Drillers Win 2 Games Here The Past Week

Last Friday Dillard Drillers played one of their better baseball games of the season as they outscored the local outsiders by a score of 5 and 2.

With Doug Dallas pitching for the Drillers and allowing only three hits while striking out 13 in the seven innings, there was little necessity for good fielding. But this was not the case, as the fielding behind Dallas was almost flawless.

The Drillers picked up 11 hits in this contest. Barr collected 3 for 3.

Rising Star visited the local diamond on Saturday, but were not given such a welcome as they were sent home on the small end of the score, 17 to 7.

There will be no home contest this week. Cross Plains plays in Eastland on Tuesday and Cisco on Friday.

June 22 Ranger will play here and June 26 finds Eastland "B" furnishing the opposition.

PHILOSOPHER FINDS GOOD REASON FOR GOING AHEAD AND CONQUERING SPACE

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Bayou Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on the Bayou must have some bills he can't pay, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:

From time to time I have poked a little fun at all the excitement some people work up over exploring outer space. I've been contending that when we finally get a man out into space, he may find there's nothing out there, at least nothing half as interesting as what he already had on earth, and all that money we're spending may be in vain.

But now I wish to revise my opinions a little. After long thought and meditation, I have figured out a reason why we ought to go ahead and explore space.

I thought of it the other afternoon while I was reading a newspaper I picked up a day or two before. Some people think if they can't read a newspaper the day it's published, it's not worth reading, but I've found you can wait two or three days and read it and sometimes get more out of it than you could the day it was printed, especially if you've read another one or two in the meantime and set up, including the above named officers and A. R. Westfall, Jr. and W. J. Foxworth of Cisco, F. W. Taylor, Jr. and Milton Autry of Coleman and L. D. Bayless of Cross Plains. Others attending the organization meeting included W. H. Wright and Frank Birkhead of Cisco and O. H. Rohde of Coleman.

In speaking of the needs for this program, President Rudolph pointed out that there is already an approved project to rebuild the highway from Coleman to a point just north of Burkett and work is expected to start on it this summer. The association will work to get the highway improved on to Cross Plains and extended on a straight line from here to Cisco.

An extension of Highway 206 from here to Cisco would give motorists from the Ballinger-San Angelo area and all of Southwest Texas a new and more direct route to a connection with Interstate Highway 20, and would provide the Cross Plains area with a first-class highway to the north. At present, motorists in this area are required to travel east or west before gaining entrance to a north-bound state highway.

Interstate Highway 20 is a fast-developing freeway across the nation and will give motorists a faster access to the Fort Worth-Dallas area. This proposed extension would also connect with highways out of Cisco to Albany and Breckenridge to the Wichita Falls area.

Association members are certain that the program will meet with success and work is now being done by the three cities on a local level. Another meeting of the group will be held in the near future for the purpose of making reports and mapping further plans, President Rudolph stated.

Citizens State Bank to Enlarge Its Quarters

Fred V. Tunnell, President of the Citizens State Bank here, announced this week that a deal had been completed recently in which the bank purchased a part of the building now occupied by Bryan's Variety Store, from M. Polyshook of Dallas, and a contract has been let to Mayes Lumber Co. to extend the bank's quarters to include this 25-foot square space located directly back of the bank.

In the transaction Jack Scott and Edwin Baum of this city purchased the balance of the variety store building and will continue to rent to Lloyd Bryan, it was stated.

Workmen for Contractor Mayes started work on the remodeling project Monday morning of this week and when completed the bank will have a new director's room measuring 25 feet long and 12 feet wide. There will also be a new concrete storage vault measuring 12 feet square and a storage room covering the same amount of space in the new addition.

President Tunnell stated that the bank's bookkeeping department will be moved into the present director's room, thereby relieving a crowded condition in the present bookkeeping department.

The remodeling program will add a great deal to the appearance and convenience of the bank and will also add materially to the looks of the exterior of the building.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pumphrey of Winters visited here a few days last week with their daughter, Mrs. A. J. McCuin and family. Jay McCuin accompanied his grandparents home Thursday for several days visit.

REAPPOINTED... Rev. Gordon Dennis, who was reappointed to the pastorate of the First Methodist Church here by the Central Texas Conference of the Methodist Church, meeting in Fort Worth last week.

Rev. Dennis will begin his third year of service with the local church next Sunday morning.

He is in Georgetown this week where he is serving as music director at the annual Youth Assembly now being held at Southwestern University.

He will return home here Saturday and will fill pulpit at both services Sunday.

"As It Looks From Here"

OMAR BURLISON
Congressman
17th District

Washington, D.C.—Since 1933, 17 states have repealed their so-called "Fair Trade" laws or had them rendered unconstitutional by the courts.

There is now pending in the Congress a Federal Fair Trade Measure. It has been approved by the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, but not yet cleared for action by the Congress.

Congressional backers of the bill, particularly Senator Hubert Humphery of Minnesota, say that a Federal law would provide consumer safeguards by curbing unfair pricing practices. Supporters also contend that unregulated competition leads to monopoly and higher prices.

Opponents say that such a law would hinder competition and result in higher prices to the consumer because of price-fixing restraint.

The fact remains that this is seemingly a fairly good illustration of States' rights. Many who have felt this was a matter to be determined by the State now are persuaded that a Federal law is needed.

One of the most objectionable end results, should such a law be passed, would be an invitation for the Federal Government to bring all retailers under the Minimum Wage Laws. If minimum wages are increased to $1.25 per hour, it would be argued that retailers should be brought under it because they operate under a so-called national "Fair Trade" law.

Certainly, should a Federal Fair Trade, price-fixing law be enacted, more rigid regulations and would be less free to exercise initiative essential to business promotion and growth. Another certainly is that it would take many more Federal employees to administer such a law, and particularly should retailers be brought under the Wage and Hour Law.

This is the sort of thing that can't be fooled with on an experimental basis. Once it is enacted, probably the only way it could be removed in case it worked as unsatisfactorily as many predict, would be for the courts to hold it unconstitutional.

Big Questions are looming up as to our trade policies with Soviet Russia. The British have announced five-year trade agreement with the Soviets, while at the same time the United States is vetoing practically all requests of U.S. firms for shipment of goods behind the Iron Curtain.

Many people are wondering how realistic we are to forbid United States goods to go to the Communists while the British can sell complete plants to produce chemicals, synthetics and a variety of other goods which compete with our own.

The British are not the only nation having considerable trade relations with the Russians. Some nations have shipped to Russia exactly the same articles which we, in turn, have sent to them. It is a pretty ridiculous situation.

... For that reason there are millions of fishermen who unconsciously pay tribute to the inventive genius of Hull.
... And since we are writing of fishing, we might as well suggest that this is a good time of year to do a little work with the fly rod.
... What you catch will depend upon what you are fishing for. For instance, if you just want to load up with pan fish, then a few small flies laid deftly under a willow tree at this time of the year are calculated to do the job.
... On the other hand, if you want to have a little rough and tumble argument with a good bass, try your luck with a good popping bass bug.

... A small bass on a fly rod gives you more fun than a big bass on a heavy casting rod. And since they are now rising to the lure, a good popping bug tossed into the right area can really produce some lunkers.
... Since you may not use your fly rod too often, check it over carefully first. Chances are it hasn't been out of the case since you got back from a trout stream last summer. It could stand a good coat of light varnish. The reel will need oiling and your leader checked. Be sure your knot is good.
... You can use a fly rod from a boat, wade fishing, or by floating around on a rubber inner tube. Generally, unless you are an excellent caster, you'll need a little more casting space than with a casting rod.

... There are many who like to wade the flats in the early morning and the late evening. My own choice is to fish from a boat close around the log jams. I just like the scenery.
... Drop a good popping bug along side one of these logs. Let it rest a moment or two, and then yank it just a little so that it will cause a slight disturbance. Then just let it rest for a few minutes.
... Chances are that some ambitious little bream will hit at a time or two, while a big old perch will leave it just as quick as he hit it and by that time that bass has decided it wants the bug. If you are all ready to set the hook, you have a nice little fight coming on.
... Even a 2-pounger will double your fly rod. It takes some effort playing to bring him in. And when you get close to the boat, have your net ready. It's not a good idea to try to lift a bass into a boat with a fly rod or a light leader.

... There's a lot of fun in taking pan fish with fly rods, too. You can use lures, minnows or worms. Any of them will do, depending, of course, upon how hungry the fish is, and how you present the meal.
... It's a real education to watch an adept fly fisherman. Usually he is pretty thorough and works over his water well. If he knows how to handle his equipment he can really sack up whatever kind of fish he's seeking.
... Now that you've talked me into it, I think I'll get out right away myself.

MISS ANN KOENIG WEDS PERRY JENNINGS IN DOUBLE RING CEREMONY SUNDAY

Miss Ann Koenig and Perry Lee Jennings were united in marriage at 4 p.m. Sunday, June 14, at the Church of Christ with Hershel McDonald, local minister, performing the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Koenig and Mr. and Mrs. Paschal Jennings are parents of the bridegroom.

Music was rendered by a local quintet composed of Carole Cox, who sang the solo "Because," Wanda Cowan, Douglas Dallas, Billy Strickland and James Oscar Koenig, brother of the bride. They sang "Always," "I Love You Truly," "Here Comes the Bride," and "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of white imported French hand clipped lace over tulle and satin. The fitted bodice had Sabrina neckline outlined with seed pearls with long petal point sleeves. The bouffant skirt tapered to a short train in the back. Her finger tip veil of illusion fell from a double tier of seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a white satin covered Bible topped with a white orchid and streamers tied with love knots.

She wore a string of pearls, a gift from the groom. For something old, she carried a white handkerchief that belonged to her great-great-grandmother, something new was her dress, something borrowed was pearl earrings belonging to her mother and something blue was a garter. For good luck she placed an Indian head penny in her shoe.

Matron of honor was Mrs. James Oscar Koenig, sister-in-law of the bride and bridesmaids were Lynda Tyler and Shannon Bryan. They wore green brocaded satin dresses, styled with empire waistline, and white lace hats. They carried floral rings of green and white carnations entwined with English ivy.

Larry Crockett served as best man with Kenneth Thate and Jim Fleming as ushers. Candles were lighted by the bridesmaids and the flower girl was Dianna Rajnoor of Abilene, cousin of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Koenig wore a blue embroidered cotton satin sheath and blue hat with white accessories. The groom's mother wore a navy dress with white accessories. Their corsages were gardenias.

The reception was held in the Koenig home with Mrs. Lloyd Bryan serving the cake and Mrs. Jack Webb of San Angelo, aunt of the bride, pouring the punch.

When the couple left for a wedding trip, the bride wore a dress of powder blue embroidered crystaline with pink and white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bride and groom are both May graduates of Cross Plains High School.

Austin, Tex.—When tax bills finally were passed by both the Texas House and the Senate, it was not dollars, but ideas that delayed agreement.

House bill was designed to raise about $150,000,000 over the next two years; Senate bill, about $160,000,000.

Big difference was in where the money would come from. House bill was divided evenly between selective sales taxes and taxes on natural resources and corporation franchises.

Senate, which heard a long string of witnesses on the dangers of shutting prosperity-making industries out of Texas, changed the ratio. In its version, natural gas and corporations pay about 18 per cent of the tab; selective sales tax, $2 per cent.

Senate voted a 15-15 tie on its bill, with Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey breaking the tie in favor of the bill.

Named to a free conference committee to adjust the differences were Sens. R. A. Weinert, Seguin; Dorsey Hardeman, San Angelo; Charles F. Herring, Austin; Jimmy Phillips, Angleton; Bruce Reagan, Corpus Christi. Also Reps. V. L. Ramsey, Beckville; W. T. Oliver, Port Neches; Don Kennard, Fort Worth; Alonzo Jamison, Denton; George Cook, Odessa.

How They Stack—These items were hit, in varying degrees, by the House and Senate bills that went to conference committee.

Corporations—Senate, raise $10,800,000 by hiking the franchise tax from $2.25 to 2.75 per $1,000 capitalization. House, raise $12,000,000 by a new two-factor tax on interstate corporations.

Natural Gas—Senate, raise $300,

000 by increasing the production tax from 7 to 8 percent. House, raise $36,500,000 by lowering production tax to 5 per cent and adding a 5 per cent severance beneficiary tax.

Motor Vehicle Sales—Both houses agreed on increasing sales tax from 1.1 to 1.5 per cent to bring in an additional $7,000,000 to $8,000,000.

Cigarettes—Senate, raise $31,500,000 by boosting tax 3 cents a pack. House, raise $10,500,000 (estimated) by a 1 cent a pack increase.

Utilities—Senate, increase the tax on water, gas and electric utilities by 20 per cent, for an estimated $2,600,000. House, increase all other utilities to the telephone company rate of 2.3 per cent, for an estimated $8,000,000.

Alcoholic Beverages—Senate, increase liquor tax from $1.40 to $1.65 a gallon, to raise $2,000,000. House, increase it to $2.25 a gallon for $7,600,000.

Wine, Senate increased tax by 20 per cent, for $201,000. House doubled it for $1,000,000.

Senate also tripled fees for selling beer and wine, doubled it for permits to sell liquor for an estimated $1,600,000. House bill does not include this.

Tobacco Products—Senate, would, tax all such products, except snuff, by 12.5 per cent, to raise $5,400,000. House tax is twice this.

Sulphur—Senate voted to retain present rate. House would reduce from $1.40 to $1.03 per ton. There is disagreement as to whether production increase would offset the tax increase in total revenue received.

Theater Admissions—Both Senate and House lopped this by about $120,000 a year.

Sound Equipment—Senate added a 2.2 per cent sales tax on radios, televisions, hi-fi and stereophonic sets for an estimated $3,200,000.

Boats—Senate added 1.5 per cent sales tax on boats and motors for an estimated $5,000,000.

Property Bill Fixed—For the second time this year, the House of Representatives has refused to sweep unclaimed property into the State Treasury.

The vote of 66-66 killed efforts in the Special Session. Vote that killed the bill earlier in the regular session was almost as close.

Gov. Price Daniel had urged the measure as a means of raising an estimated $23,000,000 for the State's ailing general fund. It would have required banks, oil and gas companies, insurance companies and others to turn over to the state any property belonging to persons who have been missing for more than seven years.

Bank Lobbyists were blamed by Daniel for defeat of the bill. He said they must accept responsibility for the state's having to raise, through new taxes, the $23,000,000 the bill would have produced.

Bankers have contended the escheat procedure would undermine depositors' confidence in the safety of their deposits.

License Plan Studied—Economy forces are taking a good look at whether or not the state's licensing practices might be unnecessarily expensive.

Historically the state has issued licenses annually. There's now some thinking that a lot of the licenses could just as easily be issued permanently, subject to cancellation for cause. Fees would still be collected annually, but a lot of time and money possibly could be saved by not having to type out and mail a new document each year.

Such a procedure was authorized by the Legislature in regular session for insurance companies.

Some licenses probably could not be adapted to the permanent policy. Among these would be drivers licenses, hunting and fishing licenses, and auto inspection stickers.

Seven Run For Speaker—Now the count is up to seven in the House speakership race. Seventh man in the lineup is Rep. Frank B. McGreggor of Waco. His announcement was made at a luncheon sponsored by the Waco Chamber of Commerce. Six already in the race are Reps. Ben Glusing of Kingsville, Wade Spilman of McAllen, W. T. Oliver of Port Neches, L. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi, Jerry Sadler of Palestine and James A. Turman of Gober.

Short Shorts—Radar traps must be test-checked for accuracy before a speeding ticket is valid, the Court of Criminal Appeals has held. Expert testimony in the case before the court had contended that as much as a 20 per cent error can occur if the radar machine is not set up properly. . . . Lt. Gov. and Mrs. Ben Ramsey's new daughter, Mariben, born June 8, officially became "princess of the senate" in record time. By unanimous vote, the honor was bestowed when she was just one day old.

At Washington's bustling National Airport, Allied Aviation Fueling counts on its radio-equipped Chevy to get crews and tank trucks to the right planes at just the right time.
