

IT RAINED HERE!

"AS I SEE IT"

By Jack McCarty

And the rains came . . . Yes, sir, folks, those prayed-for rains came to this area this week and everyone hereabouts is looking at the world through rose-colored glasses these days. There has been a great deal of discussion around town as to the value of the precious moisture received and it seems to be the consensus of opinion that the fall is worth far more than a million dollars with some estimates running as high as five million.

One can see smiles wherever he looks today and someone has suggested that local barbers should cut the price of a shave since faces aren't near so long now. C. C. Coggins, who resides just east of town, was in the Review office Wednesday morning and stated that he got stuck in his flivver while endeavoring to come to town. He pointed out that it was the first time this had happened in seven years and that he was so happy that the ground was wet that he whistled all the way back to the house to get his tractor to pull the car out.

The whole area received good rains with some reporting a great deal more than others. Reports from the Cross Cut community state that more than six inches had been gauged there up to Wednesday morning and that many of the roads were temporarily impassable. Jack Watkins, popular citizen of that community, told this department that the rain came in time to insure him of at least a half crop of oats.

Oil operators are at a standstill on many locations since muddy roads have transportation virtually impossible, but they have had their day during the prolonged dry spell. A great deal of drilling is scheduled for this area during the months to come, it has been reported.

Our congratulations are extended to Coach Roy Byrd and his Junior High School track team members upon winning first place in the District 13-B track meet held at McMurry College in Abilene last week. The local school can look forward to some fine athletic teams on the field when these lads reach high school.

We had a large number of compliments and a few complaints on our perfumed edition last week, and it brought another epistle from the Sage of Caddo, who states that it caused him no little grief during the day he received it. Here is his letter:

Dear Editor:
What a day this has been! The first half was just about normal for a drouth stricken sandy farm, the first sign of trouble was while coming from the mail box the dog met us, took one look or one sniff and took off around the house.

In the house a few minutes later our wife inquired as to where we had been all morning and when we told her to the blacksmith shop, she gave us a fishy stare and said, "Shades of Baron Menchausen! You have come up with some dandies in the past 30 years but that one is tops. I've been in blacksmith shops in nine states, and what I smell don't originate in that kind of shops." After a few moments and considerable argument it was

The Conlee and Brown families were spending a week end outing on the Amite River and Conlee, his son and Brown had gone upstream to set out a trot line when the light boat they were riding in filled with water and sank in 12 feet of water. Due to the cold water, Conlee cramped and was unable to swim and had gone under the water several times when he was pulled to the edge of the boat, that had turned over and rose to the top of the water, by his brother-in-law.

Bayou Philosopher Calls On Texas Legislature To Outlaw Bombs Before Someone Gets Hurt

Editor's note: It sounds to us like the Bayou Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on the Bayou has been thinking too much about the hydrogen bomb.

It affects a lot of people that way.

Dear editor:
I was out here on my Johnson grass farm yesterday afternoon tryin' to steady my nerves after readin' all the hydrogen bomb talk and hearin' about this newest kink, the cobalt bomb which you fire up from a raft out in the ocean and row for the other shore while clouds of radio-active stuff drift toward the opposite shore, wipping out all life before them, you know, some people steady their nerves by lightin' into a lot of work, jumpin on their tractor or grabbin a hoe, but I have never gotten that nervous.

The way I calm my nerves is to scratch out on the ground under a shade tree and watch a buzzard sail around the sky in a big circle without ever flappin his wings, and if more people had used my method, we wouldn't have to worry over the hydrogen bomb. Wouldn't have had one.

But now that we've got it I see no reason in duckin the job of facin up to it. I notice where President Eisenhower said we have no plans for buildin a bigger bomb, the one we've got now is big enough to accommodate any city and as I see it, it's now up to the cities to get bigger if they want to keep forgin ahead in bomb sizes.

But what I started out to say was I've been readin about the plight the cities find themselves in when they start thinkin about evacuating their citizens in case of a hydrogen bomb attack. I don't see how they're gonna do it successfully. I guess if you had time you could get all the people out of Dallas or Houston say, but it sure would be hard on bobwire fences and growin crops around there, especially if some enemy hit on the idea of stagin dummy raids, just crankin up their planes two or three times a week and headin for a city just to see the people scatter. I tell you, after five or six of these there would not be a stalk of cotton or grass growin within miles of Dallas or Houston, all trampled into the ground by the fleeing citizens.

In ancient times, you know, when an enemy attacked, everybody fled to the city and shut the gate behind them, but modern civilization has reversed this trend.

What it proves is that cities probably were a mistake in the first place.

I still say, though, the Texas Legislature ought to take this thing by the horns and outlaw the Hydrogen bomb before mankind rubs himself out. It's goin to be hard on Legislatures if it happens and there's nobody left to tax.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Mrs. Edna Mauldin has returned from a ten days visit in Dallas, where she attended a demonstration course in permanent hair waving conducted by Mr. Paul Relling of Chicago.

Little Jennie Laura Jackson and S. R. Jackson, Jr., entertained Saturday afternoon at their home with a joint birthday party, celebrating their 11th and 8th birthday, respectively, and each received many pretty gifts.

Little Miss George Cecil Cook was a proud hostess Tuesday afternoon, entertaining a number of friends at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Geo. Scott, celebrating her birthday.

Perry Ashley, age 43, who died suddenly at his home near Oplin about noon on Friday of last week, was buried in the Cross Plains cemetery at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Fort Worth — Many dry sections of the State got rains over the week end and the more optimistic feeling was evident among livestock producers at Fort Worth Monday. Many ranchmen reported the rains enough to bring grazing along, and in some spots heavy downpours put out critically needed stock water into tanks and ponds.

Livestock farmers with grain that was barely hanging on reported the rains were "life savers". In the North Texas area many farmers told us that "just one more like Sunday and we'll about have an oat crop made."

On the market the cattle trade reacted rather slowly to the good news but there was definite improvement in the prices for stockers where they had some quality. Fed cattle were again scarce, and apparently the supply is dwindling pretty fast in this part of the country.

Sales of most classes of cattle and calves were fully steady to strong and some sales 25 to 50 cents or more higher were noted through the list. Some stockers were up more.

Good and choice red steers and yearlings drew $18 to $23, and common to medium sorts sold from $13 to $18. Fat cows drew $10.50 to $13, a few tippy kinds $13.50. Canners and cutters sold at $7 to $10.50. Bulls sold from $10 to $15, odd head $15.25.

Fat calves of the good and choice kinds sold from $17 to $21, and there were numerous loads and small lots of creepfed calves in the 500-650 pound bracket at $18 to $21. Common and medium kinds from $14 to $17, with culls $10 to $13.

Good and choice stocker steer calves and steer yearlings drew $17 to $20, and stocker cows sold from $10 to $13.50. The range between stocker heifers and steers seemed more narrow, with some heifers up to $17.25 and $17.50.

Hogs hit a new top at Fort Worth Monday when they finally attained $28. Good and choice butcher hogs at $27.75 to $28 were at the best discovered that the odor in question was emanating from the copy of the Review that had been carried under our arm.

After that was all settled a good chuckle was had at a nice publicity stunt, everything back on an even keel and running smoothly we thought our troubles were over for the day, or that is everything was allright till milking time.

We have a cantankerous old cow that won't let a woman within a hundred yards of her. Having been on this dry weather reducing diet our cows are just a little on the nervous side any way. We had milked about half of this old bovine's regular two quart quota when she stretched her neck around, took a good deep sniff and immediately took off for the brush. It took about an hour to get her rounded up and convinced that it was really us, even if we didn't smell right.

Along about dark, after mulling over the troubles of the day, we headed for the trash barrel with the offending copy of The Review and a handful of matches, determined to end once and for all time any more complications from one copy of a measly newspaper.

Now really Ed., we didn't know that the Missus had dumped in the trash a bucket of chicken feathers and an old cow horn that the dog had been using for a front yard ornament. We found out all those things when the most vile of odors began to permeate the whole house, especially the wife's fresh laundered curtains.

The only way we figure to get even with Tom Cox on this deal is to drink up all his free coffee this Saturday. As for your part of the conspiracy no doubt before you get your shop smelling decent again you will have been punished for desecrating such a noble product as printer's ink.

Scranton Seniors To Present Three-Act Comedy Friday Night

"Closed Lips" a three act comedy drama will be presented by the Scranton senior class Friday night at 8 o'clock. The public is invited to attend and urged to be on time.

This promises to be two hours and fifteen minutes of good entertainment. "Should any innocent man, upon leaving prison, seek to clear his good name and punish the real criminal, especially when the exposure will bring sorrow upon his own family?" This is John Clay's dilemma, upon being pardoned. The roles of the neglected waif and the ex-convict are rich in that kind of heart interest. This is an impressive play, emotionally strong, teaching an unobtrusive but wholesome lesson.

There should be laughter and tears for all.

H-BOMB: There is one topic that is on everyone's lips—and in everyone's heart.

It is the hydrogen bomb—the most destructive force ever wielded by man.

As a father, I am deeply concerned over this dreaded weapon. The lives of my little girls—Lynda Bird and Lucy Baines—will be determined by our ability to control this force. The lives of your children will depend upon our collective wisdom and determination to harness this power.

What is it? The H-bomb is simply heavy hydrogen exploded by an atomic bomb. The process, according to our scientists, is similar to that by which the sun gives off the heat that warms our earth.

Can it destroy the earth? Our best minds tell us "No"—but it can destroy civilization! It is the mightiest force that has ever been in the hands of man. But experts tell us it is still a "firecracker" compared to such natural forces as the volcano Krakatoa which erupted in the early part of this century.

What can it do? For all practical purposes, it can destroy any city on the face of the earth. It can cause total destruction within a 50-square mile area; severe damage within a 200-mile square area; moderate damage within a 600-square mile area; fire destruction within an 800-square mile area. This does not take into account the damage from radiation.

What does the future hold? The hydrogen bomb is a force which will either end war or end civilization. The answer lies in our wisdom; our unity; our ability to put aside our petty quarrels and dedicate ourselves to preserving our country for posterity.

Is there hope? I personally have a tremendous faith in the future of our country. I think we have the brains, and the courage, and the will to preserve our freedoms. I take comfort from these verses of the 91st Psalm:

Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night;
nor for the arrow that flieth by day;
nor for the pestilence that walketh in darkness;
nor for the destruction that wasteth at noonday.

In that spirit, we can control this tremendous force that we have developed.

HOW ABOUT INDO-CHINA? Here, too, we are at the crossroads. We must make hard decisions—the kind that will tax our determination and will power.

I attended a highly secret briefing at the State Department last Saturday. Of course, I am not at liberty to reveal the details of that briefing. But it is no secret that the fall of Indo-China to the communists would be disastrous to all our plans in Asia.

It would mean the loss of the richest tungsten, tin and rubber producing areas in the free world. More important, it would mean the loss of all Southeast Asia and probably the loss of all Asia. Ultimately, we might be driven out of the Pacific itself!

The issues are simply this: Shall we continue to give more aid to the French forces in Indo-China? Shall we insist that the aid be conditioned upon a more realistic attitude on their part? (The French forces actually fighting have been magnificent. But they have had little support from the home front. Furthermore, their leaders have not been inclined to listen to good, commonsense advice.) Shall we continue without clear assurances that others will join us? Or shall we withdraw altogether and fall back upon the concept of fortress America?

The next few weeks will see the answers to these questions. Whatever the answers may be, they must be based upon the full knowledge and consent of the American people!

The springs form the Comal River, which is the largest shortest river in the world. New Jobs for Texans

Texas industries have been providing new jobs for Texans at the rate of about 70,000 a year. That's about 200 new jobs every day.

All kinds of jobs... in offices, on construction work, in manufacturing plants, in the development of the natural resources of the State. Jobs for riggers, for secretaries, for engineers, for truck drivers, for accountants, for lawyers, for crane operators, for decorators, for sailors... all kinds of jobs.

And the reason why these new jobs have been, and continue to be available is this: Texas industry is expanding, and industry makes jobs.

On the average, each new job created in Texas requires the investment of $12,000 capital*. Thus, Texas industry invests over three-quarters of a billion dollars each year in new plants and in plant expansion to create 70,000 new Texas jobs.

Much of this annual investment in new jobs for Texas is made by the oil industry itself and industries which depend on oil and natural gas for fuel and raw materials. Every year a wider variety of industries put to profitable use a larger number of the resources of the State, and call on a broader assortment of available Texas skills.

Forecasters predict an even greater industrial development in Texas, and an even larger number of new jobs, as more industries recognize the advantages that Texas offers: good markets, raw and manufactured resources, trustworthy and dependable people, efficient and abundant fuel, a mild climate, and a good state government... In that list of advantages, the Texas oil industry provides raw materials for processing, and the world's finest industrial fuel—natural gas.

*In the oil industry, the required investment for each new job is over $50,000.
