

Members of the Texas Press Association were told last Friday that the State's entire highway program is in jeopardy.

Charles Simons, a member of the Texas Highway Commission, discussed problems confronting the State Highway Department in its responsibility to construct and maintain a highway system to serve all the people of Texas.

Simons warned that the highway program is threatened by proposed environmental controls, raids on the Federal Highway Trust Fund, government reorganization, Federal revenue sharing and bureaucratic red tape.

Simons spoke at the annual summer meeting of the TPA in Corpus Christi (Emerald Beach Holiday Inn).

"We propose that the Federal government finish the interstate system as pledged, then release to the states responsibility for collection of the special highway user taxes invoked in 1956 to establish the Highway Trust Fund."

Prior to 1956 the states collected most of the highway user tax revenues. Since then the federal government has collected specially imposed taxes on gasoline and other motor-related products to match state funds for Interstate and Primary system highway construction.

"Congress established the Highway Trust Fund with a solemn pledge that it would be used exclusively for the construction of the Interstate system and other primary highways," Simons said. "Now schemes to divert Trust Fund revenues to build rail mass transit systems in Eastern Seaboard and Midwest cities have been bounding around Washington like a basketball."

Simons explained that the Texas Highway Commission fully supports mass transit systems and pointed out that Texas has built one of the best networks of rubber-tired mass transit in the United States, which he described as most economical, most flexible and most practicable for all but about 10 cities in the U.S.

"Texans have paid for their own mass transit system with their own highway use taxes," Simons said. "We on the Commission believe riders on other mass transit systems in other states should pay for their own systems from the fare box or self-imposed general tax revenues. It is as simple as that."

Another cause for concern to the Highway Commission outlined by Simons is the Administration proposal for governmental reorganization. In this proposal is a plan to merge elements of the Department of Transportation (DOT) with the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), elements of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) in a Department of Community Affairs.

"Highways are not a community affair. They are a state concern," Simons said. "This is a ridiculous grouping of non-related government organizations. It should be recognized for exactly what it is: a move to dominate the highway program and to divert highway user tax revenues to wild-eyed welfare and other socialistic schemes."

Simons blamed withholding of distribution from the Highway Trust Fund for hampering highway construction.

"More than $5 billion a year flows to the fund," Simons said. "This is a prime attraction to bureaucrats and political opportunists who see it as the greatest potential slush fund for financing pork barrel projects in the entire history of the country."

Manipulated balances of the Highway Trust Fund have resulted in the delayed completion of the Interstate System. Originally planned for completion in 1972, the system is now only about three-fourths complete. Simons expressed doubt that the system will be completed until the 1980's.

"We are enmeshed in a bureaucratic stranglehold of red tape and directives that have stretched the time necessary to get a highway project ready for contract from 34 months to

Independence Day Events Are Slated

Friona's fourth annual Independence Day celebration will be held on Tuesday, sponsored by the Friona Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture.

At 5 p.m. on Monday, swimming and diving contests are on tap for Friona youngsters, from seven years of age on up. The event will be held at Friona's Dive-In Swimming Pool, and the public is invited to attend.

Youngsters wishing to enter the swimming and/or diving events are urged to call the pool, or register between now and Tuesday when they are at the pool. Ray DeBord, manager of the pool, will serve as director of the contests.

The main program, which features a speaker, musical entertainment and a giant fireworks display, begins at 8:30 p.m. at Chieftain Field.

Principal speaker is Earnest Langley, Hereford attorney, who will deliver a patriotic address.

Also on the program, the New Horizons Junior Study Club will present the winners of its essay contest on the subject "Why America Is Great." DeAnn Shipp, the first-place winner, will read her essay to the assembled crowd.

The fireworks display, once again under the direction of the Friona Volunteer Fire Department, will begin at dark.

Those attending the program in recent years have come away inspired by the speakers, and also praising the fireworks display. Another fine program is promised this year.

Langley, a resident of Hereford for 20 years, joined the law firm of Witherspoon, Alkin, Thomas and Langley in 1952. He has been a director of the First National Bank of Hereford since 1957, and has served as city attorney for the City of Hereford since 1954.

Having served on the board of directors of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce for four years, Langley was the organization's president two years, in 1968 and 1969. He was honored as Hereford's "Citizen of the Year" at the Chamber banquet in 1970.

Active in community and civic organizations, United Fund, Campfire, Boy Scouts, etc.,

Langley is a past president of the Lions Club.

The speaker received his BA from Texas Technological College in 1946. He received the Doctor of Jurisprudence Degree from the University of Texas School of Law in 1951. Langley served as editor-in-chief of the Texas Law Review.

A native of Sweetwater, Langley and his wife Helen have four daughters and one granddaughter.

He is a member of the Methodist Church, a Sunday School teacher, District Lay Leader and on the board of directors of the Northwest Texas Methodist Homes for Older Adults, Inc. Langley is also on the boards of the PESO Educational Service Center and the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation.

Most To Close

Most Friona businesses plan to be closed on July 4, according to a survey this week by the Friona Chamber of Commerce. Missouri Beef Packers will not kill that day, a spokesman for the company said.

Wheat Fire Leaves City Minus Power

The City of Friona experienced an electrical outage for about 20 minutes Monday afternoon due to a freak fire near Southwestern Public Service Company's substation south of Friona.

A wheat stubble fire south of the substation destroyed a power line pole and cross-arms, cross-phasing the 115-volt line and causing the substation to "kick out," leaving the cities of Friona and Bovina without electricity for a short time.

Public Service personnel quickly went to Hub, opening a switch that gave the area electricity via Hereford until the local problem was solved.

Bank Names Jane Williams To Head New Department

Robert Neelley, President of the Friona State Bank, announced today that effective July 1 the bank will open a customer's special services department.

The new department will be headed by Mrs. Jane Williams, who has been promoted to Assistant Vice-President while assuming the newly created position.

"Mrs. Williams has been in the banking business for 25 years and has a wealth of knowledge on which to draw in setting up the new department," Neelley said.

"Mrs. Williams' specialty over the years has been dealing with the public and their problems and this new department will give her additional avenues in which to be of service to the community," he added.

The special services department will offer assistance in several areas. Among these will be S.O.S. (Survivor's Optional Service) Program. This service offers assistance to persons who have experienced a death in the family.

The bank will offer its aid, free of charge, in counseling and settling various business and personal affairs. The S.O.S. service will offer assistance in matters such as insurance claims, social security benefits, civil service, veteran's benefits, retirement and low pension plans, credit life insurance and numerous other details.

Mrs. Williams will also work with new account customers in orientating them to bank services and the various means of utilizing the bank in managing their business affairs. The department will offer public service programs for service clubs, etc., concerning ways to utilize the various services offered by the community bank. In addition, Mrs. Williams will work with any group wishing to utilize the bank's social room for various activities.

In announcing the new services, Neelley states that the bank wishes to offer more benefits to both customers and non-customers in the future in order to bring the bank closer to the community and its problems.

City Declares War On Pesky Mosquitoes

The City of Friona, buoyed by a warning by Dr. Paul Spring, County Health Officer, has declared war on the mosquitoes.

"I have been real concerned by the buildup of the mosquito population, following recent rains. It could possibly cause an outbreak of encephalitis," Dr. Spring told a representative of the Friona Star this week.

Dr. Spring pointed out that there have been numerous dead birds reported in the city. The birds carry the encephalitis germ, and mosquitoes serve as the "carrier," getting it from the birds and passing it on to humans.

The city increased its regular spraying routine, spraying the city on both Monday and Tuesday, with Malthion dust. Dr. Spring said that the Malthion is considered the best spray available.

In addition to the dustings, made by a truck which goes up and down the city streets, the city planned to hire a plane to spray along Frio Draw, plus the lakes and ponds in the vicinity. Cyanide bombs, consisting of gelatin that dissolves and kills the mosquito larvae, has already been placed in lakes adjacent to the city.

Residents of the city were urged to pour out trash cans and other containers which may have collected water from recent rains, and provide excellent breeding grounds for the insects. Tall weeds also harbor mosquitoes, and should be cut by property owners, according to Dr. Spring.

FRIONANS VISIT CAPITOL. . . Mrs. Aubrey Rhodes and Mary Rando, both of Friona, and Helen Read of Pampa are pictured here with Congressman Bob Price following a tour of the White House. Mrs. Rhodes accompanied Miss Rando, who has been employed in Congressman Price's office for the summer, and Miss Read, a teacher in the Alamogordo public schools to Washington. Enroute the trio visited several places of historical interest. Miss Rando, who is a graduate of Friona High School, has been attending New Mexico State University and working for the Alamogordo Daily News. Mrs. Rhodes is a teacher in the local school system.

Precaution Sounded For July 4 Driving

THE FOURTH OF JULY weekend will bring fun, fireworks... and more than 500 highway fatalities.

Statistics coldly, but clearly tell the recurring tale of highway tragedy. Last year, 635 died in highway accidents during the July 4th weekend. The National Safety Council reports that an additional 215 people have died since who were involved in auto accidents last July 4th weekend.

THE SMART DRIVER is the one who will concentrate on the estimated 20 driving decisions which must be made each mile. To help the smart driver, here are five basic tenets of a Decision Driving program which has been taught throughout the country.

- *Expand your look-ahead capacity
- *Signal intentions early
- *Plan an escape route
- *Take decisive action

EXPANDING YOUR look-ahead capacity simply means to watch for potentially dangerous situations developing ahead on the road.

A problem developing hundreds of yards ahead could be a full-grown hazard for you in just a few seconds. The time gained by early recognition of potential problems could add a lot of time to your life.

IN SIZING UP the whole scene, a driver evaluates his total environment, as it is constantly changing. Changes in weather, visibility, traffic patterns, road conditions and such demand immediate and accurate response, especially when driving at high speeds.

If a driver is travelling along at 60 miles per hour and a light rain starts or he sees traffic congested a quarter of a mile ahead, his preparation for the situation developing will help him avoid the need to make a split-second decision.

EVEN THE BEST decision may be of no value if the driver does not communicate with other drivers. In order to safely share the road with other vehicles, a driver should clearly signal his intentions, as early as possible.

Use hand signals to warn of sudden stops or slowdowns, in addition to four-way flashers. Lightly tap your horn before passing, when entering a blind intersection or when backing into traffic.

THE DECISION DRIVER will always leave an "escape route" or way out of trouble, if the unexpected develops. One way to leave a margin of safety is to allow proper following distance, which means at least one car length for each ten miles per hour of travelling speed.

Another way to keep yourself out of trouble is to try not to get "boxed in" on both the adjoining traffic lanes.

FINALLY, the driver must be ready to take decisive action. If the driver has kept in mind the above four principles, his decision-making should be easy.

If the driver thinks about what he is doing and concentrates on his driving environment, he will have the needed knowledge to make decisions which will safely get him where he is going.

78 months," Simons said. "Congress is at long last looking at this very threatening problem. Rep. Jim Wright (Dem.-Tex.) is chairman of a House subcommittee whose members recently were appalled to learn of bureaucratic interpretation and red tape imposed on congressionally approved legislation."

Simons pointed out that Congress now is considering legislation known as the "Transportation Revenue Sharing Plan." It provides that special taxes levied on motor vehicle users would be returned to local governments.

Under the proposed legislation Texas would receive a much smaller share of federal highway user taxes, and far less than Texas vehicle owners pay into the Highway Trust Fund. In effect the Highway Department would be reduced to an agency dealing only with rural roads on drastically reduced finances while the cities' portion of the "shared" funds would be "sliced so thin that you could read a newspaper through it," Simons said.

He proposed instead that the "Federal government get out of the whole highway program and let the states resume financing, construction and maintenance of the highway system. That would be the greatest and truest possible effort at revenue sharing. And we wouldn't have to send $2 to Washington to get $1 back."

The higher we are placed, the more we should be humble.

Pause and Reflect

By Nelson Lewis

"A Book of Verses underneath the Bough, A Jug of Wine, A Loaf of Bread-and Thou Beside me singing in the Wilderness-Oh, Wilderness were Paradise enough!"

(Omar Khayyam-Rubiyat XI)

Old Omar, the tentmaker-poet-astronomer, found his twelfth century Persia to be fraught with political and economic perils. He escaped into his own private "wilderness" of thought and although today's critics are somewhat scornful of his philosophy his rubiyats (Four line verses) strike at the core of personal frustration.

Twentieth century Americans cannot hide away in rose gardens, compose poetry, and let the rest of the world go by; but we can, and should, try to escape now and then to places of beauty and repose.

One such place is the family campground of Holy Ghost Canyon, thirteen miles north of Pecos, New Mexico. Last Saturday, ye old Prairie Prowler betook himself, and everloving Spouse, into the tall timber.

A big white moon was hung on the tip of a towering spruce, like a Star on a Christmas Tree.

The steaks sizzled, the coffee bubbled, and "the cares that infest the day, folded their tents like the Arabs, and as silently stole away."

Finding oneself in a mellow mood an attempt was made to paraphrase Old Omar:--

A pickup camper underneath the tree, a pot of coffee, a T-bone steak, and Thee Beside me-fleeing this World's Cares-- A moment snatched from Time and Fears!

A feeble effort-but the idea is to remember that America is Beautiful if we will only step aside from the rat race long enough to notice it!

This business of getting outdoors for a weekend camp is more than just a "fun thing."

Whenever we are away from the creature comforts of everyday living we appreciate the trials of the pioneers.

Our love of God and Country is heightened and we stand awestruck by the immensity of our world.

We don't think of Omar then-we are too busy with the 23rd Psalm.

Sincerely Yours

By Rev. Albert Lindley

Wouldn't you know, just the time when I worked up my courage to grow a moustache and make preparations for the Maize Days beard contest-going against the ideas of most of those who are verbal enough to say so-just when I get the courage to act, they decide to start selling arm partners instead of shaving permits.

Somehow my whole life gets kinda caught up in this sort of thing...

I helped umpire a Little League ball game this week (3rd base-very important) and a few of those calls caused some to think I was a little slow there, too.

(Incidentally, the games are almost over for this summer but you can still catch some good ones yet and if you would really like to help this program, you could fulfill one of the important positions as one of the umpires...)

Why can't I be on time? Take the info about our illustrious "Ye Ed" of this paper. I didn't even know he was gone until I read the paper last week. That might account for one of the reasons I failed to get my check for this article last week... there are also other reasons.

And still on the subject of lateness, this whole summer will be over before I get ready to enjoy it, if I'm not careful. Usually I tape the morning worship service but this past Sunday I just failed to get it all hooked up in time for the service. How did I know it was going to turn out to be such a good sermon!

Well, I'm sure you get the gist of how it all goes when things just seem to loaf along-I'm even late with my article this week. (Editor's Note: This is NEW?)

We really need to keep things up to date-remember a past Chamber of Commerce Banquet speaker of a couple of years ago who referred to it as "keeping your ducks lined up?"

Yes, even our collections have been slow, too.

One young man observing that his grandmother spent a great deal of time reading the Bible, suggested that he supposed "Grandma must be cramming for her finals."

Well, that isn't the way it goes but it sure is important for us to keep our vital concerns operable and up to date-which might say something to you about your religious relationships and practice... don't be late with that...

TORNADO SAFETY RULES
WHEN A TORNADO APPROACHES, IMMEDIATE ACTION MAY SAVE YOUR LIFE!

A TORNADO WATCH means weather conditions are ripe for tornadoes to develop. Stay tuned to radio or television and listen for weather bulletins, even if the sky overhead is blue. A storm may appear suddenly. Occasionally scan the horizon for the approach of dark, threatening clouds. There may not be time for an official tornado warning.

Stay alert for the abrupt onset of violent wind, rain, hail, or a funnel-shaped cloud. Listen for a sudden increase in wind noise. When in doubt, take cover. Tornadoes are often obscured by rain or dust. Some occur at night.

A TORNADO WARNING means a tornado actually has been sighted or indicated by radar. If the twister is nearby, seek inside shelter immediately, preferably in a storm cellar, underground excavation, or steel-framed or concrete-reinforced building. STAY AWAY FROM WINDOWS!

In office buildings, go to an interior hallway on the lowest floor, or to a designated shelter area.

In factories, workers should move quickly to the section of the plant offering greatest protection, in accordance with advance plans.

In homes, the basement offers the greatest safety. Seek shelter under heavy furniture if possible. In homes without basements, take cover in the center part of the house on the lowest floor, in a small room such as a closet or bathroom, or under sturdy furniture. Keep some windows open, but stay away from them!

Mobile homes are particularly vulnerable to destructive winds. Proper tie-downs to prevent overturning will minimize damage. A warden should be appointed in mobile-home parks to scan the skies and listen to radio and television for warnings. There should be a designated community shelter where residents can assemble during a tornado warning. If there is no such shelter, do not stay in a mobile home when a tornado is approaching. Seek refuge in a sturdy building or as a last resort, in a ditch, culvert, or ravine.

In schools, wherever possible, follow advanced plans to an interior hallway on the lowest floor. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums or other structures with wide free-span roofs. If a building is not of reinforced construction, go quickly to a nearby reinforced building, or to a ravine or open ditch and lie flat.

In open country, if there is no time to find suitable shelter, lie face down in the nearest depression, such as a ditch or ravine, and protect your head with your arms.

Post Office Officially First Class July 1

Wright Williams, Friona postmaster, announced this week that the Friona office officially attains the "First Class" rating effective July 1.

The office qualified for the first class rating after the report at the end of its fiscal year last June 30, but the effective date comes a year past the qualifying date.

To obtain a first class rating, a post office must have 950 revenue units or more per year. The Friona office exceeded that figure last June 30. Total revenue for the fiscal year which ended on June 30, 1971 was $72,376.73. The total revenue for the current fiscal year stood at $80,216.73 with a full week to go, indicating an increase during the past year in excess of ten per cent.

The Friona post office had operated as a second class office since July 1, 1945, at which time the requirement was 190 revenue units, or roughly $14,000 in revenue per year. Friona has been on the verge of qualifying for the first class rating for several years, but each time the minimum re-

ADAMS, N.Y., JEFFERSON COUNTY JOURNAL: "At the same time that we have a new training program for welfare recipients--to teach them a trade, the federal government comes out with the announcement that the minimum wage will soon be raised to $2! Imagine paying a minimum of $2 per hour to get your lawn cut. This is one of those cute political maneuvers in Washington that baffles almost every businessman. At a time when the country seeks to increase the employment rate, the minimum wage is about to be raised."

FABULOUS, FRIVOLOUS FOURTH

That day of days is almost here—July the Fourth. It's that happy national holiday that's applauded alike by the makers of fireworks and calomine lotion. And dreaded by those who enjoy it too much.

It's a day known for family outings, fireworks displays, blanket tosses, blueberry whale blubber ice cream, damp deer, and St. Martin.

But perhaps July the Fourth is best known as Independence Day—a day with both the applause and the dread. Applause for another birthday of our freedom. Dread from harassed fathers driving cars full of assorted relatives, dogs, and screaming kids through bumper-to-bumper traffic. And dreaded by the bug-stung, sunburned vacationers who had too much of a good thing.

to bounce as high as they could on a kind of hand-held trampoline. And the women tugged the rope against visitors. The ladies of gay Kozebue almost always beat the outlanders at the rope tug.

But back to the ice cream. In Kozebue, the frozen delight is really made with blueberries and whale blubber. The fat and berries are hand-mixed with canned milk, sugar and snow. Was this the first "flavor of the month" for July?

TEXAS FOURTH

But Alaska cannot surpass the celebrations of Texas. The Lone Star State has its own unique ways of marking the Fourth of July. Here the day sees quarter-horse races and shows in Stamford and Columbus.

And rodeos in Belton and Pecos. And old-fashioned festivals in Brady, Taylor, and at Round Top and Winedale. There's a fishing festival in Brazosport. Golf tournaments tee-off statewide. And good old-fashioned fireworks explode in Carrollton and many other Texas home towns.

No matter how the Fourth is celebrated in Texas, it is always marked with friendliness and good cheer. Go somewhere and celebrate this Fourth of July. And as you go, remember to spread friendliness on the highways, too. The Governor's Committee on Traffic Safety urges all Texans, native and transplant, and all visitors, to DRIVE FRIENDLY during this happy, frivolous holiday.

Remember that DRIVE FRIENDLY means keeping your speed in check, observing all traffic laws, and—most important of all—letting someone else drive if you have had a drink.

The "Spirit of '76" is the July Fourth spirit that we commemorate. The "Spirit of '72" is the friendly spirit behind the wheel that will also live on forever.

FIRECRACKERS AND FESTIVITIES

Fireworks became a popular way to express July Fourth enthusiasm soon after our country started making history. The bang-up idea was probably borrowed from the Chinese custom of setting off firecrackers on New Year's Eve to drive away evil spirits. And also to ward off evils, America adopted the custom called the "parade of the horribles." An early morning parade through the streets by persons dressed in wild costumes and making as much noise as possible supposedly drew in the good and frightened off the bad.

Community celebrations of a wide variety have long been Fourth of July favorites. One of the first was the Greeley, Colorado, "Spud Rodeo."

And in Kozebue, Alaska, the blueberry whale blubber ice cream came about. The citizens of Kozebue marked the Fourth with the blanket toss, too. Participants tried

QUITE A CATCH... The sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Love of Pampa are shown with a mess of catfish the Loves caught last week on a fishing trip to Oklahoma. There were nine catfish, weighing a total of 50 pounds. The largest weighed eight and one-half pounds, and the smallest was four pounds. The boys are Jackie, Jerry, Johnny and Jeremy. They are the grandsons of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Love of Friona.

Hi-Plains Feed Yard: Industry's Young Giant

Exactly five years ago last month, ground was broken at Hi-Plains Feed Yard northwest of Friona. Since that time, over a half million cattle have been fattened by the feeding installation, which has become a young giant in the cattle industry.

A group of Friona area men, who had studied the feeding industry carefully, banded together to form Hi-Plains Feed Yard, Inc., and another chapter in the area's feeding industry was begun.

This was 1967, an eventful year for the feeding industry in the Friona area. The announcement by the group which would build Hi-Plains came two weeks ahead of the decision by Missouri Beef Packers to build its Friona plant. Also that summer, work was begun on Hi-Pro Feeds, by a separate company, but also a big addition to the area's feeding picture.

Clarence Martin is president of the corporation which was formed at Hi-Plains Feed Yard, Inc. Other stockholders include W.S. Ingram, Joe Osborn, Sloan Osborn, Lawrence Martin, Wesley Barnett, Charles Osborn, Ralph Shelton and J.G. McFarland.

One of the most modern mills to be found anywhere was constructed, along with a unique two-story office building.

On October 7, 1967, Hi-Plains began receiving cattle. The feedlot began operation with pen space for 25,000 cattle. It was the stockholders' plan to first fill the 25,000 pen space, and later, perhaps in a year or two, increase the capacity to 40,000.

However, the original pens were filled in a matter of months, and a crew began constructing additional pens. These pens were filled practically as they were built, and in less than a year's time--by the summer of 1968, Hi-Plains Feed Yard had reached a "cattle population" of 50,000--making it the largest feedlot in the state at the time.

Officials point out that there is actually pen space for approximately 58,000 head of cattle at the mammoth installation, but due to the fact that it is virtually impossible to accomplish total capacity due to space commitments, etc., the lot's capacity is officially listed as 50,000. A peak of 55,000 head has been reached on two occasions.

Manager Earl Elam is a veteran of 20 years in the feeding industry. He was born and raised at St. Joseph's, Mo., and grew up on a farm where cattle were fed.

Elam moved to Denver in 1950, where he was connected with commercial feed yards for 17 years. He came to Friona to help oversee construction, and has been with the yard ever since it opened.

In addition to the thousands of dollars represented by the cattle in the feedyard, Hi-Plains has been a tremendous economic shot in the arm for the Friona area.

The installation employs 42 people full-time, providing an annual payroll in excess of $360,000. The majority of the employees live in Friona, adding their strength to the city's church, and civic endeavors, as well as from the material standpoint.

Besides the permanent employees, Hi-Plains usually has about five summer employees. These are normally young people, or those needing summer employment. "I'm a firm believer in helping our young people by giving them jobs. I think every business that is able should provide a summer job for those kids who want to work," says Elam, who added that the feedlot work is good work experience for the youngsters, in addition to helping them realize that dollars are to be earned.

The addition of Hi-Plains Feed Yard also has been a big boost to the farm economy of the Friona area. Since the giant feeding establishment was added to the local scene, maize prices in the local area have been better than ever before. This is especially noteworthy in that maize has been for years the Friona area's number one cash crop, with Parmer County producing more maize than any other county in the state and nation.

The feed yards have also created a demand locally for corn, and has allowed the area farmers to further diversify. Hi-Plains alone contracted for around 63,000 tons of ensilage for the 1972 season. This means that there are approximately 2,500 acres of corn in cultivation in the local area that was not being grown prior to the completion of the feed yard.

Hi-Plains Feed Yard feeds an average of 850,000 pounds of maize alone each day. This gives you an idea of what a giant volume of materials go into keeping 50,000 cattle fed.

Officials of the feedlot point out, however that while Hi-Plains is large enough to affect all of the advantages and economies inherent to large-scale feeding, at the same time they are not too big to pay attention to individual feeders and their cattle.

Assistant manager is Bill Bailey, who also has been with the company since its planning stage. Bailey heads the company's computerized accounting system.

The yard's consulting veterinarian is Dr. John D. Shuman. Cecil Sisk is the resident "doctor." Feed ration formulation is handled by Mark Hoelschel, an independent consulting nutritionist.

Beef's A Bargain, Farm Leader States

Texas Farm Bureau President J.T. (Red) Woodson said that the American consumer needs to understand that beef prices are not high in relation to other consumer items.

"As a matter of fact, the remarkable efficiency of the American cattlemen has helped hold down the price of beef to the consumer," Woodson said.

He pointed out that farmers and ranchers have increased beef production by 2-1/2 times in the past 20 years--this at a time when the population was increasing by about a third.

"Normally, this situation would have depressed beef prices, except for the extraordinary demand for beef--particularly good American beef," the farm leader said. "In the past two decades, beef consumption per capita in this country has doubled."

Woodson, who raises purebred Hereford cattle on his livestock, grain and cotton farm in Fannin County, said there are several factors for this increase in per capita consumption.

He said major factors are:

- (1) The rising standard of living of the American family.
- (2) Substantial increases in the Food Stamp Program.
- (3) Widespread boosts in welfare payments.

Woodson pointed out that beef prices to the producer are up to about the same level of the early 1950s. The difference in price at the retail level is a result of the inflation of the past 20 years, he said.

The farm leader said that only a fair price will keep an adequate supply of beef coming to the meat counters in the stores.

Keep Your Cool But Your Meal Hot

No need to worry about spoiled dinners if company is delayed or your husband is late from work. Complete oven meals can be cooked and then held at serving temperature for as long as three hours, thanks to new Cook & Hold timer on Philco-Ford electric ranges. "Cook & Hold" should be used on foods that normally require at least one hour cooking time before the "Hold" period.

Shown is complete oven meal of Swiss steak, Yale beets, surprise potatoes and open peach pie prepared by the company's home economists. Kept at serving temperature by Cook & Hold automatic timer, the meal is ready to tempt late-arriving guests.

MBP Secures Loan To Aid Expansion

Dave La Fleur, president of Missouri Beef Packers, Inc. announced the signing of a $12,000,000, twenty-year loan with John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company.

The loan is secured by property plant and equipment. Proceeds of the loan were used to pay off an existing $8,000,000 five-year term loan with Chase Manhattan and a group of banks and to reduce short term borrowings.

The loan will also provide funds for the Company's new beef slaughtering and processing facility near Boise, Idaho. La Fleur stated that the new loan will provide a sound basis for future growth and that by increasing the debt to equity ratio, the company will increase its earnings potential through effective leverage.

WHO KNOWS? Conservationist Urges Water Safety Rules

1. How many years did the late J. Edgar Hoover serve as director of the FBI?
2. Under how many Presidents did he serve?
3. Who said, "A loving heart is the beginning of all knowledge"?
4. What religion is symbolized by the crescent and star?
5. Which states were included in the "Oregon Territory"?

Answers to Who Knows

1. Forty-eight years.
2. Eight.
3. Thomas Carlyle.
4. Mohammedism.
5. Oregon, Washington, Idaho and parts of Montana and Wyoming.

July Fourth is here and hot weather has arrived. According to Herb Evans, District Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, Friona, this means that water safety should be on our minds.

Any place that has swimming and/or boating should have a safety station. This station can be simple. . . a post in the ground with about 40 feet of small rope fastened to an inner tube or plastic gallon bottle, and a long branch or pole. A sign promoting safety should be placed advantageously.

Each person should know what to do with the equipment. Some basic rules to know when around water are:

Learn to swim.
NEVER SWIM ALONE.
Never dive into strange waters.
Swim only in supervised areas.

Hang onto your boat if it swamps or capsizes.
Everyone should wear life jackets in boats.

The application of these rules: along with knowing how to rescue someone; and knowing how to give artificial respiration, can mean the difference in life and death.

For a safety poster that should be at all water locations, contact the Soil Conservation Service, Friona.

Forfeit Rule Hurts Feed Yard's Bid

The forfeit rule struck Friona Feed Yards down twice in a week's time, and hurt their bid to catch Friona State Bank in the Major League championship race.

AMERICA'S WEED PROBLEM IS "SOMETHING TO SNEEZE AT"

If you think farmers and hay fever victims are the only ones who suffer from weed problems, you're likely just smelling the blossoms and haven't yet discovered the thorns.

That's the message of a new educational slide film just released by the Weed Science Society of America. Titled "The Wicked World of Weeds", the film is aimed at informing farm and urban audiences alike that they both share the cost and discomfort of weeds—whether they see them or not.

According to the film, weed losses to agriculture alone are estimated at 3.7 billion dollars each year, a cost which follows food right to your table.

It takes millions of tax dollars to control weeds along streets and highways, in lakes and streams, in parks and other public lands. Industry spends additional millions to control unwanted vegetation around factories and stores, airports and railroad tracks, pipelines and highlines. It's another expense of doing business, and another cost the consumer must bear when he buys any product or service.

Many people are affected more directly. The film states that 13 million people in the United States suffer from hay fever and asthma, much of it complicated by weeds. This leads to nearly 100 million days of restricted activity and about 40 million bed-disability days every year. This is lost production that, again, the ultimate consumer must absorb.

While some of the facts presented in the film are more painful than a good case of poison ivy, the cartoon treatment used is light and entertaining.

The film was produced by the Weed Science Society of America in cooperation with the Vocational Agriculture Service of the University of Illinois. Copies of the slide series are available for $8.00 to schools, garden clubs or any other interested group or individual. Simply write to: University of Illinois' Vo-Ag Service, 434 Mumford Hall, Urbana, IL 61801 and request "The Wicked World of Weeds".

JUNE WHAT A MONTH

Through the years, June has been regarded as the month of wedding bells. It is that, but much more. It has also had its share of minor and major historical moments.

All those who celebrate birthdays this month might also like to know of other noteworthy events which have taken place in past June throughout history. For example, on June 3, 1937, the headline news of the day was the marriage of the Duke of Windsor to Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson of Baltimore, the woman for whom he renounced the throne of England.

Other notations from the month's past include: D-Day, June 6, 1944, the greatest invasion the world has ever seen; June 15, 1752, Benjamin Franklin demonstrated the relationship between electricity and lightning by flying a kite during a rain storm; June 2, 1883, the first night baseball game was played in Fort Wayne, Ind.; June 25 commemorates "Custer's Last Stand" in 1876 at the Battle of the Little Big Horn River, Montana; and, on June 24, 1947, the first "flying saucers" were reported by Kenneth Arnold who observed nine "shining saucerlike objects" flying in formation over Mount Rainier, Washington.

Relatives or friends with June birthdays might also enjoy being remembered with lovely flowers, such as the "Forget-Me-Not" bouquet from any local FTD florist. And, at the same time, why not remind them of some other people who share their birth month? A few whom they're sure to know of include: Rosalind Russell, June 4; Dean Martin, June 7; Prince Philip of England, June 10; Burl Ives, June 14; the Duchess of Windsor, June 19; the Duke of Windsor, June 23; and Lena Horne, June 30.

BANNER

Our national anthem was written by Francis Scott Key in 1814. He had witnessed the bombardment of Fort McHenry throughout the night with anxiety and when he saw the American flag still flying over the fortress in the dawn, he expressed his feelings in stirring words that will live in American history.

"...O'er the land of the free
and the home of the brave!"

Since the days of our struggle for freedom, "Old Glory" has been a symbol to Americans—a symbol of unity and independence. Let's keep the principles upon which this nation was founded before us all . . . by flying our flag proudly on the Fourth.

MRS. MICHAEL JESTER

Local Singer Is Presented

Harold B. Taylor, 901 Friona Street, was presented in recital at the home of Mrs. Dolson Palmer, voice instructor, Hereford, Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Dale Cary, Friona, accompanied at the piano. First on the program was a religious song, "Hold Thou My Hand," by C.S. Briggs. This hymn was followed by two Italian arias, "Caro Mio Ben" (Giordani) and "Vittorio, Mio Core," by Garissini. Taylor, bass-baritone, is music director of Calvary Baptist Church here. German songs on the program were by Brahms, Schumann and Schubert. The final group of selections included "The Impossible Dream," from the production, "Man of La Mancha," and "Some Enchanted Evening," from Rogers and Hammerstein's South Pacific. Taylor, who is a graduate of Friona High School and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Taylor, Dimmitt, also does evangelistic singing for revivals in other cities. Last month he directed singing at Seymour with the Rev. Johnny Burrell, former pastor of First Baptist Church, Dallas, doing the preaching.

Seven Frionans Make Scout Trip

Seven Frionans left Friona at 8 a.m. Friday for a long weekend in the mountains of Northern New Mexico. They were members and leaders of Girl Scout Troop 244. The group spent Saturday and Sunday at the Cummings Cabin near Tres Ritos, New Mexico.

Troop activities included rest stops at Lake Conchas on the way to Tres Ritos and on the return trip: a picnic lunch at Storrie Lake as they were going and lunch in Las Vegas Park on the way home.

Highlights of their stay were hikes and outdoor cooking. About noon Saturday beans and meat were placed in a hole, which had been lined with rock and hot coals and covered with coals and dirt.

After a hike up La Junta Canyon, which took all afternoon, the group returned for a hot supper. Church activities were conducted in a meadow Sunday morning. Then each girl present expressed her idea on better understanding between individuals.

The group returned to Friona Sunday evening. Those making the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Glyn Hamilton and Mrs. Bob Riethmayer, leaders and sponsors, and the following Girl Scouts, Hope Mays, Patt Crump, Dianne Hamilton and Carol Bayousett.

Included in the activities were Mrs. Doyle Cummings and Lisa, who went to Tres Ritos earlier last week.

Mr. and Mrs. T.J. Leathers and Robin of Dumas were weekend guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Beck, Vicki and Cris.

During the brief business session, which was presided over by Mrs. Houlette, roll call was answered with plans for the summer and minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Ferguson.

An engraved plaque was presented to Mrs. Houlette in appreciation of her year's work and she in turn presented each club member with miniature mice, which were made of sea shells.

During the social hour refreshments of strawberry short cake, tea and coffee were served by Mrs. Houlette.

The Library Corner

BY MRS. VON EDELMON

The recent drive for book donations have brought in 1043 books. The response to the needs of the library has been marvelous. However, we are far from our goal. So won't you help out by donating a few books to the library.

Since October 1, the library has purchased 328 books. The number of new books on our shelves is limited only by the amount of money the library has to spend. The service organizations in Friona have been good financial support for the library but individual support is needed also. This can be done in the form of just a donation or a donation to purchase a particular book in honor of in memory of someone.

Two new junior fiction books by Wilder are ready for the young reader—"On The Banks Of Plum Creek," and "These Happy Golden Years."

A historical novel now on our shelves for the adult reader is "The Donner Party." "Hound of Baskervilles" is a classic you may not have read yet.

The Rays of the Dawn study group met Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 in the choir room of Friona High School.

Mrs. Daisy Jameson served as moderator for a study of two laws of the body: the law of recuperation and the law of sanitation, both from the Rays of the Dawn.

The next meeting will be held on July 6, in Room 6 of Friona High School at 8 p.m. The law of envy and its opposite, the law of non-interference, will be the subject of study.

Another meeting will be held July 11, at 1:30 in the choir room of Friona High School.

"To gain practical knowledge that you will be able to apply in your everyday life... come and study!" says Mrs. Jerry Wikle.

The Muleshoe office will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday each week for renewals and driving tests will be given on Mondays and Tuesdays.

For the "horse set" we have "Quarterhorses" and for the "do-it-yourselfer" "Car Owners Handbook" is available.

Garner-Jester Vows Announced

The recent marriage of Donna Garner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Garner, and Michael Layne Jester of Levelland, has been made by her parents.

Rev. Charles Broadhurst, pastor of First Baptist Church, read the double ring vows.

Mrs. Jester, a 1971 graduate of Friona High School, attended South Plains Junior College last school term. Her husband, also a former student of South Plains Junior College, is a 1970 graduate of Levelland High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Jester are at home at Bovina.

Lives, Like Broken Vases Can Be Mended Through Love

Read Mark 2:1-12

Some people came, bringing him (Jesus) a paralyzed man--four of them were carrying him. (Mark 2:3, TEV)

While I was teaching Vacation Bible School last year, one of the girls dropped and smashed a small incense vase used in our church plays. Three junior boys said they would try to glue the pieces back together--something I thought impossible. Next morning I saw the glued vase was restored to its original shape, whole and still lovely.

The vision of another broken ceramic came back to me. Long ago, I had a most beautiful, graceful, white ceramic swan. One day my little boy accidentally broke it into a dozen pieces, and we threw them away. The boys had shown me that my swan could have been fixed, had I only tried.

Now I wonder about other broken things. What about our shattered dreams? Have we given them up too soon? How many broken hearts could be restored, how many lives are really beyond usefulness if only someone tried a little harder to help them? Is there not some broken life Jesus can touch if we would be instruments in bringing the person to Him?

PRAYER: Lord, help me to develop the patient ingenuity to repair the things I can repair. Grant me the good sense to know that You alone can mend the broken spirit, transform the sinful heart. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: Christ mends broken lives.
