IT'S THE LAW "CONSTITUTION WEEK" SIGNIFICANT

ions who will visit us.

The week of September 17-23 has been designated as "Constitution Week." Each year an observance is scheduled throughout the nation in recognition of the importance of the federal constitution, which forms the basis of our national government. It insures a stable balance of powers between the legislative, executive and judicial branches of government by providing curbs upon the authority of

For instance, mighty as our Congress is, the Constitution does not give it certain powers:

1. Neither Congress nor anybody else can suspend the writ of habeas corpus (unless the public safety demands it during rebellion or invasion.) All officers or others must obey a court and bring in anyone in their custody to see whether he is held lawfully.

2. Congress cannot pass "bills of attainder," special acts to punish someone. Congress cannot by-pass the courts.

Congress cannot pass an ex post facto law-a law which makes an act a crime which was not one when done, or which punishes the offender more than called for when

4. Congress cannot tax exports from any state nor by regulation favor one state's ports over another's, nor make one state's vessels clear or pay duties to another state in order to enter. Besides these denials from within, the constitution curbs Congress and the executive and judiciary in the amendments, especially the first

Among other things, Congress cannot make a law respecting establishment of religion or prohibiting its free exercise, or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press or the right of the people peaceable to assemble and to petition the government for a redress of greviences.

The constitution also curbs the courts (for example, they cannot deny a person a fair hearing duly represented by counsel.) It curbs the executive (he cannot, for example, take private property for public use without compensation.) The constitution, which divides the work of the three branches of government, winds up by telling where the rest of the power rests -just is case anybody gets any fancy ideas of dictatorship. There are things no state can do, for instance, "make or enforce any law which shall abride the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States."

If there are any powers not given to the United States government or reserved to the states, they belong to the people. The constitution does not seem to limit the people.
