialto gossips say, become the bride of Oscar Lewisohn, the wealthy young New Yorker who has been paying her assiduous attentions for nearly a year. The report has been current that Miss May had already been led to the altar for the second time, but the American has it upon the best of authority that such is not the case. When the play was first presented, the "Edna May" arose, which resulted in Miss May leaving the company because she was not started exclusively, according to the contract. Mr. Lewisohn is said to have suggested to her to quit the stage and then, "I have," he said, "enough to provide you with everything you wish, and why not out of this stage business at once and let us get married immediately?"

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 5.—Nearly 100 indignant postal clerks at Cheyenne threaten to strike if the government insists on keeping a negro in the service as a substitute clerk. ### ORDERED CALVE FROM THE HOUSE

Prima Donna Was Angered at German Tenor

By PAUL VILLIERS. Special Cable to The Telegram. Copyright by Hearst News Service. PARIS, Jan. 5.—A great sensation has been caused by the announcement that Mme. Calve, the great singer, who is to marry a wealthy American, was dismissed from the Dresden opera house while on tour in Germany and Austria. Mme. Calve was singing "Carmen," and she thought she would be able to get a better stage effect in the Dresden opera house than in the Dresden opera house. The German tenor, however, forgot this alteration at the critical moment, and failed to plunge his knife into the throat of Carmén's back. Furious at this mistake, the German tenor, the luckless tenor, calling him among other things "imbecile and an idiot." An indescribable scene followed: the king of Saxony left the royal box and the audience violently hooted and hissed Mme. Calve.

Murders by Wholesale. Wholesale murders by poisoning is the dreadful crime of the day. A woman named Felge, of Grunau, Silesia. The deaths of twenty different persons are attributed to her, and nine bodies have been exhumed to provide evidence against her. The murdered people are mostly relatives whose deaths would benefit her. The bodies of her step mother and sister-in-law were found to contain a great quantity of arsenic.

A Stinging Rebuke. William II, emperor of Germany, has just given a sharp lesson to one of his officers who thought he would like to make an improvement in his costume. The paymaster of the German army are provided with two cockades and a small silver eagle. The capers are the same as those worn by the officers with the exception of the eagle, which is the sign visible of the paymaster's rank. He was told to put the eagle on his cap, thus trying to be mistaken as superior officers. The paymaster, however, put it on his hat, and the emperor, who was with him at the time, stopped him and asked him what he was doing. "What are you?" the emperor asked. "I am a paymaster," he replied. "You are nothing of the sort," said the kaiser. "You are only an under paymaster from today."

Representative Kennedy of McLennan County Issues a Statement. SPECIAL TO THE TELEGRAM. AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 5.—Relative to the action of the committee representing Senator Bailey and his opponents in reaching an agreement to hold the primary election to vote on the Bailey issue, which was to have been held next Saturday in McLennan county, Representative A. M. Kennedy issued the following statement: "I favored resumption of the senatorial election to vote on the Bailey issue for two reasons. First, to know if the Democrats of that county had decided to reconsider their instructions, and secondly, to place our county on the record for our support of Senator Bailey. It will be a waste of time to attempt to get me to change my position. I am instructed to support Senator Bailey and I will violate these instructions."

Continuing, he said: "The law reads that it shall apply to the District of Columbia and all other territories. This is not a territory, as here there is no organized form of government and would be classed as an Indian reservation. If the law affected this country it would specify Indian Territory. The general opinion of the public here has been that the law applied here as well as elsewhere."

PERUNA EDITORIAL NO. I

A Crusade Against Secret Medicines.

There has been an indiscriminate crusade against American commercial enterprises. This most extraordinary ATTACK UPON BUSINESS corporations has involved manufacturers of nearly all kinds, has spared few producers of any sort.

Each and every one of these enterprises perhaps deserved some criticism. Whether their opponents have dealt with them justly or not, they are promptly adjusting themselves to the new conditions, and demonstrating to the business world that in the larger things they have been governed by sound financial integrity, even if in some few particulars the times were ripe for reform.

Like other great industries, THE PATENT MEDICINE INDUSTRY is coming in for its share of censure. Secrecy of composition has been the main war-cry against these medicines.

It was admitted on the part of patent medicine manufacturers, that their formulae were kept secret. They felt obliged to do this, in order to prevent imitations from imposing on the public. After a proprietor had spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in advertising a remedy, the secrecy of his formula was his only protection against others stepping in and reaping the reward of his tremendous outlay in advertising.

The unwillingness of patent medicine manufacturers to reveal the ingredients of their compound was perfectly natural. They felt that they deserved protection from the government the same as any other citizen who procures a patent on an invention or a process. BUT THIS CONSIDERATION DID NOT KEEP BACK THE CRITICS.

The agitation was forced upon Congress enacted a law making it obligatory on the part of such manufacturers to expose certain ingredients on the label of each package.

It was thought best to include alcohol in the list of objectionable ingredients. This being the only objectionable ingredient contained in Peruna, the manufacturer of this very excellent remedy promptly obeyed the law.

Indeed, he voluntarily went farther than this. Dr. Hartman, after serious consideration of the matter, has concluded to put PLAINLY ON THE LABEL OF EACH BOTTLE the principal active constituents of which Peruna is composed. While we do not agree that the claim against secrecy has been a just one, yet from this time on we have concluded to take Peruna out of the list of secret patent medicines.

We now offer Peruna to the public as a regular pharmaceutical product. It is just as ethical as any compound put up by the medical profession. No straining of medical ethics can find any fault with it. THE PRINCIPAL ACTIVE INGREDIENTS are prominently incorporated in the label on the bottle, that the people may know that the claims made for Peruna have a true justification.

The only departure we shall make from medical ethics in the conduct of Peruna affairs in the future, is the fact that we shall continue to advertise and sell our product TO THE PEOPLE.

If we would agree to sell to doctors only, to advertise for doctors only, then the medical fraternity would be obliged to recognize Peruna as being entirely within their approval.

BUT WE SHALL NOT DO THIS. We shall continue to offer Peruna to the people. We shall continue to convey to the people our claims for Peruna as a household remedy. We shall continue to supply the people with free literature, teaching them how to use our medicine, teaching them how to avoid disease, teaching them many things of benefit to the home. We shall continue to do this, whether the medical profession like it or not.

We are proposing from this time on to take the public into our confidence. Notwithstanding that some imitators and substitutes will be attempting to put up something which they consider just as good as Peruna, we are going to draw aside the veil of secrecy and allow any one who chooses to know exactly OF WHAT PERUNA IS COMPOSED.

WHAT OUGHT TO DISARM ALL HONEST CRITICISM. We expect, however, that criticism will continue. On some pretext or other those who are envious of the success of Peruna will continue to find fault. But we are determined to give such people no just complaint.

PERUNA IS A GREAT MEDICINE. It has become a household word in millions of homes. Our faith in the remedy is stronger than ever. Every year we expect to establish new plants in foreign lands until the people of all the world are supplied with this valuable household remedy.

WE ARE GOING TO DO EVERYTHING IN THE OPEN. We are going to tell our customers exactly what they are taking, and let them judge for themselves how much foundation our claims have for their claims.

All we ask of the public is to be as fair with us as we are with them.

WE CLAIM PERUNA TO BE A CATARRH REMEDY. Buy a bottle and try it. If it helps you, be honest and acknowledge that it has helped you. If you want us to we will publish your statement exactly as you furnish it to us. We will add no words, take away no words. If you wish us to we will publish your portrait in connection with it. We will not do this without your written request, without your entire consent.

Peruna has cured thousands of people of chronic catarrh, in many phases and locations. At least, that is what the people say to us, through unmediated testimonials. Peruna will cure many thousands more, in spite of fabricated slanders to the contrary.

WE GUARANTEE EVERY BOTTLE OF PERUNA TO CONTAIN THE INGREDIENTS PRINTED ON THE LABEL.

We guarantee that every testimonial we use is absolutely true—in the exact language of the testifier.

We guarantee that every photograph published is the photograph of the person whose name it bears, that every word of every testimonial was authorized by the hand that signed it.

THE WOMAN IN THE ALCOVE

Copyright, 1906, by The BOBBS-MERILL COMPANY
By ANNA KATH ARINE GREEN

After this, what could be said? Tho no one who had heard him, not even my own romantic self, showed any belief in this interpretation of the remarkable sound that had just gone thro' the house, yet, in face of his declared acceptance of it as a warning, and the fact of his declared acceptance of it as a warning, and the fact that all efforts had failed to locate the sound, or even to determine its source, no other course seemed open but to let this distinguished man depart with the suddenness his superstitious fears demanded.

That this was in opposition to the inspector's wishes was evident enough. Naturally, he would have preferred Mr. Grey to remain, if only to make clear his surprising conclusions in regard to a diamond which had passed thru the hands of some of the best judges in the country, without a doubt having been raised as to its genuineness.

With his departure the inspector's manner changed. He glanced at the stone in his hand, and slowly shook his head.

"I doubt if Mr. Grey's judgment can be depended on, tonight," said he, and pocketed the gem as carefully as his belief in its real value had been but little disturbed by the assertions of this renowned foreigner.

I have no distinct remembrance of what passed between my uncle and myself on our way home. I was numb with the shock, and neither my intelligence nor my feelings were any longer active. I recall but one impression, and that was the effect made on me by my old home on our arrival there, as of something new and strange; so much had happened, and such changes had taken place in myself since leaving it five hours before. But nothing else is vivid in my remembrance till that early hour of the dreary morning, when, on waking to the world with a cry, I beheld my uncle's anxious figure, bending over me from the foot board.

Instantly I found my tongue, and question after question leaped from my lips. He did not answer them; he could not; but when I grew feverish and insistent, he drew the morning paper from behind his back, and laid it quietly down within my reach. I felt calmed in an instant, and when, after a few affectionate words, he left me to myself, I seized upon the sheets and read what so many others were reading at that moment thro' the city.

I spare you the account so far as it coincides with what I had myself seen and heard the night before. A few particulars which had not reached my ears will interest you. The instrument of death found in the place designated by Mr. Durand was one of note to such as had any taste or knowledge of curios. It was a stiletto of the most delicate type, long, keen and slender. Not an American product, not even of this century's manufacture, but a relic of the days when deadly thrusts were given in the corners and by-ways of medieval streets. This made the first mystery.

The second was the yet unexplainable presence, on the alcove floor, of two broken coffee cups, which no waiter nor any other person, in fact, admitted having carried there. The tray, which had fallen from Peter Honey's hand—the waiter who had been the first to give the alarm of murder—had held no cups, only ices. This was a fact, proved. But the handles of two cups had been found among the debris—cups which must have been full, from the size of the coffee stain left on the rug where they had fallen.

In reading this I remembered that Mr. Durand had mentioned stepping on some broken pieces of china in his escape from the fatal scene, and struck with the confirmation of a theory which was slowly taking form in my own mind, I passed on to the next paragraph, with a sense of expectation.

The result was a surprise. Others may have been told, I was not, that Mrs. Fairbrother had received a communication from outside only a few minutes previous to her death. A Mr. Fullerton, who had preceded Mr. Durand in his visit to the alcove, owned to having opened the window for her at some call or signal from outside, and taken in a small piece of paper which he saw lifted up from below on the end of a whip handle. He could not see who held the whip, but Mr. Fairbrother's entreaty he obeyed, and gave it to her. While she was puzzling over it, for it was apparently far from legible, he took another look out in time to mark a figure rush from below toward the carriage drive. He did not recognize the figure nor would he know it again. As to the nature of the communication itself he could say nothing, save that Mrs. Fairbrother did not seem to be affected favorably by it. She frowned and was looking very gloomy when he left the alcove together after closing the window, he said that he had not; that she had not requested him to do so.

This story, which was certainly a strange one, had been confirmed by the testimony of the coachman who had lent his whip for the purpose. This coachman, who was known to be a man of extreme good nature, had seen no harm in lending his whip to a poor devil who wished to give a telegram or some such hasty message to the lady sitting just above them in a lighted window. The wind was fierce and the snow blind- ing, and it was natural that the man should duck his head, but he remembered his appearance well enough to say that he was either very cold or very much done up, and that he wore a greatcoat with the collar he wore a greatcoat with the collar pulled up about his ears. When he early morning issue would any doubt as to the genuineness of the diamond which, on all appearance, had been the leading motive in the commission of this great crime.

The effect on my own mind of this suppression was a curious one. I began to wonder if the whole event had not been a chimerical of my disturbed brain—a nightmare which had visited me, and me alone, and not a fact to be reckoned with. But a moment's further thought served to clear my mind of all such doubts, and I perceived that the police had only exercised common prudence in withholding Mr. Grey's sensational opinion of the stone till it could be verified by experts.

The two columns of gossip devoted to the family differences which had led to the separation of Mr. and Mrs. Fairbrother, I shall compress into a few lines. They had been married three years before in the city of Baltimore. He was a rich man then, but not the multi-millionaire he is today. Plain featured and without manner, he was no mate for this sparkling coquette, whose charm was in the kind which grows with exercise. Tho no actual scandal was ever associated with her name, she had a reputation for her caprices, and the conquests which she made no endeavor to hide either from him or from the world at large; and at some time during the previous year they had come to a friendly understanding which led to their living apart, each in grand style and with certain deference to the proprieties which retained them their friends and an enviable place in society. He was not often invited where she was, and she never appeared at present out of town, having started some three weeks before for the Southwest, but would probably return on receipt of the telegram which had been sent him.

The comments made on the murder were necessarily hurried. It was called a mystery, but it was evident enough that Mr. Durand's detention was looked on as the almost certain prelude to his arrest on the charge of murder.

I had had some discipline in life. Also a favorite of my wealthy uncle, I had given up very early the prospect he held out to me of a continued enjoyment of his bounty, and entered on duties which required self-denial and hard work. I did this because I enjoyed having both my mind and heart occupied. To be necessary to some one, as a nurse is to a patient, seemed to me an enviable fate till I came under the influence of Anson Durand. Then the craving of all women for the common lot of their sex became my craving also; a craving, however, to which I failed at first to yield, for I felt that it was unshared, and thus a token of weakness. Fighting my battle, I succeeded in winning it, as I thought, just as the nurse's diploma was put in my hands. Then came the great surprise of my life. Anson Durand expressed his love for me and I awoke to the fact that all my preparation had been for home joys and a woman's true existence. On the hour of ecstasy in the light of this new hope, the tragedy and something approaching chaos! Truly I had been thru a schooling. But was it one to make me useful in the only way I could be useful now? I did not know; I did not care; I was determined on my course, fit or unfit, and in the relief brought by this appeal to my energy, I rose and dressed and went about the duties of the day.

One of these was to determine whether Mr. Grey, on his return to his hotel, had found his daughter as ill as his fears had foreboded. A telephone message or two satisfied me on this point. Miss Grey was very ill, but not considered dangerously so; indeed, if anything, her condition was improved, and if nothing happened in the way of fresh complications, the prospects were that she would be out in a fortnight.

I was not surprised, it was more than I had expected. The cry of the past belied, even in an atmosphere surcharged with fear and all the horrors surrounding a great crime; and in the secret reckoning I was making against a person I will not even name at this juncture, I added it as another suspicious circumstance.

FORT WORTH BOY STAR BALL PLAYER
Manager Murphy Gives Steinfeldt a Diamond Pin

By a score of 4 to 1, Fort Worth won the closing polo game with Dallas at the Fort Worth rink Saturday night in front of one of the most enthusiastic crowds of the season.

From the start it was seen that with the exception of Captain Stampfer the visitors were clearly outclassed and from the beginning of the second period it was only a question of how many goals the local quintet could make.

Bunn and Baker shared honors in depositing the goals for the local team, while Godley caged the lone score for the guests, altho their credit it may be said that they had two of the in-and-out variety.

One of the visitors, Bunn lost but one and also succeeded in making the quickest score, the time being 49 seconds. Alys of the visitors scored the odd one in a total of seven, but four which came his way were somehow overlooked.

As the game is gradually gaining in popularity several northern stars will soon be imported and the game introduced in a fashion of which it is deserving.

Quite a number of the local fans will accompany the Fort Worth team to Dallas, where a return game is scheduled for 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The state supreme court of Michigan once rendered a decision that the manufacture of brooms by convicts in the state penitentiary is a violation of the state constitution.

PROPOSED BILL PREVENTS FRAUD
Will Be Introduced by Senator Alexander

When the Credit Men's Association met in Fort Worth and heard an address from Senator Bailey and enjoyed one of the Panther Club barbecues, some of the more earnest talks were made by those having experience, on the "bulk sales" question.

That was defined to be the surreptitious sales of stocks of goods often between two days, the "fly-by-night" style of sales. It was well understood by the credit men, but not as fully by others, as might be desirable. That the information on the subject may be made more general, the Texas Bulk Sales Law-Why? and it is explanatory of the object of the proposed law, and a plain statement of some of the evils the law is designed to reach and remedy.

The statement is made that it is sometimes the case, after a business man has established his credit, that he will get a stock of goods on credit, and then for as little as 25 cents on the dollar, sell out the stock in bulk and take a French leave. The proposed law makes a presumption in favor of the fraudulent intent in all such cases, and throws the burden of the proof of innocence on the vendor. The seller is required to furnish on the demand of the buyer a full statement of the accounts with all of the creditors fully seven days before the sale is made, and the creditors are to be notified of such pending sale. That is, there shall be no secret sales, such as will result in defrauding the creditors, and the only purpose of the proposed law is to make a fraud of the kind stated more difficult than it is now, and, to that extent, protect the creditor who has trusted the business man.

Senator Alexander of this district has agreed that he will present the bill, which has been framed on the same general lines as have such laws in twenty-five other states, and will advocate the bill before the legislature.

George Q. McGown and A. P. Foute of the Texas Business Men's League, both residents of Fort Worth, will go to the legislature to urge the passage of the law, which if not opposed by the honest retailer and is requested by the jobber and wholesaler.

It is not designed to, nor will the provisions of the law interfere in any way with any legitimate sale or business transaction.

It is claimed that the law is one which will benefit all honest merchants. The statement is made that a careful survey of the law will show that it will not interfere in any way with men engaged in the wholesale, retail or any other line of business, who intend to dispose of their stocks in bulk in a legitimate way. The reason for disposing of the stock in bulk is fair, just and honest, then the contemplated selling out can be made with safety.

To discourage dishonesty, the claim is made, is one of the steps in the right direction, and to prevent collusion in sales fraudulent in intent and fact is another step. The deterrent effects of publicity are relied on as an efficient aid in preventing the wrongdoing, which may be contemplated.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

THIS is the caution applied to the public announcement of Castoria that has been manufactured under the supervision of Chas. H. Fletcher for over 30 years—the genuine Castoria. We respectfully call the attention of fathers and mothers when purchasing Castoria to see that the wrapper bears his signature in black. When the wrapper is removed the same signature appears on both sides of the bottle in red. Parents who have used Castoria for their little ones in the past years need no warning against counterfeits and imitations, but our present duty is to call the attention of the younger generation to the great danger of introducing into their families spurious medicines.

It is to be regretted that there are people who are now engaged in the nefarious business of putting up and selling all sorts of substitutes, or what should more properly be termed counterfeits, for medicinal preparations not only for adults, but worse yet, for children's medicines. It therefore devolves on the mother to scrutinize closely what she gives her child. Adults can do that for themselves but the child has to rely on the mother's watchfulness.

OUR LAY SERMON
 This morning, young man, as we sat in our office
 we saw you from our window with two companions, head to the alley at the Western Union telegraph office. Down in our hearts, young man, we actually pitied you. We knew what you were going into that alley for, just as well as you did, and so did every one else who saw you. The simple act of going down an alley, young man, is no particular crime, but it is what you meet with down there that brings the harm to you. They say there are dreadful animals down there that lure you into their grasp, entrap you so you are never able to get out of their meshes. There is one animal there they call the "blind tiger," young man. Beware of him. He will get you if you don't watch out. They call him blind, but it is you who are blind. His eyes are more piercing and his hearing more acute than any creature you ever saw before in your whole life. He saw you before you headed into the alley, young man, and he and all his satanic satellites smiled gleefully and made the way at the start pleasant for you.
 We noticed, young man, that as you and your two companions headed into the alley you walked with buoyant step and you had a manly appearance. In fact, you were nice looking boys, still in your teens, and you were laughing and joking each other, as if you were not going down there to meet danger, danger and ignoble death. You say that the man who goes over Niagara Falls in a barrel is a fool; what are you?
 Well, young man, after you went into the alley
 and took that drink of rot-gut, did you feel any better?
 Well, hardly. That drink needed company and you took another, and by this time you took another, and by this time your eyes began to be crossed and your brain to whirl. Then you made a sneak for the front street, trying to look wise and innocent.
 But you knew you were guilty and so did everyone else who saw you.
 It was quite a while, young man, before we saw you again, but when we did we could easily tell by your red face and languid look that you were not feeling as well as before you took that drink of rot-
 gut. One of your companions was more hardened than you. The "blind tiger" held him until he became drunken and we saw him on the streets in a maudlin condition, staggering in all directions. Pity was in our heart for him, young man, but there was more for you. He had been on the road quite awhile, and you were just starting. We always feel sorry for the boy just starting.
 Keep heading into the alley, young man, and it won't be long until you will be coming around to the Traveler office, asking us to keep your name out of the police court columns for your mother's sake or for fear you will lose your job. You forgot your mother and your job when you started down the alley
 and when you come around to us with this foolish request we will also forget you ever had either.
 Keep on heading into the alleys, young man; work at it steadily and you will soon be the acknowledged village drunkard. Children will shrink from you in terror and mothers will point to you as an example to be avoided. And we will wonder how it is possible for man, made in the image and likeness of God, to sink so low and become so loathsome.—
 Arkansas City Traveler.
 And this serves to remind us that we have Blind Tigers and other kinds of tigers in Texas that are preying upon our youth in the same manner. In the local option districts of Texas there are thousands of young men today who are engaged in almost daily violating the law of their country and acquiring habits that are fast sinking them into complete degradation.
 You meet them on the trains, with their long bottles in evidence. You see them slinking around the livery stables and cold storage plants of the smaller cities and towns, hunting for the liquid dan-nation that has been shipped in from some wet town,
 and they join clubs and contribute of their scanty money continually for the purchase of the stuff that is rendering them fast unfit to be regarded as men.
 Young man, you may be resting in fancied security.
 You may labor under the impression that your associations and drunken libations are unknown and you have the wool pulled over the eyes of your parents and the public generally, but you are going to find yourself sadly mistaken. Your indulgence may be in secret and known only to your most intimate associates, but the time is soon coming when you can no longer conceal it. The thirst is going to grow upon you, and one of these near days you are going to emerge from the scene of your indulgence with the same kind of wobbly underpinning as the old soak you see shambling down some back alley. You are going to let the demon get the upper hand just as completely as he has and then your shame will be known of all men.

 Your employer may not be saying much to you now, except in a general way remind you of the fate that usually overtakes the youth who shows a disposition to go astray. He has his eyes upon you, however, and is watching you more closely than you imagine. When he finds his friendly admonitions are without effect he is going to clear his skirts and his business of your presence. Your position socially and from a business standpoint is at stake. You are on the straight road that leads to destruction.
 There is yet time to reform, young man. You are not yet so low that you cannot be saved if you wish to be saved. But you must first make up your mind that you want to be saved. You must shake off these evil associates and avoid them in future.
 You must learn to say no to the tempter and permit the real manhood that is in your nature to have full sway.

  - 16.—Useful Suggestions.—By J. H. Connell, Dallas.
  - 17.—The Need of Shows in Summer, and How to Make It.—W. M. Kerr, McKinney.
- WALTER E. DAVIS, Pres.
 Sherman, Texas.
 M. M. OFFUTT Secretary, Cleburne, Texas.

The meeting at Van Alstyne should be largely attended and result in great benefit to the swine growing industry. All Texas is deeply interested in this matter, for no other industry promises greater returns for the time and money invested. The men who are growing swine in every part of the state are making good money, and the demand of the Fort Worth market is continually for more hogs.

Only a few days ago a Parker county farmer pointed to a Chester White sow on his premises and remarked to the writer that she had made him $150 last year, and said she was worth about $200. Can a man invest $200 in anything else that will yield such a return as this within one year's time? The Fort Worth market is paying more money for hogs than any other market in the country and ready to take all that can be produced. There should be a general awakening on this subject and more hogs grown in every part of the state. It means good money for all who undertake it.

Late advices from Brownsville indicate that as a result of the Purdy investigation, instituted by the President, the names of the negro soldiers who took part in the rioting and murders in that city have been disclosed. If this is the case the efforts of Senator Foraker have not been without their just reward.

Out in the Twenty-eighth senatorial district where a warm campaign was projected over the resignation of Senator Hawkins, the people refuse absolutely to warm up and attend the political meetings. This fact proves the truth of the Telegram's contentions that the people of Texas are surfeited with politics,
 and are wisely turning to better things.

Again the people of Fort Worth have demonstrated that when it comes to voting under the referendum they have other business that claims their time and attention.

The politicians are now moving on Austin in a solid phalanx, and the state capital is going to witness some lively doings during the next few weeks.
 Fort Worth continues to grow faster than any other city in all Texas or the Southwest.

RISKY

Two Scotchmen with a thirst counted up their joint possessions and found that they could just cover the price of a drink of whisky. They went into the nearest saloon and ordered one drink. Sandy putting down the money for the same. Then arose a discussion as to how it could be disposed of to the best advantage of both.

At the critical moment a stranger entered the salloon. With a wink of his eye at his companion Sandy turned to the newcomer and said:

"Will you have a drink with us?"
 Supposing that the other had drunk before his entrance, the stranger said heartily, "I will," and emptied
 the glass.

There was an uncertain pause for a moment, and then the third man said:

"Come on, boys, have one on me."
 They had it. As they went out Sandy wiped his mouth and said:
 "See, mon, it worked."
 "Yes," was the reply, "but oh, what a risk!"

THE UNLUCKY PLATTS

The courts have decided that the negroess, Hannah Elias, may keep the $885,000 that John R. Platt gave to her. Members of the Platt family seem to be unlucky lately.—Boston Globe.

ANOTHER MISTAKE

Girls are altogether wrong when they think that if the stenographer is only pretty enough, it doesn't make any difference how she spells.—Somerville Journal.

WITH THE BOOKS

Mr. Eden Phillpotts says that every enthusiast writes a book about his or her garden nowadays, and to escape notoriety he has joined the throngs with "My Garden." Mr. Philpot's garden is, it appears, in Torquay and is only an acre in extent, but he has plants from all parts of the world—from Bokkara, from Zambesi and from Mexico.

 Chronicles" are drawn from people he has met.

 A bibliography of Shakespeare, containing nearly 20,000 titles, will be published by Mr. Jargard of Liver-

 It was his first sight of the Pyramids, on a trip to Egypt for his health, some years ago, that inspired Robert Hichens with that profound love for the regions of the Mediterranean that transformed him from the clever writer of tales of London society into the novellist. He has now written a new book, "The Story of the African Desert," which he has recently located a still greater one, day of joyous life, because its representatives will
 the Call of the Blood, in the fascinating environment of Sicily.

 J. W. Schulz, whose unusual book, "My life as an Indian," will be published in January, has had remarkable experiences. He was born in New England of German parents more than seventy years ago. When a very young man he decided to go to the source of the Missouri river, and on his way, falling in with the Penguin Blackfoot Indians, he assumed their life, joined them in their wars, was made a full member of their tribe and married an Indian squaw. In his book he not only gives the story of his own life, but he describes the Indian agencies and the long injustice of the government toward the Indians.

 Kate Douglas Wiggin's story, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," has been translated for German children by Miss Elizabeth Merriam, and is now appearing in a somewhat abbreviated form in Leipzig. In the "notes" at the end of the volume explanations are given of such terms as "maple sugar," "sweet potatoes," "brass knocker," "mince pie," etc. A dictionary accompanying the story gives all the words used in it with their German equivalents.

 The Century Company will publish in January "The Dangers of Municipal Ownership," by Robert P. Por-

 Porter is the author of "Industrial Cuba," "a Life of William McKinley," and other books. He was special United States commissioner to Cuba and Porto Rico in 1898-99.

STRIKING NAMES

Striking names for articles of merchandise are constantly in demand, and the success of a new breakfast food, tooth powder or novel depends nowadays largely upon the genius behind the name. It appears that imitation enters into commercial nomenclature
 as into other branches of business. Soon after Mercedith Nicholson's novel, "The House of a Thousand Candles," was launched, a railway paraphrased the name to suit its own needs as "The Road of a Thousand Wonders." Two candy manufacturers in widely separated cities have lately been advertising "The House of a Thousand Candles." A well-known summer resort hotel has proclaimed itself far and wide
 "The House of a Thousand Delights." Mr. Nicholson's good luck as a maker of phrases has followed him in the title of his new romance now running as a serial in a popular magazine and announced for publication in the spring, "The Port of Missing Men." He recently received in good faith a check for a handsome sum from a great canning factory in western New York asking him to name a new "line" of fancy pickles —an offer which he declined for the reason, as he wrote the president of the company, that he was afraid of making himself liable under the pure food law.

SOCKS NOT LONG ENOUGH

This report that Santa Claus is going to drop a presidential message into the stocking of every congressman may not be accepted with considerable reserve, however.—Newark News.

ANOTHER MELON

The estimate that $50,000,000 more wages will be paid out in this country in 1907 than were paid this year indicates that labor will cut something of a melon, too.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

FREQUENTLY A MAN IS YOUR FRIEND UNLESS HE TELLS YOU

he is.

OUT OF TOWN
 By Byron Williams

In the golden summer weather
 When the clouds float light together,
 An' the sky is wearing tapestries of lace—
 When the sunbeams are so yellow
 That they almost burn a feller
 As he hikes along the pavement hot a way—
 In the torrid summer weather
 When the hills break from tether, Noddin' white upon the water's buoyant breast—
 When the woods are real invitin'
 An' the rabbits go a-skitin'
 An' the turtle doves croon softly on her nest—

'Twas 'tis time to sort of wander
 To the sun-kissed hills out yonder,
 Where the zephyrs are a talkin' to the trees;
 Just forget yer work an' worry
 Where the country, sweet an' purry, Blows the cobwebs from yer brain cells on the breeze!
 There are pastoral scenes—and quiet—
 Even though you have to buy it
 At steep dollars by the week of cash right down!
 There the fat is pure as honey,
 There you breathe away your money—
 "out of town!"

THE TELEGRAM AND TEXAS PRESS

BEST TOWN ON THE MAP
 The Fort Worth Telegram says: "Fort Worth gained in 1906 twenty-six new wholesale firms and manufacturing establishments, $51,000,000 increase in bank clearings, making a total of $317,000,000, also 2,500 feet of frontage new brick and stone business houses, also $200,000 spent for new churches and improvements on old ones, secured the T. & B. V. road and general offices, six miles of added street railway, a new Y. M.
 C. A., two new ward schools, three hospitals and two new fire halls." When a town is growing in such proportions as that we know without investigating that the people are working, and are not fighting among themselves. Fort Worth is one of the best towns on the map.—Cleburne Review.

A HELL OF A PLACE
 The Fort Worth Telegram starts us again by stating that for every ten marriages in Tarrant county three and a fraction divorce suits have been filed, and for every two divorce suits filed in 1906, one divorce had been granted, but three-fourths of the divorce suits filed for 1906 are yet to be heard. Fort Worth is a hell of a place any way.—Cleburne Review.

NEW YORK'S NEW GOVERNOR
 Next in importance to Pennsylvania is New York, and the situation there is somewhat similar to that in the Keystone state, except that there will be no individual boss, even like Penrose. For the first time since the days of Roosevelt there will be a governor whose acts will be watched by the country at large,
 with a view to the next national election. When Governor-elect Hughes reaches Albany there will be no boss established at a hotel to express and dominate the new regime. From the executive mansion there will be issued no mandate to appoint a speaker of assembly. "How is Hughes planning to meet the demands of the bosses—not of the party—not of the state of New York?" This is the question of the moment in contemporary Albany. The Platts, the Deweps, the Odells and the rest will take back seats on this occasion.
 There will be new faces at the windows and strange worshippers in the pews. The democracy will have its take charge of all the elective state offices at Albany and turn the republicans, who have been comfortably seated at the pie counter since Roosevelt P. Flower went out of office, into the cold streets. The question will naturally arise, can or will Hughes, with Roosevelt at his back, unite the distracted republican party so that it will present a solid front in 1908? No one expects Hearst and Murphy and Connors to unite the democracy.—Public Ledger.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

And the mistake is often understood.
 The Christmas present difficulty will soon be past.
 Remember the poor, the rich never forget themselves.
 Here's hoping you will be able to tide over the Yuletide.
 Hanging up stockings is also a part of the washer-
 woman's duties.
 Some men say that they enjoy Christmas shopping,
 but men were liars ever.
 At present there are more cheerful givers than cheerful forgivers.
 Of course, it is not right if you are left without a Christmas present.
 "Well, I'll be hanged!" exclaimed the old-fashioned stocking on Christmas eve.
 This is the season of year when the evergreen family tree begins to bear fruit.
 And what a grand and glorious thing it would be if we could only exchange our Christmas presents
 for the things we really want.—Chicago News.

Down in Goldwaite the directors of the oil mill that is in course of construction met the citizens of the town and asked permission to import ten negro laborers to work upon the mill. Many speeches were made and then a vote was taken. All favored the proposition to allow the company to bring in the negroes.—Denton Record and Chronicle.

It looks like the men at the head of any business enterprise ought to be able to control and direct it, but such is not always the case. In the case referred to public sentiment had to be consulted, or serious trouble might have resulted.
 ♦ ♦ ♦ ♦ ♦
 The showing that the last federal census made for Texas has done more to attract people and capital to the state than any kind of publicity the state's resources have ever had, just wait until the next census is issued. The fastest trains will then be too slow for the throngs bound for the Lone Star state.—
 Quannah Observer.

The coming years are fraught with much that is good for Texas. The rapid development of the past two years will not be a marker to what is coming.
 Ten years from now we will all be wondering at what has been accomplished in Texas.
 ♦ ♦ ♦ ♦ ♦
 The piling up of testimony of about forty unimpeachable witnesses at Brownsville makes those negro soldiers whom Senator Foraker describes as patriots look to be about the worst villains unhung. Some persons in the North will have their eyes opened before President Roosevelt gets thru making public the full facts of this Brownsville atrocity.—San Antonio Express.

Let the facts come out and the spurious public sentiment that is being manufactured in the East overcome. Facts are stubborn things and cannot be controverted. In Texas we know the negroes were guilty as sin, but it is a long step from Ohio to Texas, and Ohio people do not seem to see things with a clear vision.

Only the poor, it seems, can afford to marry for love.
 Even the coal dealer should start the new year
 with a clean slate.
 Opportunity only makes the man who knows what to do with it.
 The beauty about hiring an inexperienced man is that you can teach him something.
 When our plans go up in smoke we can console ourselves with the theory of spontaneous combustion.
 We are all attracted by our opposites, which is why
 a woman likes a man who is a good listener.

SOCIETY

Whims and Fancies
The years have ended for the Baroness Burdett-Coutts. When I was a little girl the world was ringing with her praises. The queen had raised her to the peerage, the city of London had presented her with a casket engraved with motto and scenes that told of her acts of gentle mercy. "Feeding the hungry," "giving drink to the thirsty," "Clothing the Naked," "Visiting Prisoners," "Lodging the homeless," "Visiting the sick," and "Burying the dead." A little girl can devour with vivid imagination many things besides tales of Santa. The pictures of the woman and the stories of her benefactions sank into my mind, never to be forgotten.

Association. In 1859 she organized the Shoeblack Brigade in London, which teaches neglected boys from the streets, teaches them cleanliness and order, and finally enters them in the royal navy or in some mercantile, manufacturing or industrial calling.

Relieving Cholera Victims
When in 1868 cholera broke out in the east end district she raised a relief committee, paid the salaries of a medical man, of eight trained nurses, of two sanitary inspectors and of four men to distribute disinfectants, besides making large gifts of food, blankets and clothing.

Afterward her husband, to Turkey, to distribute the fund.

How the baroness came to be the richest woman in England is a pleasant story.

The holiday frolics that have filled to overflowing the joys of the young folks ended New Year's night with the formal dance given by the Sans Pareils in the Colonial hall.

The Thallians
The Thallians' anniversary dance at the Worth Monday evening was as gay as holiday spirit and youth could desire.

A Family Reunion
Mrs. J. D. Covert entertained with a New Year's dinner for the members of the families related by blood and marriage.

THE FORT WORTH TELEGRAM

Nothing Too Good For the American People

There is NOTHING TOO GOOD for the American people—that's why we started to make Cascarets Candy Cathartic.

The sale today is at the rate of OVER A MILLION BOXES A MONTH, proving that the American people recognize, that what is BEST FOR THEM is none too good.

Why this enormous patronage? The answer is simple: Cascarets are pure, clean, sweet, mild, fragrant, harmless but effective little tablets for the treatment and cure of Constipation and all Bowel Troubles.

The New Pure Drug Act, adopted by Congress on June 30, 1906, and in effect January 1, 1907, is a GOOD LAW and means better and PURER drugs for the American People.

We adopted OUR OWN PURE DRUG LAW in 1895 when the first box of Cascarets came on the market and have lived and worked and produced under it ever since.

To-day, after a record of nearly 100,000,000 boxes sold, Cascarets STAND the greater in PURITY, QUALITY and MEDICINAL MERIT than any other preparation for Bowel trouble in all the world.

This should be a great argument for any one, to try Cascarets AT ONCE, and be healthier and happier for it. Some people have CHRONIC CONSTIPATION with all the horrors derived from it; others have HABITUAL CONSTIPATION from carelessness and neglect, but nearly EVERYBODY has OCCASIONAL CONSTIPATION, which, if not promptly taken care of is liable to result in its degeneration into the worse forms and cause great suffering and perhaps death.

Cascarets, if taken patiently and regularly, will remedy all of these awful troubles, but if taken promptly at the very first sign of an irregularity of the Bowels, will act as the FINEST PREVENTIVE ever discovered and will keep all the machinery running in good order.

We advise you to get a little 10c box of Cascarets TO-DAY and carry it in your purse or vest pocket. Take one when you feel anything unusual about your bowels.

Our card, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hubbard, Holt Hubbard and Miss Virginia Covert.

The dinner was of the beautiful kind, told of in stories of southern hospitality, and the good cheer on the table but accentuated the affection and family unity of those who partook of it.

A Skating Party Between the hours of 9:45 and 12 o'clock Thursday evening Misses Wombwell, Andrews, Rintaman, Lusk, Stewart, Hosmer, White and McCarthy were honored with a very enjoyable skating party at the Fort Worth rink.

Miss Helen Murdoch won the first prize, a Japanese group, which she presented to the honoree. The consolation prize, a Japanese jewel box, fell to Miss Day. The table favors were dear little Japanese dishes.

The Old Year Out The young friends of Miss Mary Scranton Roe were very happy indeed as they gathered at the Rose home Monday evening to watch out the old year. The New Year was nowhere more admirably welcomed, with a heartiness tempered with decorum, than by these charming young guests of a charming young hostess.

Games, music and dancing made the evening very happy. It closed with the refreshments of cake and ice cream. The guests were: Misses Cynthia Darter, Sidney King, Frances Van Zandt, Anabelle Browne, Malde Tolley, Ladelle Stewart, Charlie Mae Williams, Louise Jordan, Louise Ross, Margaret Haney, Sadie Trigg, Agnes Stewart and Goldie King.

Mrs. Clifford Sharon entertained with a dinner Monday evening, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Mayo. The dinner, like everything else pertaining to the celebration, was artistic, beautifully prepared and served. The guests' favors were water-color studies in roses and red roses were used for table decorations.

Cox, Adine Buck, Ola Mae Hamlin and Mrs. L. Runnels. The dining room was prettily decorated and a two-course luncheon was served.

Miss Mabel Long was entertained with luncheon Wednesday in honor of Miss Lysaght of Wichita Falls. The guests: Misses Lysaght, Clay Allison, Nell Conner, Cecil Calhoun and Mrs. Paul Bishop.

The Harmony Club held an instructive as well as delightful social meeting Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. H. Wear. The program devoted to Menelsohn was carried out with a paper by Mrs. A. J. Pautech, a piano solo by Mrs. Foster, and songs by Mrs. Harle, a trio for the voice by Mesdames Foute, Miss Moore, Mrs. Lyons, an arrangement of the wedding march by Mrs. H. Wear.

Health is More Than Wealth Use BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT, KING OF THEM ALL

One of the most pleasant entertainments of the past week was given Monday night at the home of Mrs. John Lamb, where they entertained with high five, forty-two and dancing.

The spacious parlor, dining room, library and dance hall were tastefully and as artistically decorated with the ever beautiful and appropriate holly and mistletoe.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. John Brown of Sherman for the marriage of their daughter, Kathryn, to Charles K. Byett of this city, the ceremony to take place in Sherman, Jan. 10. At-home after Jan. 15, 1907 Travis avenue, Fort Worth.

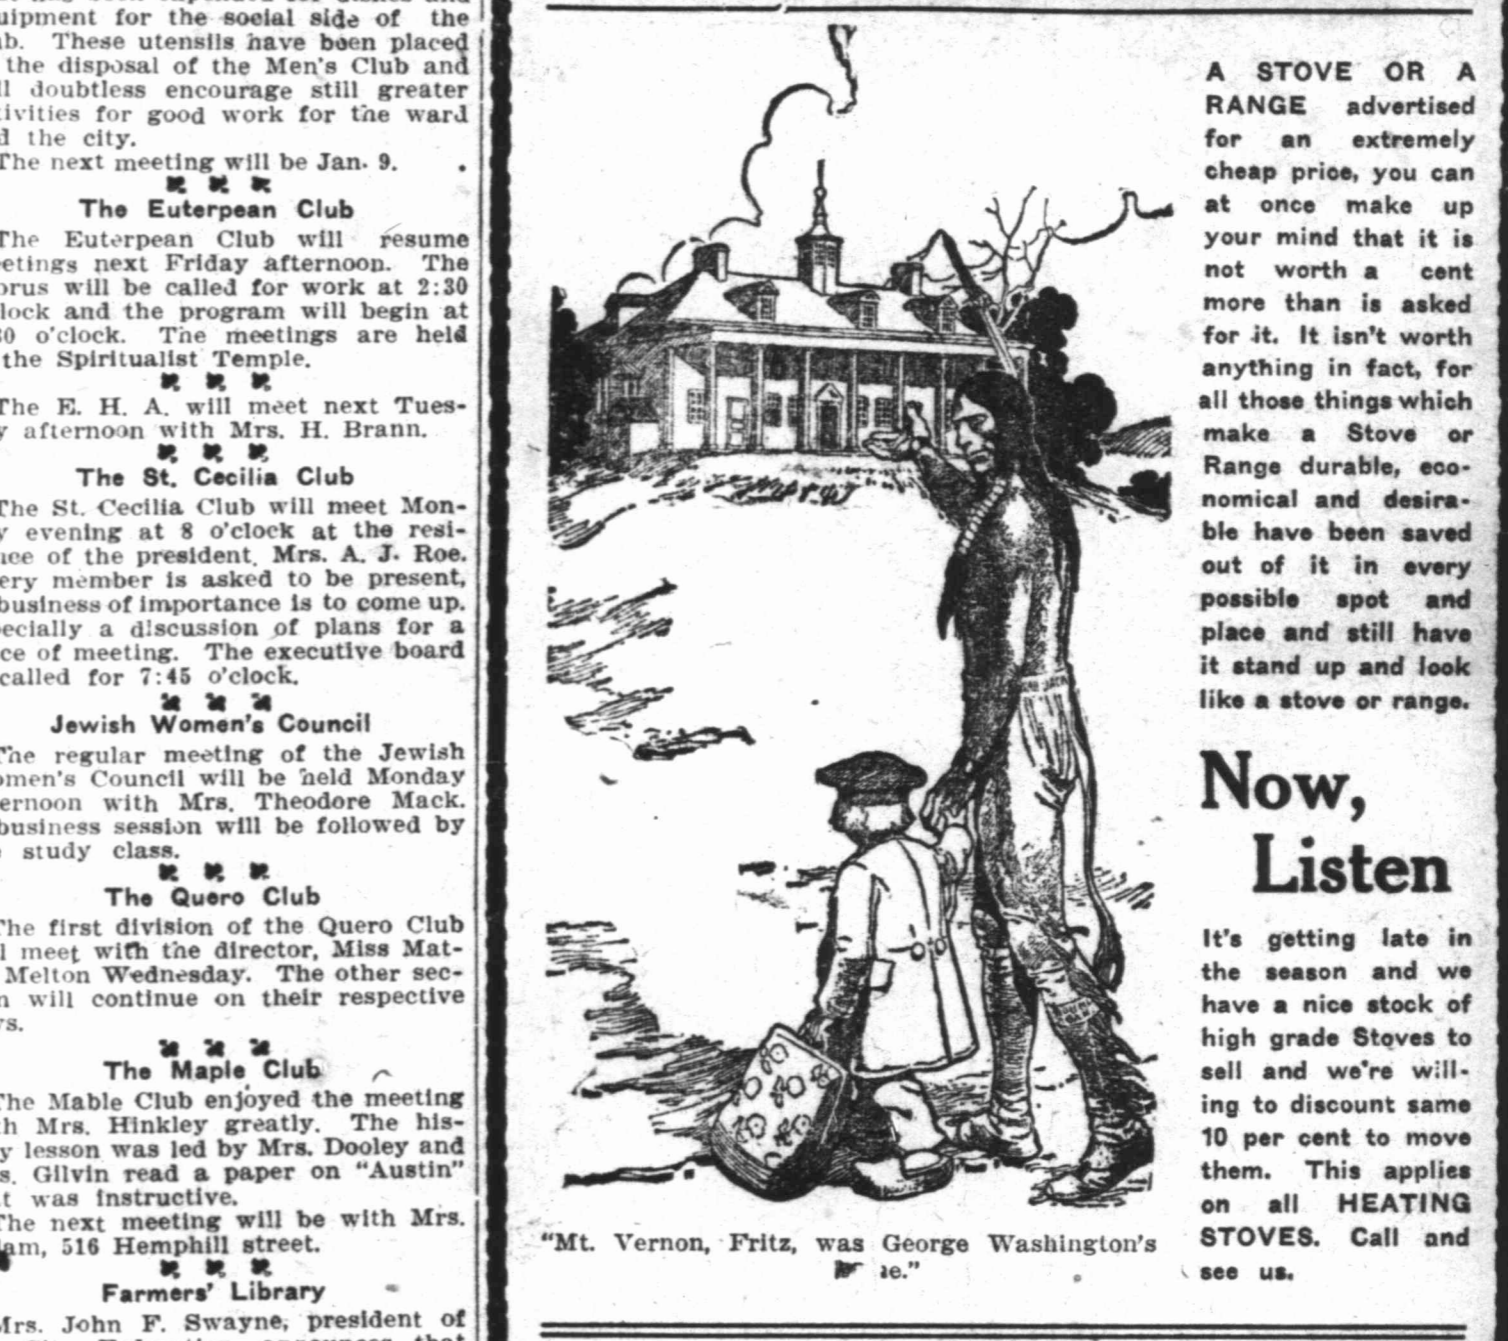

Let every woman who has an eye for the beautiful, who desires to please, strive at all times to look her best, and keep this thought ever uppermost in her mind, that nothing enhances the appearance so much as a lovely complexion, white on the other hand nothing detracts so much as a poor one.

The virtues of Swedish Massage are such that the most obtuse may grasp readily. It is a universal fact that so long as impurities are allowed in the system, but to long will it remain in a poisoned and unhealthy condition. Thus it is with the skin—when the pores are clogged with foreign matter and continue a receptacle for dirt, grease, powder, paint, etc., the consequence is blackheads, pimples, moth patches, freckles, all foreign matters on the face. From the State University for the vacation.

Mrs. Bertha Hutchings entertained with a luncheon during the holidays in honor of Miss Myra Peacock, who returned from the State University for the vacation. Mrs. Dunklin will entertain next Tuesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. J. T. Burch, who removes south to Ardmore.

Miss Mary Little entertained for her New Year's party were Misses Annie Tucker Andrews, Elizabeth Nelson, Frances Van Zandt, Lottie Richards, Estelle Dreyer, Marjory Cobb, Della Cobb, Constance, Annie May, Finstrong, Nettie Jackson, Annie Mae

When Ever You See A STOVE OR A RANGE advertised for an extremely cheap price, you can at once make up your mind that it is not worth a cent more than is asked for it. It isn't worth anything in fact, for all those things which make a Stove or Range durable, economical and desirable have been saved out of it in every possible spot and place and still have it stand up and look like a stove or range.

Now, Listen It's getting late in the season and we have a nice stock of high grade Stoves to sell and we're willing to discount some 10 per cent to move them. This applies on all HEATING STOVES. Call and see us.

COMING ATTRACTIONS FOR THE WEEK

"Checkers"
An opportunity will be given to local amusement lovers at Greenwall's opera house tomorrow night, Jan. 7, to see a new play, a new leading woman to this city. The play is "Checkers," about which much has been written, and which has scored remarkable hits in Philadelphia, Boston, New York, St. Louis, Pittsburg and Chicago. The play is the dramatization of a book of the same title written about ten years ago by Henry M. Blossom Jr. and which has since been very widely circulated. The story of the play is one of love and luck and breathes of life as it is known by the great, struggling majority of mankind.

Hans Robert, the phenomenally versatile young actor, will be seen in the title role. He is in his early 20s and is pronounced an actor of distinct ability and charm. Among the carefully selected company are Miss Isabelle Parker, the niece of the comedian, Frank Daniels; Miss Clara Armstrong, the young Vassar graduate who spurred a legacy of $200,000 to go upon the stage; Miss Pauline Eberhard and Dave Brahm Jr., son of the composer whose name is linked with the old-time Harrigan and Hart successes, and whose creation of the part of "Push" Miller, the race track tout is described as a masterpiece of work. The entire company numbers nearly 150 people.

A liberal part of the plot is devoted to the old, old but ever popular story told in language new, and another liberal part tells of the excitement of the race track and the keen, intense customs of the betting ring. This entails a contest between Master Cupid and Dame Fortune, and, as Senator Gorman once said, "All important legislative ends are generally achieved by compromise," so it is in this instance. Love wins, but so does luck, and as everybody concerned is happy over the outcome, there is apparently no cause to complain.

Isabelle Parker in "Checkers," at Greenwall's on Monday night.

"Ellen Beach Yaw"
Ellen Beach Yaw will sing in concert at Greenwall's opera house Tuesday night, Jan. 6, and will be assisted by Maximilian Dick and Georgiella Lay.

Ellen Beach Yaw in concert at Greenwall's opera house Tuesday night.

"Coming Attractions"
An event of interest to the play-going world is "The Squaw Man" which will make its appearance with Henry Jewett in the principal role at Greenwall's soon. The play is described as a western romance written by Edwin Milton Royle, and it gets its title from the status which public opinion on the Indian reservations among the more civilized tribes gives to a white man who marries an Indian woman.

Max Figman will be seen here soon in the delightful comedy, "The Man on the Box," dramatized from Harold McGrath's book, and one of last season's biggest successes in New York City.

The author of "We Are King" has written a most powerful drama for Mr. Walker Whiteside's annual tour this season. The new play in which Mr. Whiteside will be seen at Greenwall's soon is entitled "Fat Magic Melody." It is a story of love, music, artistic impulses and a grain of sordid commercialism. Mr. Whiteside has been fitted with the most congenial role he has played for years. As Helmar, a young German violinist of genius, he runs the entire gamut of feeling. There are sparkling passages of wit in which his rich comedy gifts are given every scope; there are tender love passages, where the romantic ardor of his acting is seen to the best advantage, and there are dramatic climaxes where the full plenitude of his powers reaches the apex of acting.

Lillian Russell has started on one of the most comprehensive tours of the country ever undertaken by a star of the first magnitude. This tour has been arranged by her manager, Joseph Brooks, so as to present the beautiful actress in an easy, unassuming manner where she has never appeared. The first section of this art pilgrimage will embrace all the important towns in the south and middle west and will take Miss Russell to New Orleans for Mardi Gras week. Lillian Russell will travel like a queen throughout the length and breadth of the land, living in her own private car in order to avoid the discomforts of indifferent hotels. The

An arrangement has been effected between Messrs. Charles Frohman and Laeblor & Co. by which the twin stars, William H. Cline and Ellis Jeffreys, will be seen here in a splendid revival of "She Stoops to Conquer." But few of the more important class of the country will be played, as it is the desire of the management to make it possible for the company to travel about by easy stages.

The bugbear, "dull care," will find it a hard task to inflict his presence on those who witness "The Gingerbread Man," the brilliant, fanciful farryquest that comes to this city soon. Scintillating with wit, humor and repartee, brilliant in its electrical effects, it is one big kaleidoscopic vision of light and color. Edward A. Braden Company, who are responsible for the production, have been lavish in their expenditures and given to the theater-going public the most gorgeous musical show of the decade. It must be seen to be appreciated.

THE MAJESTIC BILL
Fred Hallen and Mollie Fuller.
Gilroy, Haynes and Montgomery.
Sanderson and Bowman.
Mons. Herbert.
The Great LeCompt.
Orville Pitcher.

Six big attractions and new pictures on the Majestic theater this week. The program will be equally divided as to team work and single acts. It is a source of much pleasure for the management to be able to inform the patrons that some of the recognized stars of the stage have been secured and a perusal of the foregoing list will convince those that follow theatrical news that no exaggeration is made in the announcement. Foremost in the personnel of the program is the jovial couple, Fred Hallen and Mollie Fuller, who are presenting for the first time their success, "Her Sunday School Boy," Gilroy, Haynes and Montgomery will be seen in a comedy, "The Good Ship Nancy Lee," and Sanderson and Bowman will have a refined production, entitled, "Two Theater Tickets." The single acts will consist of Mons. Herbert, who gets music out of anything; the Great LeCompt, fire eater, and Orville Pitcher, a funny black-face comedian. The features are entertaining and should make a great hit with the children.

Hallen and Fuller
In Hallen and Fuller the Majestic management considers itself fortunate in being able to present to lovers of refined comedy the most distinguished comedians in the current events of the country and will be seen for the first time on the Inter-State Amusement circuit. They are conceded to be the most noted couple in comedy role and have scored a tremendous success wherever they have appeared. For many years Mr. Hallen was of the team of Hallen and Hart, who made a tremendous hit in "Later On." When the vaudeville theaters began opening up all over the country this team separated and Mr. Hallen chose his wife, Mollie Fuller, as his partner to introduce a quiet comedy routine. She is a happy-go-lucky woman, gifted with versatility that she knows how to introduce to please her audience, and she never fails to make Mr. Hallen and she shows how hard it is to keep him from mischief after he has joined the church. The comedy is possessed of a novel theme worked into a series of good laughs.
Gilroy, Haynes and Montgomery
This trio is making a great hit this season with their singing comedy sketch, "The Good Ship Nancy Lee." The act combines comedy with straight music, and it is always getting into situations to show the fine harmony of their voices. Miss Montgomery has a good voice of rare quality, which she handles well and never fails to make a pleasant impression. Maurice Haynes as captain of the good ship has a sweet tenor voice and is heard to best advantage in popular songs. Then Charles Gilroy is the comedian of the trip. As the cabin boy on the ship he is always getting into misadventures. He has been sadly neglected, but he is now being noticed and he has a chance to sing and after some ridiculous situations he discovers that he is possessing a voice of a voice which he has. Then comes the climax of the comedy in which the three are heard in the rendition of some classic selections.

Sanderson and Bowman
Carl W. Sanderson is one of the most versatile piano players on the stage. He can play the piano with his feet as well as with his hands. In his positions he is simply immense. One of his favorite stunts is to imitate a hand organ on the piano. Another one of his specialties is to play well-known pieces in wrong keys. As a piano entertainer he ranks with Willie Fox, F. L. Don, Arthur Dunn, and others in that class. Before intruding upon the stage Miss Billie Bowman assists him in comedy work which leads up to the selections on the instrument. Unable to procure tickets for the theater he tells his wife that he can give just as good an entertainment as at any playhouse, and after asking the audience if they are willing to take a York

How Audience Plays a Part
Did you ever stop to think when you pass the man at the theater door, walk into the playhouse and seek comfortably in the plush-covered chair, that there is more in your part of the forthcoming performance than the mere pleasure you may derive from the performance?

The curtain rises, the actors go thru the parts, act after act, and you leave the theater in a justly critical humor, for have you paid your way in and therefore have you not the right to criticize the quality of acting, and the questions of value received? And yet how much you have contributed toward the success of the evening or aided in the efforts of the players has probably never entered into your calculations.

Actors are but actors, and the parts they portray are but good, bad or indifferent attempts to reproduce for your pleasure what may occur in real life, the picture varying from tragedy or burlesque, but always taking on the semblance of life. The player is invariably ambitious, and an appreciative audience is like a tonic; one good dose of stimulating encouragement inspires him to pay with his best for that tonic; his eyes see only friends across the bright line of footlights, and his

The famous Rogers brothers will be the attraction at Greenwall's opera house Saturday matinee and night, Jan. 12, presenting their side-splitting comedy by John J. McHally, called "The Rogers Brothers in Ireland." In past seasons the Rogers brothers' vehicles have been vaudeville farces, a conglomeration of comicality interspersed with specialties and elaborate musical numbers; now they have a genuine Irish comedy possessing a comic, a serious and a strong love interest. The Rogers brothers play their usual German character roles. All the other types in the piece are Irish and speak with a brogue. The Rogers brothers will continue their broken German dialect and the contrast between their style of expression and that of the remainder of the company is likely to create a great deal of humor.

Others will enjoy the play, but those who have sung college songs on a college campus, and who have lived the happy college life under the eaves of some good old Alma Mater, will have their hearts throbbing and their blood tingling when they see the old days enacted again before their eyes. This new play, with Paul Gilmore in the leading role of the stroke on the varsity crew, has so much good healthy bubbles over so with all that is young and alive, that that who sit and watch it will find themselves humming, the songs and cheering the singers, as if their class were '97 instead of '77.

FRICITION IN PARLIAMENT

Education Bill Was Easily Defeated

BLAME BALFOUR

Lady Henry Somerset Writes Interesting Letter About London Affairs

(Copyright by Hearst News Service.)
Special Cable to The Telegram.

BY LADY HENRY SOMERSET.
LONDON, Jan. 5.—Since the days of the London parliament there has probably never been a time of greater friction between the lords and commons than now.

The peers the other day were arrayed for battle when they met to discuss the education bill. The bench of bishops was crowded and every peer was present in the house. It was a scene of interest and importance which means to those who know anything of that house a great deal; men who are scarcely ever seen in London, and who pass most of their time on their country estates, are summoned, and unfamiliar faces appear on the scene.

It is curious to watch the arrival of such men, some very old, bent and worn, are brought up to vote, and some younger, who care nothing for politics, and do not profess to be patriots, are also imported from the race course or from the hunting field.

The serried ranks were determined to meet the foe and to destroy the dragon of the educational bill. The more light-sighted and the more statesmanlike were afraid of the attitude of the lords. They knew that war to the end the loss of anything for which they were fighting and that secular education loomed ahead, but the thirst for power was on those who and gathered around it was felt that they would sacrifice everything to a moment of triumph, so the bill was killed and sent out from the house of commons a mere measure, from which every original feature, good or bad, was expunged. The resources of the British constitution, however, were not felt to be exhausted, and undoubted a way will be found by which the will of the people, expressed thru their elected representatives in the lower house, will at last prevail.

Personally, I am not an admirer of the education bill. I think in many ways it was arbitrary and unwelcome. I realize that the claims of the Catholic church have to be considered, and yet when Mr. Redmond, the Irish member, spoke from a strong Roman Catholic point of view, one could not help realising that the spirit that had killed the bill was not animated so much by a sense of justice as it was a piece of party political opposition.

Balfour Doesn't Care

Mr. Arthur Balfour is largely responsible for the situation and it is absurd to imagine that Mr. Balfour cares much about church education, considering that he himself, if he can be classified, is a Scotch Presbyterian, and the winding position that he adopted was wholly a matter of party tactics.

Nevertheless the bill is dead, and never probably since the great rebellion, has the house of commons been animated by such hostile feelings as were shown yesterday. The atmosphere was electric, and the loud murmurs of discontent sounded like the booming of a great sea, preparing for a storm. Mr. Balfour was absent, owing to illness, and when the announcement was made, loud laughter greeted the statement.

The action is unquestionably but the herald of a wide reform. The institution of the referendum must be resorted to, for it cannot be tolerated that

Have One Doctor

No sense in running from one doctor to another. Select the best one, then stand by him. Do not delay, but consult him in time when you are sick. Ask his opinion of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for coughs and colds. Then use it or not, just as he says.

the house of commons, sent with the expressed mandate of the country to carry thru certain measures, is to be entirely blocked by the veto of the hereditary house.

That was the universal feeling of the commons yesterday. Mr. Birrell, who is answerable for the bill, made a fine speech. It was full of good temper, and yet one could see that the man felt the situation keenly, and he spoke with a voice touched with sadness.

The speech made from the labor benches expressed a feeling the force of which will not easily be stemmed. "Secular education has always been the solution of this question," Mr. Harle declared, "and no other solution is possible."

Dramatic Instinct of Children

I am delighted to find that people are beginning to understand that the dramatic instinct in children is one of the strongest that exist. I have always maintained this, and very often I have seen good people look askance when the word 'drama' was mentioned in connection with school. It was supposed to be something very wicked, the knowledge of which would only come to them in later life. But nowadays educationalists are learning that this instinct is one of the very best ways to impress on the child mind the events we desire them to understand.

A school in a little village in Sussex possessed a curriculum which is probably the most original in the world. The mistress has conceived the idea of teaching the children by the constant use of the drama, the dance, the song and the pageant. The little scholars act everything, lesson books are put on a shelf, they are left in the drawers, but tableaux are arranged, and the children reproduce historic scenes which they would otherwise learn thru books alone.

The drama is not the only drama. The schemes has worked admirably," said the head mistress, "the children learn much more quickly and much more intelligently. The tableaux are arranged in a primitive way, but quite realising that the spirit that had killed the bill was not animated so much by a sense of justice as it was a piece of party political opposition.

Thought Reading

I have rarely seen anything more interesting than the performance of Mr. and Mrs. Zanzig. Indeed, all London is talking about them, and their names are on everybody's lips. The king declared the other day that it was the most interesting entertainment at which he had ever been present, and that is a strong saying from one who has seen everything that is interesting and curious for the last half century.

The society for psychical research are taking a particular interest in their proceedings. The idea of thought transference has long been one of their main studies, but never has it been brought to such a perfection as is manifested by this man and woman.

Sir Oliver Lodge has received a very frank and courteous letter from Mr. and Mrs. Zanzig, saying that they would be glad if the society would investigate their claims. Accordingly, a trusted agent was sent to examine the performance of a man well versed in all the tricks of the trade, and he returned saying that he could not see the slightest sign of trickery.

Sir Oliver Lodge has declined to visit the Alabama house, and Mrs. Zanzig says, he should not have the opportunity of scientifically testing their case. If it is the trade, as he returned, is a genuine case of thought-reading, highest order of conjuring trick; of it is a scientific event of the very highest importance.

Arrangements have been made for Mr. and Mrs. Zanzig to visit the psychical research society at a convenient date.

Is Not Clairvoyance

"I cannot explain our power," writes Mr. Zanzig, "I only know we can do it. It is not clairvoyance, it is no manner of connection with it. It is nothing but transference of thought, or brain impression from one to the other; that is all we really know about it, and I repeat, we attained our present power by long and hard practice."

Interested in the accounts, I determined to see the Zanzigs myself, and the other night I went to their performance. I have never seen anything more truly wonderful. I understand, the Zanzigs have performed in the United States, and I am rather astonished that news did not come to us of their powers from that country.

The extraordinary quickness with which Mrs. Zanzig is able to answer her husband's questions, who is removed from her to the further part of the house, sometimes in the top gallery is truly wonderful. He will take a watch, and he will immediately read it out loud from the platform.

Mr. W. T. Stead, under the heading of "The Next Wonder of the World," gives half a dozen pages in the Review of Reviews to his appreciation of the Zanzigs. He absolutely refuses to believe in any fraud or trickery. "Ventri-locution," he says, "is impossible, preconcerted signals, impossible, confederate equally absurd. It is a case, he says, 'of telepathy, pure and simple. The respective mental batteries of these pairs are so perfectly adjusted, that the vibration of the thought current of the man instantly registers itself upon the mind of the wife. In fact it is human wireless telegraphy.'"

He describes a test which was certainly conclusive. That such a sixth sense does exist is unquestioned.

I recollect on one occasion a woman who was a confirmed invalid having attained something of the same power. If you took a book into her room and she closed upon the mantle shelf, and asked her to 'read any given page she could do so without removing the book or opening it.

There will be no doubt more of which we have never developed, but of which we are none the less possessed; and just as the universe contains powers such as rays of light and electricity, forces that have only come to our knowledge within recent years so the development of the human mind is probably only in its earliest stages.

LABOR TEMPLE

A reception was given Friday night of John Campbell, second vice president of the National Iron Workers Association by local No. 287. He was on his way to Kansas City after spending two weeks in the interests of the striking iron workers at Houston. In speaking of the strike there Mr. Campbell said that the strikers were successful in their requests and are to receive the $2.75 a day asked for. The shops have been closed for two weeks and the strikers are being discharged by the two weeks ago. ### A QUORUM PRESENT AT STATE CAPITOL

Contest for the Speakership Engrosses Attention

Special to The Telegram.

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 5.—With last night's arrivals it is estimated that there are probably fifty members of the house present, with a scant sprinkling of senators, and from present indications it is expected that there will be by Sunday a quorum present of both branches of the legislature.

The contest for the speakership of the house is the two features which are claiming the attention of the lawmakers as fast as they reach the capitol. Now that the Bailey matter is practically settled as far as the Travis county special election is concerned, the lawmakers for the next two days will be occupied with the speakership contest, which is growing warmer every minute. The three avowed candidates for the honor are Colonel Peeler, Representative Terrell and Representative Love of Dallas.

Representative Love of Dallas is generally admitted that the contest is between Colonel Peeler and Colonel Peeler, still Mr. Terrell says he feels very much encouraged by the prospects. He received Austin yesterday and declares that the situation is much better than he even expected. He does not think that he will be defeated by the managers or supporters of one of the three candidates and impudently for his support.

While it is generally admitted that the contest is between Colonel Peeler and Colonel Peeler, still Mr. Terrell says he feels very much encouraged by the prospects. He received Austin yesterday and declares that the situation is much better than he even expected. He does not think that he will be defeated by the managers or supporters of one of the three candidates and impudently for his support.

Representative Charles S. Graham of Hillbrow declared that he will again introduce his "Jim Crow" bill providing for separate compartments on street cars and interurban lines for negroes and white passengers.

Captain J. C. Son of Palo Pinto, publisher of the Palo Pinto Star, reached here yesterday. He is a candidate for calendar clerk of the house. His chances to get the appointment appear to be excellent.

C. P. Barford of Fayette county has announced as a candidate for assistant reading clerk in the house. Mr. Barford held a similar position in the last legislature. He is well known here.

Joe H. Brown (Buster Brown) of Honey Grove, reached here yesterday and is an applicant for his old position of efficient pages in the house of the last legislature.

F. M. J. Waller county, who is here attending the University of Texas, has announced as a candidate for engrossing clerk in the house.

A New Stomach

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Restore Lifeless Organs to Normal Condition

A TRIAL PACKAGE FREE

Many a sufferer from Dyspepsia, indigestion and kindred ailments of the digestive organs carries around an absolutely useless stomach—a dead load, and a cesspool for ever-increasing disorders. The muscles are seemingly worn out, the mucous lining has lost its secretive power, and food taken into the stomach is broken up and fermenting, causing sour eructations, belchings, heartburn, dizziness and other distressing conditions.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the dyspeptic's sure and only hope. They are a natural restorative of healthy action to the stomach and small intestine, because they supply just the elements that the weak stomach lacks—pepsin, diastase, golden seal and other digestives.

If you are afflicted with any of the symptoms above described, be assured that your digestive organs are losing power—they need help and there is no more sensible thing to be given them than to supply elements which will do the work of digestion for them.

Stuart's Tablets have been found by the best of reputable physicians in the United States and Great Britain to have remarkable digestive powers, one year of the active principle of these tablets being sufficient to digest 3,000 grains of ordinary food. It is plain that no matter what the condition of your stomach, or how far your disease has progressed, one only of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets taken at meal time will give the work-giving, muscle-toning opportunity to regain its lost powers, the muscles will be strengthened, the glands invigorated, and you will be a new man.

Costs nothing to prove the effectiveness of this cure. Send for a free sample package today. F. A. Stuart, Co., 78 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50 cents a box.

QUEEN PLANNED RELIEF FOR BLIND

Europe Interested in Scheme of Royalty
BY PAUL VILLIERS
Special Cable to The Telegram.
(Copyright by Hearst News Service.)
PARIS, Jan. 5.—Great interest has been caused throughout Europe by the new and beneficent scheme initiated in behalf of those afflicted with blindness, of whom there are some 40,000 in her kingdom. She has quite lately had the remarkable idea of founding a city specially for the blind. All these infirm persons to be removed from the precarious and often miserable existence which has hitherto been theirs and grouped together in a colony where their hardships will no longer weigh upon them, and where they will find interesting occupation befitting their condition.
The queen superintends personally all the arrangements of her blind city, and one of the most remarkable features of the colony is a new method of printing, which can be learned by anyone who has had the good fortune of being mentored by the queen of Roumania's blind secretary, whom she specially engaged to aid her in her work.
What has particularly attracted attention to Carmen Sylwia's work in Paris is the fact that in order to obtain funds to place the Blind City on a stable foundation she has sent here to be placed on sale a collection of motes and beautiful sentiments in her own autograph.
Carmen Sylwia's beautiful works are known all over the world, and now the graceful sentiments and the motherly heart of the queen of Roumania will be known all over the world. She has said in a pretty phrase: "If I am short-sighted, God has placed eyes in my heart to see that we need the help of others."
Special to The Telegram.
NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 5.—A special from Hattiesburg, Miss., today says the postoffice, to which the negro, W. T. George, was appointed, has been filled by a white clerk, George recently notified the postoffice department that he feared personal injury if he accepted the Hattiesburg position. The vacancy was filled after George had been peremptorily notified to appear and failed to respond. White residents of Hattiesburg claim George's fears of violence were not well founded and declare that the hanging of a piece of rope from on the postoffice door after the negro's appointment caused the rumor of a plot against him.

"The Store That Makes Good"

BOY'S PHOTO WRECKS HOME

Mother-in-Law Falls in Love With Stepson

THEN THEY ELOPE

Father and Husband Says Hell Forgive and Forget if They Come Back

Special to The Telegram.
 CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Deserted by his wife, who eloped with a "handsome man"—and that man his own 19-year-old son, John Vaultz, a prosperous carpenter of Whiting, Ind., 55 years old, today expressed a willingness to welcome the couple back and forgive the youth who had so grievously wronged him.

John Ruskin's sacrifice, due to the affection of his wife for the Artist Millais, which astounded England a generation ago, finds something of a counterpart in this little tragedy of hearts which has set the Indiana town gossip's tongues a-wagging.

Vaultz' first wife died in Germany long ago, leaving a son, now grown to robust young manhood. The boy was left in the care of relatives, and when his father came to this country and married again in 1888 the boy sent him his photograph.

The second Mrs. Vaultz, who is 35 years old, was entranced. She forgot a measure of her tenderness for her own four little children in a desire to have young Vaultz leave his home in Prussian Rhineland and come to this country. The youth arrived in Whiting a few weeks ago, on money sent by his father. Meanwhile Mrs. Vaultz had fallen in love with his photograph and three weeks sufficed to perfect the attachment, which led to the elopement.

Before leaving with her stepson Mrs. Vaultz called her four children together and kissed each of them good-by. She told them that she was going away and would not be back soon.

The children suspected nothing, nor did Vaultz himself until the coincidence of the absence of his wife and son, together with the rumors which had been whispered to him by the neighbors, led to his final investigation and the discovery of the flight of the couple.

Friends of Vaultz warned him of the attention paid by his son to his second wife, but he turned a deaf ear to their tales.

After the elopement Vaultz refused to communicate with the police, saying that the matter concerned him alone and that he would not make public his own disgrace.
