

Austin—Most discussed subject in Austin is the United States Supreme Court decision abolishing racial segregation in the public schools.

Not only are the people talking about this important ruling, but they are taking their pens and pencils in hand to let Governor Shivers know how they feel about it. There is no doubt about how Texans feel on the subject for the mail shows a 30 to 1 ratio in favor of maintaining segregation.

Governor Shivers pointed out that "the Supreme Court has indicated it will have more to say on this matter later this fall, and there is very little that can be done until we know its final opinion."

The Texas Education Agency has advised schools in Texas to plan for continued segregation in the term starting next September.

Roy M. Hall, executive director of the Texas Association of School Boards, said that the segregation problem will be mostly a local headache and that in most instances it will be at least several years before the reality of non-segregation becomes evident.

Insurance Company Probe
Hotest news out of Austin is the Insurance Company probe.

Indicted by a Travis County grand jury were Leslie and Paul Lowry of Beaumont, D. H. O'Flaherty, Beaumont, and Spencer Treharne of El Paso.

Nine indictments charged these four persons with criminal violations of Texas insurance laws. In addition to perjury counts against the four, Paul Lowry was charged with submitting a false statement.

All the indictments concerned submission of alleged false reports to the State Board of Insurance Commissioners regarding funds of insurance firms at Beaumont, Ennis and El Paso.

Investigations which have been going on since the first week Attorney General John Ben Shepperd took office in 1953 reveal that some insurance companies have been formed in Texas with borrowed capital which banks deposited to the credit of the insurance firm, but with the understanding that the money was not to be withdrawn. Once the firm was approved by the Insurance Commission and a charter granted, the bank's money was returned, the loan canceled and the insurance company was in business. Losers in the transaction was the policy holder who was dealing with an insufficiently financed firm.

Shepperd has been working closely with Travis County District Attorney Bob Long in connection with the grand jury's investigation. One of Shepperd's top assistants, Willis Gresham, has been appointed by the attorney general to handle the prosecution. Gresham played a big part in the attorney general's recent investigation in Duval County.

Tightening of Insurance Laws?
Legislation tightening the state's insurance laws is indicated. Acting Governor Ben Ramsey has called the legislative council into session to begin a study of existing laws.

Court disclosures of loopholes, lack of safeguards, and loose enforcement which permit improper organization and operation of small insurance companies, prompted the move.

New Duval Grand Jury
The way has been opened for the appointment of a new grand jury to look into jumbled affairs of Duval County.

The Court of Criminal Appeals refused to set aside 79th District Judge A. S. Broadfoot's discharge of a grand jury commission the judge ruled was lax in selecting fair and impartial grand and petit jurors.

Judge Broadfoot can now appoint a new commission which in turn will set up a new grand jury.

Draft Quota High
Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield has issued a draft call for 1,187 men for July. It is the largest draft quota in six months.

The state director of Selective Service declared that calls for the next 12-month period will be on an increased level. Cause of the increase, General Wakefield asserted, is the fact that more men will be getting out of uniform during the government's fiscal year.

Coke Fights Congress
Coke Stevenson, Jr., Texas Liquor Administrator and newly elected president of the National Conference of State Liquor Administrators, is readying a blast against federal interference with state liquor laws.

The National Conference adopted a strong resolution to be presented to congressmen pointing out that the repeal amendment returned to the states the licensing and supervision of the liquor industry. There are bills now pending in Congress prohibiting beer and liquor advertising.

More Wild Life
Wild animals seem to take a liking to the rugged area west of Austin. There has been a panther scare for several months. Latest report is the appearance of a 33-inch long alligator—which walked out of Shoal Creek almost in the heart of this Capitol city.

Miss Joyce Neeb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Neeb of Cross Plains, became the bride of Pvt. Sheryl Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Taylor of Comanche, Saturday, May 22nd, at 4 p.m. in the James Methodist Church in Augusta, Ga., with the pastor, Rev. Echols, reading the ceremony.

The bride wore a waltz length dress of white chantille lace and tulle over taffeta. It was fashioned with a tulip neckline and long sleeves that came to a point over her hands. Her veil was shoulder length and she carried a white Bible topped with a small bridal bouquet.

The couples only attendants were the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Payne of Cross Plains.

After a short wedding trip to South Carolina, the couple will make their home in Augusta where Pvt. Taylor is stationed.

The bride is a 1954 graduate of Cross Plains High School and the groom graduated from Comanche High School with the class of 1951 and attended Tarleton State College, Stephenville, and Texas A&M before entering the service.

Attending the wedding were Mrs. H. W. Neeb and sons, Charles and Monty and James and Jerry Payne, all of Cross Plains.

Mr. and Mrs. James N. Bayley and children of Oklahoma City, Okla., visited here Sunday night with his sister, Mrs. Jack McCarty and family.

Mrs. Jessie Klutts has returned from a visit with her son, Barney Klutts, and family at Sweeny. They also visited in Corpus Christi before Mrs. Klutts returned home.

Washington

"As It Looks From Here"

OMAR BURLESON
Congressman
17th District

Washington, D. C.—After a long fight of almost a year, it is gratifying that the Department of Agriculture has decided that State and County cotton acreage allotments will be adjusted upward to compensate for acreage not planted during the last three years because of drought conditions.

Along with others, I have been working on this proposition, and have been at times rather discouraged, but finally we have had a favorable decision and hope it will be of real help to the cotton farmer in receiving a fair allotment.

It is a peculiar thing that we as individuals usually believe that which we want to believe. Consciously or otherwise, we seemingly close our minds to those things which we do not want to believe. Evidently we did not believe Hitler's MEIN KAMPF, and perhaps no one wants to take warning at Karl Marx's DAS KAPITAL.

In March, 1953, Mao Tse-tung, ruler of Communist China, sent a message to Moscow by his right-hand man, Crou En-lai, who is now representing Communist China at the Geneva Conference. Mao Tse-tung's letter was an outline of a program for the world revolution of Communism.

The message itself, insofar as the Communists are concerned, was secret, but from reliable sources we know of it.

In this message, Mao Tse-tung said that the time had come when they (Communists) must look upon Asia as their immediate goal. The reason given was that there was a good chance for revolution in Asia, but that the time for the collapse of Europe was not yet at hand, and that forceful means applied in Europe might bring on a war which at the time they wanted to prevent.

The message said that the United States must be isolated by all possible means. His plans laid out directions for driving a wedge between the United States and her Allies. It said that Britain must be convinced that possibilities exist to settle differences between the East and the West and that Communist and capitalist countries can live in peace. World trade was to be used as bait for the British. The letter stated that in the case of France, her fear of Germany must be thoroughly exploited; that France must feel that her greatest security was in cooperating with the Communists rather than with the Western countries.

Japan, according to the document, must be convinced that rearmament endangers instead of guaranteeing her national security.

He said that there must be 25 million well trained troops in south-Asia for immediate mobilization. These troops were to force the capitalist countries to keep increasing defense expenses until economic collapse overtakes them, and that a show force, when the time is ripe, will bring about capitulation of the ruling cliques of the countries to be liberated.

Mao Tse-tung's advice to Stalin was to agree to an armistice in Korea until such time as a navy could be developed; that the lack of naval support was their greatest weakness.

The letter went on to say that Formosa must be taken over by Communist China, and that they would help the Indo-Chinese in their revolution. (Bear in mind that this was in March of 1953.) He described the war in Indochina to be one of such extent as to make it extremely unpopular with the French people, and to make the French and Americans hateful among the Indo-Chinese. He said that two years may be needed to completely take over Indochina. After Indochina would then come Burma, Thailand, and Indonesia, which would complete a circle around the Malay Peninsula, held by the British. When this was accomplished, explained Mao Tse-tung, the British would realize the hopelessness of putting up a fight and would withdraw, and that this whole process should be completed by or before 1960.

The Chinese Communist leader finished his letter by discussing the fall of Japan and India by 1960, after which would come the collapse of the Philippines and the Arab countries in the Middle East. After India and the Middle East would come Africa, and with this much accomplished, Western Europe would collapse. He said after the European collapse, Canada and South America would find themselves helpless and defenseless, and that twenty years from now world revolution would be an accomplished fact.

They tell us the exact pattern. Will we believe it?

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Moon returned to their home in Fort Worth Tuesday after a week end visit here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Moon.

Wheat Harvest Begins Before Combines Roll

College Station — What harvest really begins before the combines roll to the field.

The first step, says Fred T. Dines, extension wheat marketing specialist, is to rid all storage facilities of possible sources of weevil, rodent or bird infestation. Progressive farmers attend to these jobs now—before the new crop is harvested.

Even a handful of wheat left over from last year may harbor enough weevils to spread quickly into a serious infestation.

With the emphasis this year on storage, Dines recommends that bins be thoroughly cleaned to remove all bits of grain and dust from corners and cracks. Then the walls and floors should be sprayed with an effective residual insecticide.

Let the pre-harvest clean-up extend beyond the storage bin, however. Feed rooms, small pockets of wheat left in machinery and spilled grain are common "hot spots".

Check for leaks and openings through which moisture may enter. A metal flashing around foundations and over holes serves as an effective rat proofing. Dines says lumber and trash piles which may harbor rodents should be cleaned up. Traps will help catch rats which are present.

Wettable powders of DDT or methoxychlor at two and a half percent concentration are recommended bin sprays. Another effective spray calls for five-tenths percent pyrethrin or allethrin emulsion. Both are applied at rates of two gallons per 1,000 square feet of surface.

ROWDEN NEWS

By Velda Crow

A number of people from Baird, Admiral and Rowden attended a bridal shower honoring Mrs. Dan Starnes, the former Jo Bess Miller, who is now living at Midland. The shower was given at the Rowden Community Center Saturday night, May 29, by a number of the Rowden ladies. Many nice gifts were received and cake and punch were served. Hostesses were Mes. Blain Odum, Bill Lawrence, Walter Jones, Warren Price, Vonelle Gibbs, Barney Gibbs, B. Crow and Odie Smedley.

Our sympathy goes out to the Miller family in the loss of their mother, Mrs. Margaret Miller, who passed away Saturday night at her home here following a long illness. Funeral services were held at the Rowden Baptist Church Monday afternoon at 2:30 and burial was in the Admiral cemetery.

Those visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Crow, Thelda and Velda on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Lehev and family of Spur, Donald Stephens of Abilene, and Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Crow and Richie and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Gibbs of Baird.

There are a number of people on the sick list. We hope everyone will be well soon.

Mrs. Lillie Swafford of Baird is visiting with Mrs. Odie Smedley and Pearl.

Gene Mauldin, who has been in the hospital receiving treatment for a cut on his leg he received while working for a milk company in Abilene, has returned home.

CARD OF THANKS

I take this means to thank my many friends and neighbors for the many flowers, cards and gifts sent to me during my recent stay in the hospital.

May you have the same type of true friends in your hour of need as my fervent prayer.

REAL BARGAINS IN OLDER MODEL CARS.

Bishop Chevrolet Co.

Fort Worth — Major population centers in the Midwest and on the Eastern Seaboard reported movement of most kinds of meat at wholesale and retail levels last week were spotty and disappointing and in the main prices worked lower.

This condition was reflected in prices of most kinds of livestock in lowered prices. The beef trade was burdened with an influx of medium and low grade calf meat from the farms and plantations of Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Florida.

Pork prices tumbled from five to 14 cents per pound in the New York area as consumers shied away from the highest pork loin prices in years. Finicky buyers with nothing else to criticize about it, were making enough of an issue about the way the pork was trimmed and the amount of fat on it, to call for a report of that fact on the national news circuit.

At virtually all points, packers and wholesalers complained that cattle and calves were making unsatisfactory kills because of the evidence of "grassy" finish and fat.

Lamb buyers complained that old crop shorn lambs were showing more yearling than lamb characteristics to "break joint" created adjectives and the "horse" sizes and additional hurdles.

All of this set the stage for the "June Break" in cattle prices, which on Monday averaged around 50 cents to $1 per hundred, some more and some less. On top of the break of a week earlier, this moved prices nearer to levels of a year ago.

Good and choice slaughter steers and yearlings $13-22, common and medium kinds $12-18. Fat cows $10-13, a few heiferish kinds to $13.50 and above. Canners and cutters largely $7-10. Bulls $9-14.50, a few higher. Good and choice slaughter calves $18-22; cull, common and medium kinds from $10-17.

Spring lambs topped at $24 to $25 readily at Fort Worth Monday and were fully steady at those prices. The fair to good kinds of slaughter spring lambs sold around

Yarborough Raps Failure Of Administration To Enforce Insurance Laws

Austin—An extensive and immediate clean-up of the "Texas Insurance Mess" has been called for by Judge Ralph Yarborough in a statement this week.

Yarborough said that during three days in north and Central Texas, the question asked everyone was the same: "What about this influence-peddling and the insurance rackets down in Austin?"

In his statement, Yarborough declared:

"Only the surface has been scratched, but it appears that the administration of Texas Insurance Laws, which is the responsibility of the Executive Department of our State, has not only been lax; it has been totally inadequate. The Texas Insurance Commission was found, on May 12, 1954, in a judicial opinion of the Austin Court of Civil Appeals, to be guilty of 'fraud if not criminal laxity.'

"Texas insurance policy-holders are losing confidence in the Insurance Commission of Texas. It is imperative that the insurance industry, which is the second largest industry in the State, be protected from the operations of unscrupulous promoters, and high-powered influence peddlers.

"People who have not been guilty of wrongdoing would have nothing to fear from a complete investigation, and every honest company will welcome it. A complete investigation looking into retainers, bank accounts, expense accounts, income tax returns, and excessive personal expenditures of influence-peddlers, fixers, and state government officials connected with Insurance Law Administration in Texas is absolutely necessary.

"I do not believe that one of the 'fixers' was 'sucked in' on one of the shady deals on insurance that has been exposed in Texas, but that he went in with his eyes open. I think some people may know too much to be fired.

"If corruption and influence-peddling are to get the 'deep freeze' treatment in Austin, the public is entitled to know if the attitude of the present administration is to cover up and conceal a scandal in Austin that exceeds anything uncovered in Washington in the past ten years."

Bobby Vaught was in Dayton Monday visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Vaught.

Value of Sun Tan Not Worth Risk, Doctor Says

Austin—The therapeutic value of a sun tan probably isn't worth the trouble and risk it takes to get one. That's the word from the State Health Department. They say a tan is nothing more than a manifestation of a skin injury.

But these same health officials are first to admit that a sensible bask in the sun makes a fine mental pick-me-up. Overdoing it is the first week of sunshiny weather is the thing that leads to trouble.

Sunshine in large doses can kill you. More than one "sunshine sucker" had succumbed to a hot sun when he wasn't accustomed to it. Even at best over-exposure can mean two or three miserable days and sleepless nights when a mere shirt is torture.

Some people are physically unable to tan. Known medically as "heliophobes," they could spend the entire summer in the sun and all they'd get would be blisters on the blisters. The reason is that their skin lacks the pigment necessary to produce sun tan, and each new exposure means a new burn.

But if you simply have to have that golden sheen this summer, you can avoid disastrous complications by following these recommendations from Dr. Henry A. Holle, the state health officer.

Assuming you're a type who can tan—a "heliophilic," that is—do it by repeated exposures of, say, 5 minutes for the first two or three days. Then increase exposure time to 15 minutes for a couple more days, and then 30 or 45 minutes until you're well done.

After that, you'll probably be safe as far as burning is concerned. But there is still the danger of sun stroke or heat prostration.

Sunshine is a source of vitamin D, as most people know. What they apparently do not know is that ordinarily healthy people can get all the vitamins required simply by normal living.

Ever wondered about the source of freckles which sometimes spread so becomingly across an upturned female nose? Here's the answer:

The color of everyone's skin is determined by the amount of pigment which is formed by the body as a defense against sun rays. Dark complexioned people have considerable, blondes very little, and albinos none at all. Sometimes, especially in children, pigment is unevenly manufactured and collects in spots. These spots are freckles.

Miss Mona Eager of Pecos is spending a two weeks vacation here with friends and relatives.

Proper Use Of Ranges Make Better Turkeys Specialist States

College Station—Proper use of ranges and succulent feeds offers turkey raisers the best chance to cut costs, increase profits and grow better birds.

A range for turkeys offers more than sunshine and exercise, says C. A. Hensarling, extension poultry husbandman. It furnishes plenty of green grazing and should be large enough to permit the poult to be moved every two or three weeks. An ideal range is well-drained, tree bordered and completely isolated from other poultry on the farm. Poults go to range at the age of 8 to 12 weeks.

If natural shade is unavailable, range shelters or a similar type arbor should be built. Lack of shade causes the birds to overcrowd and some may be injured or even killed.

Plenty of fresh, cool drinking water is a hot weather "must" on the range. It usually pays to pipe water to the range, but a barrel makes a good substitute when kept full and clean, Hensarling says. Under no circumstances should the birds be allowed to drink from muddy and, possibly, contaminated streams or ponds.

Portable feeders should be designed to protect the feed from rain, wind, direct sunlight and from droppings. When forage in the immediate feeding area shows signs of being overgrazed a move to another location is in order.

Predator animals pose a problem in some areas and Hensarling advises enclosing the roosting area with net wire fencing. Lanterns, flares or electric lights burning
