AUSTIN.—After nearly seven weeks in session, the Legislature has not yet given any clear indication of how it will solve its basic problem—how much to spend and where to get it.
 State agencies still insist they need every cent they asked for—and need it bad. But those who would be "fall guys" of money-raising measures proposed thus far show no general willingness to ante up.
 Gov. Price Daniel is still pushing hard for his tax program. He suggested that critics would do better to stop sniping and start snooping—for a better way.
 State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert called the governor's plan to gain $18,000,000 by a change in bookkeeping just "legalizing a false statement." Budget Board Director Vernon McGee termed it "unworkable."

 Daniel also contends that his plan for the State to take over unclaimed bank accounts, abandoned property, etc., might help a lot of people, since the State first would advertise for rightful owners. But bankers and spokesmen for other affected industries called it "confiscation," said it would undermine public trust in their institutions.

Corporations continue to blast at a franchise tax raise they say would increase their burdens as much as 500 per cent. A two-thirds vote of each House would be necessary to put this into effect to help with the deficit this year. Many say chances are dim.

A Lubbock Legislator, Rep. H. J. Blanchard, made a survey on tax and spending attitudes. About 60 per cent of those replying opposed a sales tax. Roughly the same percentage favored more spending for teacher pay, higher education, old age assistance, state hospitals and prisons.

GOTTA HAVE IT—Strong pitches for more spending are being made by spokesmen for three major state services.

"I don't see how higher education can be financed without some broad-based tax," said J. R. Sorrell, chairman of the University of Texas Board of Regents. "You will have the backing of this administration and this board in selling it to the people of Texas."

"We are absolutely broke, we don't have a dollar," said Prison System Director O. B. Ellis. "Riots that will cost more than the appropriation requested may result if conditions aren't improved."

"You can chop off dollars, but you can't chop off children," declared a representative of the Texas Youth Council. Director James A. Turman said money spent on parole supervision and rehabilitation of youngsters in trouble would save on future prison costs.

Three For Speaker—Three definite candidates already are jockeying for speakership of the House in 1961.

They are Reps. Wade Spilman of McAllen, Ben Glusing of Kingsville and L. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi. It may be a close-quarters fight. All are from the same general South Texas area.

Rep. Joe Burkett, who lost to present Speaker Waggoner Carr in a very close race, said he won't run again. Many members have protested early campaigning. They say it hampers work of present session.

 "Freedom" Bill Delayed—Senate Committee has put in its "back pocket" a bill to set penalties for those who refuse to make public records public.

Measure is one of several "freedom of information" bills sponsored by a group of newsmen's organizations.

It was sent to subcommittee for reworking with no time set for the subcommittee to report. In some cases, such action means the bill is buried for the session.

New Agency Urged — A bill has been proposed to take tax collecting out of the Comptroller's Department and set up a new agency headed by a state collector of revenue.

All members of last session's Senate General Investigating Committee joined in sponsorship. They said they felt tax collecting could be handled more efficiently by an appointive officer of longer tenure. Committee investigated the Comptroller's Department extensively last session. At one time members commented on the awkward position of an official who had to collect taxes and solicit votes—from the same people. However, the present Comptroller hasn't had any opposition in years.

Safety Conscious—Traffic safety legislation is developing into a major issue this session.

Rep. Tom James of Dallas has introduced the uniform traffic ticket bill, which he says will make for more effective enforcement against violators. He also proposes setting up county courts of record to review corporation court cases and also city traffic appeals courts.

James said he would join Col. Homer Garrison Jr., Director of the Department of Public Safety, in asking better salaries for state highway patrolmen.

Garrison told a recent meeting that "if the present trend continues, every second child born in Texas today will be killed or injured in traffic accidents."

Speaker Waggoner Carr said he felt "the climate of opinion was more favorable than ever before" for safety legislation.

Short Shorts—Texas is pouring millions in state tax money into "inadequate, unnecessarily small school districts," said Texas Research League Director Alvin A. Burger in a recent speech . . . Maj. Gen. K. L. Berry has been reappointed state adjutant general by Governor Daniel. Brig. Gen. William H. Martin was renamed assistant adjutant general . . . Texas started 1959 by paying out more for unemployment compensation than it did in '58, the "recession year." Texas Employment Commission reported payments for January of this year were $5,613,694, compared to $4,918,511 a year ago . . . In a generous gesture toward a new rival, a House resolution was proposed to fly the flag of Alaska beside the Texas flag when the new 49-star U. S. flag is first raised at the State Capitol.

Eulus A. Parker of Artesia, N. M., has been visiting here for several days with Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Wilson. Last week he visited in Dallas for a few days with Mrs. E. A. Parker Sr. and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sims returned home Monday night from Shreveport, La., where they were called to the bedside of her sister, Mrs. Cecil Warren, who fractured her hip in a fall at her home Wednesday of last week. Mrs. Warren underwent bone surgery Friday and is reported to be recovering satisfactorily.

Social Security News

Ever since the enactment of the original social security law, marriage or remarriage has often been a reason for ending social security benefit payments to dependents or survivors of insured workers. In many cases, it is still a cause for the termination of benefits. The law, as recently amended, however, removes some of the restrictions.

For example, Mrs. Florence Jackson, 64, was widowed two years ago. She has continued to live in the home she and her husband bought soon after their marriage, and has been receiving $71.40 a month as a social security widow's benefit. Naturally, she's been lonely and has welcomed the friendship of Frank Brown, a lifelong neighbor. Frank, 72, and a widower for many years, lives in a small furnished room, on the income from the monthly social security checks paid to him because he was dependent upon his son, Bill, when Bill died a number of years ago.

Recently, it occurred to Mrs. Jackson and Mr. Brown that it would be both pleasant and sensible for them to marry and spend their remaining years together. Until just a month or so ago, however, their marriage would have meant financial disaster because it would end social security payments for both of them. Under the provisions of the social security law, benefits paid to the dependents of a worker — to his child, to his widow (or widower), or to an aged dependent parent—stop when that dependent marries.

A change in the social security law will now make it possible for them to go ahead with their marriage plans. Under this change, a dependent's social security benefit payments will not stop if he or she marries another person who is also receiving social security payments as a dependent. A woman receiving a widow's benefits can therefore marry a person who, like Mr. Brown, is getting dependents' benefits, or she can marry someone who is eligible for benefits as a dependent widower or as the disabled son or daughter of a retired or deceased worker.

Marriage to a person who is not receiving social security benefits will still end the benefit rights (present and future) of a dependent-beneficiary. But another change in the law will help dependent-beneficiaries who marry persons who are now or who may soon be getting old-age insurance or disability insurance benefits. Until now, such a marriage would have ended the dependent's insurance benefits and he or she would have had to wait at least three years to get benefits as the dependent of the new spouse, or in the event of his death, she would not have been able to qualify for benefits as his widow unless the marriage had been in effect for at least one year.

The 1958 amendments to the law remove these periods. Someone like Mrs. Jackson could therefore marry a man who is getting old-age insurance benefits and qualify immediately for a wife's benefits based on his social security account. (For more complete information, ask your Social Security Office, 203 Fannin, Box 5168, Abilene, Texas, for free booklets on the 1958 amendments.)

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Gregory of De Leon were Sunday visitors in the home of her mother, Mrs. R. E. Wilson.

HEALTH NOTES

The next time you hear the rich full voice of your favorite singer, don't envy him. Pity him instead. He probably has extra large sinuses, and when they stop up...

Some racial groups are apparently immune to specific maladies which beset the rest of humanity. Eskimos rarely if ever get cancer. And toothache is practically unknown among natives in remote parts of the globe.

But apparently the rule concerning sinus trouble is this: if you're human you're susceptible. Thus, if you suffer from a sinus condition either chronically or occasionally, you are in excellent company.

A nasal sinus is a lined cavity in the face bone which opens into the nose. There are two important ones on each side of the face: one in each cheek bone, and one over each eye.

Cheekbone sinuses are triangle-shaped, large enough to hold half an ounce of fluid. Oversized ones can hold up to a full ounce. Eyebrow sinuses are smaller, the average having a fluid capacity of one-fifth ounce.

Sinuses are lined with mucous membrane, a continuation of the membrane lining the nasal cavity. When a sinus lining becomes inflamed enough to interfere with drainage, someone is in for trouble.

You can get all sorts of answers as to what good purpose sinuses serve. Some specialists believe they warm and moisten air as it is inhaled. Others believe that sinuses, like the appendix, are evolutionary remnants which are sometimes more harmful than useful.

Sinus sufferers subscribe unanimously to this latter theory. But the truth probably is that sinus cavities serve as resonating chambers for the voice. Whether a person has a high or low pitched voice, according to this reasoning, is dependent on the size of his sinuses.

There are as many different causes of sinus inflammation as there are people suffering from it. Infection-producing agents such as viruses, and irritants such as pollen and dust are most often the cause. But facial injuries, infected teeth, and other conditions can also bring on flare ups.

What to do about it? Make sinuses drain, which is a little like telling the winter to go away. Still it can be done, if you can identify and eliminate the cause of irritation. Temporary relief can sometimes be obtained with dilating drugs or inhalers, but the basic cause should be determined and treated by a physician.

Jack and Kay McCarty were business visitors in Fort Worth Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cox visited at Sidney Sunday afternoon with his sister, Mrs. O. A. Ferrell and husband.

"Blessings On Him That Invented Sleep"

(Author's Name Below)

A good night's sleep restores the energy we expend during the day, giving us the strength necessary to fight off the invading germs and virus that are constantly attacking our body. Inability to sleep is one of nature's warnings of possible approaching sickness.

It is unwise and sometimes even dangerous to repeatedly take sleep-producing remedies without a physician's supervising care. Sleep is needed, but of greater importance is the curing of the cause of sleeplessness. Only a physician has the knowledge to prescribe the proper medication to accomplish this.

Washington

"As it Looks From Here"

OMAR BURLISON
Congressman
17th District

Washington, D. C.—There continues an abundance of lip service on the subject of inflation and balancing the budget.

The principal argument at the moment is who spent the most money in the past—the Republicans or the Democrats.

It is a funny thing about this argument. At the time money is appropriated for this and that purpose, both sides want to take credit for having done the most, but then when the shaky conditions of inflation and spending beyond our means arise, each side then wants to deny responsibility for it.

There are numerous schemes floating around to combat inflation and reduce the national debt. The first of these schemes was to place a ceiling on the national debt, but it is meaningless when the Government spends all the money it has and must raise the limit on the debt in order to borrow more money. This has happened time and time again.

There are now proposals that the debt of the Federal Government be reduced by a certain percentage each year, but the only way that can be done is out of a surplus of current revenues. The only way there is going to be a surplus is to cut out non-essential expenditures. No one has yet figured out any other way. It can not be done by voting a $2 billion housing bill, a $2 billion community facilities bill, a $1 billion depressed areas bill, and many other proposed spending measures.

Tax relief for self employed persons has been voted by the Ways and Means Committee. This measure permits self employed persons such as doctors, lawyers, farmers, store owners, etc., to defer taxes on as much as $2,500 a year of income, if such amount is placed in a retirement fund. The Administration opposes the bill, but from all indications, chances of its passage appear favorable.

The water utilization program is unequalled by any other State of the Union. The recent report, "Water Developments and Potentialities of the State of Texas," under the chief sponsorship of Senator Lyndon Johnson, is serving as a model for other states who are trying the same thing. Texas is the only state which has a permanent Federal-State Commission to deal exclusively with water problems. The recent Federal-State survey for water potentials, carried out to its conclusion, should result in full utilization of water resources.

HOW BOUT THAT

Incidentally, although still highly controversial, research in rain making is continuing with reports of some amazing results. In a recent test in Australia, scientists seeded cumulus clouds over the Blue Mountains with silver iodide, which produced 20 storms, each about 10 miles wide. It brought steady rain over a parched area, according to the report.

During the past several years it has become more and more difficult to interest top-notch people in Government service. It is reported that the President is having trouble finding qualified executives for certain vacancies now existing in several departments.

One reason is that private industry pays more. Doubtless, another reason is that top business and professional men do not like to live in glass houses.

At the beginning of this column, inflation, government spending and the public debt were discussed.

If it is any consolation, and if theory is legitimate, the Federal Government isn't nearly broke.

According to the figures, Uncle Sam owns assets worth about $262 billion. In addition, the Government figures its assets on the basis of how much they cost to acquire. The actual value is probably more than double, which is nearly twice as much as the national debt.

(Maybe this is an effort to end this column on as pleasant a note as possible.)

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

VERN SANFORD

Proceeds from the sale of duck stamps are used to finance Federal waterfowl refuge and law enforcement programs. Every individual, 16 years of age and over, who hunts migratory waterfowl, is required to have such a stamp.

The price this year, has advanced from $2 to $3, with the added money set aside to finance an enlarged refuge program.

The 1959-60 stamp was designed by Maynard Reece, Des Moines, Iowa. He won the designing award, with a drawing featuring a Labrador retriever carrying a mallard drake. This is the third award he has won.

In addition to the purchase of duck stamps, hunters and fishermen also paid more than $20,000,000 in excise taxes on out-doors equipment last year.

Under apportionments from this federal excise tax, Texas will receive $207,027.78 for fishing and $820,000 for wildlife development.

The funds are expended in Texas under the direction of the Game & Fish Commission. Each item must be projected by the Commission in advance, and approved under the federal program.

Texas, fortunately, has been able to provide the necessary 25 per cent matching funds from its own license sales. With a program like this, it looks like we'll have good hunting and fishing for a long time.

This also shows conclusively that the people who hunt and fish are not only paying their own way, without general tax funds, but are providing for protection of renewable wildlife resources for everyone.

The wild game and fish of Texas belong to everyone. There can be no harvest of either without the fullest cooperation of the landowner and the man who buys the license. Texas has done a remarkable job.

More Water Means More Fish
Speaking of remarkable jobs, Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game & Fish Commission, was on the program of the meeting of the Texas Press Association in Austin recently. In describing the department's activities, he made a significant statement. "We have more fish today than the Indians had," he told them.

Those of us who have been thinking of fishing back in the so called "good old days" must agree with him. Perhaps we fight have had more fish in the Indian days if we had had as much water as we have today. With all our lakes and streams now heavily stocked, our fishing is good. We are told that it will continue to be good because legal fishing pressure cannot reduce it.

Dodgen went on to explain the work of the Commission in keeping the studies going on these lakes to furnish even better fishing for those of us who find a little time to wet a hook.

Fishing definitely has increased a great deal within the last few years. In the first place, fishing is a sport anyone can participate in and enjoy.

Incidentally, there is a $20,000 fishing contest going on in the Corpus Christi area. Last fall the North Beach Women's Club sponsored a program for tagging a bunch of fish in the Corpus Christi Bay. These tags are worth from $10 to $500 each if they are caught and returned to the club group.

The contest, which started last November, will end April 1 of this year. Two of the more than 1,000 tagged fish are worth $500 each; 10 of the fish are worth $100 each; 50 are worth $50 each; 100, $25 each; and 900, $10 each. The contest is limited to tourists only. The Texas coast is ideal for tourists during the winter months. If one should catch one of these $500 fish, he'll be double lucky, for he's just plain lucky to be there in the first place.

Carolyn Illingworth Weds Gene Hodges

The marriage of Miss Carolyn Illingworth and Gene Hodges took place at 11 p. m. Friday, Feb. 13, in the Bible Baptist Church in Durant, Okla., with the Rev. Paul R. Morgan reading the double ring ceremony.

The couple's only attendants were Miss Hallye Johnson and George Kelley Jr. of Dallas.

The bride wore an aqua sheath of wool jersey with black accessories. Miss Johnson was attired in a beige sheath, also with black accessories.

Carolyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Illingworth of this city.

She attended Cross Plains school and was graduated in 1936. She was a member of the Buffalo Band and served as a majorette for several years, was a guard on the girls' basketball team and received the "best all-girl athlete" award her senior year. She attended Cisco Junior College and is now employed by the South Western Life Insurance Co. in Dallas.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hodges of Coppell, Texas. He attended Carrollton High School and was graduated in 1952, and has served two years in the U. S. Navy.

At present the couple are at home at 4619 Ross Avenue in Dallas, however, in the near future they plan to build a home in Coppell, where Mr. Hodges is associated with his father in business.
