SOPHER DIFFERS WITH POLITICIAN WANTS PEOPLE TO RUN GOVERNMENT
A note: The Bayou... has an odd idea this which is not unusual with

Listening to the radio the other day I don't listen to it on account of it doesn't give me time to think; by the way I had said something about going back to think it over something else. I prefer to think where you can read and get up and walk around, come back to the same way. I was listening to a man. I don't even remember his name, but he was from, and something that suddenly occurred to me.

He said: "It's time we go to the government to the people. I've heard this statement before, but somehow it stuck in my mind. It has been thinking it over for days and have come to the conclusion that as far as I'm concerned I'm not sure I want to go back. Not at this time. I guess if I was running the government and it was in the shape it is, I'd be looking

First Baptist Church Approves Building Plans Here Sunday

Last Sunday morning, June 15, the First Baptist Church in Cross Plains unanimously approved building plans for a four-unit structure. The over-all plan of the building calls for an auditorium and Sunday School units for all ages, a dining and recreation hall, church library and choir room, and a general church office and pastor's study.

Architect for the church is Mr. Paul T. Linberg of Abilene. Immediate plans for construction are hindered only by insufficient funds. Plans will be enacted soon to increase funds, it was said. The building committee consists of Lee Bishop, Donald Baird, Earl Fyle, J. H. Balkum and Tom Cox.

WHEAT FARMERS WILL VOTE FRIDAY ON MARKETING QUOTAS FOR YEAR OF '59

Robt. Eubank Attends A.&M. on Scholarship

Robert Brocke Eubank, a successful finalist in the state contest for talented high school students, reported to College Station Sunday, June 8, where he drew and occupied his quarters.

This Science Enrichment Program in Mathematics and Science is sponsored by the Texas Education Agency and the participating college, in co-operation with Texas high schools, assisted by a grant from the Fund for the Advancement of Education.

The participating colleges and universities and subjects offered are: Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, biology; University of Texas, chemistry; Texas Technological College, physics; Rice Institute and Southern Methodist University, mathematics.

There were about 900 nominees in the state, from which approximately 100 successful participants were selected.

Robert is one in a group of boys and girls, 28 in number, who will take part in the biology part of the program.

Co-ordinator of the projects is Lee Wilborn, assistant commissioner of instruction, Texas Education Agency, Austin. The program director at A. & M. College is Dr. C. C. Doak, Ph.D., head of the department of biology.

Most of the summer program in biology of five weeks will be held in adequate facilities at A. & M. College of Texas, but two field trips will be taken during the summer. One will be to Austin, San Marcos and Bastrop State Park; the other to Houston, Galveston and Gulf of Mexico.

While these courses are non-credit bearing, they are helpful in entry to colleges.

One of the girls who took part in this program in the summer of 1957 was admitted to Rice Institute after only three years in high school.

Robert will be a junior in Cross Plains High School this fall. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Eubank.

Robert's present address is General Delivery, College Station, Texas.

Wheat farmers in Texas and throughout the nation will vote Friday in the national referendum on wheat marketing quotas for the 1959 crop.

Wheat produced in 1959 will be supported at 75 per cent of parity, or about $1.81 per bushel, if two-thirds of the growers voting approve marketing quotas.

If the quotas are not approved by a two-thirds majority, wheat prices will be supported at only 50 per cent of parity, about $1.20 per bushel.

Searcy M. Ferguson, chairman of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, has pointed out that acreage allotments will be in effect for the 1959 wheat crop regardless of whether marketing quotas are approved.

Texas allotment for the 1959 crop is 4,099,094 acres, compared with 4,164,302 acres for the current crop. The $1.81 per bushel support level, announced May 1, is the minimum quota for wheat if marketing quotas are approved. This support level may be raised if a combination of the wheat parity price and wheat supply relationships as of July 1, 1959, indicate a higher support price.

Eligibility to vote in the referendum is limited to farmers who will share in the 1959 wheat crop from a farm in the commercial wheat area on which the wheat harvested for grain in 1959 will exceed 15 acres and provided they did not take part in the 1958 feed wheat program.

Polls will open at 8:00 a.m. and close at 7:00 p.m. and county growers will ballot at the following places:

- Baird—ASC office.
- Eula—School building.
- Denton—Methodist Church.
- Cross Plains—City Hall.
- Putnam—Shackelford's Store.

Tyson Buys Nichols' Interest in Locker Plant

In a deal consummated here Tuesday, June 10, Lindsey Tyson purchased T. T. (Butch) Nichols' half-interest in the Cross Plains Frozen Food Locker Plant.

The two men purchased the plant Oct. 1, 1945, after it had been in operation for about a year as a corporation, owned by local citizens. The plant opened for business here Sept. 18, 1944.

Tyson stated that the business had enjoyed an excellent patronage during their years of operation, with 1955 being their biggest year, when they processed 280,000 pounds of meat.

The plant will continue to operate on the same schedule it has in the past, according to Mr. Tyson.

Mr. Nichols stated that he had enjoyed his association with the firm during the past 12 years and said that his plans for the future are, as yet, indefinite.

L. D. Bayless Is Named "Man of Year" Here

L. D. Bayless, outgoing president of the Chamber of Commerce here, was revealed as the "Outstanding Citizen of Cross Plains for 1958" at the organization's annual banquet, held in the school cafeteria Friday night of last week.

Owner and manager of the City Drug Store here, he was cited for his work as president of the Quarterback Club this year when the organization purchased a new and modern electric scoreboard for the high school football stadium and also for his interest and work in helping to organize the Little League and sponsoring a League team known as the "Pillrollers."

He was also lauded for his efforts in securing a medical doctor, Dr. J. E. Mikeska, who will open offices for the practice of medicine here the first week in July.

In accepting the coveted honor, Bayless praised the citizens of this community and especially the members of the Chamber of Commerce and the Quarterback Club for their cooperation and humbly stated, "Other fellows deserved it more."

About 70 people attended the annual banquet.

Serving as master of ceremonies was the Rev. Gordon Dennis, pastor of the First Methodist Church. He introduced the featured speaker, head of the Bible Department at Abilene Christian College, Dr. Southern is also active in mental health work.

In an informal speech, mingled with humor, Dr. Southern presented three main points.

First, in citing the importance of cooperation, he said, "Nobody is anybody, until he has joined himself to somebody."

Perhaps there are those in this town, he stated, who have enjoyed the benefits of your community without helping to provide them.

Dr. Southern urged his listeners to take part in life and in community work.

In his second point, he noted that "business goes where it's invited and stays where it's appreciated."

He urged Chamber of Commerce members to keep in mind that wealth without work is not a worthy ideal.

Dr. Southern said that there is too much desire in our country today for wealth without labor. Comparing the student of today with those of yesterday he cited college students who must have cars in order to get from the dormitory to class.

"Wealth is one of the great regulations of life," he said.

His third point was paraphrased from the New Testament: Become servant of all.

"Your presence here tonight reveals your desire to serve," said Dr. Southern. He pointed out that such attitudes will build a better Cross Plains, a better state, and a better nation.

Other activity included the introduction and installation of new officers who were elected recently. W. J. (Son) Sipes will take over as president, J. C. (Doc) Claborn will serve as vice-president and Doyle Burchfield will be secretary-treasurer.

Newly-elected directors are Bayless, Paul Whitton, Jack Tunnell, A. J. McCuin and Teddy Souder.

Paul Whitton served as chairman of the banquet committee.

Dick, Helen and Pluto Grider of Cross Plains, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Grider and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grider and family and Mrs. Wimpy Mitchell and family of Coleman and Mr. and Mrs. Charley Reece of Bangs spent Saturday night and Sunday at Lake Brownwood.

Weather this week has been cooler in this section of the state and heavy clouds have threatened rain, but as The Review goes to press (Wednesday night) local official gauges have measured only a trace of moisture.

While grain farmers are asking for just a little more time to complete their harvest, row crop farmers are beginning to peer into the skies searching for needed rain.

Do You Remember?...

June 17, 1938

Having buried their dead and counted the staggering property damage, the little city of Clyde, in the Northwest corner of this county, has begun the long task of rebuilding. 14 newly made graves and 20 homes and the new school building irreparable destroyed, tell the grim story of the devastating tornado which swept down on the tranquil little community Friday night at 8:27.

Charles Frank Hemphill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. Hemphill of Cross Plains, who graduated from the University of Texas last week, accepted a job the following day with the Board of Control at Austin, and has enrolled in the university law school.

Jane Morgan, who died after an extended illness.

Threshers are rushed to capacity throughout the Cross Plains trade territory harvesting a far more than normal crop. Reports are to the effect that wheat is not yielding as good as expected, however, cats are going better.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health.

HENRY A. HOLLE, M.D., Commissioner

Only by constant fighting has mankind been able to hold his precarious own against the insect hordes that bite and sting him, destroy his food and clothing and home, and sometimes inflict horrible death.

Well over a million different insect species have been described from throughout the world, and the list continues to grow at the rate of 6-7,000 new species discovered every year. This country is inhabited by approximately 600 injurious species. Some of these are proven vectors of human diseases.

The vast majority of insects are neutral or indifferent where man is concerned, apparently content to let humanity go its way and demanding the same privilege. Others are highly beneficial, feeding on noxious weeds or troublesome insects, or pollinating crops. At least 50 different seed and fruit crops would be barren without insect pollinizers.

On the other hand, to fix a price tag on depredations of harmful insect varieties, you have to re-gear your thinking or risk getting lost in a maze of zeros. Just counting field crops and stored grains, they wreck an estimated $4 billion worth of havoc every year in the United States alone.

Flies, fleas, and mosquitoes were, and still are, behind some of the most calamitous scourges of the human race has ever faced, including plague, malaria, yellow fever, encephalitis, typhus, dengue fever, and filariasis.

Against this constant threat to human health and welfare, mankind has developed powerful insecticidal sprays and powders. Using them with sensible safety precautions, literally thousands of acres of previously untenable land have been opened for human habitation. Their use has also resulted in a marked decrease in the incidence of insect-borne diseases of man and his domestic animals.

The fact that most insecticides are toxic for humans as well as for insects has caused some apprehension. It is true that people who are in close contact with poisonous agents or use them carelessly do run real risks. But there is no concrete evidence to suggest

Granddaughter of Local Couple Was Married at Hamlin Saturday

Hurricane lamps and clusters of white gladioli marked the aisles in the Hamlin First Baptist Church Saturday evening for the wedding of Renee Moore and Joe Don Hymer.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Moore of Hamlin and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fillans of Cross Plains. Mr. and Mrs. Don Hymer of Hamlin are parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. Calvin Bailey officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white chantilly lace and tulle. Chantilly lace fashioned the sculptured bodice and formed an apron effect at the hipline. The bouffant skirt was styled of layers of white tulle.

Her fingertip length veil of English illusion fell from a pearl tiara. White orchids, stephanotis and pearls formed her bouquet.

Denise Preston of Hamlin was flower girl and Jimmy West III of Stamford was ring bearer.

The reception was held in the garden of the bride's home.

The bride is a 1958 graduate of Hamlin High School and will attend the University of Texas in the fall. The bridegroom, a 1953 graduate of Hamlin High School, is a junior premed student at the University of Texas.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

It's catfishing time in Texas! The real meat fishermen now are showing up to have their pictures made with fullgrown catfish. I've seen several of them taken from trot lines and throw lines, the past week, on Lake Travis.

Catfish can be taken any time of the year. However, July and August seem to be the months when most of the big ones are hooked.

Perhaps the principal reason is that other fish are less likely to be caught during the two hot summer months and fishermen just naturally turn to the catfish.

Some bass and crappie are caught, but generally they seem to have their tummies full and seek out some good cool spot to spend the day. I don't mean that many are not caught. However, the number decreases as the temperature rises. Whether it is the fault of the fish or the fisherman I wouldn't say. But I do know that there are fishermen who catch them any time of the year, hot or cold.

Generally speaking catfishing isn't as much work as bass fishing. Catfish can be caught in most any manner. Frequently one will hit a plug. They'll take minnows, cut bait, dough bait, even Ivory soap.

They'll come to a baited hole and will be enticed by almost any kind of scent bait. A sack of fermented shorts or corn chops, or a gunny sack filled with uncooked bones dropped into the water alongside an old tree usually is a good magnet to attract catfish.

Many pole fishermen come up with some dandies by baiting a hole and then sitting quietly in their boats and waiting for the catfish to move in.

However, the old time favorite way of taking catfish is by trot line. Usually such a line is extended between two points, perhaps a couple hundred feet apart, down a creek or across one, or across a channel where catfish are likely to be foraging.

The line can be anchored to a stake, tree, stump or weighted down with glass bottles or buoys.

Most often one end of the line is tied to something solid. The other end has a heavy weight, with a guy line from the weight to a tightly closed bottle which floats on top of the water to designate the end of the line or the location. They also help keep the line off the bottom.

Some catfishermen like for their lines to be on the bottom; others like to have their lines barely under the water. In any event when they are in the open they should be deep enough that they won't be cut apart by outboards moving over the area. It's a good way for you to lose a line, and also for an outboard to get its prop badly tangled.

Hooks can vary in size. Most fishermen usually use a 5/0 to 7/0 Eagle Claw. A great deal will depend on the area in which you are fishing. If the fish are small, then a smaller hook is best. Some fishermen use 3/0 but these are very light for large fish.

The hooks are attached to the trot line via a sturgeon with a short line about 50 pound test. This sturgeon or drop should be from a foot to 18 inches long. It can be tied directly to the trot line, or there are fasteners available which make the operation a little easier.

Experienced trot line fishermen have a good reel for holding their lines. They can play these out from the boat very easily without getting tangled. Sometimes if the wind is a little high or the water swift, a line has to be put into the water hurriedly before the boat loses position.

Although many trot lines are set out and run by one man, it really is a two-man job. A friend of ours boated a husky yellow cat (34 inches long) the other morning—single handed. And he almost lost it. Although the hook was caught well, the fight to land him was so hard and so long that when the cat was pulled over the side of the boat it fell off the hook. Fortunately for my friend the fish stayed in the boat.

When running a trot line it is best to have everything possible cleaned out of your boat. Everything except your life preservers and a tub in the center of the boat. The catfish can be dumped into this tub. Some fishermen are now using plastic garbage containers for this purpose.

Best advice we can possibly give is that you be careful. There are two distinct hazards in catfishing. One is that in playing out your trot line and baiting it in a hurry you can easily get a hook caught in your hand. There is considerable tension on a trot line. If you are not careful when you release it after baiting or removing a fish it will jerk a hook into your thumb.

Brother, you've had it when this happens. If the hook goes in over the barb, then cut the hook off the line immediately. If you can work the barb through the flesh with pliers, cutting off the shank that's fine. The better plan, however, is to get to the family doc as quickly as you can. He can remove the hook and give you an anti-tet shot, a safeguard. He'll also flatten out your wallet a little, which will teach you to be more careful next time.

The other danger is from the catfish itself. This gentleman has a sharp spine on its pectoral fin and another on its dorsal fin. These fins can do you more harm than a knife blade. A flopping catfish can stick you with this spine and cause very serious injury.

They are extremely dangerous. And if you are fished badly, we re-

Veterans? Box

Q—I recently noticed press reports saying down payments are no longer required for G. I. loans. Does this mean the private lender cannot ask the veteran to make a down payment?

A—No. The Government regulation requiring a minimum two-percent down payment has been rescinded, but the lender is free to require whatever down payment he believes is indicated.

Q—I'm a Korean veteran drawing compensation for a service-connected disability. Is there a limit on what I can earn and still get my compensation payments?

A—There is no limit. No matter how much you earn, your service-connected compensation will not be reduced. The ceiling on income applies only to pensions, paid to veterans for total and permanent non-service-connected disabilities.

Q—We've recently had a happy event at our house and I want to name my new son a beneficiary of my GI insurance. How do I go about it?

A—Get a "Change of Beneficiary" form at any VA office. Fill it out, putting down your son's name as beneficiary, and send it to the VA District Office where you pay your premiums. Or, you may simply write the District Office a letter, naming your son as beneficiary.

Q—I'm planning to start school this fall under the Korean GI Bill. How do I find out whether the course I want to take is GI-approved?

A—Your VA Regional Office keeps a list of GI-approved courses. Consult them. This information is not available at VA headquarters in Washington, D. C.

TAX-MAN SAM SEZ:

The Tax Guide for Small Business, Publication No. 334, on sale at the U. S. Government Printing Office for 35c, gives some mighty good advice. The following is an example of the type of information this publication contains:

"There are many aspects of the Federal tax laws with which you should become familiar so that you pay only your correct tax—no more or no less. You should, for example, understand the elections and choices which you, as a businessman, have as to when and how certain kinds of income shall be taxed to you and when and how certain expenditures shall be deducted. You should also be aware of the kinds of business activities which might subject your business to certain excise taxes. You should understand the difference in the tax treatment accorded to corporations, partnerships and sole proprietorships."

It sure pays to know when to pay taxes or not.

Remember his first great adventure?

"Freedom is a woman"

Electricity costs so little — you can afford to use lots of it!

With full heart and watchful eyes you helped him enjoy his very first taste of independence.

And how proud you were when he achieved his goal, all by himself, and then, laughing, ran to your waiting arms to share his triumph with you!

Nothing you can give your child is half so precious as this wonderful opportunity to be himself. All through life you want him to be free to choose his way.

That's why it's so important to be on the watch for ideas or ideologies that could set limits to his independence. The idea, for instance, that government should own and run more and more businesses, services, institutions. Don't forget that when government runs more and more things, the individual has less and less freedom and independence!

Think of your son's first "independence day" when you hear talk like that. Point out that in countries where government does control almost everything, the individual is controlled, also. And the loss of anybody's independence is a threat to everybody's freedom.

Very much aware of this danger are the independent electric light and power companies, because government already runs part of the electric business. And powerful people are pressing to take over more.
