Hope for Vessel's Safety Revived by Latest News

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, Jan. 10 .- Hope for the safety of the steamer Ponce, now ten days overdue from Porto Rico, was revived late last night by news from Pensacola, Fla., that wireless messages had been intercepted there, believed to be from the passengers of the Ponce conveying greetings of the season to Governor Winthrop of Porto Rico, The message was picked up as from the steamer Caracas, but the agents of the Ponce think this is a mistake and that the messages came from the steamer Maracas. It is thought the steamer Maracas, towing the Ponce, may have signalled a message to the Caracas, which sailed from New York to Porto Rico on Jan. 5, and that the last named ship sent the Indefinite wireless message attributed to the passengers of the Ponce. The delay in the arrival of the steamer Maracas here is regarded as good indication that she has fallen in with the overdue steamer.

Out-talk Judge Duncan in First House Skirmish

FEAR IN THE CAMP

Senator Told That Blocking of Investigation Would Be Fatal Policy

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 10 .- It was authoritatively learned this morning that one of the representatives, a Bailey supporter, who signed the investigation resolution, went to Senator Bailey this morning and said: "If a full investigation of your conduct is defeated in the legislature it will send all of us who voted for you to political hell"

There can be no doubt that this conversation took place, as it comes to your correspondent from an authoritative source. There was much excitement in the house this morning over the Bailey matter. At first opportunity Judge Duncan called up the investigation resolution, No. 3. The apparent fight over the employment of stenographers was really to delay the resolution. Judge Duncan moved the adoption of the resolution. Kennedy made it a point of order that the resolution carries an appropriation and must be referred to the committee on finance. The chair stated that the only motion in order was that of a motion for a second reading. Kennedy objected. Duncan moved the resolution be read a second time. Kennedy objected, asserting that the rules of the house made it necessary to refer it to committee. Duncan stated that the resolution does not contemplate the concurrent action of the senate in the matter, and that funds were to come from the contingent expenses of the house. Cobb of San Antonio moved a postponement, but later withdrew the resolution. The speaker ruled that it was not necessary to go into committee of the whole to consider the resolution, The speaker overruled Kennedy's point bill has not been passed and the proposed appropriation is not available Kennedy made a point of order that the half hour had expired for the consideration of resolutions, and the chair stated that the point of order was well taken. There was laughter among the Bailey men, who had outmaneuvered Duncan in the first skir-

Investigation Resolution

Following are the enacting clauses of the house investigation introduced last night. They are ceded by a lengthy summary of the charges against Senator Bailey: "Now, therefore, be it resolved by the house of representatives of the state of Texas, That the cause of truth, the public good, as well as exact justice to all parties involved, demand that an investigation by this legislature, or by this house, be made of all the facts connected with, incident to or surrounding said transactions and charges, as well as all facts bearing upon the official conduct and integrity of said J. W. Bailey and said R. V. Davidson and his assailants, and for this purpose a special committee of seven shall be selected from this house, to be chosen and nominated by the speaker, to act with a like committee on the part of the senate, should one be chosen by that body and so authorized. "Said committee shall be organized by electing one of its members chairman and another secretary and shall have authority to employ such stenographers and clerks as may be deemed necessary, and to call upon the sergeant-at-arms of the house for the service of process, the maintenance of order and the enforcement of its de-

"Said committee shall and the same is hereby vested with powers to issue process, summon witnesses, to take and to have taken depositions in such manner and with such notice as it may order, to maintain order and to force the production before it of any papers, letters, books and documents, and for the purpose of securing testimony it is hereby vested with all the powers now possessed by the district courts of this state, and each member of said committee is hereby vested with authority to administer oaths, but the method of procedure in gathering evidence as well as in the prosecution of the work for which it is constituted shall be within the discretion of the committee. Said witnesses shall be paid in the same manner and amount as is provided for witnesses summened before the house or any of its committees. The sessions of said committee shall be open, and it is hereby authorized to sit and hold its sessions at any place within the state of Texas and in the city of St. Louis and the city of New York for the purpose of securing and taking such testimony of witnesses as cannot be procured to be brought before it at the capital of this state, or which may be inaccessible to said committee than the capital.

the famous investigation resolution presented in the house of representa-It is hinted that Attorney General

Davidson, in spite of reports to the contrary, is taking an active interest in the proceedings of the legislature to protect himself, and that he had something to do with the resolution signed by twenty-seven members of the house, asking for an investigation of both the attorney general and Senator Bailey.

Mr. Davidson has played in excellent luck if he did not have anything to do with the resolution in question. Saturday night he gave out a statement in which he invited an inquiry into his affairs and the house measure is in accord with this magnanimous offer of the attorney general. He is in the position of saying: "I am ready at all times to have my affairs investigated. Here is my office and my books. Send along your investigating

Statement From Gunter

The following statement was given out at Bailey neadquarters last night: "I have just returned from Palestine, where I had a long talk with Governorelect Campbell. He has had many solicitations by letter and personal interview to permit his name to be presented to the legislature as a candidate for United States senator. Acting under a sense of propriety he has refrained from any public discussion of the senatorial situation, but to one and all he has made the same statement, viz .: That not only will he not be a candidate under any circumstances, but that he would not accept the election if it were tendered to him, and that he regards any suggestion to that effect and will regard any such use of his name or any vote for him in the legislature as an unjust act, for two reasons, viz.:

"1. That he has a contract with the people of Texas and that he will allow nothing to divert him from a faithful effort to fulfill his obligations under that contract.

"2. That there is no vacancy in the office and there is no contingency in the Democratic party which makes the consideration of his name or any other name as proper, because Mr. Bailey is the nominee and there can be no question in the binding force of the party's action in the July primaries and in the Dallas convention, which are the latest expressions of the people's wishes. As he (Campbell) said at Rusk he repeats now, that Mr. Bailey is as much the nominee of the party as he (Campbell) was then.

Twelve Workmen Are Badly Burned-Many More Said to Be Missing

By Associated Press. PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 10 .- As a result of last night's explosion of molten metal at the Eliza furnaces of the Jones & Laughlin Company, the charred trunks of seven men are at the morgue and twelve badly burned and crippled foreigners are in hospitals, while anxious workers with crowbars, picks and shovels are digging thru a mass of steel and cinders for the bodies of several more who are still missing. Of the injured three will probably die.

The scene at the morgues today were pathetic. The building was besleged by a constant stream of relatives of the unfortunates who lost their lives in the accident. The bodies of the victims were badly burned and almost unrecognizable, but despite this fact the seven taken out have been identified

*Company officials absolutely refused to allow any one to enter the plant today. E. L. Messler, the superintendent, stated that in his opinion the accident was caused by the loosening of one of the steel bands about the bottom of the furnace. It fell, he said, and that made that portion of the shell weak. The great pressure of the steel charge and gas against the weak point resulted in the plate giving away and other plates were naturally affected. There were 100 tons of steel in the furnace at the time.

The loss to the company, according to Superintendent Messler, will not be less than $50,000. The estimated damage includes the value of the stock house, the pipe house, the laboratory and several small office buildings which were destroyed by the fire following the explosion.

A Reign of Terror

By Associated Press. LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 10 .- A special to the Evening Post from Jackson, Ky., this morning says: The little city which has been the scene of much turbulence and bloodshed in the past few years, today is intensely excited over a condition bordering on a reign of terror. It is a result of the same cause which has brought about all the previous trouble, the feud between the Hargis faction and their opponents. The incidents of last night and today revolve about the trial of former County Judge James Hargis and former Sheriff Ed Callahan on the charge of murder of Dr. Cox four years ago. Judge Carnes, who was specially assigned by Governor Beckham to try the cases, fears for his life and last night asked the governor for a detail of militia to protect him while in Jackson. The jury in the case has not been selected. as it has been found impossible to-secure twelve men from Breathitt county prepared to pass upon their fellow townsmen and most powerful citizens. The people of Jackson want the trial removed from Jackson as far as possible. Judge Carnes has however, signified his intention of holding the trial n Jackson, but will appoint a special officer to go to another county and bring in a ventre of men. There was a conference between the attorneys for the commonwealth and several parties closely identified with the prosecution which lasted until long after midnight. It was decided to ask the court of appeals for a writ of prohibition, restraining Judge Carnes from continuing the present trial. At 6 o'clock this. morning Attorney Jeuett, with the petition in his possession, left for Lexington. Meanwhile he engaged an auto to meet him at Lexington and the thirty miles between that city and Frankfort will be covered as rapidly as possible in order to reach the court

MOVE TO ABOLISH CARLISLE SCHOOL

Members of Congress Think Western Location Better

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, D. C, Jan. 10,-Carlisle Institute, which was established at Carlisle, Pa., in 1879 for the higher education of Indians, is in danger of being abolished. A sub-committee of the senate committee on Indian affairs has agreed to report an amendment striking out the appropriation for this school. The reason advanced by the members of the committee is that the school is so far away from the Indian reservation that it is not so effective as the western educational institutions for the Indians. Members of the subcommittee are not confident that the senate will accept the amendment, but they will make an effort to have it adopted, believing if they fail, a movement will have been started that will eventually bring about the abolishment of the school.

Victim of Black Hand Discovered in New Jersey

Bu Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 .- The body of a man burned beyond recognition with kerosene, was found yesterday in a patch of woods at Guttenburg, N. J. There is little doubt that the man was murdered and that he was an Italian. It is supposed that he was a victim of the so-called "Black Hand." Several well-to-do Italians at East New Durham, near Guttenburg, have recently received "Black Hand" letters. Coroner Schlenn thinks that the man was killed elsewhere and his corpse was taken to the spot where it was found and there burned. Near the body stood a can holding a little kerosene and a wallet containing a little change and a silver watch and chain. A few feet away was the arm of an overcoat, a charred cap and an old vest. The chief of a band of gypsies looking for some strayed horses found the body. The authorities are investigating.

Governor's Message Is Read Before Both Houses

BAILEY CASE UP

Goes Over Until Friday-27 Bills Introduced in Senate -Committees Named

Special to The Telegram AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 10 .- The house Wednesday evening completed its organization, having elected the remainder of its officers, and a committee of three was named to notify the governor and a like committee to notify the senate that the house was ready for business. The real work of the legislature began today with the reading of the governor's message in both branches of the legislature. It was listened to with attention by the mem-

As soon as preliminary matters were disposed of in the house the Bailey resolution came up and after filibustering on both sides, the chair sustained the point of order that the time for consideration of the resolutions had expired and it went over. On motion of Judge Duncan the resolution will come up tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock as special order. At 12:10 o'clock the house recessed. In the senate today twenty-seven bills were introduced, bearing on every kind of legislation. The senate passed finally the bill appropriating $110,000 to pay mileage and per diem of members and the bill carrying $20,000 to pay contingent expenses. Senator Stone introduced a joint resolution to submit to a vote of the people a proposed amendment to the constitution fixing the terms of all state, district and county officers at eight years and making such officials ineligible to succeed themselves except as to judiciary.

The Message Summarized Special to The Telegram.

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 10 .- The message of Governor Lanham, submitted to the Thirtieth legislature today, is in the nature of a review covering his four year's administration and also a farewell address.

Governor Lanham first calls attention to the policy he has pursued in making appointments, selecting heads of departments and allowing them to choose their own subordinates, a policy he says has been successful, and also notes that during his four years' administration he has selected twentyfive district judges, fourteen district attorneys and three judges of the court of civil appeals.

Efforts of the state to recover from its financial straits are summarized together with a review of the legislative failures to make necessary appropriations to meet this demand. The governor calls special attention to the satisfactory condition of the state's schools and the fact that attendance is now the largest in history and also points to the success in managing the penitentiary system with the result that it is now on a self-sus-

Home for Confederate Widows

On the question of a home for Confederate widows the governor says: "A very earnest movement has been made and is now being urged by Confederate organizations, and especially by the United Daughters of the Confederacy, looking to the establishment of a home for the wives and widows of ex-Confederate soldiers, and sailors, and a bill having this object in view and making an appropriation therefor was passed by the Twentyninth legislature at its regular session. It was vetoed by the governor, because he believed it to be unconstitutional, He did not submit the matter of a constitutional amendment authorizing such legislation at the following special session, for the reason that amendments to the constitution are to be proposed at biennial sessions as provided for fn that instrument. Convinced as I am that public money can not be granted for the purpose indicated, unless authorized by our organic law, I respectfully suggest the propriety of submitting a constitutional amendment conferring upon the legislature the necessary power to take he proper action."

The governor says that it is probable the free pass question will be considered at the present session of the legislature.

With the message is submitted a report of public moneys paid from funds

AN ARGUMENT FOR CHINESE LABOR

Army Officer Wants Coolies to Dig Canal

OPPOSES EXCLUSION LAW

Major Heisland Says the Celestials Are More Desirable Immigrants Than Many Who Come

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.-H. O. S. Heisland, military secretary of the department of the east and chief of staff and adjutant general of the American forces in the march of the allies to the rescue of the legationers besieged at Pekin by the Boxers in 1901, urged the employment of Chinese labor in the construction of the Panama canal in an address delivered yesterday at the military service institution on Governor's Island. He also advocated the repeal of laws which discriminate against the Chinese.

"We have heard and read a great deal," Colonel Heisland said, "of Chinese labor at 9 cents an hour. I can assure you that the Chinaman is no more willing to work for 9 cents an hour than is any other man. All he wants is a fair show and he will take his chance in competition with the rest of the world. "Let him dig the canal and if he does nothing else, he will have accomplished a lot. We have less to fear from China with or without exclusion laws, than from irresponsible and unprincipled agitators among us, who endeavor to divide the American people into classes. "When we evacuated China," he continued, "extremely cordial relations existed between that country and our own and I cannot now refrain from expressing regret that a small minority of people-un-American in spirit and feeling, but nevertheless American thru naturalization laws-should have been able to undo the splendid work accomplished during the military occupation. "I believe in keeping out all aliens that are of the undesirable class, but I do not believe that Chinese to whom no other objection can be raised save that of race, should be barred."

Bond Was Fixed at $5,000 Thursday Morning

FOUND OPEN KNIFE

Inquest Was Held by Justice R. E. Bratton Acting

as Coroner

Clarence Boyd, who was arrested murdering Charley Thompson, was released Thursday morning on a bond of $5,000 after an inquest held by Justice R. E. Bratton. Justice Bratton, acting as coroner, returned a verdict to the effect that Thompson came to his death from the effects of two pistol wounds. The discovery of an open knife in the hands of the dead man suggests a theory of self-defense. About 6:30 Wednesday night the residents of Rosen Heights in the vicinity of Twenty-fifth street and Columbus avenue, heard two pistol shots discharged only a few seconds apart. The reports came from the rear of the P. P. Jones building, just across the street south from Cassaday's grocery store, and Deputy Sheriff H. B. Blankenship, who was at the grocery store hurried to the scene. He found Charley Thompson dead and Clarence Boyd standing near, with a 41 caliber under arrest and taken to the county jail, and a charge of murder placed against him Justice Bratton examined the wounds, took from the dead man all his personal effects and turned them over to relatives and collected all the evidence obtainable relating to the trouble. The shot that took effect in the nose seemed to have penetrated the base of the brain, and the other broke the neck near the collar bone. weapon of any kind was found on his person by Justice Bratton, the it was unofficially stated that Deputy Sheriff Blankenship picked up an open knife hear where Thompson fell, which, it is evidence obtainable by Justice Bratton was not sufficient to complete the inquiry. The remainder was left to be brought out in the examining trial, which was set for 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

"There can be no question as to how Thompson come to his death," sail Justice Bratton to a Telegram reporter after the undertaker had taken the remains to the home of J. D. Farmer, a brother-in-law of the deceased. "Either of the wounds would have produced almost instant death. This is about the extent of my verdict tonight. All that could be learned of the origin of the trouble was obtained from statements by parties who were on a Rosen Heights street car Wednesday morning. Boyd was a motorman in the employ of the Rosen Heights Street Car Company, and Thompson was employed by Swift & Co. in the cattle department. It is stated that some difficulty came up between the two men early Wednesday morning, and that it was renewed in the even-

Wednesday evening Thompson toarded a Rosen Heights car, on which Boyd was motorman and went on to the end of the line, and returned with Boyd to the relief station, where the night motorman took charge. It is stated that then the two men agreed to bury all differences and be friends. Together they came from the relief station on the car's return trip and got off at Columbus avenue, which is three or four blocks west of their home streets. They started south on Columbus avenue, and when directly behind the high board fence at the rear of the Jones building, the firing began.

Thompson's hat was still on his head and his face was severely powder burned which indicated that the shots were fired from close range. There were, so far as learned, no eye witnesses to the tragedy, and the shooting took place just about dusk. Further than the trouble early in the day, nothing of its origin could be learned, and no one seemed to have ever suspicioned that there was any ill feeling between the two men. J. D. Farmer ex-mayor of North Fort Worth, was on the car going from Exchange avenue to his usual stop, and his son, Ward Farmer, was also a passenger. The senior Farmer got off and went home, but Ward went on to the end of the line with the motorman and Thompson and returned with them to Columbus avenue, when they got off. Farmer, thinking the differences had been settled, remained on the car and went home.

Thompson leaves a wife and two children. He was a man apparently 30 years of age. Boyd is one of the oldest men in the employ of the Rosen Heights Street Car Company. Both men were well liked, and regarded as quiet, peaceable citizens.

Schnapps Tobacco is Made ENTIRELY from Flue Cured Tobacco Grown in the Piedmont Country. The Imitation Brands Have Schnapps Quality Only On the Outside Of the Plug

Hundreds of imitation brands are on sale that look like Schnapps tobacco. The outside of the imitation plugs of tobacco is flue cured the same as Schnapps, but the inside is filled with cheap, flimsy, heavily sweetened air cured tobacco. One chew of Schnapps will satisfy tobacco hunger longer than two chews of such tobacco. The color, size and shape of the tags, plugs and packages of certain imitation brands of tobacco have been made so much like Schnapps that they have often been accepted by buyers under the belief that they were getting Schnapps. Sufficient proof has been secured to establish the fact that certain brands are infringements and in violation of the trade mark laws, yet the trade will continue to be imposed upon by these infringers until the suit already entered and now pending to protect Schnapps is decided. A great many of these imitations are claimed to be "just as good" as Schnapps, but there is only one genuine Schnapps. Be sure the letters on the tag, and stamped on the plug under the tag spell S-C-H-N-A-P-P-S and then you have it_the most wholesome tobacco produced, with just enough sweetening to preserve the mild, juicy, stimulating quality of the leaf tobacco. Expert tests prove that this flue cured tobacco, grown in the famous Piedmont region, requires and takes less sweetening than any other and has a wholesome, stimulating, satisfying effect on

If the tobacco you are chewing don't satisfy you more than the mere habit of expectorating, stop fooling yourself and chew Schnapps tobacco. Schnapps is like the tobacco chewers formerly bought costing from 75c. to $1.00 per pound; Schnapps is sold at 50c. per pound, in 5c. cuts, strictly 10c. and 15c. plugs.

LOOK FOR GAS AND OIL IN JEFFERSON

Col. E. W. Taylor Talks of the Piney Woods Country

Col. E. W. Taylor is back from a visit to his old home at Jefferson in the piney woods section of Texas. As late as 1871 Jefferson was probably the best business point in Texas. That was before railroads revolutionized business in Texas and when cotton was hauled from Tarrant county to Jefferson and sold. When the railroads came, however, Jefferson declined but from what Colonel Taylor says there are brighter days ahead for the erstwhile metropolis of East Texas. He said:

"There is plenty of money at Jefferson, and more is coming in, and I expect to hear of a genuine, substantial boom in the old town. Lumber is now selling for $5 a thousand in the tree growing in the woods, and there is more activity in the sawmill business than I ever knew.

"Besides this there is a movement to revive the iron industry in Jefferson and Marion county. Memphis parties are now on the ground investigating the iron plant there and propose to take it over and start up the business of making pig iron and manufactured iron goods. Years ago there was a stove fountry near Jefferson operated by a man named Kelley, who was successful in the business, making stoves that were sold all over Texas. He got his iron on top of the ground near where the foundry was located, the face of the country being covered with boulders of good rich iron ore, and there is plenty of iron in that section

"The Memphis parties are also leasing all the land they can get hold of including town lots for the purpose of drilling for gas and oil, the belief being that that entire section is rich in both. Should oil and gas be discovered there as I believe it will be, and the iron industry is started up again, old Jefferron will boom again and once more become the metropolis of East Texas. Being at the head of navigation on Cypress bayou, favorable freight rates will enable the town to successfully compete for business with any other. market in Texas. I feel that there is a bright future for Jefferson."

Colonel Taylor was at one time, in the palmy days of the town, mayor of Jefferson, and was a potent factor in building the east line railroad to Mc-

NEW CHARTER MAY NOT BE VOTED ON

Committee May Be Sent to Watch Legislature

There was a report Wednesday morning that notwithstanding the acmatter of a new charter to a vote of the people of the city, that the committee that prepared a proposed new charter would not await the action of the people ,but would endcavor to have their charter rushed thru the legi-lature regardless of what the people mignt express at the polls.

A Telegram reporter called on Aldermen Zurn and Ward and asked if they knew anything of the committee's intention in the matter and they expressed themselves as follows: Alderman Zurn: "I am not in the confidence of the committee to any great extent and cannot say what is intended by them in the way of legislative action, but for the council I can say that that body does not wish to foist on Fort Worth any charter withcut letting the people of the city express themselves on it."

Alderman Ward: "I am not posted as to what the alleged charter committee proposes to do in view of the action of the council at its last meeting referring the charter matter to the voters of the city. I myself am opposed to the adoption of any new charter that the voters of the city have not had a chance to vote on. If the charter drawn up by the alleged charter committee suits a majority of the voters of Fort Worth, they should have it; if it does not it should not be presented to the legislature. I believe the present charter with some amendments will be good enough for Fort Worth.'

Capt, B. B. Paddock was also seen by the Telegram reporter, and asked if the committee would make an effort to secure legislative action on the charter prepared by the committee, the action of the council at the last meeting notwithstanding, and he said: "I don't know; the committee will meet Saturday night, and I suppose take action in the matter. There are some things in the proposed charter as prepared by the committee that do not meet my approval; but the same charter cannot be expected to be satisfacory to everybody.

Wednesday morning City Secretary John T. Montgomery addressed the following letter to the numbers of the lower house and the senate of this legislature, representing Fort Worth, the letter being dictated according to the action of the city council: Fort Worth, January 8, 1907.

Dear Sir-At a meeting of our city council January 7, 1907, the matter of a new charter the city under a commission form came on to be heard and a motion prevailed that an election be held January 23, 1907, submitting to of the city for their choice at the polls, the proposed charter by citizens' committee known as commission charter, and the present city charter with some amendments; and I, as city secretary, was instructed to ask our representatives in the legislature not to take any action on changing the present form of our government until the people are heard from at aforesaid election. Very truly JOHN T. MONTGOMERY,

City Secretary. It is quite probable that there will be sent to Austin some one to watch the situation in the event that any effort is made to push the proposed new charter before the people of the city have had a chance to express themselves as to its adoption and enact-

THE VALUE OF CHARGOAL

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Costs Nothing to Try. Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose. Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath, after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables. Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh. All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form, or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but, on the contrary, great benefit. A Buffalo physician, in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and altho in some sénse a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets.' SUES FOR USE OF LAUNDRY'S NAME

Plaintiff Wants Damages of Thousand Dollars

A case somewhat unusuai is that on trial Wednesday morning in the Seventeenth district court before Judge Mike Smith, no jury, styled J. W. Hoover vs. S. D. Sandel. The plaintiff alleges that by properly recording his trade mark "Penny Laundry" or "Penny Steam Laundry" he has acquired the right to use that name in the city of Fort Worth for the business so described. The petition further alleges that the defendant has wrongfully assumed the use of the name, to the plaintiff's injury by reason of the diversion of business intended to come to the plaintiff's penny laundry, to his injury to the extent of $1,000. The plaintiff further asks, for reasons stated, that a writ of injunction issue. Article 318d, revised statutes, provides for the protection of trade marks, even if they are only used, distinctively, in advertisements. That is the law the plaintiff relies on in the prosecution of his suit.

Chief Maddox Issues Call For Legislative Committee to Meet Here City Marshal James H. Maddox, president of the Texas Chiefs of Police and City Marshals' Association, has called the legislative committee of that organization to meet at Fort Worth January 12, for the purpose of discussing matters connected with the juvenile court bill, which will be introduced at the present session of the Texas legislature, a measure that is approved by all city marshals and chiefs of police in Texas. At a meeting of the County Judges' Association a juvenile court bill was proposed and adopted by that association, and it is quite likely that the chiefs and marshals will adopt the same bill and give it their best support. The friends of the proposed court have great faith in having the bill enacted into a law, the matter having been endorsed by the bar all over the state, and a large per centage of the judiciary also favor it.

STATE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM DEMANDS

The Texas state legislature is now in regular session, and it is believed this is going to be one of the most important sessions of that body in the history of the state. Tuesday, Jaunary 15, will witness the inauguration of the new governor, Colonel Thomas M. Campbell, of Palestine, who was elected on what was considered a very radical platform so far as campaign utterances are concerned, and already announcement has been made by some of the leading railway managers of the country that there will be no more railway construction in Texas until the Campbell policy has been fully disclosed. It is known that Governor Campbell is firmly opposed to any more railroad consolidation bills, and that is probably the animus of the railway managers in declaring for a cessation of rail-

When Governor Campbell was nominated at Dallas last August and the state Democratic plaform had been adopted he pledged the Texas Democracy that every platform deman's should be engrafted upon the laws of the state, even if he had to keep the law making body in continuous session to accomplish that purpose, and, as previous Texas legislatures have shown a marked disposition to ignore platform demands, this action on the part of the new governor was taken to imply that there would be war between the executive and legislative branches of the state government just about the time each began work at the state capital. It is too early yet to determine whether or not hostillties will ensue, but it is probable there will be more or less friction.

The second plank in the state Democratic platform demands a law that will prohibit lobbying. The taird plank demands a law that will prohibit the issuance and use of free passes, or franks by railways and other corporations in Texas.

The fourth plank demands a law that will prohibit corporations from contributing to the campaign expenses of any party or individual.

The fifth plank demands a law defining insolvent corporations and demanding that such be prohibited from doing business in Texas.

The sixth plank demands that telephone and telegraph companies be compelled to transmit each other's messages and arrange connections therefor. The seventh plank demands that private corporations shall pay in 50 per cent of their capital stock before filing charter and the remainder within two The eighth plank declares strongly against the practice of nepotism, and demands laws that will eliminate it from the public service of the state of Texas. The ninth plank demands the enactment of uniform

The tenth plank demands amendments to drainage and irrigation laws that will render them more ef-

. The eleventh plant demands a juvenile court law. The twelfth plank demands the amendment and perfeeting of the state election law.

The thirteenth plank demands ample provision for all state eleemosynary institutions.

The fourteenth plank demands laws that will improve the public road system.

The fifteenth plank demands the enactment of laws that will simplify both civil and criminal procedure in the courts. centh plank demands the establishment and nce of a home for decrepit wives and widows ederate soldiers and sailors.

e seventeenth plank demands that taxes on useful pations be removed. The eighteenth plank demands the enactment of ore just and equitable taxation laws, The nineteenth plank demands the establishment of department of agriculture, more adequate support id equipment for the agricultural college, the female dustrial college, that industrial thought be taught in I the schools, and demands more liberal financial suprt for the state university, the various state colleges and schools, experiment stations and farmers' institutes. These constitute some of the problems that the present state legislaure will have to contend with, and represent the measures which Governor Campbell has assured the people of Texas shall be engrafted upon the laws of tois state, and as they represent the demands of the people, there should be no hesitation on the part of the legislature in making them into laws. It is probable, however, there will be a stiff fight over some of them, for the legislative body is an independent one and always resentful of any appearance of coercion.

TO PROTECT CREDITORS

George Q. McGown, of this city, secretary of the Texas Business Men's League, is in Austin in the interest of a bulk sales law, which he hopes to have passed by the present state legislature.

The proposed bill is to provide that any sale of any portion of a stock of merchandise otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade in usual and regular prosecution of seller's business; or a sale of an entire stock of merchandise in bulk, will be void as against creditors of the seller, unless the purchaser shall at least seven days before the sale, in good faith, make full and explicit inquiry of the seller as to the name and place of residence or places of business of each and all the creditors of the seller, and the amount owing to each such creditor by the seller, and obtain from the seller a written answer to such inquiry, which written answer shall, by the seller, be sworn to, to be true to the best of his knowledge, information and belief; and unless the purchaser at least seven days before the sale, in good faith, notify or cause to be notified personally or by registered mail each of the seller's creditors of whom the purchaser has knowledge or of whom such person can, by reasonable diligence, acquire knowledge of said proposed sale and the price proposed to be paid therefore for such purchaser. Nothing in the act shall apply to sales by executors, administrators, receivers or public officers in official capacity.

"The statute will not interfere with any honest sale," Mr. McGown says, "for even if the sale is made without complying with the statute, it cannot be attacked or held fraudulent, unless creditors are actually defrauded and left unpaid.

"In other words, no sales are affected by the statute except fraudulent sales.

"If the sale of a business is honestly made, the creditors are paid, or settled with, the sale will stand whether it is made secretly or not.

"But if the sale is made secretly and creditors are not settled with then the statute will presume the sale to be fraudulent and void."

CHANGE OF MANAGERS

The announcement made this week that Colonel W. E. Skinner, of Chicago, has resigned the management of the National Feeders' and Breeders' exhibition, to be held in this city during March, has caused many expressions of regret among those most directly interested, for Colonel Skinner is the father of the fat stock show idea in Fort Worth. He is the man who first suggested such an undertaking, and back in the days when it was more of an experiment than it is at present, it was largely due to Skinner's energy and perseverance that the enterprise was kept upon its feet and built up to its present magnificent proportions. It is understood that the exact nature of Colonel Skinner's engagement in Denver, where he is now making his nome, are such as to preclude him from undertaking the work at Fort Worth, and it is doubtless as much of a disappointment to him as it is to the people of Fort Worth and Texas generally, who expected to see him handle the Fort Worth, enterprise with the same consummate skill and ability which characterized his management of the International at Chicago.

The selection of W. B. King, of the Fort Worth stock yards, as his successor, however, is universally regarded as a very happy and appropriate one. Mr. King is a gentleman who has ever evinced a deep and abiding interest in the great enterprise, and is a man who is chock full of energy and determination. His long association with the live stock industry of Texas and the Southwest eminently qualifies him for the position of manager of this great exhibition, and it is freely predicted that Manager King will more than make good in every essential. Preliminary work in the matter of arranging for the great exhibition is now in full swing, and the knowledge that the next annual show is to be held in the handsome new auditorium that is to be erected as its permanent home has already injected a great deal of enthusiasm into the enterprise. Splendid premiums are being arranged for the coming show, which are expected to bring out the finest display of live stock ever seen in Texas or the Southwest, and as the show is to be held during the time the annual meeting of the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas is in session in this city, it is confidently expected that it will bring here the largest crowd ever seen in Fort Worth. Preparations are being made to that end, and the indications already promise the most unqualified

A greater Fort Worth is very much to be desired, and that campaign of education should be conducted in the most painstaking and careful manner. The things that are gathered to Fort Worth should come cheerfully and without any appearance of coercion.

The time will soon come around for Fort Worth's annual fat stock show, and it must be made bigger and better than ever before. The stockmen are expecting much of Fort Worth, and they must not be disappointed.

Speaker Love says the professional lobbyist must go, and that is a good beginning for the Dallas county statesman. The third house at Austin should be totally abolished,

WILLIAMS A BOVINIAN

Knights of Bovinia Held Round Up Wednesday Evening

Claim Agent Billie Williams of the Rock Island is now a full fledged Bovinian and as he has quite recently developed exceptionally fine equestrian accomplishments, will make a cowboy or line rider par excellence. In fact he has produced conclusive evidence that he has clinging to qualities that will enable him to become the champion broncho buster of the age

The regular round up of the Knights of Bovinia was largely attended on Wednesday night, it having been noised over the city that Billy Williams had been selected as a victim for the branding iron and the bulls of the herd wanted to be at the branding, and they were there in force. There was no need to send the line riders out after mavericks, for there was a big bunch of them on hand, but it was Billie Williams in whom interest centered and the touch of highlife that he was given was about as interesting as Ringling Bros.' circus. In fact, Billie was a whole circus himself and every bull who came out of the bush to the round up is glad he was present. Williams is now an enthusiastic Knight of Bovinia and says he will have a maverick on hand to brand next Wednesday night. City Marshal Montgomery and J. W. Condon and several others were also made Knights, but it was Billie Williams who played a star engagement.

HOBSON SPOKE HERE Pleaded for Larger Navy and Told of

who sank the Merrimac in Santiago harbor, lectured at the city hall on Wednesday night, under the auspices of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor. The lecture was attended by over 1,000 people. He took as his subject "Peace-International Peace—and How to Secure It." He spoke largely on the necessity of the United States building a larger navy and pictured danger from Japan. He said that Japan was far ahead of this country in naval resources and was even now preparing to bring on a war with the United States. He pictured the dangers of such a conflict with a far greater vividness than most of the audience ever before realized. Foliowing his lecture Captain Hobson read a set of resolutions calling for a larger navy, which he said had been adopted in 318 cities, in forty states, where he had lectured since January, 1905. The resolutions were adopted unanimously.

Grocers and Butchers Will Attend Con-

It is the desire of many of the members of the Fort Worth Retail Grocers' and Butchers' Association to go to Dallas the second day of the annual meeting of the National Grocers' Association, and to insure as large an attendance as possible, it is the expressed sense of the association that the members close their places of business for the half day from noon on Wednesday, Jan. 23. One or more decorated cars of the interurban will be used for the transportation of the members. The matter of the arrangements is in charge of the secretary, J. C. Martin, and he asks that all who can go and who are willing to close for the half day named, report to him at once so he can provide for the cars and make other arrangements.

A letter has been received from Shires in which he fully describes the contents of the sack found by Officer Turner and in the letter Shires tells how he lost the property. He says he was purchasing a ticket at the union passenger station, having laid the sack containing the saddle, etc., on the floor, and when having bought and paid for his ticket, he turned to get his sack, it was gone. He did not report his loss to the police for the reason that his train was about to leave and he got aboard and left the

ARINE GREEN

To see the sun go down and the moon come up from a ledge hung, as it were, in mid air! The experience was novel-but I refrain. I have more important matters to relate. I was given a bunk in the extreme end of the long sleeping tent, and turned in with the rest. I expected to sleep, but on finding that I could catch a sight of the sick tent from under the canvas, I experienced such fascination in watching this forbidden spot that midnight came before I had closed my eyes. Then all desire to sleep left me, for the patient began to moan and presently to talk, and, the stillness of the solitary height being something abnormal, I could sometimes catch the very words. Devoid as they were of all rational meaning, they excited my curiosity to the burning point; for who could tell if he might not say something bearing on the mystery? But that fevered mind had recurred to early scenes and the babble which came to my ears was all of mining camps in the Rockies and the dicker of horses. Perhaps the uneasy movement of my horse pulling at the end of his tether had disturbed him. Per-But at the inner utterance of the second "perhaps" I found myself up on my elbow listening with all my ears, and staring with wide-stretched eyes at the thicket of stunted trees where the road debouched on the platform. Something was astir there beside my horse. I could catch sounds of an unmistakable nature. A rider was coming up the trail

Slipping back into my place, I turned toward the doctor, who lay some two or three bunks nearer the opening. He had started up, too, and in a moment was out of the tent. I do not think he had observed my action, for it was very dark where I lay and his back had been turned toward me. As for the others, they slept like the dead, only they made more noise, Interested—everything is interesting at such a height-I brought my eye to bear on the ledge, and soon saw by the inv gaze was fixed, give way to an advancing horse and rider. "Halloo!" saluted the doctor in a whisper, which was in itself a warning. "Easy there! We have sickness in this camp and it's a late hour for limpid light of a full moon the stiff, short branches of the trees, on which

"I know" The answer was subdued, but earn-"I'm the magistrate of this district I've a question to ask this sick man, on behalf of the New York chief of police, who is a personal friend of mine. It is visitors."

"Hush!" The doctor had seized him by the arm and turned his face away from the sick tent. Then the two heads came together and an argument began. I could not hear a word of it, but their motions were eloquent. My sympathy was with the magistrate of course, and I watched eagerly while he passed a letter over to the doctor, who vainly strove to read it by the light of the moon. Finding this impossible, he was about to return it, when the other struck a match and lit a lantern hanging from the horn of his saddle. The two heads came together again, but as quickly separated with every appearance of irreconcilement, and was settling back with sensations of great disappointment, when a sound fell on the night so unexpected to all concerned that with a common impulse each eye sought the sick tent. "Water! will some one give me water?" a voice had cried, quietly and with none of the delirium which had hitherto rendered it unnatural. The doctor started for the tent.

There was the quickness of surprise in his movement and the gesture he made to the magistrate, as he passed in, reawakened an expectation in my breast which made me doubly watchful. Providence was intervening in our favor and I was not surprised to see him presently reissue with the nurse, whom he drew into the shadow of the trees, where they had a short conference. If she returned alone into the tent after this conference I should know that the matter was at an end and that the doctor had decided to maintain his authority against that of the magistrate. But she remained outside and the magistrate was invited to join their council; when they again left the shadow of the trees it was to approach the tent. The magistrate, who was in the rear, could not have more than passed the opening, but I thought him far enough inside not to detect any movement on my part, so I took advantage of the situation to worm myself out of my corner and across the ledge to where the tent made a snadow in the moonlight. Crouching close, and laying my ear against the canvas, I listened. The nurse was speaking in a gently persuasive tone. I imagined her kneeling by the head of the patient and breathing words into his ear. These were what I heard: "You love diamonds. I have often noticed that; you look so long at the ring on your hand. That is why I have let it stay there, tho at times I have feared it would drop off and roll away over the adobe down the mountain side. Was I right?" "Yes, yes." The words came with difficulty, but they were clear enough. "It's of small value. I like it because-He appeared to be too weak to finish.

A pause during which she seemed to edge nearer to him. "We all have some pet keepsake," said she. "But I should never have supposed this stone of yours an inexpensive one. But I forgot that you are the owner of a very large and remarkable diamond, a diamond that is spoken of sometimes in the papers. Of course, if you have a gem like that, this one must appear very small and valueless to you. "Yes, this is nothing, nothing." And he appeared to turn away his head. "Mr. Fairbrother! Pardon me, but I want to tell you something about that big diamond of yours. You have been ill and have not been able to read your letters, so do not know that your wife has had some trouble with that diamond. People have said that it is not a real stone, but a well executed imitation. May I write to her that this is a mistake, that it is all you have everclaimed for it-that is, an unusually large diamond of the first water? I listened in amazement. Surely, this was an insidious way to get at the truth-a woman's way, but who would say it was not a wise one, the wisest, perhaps, which could be taken under the circumstances? What would his reply be? Would it show that he was as ignorant of his wife's death as was generally believed, both by those about him here and those who knew him well in New York? Or would the question convey nothing further to him than the doubt-in itself an insult-of the genuineness of that great stone which had been ais pride? A murmur-that was all it could be called-broke from his fever-dried lips and died away in an inarticulate gasp. Then, suddenly, sharply, a cry broke from him, an intelligible cry, and we heard him say: "No imitation! no imitation! It was a sun! a glory! No other like it! It lit the air! it blazed, it burned! I see it now! I see---There the passion succumbed the strength failed; another murmus, another, and the great void of night which stretched over-I might almost say under us-was no more quiet or seemingly impenetrable than the silence of that moon-enveloped tent. Would he speak again? I did not think so. Would she even try to make him? I did not think this, either. But did not know the woman. Softly her voice rose again. Thereto control a weakened one. "You do not know of any imitation then? It was the real stone you gave her. You are sure of it: you would be ready to swear to it if-say just yes or no," she finished in gentle urgency.

was a dominating insistence in her tones, gentle as they were; the insistence of a healthy mind which seeks unconsciousness, and she was just holding him back long enough for the necessary word. It came slowly and with a dragging intonation, but there was no mistaking the ring of truth with which he spoke.

Evidently he was sinking again into

"Yes," said he. When I heard the doctor's voice and melt a movement in the canvas against which I leaned I took the warning and stole back hurriedly to my quarters. I was scarcely settled, when the same group of three I had before watched silhouetted itself again against the moonlight. There was some talk, a mingling and separating of shadows; then the nurse glided back to her duties and the two men went toward the clump of trees where the horse had been tethered. Ten minutes and the doctor was back in his bunk. Was it im ugination, or did I feel his hand on my shoulder before he finally lay down and composed him to sleep? I can not say; only know that I gave no sign, and that soon all stir ceased in this direction and I was left to enjoy my triumph and to listen with anxious interest to the strange and unintelligible sounds which accompanied the descent of the horseman down the face of the cliff, and finally to watch with a fascination which drew me to my knees, the passage of that sparkling star of light hanging from his saddle. It crept to and from across the side of the endless zigzags and finally disappeared over the brow into the invisible canyons beyond. With the disappearance of this beacon came lassitude and sleep, thru whose hazy atmosphere floated wild sentences from the sick tent, which showed that the patient was back again in Nevada, quarreling over the price of a horse which was to carry him beyond the reach of some threatening avalanche. When next morning I came to depart, the doctor took me by both hands and looked me straight in the eyes.

"You heard," he said. "How do you know?" I asked. "I can tell a satisfied man when I see him," he growled throwing down my hands with that same humorous winkle in his eyes which had encouraged me from the first.

I made no answer, but I shall remember the lesson. One detail more. When I started on my descent I found why the leggings. with which I had been provided, were so indispensable. I was not allowed o ride; riding down those steep declivities was impossible. No horse could preserve his balance with a rider on his back. I slid, so did my horse, and only in the valley beneath did we rome together again.

Arrest

The success of this interview provoked other attempts on the part of the eporters who now flocked into the Southwest. Ere long particulars began o pour in of Mr. Fairbrotner's painful urney south, after his illness set in. The clerk of the hotel in El Moro, where the great mine owner's name was found registered at the time of the murder, told a story which made very good reading for those who were more interested in the sufferings and experiences of the millionaire husband of the murdered lady than in those of the unhappy but comparatively insignificant man upon whom public opinion had cast the odium of her death. It seems that when the first news came of the great crime which had taken place in New York, Mr. Fairbrother was absent from the hotel on prospecting tour thru the adjacent mountains. Couriers had been sent after him, and it was one of these who finally brought him into town. He had been found wandering alone on horseback among the defiles of an untraveled region, sick and almost incoherent from fever. Indeed, his condition was such that neither the courier nor such others as saw him had the heart to tell him the dreadful news from New York, or even to show him the papers. To their great relief. he betraved no curiosity in them. All he wanted was a berth in the first train going south, and this was an easy way for them out of a great responsibility. They listened to his wishes and saw him safely aboard, with such alacrity and with so many precautions against his being disturbed that they have never doubted that he left El Moro in total ignorance, not only of the circumstances of his great bereavement, but of the bereavement

This ignorance, which he appeared to have carried with him to the Placide. was regarded by those who knew him best as proving the truth of the affirmation elicited from him in the pauses of his delirium of the genuineness of the stone which had passed from his hands to those of his wife at the time of their separation; and further despatches coming in some private and some official, but all insisting upon the fact that it would be weeks before he would be in a condition to submit to any sort of examination on a subject so painful, the authorities in New York decided to wait no longer for his testimony, but to proceed at once with the inquest.

Great as is the temptation to give a detailed account of the proceedings which were of such moment to myself, and to every word of which I listened with the eagerness of a novice and the anguish of a woman who sees her lover's reputation at the mercy of a verdict which may stigmatize him as a possible criminal, I see no reason for encumbering my narrative with what, for the most part, would be a mere repetition of facts already known to

Mr. Durand's intimate and suggestive connection with this crime, the explanations he had to give of this connection, frequently bizarre and, I must acknowledge not always convincingnothing could alter these nor change the fact of the undoubted cowardice he displayed in hiding Mrs. Fairbrother's gloves in my unfortunate little bag.

As for the mystery of the warning, it remained as much of a mystery as ever. Nor did any better success follow an attempt to fix the ownership of the stiletto, tho a half-day was exhausted in an endeavor to show that the latter might have come into Mr. Durand's possession in some of the many visits he was shown to have made of late to various curio shops in and out of New York city.*

I had expected all this, just as I had expected Mr. Grey to be absent from the proceedings and his testlmony ignored. But this expectation did not make the ordeal any easier, and when I noticed the effect of witness after witness leaving the stand without having improved Mr. Durand's position or offering any new clue capable of turning suspicion into other directions, I felt my spirit harden and my purpose strengthen till I hardly knew myself. I must have frightened my uncle, for his hand was always on my arm and his chiding voice in my ear, bidding me beware not only for my own sake and his, but for that of Mr. Durand, whose eye was seldom away from my face.

The verdict however was not the one I had so deeply dreaded. While it did not exonorate Mr. Durand, it did not openly accuse him, and I was on the point of giving him a smile of congratulation and renewed hope when I saw my little detective-the one who had spied the gloves in my bag at the ball-advance and place his hand upon

The police had gone a step further than the coroner's jury, and Mr. Durand was arrested, before my eyes, on a charge of murder.

*Mr. Durand's visits to the curio shops, as explained by him, were made with a view of finding a casket in which to place his diamond. This explanation was looked upon with as much doubt as the others he had offered where the situation seemed to be of a compromising character. (To Be Continued.)

DEFENDANT WON SUIT

Verdict Rendered in Favor of North

Texas Commission Company In the Forty-eighth district court, before Judge Irby Dunklin, there was ended Wednesday an action for debt, the style of the suit being M. E. Cole & Co. vs. the North Texas Commission Company. The petition of the plaintiffs alleges that July 12, 1905, the plaintiffs shipped cattle to the defendants, and that following a long established practice, the cattle were sold, but that the defendants failed and refused to account for the proseeds of the sale, $4,403.35. Answering the defendant company sets up that there is a balance due Cole & Co., which it stands ready to pay at any time, but that it denies the liability for the total amount claimed, for the reason that it has applied part of the proceeds to the liquidation of moneys advanced to the firm or to Dodge Mason, the managing partner. The amended petition set up that the transactions of Mason were individual acts and not the acts of the managing member of the firm for the benefit of the firm, and that the firm should not be held liable. The verdict was for the amount stated to be due by the commission company which, with interest, brought

The county commissioners' court at its last special session, provided for the examination and acceptance, if according to contract, of the new steel and wood bridge over Village creek on the Kennedale road. DOAK ROBERTS ENTHUSIASTIC

Meeting to Be Held in Dallas Sunday

Doak Roberts, half owner of the Houston baseball franchise, was in Fort Worth Wednesday, and was very enthusiastic over the prospects of the All-Texas League in the coming year. He said that the league would be a success with either six or eight clubs. The Houston team will be about the strongest that has ever been gotten together in the state, according to Doak Roberts, as it will contain the pick of the Houston and Cleburne teams of 1906, besides a number of others. The next meeting of the league will be in Dallas next Sunday, and final decision as to the number of clubs in the league will be rendered at that meeting. The schedule will also be "The most serious problem that is presented to the police department is how to handle boys who have been arrested for petty theft," said Chief of Police Maddox Thursday morning, just after he had released a bright looking lad of 12 years, who had been arrested for stealing wheat from a railroad car.

"If a mistake is made in handling a boy of that chap's age, that mistake may be the making of a thief for life who will land in the penitentiary, and become an enemy to society. For that reason I dread to see a boy brought to the city hall by an officer. That little chap is not a thief a heart. Any man by looking at his bright face can see that, but he stole the wheat from a freight car and he acknowledged it frankly, but to him in his tender years that act did not involve any moral turpitude or sin; he regarded the transaction more in the light of fun than of sin. The boy, however, stands right on the dividing line between honesty and dishonesty, and if he is given a push in the wrong direction, toward dishonesty, he will become a thief and wear stripes before he reaches manhood. But if he is handled properly he can be reclaimed or rather called back from the route he has begun traveling and can be made a good and useful citizen. "I released the little chap at the request of his father, and I believe that a good talk from his mother will do more good in making a man of him than all the courts in the world.

NEW FURNITURE CO.

Will Do Both Wholesale and Retail Business

Next Monday Fort Worth will have another wholesale company doing business, the Fort Worth Furniture Exposition Company being the latest acquisition. Notice of the coming of the new company here from Union City, Tenn., was printed in The Telegram two months ago, when a lease was secured for the premises at 1505-

07-09 Houston street. The new company will carry on both a wholesale and retail business, acting as Texas agents, with sample rooms, for competitive eastern firms. Samples of all lines of goods sold by the company will be kept on exhibition here in order that customers may see what they are purchasing instead of ordering from pictures and printed descriptions. The company will have a number of salesmen out on the road, who will cover the entire state. In order to keep the stock up-todate a retail business will be carried on in the house here, a new piece being ordered as soon as one is sold. There will be no duplicates in the line of goods carried, thus insuring a large assortment for selection. The new company has secured a lease of the quarters on lower Houston street, occupying 75 by 100 feet. The second floor of the same building has been leased and will be occupied as soon as the present lease runs out, A gallery will also be added, running around three sides of the room, which will increase the floor space by a third. Stock is now being arranged and several carloads of furniture have already been put in place. Members of the new company are r. B. Greer, J. B. Hibbitts and W. M. Turner, all of whom come from Union City, Tenn., having selected Fort Worth as the best place in the state for their line of business, altho at one time it was thought that they would have to go to Dallas on account of the inability to get a place of business in this city. The company will be in-corporated under the laws of the state of Texas later on.

MOTHER BRINGS SUIT

Says Intoxicants Were Sold to Her Minor Son

Alleging that the defendants sold inoxicants to her minor son three different times, Mrs. L. A. Blackwell filed suit Wednesday against W. T. (Buck) Cooper & Co. for $1,500 damages, the bondsmen of the firm being oined in the suit. The total penalties claimed are the sum of $500 for each of the three alleged violations of the terms of the bond, which binds the defendants to conduct the saloon in accordance with the laws of the state, and one of those prohibits the sale of intoxicating liquors to minors. Cooper's place is located at North Fort

PARK ATTRACTION

Novelty Company Was Organized at Temple

Special to The Telegram. TEMPLE, Texas, Jan. 10 .- A meeting of local capitalists here resulted in the organization of a corporation styled The Temple Novelty Company, with O. F. Allen president. The purpose of the company is to engage in the manufacture and operation of a patented amusement device for use at summer parks and resorts, resembling the celebrated Figure 8. The inventor is O. F. Allen, who claims to have a novelty that will eclipse the toboggan slide and other similar devices in public favor. A charter will be applied for at once.

It takes a certain amount of head work even to raise cabbages.

MUSEMENTS

"The Boston Belles"

Good burlesque shows are numerous this season, and the whole tone and quality of burlesque has been immeasurably advanced in obedience to popular demands. Sensible, progressive and up to date managers have come to the conclusion that the old methods and the old styles of shows would not do-that the public demanded a radical change and the wise ones have made the change accordingly. Foremost among the shows which flourish among the new order of things is the "Boston Belles," a company which is gaining fame as the season advances and which in every city it visits, makes a distinct hit of huge proportions. The "Boston Belles" have every requisite of a big and successful show, they have the music, the scenery, the stagings, the comedians, and above all, the pretty women.

Mr. Batcheller, the manager of the Boston Belles," which will play at Greenwall's opera house Friday matinee and night, Jan. 11, has collected the best comedians that money can procure, so both the vaudeville and burlesque departments are well looked after, replete with fun and frolic and guaranteed to keep the audience in a hubbub of laughter.

"The Rogers Brothers in Ireland" "The Rogers Brothers in Ireland." with the famous Rogers Brothers at the head of the organization, will be the attraction at Greenwall's opera house Saturday matinee and night, Jan. 12. "The Rogers Brothers in Ireiand" was the most successful musical comedy of the past season as evidenced by the record attendance that it received in the various cities in which it was presented. It was originally presented at the Liberty theater in New York where it achieved a run of "The Umpire" Among the features that gave "The Umpire" the long run record of Chicago-350 performances and the public clamoring for more—are its snappy action, catchy songs, breezy fun and pretty girls. It possesses all of these important elements in abundance and, in addition, has a well constructed and interesting melodramatic plot, dealing with politics, diplomacy, "graft" and last but not least, the national games, football and baseball. Under the direction of Warry Askin "The Umpire" will be seen at Greenwall's opera house Monday and Tuesday night, matinee Tuesday, Jan. 14 and 15, with Fred Mace, the well known comedian, in the leading role. The company is one of the best acting and singing organizations extant.

Sanderson & Bowman in their comedietta "Two Theater Tickets." are scoring a big success at the Majestic theater this week. Mr. Sanderson certainly knows how to play the piano ting melody out of the instrument that resembles the strains from other music instruments. One of his best specialties is imitating a hand organ. He also plays the plano with his elbows and feet. Miss Billee Bowman, his assistant, is possessed of a sweet voice and aids materially in presenting one of the cleverest sketches presented at the popular play house this season. There are some funny situations in the lines of comedy and show the sorrow of the wife, whose forgetful husband has failed to bring home the theater tickets. But this sorrow soon turns to joy when both decide to give an entertainment and their boast that it will excel anything ever heard comes pretty near The others on the bill this week includes Hallen & Fuller in a sketch. 'Her Sunday School Boy;" Gilroy Haynes & Montgomery in a musical sketch, "The Good Ship Nancy Lee;" Mons Herbert, musical artist; Le-Compt, the fire king, and Orville Pitcher, a black-faced monologist. Special features are provided at the daily matinees for the benefit of the children and women.

Fort Worth Rink Everything is in readiness for the big games of polo with Dallas Friday and Saturday evenings, Jan. 11 and 12. Captain Kennard and his men worked out for two hours today and are in good condition for the games.

Captain Stamper of the Dallas team is very proud of the victory over Fort Worth last week, and states that he and his men expect to duplicate the feat tomorrow night, but Captain Kennard and his men say no. These games should be by far the best games yet played as all the boys have had good practice and are better acquainted with the fine points of It takes several games (just like baseball or football) to get good team work, which is very essential to a good game. Captain Kennard and players Bunn, Baker and Teague practiced for oen whole hour yesterday in driving the ball alone and at the end of that time were hitting the bull's eye seven times out of ten. Thirty minutes was given up to oursing and passing the ball and all the boys did nicely. These games with Dallas will be ought out in true Dallas and Fort Worth style, and should prove very interesting, as each team is determined

MAYOR WILL VETO COUNCIL'S ACTION

PERSONAL

Message of Mayor Will Soon Be Filed

Mayor Harris will file before midnight a message to the city council vetoing the action of the council at the last meeting submitting to the voters of the city the proposed new charter for the city of Fort Worth. Thursday morning Mayor Harris called on Secretary Montgomery for copies of portions of the council proceedings, which were furnished him, and the request for the copies of particular parts of the proceedings give rise to the belief that a veto message was coming. A Telegram reporter called on Mayor Harris and found him busy and with but little time to give to the reporter, as under the law he had only until midnight in which to take action on any part of the council's work. To the reporter's question as to whether he would take any action on the action of the council referring the charter to the people, Mayor Harris at first said: "I have not reached that yet, but I am working as hard as I can to reach it. I wish I had time to talk to you about the matter-to go into the merits

"Have you made up your mind as to what action you will take?" "Yes; and I will file a document with the city secretary some time to-"Will it be a veto message?"

"Well, I will say this much: It will be in the nature of a veto," and that was all the mayor was asked. As the reporter left the mayor's office he met Alderman Waggoman, who was told of what was coming, and he said that he was not surprised to hear it-had believed all along that a veto of the council's action would be filed. "Well, let it come," he continued. 'There can be a meeting of the council called in twenty minutes after the veto is read and I believe the council will ride the veto, because the council believes the people should have the privilege of saying whether they want the charter prepared by the alleged charter committee or some other char-

NEW YORK STOCKS SHOWS STRENGTH

Opened Stronger and Maintained Steady Tone

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Jan. 10 .- There was a general improvement in the stock market at the opening, when all stocks with few exceptions opened at an advance of from 1-8 to 3-4. There seems to be a growing belief that the reappearance from time to time of an aggressive demonstration against the Hill-Morgan- Harriman stocks is merely a marked indication of railroad rivalry in the northwest and elsewhere. The situation seems to hold many possibilities of evil for the market generally and professionals advise caution in taking of stocks for an expected rise. No confirmation has come of the reported agreement of Northern Pacific and St. Paul in reference to their controversy of terminal facilities in Washington and Oregon, and until there is some definite reference that these prominent interests are of one mind, at least in the determination not to allow their individual ambitions to injure the prospects for a good rise in the price, general traders are taking profit on the present bulges. Naturally there is still a large margin for a decline in the Hill stocks, and also in the Harriman's, and those who are purchasing are arranging to carry their holdings over the dull season pending settlement.

NEW YORK COTTON SHOWS WEAKNESS

Opened Disappointing in Face of High Liverpool

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 .- The opening of the New York cotton market was disappointing in the face of high Liverpool cables and the very large spot transactions in the English markets. The opening was at only a few points advance, but there was no buying orders in the ring on the call, and the market slumped off several points | Boston 1,146 purely from the tack of support. For | Philadelphia 203 the most part, however, the market was very nervous, and fluctuations of as much as ten points were easily influenced either way on buying or selling transactions. The crop seems to be passing into the hands of consumers, rather than the speculative interests, and nothing more than an occasional natural reaction is looked for. No one familiar with existing conditions has expected the low level of the past week or two to be maintained. In the face of a season's crop of exceeding 12,000,000 bales, a bullish sentiment has been maintained. This feeling is supported by the fact that the world's consumptive demand is growing, and a 12,000,000 bale crop now is not considered as bearish on values as was a 10,000,000 bale crop less than a decade ago. Not only is cotton being used for more purposes, but the output of cotton goods is greater, and the demand so far has equaled and in some instances exceeded the supply. Each year exports to foreign countries grow larger, and American cotton has gradually found its way into many foreign countries open to the American trade. Thus at home and abroad the demand for cotton and cotton products increases. China is gradually becoming a larger consumer of American cotton goods. Texas has been a heavy exporter of finished cotton cloth to the Celestial empire, and the demand there today is more than double that of ten

The prediction that the bureau figures would have a decided bearish effect on the market and depress values to a very low level, fell of its own weight. The slight reaction today cannot be attributed to the bureau figures. The profession is generally bullish on the spot condition. This is actuated by the large demand from merchants who have engagements to fill,

and spinners who would hold present values and force them higher, and speculation is expected when receipts

LOWER OPENING OF N. O. COTTON

Weakness in New York Causes Sympathetic Movement

Special to The Telegram. NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 10 .- The opening was lower than yesterday's close, but the market jumped two points soon as the forecast of the receipts for New Orleans tomorrow was posted, which was relatively light, and is an indication of what might happen should the receipts drop off for a few days. Yesterday's census report was generally interpreted as a bullish document and Liverpool readily conformed to the prevailing sentiment. Futures advanced seven English points, and spot sales reached a total of 15,000

But some of the gain was lost, and the New Orleans market opened five to eight points lower. This, however, New York.

was principally due to the weakness of New Orleans is at this time about sixty points above New York, and the merits of the different contract systems are being demonstrated this season in a very practical way, especially by the grade composition of this crop, and the resultant spot developments. Everything considered, however, it is not improbable that market differences will widen still further, and the sooner people realize that they cannot expect any help from New York, which seems to be bound to the bear side by its contract, the better it will be for all. Outside of that local tendency there, a general decline in cotton for the future should have such in store for New Orleans.

The relatively light forecast for port receipts for tomorrow caused a slight bullish ripple. The spot market is steady, with good inquiry from abroad and a good steady demand here. The into sight for the week looks now like it will reach 433,000 against 224,688 last year and 252,342 in 1905. Large takings by spinners are expected

IMPROVEMENT IN GRAIN MARKETS

Provisions Advance on Stronger Demand

Special to The Telegram. CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—There was some improvement in grain and provisions at the opening. The bullish undertone which has been in evidence in the market for some time began to show in the advance in prices, and the quotations began to work to a nigher level. The prevailing low quotations on wheat in the face of really bullish conditions has been a puzzle to the outside interests. No good reason has been given, in the opinion of the local operators and planters, why values should so long hover around such low figures. and frequently make unwarranted declines. Pit traders and professional manipulators have been charged with prevailing conditions. The improvement in the market has been expected for weeks, and the bull side, while unable to bring any pressure to raise values, has clung to the opinion that the conditions would soon warrant a sharp advance. Futures have for some time been quoted below the spot values, even in the original shipping markets. The supply, however, based on reliable estimates, and to a great extent actual figures, will not meet the home consumptive demand and at the same time supply the demand for export, if reports of condition and quality of foreign crops can be relied upon. The foreign markets have been quoted above the local market difference while frequent setbacks may reasonably be expected, due to scalping operations and speculation, the sentiment for further advances is bullish. Both corn and oats were stronger, and about %c up in sympathy with the rise in wheat, and the undertone was good. There were no changed conditions to create a feature in the day's trading, but both these cereals seem to be taking stronger positions .

Provisions advanced, and gained the loss of the past few days. Pork products have maintained a bullish sentiment for some time, notwithstanding it has suffered frequent reactions, and made declines for the quotations previous to the holidays. The hay receipts have been comparatively small, but colder weather is expected to give some activity in this direction.

Epilepsy is a terrible disease. It seizes its victim at any time, throwing him into a spasm, which may result in death or injury for life. Epilepsy is said to be an incurable disease—yet many of its victims have been saved by the Hot Springs Doctors. One of these is J. R. Binion of Weatherford street, Fort Worth, who yesterday

"For thirty-six years I suffered with epileptic fits, often having as many as five or six a night and as often as three times a week. I commenced taking the Hot Springs Doctors' medicine four weeks ago. I commenced to improve at once, the attacks becoming fewer and less severe, and now after four weeks treatment they have ceased altogether. I haven't had one for two weeks, and am feeling fine, I shall never be able to thank the Hot Springs Doctors enough for what they have done for me and advise any one suffering with fits to see these grand, good doctors. I have been taking medicine from other doctors for years; spent everything I could make, but seemed to get worse instead of better, until I commenced treatment with the Hot Springs Doctors. Now, thank God and the Hot Springs Doctors, am well, Not only have the fits ceased but my condition has improved in every way. My mind is clear, my appetite good and I feel fine. I prayed to God during my long years of suffering to direct me to a cure, and He as answered my prayer. BULK SALES LAW

Texas Business Men's League Working for It

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 10.-S. J. Hay of Dallas, president of the Texas Business Men's League, and George Q. McGown of Fort Worth, secretary, arrived in the city yesterday and will remain for several days working in the interest of the proposed bulk sales law as presented to the last legislature and reported favorably on by the house committee. The purpose of this law is to declare void sales of portions of stocks of merchandise otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade in the usual and regular prosecution of the seller's business, and sales of entire stocks of merchandise in bulk, unless made in compliance with certain named conditions which are proscribed. This law has already been passed in twenty-five states and has the approval of both retail and wholesale trade, and during this year it will be presented to the legislatures in about wenty more states.

The proposed bulk sales law provides that a merchant desiring to dispose of his stock of goods in bulk shall furnish to the purchaser a list of his creditors complete, under affidavit, and that the purchaser shall give the creditors a reasonable notice of seven days of his intention to purchase the stock, failure on the part of the purchaser and seller to comply with the law voiding the sale.

LOCAL RAILROAD PLANTS GROWING

Frisco Colony Southwest of City Resembles Town

Since moving the dispatcher's office, roundhouse and general foreman's office to the west yards of the Frisco, that particular locality has assumed a business air which flavors of a community distinctly individual.

The roundhouse in particular has aroused no end of admiration among the attaches as well as the guests, and in point of modernness and convenience is almost perfect. The new structure is not only well drained, perfectly lighted and splendidly ventilated, but boasts of seven tracks, a double-drop pit, cinder pits so as to be emptied by air pressure, air pressure for the water supply, stationary boilers and an up-to-date blacksmith shop. In addition to the building of the roundhouse, a sand house with a gravity elevator, coat chute, warehouse with instruction room supplied with charts, models, etc., have already been provided, and an extensive car repair track will also soon be laid.

Increase at Santa Fe

The steady increase in the freight business at the Santa Fe, which has been decidedly noticeable for the past six months, has been the means of a decided increase in both the clerical force and platform men, the former having increased by one-third and the latter over one-half. The increase is ascribed to the general prosperous condition thruout the country, as the shipping of grain, live stock and general staple consignments have each increased in proportion, which is proof positive of the fact that no attention has been paid to any particular line.

The present force finds it an arduous task to "keep even" with the amount of work now necessary, and it is very probable that new members will soon be added to the force.

Another Modern Structure

The new roundhouse for the Fort Worth and Denver, which is now under course of construction, is rapidly nearing completion, and in case some badly needed lumber arrives as promised, the building will be ready for occupancy within ten days. The structure, the building of which is under the direction of Contractor Wright, is not only modern, but commodious, being supplied with twelve stalls, concrete drain pits, machine shop and blacksmith department in addition to appliances for the use of compressed air.

Novel Coal Chute

The Rock Island officials as well as Superintendent Morarity of Chicago, point with pride to their new coal chute or patent conveying dock, which will be ready for general use by the 20th of the month The coal chute, which is operated by a 12-horsepower gasoline engine, has a capacity of 350 tons, and is capable of loading or unloading 85 tons an hour. The adoption of such a patent as the Rock Island now has four under course of construction in Texas will eventually be the means of quite a saving, for with bottom-dump coal cars, from 7 to 10 cents may be saved on each ton of coal. In addition to the coal chute and in the same building, is a modern sand conveyor, which is operated by compressed air, and the work on the entire structure was completed in 78

One of the latest labor-saving schemes and incidentally one which reduces the expense account of the railroads is the adoption of the northern idea of firing an engine. Railway and Steamship Men Bank A coterie of railway and steamship men have organized a new bank in New York to do a general foreign as well as a domestic discounting business and the common understanding is that the business affiliations of the men will influence much business for the new bank. Among those in the directorate of the bank are the general passenger agents of the Baltimore and Ohio and the Lehigh Valley and S. B. F. Morse, many years with the Southern Pacific. The capital is $200,000 and the subscriptions to the stock were made on a basis of $120.

Trying to Get Pullmans The railways of the state are trying to get a supply of Pullmans so they may comply with the orders of the state commission in the matter of reducing rates for the use of the sleepers. Where the supply is to come from no one seems to know, for the Pullman

"I had tried different kinds of diet, plain living, and many of the remedies recommended, but got no better. "Finally, about five weeks ago, mother suggested that I try Grape-Nuts, and I began at once, eating it with a little cream or milk. A change for the better began at once.

"Today I am well and am gaining weight and strength all the time. I've gained 10 pounds in the last five weeks and do not suffer any more from indigestion and the rheumatism "I know it is to Grape-Nuts alone that I owe my restored health, I still eat the food twice a day and never tire of it." Name given by Postum Co. Battle Creek, Mich. The flavor of Grape-Nuts is peculiar to itself. It is neutral, not too sweet and has an agreeable, healthful quality that never grows tiresome.

One of the sources of rheumatism is from overloading the system with acid material, the result of imperfect digestion and assimilation. As soon as improper food is abandoned and Grape-Nuts is taken regularly, digestion is made strong, the organs do their work of building up good red blood cells and of carrying away the excess of. disease-making material from the system. med service officials, directs that the Flyer shall run out on time if the fast mail is much late and that means that the mail will lay at Denison all night and come out of that city on the early morning trains. About the only result of the practice of waiting for the connection, lately, is to make the Flyer late for all of its Texas connections and save but little if any time in the business mail.

ADD COMPANY TO FIRE DEPARTMENT

Firemen Get Increase in Pay for Services

Fort Worth's fire department was increased Wednesday night by the addition of one company, and the new fire station in the Seventh ward was put in service, thus giving good protection to that part of the city. The new hose wagon for the Seventh ward station arrived from the factory Wednesday at noon, but it was not installed at the new station until Wednesday night. It is a beauty and the Seventh ward firemen are as proud of it as a boy of a pair of red op boots. Captain Frank Massengale is in harge of the new station, having been ransferred from the Eighth ward station. T. F. Hill of the chemical company has been promoted to captain and succeeds Captain Massengale at the Eighth ward station. The new company in service at the Seventh ward station are old fire fighters taken from other companies, the new men put in service being assigned to different companies of which the force is composed of trained men. "Since the $5 increase of wages for firemen the fire service conditions are nuch improved," said Chief Biddeker Thursday. "I have had great trouble retofore on account of good men juitting the service for better paying jobs, and no one can blame them, but now some of my old men are applying to get back and there is no disposition to quit the service by the trained fire fighters now in the department. Instead of new men in the department beginning at $45 per month and serving a year before their wages reach $60 per month, they now get $50 per month the first three months, $55 the second three months, $60 the third three months, and at the expiration of twelve months they receive $65, and they are worth every cent of the

Burroughs Adding Machine Company Opens Office

Headquarters for northwest Texas of the Burroughs Adding Machine Company have been located in Fort Worth, a result due to the fact that more of the machines were purchased in Fort Worth during the past year than in any other city in the state of Former headquarters for the entire southwest have been in Dallas, but within the past week or so establishments have been started in Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio, Oklahoma City and New Orleans, and the territory divided up. The Fort Worth office, which is under the managership of M. L. Smith, formerly of Dallas, will control the territory as far south as Waco, west on the Texas & Pacific as far as the Pecos river, and northwest and north as far as the state line. The territory is thus the largest of the four offices in the state. Dallas will control northeast Texas, Houston, southeast Texas, and San Antonio, southwest Texas.

Offices of the Fort Worth branch have been opened at 710 Houston street, where office furniture is now being installed. A complete line of the samples of the machines of the company will also be placed on exhibition in the rooms, some thirty or forty machines being set up. There will be two salesmen placed besides the manager of the company. This number will probably be increased within a short time. A feature of the new office which will be instituted within a short time will be the offering of prizes for the fastest work in competition of users of the Burroughs machines. There are several fast men in Fort Worth banks and offices, and a number of these have already promised to compete.

Lectures on Church History

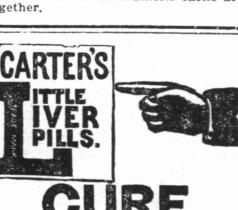

Editor of The Telegram. Next Sunday night I hope to give the first of a series of lectures on "The History of the American Church," to extend into the Lenten season. These lectures will consist of readings from Dean Hodges' "Three Hundred Years of the Episcopal Church in America, accompanied with notes and comments of my own. Apart from the fact that this subject ought to be interesting to us as Americans, the subject forms one of the most charming chapters of church history that I know of. Subject of the first lecture will be "The Parish of Jamestown." Faithfully, Robert Hammond Cotton, Rector of Trinity.
