Larry McAnally Takes Prize Steer To State Fair Livestock Show

Larry McAnally, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. McAnally of this community, and a member of the Cross Plains High School Senior Class, will leave Monday, Oct. 13, for Dallas with his prize Hereford steer "Maverick" which he won in the first calf scramble held at the Fair last October. The scramble was sponsored by The Dallas Morning News and WFAA, Radio and TV Stations.

He will show the steer in this year's livestock show.

He was chosen as one of 30 FFA and 4-H Club boys to participate in the event after his letter of application was picked from approximately 1,500 entries.

Fifteen calves were turned loose in the Livestock Pavilion and one was tagged "maverick". The winner of the maverick calf was to get his pick of the herd of calves of the famous Flat Top Ranch and Sun-Glo Feed Company was to furnish all the feed for the animal, free of charge as their part in the event. The identity of the maverick calf was not known and Larry was the lucky boy.

Under the capable supervision of his FFA Advisor, O. B. Edmondson, together with the very excellent aid of his loving mother, Larry has raised the prize steer and trained it as a real show animal. "Maverick" as he named the calf, now weighs 1,150 pounds and is a beautiful steer that is sure to go a long way in the competition. Many are predicting that Larry's steer will win the show.

Larry and Maverick will be accompanied to Dallas by his parents and Advisor Edmondson. He will show his steer in the State Fair Pavilion Wednesday, Oct. 15. Auction of the animals will be held Friday, Oct. 17.

LARRY McANALLY TAKES MAVERICK TO FAIR — Top photo shows Larry McAnally and O. B. Edmondson, Cross Plains FFA Advisor with "Maverick" the prize Hereford calf which Larry won in the calf scramble at the Texas State Fair in Dallas last October, which was sponsored by The Dallas Morning News and WFAA, Radio and TV Stations. The calf was selected for Larry by John Burns, of Fort Worth, internationally-known livestock judge, and came from the famous Flat Top Ranch herd. He received the calf early last December.

Lower photo shows Larry and Maverick as the calf appeared last week. Larry and the prized steer will return to the State Fair Monday of next week to compete in this year's livestock show. (Review photos).

BUFFS EDGED BY SANTA ANNA 8-6, ON NEW CONVERSION RULE; GORMAN IS NEXT FOE

By Benny Glover
The Cross Plains Buffaloes lost their fourth game in five outings last Friday as the visiting Santa Anna Mountaineers nipped the Buffs, 8-6.

Santa Anna drew first blood in the first quarter as Mountaineer back Donald Ray banged his way over the right side into the "promised land" from five yards out. Ray's pass to back Van Aldridge for the two points after touchdown proved to be the deciding factor in the contest.

The Buffaloes countered with their lone tally of the night in the third frame. Halfback Norman Vaughn skirted right end from four yards out for the local's six points. Vaughn was stopped short of the double stripe as he attempted to circle left end for the PAT.

Santa Anna received the opening kickoff and marched to the Cross Plains 35 before Buff Doyle Oliver recovered a loose ball on the Buff 39 to stop the drive.

Fire Marshal and Chief to Conduct Inspection Here

Ira Hall, Chief of the local Volunteer Fire Dept., stated this week that he and T. Y. Woody, City Fire Marshal, will conduct an inspection of the business district and public buildings, including churches and schools in Cross Plains during the month of October, as required by law.

Chief Hall asks that owners or renters of these buildings please clean out all fire hazards right away so that the local report will be satisfactory with the State Insurance Board.

He also pointed out that October is Fire Prevention Month in Texas, and asks all residents of the city to clean up their premises so as to make our town safe from the ravages of fire and also add to its looks and health.

'59 Chevrolets To Go On Display October 16

DETROIT—The 1959 Chevrolets, dramatically restyled and boasting an array of mechanical improvements, will go on public display at the Chevrolet dealer showroom here Thursday morning, October 16.

As is customary with the company, the presentation here against a festive background of decorations will be held simultaneously with the introductions at the other retail locations across the country.

The new models have been veiled in secrecy. Advance word from Detroit, however, describes them as "the most unusual in company experience." The passenger body carries a unique design and the cars will reportedly incorporate equally as progressive refinements in the chassis.

Representative models of the entire passenger car line and the 1959 lineup of 139 commercial vehicles are slated for the exhibition here. The "formal" announcement period will continue through the remainder of the week.

According to Chevrolet, a revision in series identification is planned for the passenger cars. The Impalas, introduced with meteoric sales results as a part of the Bel Air family a year ago, have been expanded into a complete series. Other models making their debuts will be new Bel Airs, Biscaynes and Station Wagons.

Chevrolet will bring out its new models in the wake of an extensive promotion and advertising campaign. The newspapers schedule alone covers 7,500 dailies and weeklies.

Dale Bishop announced here this week that the Bishop Chevrolet Co. is anxious to have everyone visit their showroom Thursday of next week and see the '59 Chevrolet.

Among entertainment features to be sponsored by the firm will be a concert by the Buffalo High School Stage Band in the showroom, starting at 4:00 p. m.

A large and enthusiastic group of Chamber of Commerce members met for their regular monthly luncheon meeting in the basement of the First Methodist Church here at noon Tuesday of this week and voted unanimously to launch a regular Dollar Day sales promotion on the second Tuesday in each month, when all merchants of the city will join hands in an effort to erudice people in this area to trade regularly in Cross Plains.

Plans call for local merchants to offer one or more items on special sale that day at reduced prices to attract the buying public into shopping here. Advertising for the project will include a monthly cooperative advertisement together with individual advertisements to appear in The Review on Thursday before each Dollar Day.

W. J. Sipes, Chamber President, named Rev. V. D. Walters, I. N. Riley and L. D. Bayless on a committee to supervise the new promotion program.

Further information concerning the Dollar Day promotion will be carried in The Review during the coming weeks.

Sipes stated that since the second Tuesday in November falls on Veterans Day, Nov. 11, the first Dollar Day will probably be held on the third Tuesday of that month.

PHILOSOPHER AMAZED TO FIND RUSSIAN PEOPLE LIKE MONEY SAME AS WE DO

Editor's note: The Bayou Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm has found out something new about Russia, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:

When it comes to Russia, I don't know anymore about it than the foreign policy experts in Washington, but I was reading an article in a newspaper last night that has me stumped.

According to it, the Communist bosses in Russia have discovered that they get more production from individual workers when they give them a pay boost for extra work or for taking on more responsibilities.

"It is maintained here that more and more problems can be settled with offers of cash rewards," Premier Krushchev announced.

This bowled me over, or would have if I hadn't been stretched out on a couch when I read it.

You mean to tell me that the Russian people are after all human? You mean to say they like money the same as our capitalistic Americans?

Up to now, I had been led to believe that the Russians worked strictly for the satisfaction of seeing a five-year plan completed, and as soon as they got one finished they were miserable until their bosses announced another one. As I understood it, a Russian wasn't interested in getting his hands on any money of his own, all he wanted was a place to work, a picture of his dictator hanging on the shop wall, and a pallet to sleep on at night, where he could dream happily about how much bigger their satellite was than ours.

But if the Communists are finding out money talks in Russia like it does around here, this opens up a brand new field of speculation. You start letting people have money and the first thing you know the women will be going to beauty shops and swapping gossip, families will be demanding bath tubs and hot water, boys will start playing football, girls will start getting style-conscious, men will start getting fishing tackle, and before long somebody will turn up in the neighborhood with an automobile and then the dam has busted.

If the Communists ever let the people get a taste of money and the advantages of getting ahead, the game is up. Scientific production is fine, but living is more fun.

And to tell you the truth, despite how hard the Russian farmers worked the state land, I've always suspected most Russian farmers would swap all the satellites Russia will ever launch for one piece of land they could call their own.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Get Those Christmas Gifts Mailed Early This Year

Washington.—Have you begun to think about mailing your Christmas packages yet? Well, you should.

The Post Office and the Red Cross both said so recently.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, interested in sound packaging and complete, legible addressing, said half a million parcels are lost every year, many of them at Christmas time.

Lost parcels are sold at auction, for about a quarter-million dollars. That figures out to 50 cents a parcel. Many are worth more, like the empty wallet in San Francisco that contained two $50 bills in a secret compartment.

Some lost parcels are not, as Summerfield put it, suitable for auction. He mentioned a crate of shrunken heads that turned up some years ago. This was turned over to "appropriate authorities in the field of museum work."

Summerfield said postal workers are always puzzled by people who obviously spend hours gift wrapping a parcel and then dash off the address in such a hasty scrawl that nobody can read it.

The Red Cross is thinking primarily of service men and women overseas. What they want most, its statement said, are home-made food, family photos, recordings of family gatherings, hometown newspapers and more mail.

"On the undesirable list," the Red Cross statement said, "are such items as military-type clothing, cigarettes, watches, ties, cameras and sporting goods, all of which can be purchased at most PX's, and at bargain prices."

And remember, "It takes surface mail up to 40 days to reach such far away places as Turkey, Korea and Formosa."

Dr. and Mrs. T. R. Havins of Brownwood visited in Cross Plains Sunday afternoon with his sister, Mrs. Henry Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Ricketts of Dallas visited this week in Cross Plains with Mrs. Ricketts' sister, Mrs. B. F. Witherspoon, and Mr. Witherspoon.

'59 Chevrolet Trucks Now Being Displayed By Bishop

Substantial fuel savings in the light duty range, larger brakes on the half-ton series, a new optional power train for 14 heavy duty models, and durability improvements from engines through axles are top developments in the expanded Chevrolet truck line for 1959.

The model lineup is increased to 139—three more than last year—on 22 different wheelbases. Gross vehicle weight ratings range from 4,000 to 36,000 pounds, with the sedan delivery increased to 4,900 pounds from 4,100. The 1959 line includes 996 conventional, 22 low-cab forward, 8 forward-control, 6 tandem-axle and 5 school bus chassis models in addition to the sedan delivery and a new luxury pickup to be announced later.

Generally, the popular, massive, functional styling of 1958 is retained, with a new two-tone pattern for Fleetside pickups. Cab interiors are restyled with a wider choice of brighter trim available.

Light duty feature for 1959 is a six-cylinder engine of improved design which has shown substantially better gas mileage in on-the-job tests. Fuel savings, plus an increase in torque at low and medium speeds comes from a camshaft design that reduces loss of fresh fuel mixture during the combustion cycle. On the half-ton model, even further fuel economy is attained from a special carburetor-rear axle combination, optional with the economy six.

SPORTS AFIELD

Unlike many birds and insects, man has no homing instinct or sense of direction, says Col. Townsend
Whelen, Camping Editor of Sports Afield Magazine. This has been proved scientifically many times. Homo sapiens, however, has his five senses sight, smell, hearing, touch, taste which, if applied as they should be, will guide him surely and safely.
But there are many of us who do not trust our senses, cannot apply them to strange problems.

Keeping from getting lost is simply a matter of remembering where you go, where you are at any moment and the direction and distance from your starting point. It will be obvious to you that if you start off from your base in a northern direction, travel three miles or an hour that way, then turn east and travel a similar distance, that a course of about 4 1/2 miles in a southwest direction will bring you back to your starting point.

But you must travel in fairly straight directions. That is, you must always know which way is north, east, south and west. In other words, you must keep oriented. Ordinarily this is easy. In the United States the sun always rises in a general easterly direction and sets in the general direction of the western horizon, and in the Northern Hemisphere it is always in the general direction of the south at noon.
Bearing in mind the time of day,
you can tell the points of the compass from the shadows cast by the trees.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS
By VERN SANFORD
It has been said that the difference between an expert fisherman and an also-ran lies in one's ability to "read" a river, stream or lake. This because there definitely are certain choice spots—and he who finds them lands the lunkers. Learn where the fish lie. That's the secret, say the pros. "And the time to do the learning is when

... fishing is at its worst." For instance, when a stream or river is very low and clear, bottom obstructions, rocks, ledges, deep runs and pool areas become evident. Make a mental note of these physical factors. In many instances, by using polaroid glasses you actually can spot the fish, and locate weed beds and drop-off areas where fish gather.

There are two other "handies." A thermometer and a waterscope. A thermometer helps locate spring holes. The waterscope, a tube with glass in one end, also is used to determine weed-bed areas and drop-offs. A word to the wise... time taken in charting the favorite stream or river really pays off in better fishing later on. "This said that he who fishes "upstream" catches more and larger fish. By upstream we mean "across and up." Dry fly fishermen use this method successfully. Why wouldn't it work with other fishermen? Some say it does. They suggest a high rod and a constant retriever in order to maintain a tight line. Also, they point out that spinners, wobblers, small plugs and nymphs pay off in larger fish than do floating lures. Learn your water and fish upstream for more and bigger fish, they re-emphasize. No matter how shallow the water, there is ample concealment in weed beds or lily pads, says one tipster. He adds: Often fish lurk quite far back and do not see lures cast at the edge of weed beds or pads. In such instances a silent cast is not effective. Don't be afraid to let your lure drop with a loud splash. There always is danger of a hang-up. That's when a heavier leader line comes in handy. There is no reason for not attaching a leader: to a spinning line—just so long as it is short enough not to enter the spool. It sure does add a safety factor... and makes it a little easier to change lures. It's well to know the depth of the water in which you are fishing. Next time you fish in deep water let your lure down alongside the boat and count slowly until it reaches the bottom. Then when you cast out, start your count when the lure hits the water. Allow the lure to sink freely. But start your retrieve with a short, hard, hook-setting motion the moment your count indicates bottom depth. Many times the lure is picked up by a curious fish on its downward float—and he may still have it in his mouth. Tips on Monofilament Line As spin-fishing grows increasingly popular the use of monofilament line becomes more general. It is true that monofilament offers many advantages. But there are disadvantages too. Perhaps we should say "handicaps." A knot points up its biggest weakness. In fact if you want to break monofilament line at a specific place, just tie a knot there and jerk. The line will break at that exact spot. This brings up these two facts: 1. When you find a knot in your monofilament line, either untie it (which is almost impossible) or break the line, then and there. Otherwise some lunker will do the job for you... and you will lose a nice catch. 2. When you tie monofilament to a swivel (or direct to a lure) follow this tie-down top and you will avoid use of a line-breaking knot. First, run the end of the line through the eye of the swivel. Next, pull through about eight inches of line. Then, instead of tying a knot as you would with braided line, wrap the short length of line around the line proper—seven or eight times. Now comes the important part—run the end of the line through the loop that formed immediately above the eye of the swivel. All that's left to do is to pull slowly but firmly on the line itself and the wrapped-around portion will slide down the line to the swivel to form a vise-like grip. Just be sure you pull the line tight and hard, and check to see that the swivel is firmly attached. If you have not pulled hard, then the end of the line may slip back through the loop. In that event you will have to repeat the entire operation. Until you learn the trick you may have to hold the tag end of the line to keep it from slipping through. However, after a few trials you'll find this tying method can be performed quickly. Also you'll discover that this is the safest and surest way to tie on a swivel or lure. Actually it's known as the clincher knot.

Finally, if you want to be doubly sure that the end of the line does not slip through—just strike a match and burn the tip of the line lightly. The monofilament will burn until a small, but hard ball forms. This ball, on the end of the line, will keep the end from slipping through the loop. So, by burning the excess line you not only make a neater job, but a stronger one too.

A word of warning. Don't let any of the burning monofilament drip on your hands or clothes. It's hot as a poker!

A Fisherman's Prayer
What more fitting way to end this column than to repeat "A Fisherman's Prayer" which appeared originally in North Carolina's "Wild-life" magazine:
God grant that I may live to fish until my dying day. And when it comes to my last cast, I then most humbly pray,
When in the Lord's safe landing net, I'm peacefully asleep,
That in His mercy I be judged, as good enough to keep.

Teaching Taxes
Two T's have been added to the three R's. Teaching Taxes, the Internal Revenue Service's contribution to the cause of education has grown during the last several years into a nation-wide, carefully planned detailed study of Federal taxes. The program has found a ready welcome in Texas.
A. E. Fogle Jr., Administrative Officer of the Abilene Internal Revenue Service office, stated, "Last year 1,609 high school and college teachers used the Teaching Taxes course to train approximately 49,577 students in the Dallas District in North Texas. This program is in use in most of the schools in our area. The program is now taught in some 22,000 high schools and many colleges in the United States, at larger military and naval institutions and other localities."
Ellis Campbell Jr., District Director, mailed a letter on Sept. 2, 1958, to 1,101 high school principals inviting them to order the free instruction kits for this school year. The Internal Revenue Service instruction kits will not be available until December. Most schools schedule them for instruction to coincide with the Internal Revenue Service's filing season, January to mid-April. Orders are being placed now, however, by interested teachers and principals in order to assure availability of the material.
Interested teachers needing information concerning this program should contact Chief, Administration Division, Internal Revenue Service, Dallas, Texas, for order blanks and other help, according to Mr. Fogle.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

State and out of the State Court flow many of the controversial issues of the day. In the cases, and the lives of less-celebrated persons are affected by the decisions.

Two-months summer recess high court reconvened this week. Among interesting cases decided or due to be decided are:

Rights are involved in a case by Southern Canal Co. of the State Water Board. The canal wanted a take 280,110 acre feet of water year from the Trinity River. The board refused the request and the company appealed to the State Water Board.

Roomers and setting up in a residential area were the subject of two cases. In both cases certain owners in university buildings argued that other owners were violating deed restrictions.

Courts ruled in favor of roomers and church buildings. The supreme court agreed to review the case and denied the lower court to force the student religious groups to move.

State Highway Department would have responsibility for registering boats. Enforcement of safety regulations would be the job of the state's various peace officers and game wardens.

Zoning—The restriction of skiing, racing, fishing, etc., to various areas was omitted from the bill.

Republicans Jockey for Position—Texas Republicans got no help from Secretary of State Steakley in their efforts to break into the first column on the general election ballot.

In the past the Secretary of State's Office has sent out the list of certified nominees, to counties, with the Democrats listed in the first column. GOP protested, demanded a drawing for position.

Steakley said he was not authorized to set up such a procedure. His office mailed out ballot forms this year, without comment. Democrats were in the first column on the forms.

Short Snorts—An Austin district court ordered forfeiture of the charter of Walker-Texas Investment Corporation which had refused to allow the Attorney General's staff to inspect its records. Walker-Texas operates five loan firms in Houston.

ask some $1,000,000 for deaths and injuries. High court sent it back to district court for a new trial.

In Houston 311 workers of the AFL-CIO Office Employees Union picketed a construction project to protest the firing of one man. A lower court granted an injunction against the picketers, and the Supreme Court refused to interfere.

Better Traveling Days Ahead—Holding promise of better traveling days ahead is the 1961-62 interstate advance program announced by the State Highway Commission.

Commission authorized the preliminary engineering studies for 285 miles of new interstate highways, consisting of 45 projects in 22 counties. Included in the advance planning will be completion of the gaps in the interstate highways between Dallas and Houston, Dallas and Texarkana and from Denton to Fort Worth to Hillsboro.

Cost of the program is foreseen as $36,500,000 for land purchases and $165,500,000 for construction.

Water Safety Law Due—Some 280,000 Texas boat owners will have to obtain licenses for their craft if a proposed Uniform Water Safety Act is enacted by the 1959 Legislature.

Representatives of sportsmen's organizations, trade associations and safety groups drafted the measure. It is to be introduced by Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas.

Man of the Year in a program sponsored by the Texas Committee of Employment of the Physically Handicapped.

Arpe, whose hands are paralyzed, teaches radio and television repair to other handicapped men. Texas Rangers will be honored at a $50-a-plate dinner to be given in Fort Worth's Ridglea Country Club to climax Law Enforcement Week.

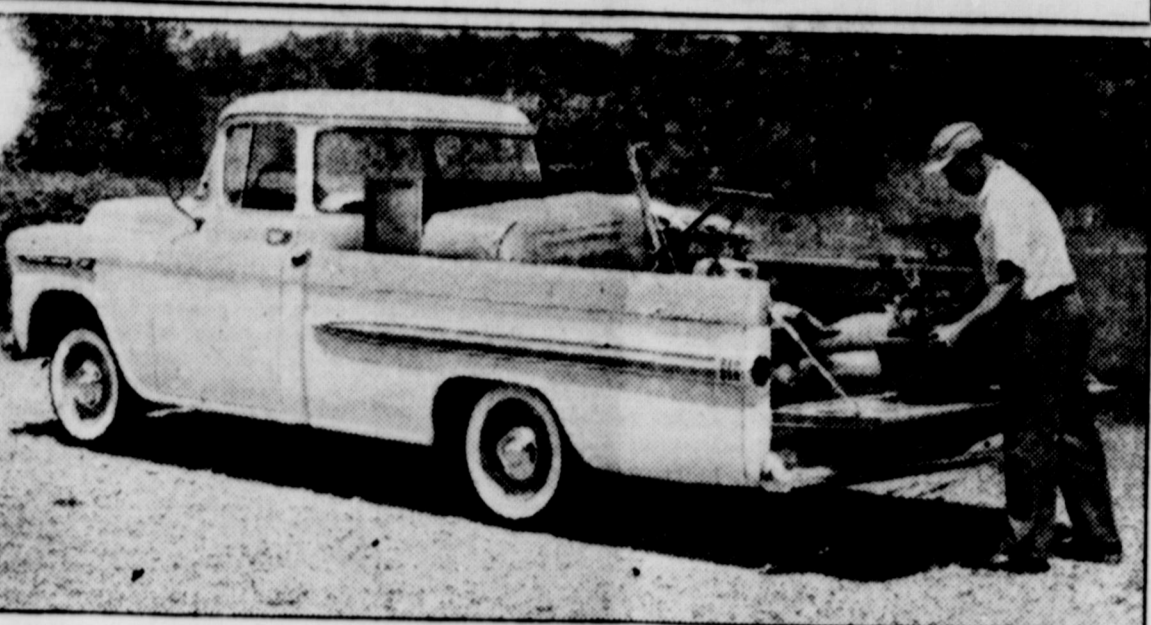

Texas Law Enforcement Foundation is spearheading arrangement. Texas Highway Department is experimenting in the use of lignite slag as a road surfacing material. Slag is very hard and has an uneven surface to hold down skidding. Lignite, a very soft coal, is plentiful in Texas and slag is what's left after the lignite is burned.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has ruled the Water Development Board can grant money for constructing a water filtration plant when the plant is an integral part of the district's water project. But no loans for water filtration along.

Mr. and Mrs. George Webb and daughter of Dallas visited Tuesday and Wednesday of last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Foster and family. Tammy Jean Webb remained here with her grandparents while her mother is undergoing treatment for a neck injury suffered in a car accident several weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Burton of Anson visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Burton, Sunday.

Fuel Economy Accented in 1959 CHEVROLET PICKUP TRUCK

Better fuel economy, new two-toning and larger brakes are among improvements in the 1959 Chevrolet Fleetside pickup, one of 139 truck models in the company's new line. An economy six engine gives up to 10 per cent better fuel mileage, with higher torque at normal speeds. A further economy carburetor-rear axle option is available on six-cylinder half-ton models.

Fall pick-up in Texas business activity may gather momentum, develop into a "decisive breakthrough," says the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Optimists see complete recovery from the recession by the end of 1959; pessimists, later in 1960. State Board of Health has upped standards on fire prevention measures and space requirements for state-licensed nursing homes. There are 500 such homes in Texas. Board must approve all plans for new homes or remodeling. W. E. (Bill) Arpe of Weslaco was cited by Gov. Price Daniel as Handicapped Man of the Year in a program sponsored by the Texas Committee of Employment of the Physically Handicapped.
