There were just as many problems 100 years ago as there are now, and if we'd known about them we'd have thrown up our hands in the face of them just as fast as we do now.

And the reason there's not any solution to people is that they're too much like you and me. We keep changing. A man's problem can be solved today, and it may just a week, or a month, or a year, but that doesn't mean it's solved forever. As long as there are people in the world, there are going to be problems without any answers at hand, as anybody who ever was a member of a family knows. Most people expect nations to get along better than families.

WEEKLY NEWSPAPER REPRESENTATIVES, INC.
 NEW YORK • CHICAGO • DETROIT

By VERN SANFORD

A few days ago I stood shivering in a duck blind. Six teal were headed straight to my spread of decoys. They didn't have a chance. Then it happened. Just as they were setting their wings to come in, some squawker in an adjacent blind began blowing his heart out on a duck call.

That's the last I ever saw of the teal. I suppose duck calls in the hands of inexperienced blowers have saved the lives of more ducks than any other one thing.

There are few men who know how to handle a call. They think all they need to do is to blow it, squawking as loudly as they can, and the ducks will come rushing in to their blind.

Some hunters refuse to go into a blind with a man who has a call hanging around his neck, unless they know that he knows how to use it properly. So many hunters never have realized that although they might sound good to a hunter, a duck can't read them.

There are times when a call, used correctly by an amateur, can do the work. Occasionally when ducks are flying high on a windy day, and your spread of decoys is in a secured spot, the attention of flying ducks can be had. Then it's time to put the call in your pocket and keep it there.

How many times have you heard ducks calling or talking, while you are in the blind—after daylight? Very seldom. Yet you'll be standing there, your eyes watering and straining to see a duck coming into sight, then suddenly across the lake you hear a loud "quack."

quack." It doesn't fool you. I've clear old Bill over there "calling them in."

This is not a reflection on the man who is a good caller. There are a few. They are born, just as a great musician is born. The few good duck callers I have heard are good as music. Their ears pick up every note. They have a retentive memory. They play by ear every sound a duck can make. It is real entertainment to hear one of these callers.

However, there is one thing I've noticed, and that is that good hunters use the call very little in the blind. Occasionally they will give a hint to flying ducks that there is life below. But they don't just start out blowing for the sake of making a noise. They know the mating call, the feeding call and the conversational call and use each in its place.

There really is a lot more to duck hunting than just getting in a blind and tooting. A few well-placed decoys can help a lot. The blind itself should be properly placed and covered. It should be a blind where the hunter can see without being seen. If a hunter has a bald head or a white hat he shouldn't be standing up in the blind in plain view. Those ducks can spot you a mile away.

Another thing, a duck hunter needs to have plenty of warm clothes but not too many to get in his way when he starts to shoot. Some hunters carry into the blinds with them a charcoal stove, or a hand warmer. These are fine at times. The charcoal stove also is dangerous. If it is tipped over, there'll likely be a fire and everything will go up in smoke.

One of the handiest heaters I have seen, for use in a duck blind is the new Coleman Sportsmaster stove. It not only serves as a good heater, but does an excellent job of cooking. It weighs only about five pounds and requires very little space.

Unlike the upland bird hunter, the duck hunter always has a boat load of equipment to take to the blind. In addition to a boat and motor he usually takes along a pretty good size spread of decoys. Also there will be a box or two to sit on. Perhaps there also is a dog for a retriever.

In real bad weather a tarp is mighty handy as protection from the wind.

It is well to remember that here in Texas when a hunter goes out after dead birds—and takes his gun along—he must lift the motor of his boat out of the water, to be legal.

Back in the old days when live decoys were legal there was still more trouble. You'd have a boat load of blocks. There'd be a crate from which two to six live decoys. The drakes would be set out on one side of the blind and the hens on the other. When a flight came in sight those little hens started talking.

During that time repeating shotguns held five shells in the magazine. Some hunters were able to buy magazine extensions for their automatics. The limit on ducks was 25 per day, with no exceptions. We must have thought then that ducks always would be plentiful.

Back in those days when you gave a duck away it didn't have to be dressed. Nearly everyone to whom you gave a duck appreciated it and didn't mind dressing it. Today things have changed. I know quite a few hunters who go out and shoot ducks and then give them to the guides because they don't want to pick them. There are places where you can get the birds picked by professionals and most of us take our ducks and geese there.

I hunted at one place recently where there was a mechanical picker and the guides ran the ducks through in short order. Then they gutted and washed the ducks and packed them in ice for the trip home.

That's for me!

Speaking of ducks, there's been a bountiful supply of coots this year. Most hunters will not kill a coot, although coots are not bad eating. On the other hand, they are quite a delicacy in the north.

Most hunters have their favorites in ducks. A mallard usually is first choice of most hunters. It is a wonderful bird. Most of the outstanding pictures we see are of mallards.

Running a close second in popularity would be either the redheads or the canvass backs.

Far down the line is the lowly teal. It is the duck I like best. One little teal, with plenty of good oyster dressing, is just a good meal for one person.

The teal really is a fine little bird and I hope it never will be in too short supply.

Lubbock spent last week with Mrs. Francis Gilleland.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Robbins and son, Frank, of Big Spring spent several days last week with Mr. and Mrs. K. B. Robbins.

New Year's almost brought tragedy to the John Purvis family. Tommy, Betty and Peggy Purvis were skating on a pond of ice when it broke with them. John came some distance over three wire fences to rescue them after hearing their cries. The children were not hurt, but John has a hurt back and cut on the back of his head on the ice which broke under him.

Meivin Bowman's dwelling caught fire from the flue last week. Their water pump was broke and their telephone, was out. However, neighbors held the fire down until the Cross Plains fire truck could reach them. Roof damage was reported and other damage inside the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lambert, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Plovman, Leonard and Mark Baum, Lerone Ledbetter and two children and Mrs. George Baum visited Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith during the holidays.

Mrs. Jack Smith went to Oklahoma before Christmas and brought her mother, Mrs. Shelton and brother Frank, and grandchild to spend the holidays in their home.

Those who had Christmas dinner at the Melton Shelton home were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith, Mrs. Dillie Shelton, Frank Shelton, Gary-wyn: Children, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Patterson of Big Spring and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Shelton.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith, her mother, Mrs. Shelton, her brother, Frank, and grandson, Gary, spent some of the holidays in Fort Worth with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Childers.

I take this means to thank all the patrons of the Cottonwood post

January 31 Is Important Tax Date For Farmers

An important date for farm operators to remember is January 31, 1959. On or before that time, employers of farm help must report the amount of cash wages paid farm workers during 1958 to the District Director of the Department of Internal Revenue. This statement applies to all farmers who employ farm workers whose work meets the definition of Agricultural Labor, as defined by the social security law. To determine if your farm worker is covered by the social security law there are three tests which can be applied.

Test No. 1 includes all agricultural workers who are paid $150 or more in cash wages during 1958. In determining if the $150 a year test is met, all cash wages must be included regardless of whether paid on a time, piece-work, or other basis.

Test No. 2 includes those workers who perform agricultural labor for one employer on 20 or more days during the year for an amount computed on a time basis. The time basis may be by the hour, day, week, etc. (In determining if this test is met, county only the days on which the employee worked for cash pay, computed on a time basis. However, if the 20-day-year test is met, all cash wages paid during the year, whether on a time, piece-work, or other basis, are subject to social security tax.)

The third test concerns domestic service in the private home of an employer. If the service is performed on a farm operated for profit, the domestic employee is considered an agricultural worker and must meet either test No. 1, or test No. 2.

If your agricultural worker meets any one of the three tests, your yearly report showing the worker's name, social security account number, and amount of cash wages paid during 1958 must be submitted by January 31, 1959, to the District Director of Internal Revenue. The report should be made on Treasury Department Form 943 and can be obtained upon application from the Internal Revenue Service. This form requires that the social security tax of 4 1/2 per cent of all wages paid for 1958 up to a total of $4,200 in the year for an individual employee accompany the report (2 1/2 per cent is to be paid by the employer). The employer must pay the total tax of 4 1/2 per cent regardless of whether or not the 2 1/2 per cent is deducted from the employee's wages. To facilitate accurate reporting, the employers should keep records showing the employee's name, social security number, number of days worked, cash paid, and the amount deducted as tax from the worker's wages.

Your failure to report an employee timely and properly may jeopardize his rights to benefits (monthly benefits at retirement age 65 for men, 62 for women, benefits to him and his dependents if he is totally disabled at age 50) and payments to his survivors if he should die.

If you have any questions regarding coverage of your agricultural workers, please contact your local social security office. Your local office is located at 203 Fannin Street, Abilene, Texas.

"up" know that pledges can come unhitched. There'll be a big crowd on hand to find out whether the secret vote hands the gavel to Waggoner Carr of Lubbock or Joe Burkett Jr. of Kerrville. Secretary of State Zollie Steakley will preside at the suspenseful opening session.

After the speaker is picked, attention will shift to committee assignments—who'll get the top jobs. There's also speculation as to how well members who've fought each other so hard in the speaker's race are going to get along afterward.

MONEY gets top billing on almost everybody's list of legislative problems.

Governor Daniel's recommended budget calls for spending $2,311,434,308 during 1960-61. An extra $185,000,000 in new tax revenue would have to be raised to cover it and wipe out the current deficit.

Overall, the governor's budget is a 10 per cent increase over present spending. Almost all the increase, he pointed out, would go to meet a growing population's need for basic state services—education, highways, welfare and hospital and correctional institutions. Governor Daniel said he had found "no public sentiment" for reducing these services.

Not included in this budget are several items for which there is certain to be demand, such as teacher pay raises and medical aid for persons on the welfare rolls.

EDUCATION, on all levels, will be a broth that many will try to stir. For public schools, the Hale-Aiken Committee of 24 is presenting a lengthy report on ideas for improving programs. Included are more pay for teachers, longer school terms, special instruction for the gifted, driver education, etc. Total cost of the additions would be $80,000,000 a year for the state and about $32,000,000 a year for local districts.

Both the Commissioner on Higher Education and Governor Daniel have recommended increased appropriations for state-supported colleges and universities. Both also recommended Arlington State College be made a senior college.

Not happy with these are (1) University of Texas officials who regard the UT appropriation share as too meager and (2) residents of three other towns, who also had wanted their junior colleges expanded.

HIGHWAY bills will abound. Seen

Rowden News

By MRS. BERNARD CROW

(Intended for last week)

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rose were host to a Christmas dinner in their home with relatives and friends attending. The names of their guests I failed to learn.

Mr. and Mrs. John Adair had Christmas dinner with relatives in Cross Plains.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Crow had all their children home over the holidays. They were Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Lehw, Dennis and Lynn, Spur, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crow and Ritchie, Baird, Mrs. Dale Gibbs, Gary and Robert, Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stephens, Dewra and Stephanie, Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. Scottie Jefferies of Corpus Christi.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Joy and Mr. and Mrs. Claudel Joy and children of Cottonwood had Christmas dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Oran Bain and family.

Mrs. Mattie Gibbs and Raymond had Christmas dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Barney Gibbs at Baird.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Henderson of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Adair and children had supper with Mr. and Mrs. John Adair Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fry, Judy and David of Abilene spent Sunday night and Monday with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. B. Crow.

as likely are proposals to (1) allow the Highway Commission to set higher speed limits on new divided highways, (2) restrict billboard advertising on new interstate routes, (3) prohibit location of utility lines on highway right of way outside cities and (4) prohibit car owners' registering their cars in counties other than where they live in order to escape auto property tax.

SAFETY legislation, both to punish the guilty and train the innocent, has widespread support.

Recommended measures would (1) allow chemical tests for drunkenness, (2) increase the State Highway Patrol, (3) strengthen traffic courts, (4) provide state aid for driver education in public schools and (5) overhaul the drivers license law.

WATER law will again be in the news when the State Water Board presents its report to the Legislature with the recommendation that $5,000,000 be spent on water planning in the next five years.

Texas lost hundreds of millions in this decade through drought and uncontrolled floods, the Board noted. It suggested planning directed toward capturing for use some 20,000,000 to 25,000,000 acre feet of the 42,000,000 acre feet estimated to run annually into the Gulf from Texas.

SMALL LOAN COMPANIES likely will be the center of some heated legislative debate as they have been in the past.

Texas Legislative Council has suggested a law giving the State Banking Commission authority to police the small loan industry and a constitutional amendment to allow the Legislature to fix interest rates.

INSURANCE will as usual, be the subject of a few bills. Probably the most controversial will be a measure to provide for "flexible auto insurance rates," as opposed to the present state-set rates. The Legislative Council declined to endorse this, but suggested the Board of Insurance work on a plan to reward careful drivers.

Several proposals are likely to emerge in an effort to resolve present uncertainty as to whether the Board of Insurance should operate full-time or part-time.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Duncan were here from Fort Worth over the week end visiting with relatives.

CARD OF THANKS

We want to take this method of expressing our thanks to the many friends who sent flowers, furnished food and sat up at the May Nursing Home during the illness and at the passing of our loved one. Words are inadequate to express just how much we appreciated all you did and may God richly bless each of you is our prayer.
