Legislation Authorizes Creation of New Turkey Creek Water Control District

Abilene Man Speaks At CC Meet Here

The Chamber of Commerce held its first regular meeting of the new year in the basement of the First Methodist Church here at noon Tuesday of this week, with the new president, H. McDonald presiding over the business session.

John Dodson, assistant manager of the Industrial Department of the Abilene Chamber of Commerce was guest speaker and made an interesting talk on the work of a chamber of commerce.

President McDonald named the following committees to serve during the new year:

Highways: Jack McCarty, chairman; Fred Tunnell and L. D. Bayless.

Membership: Jack Tunnell, chairman; O. B. Edmondson and J. C. Claborn.

Planning: Dr. J. E. Mikeška, chairman; W. D. Smith and Lloyd Bryan.

Other committees will be named to carry out the work program of the organization at the next meeting, it was announced.

A bill abolishing two water control and improvement districts and turning over their properties and obligations to a new two-county district to be known as the Turkey Creek Conservation District, has been signed into law by Gov. Price Daniel, paving the way for realization of an extensive water control program on the watershed of Turkey Creek in Callahan and Brown counties, from its headwaters north of Cottonwood to the Pecan Bayou south of Cross Cut.

The legislation was sponsored in the House by Reps. Paul Brashear of Cisco and Ben D. Sudderth of Comanche and in the Senate it was sponsored by Senators Floyd Bradshaw of Weatherford and Louis Crump of San Saba.

The new district will comprise a 118-mile area, with 90 square miles being situated in Callahan County and 28 miles in Brown County.

The bill provides for a seven-member board of directors and names the following as the first board of directors: from Callahan County, W. A. Gill, Edwin Baum, C. W. Coats, Mark Adair and A. L. Breeding, and from Brown County, George Wright and Earl Pyle. The terms of Gill, Baum and Pyle will expire in May, 1960, and the terms of the others in May, 1961. An election will be held to name directors to the terms expiring in 1960, and annually thereafter in May.

The abolished districts under the terms of the bill are Callahan County Water Control and Improvement District No. 2, and Brown County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1, Turkey Creek Watershed.

This legislative action was found to be necessary by directors of the two abolished districts in order to comply with state law, and the legislators representing the two districts in Austin came forward to aid in sponsoring House Bill 959 and pushing it through both the House and Senate.

Edwin Baum, chairman of the board of directors of the former Callahan District, stated this week that another election in the districts will be necessary to give the land-owning residents of the proposed district an opportunity to vote on the combined district and date for this election will be set and announced in the near future.

The flood control plan for the new two-county district includes construction of 13 water-retarding structures on the tributaries of Turkey Creek, with nine of these to be built in Callahan County and three in Brown County.

These structures will slow flood water from a 59,200-acre watershed. The watershed has a flood plain area of 5,188 acres and is located in the Brown-Mills and the Central Colorado Soil Conservation Districts.

The watershed contains 17,210 acres of cultivated land, 3,280 acres formerly under cultivation, 36,482 in pasture, and 2,228 acres of land being used for such things as roads and town sites.

A serious flood has not been experienced since 1957, but a 20-year period (1923-1942) saw 79 floods covering more than half of the flood plain area.

Cost of the government supported structures will be $750,000. Maintenance will be handled by the WCID.

Cottonwood Cemetery Gets Good Publicity

George Dolan, popular columnist, writing "This Is West Texas" in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, devoted his Memorial Day column to the Cottonwood cemetery.

He was very complimentary of the citizens of this fine community for the excellent care they give their "City of the Dead."

Miss Hazel Respass, secretary of the Cottonwood Cemetery Association, was in town one day last week and reported that the organization had received a lot of compliments on the strength of Dolan's article and Mrs. J. L. Hard of Fort Worth, the former Lois Norton wrote a nice letter and sent the association a check for $25, to aid in the cost of the maintenance.

Mrs. Hard's letter read as follows: "Miss Hazel Respass, Cottonwood, Texas. "Dear Miss Respass: "I have just read the nice article about the cemetery in Cottonwood in the article 'This Is West Texas.' I enjoyed it for two reasons—first, because I felt you good people there were due some credit for such a nice cemetery in such a small community, and after my visit there last summer, I wrote Mr. Dolan to stop by to see if you had done. I think it is nice that he made it a Memorial Day article. "Secondly, I enjoyed it because it was a reminder to me, and I hope to many others, that I have not sent some money to your cemetery fund, so enclosed is $25 and I hope someday to be able to send more. "I plan to remember the Cemetery Association in my will and I trust many others will do the same so that the cemetery will always be cared for even though the population might drop even below the 60 mentioned. "Give my regards and thanks to Rev. C. R. Myrick and some day soon we hope to get out there to see the new markers we ordered. I would like to make it on Sunday to hear him preach. Do you have church there every Sunday? "With best wishes to you in your work. "Yours very truly, "Lois Norton Hard"

Cross Plains Pony League In Cellar

After playing and losing their first two league baseball games, the Pony League team is resting in the league cellar.

Friday the Drillers went to Ranger, after being rained out on their local field. Ranger jumped to an early lead in the first inning with two hits and as many errors. Cross Plains was able to hold the opposing team until the latter innings when six more runs were scored. Only one hit was made by Cross Plains. The loss was charged to Terry Dewbre.

Saturday night Cisco visited on the local field and took an easy victory. Again the first inning was a costly one to the local players. The locals collected eight hits for 21 for Cisco. Barr was the loser.

Monday night the Cross Plains B team played the Drillers and used John Purvis as pitcher and Bill Pope as catcher. Some changes were made in the Drillers line-up and more may be expected. The Drillers won this one seven to zero. Hits were Drillers 10, B team 2.

Friday the Drillers will play the Outsiders from Cross Plains and Saturday they will play Rising Star there.

HER WORKS OUT SOME NOTIONS MONKEYS' FLIGHT INTO OUTER SPACE

NOTE: The Bayou on his Johnson the Bayou adds to the monkey space. This is of space, by which I've started off into nobody. I have been in reading about monkeys that were sent to space and sent down.

has interested me of people have monkeys' reactions and while a lot written about the two animals, nobody seems that the monkeys' was.

It was, and I will at the first space if they ever get WERE SURE BACK HOME into space may men going off to war. At the time, it seemed like an exciting thing to do, they were sort of bored with life at home anyway, but after they'd been there a little while, home sounded like the most exciting place in the universe. And as for the death of one of the space monkeys after it got back, I can explain that. Before it was sent up, it was put to sleep with an anesthetic so a small recording instrument could be placed under its skin, then when it got back, you know, it was given another anesthetic so the instrument could be removed.

Now here's the thing. Monkeys may not be as smart as people, although I'm not prepared to say this as I don't know as many monkeys as I do people, but that monkey wasn't so dumb and he thought, just as they started to give him that second anesthetic, the first time they did this to me, shortly afterwards I was put into a capsule and blasted 300 miles into space at 10,000 miles an hour, second time around was too much for him and he died of shock.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

HOW BOUT THAT

Drawn Specially for The Review
By RALPH TEE

Every once in a while a newspaper reporter or columnist or a press association manager receives a letter from a Linotype operator who works on some newspaper that publishes his material.

For you who do not know the duties of a Linotype operator—he is a typewriter who sits at a keyboard, much like the typewriter, a message which has been sent him by a reporter. This message is converted by the machine into metal type on what are known as slugs, made from molten metal—a line at a time. Hence the name Linotype.

Every so often, a Linotype operator will dash off a note on one of those machines to a friend. Then all he has to do is pull a proof of the type and mail the proof to the person. We like to get these letters because they are different and so individually manufactured. We have such a letter from Floyd McKnight, Linotypist on the Bishop (Tex.) News. Here is what he says:

"We use your column in our newspaper every week. Since I run it out on the Linotype each week and just happen to be one of those habitual fishermen, I'd like to tell you what has been happening up at Lake Corpus Christi on the Nueces River the past few weeks.

"This writer is not a fresh water fisherman. All my fishing is in salt water in the bays and the surf.

"However, I took my family to the lake last weekend for a camping trip and saw something I did not believe possible. Men, women and Negro kids were catching bass in every slough I drove by. They told me the fish had been hitting that way for several weeks.

"Believe it or not, they were catching most of the bass on my favorite salt water spoon—the No. 5 Tony Accetta. Occasionally there was a good catch made on some kind of a humpbacked wiggler.

"I saw a ten-year-old boy catch seven bass in eight casts with a Tony.

"Guess I will have to take my salt water outfit and go up this weekend for a try at it."

Thank you, Floyd, for the letter.

I'd like to answer the same way in type... as I'd like to mention something that is developing.

First, salt water fishermen and inland lake fishermen are learning that fish will hit all types of lures. A lure that is good for salt water fishing often is equally as successful in still water fishing, and vice versa. So it looks like the rig you already have will serve well in both instances.

Second, I have been told that Lake Corpus Christi really should not be fished this year as the fish still are small.

Third, I am also told that if Lake Corpus Christi is not over-fished this year, it should be as "hot as Falcon" next year. And Falcon, as you know, has gained the reputation of being one of the top fishing spots in Texas this year.

Anyway, best of luck to you—and may you take them large and often.

Skinning the Catfish

That old saying that there is more than one way to skin a cat must have originated with an old-time trotline fisherman.

Actually, there are several ways to do the job. However, here's one sure way that certainly makes for more tasty meals.

First, hang the catfish while still on the stringer, from a tree limb or from a nail driven into the tree or a post.

Next, cut off the tail, just above the tail fin, so that the fish will bleed freely. Then leave the fish hanging until all blood drains from the body. This should take but a few minutes.

Your next operation is to cut through the skin, around the head and below the gills. Then take a pair of sharp-nosed pliers, grab the skin, and pull downward, so as to peel the skin off the fish, all around its body.

After all the skin has been removed, your next operation is to gut the fish. In performing this operation, you'll find that all blood has drained from the fish's insides, and the cleaning problem is not nearly so messy.

Removal of the blood from the body, before cleaning the fish, seems to add a much better flavor to the fish.

To kill a cat most fishermen take a sharp-pointed icepick and thrust it through the soft part of the head, above and between the eyes, into the brain. This kills the cat quickly.

Others prefer to drive a large nail through the fish's head and into a tree or pole. This latter procedure not only kills the cat quickly, but it also provides a firm anchoring base for the skinning process, as well as the gutting process.

After gutting the fish, cut completely through the meat, under the gills and around the head. Then sever the head with a sharp snap of the wrist or by means of a meat cleaver or a sharp butcher knife.

Final operation before washing thoroughly is to remove the fins so that all that is left of the fish is meat and backbone.

Some fishermen—as a matter of precaution against finning—either break or clip the sharp ends off each of the fins. This eliminates the possibility of injury to the fisherman, from a wildly flipping catfish—while boating, stringing or cleaning.

We've seen some pretty careless fishermen get badly finned while cleaning a catfish they already had killed. And we've seen plenty more who were finned while the fish was flopping around in the bottom of the boat.

I know one fisherman who clips the sharp points off the ends of the fins of every catfish he catches on his trotline—even before taking the fish off the line.

Furthermore, we've seen some even more careful souls who don't even make an effort to remove the hook from a well-caught cat until they have it on the cleaning block. This means cutting the steagon, after the fish is netted, but it also brings greater assurance that there will be no personal injury from that member of the finny tribe.

Wed In Big Spring Ceremony

The Phillips Memorial Baptist Church in Big Spring was the setting Saturday evening for the wedding of Glendene Philley, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. D. R. Philley of Big Spring, and William Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brooks of Midland.

The Rev. Richard Jackson of May officiated for the double ring ceremony.

Nuptial music was by Jack Hendrix, organist who also accompanied Ira Schantz, vocalist as he sang "I Love Thee", "O Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The Rev. Philley gave his daughter in marriage. Tiny pearls trimmed the sabrina neckline of the fitted bodice of her bridal gown of chantilly lace over taffeta. Alternate lace and tulle ruffles formed a chapel train and a crown of seed pearls held her fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of white orchids with seed pearl leaves showered with white satin ribbon atop a white Bible covered with pearls.

Mrs. Joe Frank McCollum attended her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Peggy and Patty Francis, Arlene Hartin, Billie Helen McMillan all of Big Spring, Nancy Lansford of Ada, Okla., and Mrs. Weldon Newton of San Antonio.

They wore identically styled gowns of aqua organdy over taffeta with matching shoes and gloves. Their pearl-trimmed headbands were of ruffled organdy matching that of their bouffant floes. They carried cascade bouquets of majestic daisies.

Ross Bell of Midland was best man. Groomsmen were David Gilger and Denny Smith of Brownwood Ray Bryan of Fort Worth, cousin of the bridegroom, Joe Frank McCollum of Lubbock, brother-in-law of the bride, Jack Hightower of Midland, cousin of the bridegroom and Buddy Philley, brother of the bride.

Rita Kay Hightower was flower girl and Eddie Ray McCollum was ring bearer. Marilyn Brooks, the bridegroom's sister, and Gene Philley, brother of the bride, lighted altar tapers.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the garden at the home of Mrs. A. L. Cooper. Julia Rainwater was at the registry. Other members of the houseparty were Mrs. Jack Hendrix, Mrs. Mary Breckenridge, Dorothy Baker and Nancy Woods.

The bride graduated from Cross Plains High School where she was active in all school activities. She graduated from Howard County Jr. College in May. She was a member of the SNEA, Lassos, College Players, Phi Theta Kappa and the college choir. A cheerleader for two years, she was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. While attending HCJC she was employed by the C. R. Anthony Co.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Midland High School and attended Baylor University before transferring to Howard Payne College in Brownwood. He is a member of the Yellow Jacket football team. He is majoring in Business and Education.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Brooks will continue their college work at Howard Payne.

The bridegroom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at Coker's Restaurant which was attended by 36 guests.

More car than this Impala Sport Coupe is hard to find at any price. clings to curves like a cat on a carpet! the travel-lovin' Chevrolet

Nothing else but a dyed-in-the-wool sports car like the Corvette can take a turn with such solid assurance!

It's easy to see where Chevrolet gets its road sense. With big coil springs at every wheel, a firm, wider stance and all of its pounds distributed with painstaking care, Chevy's born with it.

The only thing that may be hard to understand is how it can offer the ride it does, along with so many other luxury-car virtues, and still compete in the low-price field.

We use the word compete only in the sense of price. For with a ride as special as Chevy's, real competitors are hard to come by. There's a world of difference between Chevrolet's coil springs at all four wheels and the leaf springs that most other cars still use. Take a Chevy down a snaky back road and you'll feel the difference in the sure way it holds through curves and shoots over rough spots with hardly a ripple.

This one's really made to travel and loves every minute of it.

Stop by your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's and sample Chevy's road sense!

AUSTIN, Tex.—First called session of the 56th Legislature will end automatically June 16.

It would be hard to find anyone around the Capitol who would bet on the state's money problems being wrapped up by that date.

Senators began their work on the tax bills sent them by the House with the air of deliberate calm. They even waited 48 hours before beginning hearings to give everybody time to ready his presentation. (This is the "tag" rule whereby if one senator "tags" a bill, it cannot be heard except with 48 hours notice.)

Main issue was a bill to raise new revenue for 1960-61 spending needs. Gov. Price Daniel appeared personally before the Senate State Affairs Committee in behalf of H. B. 7. This is the House-passed bill to tax natural gas, interstate corporation franchises, utilities, liquor, cigarettes, autos, etc.

Governor Daniel stoutly defended the bill on all counts, but said he would not "feel hurt" if the Senate wanted to make some changes.

Industry spokesmen and chamber of commerce representatives told the committee the bill would drive business away from Texas. "Our customers," said one company man, "will not pay a premium for a 'made in Texas' label."

Others complained that H. B. 7 not only would tax the same groups that have been hit before, but would hit some from several directions at once.

Governor Daniel's reply to those arguments is that business should bear a portion of the tax burden to keep from dumping it all "on the family budget," as in a general sales tax.

HARD GOING—Governor Daniel's abandoned property bill, killed during the regular session, made it back to the House floor, but only after a committee had attached crippling amendments.

As introduced, the bill would have allowed the state to take over property or bank accounts unclaimed for seven years. Committee changed the waiting period to 15 years. This cut the estimated first-year take from $20,000,000 to $3,000,000.

This is one of the bills recommended by the governor to pay off the $65,000,000 deficit that accumulated during the 1958-59 biennium.

House Taxation Committee killed outright Rep. Jerry Sadler's proposal to levy a one per cent gross receipts tax on manufactured goods.

THUMBS DOWN ON THESE—Governor Daniel vetoed nine of the some 500 bills passed during the regular session.

Among these was the "de novo" bill which would have provided for an entirely new trial when decisions of state agencies were appealed to the courts. Governor Daniel said it would have disrupted oil and gas conservation procedures of the Texas Railroad Commission.

Also turned down was a bill to create a Fort Bend County water district. Governor Daniel said it was in conflict with state-wide water planning. Rep. Jimmy Day of Brookshire, sponsor, made a critical speech on the House floor, contending the governor had signed a bill just like that one two years ago.

Another vetoed bill would have provided for repayment to persons who have paid fines or served sentences for crimes of which they were not guilty. Governor said the intent was good, but with no limitations in the bill, the taxpayers had no protection.

ONE SOLUTION—Many observers believe that much of the current legislative trouble—the slow start, delays, bickering between members and last-minute do or die legislation—would not happen if the office of Speaker of the House were an elective post.

Certainly this would eliminate the factions that exist in the Lower House.

Evidence of the desirability of such a plan is found in the office of the Lieutenant Governor, who performs identical functions in the Senate. Both officers have apartments in the Capitol Building, but only the Lieutenant Governor is elected by the people.

Selection of the House Speaker is made by the House members themselves. This delays the start of nearly every session. Furthermore it provokes many bitter battles, divides the House, and creates deep wounds that never heal. Also, much time is wasted during sessions by various groups campaigning for the Speakership for the session that still is two years away.

The real loser in the battle is the public and they have no choice in the matter, as things stand now.

Demands for making the post an elective one would have to come from the people, as there is considerable feeling among public officials against the idea of elective offices.

OF NOTES AND BEAMS—A resolution to add to the lobby expense reporting law brought on House debate as to who's holier than who.

and Don Kennard of Fort Worth proposed requiring lobbyists to report cost of transporting legislators. It was a jibe at several senators who recently flew to Tennessee in a gas company plane.

Rep. Jerry Sadler of Perilla reminded the House that House members had in previous sessions gone in droves on various lobby-arranged flights. He made the suggestion, of Biblical origin, that the House "get the beam out of its eye before we try to get the mote out of a brother's eye."

House voted 71-52 with Rep. R. H. Cory's (Victoria) suggestion of "not meddling in the Senate's affairs."

STUDENT FEES DEBATED—House members considered a bill to require students in state-supported colleges to pay an activity fee of up to $30 a semester.

Fee would cover such things as health services, parking privileges, tickets to athletic and cultural events, book rentals, subscription to campus publications, etc.

Students now pay about $12 less on a voluntary basis.

Rep. W. S. Heatly Jr. of Paducah, sponsor, said all the college presidents favored the bill. It would make an estimated $2,000,000 available for higher education.

Opponents declared it moved in the direction of putting educational opportunity on the basis of ability to pay.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lloyd of Andrews were visiting with friends in Cross Plains the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Gray were visiting in Weatherford Sunday night with their son, Don Gray and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Hayes of Dallas spent the week end with Mrs. Elizabeth Hayes and their two children, Richard and Glenda Gill returned home with them after a two weeks visit with their grandmother.

Brenda and Becky Strickland of Pasadena left today, Thursday, after visiting for several days with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Strickland.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to take this opportunity to say thanks to all our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during our sorrow, at the passing of our little son. To all who brought food and sent flowers, we are deeply grateful and pray that God may richly bless each of you.
