

"AS I SEE IT"

Jack McCarty

Winter is still clutching the Plains area in his cold. Residents in these parts Tuesday morning to find a covered with sleet and a frigid "Norther" kept down in the low 30's the day. The cold waves at least one good that it will help to hold trees back so that orchards have an opportunity to good crop this summer. The varieties have already out, there are others that started long enough to estardinal blasts of winter... And, too, the which falling these days is anything and is coming soaking into the earth or no run-off.

Calculations go this week to Director Roy Flournoy high school stage band on first place in the Class A of the Texas Stage Band held in Brownwood the end. This makes the second year that this fine on has brought home top of this state-wide contest. Let them know that we are a real credit to our community. Members of the group are: Sidney McCarty, alto saxophone; Mickey second tenor saxophone; third alto saxophone; fourth tenor saxophone; Robert Eubank, fifth baritone; Bill Spencer, first Norman Vaughn, second Kenneth Hanke, third Paul Whittton Jr., third Danny McCarty, first Claude Champion, second Cecil White, third Mary Scott, piano; Basil, drums; Jim Lewis, Ann Koenig and Carole. We're proud of you, gals!

the biggest undertakings in the history of the city is the flood control project planned and studied on Turkey Creek in and we urge readers to take an angle of this project as they see. This, in the opinion of the writer, has unlimited possibilities for making our community and more prosperous place in the future. Be sure and read this proposed plan appearing in this edition of the Review.

view management received in the arm Wednesday of this week when "T. R." former resident of this city, who lives in Plains, long distance to report to get last week's copy review. He certainly inflated with all the nice things to say about the "Ol' Home" and you rest assured will spare no effort in seeing he gets every issue. He that they had five inches on the ground there and out conditions here. T. R., we appreciate like you.

ers and delegates to the annual Texas District Conference of the Evangelical Methodist meeting here the past week loud in their praise of Plains and its citizens, and we two of several nice letters from church officials: the presiding officer of the Texas District Conference Evangelical Methodist I wish to express to the Christian people of Cross Plains sincere thanks and appreciation to the members of that church.

Buff Stage Band Wins First Place In Texas Stage Band Festival

The Cross Plains High School Buffalo Stage Band, under the direction of Roy Flournoy, won first place in the Class A division of the seventh annual Stage Band Festival, held at Brownwood High School, Friday and Saturday of last week.

A total of 10 bands competed in the Class A division with the Buff organization carrying off top honors for the second consecutive year. Alpine High School Band won second place in the division and the Class A showmanship award went to the Bangs Stage Band.

In 2A competition, the Atlanta band won first, with Sinton taking second place. Kaufman was awarded the showmanship trophy.

Competition between Class 3A and 4A bands was conducted Saturday. Forty-two bands competed in the two-day festival, according to an announcement made by Leonard Kling, chairman of the event.

Junior Class to Present Comedy Play, Mar. 25

The Junior Class in Cross Plains High School will present the play, "Who Dunit?" a combination comedy and murder mystery, in the school auditorium Tuesday evening, March 25.

The following member of the class will take part in the play: Alexander Arlington, a mystery story writer, Norman Vaughn; Michael, the Archangel, Perry Lee Jennings; Muriel, an angel, Mary Koenig; Isabelle, an angel, Barbara Merrill; Annie, the housekeeper, Margaret Gill; Miss Jenkins, Alexander's secretary, Ann Koenig; Vivian Odell, Alexander's fiancée, Sidney McClure; George Brewster, a friend of Vivian's, Jim Fleming; Flo Baker, a gangster's moll, Jo Holland; Harry, the gardener and butler, Billy Hargrove, and Andrew, Alexander's nephew, Kenneth Hanke.

Mrs. E. L. Morgan, director of the play, has announced that further details of the play will appear in The Review next week.

FLOOD WATER being detained is released through open principle spillway. Release is based upon capacity of stream channel below without flooding. Prolonged stream flow and down stream protection is the objective of flood water retarding dams.

PROPOSED FLOOD CONTROL PROJECT IS BEING SURVEYED; NEEDS ARE DISCUSSED

Max Watson Is Named 'Cadet of Week' at TSC

Max Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Watson of Route 2, Cross Plains, has been named Cadet of the Week at Tarleton State College.

The following article appeared in the J-TAC, student newspaper, about Max:

The military department has announced that a 1956 Burkett High School graduate, Cadet Capt. Max Watson, has been named Cadet of the week.

Watson, an industrial arts student, is interested in drafting. He is hoping to become a draftsman in the petroleum industry after he is graduated.

In high school he was an FFA officer for two years, a class officer for his last two years, and a three year basketball letterman.

His home is on a ranch between Cross Plains and Burkett. With this background he was a member of a livestock and a dairy judging team that participated in the state FFA contests for two years.

Quarter horses and amateur rodeoing constitute his hobbies. Cadet Captain Watson, who is the proud owner of two quarter horses, has entered bull riding events at amateur rodeos in Rising Star, Coleman, and TSC. He won his event last fall in the Tarleton rodeo.

"I came to Tarleton because I had heard it had a good teaching staff. I wanted to get into the ROTC; and I wanted to go to a junior college.

The commander of F Company thinks that the Corps has developed since last year. Company F was awarded the BEST COMPANY banner at the ROTC field day last year. "We're going to do our very best to keep it," Watson said.

Engineers and other flood control experts of the Soil Conservation Service area office in Brownwood are now surveying and making plans for the proposed flood control project on Turkey Creek from the headwaters to the Pecan Bayou, when weather permits.

The steering committee, composed of Arlie Breeding, Charlie Coats, W. A. Gill, Edwin Baum, C. M. Garrett and Jack McCarty, met with Paul Kenner, chief of the SCD planning party now working on the project, and discussed the needs and requirements of a program of this type. Also present at the meeting and taking part in the discussion were Jim Voss and E. J. Hughes of the Brownwood SCD office, and D. C. Cox and Coleman Walton of the Baird SCD Work Unit.

Up-stream flood prevention dams are tied in with a Soil Conservation land treatment program for assurance of satisfactory performance. Retardation of flood water behind dams is the spectacular part of the program, whereas the treatment of land above each structure with a sound soil, water and plant conservation program provides the greatest benefits for each dollar cost, according to C. M. Garrett, secretary of the Central Colorado Soil Conservation District board of Supervisors. Complete watershed planning involves local farmers, ranchers and civic spirited citizens, because local people, through local sponsoring organizations, must do much to get ready for building flood detention dams Garrett further states.

Preparing a watershed for participation in the Department of Agriculture's Flood Prevention Program pin points the necessity for local interest and leadership. Local people must want the program and must take positive action for participation, district supervisors tell us. Soil Conservation Districts represent local people through which the Soil Conservation Service works in planning and constructing flood prevention measures needed in watershed treatment.

Local people, through their local sponsoring organization a Soil Conservation or other type of district, must provide necessary construction and impounding easements and rights-of-way for all dams, spillways and stream channel work of improvement. The local sponsoring organization, to which easements are given, must develop and agree to carry out a plan for operation and maintenance before federal funds are made available for building flood prevention measures. At least 50 per cent of the drainage area above each dam should have a basic Soil Conservation plan with the SCD and a goodly amount of all needed measures must be currently on the land for assurance of satisfactory functioning of structures.

Rain, Sleet and Snow CITY AND SCHOOL ELECTIONS SET FOR APRIL; Fall Here Wednesday 3 FILE FOR COUNCIL PLACES ON CITY BALLOT

Gentle rain, sleet and snow continued to fall in the Cross Plains territory. Residents arose Wednesday morning to find the countryside covered with a coating of sleet and snow and a frigid north wind continued to blow throughout the day, keeping the temperature in the low 30's.

Farmers and ranchers report that the ground is the wettest they have seen it in this area in about 20 years, and prospects are bright for a fine grain crop, plenty of stock water and a supply of deep moisture for next summer's row crops. Another bit of good news connected with the fine moisture is the fact that the underground water table is rising in this area.

Rainfall for Year. According to rainfall records kept here by S. F. "Fos" Bond for the U. S. Weather Bureau, Cross Plains has received a total of 495 inches of moisture this year, with the following amounts being recorded: January 1.35, February 2.01, March 1 38, March 6 46, March 7 25, March 8 20, March 12 30. Total 4.95

Deposits Show Gain In Citizens State Bank

In the statement of financial condition of the Citizens State Bank of Cross Plains, published in this edition of The Review, deposits show a gain over the statement of Dec. 3, 1957, of $6,226.75. Current deposits total $2,094,260.01, as compared with $2,088,033.26 for the last quarterly report. A gain of $78,936.75 is recorded over the report made on the same date in 1957, when deposits totaled $2,015,286.26.

According to the current report, loans are up $28,132.84 over the last quarterly report, and are ahead of the same period last year by $60,608.17. Current loans total $533,195.80, as compared with $505,063.66 last quarter and $472,587.63 in March, 1957.

Farm Bureau Staging Big Membership Drive Here

The Callahan County Farm Bureau has been carrying on an extensive spring membership drive for the past 15 days and, according to reports, are making excellent progress.

The drive was opened Feb. 17, with a kick-off supper at the Rowden Community, when about 100 members and visitors were present. The group chose five membership captains and each captain chose his team, and every member who secures as many as five new members will be awarded a prize at the conclusion of the drive, it was stated. Deadline for the current drive has been set for Saturday night, March 17, when the losing teams will be hosts to the winners at supper.

Anyone who has not been contacted and who would like to join hands with their neighbors in the largest farm organization in the world is asked to contact one of the bureau's members, it was stated.

George Barnard Asks Election To Office of County Treasurer

George M. Barnard, well-known Cross Plains resident, has, this week, announced his candidacy for the office of County Treasurer, subject to action of the July Democratic Primary.

In making his announcement, he issued the following statement: "I hereby authorize The Cross Plains Review to announce my candidacy for election to the office of County Treasurer of Callahan County, subject to action of the Democratic Primaries.

"My decision to seek this important county office came after much thought and counsel with friends in Callahan County, and I sincerely feel that I am fully qualified to handle the duties of the office, if you choose to elect me.

"For the benefit of those citizens of the county who do not know me, I give the following sketch of my life: "I moved to Callahan County in 1915, settling in Cottonwood and am 64 years of age. I was raised in the State Orphans Home in Corsicana and attended business college in Waco and have spent the major part of my life in the retail and wholesale grocery business, which has given me a great deal of business experience.

"I married the former Ina Gattis in Cottonwood in 1915, and we have 10 living children and are also rearing one grandson. One son, Charles, was recently killed in a plane crash at sea, while serving as a jet pilot with the U. S. Navy.

"My family and myself are all members of the Church of Christ and our youngest daughter is a junior at Abilene Christian College.

"I will make every effort to see every citizen of the county before election time and I am looking forward to meeting and making many new friends, as well as renewing old acquaintances. In the meantime I earnestly solicit your vote and influence.

"Sincerely, "GEORGE M. BARNARD"

Funeral for Brother of Faculty Member Pending

Funeral services are pending for A. T. Shults of Rising Star, brother of Mrs. Charley Bellew, local first grade teacher, as The Review goes to press Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Shults died suddenly of a heart attack in a Waco hospital Wednesday morning.

Arrangements will be announced by Higginbotham Bros. Funeral Home in Rising Star.

Mrs. Albert Givens and son of Odessa and Mrs. Charles Kunkel and daughters of Arlington visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hall last week returning home Saturday afternoon.

Voters in the city and school district will ballot in April for a mayor and two trustees. The city ballot will provide the only choice for local voters. Mayor W. D. Smith is unopposed in his bid for re-election, but voters will have a choice between three candidates for the two vacancies on the City Council.

The city ballot will carry the names of Donald Baird, Otis Purvis and L. F. Foster, in that order. Baird and Foster are incumbents in the council race.

In the school trustee election voters will ballot for two places on the board, with Chester Glover and Ben Alwood, incumbents, being the only names on the ballot. In the county school board election, T. T. Nichols of this city unopposed in his bid for re-election, from Precinct No. 4.

State election laws require candidates to file for city and school offices 30 days prior to the election.

The city election will be held in the City Hall here Tuesday, April 1, with the polls opening at 8 a. m. and closing at 7 p. m. Mrs. Mary Wagner will serve as election judge.

School district voters will ballot Saturday, April 5, at the City Hall here. Polls will again open at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m., and Jack McCarty will serve as election judge.

S. R. Cochran, 76, Dies Of Heart Attack; Rites Held Here Monday

S. R. Cochran, 76, of Cross Plains died enroute to Ballinger Clinic-Hospital Saturday night, March 8, after suffering a heart attack at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Allbright in Ballinger.

Mr. Cochran had gone to Ballinger Saturday afternoon for a visit.

Born in Jasper County, Texas, Jan. 1, 1882, he had lived in Cross Plains for 34 years, having moved here from Brady. He was a retired farmer.

Funeral rites were conducted in Cross Plains Monday at 3:00 p. m. from the Higginbotham Bros. Funeral Chapel with Rev. H. P. Shaw, pastor of the Old Time Gospel Mission here, officiating. Burial was in the Cross Plains Cemetery under the direction of Higginbotham Bros. Funeral Home.

tural measures. It is after these conditions are met that the watershed is considered ready for available federal funds to be budgeted for construction of flood prevention measures.

The criteria for watershed readiness has not changed materially since the beginning of the authorized watershed program in 1951, but Soil Conservation Districts have recently found need for an assured annual income for carrying out their responsibility of operation and maintenance according to Central Colorado Soil Conservation District Supervisors. Up to this date, SCD's have assumed legal responsibility for doing the job of operation and maintenance but have had no assured annual income with which to do the job. Outside the authorized Middle Colorado and Trinity of Texas, the program is under a recently enacted law passed by the 83rd Congress, known as The National Watershed Act or Public Law 566.

One of the first steps required of local people for participation under Public Law 566 is to show financial ability to carry out normal operation and maintenance responsibilities required of local sponsoring organizations. In-as-much-as SCD's do not have taxing power or other sources of assured annual income, most watershed people are beginning to think about ways and means of creating special interest districts that have power to levy sufficient taxes for maintenance work.

Maintenance of flood prevention dams is considered by many to be negligible in terms of cash requirements but must be done in the interest of public welfare Garrett states. Based upon recent exper-

YWA Holds Meeting

The Winona Treadwell Young Woman's Auxiliary met Tuesday afternoon at the First Baptist Church with Anita Baugh presiding during the business meeting.

Vondean Walters, program chairman, gave the devotional and introduced the program "Open Door of Faith," taken from the YWA Window. Mission needs in Cuba, Alaska and Panama, were discussed. Names of the missionaries in the prayer calendar were read and sentence prayers were offered.

The meeting was closed with singing "Faith of Our Fathers."

Taking part on the program were Vondean Walters, Anita Baugh, Mrs. Lindsey Tyson and Janie Schaffner.

The YWA will hold its next meeting Monday afternoon, March 17, at 3:45 at the church.

ence in operation and maintenance of the approximate 50 detention dams in the Middle Colorado, SCD's are thinking in terms of need for being able to raise about $200 per year for each detention dam if needed. Local participation in maintenance jobs by land owners giving easements for the dams will in many cases keep cash requirements at a bare minimum. Most Soil Conservation District supervisors will tell you they believe prevent landowners will in most cases protect the dams from being damaged from grazing or other general lack of care, but as time passes on and present operators are replaced by following generations, maintenance could become too big a job for any organization to carry out without assured financial ability, Garrett states.

TIL One-Act Play Cast Named Monday Night

AUSTIN, Tex.—State's fiscal cupboard is bare at the moment. By the end of the month it'll probably be about $20,000,000 short, says State Treasurer Jesse James.

Texas' treasury has been running in the red during spring months for several years. Situation corrects itself sometime after April when sizable state tax payments come in. For more than a decade the state has come out solidly in the black by the end of each fiscal period.

This year Treasurer James predicts revenue will wipe out the deficit by May or June.

But there's a difference this year. Lagging oil revenues have choked off a sizable chunk of expected tax income. Comptroller Robert S. Calvert, the state's official income estimator, sees another—and worse—deficit by next fall. By the end of the present budget period in August, 1959, he estimates the state will have spent $32,000,000 "on the cuff."

This estimate holds even if oil production picks up within the next few months.

Meanwhile, state banks are still cashing the state's warrants and holding them until the state gets money in to pay them.

A PENNY SAVED—With an eye on the state's depleted coffers, the Legislative Budget Board is asking state departments to look for ways to pare expenses.

Board's letter calls on department heads to "review . . . each activity in your organization to determine if there is anything that can be eliminated without detriment to the citizens of Texas."

DEFENSE NEED CITED — It won't be just Texas that will suffer if oil importing continues, says Railroad Commission Chairman Olin Culberson.

In an Austin speech to members of Texas Service Stations Association, Culberson took the usual swat at imports for draining some $1,000,000 a day from Texas economy.

But above this, he said, is the danger to national security if the domestic oil industry is strangled and the country becomes dependent on oil fields "half a world away."

"It's suicidal," said Culberson. He doesn't see prospect of cheaper gasoline from imports, said the Railroad Commissioner. Europeans, who get their oil from the Middle East, pay from 80 cents to $1.10 per gallon, he said.

NO TREND YET—Texas Employment Commission's latest report showed a slight drop in number of jobless—from 79,604 to 79,079.

But the change was not enough to indicate a "turning point," the hoped-for spring upswing in job activities.

TEC's figures include only those unemployed persons covered by unemployment insurance.

DIFFERENCE IN VIEW—Texas Supreme Court is considering the arguments of rival groups of optimists who don't see eye to eye on advertising.

One group, associated with Texas State Optical, contends a law passed by the last Legislature prohibits eye glass advertisements mentioning price. Opponents from Lee Optical declare the section of the law limiting advertising is unconstitutional because it wasn't mentioned in the caption of the bill.

Suits is part of a long history of legal maneuvering between competing optometry firms.

LOAN STUDY SET—Small loan study group of the Legislative Council will hold a series of fact-finding hearings over the state. First will be April 4 in Houston.

Numerous organizations and officials have, for some years, called for an overhaul of loan laws, charging that small borrowers have been exploited. State Junior Bar of Texas set the "loan shark problem" as its principle target at its recent meeting in Austin.

Sen. Abraham Kazen, chairman of the study committee, said any interested person with information or recommendations is invited to appear before the committee.

ANNUAL SESSIONS URGED — House Speaker Waggoner Carr of Lubbock wants Texas voters to approve a proposed constitutional amendment to provide annual sessions of the Legislature.

Carr is campaigning over the state for re-election to the speakership. Voter approval of annual sessions also is being urged.

Budgeting on an annual basis would be much more businesslike and efficient, he said, than on the present two-year plan.

SALARY SQUABBLE FLARES—Plans to supplement the $15,000 salary to get a qualified executive director for the state hospitals and special schools has bumped into a lawmaker's indignation.

Sen. William S. Fly of Victoria said the supplement would violate the appropriation bill he helped to write. He said the $15,000 salary was purposely set below that of several other staff members to reflect that the executive director was "serving" and not "over" the higher paid staff members.

Six applicants for the higher paid jobs reportedly turned it down because of the "unworkable" situation.

"TAINT THAT TAINTED"—No point in throwing away money, says the GOP, even if it's "tainted" oil money.

Texas Republican State Committee, meeting in Austin, voted to use $100,000 raised by National Committeeman Jack Porter for its state budget. National GOP wouldn't touch the money after Eastern newspapers headlined Porter's fund-seeking letter which reminded Texas oil and gas men they needed GOP support to pass the natural gas bill.

State committee gave Porter a vote of confidence in a resolution saying that New Dealers had distorted his intent.

SHORT SNORTS—Texans' driving habits seem to have improved this far in 1958. Reports (not final) from the Department of Public Safety for the first nine weeks of '58 show a traffic death toll of 287 compared to 319 for the same period last year. Almost twice as many degrees are awarded in teacher education than in any other field in Texas state colleges and universities.

Business administration, liberal arts, engineering, sciences follow in that order. Listing is by the Commission on Higher Education. State revenue collections from liquor sales dropped $390,000 in January below collections for the comparable month a year ago. Liquor Control Board figures show January collections this year totaled $2,201,306. Governor Daniels, as hard-beset as any Texan in this year of flu sieges, took to his bed for the third time. Members of the governor's family also have had the flu.

Mr. and Mrs. James Morgan and sons of Midland spent the week end with his father, I. W. Morgan, and with other relatives at Scranton and Cross Plains.

Who Wrote the Bible?

This is your personal invitation to attend a MEETING in which the Bible will be the subject. This MEETING will be held March 16-23, with services each evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Eight of these lessons will shown on slides, as follows:

- Monday Night: "How Inspiration Concerns Us"
- Tuesday Night: "Internal Evidence of Inspiration"
- Wednesday Night: "Archeology and Inspiration"
- Thursday Night: "Scientific Foreknowledge and Inspiration"
- Friday Night: "What Must I Do to Be Saved?"
- Saturday Night: "Baptism, The Action"

Slide lessons will also be shown on Sunday night, March 16 and 23.

You will be able to see, as well as hear. In this way we believe that much more can be learned about "The Bible." We also believe that your faith will be made stronger in God's word.

Will you come, and study, the Bible with us? We believe that you will enjoy studying these subjects together with us.

It would be a great pleasure to have you in the services.

Physicians and pharmacists often wonder whether many current health articles are not causing some mental distress. Their information about new miracle drugs, usually accompanied by vivid descriptions of disease symptoms, often may influence one to think they have the disease they are reading about.

If you have constantly recurring unusual symptoms that you think might be serious, don't worry about it. Just visit your physician and let him find out if you really have any problem.
